Newton County Animal Services resets pet adoption record in 2023

STAFF REPORT | THE NEWS

Newton County Animal Services' records had to be updated when 2023 came to a close. Following a year where it set a pet adoption record with 1,032 total, the animal services had over 1,200 pet adoptions in 2023 — 1,203 to be exact.

County manager Harold Cooper acknowledged the work done by the county's animal services.

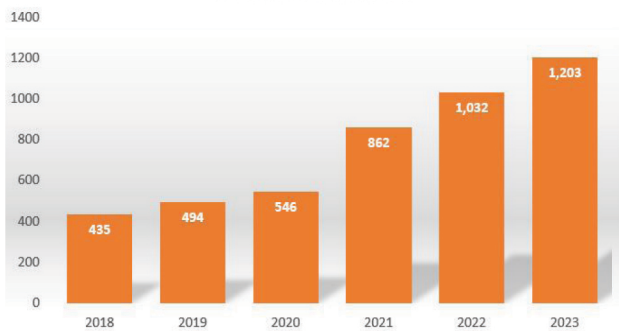

"I commend director Cynthia Wiemann and her staff for this remarkable achievement," Cooper said. "This is the result of years of hard work. Our pets are beloved members of our families and it warms my heart to know that Newton County residents are so welcoming to these animals."

The record number of adoptions is the result of updates in almost

Newton County provides latest on fire chief search

EVAN NEWTON | NEWS EDITOR

NEWTON COUNTY – As 2024 rolls on, the Newton County Fire Department is continuing the search for its next fire chief.

In November 2023, the county terminated fire chief Michael Conner, along with fire inspector Glenn Mikos. No official reason was given for their respective terminations.

The fire department previously purchased dive equipment from Into the Blue Scuba, LLC, a dive shop owned and operated by Mikos. It was reported that this prompted an investigation into a potential conflict of interest.

According to Newton County public information officer Bryan Fazio, Conner was on paid administrative leave from Oct. 19 to Nov. 2. Conner was terminated following his paid administrative leave, with Mikos being terminated on Friday, Nov. 3.

On Nov. 6, Newton County public information officer told The Covington News that the county was looking

County manager gives updates concerning SPLOST projects

EVAN NEWTON | NEWS EDITOR

NEWTON COUNTY – During the Jan. 9 Newton County Board of Commissioners meeting, updates were given on the 2017 and 2023 SPLOST projects.

County manager Harold Cooper went in about each of the SPLOST updates during his county manager report.

Starting with the 2017 SPLOST, the following projects were considered as complete:

- Josephine brown Senior Center expansion
- Updates to recreation center at Turner Lake
- Chimney Park improvements
- Library improvements
- Updates to the Animal Control facility
- Improvements to Washington St. facility

- Upgrades to the Sheriff's Office
- Updates to fire stations

Three projects were considered as currently active, including Springhill Park, Yellow River Trail and Westside Youth Facility.

For Springhill Park, construction officially began in April 2022 with several services already complete. According to the county manager's presentation, the expected completion for the project is Spring 2024.

The Yellow River Trail is not as optimistic – as the project is currently still in phase one, meaning the land acquisition is still in process. Particularly, this falls in "land acquisition easements for segment one."

According to the presentation, segments have been realigned to work with some of the developments in the area. Some of those developments listed are the Denny Dobbs Development, The Wyatt Development and The Oaks Development.

Cooper said that this played a crucial role in this project moving forward.

"When we talk about segment one of this plan, portions of segment one will not move forward because there has to be some segment realignment to work with the develop-to initiate the search for its next fire chief. “We’re [Newton County] confident that the men and women of our fire services will continue to provide the safety and services they are so well noted for as we move forward and begin the search for our next fire chief,” Fazio said.

But after two months of no updates, the fire department has yet to name a new fire chief.

The News reached out to Fazio once again for further updates on the search, as well as to ask who is currently running operations.

According to Fazio, the fire chief position is currently being filled on a “rotating basis.”

“The person overseeing the day-to-day operations in fire services is on a rotating basis among the senior leadership within the department under the direction of the County Manager [Harold Cooper],” Fazio said.

In regards to a permanent replacement, Fazio stated that the process is currently underway and that applications are currently being reviewed, with interviews approaching soon.

“To fill the fire chief role, Newton County conducted a comprehensive search for a new chief and we are currently reviewing applications with interviews scheduled to occur later this month,” Fazio said.

all areas of operations throughout the last five years. Each upgrade helped lead to year-over-year increases in adoptions since 2018.

In 2019, Newton County implemented ShelterBuddy software, allowing all animals to be posted directly online to the Newton County website and the Petfinder and Adopt-a-Pet sites. Newton County also began a partnership with Planned Pethood of Georgia to sterilize pets before they were sent to a home.

A year later, phase one of an expansion and renovation of the Newton County Animal Shelter took place with funds from the 2017 Special Local Option Sales Tax (SPLOST). Thanks to continued support from residents, more improvements will be coming via funding from the 2023 SPLOST. The improved shelter allows for more animals as well as a climate-controlled, welcoming atmosphere for both people and pets.

Most recently, Newton County added an in-house surgical suite to facilitate the increasing number of adoptions, allowing for more pets available for immediate adoption.

Wiemann is grateful for the progress Newton County Animal Services has made over the past few years.

said. “We’d like to go and get the officer appointed so those appeals could proceed.”

District 3 representative Alana Sanders questioned the timing of this item, ultimately wondering the circumstances behind this hire

“Are there certain instances that are occurring that are required to have this currently?,” Sanders said.

Jaugsetter responded with further clarification.

“There is at least one employee whose employment was terminated who is seeking an appeal,” Jaugsetter said.

For any appeal process, the county will be represented by the county’s Human Resources department with assistance from the county attorney. The personnel hearing officer would hear from both the county and the terminated employee and then hand down a ruling internally.

District 2 representative Demond Mason wanted to clarify with county manager Harold Cooper that this process would be on an as-needed basis, to which Cooper confirmed. The county manager also clarified that situations like these are not normal for the county.

“Typically, these types of circumstances are few and far between,” Cooper said. “Again, when there’s a termination we’re going to make sure that we vet our terminations so that our i’s are dotted and that our t’s are crossed.”

According to Cooper, funds for the personnel hearing officer are expected to come from the generating operating fund which is used for personnel expenditures.

The vote passed 5-0 with District 1 representative Stan Edwards making the motion and Mason seconding.

The Covington News reached out to Newton County public information officer Bryan Fazio in hopes to get more information about the hiring of Butler.

When asked about the timing of the hiring behind the personnel officer, Fazio mentioned that an officer of this kind is within Newton County’s policies.

“Pursuant to Newton County policies, all employees have the right to appeal adverse actions and as a result Mr. Butler was appointed to serve exclusively as a personnel hearing officer as needed,” Fazio said. “Newton County wants to assure that all due process is undertaken.”

In regards to who these potential employees may be, Fazio did not provide a comment.

“We do not comment on personnel matters,” Fazio said.

State Senate bill targets cyberbullying

DAVE WILLIAMS
CAPITOL BEAT NEWS

ATLANTA – State Sen. Jason Anavitarte introduced legislation this week aimed at protecting teenagers from cyberbullying and other negative effects of social media.

Anavitarte, R-Dallas, and Lt. Gov. Burt Jones, who presides over the Senate, first announced they planned to target social media last summer.

“Since we announced this initiative, Senator Anavitarte and I have worked with industry and education leaders, online safety advocates, and legal experts to craft this legislation, and we will continue working with them as this process moves forward,” Jones said Friday.

“We believe Senate Bill 351 is an important step forward in protecting Georgia’s children and giving them the tools they need to be safe in their use of social media and other technologies.”

Numerous studies have found overuse of social media to pose a significant danger to young people, particularly girls, increasing their risk of suicide.

The legislation would require social media companies to take concrete steps to verify the age of their users. Existing rules requiring schools to monitor bullying would be updated to reflect the realities of modern technology.

The bill also would require the state Department of Education to develop and periodically update programs to educate students to use social media safely and require local school systems to adopt, implement, and enforce social media policies and submit them to the Georgia Board of Education for review. Districts that fail to comply would be subject to losing state funds.

“No kid should have to worry and stress about bullying and online threats,” Anavitarte said. “We will continue to promote efforts to have strong families against the poison eroding America.”

The bill has been referred to the Senate Committee on Education and Youth.

Bulging state budget surplus driving ambitious spending plans

DAVE WILLIAMS
CAPITOL BEAT NEWS

ATLANTA – A sure sign that Georgia’s coffers are flush with an unprecedented budget surplus is that for the first time in memory, the state plans to fund its annual list of building projects with cash instead of bonds.

The budget proposals Gov. Brian Kemp released during the first week of the 2024 legislative session call for spending more than $2 billion of the surplus on what the governor’s office described as “historic” investment in education, public safety, tax relief for Georgians, and infrastructure improvements across the Peach State.

“A strong economy and conservative fiscal management of state revenues ... has led to record job growth, historic investment in communities from Bainbridge to Blue Ridge, $5 billion in tax relief, and enough funds saved to operate state government for months in an emergency, not days,” Kemp declared Thursday in his annual State of the State address to a joint session of the Georgia House and Senate.

Kemp’s $37.5 billion mid-year budget includes $1.9 billion for capital projects, all funded with cash. It’s a significantly larger pot of money than the $800 million to $1 billion the state’s annual bond package usually contains.

That capital investment doesn’t include other new spending in the governor’s budget recommendations designed to take advantage of the bulging surplus.

The list of new spending in the mid-year budget includes:

- $1.5 billion for transportation improvements, including $659 million for construction projects in the state Department of Transportation’s existing pipeline and $641 million aimed at improving the movement of freight.
- $500 million to reduce the Georgia Employees’ Retirement System’s debt.
- $450.9 million to build a new state prison.
- $400 million for technology improvements designed to increase the efficiency of the state’s workforce.
- $250 million for the Georgia Environmental Finance Authority to spend on local water and sewer projects.
- $178 million to design and construct a new dental school at Georgia Southern University’s Armstrong campus in Savannah.
- $50 million for a new medical school at the University of Georgia.

All of those spending items involve one-time appropriations, based on the state’s policy of not using surplus revenues to create long-term obligations, according to the Governor’s Office of Planning and Budget.

Another series of ongoing investments, most contained in Kemp’s $36.1 billion fiscal 2025 budget, includes $700 million in pay raises for state and university system employees and public school teachers. State and university system workers would get four percent cost-of-living adjustments (COLAs), while teachers would receive $2,500 COLAs and one-time bonuses of $1,000.

Another $205 million would go to local school districts for new school buses, $104 million would be set aside for grants to local schools for safety projects, and $66 million would restore a budget cut the General Assembly imposed on the university system last year.

The budget also would fully fund the state’s Quality Basic Education K-12 student funding formula.

Legislative Democrats say that new spending still is not enough to make up what for they see as chronic underfunding of education, health care, and housing.

Following Kemp’s State of the State address, Senate Minority Leader Gloria Butler, D-Stone Mountain, criticized the governor’s decision to use the surplus primarily for short-term investments. More permanent spending commitments are needed to erase a “disparity of opportunity” confronting Georgians, she said.

“Let’s use the surplus to try to make the American dream that is out of reach for so many a reality,” Butler said.

The Republican governor will present his budget recommendations Tuesday, kicking off three days of joint hearings before the House and Senate Appropriations committees. Kemp will be speaking remotely from Davos, Switzerland, where he will travel for the second year in a row to the annual World Economic Forum.

ments that make up that area,” Cooper said. “Proposed phase one trail segment is to achieve the easements in reference to moving forward.”

The Westside Youth Facility Project is currently on hold awaiting direction from the Board, with discussion for potential locations in District’s 2, 3 and 4 still underway.

Next, Cooper went over the 2023 SPLOST updates that were available.

In total, 23 projects were identified under the 2023 SPLOST. The starting point for these projects were to create tiers based on level of importance.

Per Cooper’s presentation, tier one projects are given the highest priority on this list, with tier two projects holding a lesser priority.

The tier one projects and updates are as follows:

- General Government Fleet replacement (in procurement phase)
- Public Safety Fleet replacement (in encumbered phase)
- County-wide park improvements
- Senior Services Enrichment Center (location selected and currently in design phase)
- Westside Community Park (in property assessment phase)
- Southside Park (in property assessment phase)
- Community Waterpark (awaiting board direction)
- Tier two projects are as follows:
- Administration building reutilization (in design phase)

- Centralized storage and maintenance facility (in design phase)
- RL Cousins Community Center (received authorization from the Board to move forward on Dec. 5)

The remaining tier two projects were listed as “inactive- beginning in 2024.” Those are as follows:

- Animal Services expansion - Phase II.
- Nelson Heights improvements
- Newton Trails
- Washington St. improvements

Following the presentation, District 4 representative J.C. Henderson asked the county manager about money going to each district – stating that he thought $1 million was going to each district.

“I was thinking during the SPLOST project that each district had $1 million, so I’m just trying to figure out, where did the $1 million go?,” Henderson said. “I’m going to have a district meeting and we’re gonna discuss the $1 million that the taxpayers gave to District 4 and how we’re gonna spend it in District 4.”

County attorney Patrick Jaugsetter stated that this was done via the project identification phase.

“During the identification of projects for the SPLOST, each commissioner was essentially permitted to direct $1 million of SPLOST funds towards projects,” Jaugsetter said. “You can look at the SPLOST project list and see district-specific projects.”

Henderson additionally wanted to know what improvements would be going toward the Nelson Heights Community Center, which is also in District 4.

Cooper mentioned that the Nelson Heights improvements “has yet to come to fruition” due to its status as a tier two project – but that once it became of a higher priority, that Henderson would be involved in the improvements.

District 3 commissioner Alana Sanders stated these SPLOST projects are not involving her district.

“As you can see District 3 has no movement and no projects going. We have moved forward with other projects in 2023,” Sanders said. “The residents in District 3 in a lot of our meetings have said they are completely upset because there is no movement in the district that is the most dense. I pulled the record on the impact fees – that pays the most impact fees – that has no movement for recreation and no renovations or anything oc-curing in that district, and that’s unfair.”

Sanders said she hoped that this was not a personal attack on her and that the citizens should be kept in mind during the SPLOST updates. She also said that she hopes the money that is available can be used to add these projects into District 3, particularly for the Westside Community Park project.

“An email just came in and I forwarded it over to the county manager, that HUD – the government – is just waiting on us to do [pick] a location [for the Westside Community Park],” Sanders said. “It’s free money to the taxpayers – $4 million just sitting there waiting for a building to be built. It makes no sense.”

The Board of Commissioners met on Tuesday, Jan. 16 for its second meeting of January 2024.

Let's see more unity in 2024

EVAN NEWTON
News Editor

We are in the dawn weeks of 2024, and business is returning to normal after the holiday season.

Frequent readers of The Covington News have seen me take my writer's pen into the sports section during the first few weeks of the new year, where I've had a few hot takes up my sleeve about my favorite football teams. I encourage you to read those if you're interested.

However, for this opinion piece, I want to talk about something that I've noticed on the news side of things and the job I perform on a daily basis.

I'm talking about my coverage of local government.

Before I go too far in depth into what I have to say, I want to preface this by saying that is not my "passion" in writing. I never grew up wanting to write or cover anything politically related. Heck, if you would've asked me this time last year what a city council or a board of commissioners was, I would've been like, "What's that? Do they run things?"

I covered my first ever local government entity back in May 2023 as an intern for The Monticello News, covering the Jasper County Board of Commissioners. Immediately, the first takeaway I had from that meeting was that A) There's a whole lot of talk over nothing, and B) They argue... a lot.

Over six months, I covered several local government entities in Jasper County before getting the chance to be the main man that covers local government in Newton County.

On my second day as news editor, I covered my first Newton County Board of Commissioners meeting. It was a packed courthouse full of passionate citizens and commissioners alike. But the one takeaway I had after that meeting – and I remember telling my parents this word for word – was, "They argue more than the Jasper County BOC does."

Now, I don't mean this to be a shot at the Newton County BOC, in particular, but that's just personally how I saw things to be at that meeting. And honestly, I saw that quite frequently for the rest of 2023 as well with nearly every other municipality I covered.

As we sit just weeks into 2024, I've had the chance to cover three meetings so far: the city of Porterdale, the city of Covington and the aforementioned Newton County BOC. In those three meetings that I've covered, one thing stuck out to me as unique when comparing the trio.

Every single vote went 5-0. Yes, I repeat, every business item that could be voted on went 5-0.

Biden's attack 'too little, too late'

DAVE BELTON
Columnist

Since the end of WWII, you and I have lived in the most prosperous time in all of history. Because of America's leadership, no great power has warred against another for 80 years, creating a Pax Americana that has doubled the wealth of everyone on the planet. There are only two other times in history with such a record, once with the Romans, and once with the British. Far from being victims, you and I are the luckiest people who have ever lived.

But that remarkable period is about to end if Biden can't solve the problems he's caused.

After WWII, America joined the free nations of Europe in the most successful alliance in history. Not only did NATO guarantee free navigation of the seas, ending centuries of warfare fought over access to commodities. But more importantly, under the leadership of Ronald Reagan, NATO defeated the Soviet Union without firing a shot...perhaps the greatest victory in the history of the world.

But Biden is unraveling all of that. In a classic example of "killing the goose who laid the golden egg", his feckless foreign policy is leading us to disaster.

It started with our odious retreat from Afghanistan, where we left $82 Billion of weapons that are now being used by terrorists against us. Our NATO allies – who were there helping us in common cause – were furious with that way Biden handled that withdrawal.

Then, Biden told the world that it would be alright if Putin didn't take "too much" of Ukraine. Putin invaded a month later, and for the first time since WWII, we have a major land war in Europe.

The Chinese Spy Balloon proved Biden wouldn't protect America's shores.

Then, the Middle East started unraveling.

None of this happened under the previous president. Despite the Media's derangement, the economy was great and the world was at peace.

Then, came COVID...and nearly 7 million people died. Yet Biden is completely disinterested in how it started. Is that because even CNN now admits that his son made millions off of China and Russia and Ukraine?

Then, there's our Southern Border. Biden has all the authority he needs

Voters, Not The Courts, Should Decide Presidential Choices

DICK YARBROUGH
Syndicated Columnist

In case you haven't noticed, there is an election scheduled for this November to choose the Leader of the Free World. As of this writing, the choice is between two candidates that a majority of the American people don't particularly care for. According to the latest Gallup Poll, Pres. Joe Biden is viewed favorably by 41 percent of U.S. adults. Former Pres. Donald Trump's favorable rating is 42 percent.

Maybe that is because one gives new meaning to the term uninspiring and seems more interested in transgender issues than in keeping our borders secure. The other is a narcissistic, mean-spirited misogynist. And these are our choices? Alas, they are very likely to be and I oppose any effort to deny us the right to pick between them.

So, too, does one of the most prominent conservative voices in the country, Yuval Levin. Mr. Levin is the director of Social, Cultural and Constitutional Studies at the American Enterprise Institute and a contributing editor to National Review, the iconic conservative publication founded by William F. Buckley. In other words, he is a thoughtful, articulate conservative. These days, that sounds like a political oxymoron.

As one who leans conservative in my own political views, I wonder what has happened to compassionate conservatism as evidenced by Ronald Reagan – who in two presidential elections never had to claim a stolen election because he won by margins Trump and his loyalists can't even comprehend – and our own late U.S. Sen. Johnny Isakson. They didn't see the need to threaten, bully, demean or divide.

Unfortunately, the term conservative has been hijacked by right-wing extremists just as left wing-nuts couch their liberal agenda as progressive.

Trump's supporters are better prepared for a 2024 election loss

GENE LYONS

Theoretically speaking, the United States will be having a presidential election in 2024. Everybody acts as if it's a sure thing. Political "horse race" coverage dominates the news. Debates, rallies and candidate speeches take place. Newspapers and TV news outlets publish polling results every few days. Everybody's familiar with the ritual, and everybody plays along.

That's the whole point of rituals. All the solemn mummery of holding a presidential election, right down to the balloons and silly hats, exists to reassure the public that everything will be all right. That's why phony democratic elections are the essence of dictatorial regimes around the world.

Everybody plays the game. Russia, China, Myanmar – you name it. Record voter turnout is assured. Vladimir Putin will no doubt win a thunderous majority.

But real democracies can be fragile things.

Let's try an analogy from the sports page. Consider the recent national collegiate football championship. What would we say if one team – say, the Michigan Wolverines – showed up with assault rifles and vowed to shoot referees who threw penalty flags adverse to them?

Well, we wouldn't call it a football game.

So how can we call it a proper election when everybody knows the presumptive nominee of the Republican Party, one Donald J. Trump, will refuse to accept defeat?

Adam Serwer puts it this way in The Atlantic: "There is something naive to assuming that Trump would accept such a verdict from the electorate a second time when he didn't accept it the first time."

Neither a close election

East. The previous White House cowed Iran by taking out their terrorist mastermind and bankrupting them with crushing sanctions. The result was historic peace, as four Arab nations signed treaties with Israel.

Biden reversed all of that, gifting Iran a stunning $90 billion. Flush with cash, Iran returned the favor by funding terrorists like Hamas, Hezbollah, and the Houthis to attack our friends. The result was the worst atrocity on Jews since WWII, where 1200 innocents were raped, kidnapped, and murdered. Since then, Iranian proxies have attacked US soldiers 130 times, and pirates have attacked shipping 27 times in the Red Sea, forcing ships to take the long way around Africa. That means oil will be even more expensive, which means everything will get more expensive, which means inflation will go up yet again.

But more than that, it means that for the first time since WWII, America is failing to protect the seas. 80 years of peace and prosperity is about to end.

Yes, I'm glad that Biden finally struck back against the Houthi rebels, but it was far too little, too late. Unless he gets serious about doing his primary job of protecting Americans, he'll destroy the security that the world has enjoyed for the past 80 years.

(I find nothing progressive about socialism.) I put no stock in the babble on either side. However, I do listen to Yuval Levin.

In a recent piece in National Review, Mr. Levin states, “After courts in Georgia, North Carolina, Minnesota and elsewhere dismissed or rejected claims pursuing his (Trump’s) removal from the ballot on the basis of the 14th Amendment’s bar on individuals who ‘have engaged in insurrection’ against the Constitution, the Supreme Court of Colorado affirmed such a claim, and the U.S. Supreme Court is now likely to review that decision within weeks.

“The attempt to remove Donald Trump from the ballot by recourse to the 14th Amendment,” Levin writes, “is the latest such assault because it amounts to an abuse of the Constitution in search of a shortcut to defeating him. I think the Colorado court was wrong and that the U.S. Supreme Court will overturn it on the legal merits. But perhaps no less important, I think the pursuit of such a strategy against Trump is wrong, and that citizens who worry about the health of our constitutional order in an era when it has been under profound stress should reject and recoil from that strategy, regardless of what they think of Donald Trump.”

And what does this eminent conservative scholar think of Donald Trump? Not much. “He was an unfit president, lacked the character necessary for the job, operated without even a basic sense of (let alone any respect for) our system of government, and repeatedly put that system under intense stress in the service of his thuggish narcissism and pathetic self-pity. His ultimate betrayal of the constitutional order – his refusal to accept the legitimacy of his election defeat in 2020 and his effort to prevent the certification of his opponent’s victory – was the most serious dereliction of the presidential office in the history of our country, and it rendered Trump one of the very worst of our presidents. It’s an utter disgrace that any American voter, let alone one of our major political parties, is even thinking about sending him back to the White House.”

But, as Yuval Levin says, that should be our choice to make. Not the courts, egged on by those using the 14th Amendment as a vehicle to try and disqualify Donald Trump from running. I agree with Yuval Levin. Quit using the United States Constitution as a political tool and let the voters have the final word.

Nov. 5, 2024 – Election Day – is a long way off. A lot can happen between now and then but, assuming the Supreme Court gives the 14th Amendment argument the judicial heave-ho, it looks as though we will be choosing between duly nominated Joe Biden and Donald Trump. If that’s the case, so be it. The bigger issue is why we can’t find any better candidates than these two.

by no means an expert on politics or local government, but I haven’t seen that type of unity in any of the boards since I’ve started my professional career. To say I was surprised to see that in comparing my notes, is an understatement.

So, what is this 22-year-old, long-haired hippie writer asking each of the Newton County boards to consider for 2024? More unity!

Now I may be young, but I’m not naive. Disagreements in politics are certain to happen. A world where politicians agree on everything is as certain as you or me winning the lottery. It’s almost guaranteed not to happen.

I don’t expect every vote and business item this year to pass 5-0 with no discourse or arguments – and that’s the great thing about our democracy. It is completely OK to have civilized conversations and discussions over topics that are affecting the citizens of the county, city or whatever it may be.

But sometimes, what are our politicians even arguing for? Are they arguing for the betterment of the citizens? Or is it something else? That’s only a question they can answer.

Let me say that I have the utmost respect for all of the elected officials in Newton County. You all do a thankless job that I and so many others couldn’t even dream of doing.

As the news editor of The Covington News, and man leading the charge in government coverage for our publication, I will continue to cover the good, the bad, the great and the ugly of these meetings and do so in the most transparent way possible for our audience.

But as a columnist and one with an opinion separate of what I get paid to cover – I hope that the first meetings in 2024 are a sign of greater things to come. More unity, less arguments and moving forward together.

And if that happens, maybe I’ll go to the store and buy a lottery ticket.

nor a sound defeat matters when Trump can induce his supporters to believe any fiction he conjures.”

And there appears to be little doubt that he can. The GOP front-runner’s campaign appearances in Iowa have been almost phantasmagoric of late. He has gone so far as to post a TV commercial on his Truth Social website claiming he is God’s Chosen One.

Narrated in the electronically re-created voice of the late radio pitchman Paul Harvey, the ad begins like this: “And on June 14, 1946, God looked down on his planned paradise, and said, ‘I need a caretaker.’ So God gave us Trump.”

Got that? Trump’s birth was divinely inspired.

Try to imagine the hullabaloo if President Joe Biden even hinted at such a thing. They’d say the old fool had clearly lost it. “Dementia” would be the kindest diagnosis.

Instead, what Biden did say in a speech near Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, was that Trump was an unpatriotic sore loser, and nothing more.

“Trump lost 60 court cases. Sixty. Trump lost the Republican-controlled states. Trump lost before a Trump-appointed judge – and then judges – and Trump lost before the United States Supreme Court ...

“Trump lost recount after recount after recount and state after state. But in desperation and weakness, Trump and his MAGA followers went after election officials.”

Biden described Trump’s actions and inaction during the Jan. 6 riot at the U.S. Capitol as “among the worst derelictions of duty by a president in American history: an attempt to overturn a free and fair election by force and violence.”

And Trump’s response? He went all sixth-grade bully on the president before an audience of Iowa supporters.

“Did you see him? He was stuttering through the whole thing,” Trump told a crowd in Sioux Center, Iowa. “He’s saying I’m a threat to democracy.

“‘He’s a threat to d-d-democracy,’” he continued, pretending to stutter. “Couldn’t read the word.”

Many in the audience, who, of course, hadn’t seen Biden’s speech, chortled.

“The remark was not true,” The Washington Post reported. “Biden said the word ‘democracy’ 29 times in his speech, never stuttering over it.”

As if that wasn’t lowdown and infantile enough, Trump dragged the late Sen. John McCain into it, mimicking McCain’s inability to raise his arm over his head due to injuries sustained under torture in a North Vietnamese prison camp.

Trump was never fit to shine McCain’s shoes. Not that he’d know how. The great tribune of the common man hires butlers for that.

Outraged MAGA supporters should do themselves the favor of watching the video of these incidents before sending me threatening emails. Otherwise, knock yourselves out.

Alternatively, check out the video of Trump telling a credulous Lou Dobbs the other day that thanks to Biden, gasoline now sells for “$5, $6, $7 and even $8 a gallon.” I don’t know about you, but I filled up yesterday for $2.37.

Another few months of Trump’s screeching and whining, and all but the dullest MAGA cultists are apt to catch on. So no, I think there’s little chance of Trump winning a national election.

But that’s not the point, which is there’s no possibility of this profoundly disordered man conceding defeat, and every chance the authoritarians mobilizing behind his candidacy – the Steve Bannons and Stephen Millers – will be far better prepared the second time around.

THE COVINGTON NEWS ATHLETE ALUMNI CHECK-IN

GARRETT PITTS | SPORTS EDITOR

The Covington News Athlete Alumni Check-In is a space to highlight former Newton County student athletes while also providing updates on where they are in their respective careers.

Eric Stokes, Tay Gowan and Isaiah Miller are the athletes featured in this week’s edition.

Eric Stokes

Stokes graduated from Eastside in the class of 2017.

Following his senior year, Stokes signed to play college football at the University of Georgia as a defensive back.

Stokes earned All-American and All-SEC honors as a Bulldog during the 2020 season as was on the pre-season watch list for the Wuerffel Trophy.

Stokes was selected by the Green Bay Packers with the 29th pick in the 2021 NFL Draft.

As a rookie, Stokes was ranked No. 4 among cornerbacks for the lowest completion percentage allowed when targeted (49.5 percent). The first career interception for Stokes came against Ben Roethlisberger and the Pittsburgh Steelers in October 2021.

Stokes has suffered injuries that have sidelined him for games in the 2022-23 and 2023-24 seasons. In the current season, Stokes took the field against the Broncos, Buccaneers and Panthers.

Stokes’ Packers will face the San Francisco 49ers in the divisional round of the NFL playoffs Saturday, Jan. 20.

Tay Gowan

Gowan was part of Newton’s class of 2016.

Following his senior season, Gowan signed his national letter of intent to play football at the University of Miami (Ohio).

After being redshirted in 2016, Gowan played in three games for Miami in 2017 before transferring to Butler, then to UCF.

While at Butler, Gowan finished with First Team All-Kansas Jayhawk Community College Conference honors. At UCF, Gowan was named to the American Athletic Conference Second Team All-Conference.

Opting out of the 2020 season due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Gowan went on to be selected by the Arizona Cardinals with the 223rd pick of the 2021 NFL Draft.

Gowan was traded to the Philadelphia Eagles during the 2021 season.

In 2022, Gowan signed a one-year deal with the Minnesota Vikings.

On Jan. 8, Gowan signed a reserve/future contract to stay with the Tennessee Titans after signing with them earlier in the year.

Isaiah Miller

Miller graduated from Newton in 2017.

Following a strong senior season for the Rams, Miller signed to play basketball at UNC-Greensboro.

Miller spent four seasons as a member of the Spartans.

Each season saw Miller’s minutes and points per game increase.

As a senior, Miller averaged 19.2 points per game.

In the 2017-2018 season, Miller earned SoCon All-Freshman honors.

In his second season, Miller was named SoCon Defensive Player of the Year along with SoCon First Team honors.

Miller earned the SoCon Defensive Player of the Year again in the 2019-2020 season along with being named as the SoCon Player of the Year.

Miller helped UNC-Greensboro reach the NCAA Tournament in 2018 and 2021.

After going undrafted in the 2021 NBA draft, Miller signed with the Minnesota Timberwolves.

Following a year in Minnesota, Miller had stints with the Utah Jazz and Portland Trailblazers.

Miller is currently playing for the Jazz’s NBA G-League team, the Salt Lake City Stars.

In 2023, Miller is averaging 10.7 points per game for the Stars.

that were in its lineup that day, but it was still great to see my team get the big win like that.

Following the Orange Bowl win, we saw a flurry of transfers and NFL Draft declarations.

Among those names were Bowers, Bullard, Kendall Milton, McConkey, Lassiter, Amarius Mims, Sedrick Van Pran Granger and more.

To put it simply, we are losing a lot of production.

But, we must remember that we are used to this now.

When looking at who returns in 2024, we have names such as Beck, Mykel Williams, Everette, CJ Allen, Tate Ratledge, Thomas, Lovett, Oscar Delp.

We are 100 percent losing great players but Georgia will have enough talent left on the roster to compete at a high level, but that is no surprise.

One surprise may be who the Bulldogs added already in the off-season.

Just focusing on the transfer portal, the Bulldogs have made big additions with running back Trevor Ettiene (formerly at Florida), receiver Landon Humphreys (formerly at Vanderbilt), receiver Colbie Young (formerly at Miami), defensive lineman Xzavier McLeod (formerly at South Carolina) and receiver/returner Michael Jackson III (formerly at USC).

These transfers have impressed me and have really intrigued me when looking at the offensive personnel.

The addition of Ettiene to a backfield that lost Milton and Daijun

Edwards will be huge as the former Gator will be paired with Branson Robinson (if he can get healthy).

In the receiver room, the Bulldogs added more depth with Young, Humphreys and Jackson.

With Beck going into his second year as QB1, Georgia is going to be a tough team to match up with due to the offensive personnel, even in its first season without Bowers.

Outside of the transfer portal, Georgia made a big splash on the recruiting trail.

The big longtime recruit that the Bulldogs snagged was five-star defensive back Ellis Robinsin IV, who garnered a lot of attention at the Under Armour All-American game.

Another big grab for head coach Kibry Smart was five-star linebacker Justin Williams, who will look to be the next great Georgia linebacker in the coming years next to Allen.

Though those two names were big additions, the recruitment that took up most of the news was the late flip of Buford’s KJ Bolden.

The curse is broken (if you choose to believe it).

Bolden is just another great addition to the defensive back room and many believe he can be a guy who produces early in Athens.

Listen, we did not three-peat like we wanted to, but this team is not going anywhere anytime soon.

Like Smart said, “we will not be hunted at the University of Georgia.”

es on Saturday, Payne went on to bring up a trio of weight classes where the Eagles can make a big spalsh at the state duals.

“175, 215 and heavywiegth [weight classes]. In 175, we have been wrestling a few guys up, but it is just knowing your wrestling and not giving up major points,” Payne said.

The Eagles will begin the class AAAAA state duals Friday, Jan. 19 at Jefferson.

Eastide will host the Region 8-AAAAA traditionals Saturday, Feb. 3.

Newton was not able to secure a spot in the class AAAAAAA state duals after being eliminated at Grayson on Saturday.

by competitive wrestlers.

His practice partner on the team is Brayden Mitchell, who also recently won his 150th match, and Tara believes that has been one of the main reasons Connor has risen to the level he is at today.

“BRAYDEN HAS BEEN CONNOR’S WRESTLING PARTNER AT PRACTICES FOR MOST OF HIGH SCHOOL,” TARA SAID. “I THINK THE PHRASE ‘IRON SHARPENS IRON’ HOLDS TRUE FOR THEM. THEY PRACTICE REALLY HARD TOGETHER AND PLAY OFF OF EACH OTHER TO MAKE THE OTHER ONE BETTER.”

EAGLES, RAMS WRESTLE IN REGION DUALS

GARRETT PITTS | SPORTS EDITOR

The Eastside Eagles' and Newton Rams' wrestling teams competed in their region's wrestling duals over the weekend.

The Eagles finished in second place in Region 8-AAAAA at Jefferson High School Saturday morning, clinching their spot in the Class AAAAA state duals.

For the Rams, they were double eliminated in the Region 4-AAAAAA duals Saturday at Grayson High School.

Eastside opened the duals with a 78-0 win over Heritage and a 47-30 win over Flowery Branch. The Eagles concluded their matches with a 50-24 loss to Jefferson.

The loss to the Dragons gave Eastside the second place finish and a spot at the state duals next weekend.

Head Coach Caleb Payne singled out the match with Flowery Branch and how a pin from Nolan Christian was crucial in defeating the Falcons.

"We had a couple guys go undefeated, but Nolan Christian [was big] in that Flowery Branch dual," Payne said. "We found ourselves down 24-18. It [Nolan's win] swung the momentum for us to go on to win 47-30 and he pinned a kid that has a good chance to go to state this year. That was a big time win."

In the first duals of the day against Heritage, the Eagles seemed to do everything right. Payne spoke about how important it was to get off to a strong start against the Patriots.

"I told them before the duals on Saturday, 'Let's make a statement,'" Payne said. "Almost everyone that wrestled got a pin. It was dominant. We just needed to start out strong and that was huge for us going into Flowery Branch. I knew going into it that the Flowery Branch dual would determine if we go to state or not."

After discussing the success cross multiple weight class-

Where do the Dawgs go from here?

Nothing is meant to last forever, but the Bulldogs are not done just yet.

When Georgia lost to Alabama in the Southeastern Conference (SEC) Championship, it was one of the few times in my Bulldogs fandom where I was not upset or angered with a loss.

After all, I have had a great two years of watching them win almost every game they played.

This season, we got to see the emergence of Carson Beck as one of the top passers in the country as he built strong connections with new guys like Dominic Lovett and RaRa Thomas while Brock Bowers and Ladd McConkey were injured.

Defensively, the pass rush was definitely a shell of what it was the past two seasons.

Even though it was going to be tough to replicate what 2021 and 2022 defenses did, rushing the passer and having a strong edge presence is something that Georgia will have to improve in 2024 as they plan to face a much stronger regular season schedule.

In the secondary, Javon Bullard and Kamari Lassiter had great seasons, which casted a large shadow over cornerback Daylon Everette, who had somewhat of the opposite.

Everette is still young and will most likely be the top corner for the Bulldogs in 2024. It was good to see him finish the year strong with an interception in the Orange Bowl.

Speaking of that game in Miami, let's talk about it.

Even though they did not three-peat, I must say that I feel very good with where this team is heading going into 2024 and beyond.

After losing in the SEC title game, the Bulldogs responded with a 63-3 rout of the third-string Florida State Seminoles that put most Georgia fans back in the same mindset and comfort level we have been familiar with for the last three seasons.

I am not one of those people that ignores Florida State's numerous holes

CASTILLO GETS WIN NO. 150

BRENDAN KOERNER | THE WALTON TRIBUNE

It is hard to constantly compete at the highest level in any sport, but Social Circle's Connor Castillo has been doing so ever since he got to high school.

The Redskins' wrestler is currently a senior for the defending state champions, and he contributed to that result last season after placing first in the 120-pound weight class.

Connor recently won his 150th match at the beginning of December, and his mother, Tara Castillo, attributed that to his work ethic.

"Connor really goes 100 percent if it's something he has his mind on," Tara said. "He never complains when he has to do extra practices and is very dedicated to the sport. He has a great support system between his family and coaches, and I couldn't be more proud of him."

For Connor, family and coaches are somewhat interchangeable. Redskins' head coach Randy Prater is Connor's uncle and helped get him into the sport.

He began hitting the mats his first year of middle school and has fallen in love with the grind that comes with it.

So much so, that in his time away from the team, Connor participates in freestyle and Greco-Roman training to continuously develop his skills.

Tara admitted that he is learned a lot since hitting the mats, and that the Redskins' coaching staff has been dedicated to him since Day 1.

"He's learned the value of self-discipline and hard work," Tara said. "He's developed mental toughness and physical strength, and I think all those things will benefit him in the long run. All of his coaches have poured so much time into him, and it makes him feel comfortable. It's like a second family."

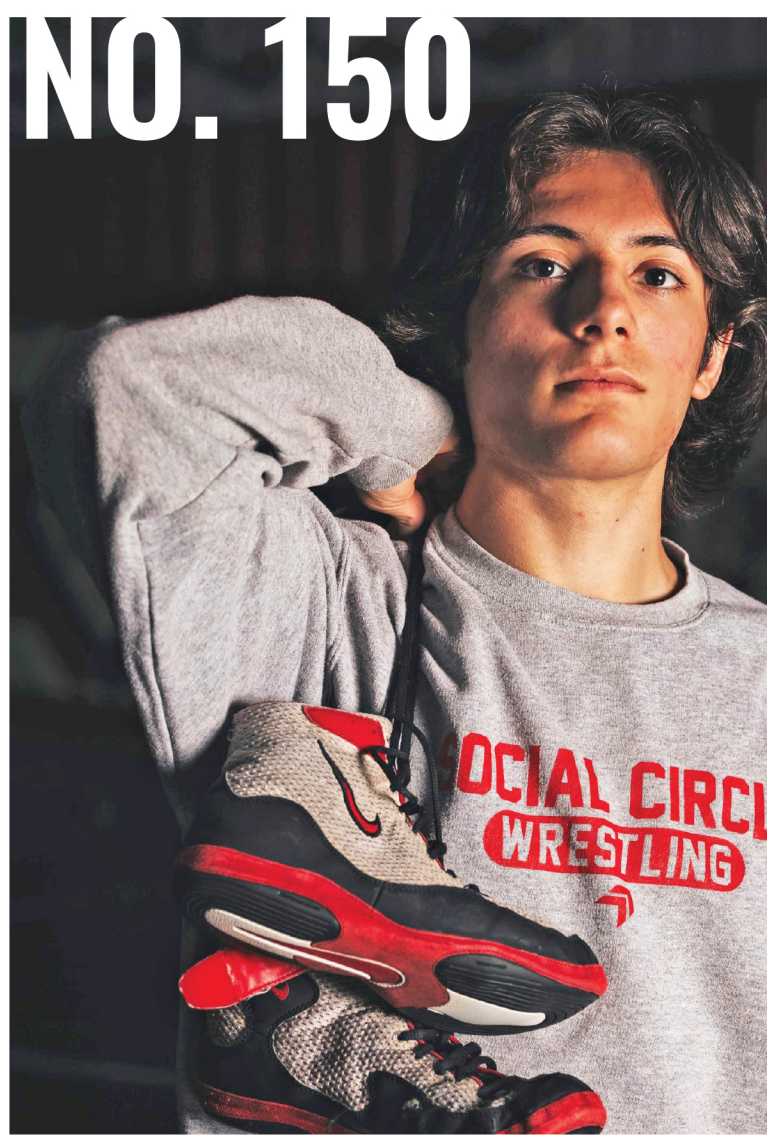

Since getting to Social Circle, Connor has placed in the top five of every state meet he is competed in.

His freshman year, Connor placed fifth in the state for his weight class and has progressed each year since.

The following season, Connor finished as the state runner-up. He finally broke through his junior year and took home the trophy altogether.

In wrestling, it's hard to practice without other great athletes. Luckily for Connor, he is constantly surrounded

Canned chickpeas — and their liquid — create an elegant, garlicky soup

CHRISTOPHER KIMBALL
Food Writer
Associated Press

Though we often prefer the flavor and texture of dried beans, canned beans have a leg up besides convenience — the super-starchy liquid in which the beans are packed is like an ingredient itself. Reserving the liquid to add to a soup or stew as it simmers lends body and creates a creamier, velvety consistency.

We use the liquid too in this recipe from our book “Cook What You Have,” which draws on pantry staples to assemble easy, weeknight meals. It adds richness to an elegant soup built on pureed chickpeas and a whole head of slowly simmered garlic.

Cumin, cayenne and garlic add a bold kick to complement the chickpeas’ earthiness, while carrots and onion add sweetness.

If you own an immersion blender, you can use it to puree the soup directly in the saucepan; the texture won’t be perfectly smooth, but the flavors still will be great.

Start to finish: 1 hour (25 minutes active)

Servings: 4

5 tablespoons salted butter, cut into 1-tablespoon pieces, divided

1 medium yellow onion, chopped

2 medium carrots, peeled and chopped

Kosher salt and ground black pepper

3 teaspoons cumin seeds, divided

¼ teaspoon cayenne pepper OR red pepper flakes, plus another ¼ teaspoon (optional)

Two 15½-ounce cans chickpeas, 1 cup liquid reserved, rinsed and drained

1 head garlic, outer papery skins removed, top third cut off and discarded

1 teaspoon white OR black sesame seeds

In a large saucepan over medium-high, melt 2 tablespoons butter. Add the onion, carrots and ½ teaspoon salt; cook, stirring occasionally, until the vegetables are lightly browned, 4 to 6 minutes. Add 1 teaspoon cumin seeds, ¼ teaspoon cayenne and ¼ teaspoon black pepper; cook, stirring, until fragrant, about 2 minutes. Add the chickpeas and the 1 cup reserved liquid, the garlic, 4 cups water and ¼ teaspoon salt. Bring to a boil over medium-high, then reduce to medium-low, cover and cook, stirring occasionally, until the garlic is soft when the head is squeezed with tongs, 30 to 35 minutes.

Remove the pot from the heat. Squeeze the garlic cloves from the head into the chickpea mixture; discard the empty skins. Let the chickpea mixture cool for about 5 minutes. Meanwhile, in a small saucepan over medium-high, melt the remaining 3 tablespoons butter. Add the remaining 2 teaspoons cumin seeds and cook, stirring, until fragrant and the butter has stopped foaming, 1 to 1½ minutes. Add the sesame seeds and another ¼ teaspoon cayenne (if using); cook, stirring, until the sesame seeds are toasted and fragrant, about 1½ minutes. Remove from the heat and set aside, covered.

Using a blender and working in batches so the jar is never more than half full, puree the chickpea mixture until smooth. Return the soup to the pan and cook over medium-low, stirring often, until warmed through, 2 to 5 minutes. (Alternatively, use an immersion blender to puree the soup directly in the saucepan.) Taste and season with salt and black pepper. Serve drizzled with the butter mixture.

Optional garnishes: Lemon wedges OR chopped fresh cilantro OR both

CES 2024: Tech companies transform the kitchen with AI and robots

RIO YAMAT
Reporter
Associated Press

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Chef-like robots, AI-powered appliances and other high-tech kitchen gadgets are holding out the promise that humans don’t need to cook — or mix drinks — for themselves anymore.

There was plenty new in the food and beverage world at CES 2024, the multi-day trade event put on by the Consumer Technology Association. Displays included cocktail-mixing and ice cream-making machines akin to a Keurig, and a robot barista whose movements are meant to mimic a human making a vanilla latte.

Here’s some of the newest tech that’s transforming the way meals are prepped, cooked and delivered:

A ‘NO SMOKE’ INDOOR SMOKER

GE Appliances is looking to change the way you smoke food with its new $1,000 indoor smoker.

Around the size of a toaster oven or microwave, the GE Profile Smart Indoor Smoker can fit a full brisket cut in half, 40 chicken wings or three racks of ribs. It still uses wood pellets to achieve a smokey flavor, but its technology traps the smoke inside, making it “perfect for people who live in urban environments,” like high-rise apartments, said Whitney Welch, a spokesperson for GE Appliances.

GRILL SMARTER, NOT HARDER

Using generative AI technology, Brisk It’s new smart grill, the NeoSear, aims to make the art of barbecuing fool-proof.

You can ask the grill all kinds of questions to create the perfect recipe: What seasoning should I add to make my chicken skewers spicy? How do I sear a medium-rare steak?

Once you’ve nailed down a recipe and prepped the food, Brisk It’s InnoGrill AI 2.0 technology will command the grill to cook it.

“It’s everyone’s smart grill,” said CEO Christopher Huang. “It doesn’t matter if you’re a skilled enthusiast, if you’re busy, young or old.”

The grill is not yet available but will cost around $2,000, Huang said.

DIY ICE CREAM IN A (COLD)SNAP

Freezing your own ice cream at home takes hours, but with tech startup ColdSnap’s no-clean ice cream machine, your frozen treat is ready in two minutes.

Think of it as a Keurig for ice cream: Choose from flavors like salted caramel and coffee, then put the pod in the machine and it will dispense your cold treat in minutes after scanning the pod’s QR code.

ColdSnap can also whip up frozen lattes, boozy ice cream treats and protein shakes.

ONE TOUCH IS ALL IT TAKES

Tech startup Chef AI is unveiling what it calls a “real one-touch” air fryer.

Unlike the air fryer you might have on your kitchen counter right now, Chef AI’s iteration of the popular appliance doesn’t require any tinkering with settings. Just place the food in the air fryer, press Start, and it uses artificial intelligence to detect what type of food it is cooking, says the company’s CEO, Dean Khormaei.

He said the air fryer would turn even the worst cooks into chefs.

Chef AI will be available in the U.S. in September for $250.

YOUR OWN PERSONAL BARTENDER

What’s the secret to a perfect dirty martini? Don’t worry about it — Bartesian’s cocktail-mixing appliance takes the guesswork out of bartending.

Bartesian’s latest iteration, the Premier, can hold up to four different types of spirits. It retails for $369 and will be available later this year.

Use a small touch screen on the appliance to pick from 60 recipes, drop a cocktail capsule into the machine, and in seconds you have a premium cocktail over ice.

If you fancy a homemade beer instead, iGulu’s new automated brewing machine lets you make your own beer — a pale ale, an amber lager or a wheat beer. Just pour a pre-mixed recipe into the machine’s keg, add water and scan the sticker that comes with the beer mix. In nine to 13 days, you’ll have a gallon of DIY beer.

ROBOT BARISTA THAT MOVES LIKE YOU MOVE

Artly Coffee’s barista bot mimics the way a human behind the counter of your favorite coffee shop might prepare your usual order.

“What we’re really trying to do is preserve the craft of fine coffee,” said Alec Roig, a hardware developer for the Seattle-based tech startup that now is operating at 10 locations across the Pacific Northwest and in New York City.

Roig said the company’s resident barista, who is behind all of Artly’s coffee recipes, was hooked up with motion sensors that recorded his movements as he prepared each recipe, from packing the coffee grounds into the filter to frothing the milk and pouring latte art.

BY DANA SIMPSON

Joey Graziadei as seen in
"The Golden Bachelor"

Back to 'Bach': Joey Graziadei named 28th 'Bachelor'

Bachelor Nation has a new idol in Joey Graziadei. First introduced to the franchise in Season 20 of "The Bachelorette," the 28-year-old is back for a second chance at love when Season 28 of "The Bachelor" premieres Monday, Jan. 22, on ABC.

A teaching tennis professional from Koloa, Hawaii, Graziadei first melted hearts on television with his near-winning stint in Charity Lawson's season of "The Bachelorette." One of two final matches for the leading lady, Graziadei left the show broken-hearted — and took the sympathies of many viewers with him — when Lawson chose Dotun Olubeko over him, leaving Graziadei as the season's runner-up.

But the heartthrob wasn't without prospective partners for long — during the "After the Show" special for the Season 27 finale, "The Bachelor" host Jesse Palmer introduced Graziadei to Lea Cayanen, a fellow Hawaiian and future contestant this season. While Cayanen was brought on the aftershow as somewhat of a teaser for things to come, Graziadei hardly has to choose someone from his state — some 32 women await him, as announced by ABC on Sept. 16 of this year.

Among them are Zoe Antona (24), Rachel Nance (26), Allison Hollinger (26), Autumn Waggoner (26), Chandler Dewgard (24), Edwina Dorber (25), Evalin Clark (28), Erika Cardenas (25), Jennifer Tran (25), Katelyn DeBacker (26), Jessica Edwards (24), Kyra Brusch (26), Kelsey Anderson (25), Lauren Hollinger (28), Lexi Young (30), Marlena Haddad (26), Starr Skyler (25), Sandra Rabadi (26) and Sydney Gordon (28).

The youngest contestants this season are 23-year-olds Lea Cayanen, Taylor Wiens and Talyah Jackson. Los Angeles native Kelsey Toussant, meanwhile, joins Samantha Hale and Madina Alam at the top of the age range, all at 31.

Most notable among the women vying for the new bachelor's affections, however, would likely have to be 25-year-old Lincoln, Nebraska, beauty queen Samantha Washington. The daughter of retired NFL safety Brian Washington, who ended his career with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1996 after eight years in the league, Samantha has NFL ties herself, as a professional cheerleader for the Miami Dolphins. Looks like this potential connection could be rife with sports conversation.

Graziadei also flaunts some of his Canadian ties this season, bringing cameras north of the border to Montreal. Rumor has it Season 28 also filmed at Alberta's Fairmont Jasper Park last October — a site that was previously arranged for Season 17 of "The Bachelorette" but was canned due to ongoing travel restrictions (presumably due to COVID-19) imposed by the Canadian government.

Similarly, Graziadei's roster of potential matches also includes three Canadians: Maria Georgas (29) of Kleinburg, Ontario; Natalie Crepeau (25) of Sudbury, Ontario; and Chrissa Perez (26) of Abbotsford, British Columbia.

South of the Great White North, cameras continued rolling, capturing tons of footage in Agoura Hills, California, a quaint town in the Santa Monica Mountains where several seasons of "The Bachelor" and "The Bachelorette" have previously been filmed. Punctuated by stately mansions, high-end restaurants, well-groomed parks and a lively nightlife — particularly where live music is concerned — Agoura Hills is the perfect location to bring a date ... or 32 dates, as it were.

When Agoura Hills becomes old hat, though, the private jet awaits to take Graziadei and his chosen guests abroad: Mdina, Malta; Tulum, Mexico; and Marbella, Spain, are all on the flight plan in Season 28. But for hardcore "Bachelor" fans, it's not just about the places visited, it's about the bachelor himself.

According to an August 2023 news release from ABC, "Graziadei is looking for a life partner who is outgoing, caring and shares his love for adventure and exploring the outdoors."

The article also notes that "he loves hiking, surfing and ending his days watching the sunset," but it makes sure to mention that "he has much more love to give, and the only thing missing is someone with whom to share his life."

As the newest bachelor, Graziadei hopes to find all of this in one lucky, hopeful contestant. Having already been prepared to propose at least once in his life — to former Bachelorette Lawson — seasoned fans already know that the Season 28 star is ready to find the one and focus on their future together. A child of divorce himself (Graziadei shared the story of his father's coming out and his parents' subsequent split with Lawson and Palmer during the "Bachelorette" aftershow in August), Graziadei has since wished for someone with whom he can truly be himself, but he never expected it would lead to such a dramatic televised journey.

"This is crazy," Graziadei told Palmer following "The Bachelorette" Season 20's final rose ceremony. "I never expected this at all. I never knew this is what my life was turning into."

Tune in to find out what happens next for Graziadei and stay tuned as his romantic journey continues throughout Season 28 of "The Bachelor," premiering Monday, Jan. 22, on ABC.

"Jacqueline Novak: Get on Your Knees" (Jan. 23)

Comedian Jacqueline Novak's break-out hit stand-up show, a word-of-mouth sensation Off-Broadway and directed for the stage by John Early, first took off in 2019. This year, Novak teamed up with director Natasha Lyonne and cinematographer Sam Levy (Rothaniel, Lady Bird) to film the show's final performance as a concert film-meets-comedy special at historic Town Hall in New York City. Both raunchy and poignant, the show is an unexpectedly philosophical, coming-of-age tale of triumph that pushes the boundaries of stand-up.

"Queer Eye" - Season 8 (Jan. 24)

The Fab Five return to the city of New Orleans to jazz up the lives of their heroes — one emotional makeover at a time. Tackling all aspects of their lives, Antoni Porowski (food and wine), Tan France (fashion), Jonathan Van Ness (Grooming), Karamo Brown (Culture) and Bobby Berk (Interior Design) give their deserving heroes a fabulous dose of help and confidence.

"Griselda" (Jan. 25)

Inspired by the life of the savvy and ambitious Griselda Blanco (Sofia Vergara), who created one of the most profitable cartels in history, this limited series takes place in 1970s-80s Miami. Blanco's lethal blend of unsuspected savagery and charm helped her expertly navigate between business and family, leading her to become widely known as "the Godmother." The series also stars Juliana Aidén Martínez, Vanessa Ferlito, Martín Rodríguez, José Velázquez, Martín Fajardo, Tony Graham and Orlando Pineda.

"Masters of the Universe: Revolution" (Jan. 25)

The final installment of Kevin Smith's animated adult version of "He-Man and the Masters of the Universe." This time, Teela (Melissa Benoist) joins forces with He-Man (Chris Wood) and the other Masters in their quest to save Eternia from the grip of darkness. Mark Hamill and William Shatner also voice star.

Tom Hanks and Daryl Hannah in "Splash"

BEST TOM HANKS MOVIES

"Splash" (1984): Hanks made a big splash himself in the comedy that made him a movie star, casting him as an ordinary guy in love with a mermaid (Daryl Hannah).

"Nothing in Common" (1986): Showing his dramatic side as well as the more playful one that made him a star, Hanks excels as an advertising whiz who has trouble navigating his parents (Jackie Gleason, Eva Marie Saint).

"Big" (1988): The childlike spirit Hanks exudes is crucial to this comedy about a youngster who gets his wish to grow up overnight.

"A League of Their Own" (1992): "There's no crying in baseball!" Hanks delivers an iconic movie line as the manager of an all-female baseball team.

"Sleepless in Seattle" (1993): The template for Hanks' work as a romantic leading man marked one of his memorable teamings with Meg Ryan.

"Philadelphia" (1993): Oscar came calling the first time for Hanks for his fully felt portrayal of a lawyer with AIDS suing his former firm. Turner Classic Movies shows the drama Wednesday, Jan. 24.

"Forrest Gump" (1994): Hanks earned his second Oscar - in as many years - as he took the iconic title character through encounters with others real and fictional.

"Apollo 13" (1995): Hanks is compelling as Jim Lovell, one of the three astronauts performing a mission that almost turned tragic.

"That Thing You Do!" (1996): Even more as writer-director than co-star, Hanks paints a warm portrait of a fictitious '60s rock band's rise and fall.

"Saving Private Ryan" (1998): Under Oscar winner Steven Spielberg's direction, Hanks is the perfect everyman in representing a U.S. soldier in charge of others amid the horrors of World War II.

"The Green Mile" (2000): Hanks does stunning work in Stephen King's story of a prison guard deeply affected by a death-row convict (Michael Clarke Duncan).

"Cast Away" (2000): Considering his sole co-star for much of the film is a volleyball, Hanks' talent is invaluable to this saga of a courier-company executive stranded on an island by a plane crash.

"Toy Story 3" (2010): He may have been a star of it in voice only, as toy cowboy Woody, but Hanks was part of what is sure to remain considered one of the most affecting animated films ever ... all the more remarkable for a franchise on its third round.

"Captain Phillips" (2013): Hanks gives a thoroughly gripping performance in the title role of this true story of a ship overtaken by Somali pirates in the Indian Ocean.

"Sully" (2016): Directed by Clint Eastwood, Hanks offers a convincing portrayal of Chesley "Sully" Sullenberger, the veteran pilot who executed the "Miracle on the Hudson" landing.

"A Beautiful Day in the Neighborhood" (2019): Hanks isn't going to walk into the role of someone as famous as children's-show host Fred Rogers without being fully prepared, and here, he surely is ready for the challenge.

"Elvis" (2022): A vivid portrait of Elvis Presley's manager, Col. Tom Parker, is offered by Hanks in this biopic.

"A Man Called Otto" (2022): Hanks is superb as a widower who finds himself adrift after retiring.

Narrated by Awkwafina, follow the incredible stories of the tiny heroes living in worlds beyond the imagination — from a jumping spider looking for a home on the streets of New York to a Costa Rican orchid bee’s first day on the job making perfume!

“X-Men” (Available Now)

In a world where both Mutants and Humans fear each other, Marie, better known as Rogue (Anna Paquin), runs away from home and hitches a ride with another mutant, known as Logan, a.k.a. Wolverine (Hugh Jackman). Professor Charles Xavier (Patrick Stewart), who owns a school for young mutants, sends Storm (Halle Berry) and Cyclops (James Marsden) to bring them back before it is too late. Magneto (Ian McKellen), who believes a war is approaching, has an evil plan in mind, and needs young Rogue to help him.

“Hamster & Gretel” - Season 1, New episodes (Available Now)

This music-filled, animated children’s series follows Kevin (Michael Cimino) and younger sister Gretel (Melissa Povenmire), who are about to be bestowed super powers by space aliens. But something goes awry, and it’s Gretel and her pet hamster (named Hamster) who suddenly have new abilities. Now, protective older brother Kevin must figure out how to work with both Gretel and her pet Hamster to protect their city from mysterious dangers.

“Storage Wars” - Seasons 12 & 13 (Available Now)

Garage sales are an old-school waste of time, at least in the eyes of the treasure hunters featured in this reality series. It follows a group of bidders looking to strike it rich by buying repossessed storage units. They’re at once detectives and gamblers, as they get only a quick flashlight-aided peek inside the units before they decide if they want to make a bid, and for how much. It’s a high-stakes game that can pay off big time — one featured collector bought a unit for $800 and sold its contents for a $40,000 profit — or leave one sifting through the equivalent of trash.

“FEUD: Capote Vs. The Swans” (FX/FXX/Hulu — Jan. 31/Feb. 1, Limited Series Premiere)

This second installment in Ryan Murphy’s FEUD anthology is based on the bestselling book “Capote’s Women: A True Story of Love, Betrayal, and a Swan Song for an Era” by Laurence Leamer.

Acclaimed writer Truman Capote (Tom Hollander) surrounded himself with a coterie of society’s most elite women, whom he nicknamed “the swans.” Enchanted and captivated by these doyennes, Capote ingratiated himself into their lives, befriending them and becoming their confidante, only to ultimately betray them by writing a thinly veiled fictionalization of their lives, exposing their most intimate secrets. Naomi Watts, Slim Keith, C.Z. Guest and Lee Radziwill also star.

It's been better 'Late' than never for Stephen Colbert

BY JAY BOBBIN

Q: When a talk show is without its host at the last minute, as happened with Stephen Colbert recently, why isn't a guest host brought in rather than have repeat episodes scheduled? – Tim Donnelly, via e-mail

A: Though Jimmy Kimmel has been taking summers off from his ABC show with guest hosts subbing for him, it's become the norm for the hosts whose names are in the shows' titles to remain the ones seen behind the desks, new episodes or not. There's a consistency that comes from that, and with the rivalry as it is between Kimmel, CBS's Colbert and NBC's Jimmy Fallon — friends though they are off-camera — that's very important to maintaining audience loyalty in an age where there's already sufficient viewership fragmentation.

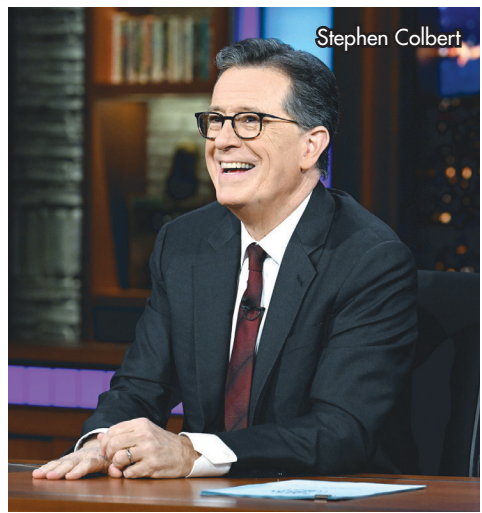

Late-night viewers were accustomed to seeing repeats for much of 2023, given the Hollywood strikes that prevented production of new episodes for some time. It's always preferable to have something fresh to present, but in a situation such as Colbert and the surgery he needed for his appendix (which came after another bout with COVID-19 for him), life sometimes overrides the best intentions professionally.

Q: I keep reading conflicting things about whether there will be another "Psych" movie. Will there be? – Chris Lewis, Buffalo, N.Y.

A: Peacock — which has the corner on making new chapters of the franchise now — reportedly has been developing another one, which would be the fourth, and star James Roday Rodriguez has said one of the major challenges is in getting schedules to match up so that it actually can be filmed. The strikes by writers and actors last year complicated the timeline even more, but the ongoing popularity of the repeats of the original series confirm that fans still show up for it ... as they likely will for another "Psych" spinoff film.

Q: Since Season 5 of "SEAL Team" has been running on CBS, is it possible that Season 6 will be shown there, too? – Jack Kinney, Glen Burnie, Md.

A: It's possible, since those Paramount+ episodes have been exclusive to the streaming service — but it should be noted that the recent show-business strikes, and the relative scarcity of new material to televise, prompted CBS's decision to run Season 5. Now that production has restarted, there's less need to acquire content from other sources. Still, "SEAL Team" — which will be ending with Season 7 — has a substantial fan base that likely keeps running currently streaming-only editions of the show an ongoing thought for the broadcasting network.
