SPECIAL ELECTION

Three candidates emerge for city of Mansfield's vacant Post 3 seat

PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
MANAGING EDITOR

MANSFIELD, Ga. — When Blair Northen ran for mayor of Mansfield in August 2023, his Post 3 seat was vacated. As a result, the city of Mansfield will have a special election on March 12 to fill the spot.

Three candidates have qualified to be on the ballot — Monica Sagastizado, Jonathan Fuqua and Brandon Hays.

Monica Sagastizado

Sagastizado moved to Mansfield three years ago. She is married to her husband Christopher Davis of three years and they have two daughters Eva, who is 2 years old, and a 9-month old Emily.

She graduated from Georgia State University (GSU) in 2013 and obtained a bachelor's degree in history. Six years later, Sagastizado received a master's degree in public administration from GSU.

Today, Sagastizado is an urban planner with a private consulting firm with her career beginning through an internship in former Georgia Gov. Nathan Deal's office. She then began serving in roles like regional planner, city planner and county planner.

Per a bio provided to The Covington News, Sagastizado plans to utilize her experiences if elected to Post 3.

"Fueled by a passion for community enhancement, Monica envisions transforming Mansfield's landscape as a potential city council member," Sagastizado's bio read. "Her aspirations include revitalizing the downtown district through initiatives like the Main Street program and historic preservation, safeguarding the rural essence via strategic land use and zoning ordinances and fostering local economic growth through initiatives like vibrant farmer markets."

Jonathan Fuqua

Fuqua resides in Mansfield with "the love of my life" Alexandria. They have three children together.

For 20 years, Fuqua has served with local fire services in Newton County, city of Covington and Walton County. Currently, he is the Fire Marshal for Walton County Fire Rescue.

When he is not working, Fuqua enjoys spending time with his family, fishing, kayaking and anything outdoors.

In a biography given to The News, Fuqua shared his reasoning for seeking the Post 3 seat.

"The main focus of my desire to run for city council is that I am a servant leader," Fuqua's bio read. "I enjoy the small town feel of Mansfield and I want to keep it that way. Newton County has experienced exponential growth over the decade and has overrun our school system and utilities. My goal is to help regain our public safety here in the city. Response times for EMS and Sheriff's deputies exceed acceptable time. Having Law Enforcement or EMS there when you need them is top priority as you may be in a life or death situation. I am committed to working with the local emergency staff to rectify this situation to an acceptable level. With my years in public safety I have gained contacts and have the ability to speak one on one with these entities to ensure we are protected in the city of Mansfield. I hope to earn your vote on March 12, 2024."

Before Travis Moore was elected to his current post on the city of Covington's council, he was already involved with a lot.

From his early involvement with public safety and construction to his current dealings in the real estate business, Moore has worn many hats. But, no hat was more important than being a lifelong Covington resident.

City approves first reading of open container ordinance

EVAN NEWTON | NEWS EDITOR

COVINGTON, Ga. – The city of Covington has gotten one step closer in passing an ordinance that will allow patrons in the downtown historic district to carry open containers of alcoholic beverages.

On Jan. 16, council members approved the first reading for an open container policy that will allow patrons to consume alcohol in an open container setting throughout the downtown Square and surrounding areas.

Back in April, the city approved a 90-day trial period that allowed patrons to carry open containers from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. from Thursday - Saturday barring the following conditions.

Patrons would need a special city of Covington cup as well as a wristband to prove they are of legal drinking age. Exit signs also are in place to signify where the open container ordinance is not in effect.

The temporary trial period was then extended in July and extended again in October. The trial run was set to expire on Feb. 3.

After several trial runs, downtown coordinator Allen Martin and his team wanted to move forward with making this permanent.

"We felt it necessary to go ahead and put the permanent ordinance in place," Martin said.

Martin said that there were regular check-ins with downtown merchants as well as the police department to get their feedback on the trial period.

A public safety review was also conducted by the Covington Police Department (CPD) to review the impact of the open container policy – to which there were "no obvious impacts" from the ordinance.

Martin provided an anecdote from his time on the CPD, stating that he never had any issues from any of the trial periods.

"I can say from my previous employment with the city of Covington police department – I worked nights, I was a lieutenant over the night shift – and I cannot remember any incident where one of my officers had to go out because somebody was out drinking in public, and they were rently lives there with his wife Lorah and their two children. He is an alumnus of Eastside High School and he farms throughout the county through his passion for agriculture.

When Hays is not working on the farm, he is working on tractors or “anything I can find.”

Being a member of the fourth generation native to Mansfield has strengthened Hays’ desire to seek the Post 3 seat, according to his biography sent to The News.

“My mother taught me home is where you’re from, which is why Mansfield holds such a big place in my heart,” Hays’ bio read. “My roots are strong in this town. I love Mansfield and that’s why my wife and I have decided to raise our children here. I am a loyal, dedicated, and devoted family man that wants to [keep]

Mansfield, a simple small town. Growth is inevitable in today’s world, but a healthy growth for Mansfield is what is needed, not big city change. We like to live a little slower pace and keeping that for Mansfield is important for me and my family. This town is all about community and most of these citizens are people I’ve known my whole life. Making sure their voice is heard is important to me.”

Early voting will begin Feb. 19 at Mansfield City Hall located at 3146 State Hwy 11 in Mansfield. Election day will be on March 12 at the same location.

Only registered city of Mansfield residents can vote in the city election at city hall with early voting as well as election day.

showing out,” Martin said. “Basically, there’s no incidents that have taken place.”

Data obtained from the merchant survey had 17 responses from downtown merchants, with four restaurants that served alcohol responding.

According to Martin’s presentation, “a large majority [of businesses]” said they had a positive increase with only a small portion with a “slightly negative change.”

Multiple surveys showed that the community was in overwhelming favor of supporting the ordinance, with one survey having a 100 percent ‘yes’ rate when asked if the city should permanently amend the open container ordinance.

Staff’s recommendation was to make the ordinance permanent for all seven days of the week, as well as keeping all current regulations in place with the exception of the wristband rule.

East Ward Post 3 representative Jared Rutberg questioned what would stop patrons from bringing their own alcohol instead of purchasing from the businesses.

“How are we supposed to know they don’t hand that cup off to somebody else?” Rutberg said. “And then it’s avoiding the whole purpose of fostering that business on the square. What’s gonna stop me from putting a cooler in my vehicle? I got the cup, I didn’t need the wristband.”

Martin said that nothing would really stop that from happening, calling that “the nature of the beast.”

West Ward, Post 3 representative Anthony Henderson said that he was not in favor of the seven-day ordinance, stating that a balance is needed on Sundays.

“What happened to having a balance?” Henderson said. “I don’t feel we should have it on Sundays. It should at least be a break.”

But East Ward Post 2 representative Travis Moore had a different tone, stating that he was in favor of the open container ordinance lasting all seven days of the week.

“I think it needs to go Monday - Sunday because I attend the merchant’s meetings,” Moore said.

“Every one of those merchants at that meeting said, this is what they want. It has helped their sales tremendously.”

“Every one of those merchants at that meeting said, this is what they want. It has helped their sales tremendously.”

In agreement, mayor pro-tem Susie Keck stated that the data spoke for itself.

“I’m in favor of it based on what the data has proven,” Keck said. “We asked y’all to research it, we’ve extended it three times [and] we’ve had no problems. If we’re gonna have a problem, it’s not gonna happen on Sunday.”

Henderson said that while he was the youngest member on the council at 27, that a balance was still needed for the youth in the community. West Ward, Post 2 representative Charika Davis agreed with Henderson.

“I definitely agree with Anthony [Henderson] on that. I mean, I see a lot of families on the Square on Sunday – and drinking alcohol on Sunday with open containers – I just don’t think it really sets up a good example,” Davis said. “And I do know that it starts in the home, but that’s just my belief and I’m standing by it.”

Mayor Fleeta Baggett said that she agreed with Henderson and Davis.

“I’m gonna side at this time with Anthony [Henderson] and Charika [Davis],” Baggett said. “I don’t have a vote, but I think we ought to give it a break on Sunday.”

Baggett did mention, however, that it may be worth taking a look at the ordinance after some time has passed to allow it on Sundays if it is necessary.

After a lengthy deliberation period, Keck made the motion to allow the open container ordinance to become permanent for all seven days – with people living in the Lofts on the Square excluded – and to be able purchase city of Covington designated cups. The motion got a second through Moore, but failed 4-2.

A substitute motion was made by Rutberg with the same conditions that Keck outlined, with the exception that the ordinance runs Monday-Saturday instead of all seven days. The motion passed unanimously.

The second reading for the open container ordinance will take place at the next council meeting on Monday, Feb. 5.

Other Business

While temperatures were below freezing on Jan. 16, that did not stop the council from conducting a substantial amount of business.

Many items were approved 6-0 and they are as follows:

- Approval of minutes for Jan. 2 meeting.
- An approval for a first reading for a city ordinance
- A bid awardance for sole bidder Valve Maintenance Skid System from E.H. Wachs – a division of ITW amounting to $107,775.00.
- An addition of two positions to the community development department: A special events coordinator and a facilities & permit specialist.
- The continuation of the use of four part-time firefighters at the Covington Fire Department.
- A bid awardment to HI Tech Utility in the amount of $75,295.35 to construct and build a fiber network that will provide internet service throughout the Downtown Square and surrounding business areas.
- An approval of various on-call consulting services for the engineering department: Ardurra, Carter & Sloope, Garver, Georgia Water & Environmental Services (GWES), Keck & Wood, and Thomas & Hutton.
- An approval of ongoing consulting services from GWES.
- An approval of the GDOT Local Maintenance & Improvement Grant (LMIG) application for FY 2024 amounting to $205,055.92 with a local City match (SPLOST) of 30 percent ($61,516.77) for the Usher Street and Reynolds Street Project. This is an estimated combined total of $319,193.62.
- A resolution regarding the Rebuilding American Infrastructure with Sustainability and Equity (RAISE) grant.
- A resolution from the discussion of MCT Signatories/Incumbency.
- An ex post facto for assistance of the FAA reimbursement grant that will be used to upgrade the airport weather reporting equipment.

Coastal marshlands ownership bill moving through Georgia House

DAVE WILLIAMS | CAPITOL BEAT

ATLANTA – Coastal Georgia lawmakers are backing legislation that would make it easier for owners of marshland property under grants that date back to the 1700s to establish that ownership.

But opponents argue the bill would make the process so easy it would encourage false claimants to step forward and take advantage of state tax credits at the expense of the rightful owners of the environmentally fragile marsh – the public.

About 36,000 acres of coastal marshland in Georgia are privately owned, about 10 percent of the state's total marshland, through titles that go back to grants from the English king or – later – a Georgia governor.

But when owners seek to establish clear title to their properties, they must navigate a cumbersome, expensive process through the state attorney general's office that can take years to complete.

The foot-dragging by the state is on purpose, Jerry Williams, who owns a marshland tract on the Ogeechee River, charged Jan. 11 at a House Judiciary Committee hearing on the bill. Any marshland not owned privately is owned by the state as a public trust.

“They throw everything at the law they can try to delay, to try to muddy the waters, to make it cost-prohibitive for a private landowner to defend their title.”

House Bill 370 would turn over the process of reviewing claims to marshland property to the State Properties Commission, which would have 180 days to decide whether a claim is valid.

“It places a shot clock on the review and response,” said state Rep. Matt Reeves, R-Duluth, the bill's chief sponsor. As a lawyer and member of the Judiciary Committee, Reeves is working with a group of coastal House members to shepherd the legislation.

The Judiciary Committee passed the bill last year, but it made no further progress before the Crossover Day deadline for legislation to pass at least one of the two chambers in the General Assembly.

Reeves said a key provision in the bill limits the use of privately owned marshland to conservation purposes.

“There's not going to be any development. There's not going to be any construction,” Reeves said. “The Georgia coast is one of the jewels in the crown of this state, a beautiful area. This bill will protect it.”

But Alice Miller-Keyes, vice president of coastal conservation for the Brunswick-based environmental organization 100 Miles, said House Bill 370 would flip the burden of proof for ownership of coastal marshlands from the property owner to the state. If the State Properties Commission fails to decide a case within the 180-day deadline, the title is certified by default, she said.

“This could result in thousands of acres of marsh being privatized without a valid crown grant,” Miller-Keyes said. “This bill could facilitate a massive giveaway of Georgia's pride and joy – our coastal marshlands.”

April Lipscomb, a lawyer with the Atlanta-based Southern Environmental Law Center, said the bill's provision restricting development of marshland properties is vague and unenforceable.

“There are no deadlines for people to meet in order to show they are restricting the use to conservation,” Lipscomb said.

Kevin Lang, a lawyer from Athens who owns property on Little Cumberland Island, said the bill is designed to make it easier for owners of marshland property to qualify for conservation tax credits.

“This bill is not a conservation bill. This bill is a money bill,” Lang said. “This bill is about creating a mitigation bank where someone can sell mitigation credits for restoration.”

The Judiciary Committee passed the bill and sent it on to the House Rules Committee to schedule a vote of the full House.

Ossoff-backed military housing measures signed into law

DAVE WILLIAMS | CAPITOL BEAT

ATLANTA – Two provisions aimed at helping military families with housing championed by U.S. Sen. Jon Ossoff, D-Ga., have become law with President Joe Biden's recent signing of the annual National Defense Authorization Act.

Ossoff's Military Facilities Upgrade Act, folded into the defense authorization bill, calls for upgrading old and failing barracks by giving the military the flexibility to use operations and maintenance funding to replace barracks deemed to be in substandard condition.

The second Ossoff-sponsored military housing provision will change the way the Defense Department calculates housing allowances for junior enlisted service members with dependents to more accurately assess their housing costs.

Ossoff led an eight-month investigation two years ago that called attention to the poor condition of privatized housing at the Army's Fort Gordon near Augusta. During that time, he said he heard from many military families about the challenges of finding affordable housing in their communities.

“When service members and their families can't afford to live near the installation where they train and where they're stationed, that has an impact on readiness,” Ossoff said. “I brought Republicans and Democrats together to pass the Junior Enlisted Housing Affordability Act into law to help junior-enlisted personnel and military families afford housing.”

Last year, Ossoff helped secure resources through the fiscal 2023 defense authorization bill to upgrade barracks, daycare centers, and other facilities for military families in Georgia.

Barnesville man pleads guilty to threatening public officials

DAVE WILLIAMS | CAPITOL BEAT

ATLANTA – A Middle Georgia man with a history of arson and sending death threats pleaded guilty in federal court Friday to mailing threatening communications to government officials.

Travis Leroy Ball, 56, of Barnesville pleaded guilty to one count of mailing threatening communications, a charge carrying a maximum sentence of five years in prison, three years of supervised release, and a fine of up to $250,000.

According to court documents, the FBI obtained a letter in March of last year addressed to U.S. District Judge Marc T. Treadwell in which the writer claimed to be a U.S. Secret Service agent who had investigated one of the defendant's prior cases.

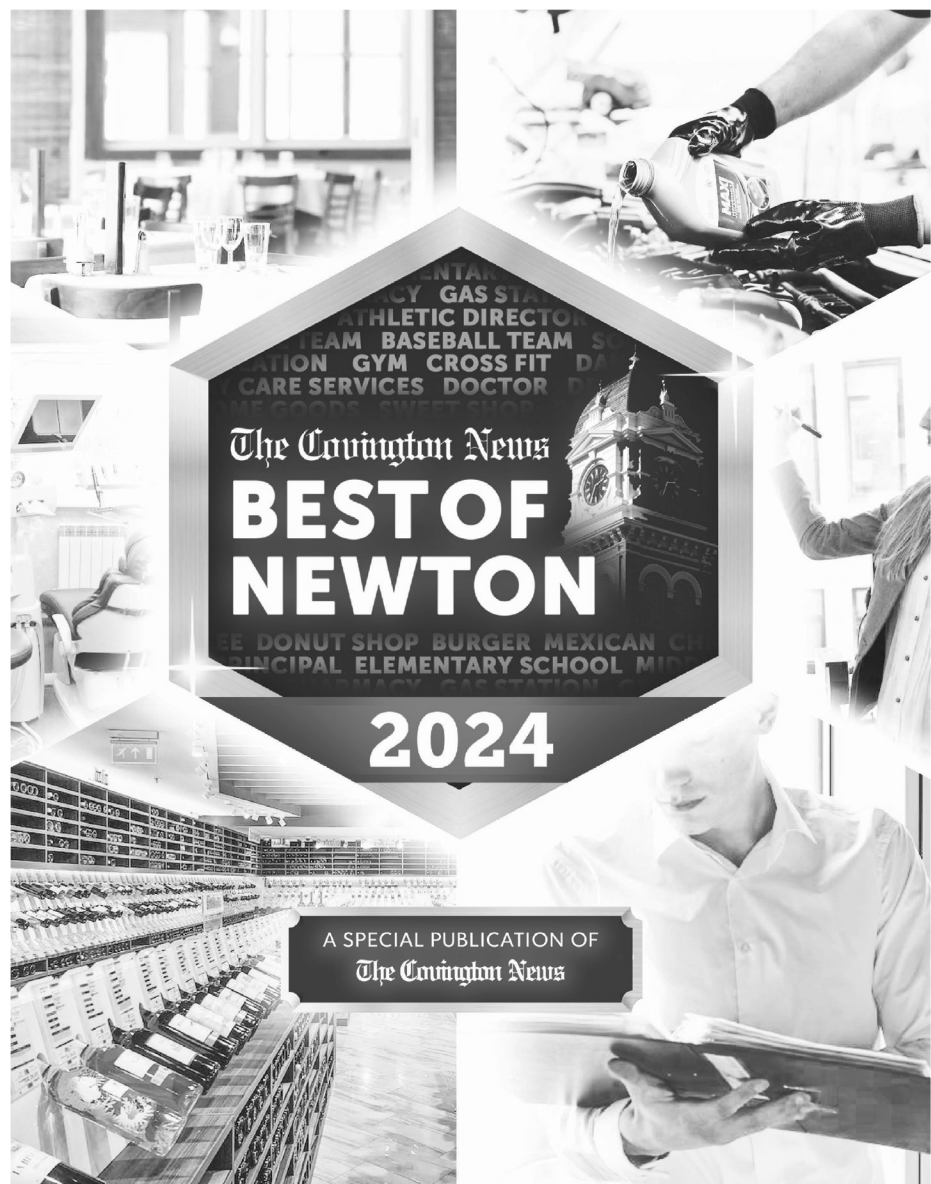

In the letter – later revealed to have been written by Ball – he demanded that the charge in Ball's most recent federal cases be dismissed and that he be released from federal custody.

Using the name of a former cellmate, Ball also wrote letters to the federal court in Valdosta and to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development in Washington, D.C., threatening to kill employees and their families, as well as burn down property.

“Death threats against public officials are taken extremely seriously by our office and will result in prison time,” said Peter D. Leary, U.S. attorney for the Middle District of Georgia. “Keeping people safe is the highest priority of our office and our law enforcement partners. These types of threats cannot and will not be tolerated.”

Ball also wrote a letter to the Upson County Sheriff's Office last July, claiming to be an FBI agent working on a top-secret case. The letter demanded that Ball's photos and personal information be removed and deleted from jail records.

The FBI compared the various letters, handwriting, letterhead, postage stamps, the language of the letters, and the “INMATE MAIL” stamp on each letter and determined Ball wrote them while in custody. Officers also found writ-

We asked and our readers have spoken.

The Covington News' annual Best of Newton magazine will be released in this upcoming weekend edition, Saturday-Sunday, Jan. 27-28. It features businesses, people and entities that you — The News' readers — voted as the “best of” in each category presented.

In the magazine, the winners of each category will be highlighted for our community to see.

Over the course of a few weeks, we published a ballot in our bi-weekly print edition for the 2024 Best of Newton. Readers had plenty of opportunities to submit names and businesses for consideration in each category.

Categories such as Auto & Transportation, Professionals and Medical were included on this ballot with more specific subcategories mentioned as well.

For example, in the Food category, readers voted on who has the best breakfast, cakes, pizza, wings, etc. Under the Community category, there is the vote of who has the best community event, civic club, place to volunteer and more.

Over 100 people or entities were reader-voted to win their respective category.

I had the great pleasure of signing each winners' certificates that we presented to them to put it on display or just to hold on as a keepsake.

While I was signing each certificate, I thought to myself, “Wow. Newton County has a lot to offer.” And, I've since expanded on that thinking saying, “Newton County has a lot of quality to offer.”

No matter what aspect of the Newton County community you look at, I believe there is a lot offered to local citizens and community members.

Another great aspect of Newton County on display in the Best of Newton 2024 are the individuals voted to be recognized.

On this ballot, you have the best cardiologist, the best school administrator and many more people who received this prestigious honor.

That goes to show that, not only is Newton County comprised of special offerings, but it also filled with many remarkable individuals who help make this place unique.

A lot of the people recognized on this list are longtime members of this community, which just adds to the merit they have received.

All of the people and businesses should be celebrated for their overarching efforts and contributions to help make Newton County the best place possible.

And the list of winners for Best of Newton 2024 is just the tip of the iceberg, I think.

Not only are these businesses and individuals deserving of these honors, but there are so many others who offer quality service in their respective arenas.

Newton County has a lot of options when it comes to multiple offerings for the community to enjoy.

From the downtown Covington Square, Hwy. 278 and other areas of the community, Newton County is not short-handed in its offerings. There are also many remarkable individuals whose impact spans across the county, communities and local area.

Each category displays what the area has to provide for each person living here and I believe that should be celebrated.

So, congratulations to each one who received the most votes from The News' readers. Whether it is your first time placing first in this category or you have repeated as No. 1, I commend you on this honor.

Hopefully, everyone will check out this magazine this weekend to see who won what.

To me, this magazine symbolizes what all Newton County has to bring. Not only that, but it highlights the quality of the community and its offerings to its community members.

Again, congratulations to each winner. We look forward to featuring you in this magazine.

Fulton County DA Suddenly Finds Herself in a Big Mess

DICK YARBROUGH
Syndicated Columnist

Shades of Laurel and Hardy. When something went awry in one of their slapstick movies Oliver Hardy would declare to hapless Stan Laurel, “This is a fine mess you’ve gotten us into.” This would certainly apply to Fulton County district attorney, Fani Willis, and unlike Laurel and Hardy who managed to extricate themselves from said mess before the end of the movie, Willis’s mess isn’t going away. In fact, it is getting messier.

For reasons that make no sense other than political self-aggrandizement, Willis took it upon herself to begin an investigation and indictment of former president Donald Trump and eighteen others on racketeering, conspiracy and other charges regarding potential 2020 election interference.

I am not a Donald Trump fan but I think the effort is and has been a waste of taxpayer dollars and that any perceived electoral misdeeds on the part of the former president and his supporters should be the responsibility of federal authorities, not Fulton County. Willis should be concentrating on the huge backlog of pending felony cases awaiting trial. Leave Trump and his posse to the Feds.

It has been a mess from the beginning. The first indication was when Willis subpoenaed Georgia’s current Lt. Gov. Burt Jones, one of 16 Trump electors who signed on to an “unofficial electorate certificate” in an effort to undo the Electoral College vote in the 2020 election. This, after she had held a fundraiser for Jones’ Democratic opponent before the election and had donated money to his primary campaign.

Fulton Superior Court Judge Robert McBurney who oversaw the special grand jury proceedings criticized Willis and called it a “What are you thinking moment,” and added, “The optics are horrific.” And the political ineptitude striking.

Fani Willis now finds herself in a mess worse than anything Laurel and Hardy could have dreamed up.

Haley vs. Ramaswamy will be the future of the GOP

DAVID SHRIBMAN
Columnist

On the surface, the New Hampshire primary looks as if it is a struggle between the soaring Donald Trump and the aspiring Nikki Haley, with Ron DeSantis sticking in to try his luck after a second-place finish in Iowa.

But that’s not what New Hampshire, or the campaign for the Republican nomination, may really be about. Instead, it could be about one candidate who is desperately trying to pull an upset and keep her fragile nomination hopes alive and a candidate who bowed out after the Iowa Caucus results were clear.

Forget Mr. Trump versus Ms. Haley. It may really come down to Ms. Haley versus ... Vivek Ramaswamy.

The actually important competition

The Trump-Haley contest is, to be sure, a struggle for the character of the 2024 Republican Party. But there’s a separate struggle, one that won’t be resolved in New Hampshire — a shadow competition that could mean much more than next Tuesday night’s results.

It is about the future of one of the great political parties in American history, one that gave the nation Abraham Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and Ronald Reagan, none of whom would be venturing inside the GOP convention in Milwaukee in July.

Why Mr. Ramaswamy?

Because he is the leading edge of the new brand of American conservatism personified in 2024 by a 77-year-old retread who had nonetheless set the party on a new direction, but who won’t be leading it much longer.

The Trump campaign is less about the future than about the past — should Hillary Clinton have gone to jail, was the Russia investigation baloney, did the Democrats steal the 2020 election, is he being prosecuted for phony crimes by politically motivated stooges?

The rest — immigration, woke policies about school bathrooms, crime in Democratic-controlled cities — are merely objects of opportunity for Mr Trump. His campaign is about retribution against his enemies and restoration of his reputation.

Mr. Ramaswamy is Trump 3.0 — the logical extension of the original Trump message, updated to the present and shorn of the personal campaign of retribution.

The proof is in an email he sent to supporters only four days before Iowa.

It is a frontal attack on the American establishment, which anyone over the age of 40 knows once was best understood as the Republican Party. Dwight Eisenhower was the beau ideal of the business establishment; his cabinet was known as “nine millionaires and a plumber.” The Bush Republican dynasty began with Prescott Bush, who entered politics after a career with Brown Brothers Harriman and Co. Mitt Romney was a pioneer in

SHRIBMAN

YARBROUGH attorney Ashleigh Merchant, representing Mike Roman, one of Donald Trump’s codefendants in the case, accuses Willis of engaging in an “improper, clandestine personal relationship” with a married private attorney, Nathan Wade, who she had hired as a “special prosecutor.”

Fulton County records show Willis has paid Wade $654,000 since January 2022, far more than other attorneys on the case. Merchant says she has no proof that Wade has ever tried a felony RICO case. The other two special prosecutors are Anna Cross a former DeKalb County assistant district attorney who has handled dozens of felony cases and John Floyd, considered an expert on state RICO prosecutions and who helped draft the law. Together, they billed $116,000, less than a quarter of what Wade was paid.

Merchant’s motion which runs 38 pages alleges among other things that Willis and Wade began a romantic relationship prior to her hiring him and that Wade funded lavish vacations for the two of them with money he was paid for his work on the election interference case.

The mess keeps getting messier. On the same day Merchant filed her motion, Willis was served with a subpoena by representatives of Nathan Wade’s wife, Joycelyn, to testify in the Wades’ divorce case. As it stands now, the records of the divorce action have been sealed in Cobb County and a number of news outlets, including the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, the New York Times, Washington Post, and CNN are asking that the records be unsealed. Willis has been trying to quash the subpoena seeking her testimony in the divorce proceedings. Why? Does she have anything to hide?

Fulton County Superior Court Judge Scott McAfee who is overseeing the election interference case against former president Trump and the others has set a hearing for Feb. 15 and has given the Fulton County District Attorney’s Office a Feb. 2 deadline to file a written response to the allegations made by Mike Roman and his legal team.

Rather than provide taxpayers with answers as to the accusations and taking the opportunity to prove her accusers wrong, Willis has chosen instead to play the race card. She has declared all of this is because she is a Black woman. Joycelyn Wade, Nathan Wade’s ex, is a Black woman, too. This isn’t about race. It is about perceptions.

If Fani Willis is paying a hefty salary to a romantic partner with limited experience, that is a genuine conflict of interest that would require her dismissal from the case and possible action by the State Bar Association and perhaps Georgia Atty. Gen. Chris Carr. I’m afraid even Laurel and Hardy can’t help her out of this fine mess.

SHRIBMAN the private-equity business.

CONT. FROM A4 The British suffragette Agnes Maude Royden once remarked that the Church of England was the Tory party at prayer. In like manner, the American establishment was the Republican Party at leisure. Mr. Trump took on the establishment. Mr. Ramaswamy seeks to obliterate it.

He set out what he might have called, borrowing the title of a 2004 Philip Roth novel, the plot against America. It involves creating a two-person race of Mr. Trump against “a puppet they can control.” (Implicit message: Ms. Haley.) Then he goes on to say that the Establishment would “trot their puppet into the White House.”

As prophecy it is gravely faulty; Ms. Haley may be trotting nowhere except back home if she doesn’t pull within seven or so points of Mr Trump Tuesday, and even if she does.

Trump to Ramaswamy

Mr. Trump created the new GOP constituency. Mr. Ramaswamy has provided what might be the sinews of campaign 2028, when Mr. Trump would be barred from another term.

The profile of Trump caucusers in Iowa suggests the makings of an even more fervent rebellion against American elites. Iowa has been the seat of rebellion before; the farm states provided the oxygen for the great 1890s rebellions. They might, in the phrase attributed, probably wrongly, to 19th century activist Mary Elizabeth Lease, raise less corn and more hell. (She disavowed being the author of the phrase but embraced its meaning.)

Meanwhile, the establishment rump, and it is a small one, is considering its options. One of them is not Mr. Trump. “We can survive bad policies,” Representative Liz Cheney, the very model of the old GOP establishment, said on “The View,” adding, “We cannot survive torching the Constitution.”

None of this will be on the menu Tuesday, when Ms. Haley and Gov. Ron DeSantis seek to derail the Trump bandwagon. Theirs is an important campaign, conducted in the sort of redoubt of continuity the Establishment always has embraced.

The small New Hampshire mountain towns once held flamboyant coaching parades — matched teams of horses hauling lavishly decorated stage coaches and wagons at summer’s end. They were the staging ground for the Old Home Week movement, invented here by Governor Frank Rollins 125 years ago, and the traditions continue, at least in the small mountain towns.

Last August Sandwich, N.H. (population 1,466) — aptly named as it is sandwiched between the state’s Lakes District and the White Mountains — held its 125th Old Home Week. It included a reunion for those who attended one- and two-room schoolhouses.

But that world is swiftly receding as the suburbs spread northward. Its remnants still have their power, of course. Only in New Hampshire would political professionals wonder about the wisdom of Mr. DeSantis departing Iowa Monday and flying to South Carolina before decamping in New Hampshire. The old parochial style of honoring New Hampshire’s status as the home of the first primary would have required a Granite State visit immediately.

Should it matter?

Should that sort of thing matter today? The guard rails of politics are falling, the traditions are disappearing, the assumptions are being undermined. It is reminiscent of the remark of Edmund Burke, the 18th century British political figure and philosopher who once was the balladeer of American conservatives.

As the tumult in revolutionary France deepened, and as the conservatism that Burke loved was in peril, he wrote, “The age of chivalry is gone. That of sophisters, economists, and calculators has succeeded; and the glory of Europe is extinguished forever.”

No quote from one century applies fully to another. But the lesson of Burke is to respect history and the patterns of the past.

M'Kayla Solomon earns school district's super speller trophy

STAFF REPORT | THE NEWS

In a seven-round showdown, South Salem Elementary School fifth grader M'Kayla Solomon emerged as the Newton County School System Spelling Bee champion.

She now holds the title of the district's super speller.

The competition saw Solomon and the runner-up, Dani Blackwell from Clements Middle School, battling it out for the championship trophy.

The decisive moment came when Blackwell stumbled on the tricky word, "lymphoma," opening the door for Solomon to clinch victory by spelling, "Matterhorn."

Solomon shared her secret to success, revealing that she faced the nerve wracking rounds by taking a deep breath and counting to 10 – a strategy that seemed to work like magic.

Despite competing against top spellers from both elementary and middle schools across the district, Solomon kept her cool and focused on having a blast.

"I just thought about having fun and didn't worry about losing," Solomon said, emphasizing that her preparation involved fun word sessions with her mom and school buddies.

An avid reader, Solomon credited her love for books for boosting her vocabulary and spelling skills.

"I love to read," Solomon said. "I read all day long. My goal is to read a book with over 500 pages. Right now, I like chapter books. I like mysteries and Goosebumps, and also comedy books. I just love to read."

Now wearing the crown of the Newton County School System 2024 Spelling Bee champ, Solomon is gearing up to represent the district in the regional spelling bee next month.

Her game plan for the upcoming challenge? Stay true to what worked before, maybe crank up the effort a bit but, above all, keep the focus on having a blast.

"I'm going to do the same thing I did to prepare for today," Solomon said. "But I'll work harder, and I'd like to get to a higher level of words. But still, I just want to have fun."

And as for the grand celebration of her big win, Solomon has a delicious plan in mind.

"I'd like to go to Chick-fil-A with my mom and get a milkshake," Solomon said.

Superintendent Dr. Duke Bradley III commended Solomon on winning the competition.

"Congratulations to M'Kayla, our new spelling bee champion," Bradley said. "What an incredible achievement for an elementary school student to surpass the best spellers from both the elementary and middle schools in our district. I am extremely proud of your accomplishment and send you best wishes as you prepare to represent Newton County Schools in the Regional Spelling Bee."

members, such as heading to the farmer's market.

"I'm at all of these events, all of them and it feels really good to go to a farmer's market and everybody's local," Moore said. "I see a lot of familiar faces and folks that I know... and I like that."

A seventh-generation Covington resident, Moore has been immersed in all things Covington his entire life. He grew up just a half-mile away from the downtown Square on the east ward. To this day, he still lives on the east ward with his wife Lindsey, with his two children Malia and Jack both in college.

Moore also is a dog lover and lives with three dogs of his own.

"I tend to joke around that I like dogs more than people," Moore said. "I love animals. I'm a dog lover. We've got a few rescues – it was unintentional – but it was one of those things where it was like, 'How can I not?'"

Moore holds a lengthy educational background, with a bachelor's degree in occupational safety and health from Columbia Southern University. He possesses an associate degree in fire science from Georgia Piedmont Technical College as well as a Lean Six Sigma Yellow Belt from the Covington Chamber of Commerce.

His initial background came in the construction industry, where he worked for many years before transitioning to a career in public safety.

In 2006, Moore signed on with Newton County Fire & Rescue where he worked as a firefighter. Additionally, he served as an EMT for Piedmont Newton EMS services, totaling for a 15-year career in public safety.

However, Moore opted to do more than just sit on the sidelines while he was off work. So, he opted to get into real estate.

He officially joined as an associate broker with Hometown Realty Consultants Inc. in 2014 where he originally made his mark in the real estate business.

Moore opted to take it one step further. When he left public safety, he opened Moore Rentals LLC. The initial vision for the company was to buy properties that were fixer-upper projects, renovate them and then place them back for sale.

But, according to Moore, the company plan has pivoted due to the amount of short-term travel that occurs throughout Covington – particularly with those in the film industry. Those properties are now being taken and rented out to those that may be traveling and living in Covington in the short-term.

Additionally, he and his wife own Moxie Yoga Barre Pilates, a yoga barre pilates studio complete with an infrared sauna.

Moore said that building his customer base and trust with the community was a big part in making the move from public safety to real estate full time.

"For my first three years, I was still full-time public safety and a real estate broker as well," Moore said. "It took me the first few years to get my business built up so that I could phase out public safety and move over into real-estate."

Continuing that go-getter spirit, Moore then set out in the world of politics. Wanting to get more involved with the city's planning, he was appointed to the Covington planning commission last year.

It would not be long before Moore decided to announce his campaign for office for the East Ward, Post 2 seat that would be vacated by now-mayor Fleeta Baggett. Moore successfully won his campaign, receiving 740 total votes.

When asked about his first meeting as a city council member, Moore said, "it wasn't bad."

"We have the same format with the planning and zoning commission... so that wasn't really any different," Moore said. "It's just now I actually have a vote and not just a recommendation."

While the first two meetings of the year were "lighter" in terms of workload, things will begin to ramp up once again soon for council members. Pressing issues such as density matters and impact fees will be coming up.

Density matters, in particular, were a concern for Moore as one of his main points of concern in his campaign was to stop what he calls "irresponsible growth."

"I feel like we need to be in line with everyone else, because the scale and the pace of these developments is a concern. It's a legitimate concern," Moore said. "You got school systems that are burdened, fire and police are a mess and the roads are congested. I feel like it's just irresponsible to keep adding on to an issue we've already got until we can get all of that fixed."

Moore plans to navigate this issue by having what he feels is the "right" kind of growth. He believes that growing responsibly will be the best course of action for citizens in Covington.

"I love the small town feel, but I also realize that we have to grow. We can't keep Covington like it was 50, 60, 100 years ago," Moore said. "I just want to kind of balance that small town feel while some of that responsible growth. I just say it needs to be the right kind of growth."

"I don't want us to get out of control to where we lose that small Covington feel, and I think that's what people want."

Stop marinating meat: Instead, season then sauce one-pan Florentine pork

CHRISTOPHER KIMBALL
Food Writer
Associated Press

Despite how commonly recipes call for marinating meat, it's rarely worth it.

Marinades do a poor job of flavoring meat because the molecules of any flavorings, except for salt, are too big to penetrate the surface. Besides, you're then left cooking wet meat, which inhibits flavorful browning.

That's why we season meat before cooking, then sauce later, as in this one-pan Florentine pork chop recipe from our book "Tuesday Nights Mediterranean," which features weeknight-friendly meals from the region. The recipe is an adaptation of a recipe for braciule nella scamerita from Artusi's "Science in the Kitchen and the Art of Eating Well," a landmark Italian cookbook that was first published in 1891 and remains in print today.

We season the chops with oregano, red pepper flakes, salt and black pepper, later searing them in a skillet with a garlic-infused oil. The pork is sliced and served over a bed of lacinto kale that's been cooked with sliced red onion in a red wine reduction. The wine, balsamic vinegar and remaining garlic oil mix with the pork's natural juices and moisture released by the vegetables for a delectable, minimalistic sauce.

The slices of toasted garlic used to flavor the oil add crispy bits of allium that contrast the silky greens, and a tablespoon of balsamic vinegar brightens the dish. A final sprinkle of the pork's seasoning mix adds another layer of flavor.

Whereas Artusi indicates cutlets from where the loin and leg meet, we call for boneless pork loin chops. Lacinato kale is sometimes sold as Tuscan or dinosaur kale.

And if you prefer to serve the chops whole, that's fine. Either way, the chops will release flavorful juices as they rest — make sure to pour them over the pork and kale before serving.

Pork with Kale, Red Wine and Toasted Garlic

Start to finish: 40 minutes

Servings: 4

2 teaspoons dried oregano

1 teaspoon red pepper flakes

Kosher salt and ground black pepper

Four 6-ounce boneless pork loin chops, each about 1 inch thick, patted dry

4 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil, divided, plus more to serve

6 medium garlic cloves, thinly sliced

1 cup dry red wine

1 medium red onion, halved and thinly sliced

2 bunches lacinato kale, stemmed and sliced crosswise about ½ inch thick

1 tablespoon balsamic vinegar

In a small bowl, stir together the oregano, pepper flakes, 2 teaspoons salt and 1 tablespoon black pepper. Measure 1 tablespoon of the mix into a small bowl; set aside. Sprinkle the remaining seasoning mix onto both sides of the pork chops, then rub it into the meat.

In a 12-inch skillet over medium-high, heat 2 tablespoons of oil until shimmering. Add the garlic and cook, stirring, until golden brown, 1 to 2 minutes. Using a slotted spoon, transfer the garlic to a small plate. To the oil remaining in the pan, add the chops and cook until well browned on the bottoms, 3 to 5 minutes. Flip and continue to cook until the centers reach 135°F, another 3 to 4 minutes. Transfer to a cutting board and tent with foil.

Add the wine to the skillet and cook over medium-high, scraping up any browned bits, until reduced to about 2 tablespoons, about 5 minutes. Add the remaining 2 tablespoons oil, the onion and half the kale, then cook, tossing with tongs, until the kale begins to wilt, about 30 seconds. Add the remaining kale and continue to cook, tossing and stirring, until the kale is tender and the onion is softened, about 3 minutes.

Off heat, add the toasted garlic and the vinegar, then toss to combine. Taste and season with salt and pepper, then transfer to a serving platter, creating a bed for the pork. Cut the chops into thin slices and arrange over the kale. Pour over any accumulated juices, then sprinkle with the reserved seasoning mix.

TIGERS SPLIT HOME SERIES AGAINST MORROW

Lady Tigers extend streak with win, Alcovy boys falla late to Morrow

JET RAWLS | CORRESPONDENT

COVINGTON, Ga. — In its eighth region contest of the season, Alcovy split with the Morrow Mustangs at home on Friday. The Lady Tigers continued their winning ways with a 55-47 win over the Lady Mustangs. Alcovy’s boys team fell short in the final minute to Morrow in a 66-65 defeat.

Lady Tigers extend streak

A second half surge propelled the Lady Tigers past Region 3-AAAAAA rival Morrow on Friday in a 55-47 win, extending their win streak to seven in a row.

After a strong first two minutes that snagged an early lead for Alcovy, a Morrow three pointer sparked a strong run for the Mustangs.

For the first quarter, the Lady Tigers lived in their own paint.

Alcovy guarded an aggressive attack from Morrow’s offense and failed to score a point of its own for the last half of the period.

However, Alcovy found offensive momentum in the second quarter with back-to-back threes and an and-one shot by Kendall Banks.

A free throw by Minah Little put the home team on top late in the half, but a three ball put the Mustangs in front 29-28 as the teams walked into the locker room.

The Alcovy defense capitalized on Morrow miscues in the third quarter, holding it to just seven points and digging a hole for the Mustangs in the final quarter.

Kendall Banks gave Alcovy an 11-point lead with a deep three pointer. Her 20-point game helped the Lady Tigers cement yet another victory

“This is history,” said Lady Tigers’ coach Justin Hunter. “We haven’t had this in almost close to 10 years. Seven wins for the girls.”

Hunter said a large part of their success is the ability for younger players to step up and lead in the absence of seniors.

The Lady Tigers (11-6, 5-3) will look to add more history to the season when they host another region opponent in Jonesboro on Tuesday, Jan. 23. They will then seek to take control of second place in the region when they face Rockdale County on the road on Friday, Jan. 26.

Tigers fall in heartbreaking fashion

A last-second jump shot by Tim Walls fell just off the mark as Alcovy fell short to Morrow in a Region 3-AAAAAA matchup on Friday.

After being down by 15 points in the second half, Alcovy took the lead with just two minutes left in the game on a deep three by Andre Jernigan.

Another layup by Jernigan put his team up by three, but a foul and a goaltending call tied the game once again.

A Mustang three-pointer put Morrow up with a minute left in a fight to the finish.

With 10 seconds left in the game. A basket by Jaqari Smith rolled out of the hoop, only to be put back by Tim Walls, giving Alcovy a 55-54 lead and leaving the defense to close out the game.

However, a foul on a Morrow shooter gave him two shots to tie and take the lead. Both fell in front of a raucous crowd with five seconds left to make it 66-65 Morrow.

In a last-second attempt to pull off the comeback, Wall’s shot fell just off the rim as time expired, giving Alcovy their seventh loss on the season.

“We’re doing a good job fighting, but we gotta be ready to go from the jump,” said head coach Taylor Jackson. “These small things throughout the course of the game, they build up. Then we flip a coin at the end.”

The loss came not long after the Tigers’ fell to Lovejoy, another game in which Alcovy came back from a large deficit only to be defeated on the final possession.

After exchanging leads throughout the first quarter, Morrow took advantage

RILEY EMERGES AS LEADER FOR RAMS WRESTLING

GARRETT PITTS | SPORTS EDITOR

A year removed from being labeled a “student of the game,” junior Malachi Riley has been viewed as a teacher for many of his teammates.

Riley’s dedication to bettering his game has bled over to him running practices for the Rams.

“A team coached by no one is absolutely horrible,” Gregory said. “A team coached by the coaches is going to be good, but a team coached by the team is the best team out there.”

For Riley, the desire to run practices and help his team stemmed from his original desire to pursue the sport three years ago.

Riley described himself as an energetic kid and he sought an outlet for that energy. Once he and his classmates came back from the COVID-19 pandemic, Riley found what he was looking for.

“In my freshman year, we were coming back from COVID, so I was not doing anything and I did not really have any purpose. Once I was able to come out and wrestle, it was the one time where people would congratulate me for being energetic, congratulate me for doing a lot of movement and congratulate me for being an excellent wrestler,” Riley said. “Part of the reason I lead practices is that I want other people to experience that. I think wrestling is a great way to express yourself.”

The junior wrestler has earned some credibility behind his leading practices. So far this season, Riley holds a 34-4 record on the mat.

BANKS PUTS TALENT ON DISPLAY DURING JUNIOR CAMPAIGN

JET RAWLS | CORRESPONDENT

Seventeen games into the 2023-24 season, the Alcovy Lady Tigers have almost twice as many wins as losses. One of the keys to that success has been strong shooting.

Leading the way for the Lady Tigers is junior guard Kendall Banks.

Banks’ contributions have not gone unnoticed by head coach Justin Hunter either. He described the junior’s campaign so far as an “historic year.”

Banks recognized the significance of her head coach saying that.

“It means a lot, because it’s never happened to me before,” Banks said. “And I’m glad I’m coming into my talents.”

In her third season with the Alcovy program, Banks leads all scorers averaging 13.7 points per game. She also averages 3.4 rebounds and 1.2 assists per game.

Those numbers have been paying dividends, too. Alcovy is currently third in Region 3-AAAAAA and is on a seven-game winning streak, its largest since a 14-game tear in the 2012-2013 season.

Hunter stressed that the junior guard has come up huge in big moments this season.

EAGLES COMPETE AT CLASS AAAAA WRESTLING DUALS

GARRETT PITTS | SPORTS EDITOR

JEFFERSON, Ga. — The Eastside Eagles competed at the Class AAAAA wrestling duals at Jefferson High School over the weekend.

The Eagles came away with a mix of wins and losses but failed to place at the conclusion of the event.

In the first dual of the day, the Eagles were paired with the Ola Mustangs, who finished the duals in second place.

The Eagles lost the match 55-21, but four Eastside wrestlers came away with individual wins.

Jamorrie Cole (190-pound weight class) won via fall. Micah Mostek (106-pound weight class) won via fall. Grayson Poynter (120-pound weight class) won via a 6-2 decision. Nolan Christian (126-pound weight class) won via fall.

After the loss to the Mustangs, the Eagles were matched with Arabia Mountain.

Against the Rams, the Eagles responded to their previous loss with a 60-22 win.

Cole, Mostek, Jameel McMichael (215-pound weight class), Dylan Baynes (138-pound weight class), Damani Fleming (157-pound weight class) and Grayson Carter (165-pound weight class) earned wins via falls with four other Eagles getting wins on forfeits.

The win over the Rams set the Eagles up in the next round with the Coffee Tojans.

Eastside's dual with the Trojans was much closer, but the Eagles squeaked out the 39-35 victory.

At the conclusion of the first matches of the dual, Eastside found itself down 27-6 with its only points coming from a Mostek win via fall.

Down by 19 points, Eastside won the dual with a 33-8 run that was capped off by three consecutive wins via fall.

Wins from Hasaan Williams (132-pound weight class) via fall, Baynes via 8-7 decision, Collin Pucko (150-pound weight class) via fall, Carter via fall, Jertavious Allen (175-pound weight class) via fall and Cole via fall sealed the win for the Eagles.

Eastside's win over Coffee propelled them into a dual with Jones County.

In their final dual of the event, the Eagles fell 54-18 to the Greyhounds.

The individual wins over Jones County came from Mostek in a 5-0 decision, Christian with a 12-7 decision, Pucko via forfeit and Allen via fall.

Mostek and Cole finished with the best individual records of the event with 4-0 and 3-0 finishes, respectively.

The Eagles will be back on the mats next for a Quint-Meet against Oconee County, Clarke Central, Harlem and Johnson at Oconee County High School on Friday, Jan. 26.

to lead practice prior to the 2023-24 season beginning. The event was intended to educate parents on the rules of wrestling to help them better understand the sport their kids would compete in.

The clinic was run by none other than Riley.

Gregory believes Riley is one of the few who has the ability to wrestle and coach at a high level.

"It is very rare that you see great athletes become great coaches," Gregory said. "Great NFL players are not great coaches. You also see players who are not so great at the game become great coaches. Malachi Riley is an anomaly. He is a great athlete that can also become a great coach. He has the pulse of this sport, from the athlete's perspective and the coach's perspective."

The extra emphasis on helping his teammates has not deterred Riley from working on his own game.

When asked what was the next level of his skillset, Riley knew exactly what he needed to work on — Breaking opponents' stances and fighting off mental blocks.

Riley recognized the significance of working on both aspects of his attack.

"There have been times where I have wrestled someone who is good and one thing I noticed is that if you don't break their stance, you won't be able to get in on any of your attacks, because they practice their stance," Riley said. "The greatest thing is to be able to sometimes fake or level change to make them think and make them tired. If you take the strong guy and make them tired, they are no longer strong. If you take a fast guy and make him tired, he is no longer fast. If you take a technical guy and make him tired, he will no longer be technical."

The junior emphasized mental blocks as another area of his game where he has been intentional on getting better.

"Sometimes there is a guy in front of you and you're scared, or sometimes there is a guy and you just don't know how to crack him so you get in your head. I have had that happen to me four times, hence why I am 34-4," Riley said. "My biggest goal right now is to just win, but if I win state wrestling like a scrub then I won't enjoy it."

Riley is no stranger to having success as a wrestler at Newton. Last season, he was deemed a "stud," who is a wrestler expected to win every match when they take the mat.

Carrying that over from his sophomore outing, Gregory has only seen a jump in Riley and it starts with him understanding his own skillset.

"His abilities were always there, but he has grown in identifying his own abilities. He is not a new knife, he is a sharper knife," Gregory said. "Even in his sense of leadership. He has taken on leadership roles within the team that have caused him to obligate himself to be a winner. He can't lose now."

Looking ahead, Gregory has high expectations for Riley when Newton heads to Parkview on Saturday, Feb. 3 for the Region 4-AAAAAAA traditional meet.

With the final stretch of the season ahead, Riley looks to not settle for anything other than his best as he plans to finish his junior year at the Class AAAAAAAA state championships in Macon.

"There is a saying, 'The man who loves walking will travel further than the man who loves the destination,'" Riley said. "The man who loves the destination will stop when he gets there. I have won some matches and still came off the mat disappointed saying, 'That was not good coach, that was not me coach.' Trying your hardest is what is going to make you better."

stepped up," Hunter said. "She's not afraid to take the shots that need to be taken. She's gonna play whether it works or not, and she will never be shy of the moment."

Banks is one of six seniors on this year's squad along with senior Luv Llewellyn being the lone senior. With that being the case, Banks has challenged herself to step up into a leadership role for the team.

"I knew what I had to do, so I had to build my confidence up," Banks said.

Banks' shooting threat is not just in the paint, but from beyond the arc as well.

Against Monroe Area on Jan. 2, Banks went 8-for-10 from outside the line and posted a career-high 34 points. Her deep ball total has Banks ranked seventh in Class AAAAAA for three pointers made.

Banks' leadership has not just been limited to the offensive end of the floor. Her defense has helped the Lady Tigers in many outings.

On Jan. 9 against Mundy's Mill, she racked up six blocks and pulled down a career-high eight rebounds before the holiday break versus Salem. The eight-rebound mark is a stat that Hunter said he is pushing Banks to improve upon.

When asked what her goals were for this season, Banks did not hesitate with her response.

"All-Region, region player of the year, playoffs, most definitely," Banks said.

Banks' game has evolved from first playing in a recreational league to now playing varsity level hoops where she is "emerging to get my opportunities."

According to Banks, practices and games aren't the only way she has shown off her skills. Banks has even performed in local talent shows where she has displayed her talent with basketball.

During the offseason, Banks played with her club team.

Banks gave credit to her parents for keeping her motivated to always improve. She doesn't want high school to be the end of her playing career either. Banks' career aspirations are to play in college while she pursues her academic interests followed by an overseas career.

Alcovy will look to utilize Banks as the team makes a final playoff push as the home stretch of the regular season is here.

All six of the remaining matchups will be Region 3-AAAAAA opponents starting with a rematch on Jan. 23 versus Jonesboro at home. Three days later, the Lady Tigers (11-6, 5-3) will hit the road to face neighboring Rockdale County.

Nevertheless, as the season moves forward, Banks wants to continue coming into her role.

"I knew I had the talent in me, I just had to bring it out," Banks said. "I really got in that mindset and it's showing now."

of a missed Alcovy shot to go up after eight minutes.

Their offensive hot-streak carried into the second quarter, where a dominant run gave them a 10-point lead. A layup at the buzzer by Nick Durham cut the Mustangs' lead and made the score 30-22 at the half.

The Tigers opened the second half with a five-point run and came back to within one score, but a trifecta of three pointers put Alcovy right back where it started.

Morrow was seemingly not content with the 10-point lead, as it went on another run to take a 15-point advantage.

However, the Tigers were persistent. They pulled to within six points to open the fourth quarter, their smallest deficit since the start of the game.

The loss to the Mustangs marks the Tigers sixth consecutive region loss with six more region games left on the schedule.

The Tigers (12-7, 2-6) will remain at home as they take on Jonesboro on Tuesday, Jan. 23. Its stretch of region battles will continue as they head to Rockdale County on Friday, Jan. 26.

BY DANA SIMPSON

Ncuti Gatwa in
"Masters of the Air"

Airborne TV event: New series honors 8th Air Force, WWII fighters

Through all of the ups and downs, changes and adaptations of the world, one thing seems pretty solid: humanity's interest in the art and devastation of war. This interest may be reflected in the hobbies of Civil War re-enactors, one's choice of literature or, as it turns out, one's choice of televised entertainment.

Luckily for the World War II enthusiasts out there, Apple TV+ releases a new series Friday, Jan. 26. Based on author and historian Donald L. Miller's book, "Masters of the Air: America's Bomber Boys Who Fought the Air War Against Nazi Germany," the series, titled simply "Masters of the Air," follows the 100th Bomb Group, an American airborne unit that helped defeat the Nazis during World War II. Nine action-packed episodes are to be released weekly until the March 15 finale, with the first two dropping on the streamer Jan. 26.

Billed as — as British GQ writer Jack King wrote in his Nov. 9 article — the "spiritual sequel to 'Band of Brothers,'" "Masters of the Air" is made possible by the HBO series' producers Steven Spielberg, Tom Hanks and Gary Goetzman, all of whom also collaborated behind the scenes on the 2010 miniseries "The Pacific." While not a direct sequel to either HBO miniseries, "Masters of the Air" promises to take viewers away from a literal boots-on-the-ground look at the war machine and instead takes to the equally treacherous skies.

There are plenty of recognizable faces for viewers to watch in awe, including "The Banshees of Inisherin" (2022) actor Barry Keoghan, who also starred in the popular 2017 war epic "Dunkirk"; "War and Peace" star Callum Turner; and the King of Rock 'n' Roll himself, Austin Butler ("Elvis," 2022).

Also starring in all nine episodes of the series are Ben Radcliffe ("Anatomy of a Scandal"), Anthony Boyle ("Tetris," 2023), Rafferty Law ("Repo Men," 2010), David Shields ("The Crown"), Darragh Cowley ("The Essex Serpent"), Edward Ashley ("The Terror"), Eliot Warren ("The Batman," 2022) and Nate Mann ("Licorice Pizza," 2021). BBC's newest Time Lord, "Doctor Who's" Ncuti Gatwa, and Sawyer Spielberg ("Honeydew," 2020) also appear in the series.

Adapted from Miller's novel by "Band of Brothers" and "The Last Vermeer" (2019) screenwriter John Orloff, "Masters of the Air" flies viewers back in time to Europe during the Second World War, a time when the 8th Air Force's 100th Bomb Group become known by its nickname, "The Bloody Hundredth." And like most war films and series, the excitement and patriotism are featured alongside a healthy dose of grounded reflection and plenty of unthinkable devastation.

Per the official Apple TV+ description, the series takes a pilot's-seat approach to the carnage as the men "conduct perilous bombing raids over Nazi Germany and grapple with the frigid conditions, lack of oxygen and sheer terror of combat conducted at 25,000 feet in the air."

While set largely in and over "the bucolic fields and villages of southeast England," the nine-episode event is, in fact, based on a true story and visits "the harsh deprivations of a German prisoner of war camp" (per Apple).

Such sensitive material requires an expert approach, and so Hanks, Spielberg and Goetzman are the perfect team to do the 100th's story justice. With plenty of history in this genre and an undying respect for the perils of war, the trio reproduces "a unique and crucial time in world history" by way of "a genuine cinematic achievement."

"Tom [Hanks] and Steven [Spielberg] have always wanted to visualize cinematically what our author Don Miller has called this 'singular event in the history of warfare,'" said Goetzman, as reported by Esquire. "We're thrilled that Apple TV+ has given us the opportunity to combine the efforts of so many talented people, on-screen and behind the camera, to tell this important story."

"Curb Your Enthusiasm" - Season 12 (HBO/Max — Feb. 4, Season Premiere)

It's the end of an era as this iconic comedy comes to a close with its 12th season. Starring Larry David as an over-the-top version of himself, the series offers a tongue-in-cheek depiction of the writer/producer/comedian's fictionalized life. To keep the narrative spontaneous, the series is shot without a script and cast members are given scene outlines and improvise lines as they go. The series also stars Jeff Garlin, Susie Essman, Cheryl Hines, J.B. Smoove, Richard Lewis, Ted Danson, Vince Vaughn and Tracey Ullman.

Anthony Anderson hosts "We Are Family"

My 600-Lb. Life

TLC 7 p.m.

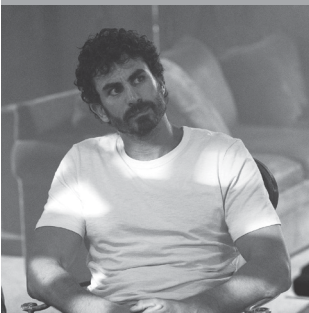

This episode concludes Gina's story. Gina lives at her mother's house, alongside her wife, Beth. Seeing as her mother and sister both blame Beth for Gina's spiraling weight problem, she heads to Dr. Now hoping to save her life and marriage.

Married at First Sight

LIFE 8 p.m.

After getting jilted at the altar the first time, this episode sees one groom get a second chance to be married at first sight. That is, if his bride agrees to marry him. Drama between the other couples could ruin the newest couple's happy day.

tonight's PICKS

Justin Melnick in “SEAL Team”

Caught!
DSC 7 p.m.
Where there's a will there's a way, especially when cash is involved. Jewel thieves get an “E” for effort when they look to score big. Then, when ATMs fail to open, crooks bring out the heavy machinery. And, an armored car robbery creates a hero.

Hell's Kitchen
WAGA 8 p.m.
The competition rolls on in a brand-new episode of this food-based reality series. As the contestants drop under the pressure, the tension between these aspiring chefs builds. Can they keep up with Chef Ramsay's gauntlet of “fiery” commands?

Son of a Critch
WPCH 8 p.m.
Season 3 begins with this new episode. Now at the peak of the social food chain, Mark (Benjamin Evan Ainsworth) is eager to begin his last year of elementary school. When Mark discovers that he needs glasses, however, his cool guy dreams are challenged.

Theresa Caputo: Raising Spirits
LIFE 9 p.m.
During this new series, medium Theresa Caputo celebrates 10 years on screen, inviting cameras to join her on her next set of live shows, in which she leads mediumship sessions with celebrities and fans in order to help them connect with the departed.

SEAL Team
WANF 10 p.m.
Team Bravo must make a daring escape before they can put Venezuela in their rearview mirror, but they find themselves on even less stable ground when they return home to Virginia Beach, during this dramatic Season 5 finale. David Boreanaz stars.

James Badge Dale stars in “Hightown”

Die Hard
AMC 7 p.m.
When New York City cop John McClane (Bruce Willis) heads to Los Angeles to visit his estranged wife (Bonnie Bedelia) on Christmas Eve, he finds himself in a battle of wills with a group of international terrorists set on taking over a high-rise building.

Gold Rush
DSC 8 p.m.
New toys bring a glimmer to a child’s eyes; Parker Schnabel feels the same way about a new wash plant that could get him past the 5,000-ounce mark. Then, the Beets get back to their Indian River claim, but a missing person might slow things down.

Figure Skating
WXIA 8 p.m.
Sharpen your skates and hit your mark as figure skating fans gather at the Nationwide Arena in Columbus, Ohio, to watch on as the Championship Women’s Free Skate takes place. All three hours of this “high-skates” event will be broadcast live.

My Lottery Dream Home
HGTV 9 p.m.
A couple with a $2 million budget is ready to find their dream home, but she’s a city mouse while he prefers the country. Unable to reach a decision, they ask David Bromstad to help find a house with a lot of space for him and some bling for her.

Hightown
STARZ 9 p.m.
This series, starring Monica Raymund, Riley Voelkel, Atkins Estimond and Amaury Nolasco, follows as a Provincetown, Mass., officer struggling with addiction battles crime in the underbelly of a popular, picturesque beach town. Season 3 premieres tonight.

"The Greatest Night in Pop" (Jan. 29)

On Jan. 25, 1985, dozens of the music industry's biggest names gathered in Los Angeles to record a song — "We Are the World," co-written by two of the 20th century's biggest names in music, Michael Jackson and Lionel Richie — to benefit African famine relief. Chronicling the creation of this massive musical event from start to finish, the film — featuring never-before-seen footage — looks into the early planning stages, writing sessions with Jackson and Richie, the recording sessions inside the famed Henson Studios and more.

"NASCAR: Full Speed" - Season 1 (Jan. 30)

Netflix's newest sports series tracks the 2023 NASCAR Cup Series Playoffs and championship race, following drivers as they battle around the racetrack with one of the most storied titles in motorsports at stake. It features exclusive, extensive access to a range of drivers and teams, headlined by Ryan Blaney, William Byron, Ross Chastain, Denny Hamlin, Bubba Wallace, Kyle Larson, Christopher Bell, Joey Logano, and Tyler Reddick, bringing fans behind the scenes — on and off the track — while exploring the physical, mental, and emotional challenges of competing for a championship at the world's highest level of stock car racing.

"The Seven Deadly Sins: Four Knights of the Apocalypse: Part 1" (Jan. 31)

Percival (Shou Komura) has always lived with his grandfather on God's Finger, a remote haven that sits high above the clouds. And though he loves the simple life, he secretly longs for adventure. But, Percival's life is changed forever when an intruder who shares a shocking connection with him tears away everything he's ever known. Setting out on his own, Percival meets new friends along the way who can help him get by ... but how will they react when they find out about Percival's destiny and how it's connected to the end of the world?

"Orion and the Dark" (Feb. 2)

Orion seems a lot like your average elementary school kid — shy, unassuming, harboring a secret crush. But underneath his seemingly normal exterior, Orion is a ball of adolescent anxiety, completely consumed by irrational fears. But of all his fears, the thing he's most afraid of is what he confronts on a nightly basis: the dark. So when the literal embodiment of his worst fear pays a visit, Dark whisks Orion away on a roller coaster ride around the world to prove there is nothing to be afraid of in the night.

BEST STANLEY KUBRICK MOVIES

"Paths of Glory" (1957): A World War I commander (Kirk Douglas) defends his troops against a general who accuses them of dishonorable conduct in the movie that put director Kubrick on the map with many critics.

"Spartacus" (1960): Title star Kirk Douglas — who also produced the film — reunited with Kubrick by hiring him to direct this Roman-gladiator epic, on which Douglas famously also took a stand by giving blacklisted screenwriter Dalton Trumbo full credit for his work. The picture's four Oscar wins included one for co-star Peter Ustinov.

"Lolita" (1962): The ads acknowledged that many people thought a movie never could be made of Vladimir Nabokov's controversial novel about an older-man/younger-woman affair, with James Mason and Sue Lyon in those roles, but Kubrick managed to do it (with Nabokov writing the screenplay). Shelley Winters and Peter Sellers also star.

"Dr. Strangelove, or: How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb" (1964): One of the most legendary of all movie satires, this dark comedy puts the fate of the world in the hands of some questionable leaders ... with nuclear war an imminent threat. Peter Sellers plays multiple roles, but one of the film's most unforgettable images belongs to veteran character actor Slim Pickens.

"2001: A Space Odyssey" (1968): A movie so singular and famous that Kubrick's name immediately comes to mind when it's mentioned, this sci-fi milestone examines the battle of wills between two astronauts (Keir Dullea, Gary Lockwood) and the computer that runs the spaceship they're aboard. Turner Classic Movies shows the picture Thursday, Feb. 1, as part of its series "The Power of Film."

"A Clockwork Orange" (1971): Kubrick went back to the future in a much different way with this memorable adaptation of Anthony Burgess' novel, with Malcolm McDowell as Alex, a gang leader who undergoes a brutal rehabilitation to cure him of his penchant for "the old ultra-violence."

"Barry Lyndon" (1975): Ryan O'Neal had the title role in Kubrick's costume drama about an 18th-century Irishman who tries to assume the power and high social standing of his love's (Marisa Berenson) late husband.

"The Shining" (1980): Kubrick brought the Stephen King best seller to the screen, with a perfectly eerie Jack Nicholson as the new caretaker of a snowed-in inn where he terrorizes his wife (Shelley Duvall) while their young son (Danny Lloyd) displays clairvoyant tendencies.

"Eyes Wide Shut" (1999): In Kubrick's last film, then-spouses Tom Cruise and Nicole Kidman play a couple who explore their romantic fantasies ... which seem to leap from their imaginations into their real lives over the course of one surreal night.

What's Available NOW On Disney+

"Choir" (Jan. 31)

This six-part documentary series follows the Detroit Youth Choir as they prepare for the performance of a lifetime. Through their eyes, audiences experience the highs and lows of life growing up in Detroit, navigating the challenges of balancing family, school and athletics, all while pursuing dreams of taking their talents to the next level and performing on one of the world's biggest stages.

"Assembled: The Making of Echo" (Jan. 31)

Fans get an exclusive peak into the magic behind the action when "Assembled" goes behind the scenes of the groundbreaking series, exploring how the cast and crew learned American Sign Language to create a more inclusive and accessible on-set environment and how the filmmakers taking unprecedented steps to portray Native American culture truthfully, and without artifice. The series also gives a sneak peek into how the stars brought their heroes and villains to life, before culminating with viewers getting a front-row seat to Marvel Studios' and Choctaw Nation's first collaboration on a powwow.

"Me & Mickey Shorts" - Season 2, New Episodes (Jan. 31)

In this Disney Junior series, Mickey Mouse invites preschoolers to laugh and play along as he talks about everyday topics, featuring silly games and challenges. Episodes include helping kids learn how to prepare for bed, identify shapes, make music and what to prepare when packing for school.

"Marvel's Moon Girl and Devil Dinosaur" - Season 2 (Feb. 3)

Based on Marvel's hit comic books, Season 2 of this animated youth series follows the adventures of 13-year-old super-genius Lunella Lafayette (Diamond White) and her 10-ton T-Rex, Devil Dinosaur (Fred Tatasciore). After Lunella accidentally brings Devil Dinosaur into present-day New York City, the duo works together to protect the city's Lower East Side from danger.

Kahlil as seen in
"Love & Translation"

Worst Cooks in America

FOOD 8 p.m.

Chefs Anne Burrell and Tiffany Derry thought they had seen and tasted it all, but this latest group of recruits shows no signs of finding the bottom of culinary ineptitude. Even a trip to the supermarket is cause for stress in this competition.

My Husband's Seven Wives

LIFE 8 p.m.

Love and marriage may go together like a horse and carriage, but when Maggie (Kristi Murdock) discovers her husband Alan (Adam Harper) has a stable full of wives, the ladies become allies and discover he has a history of lying and bilking women.

True Detective: Night Country

HBO 9 p.m.

After the disappearance of eight men working at an Alaskan research station, detectives Liz Danvers (Jodie Foster) and Evangeline Navarro (Kali Reis) are sent in to find the answers. But the detectives must confront their own darkness to solve this case.

Love & Translation

TLC 10 p.m.

Kahili, Tripp and Dylan are three American guys who've been dropped into paradise with nine beautiful women from various international destinations. The only problem is that none of these people speak the same language — and there are no translators.

Next Level Chef

WAGA 10 p.m.

This Season 3 premiere finds chefs Gordon Ramsay, Nyesha Arrington and Richard Blais putting talented chefs under copious amounts of stress in order to create next-level dishes with local ingredients that not only taste great, but look amazing as well.

Joey Graziadei in the new season of "The Bachelor"

Hoarders
A&E 8 p.m.
There's a fine line between "saving" and "hoarding," and Destiny is nowhere near that line. When a 2004 tragedy leaves her incapable of dealing with the world around her, she begins a hoarding odyssey. But her landlords want her to clean up or get out.

The Bachelor
WSBDT 8 p.m.
Tennis pro Joey Graziadei's search for the lady of his dreams continues in this new episode. After eliminating 10 potential lovers in the first rose ceremony of the season, the remaining 22 women compete to impress Joey enough to avoid the chopping block.

BRAVO 8 p.m.

In this season premiere, restaurateur Lisa Vanderpump continues to lord over a group of young adult staff members who lead drama-filled lives, while simultaneously contributing reckless amounts of Instagram posts and Snap filters on an unsuspecting world.

Inside the NFL

WPCH 8 p.m.

As the NFL playoffs reach its conclusion, this long-running sports series tackles the best, worst and everything in-between for the conference finals. Game highlights, analysis, in-depth features, interviews and spirited debates will all be featured.

The Floor

WAGA 9 p.m.

Rob Lowe hosts a new episode of this debuting game show. With $250,000 on the line, 81 contestants must navigate skill-testing trivia questions while standing on massive, LED-lit squares. Who will come on top in this larger-than-life game show?

La Brea

WXIA 9 p.m.

In a new episode, Sam (Jon Seda) and Lucas (Josh McKenzie) lead the group's fight for survival after a massive fire breaks out. In the chaos, Gavin (Eoin Macken) is taken by a woman with a connection to his past who may hold answers he's been seeking.

Quantum Leap

WXIA 10 p.m.

Despite stopping the villainous threats to the time stream, Dr. Ben Song (Raymond Lee) is stuck bouncing around time and space with no way home. Fortunately, the brilliant scientist has a team in the present day to help him find a way back.

How Bradley Cooper has conducted himself on TV

BY JAY BOBBIN

Q: What was the last work that Bradley Cooper did for TV before “Maestro”? – Mark Cook, via e-mail

A: It should be mentioned that “Maestro” had a limited theatrical engagement, to qualify for film awards, before it began its Netflix run. With that said, Cooper – who directed the film in addition to starring in it as music icon Leonard Bernstein – previously worked in TV last in CBS’ series version of his movie “Limitless,” reprising his role as Eddie Morra on a recurring basis since his film career was so busy then.

Cooper had plenty of time for TV work at the start of his career, earning a very early credit in a “Sex and the City” episode, then starring with Jennie Garth in a 2003 movie called “The Last Cowboy” that still repeats often on Hallmark Drama. He then made such shows as “The Street,” “Touching Evil” and “Jack & Bobby” and did guest shots on “Law & Order: Special Victims Unit” and “Law & Order: Trial by Jury” before landing a series role that gave him a particular boost toward fame: Will Tippin, who didn’t know that his close friend Sydney Bristow (Jennifer Garner) was a covert spy, on “Alias.”

After that, “Kitchen Confidential” and an arc on “Nip/Tuck” coincided with Cooper’s film career gaining traction, and he has stayed primarily with movie work since. However, he did return to TV to play his “Wet Hot American Summer” movie role again in the limited series “Wet Hot American Summer: First Day of Camp.”

Q: I recently saw “Bullitt” on Turner Classic Movies. Didn’t Steve McQueen and Robert Vaughn make another movie together? – Gene Hart, Gettysburg, Pa.

A: A couple of them, in fact ... and though Vaughn did many guest roles on TV series early on, he had missed being on McQueen’s “Wanted Dead or Alive.” The actors first worked together as two of “The Magnificent Seven,” troubleshooters who helped a town defend itself against bandits, in the 1960 Western that was based on the Japanese film “Seven Samurai.” McQueen and Vaughn were both big stars – the latter thanks in large part to his television work on “The Man From U.N.C.L.E.” – by the time they reunited for the 1968 police thriller “Bullitt.”

Later, they also appeared in producer Irwin Allen’s 1974 disaster epic “The Towering Inferno,” though whether they appeared “together” is a matter of interpretation. They didn’t actually share any scenes in the picture, since Vaughn’s senator character had left the story by the time the fire chief played by McQueen spent substantial time on the burning building’s top floor, where most of the tale’s major characters were located.
