LOCAL HUNTING

Deer hunting brings family together

eer season is a special time for hunters across the state of Georgia.

Each year, usually around mid-October, firearms are dusted off from their cases in preparation to go for the dream that is the "big buck."

For one family, that dream has already become a reality.

Wesley Fountain and his son Noah Fountain are both avid hunters from Covington.

At 12 years old, Noah recently managed to kill not only one but two big bucks this deer season. Both of those bucks impressed his father Wesley.

"I've been hunting well over 50 years and both of the ones [bucks] he got are bigger than anything I've ever gotten," Wesley said.

A lifelong hunter himself, Wesley has killed numerous deer over the years and harvested them for his family. Seeing this inspired Noah to take to his father's hobby.

"He [Noah] just saw me when he was younger going in the woods all the time and he saw me bringing deer out of the woods and he was like, 'When can I go? When can I go? When can I go?," Wesley said.

Noah has long been a go-getter and always accomplishes whatever he sets his mind on. According to Wesley, Noah is a straight A student, making the honor roll the past two years and also became a black belt in karate at just 8 years old.

But still, Noah set out to be in the woods just like his dad.

officer of Brook Farm Group, Eric Hade also shared about the opportunity this new living community will provide for both longtime citizens and new citizens of Covington.

"The goal here is really to provide folks that currently live in Covington that may have lived here for 20 or 30 years and folks who might be moving here for some of those job opportunities with an attractive, very high end rental option," Hade said.

The name Sinclair at Callaway is in honor of the Callaway family who have been immersed in the area for many decades. Arthur Lynn, a managing partner at Emory equity spoke about the significance behind the name and how it will propel Covington forward.

"We've incorporated a sense of history and connection to the Callaway family and to the farm and to Covington, that's going to make this a special place to live," Lynn said. "This is going to be a premier development in the entire metro-area, so thank you very much to Covington and the Callaway family for this opportunity."

City of Covington mayor Steve

Horton was also in attendance for the groundbreaking and recognized everyone involved with the project.

"I want to say thank you to Emory Equity and Brook Farm Group for your long-term vision and the multi-million dollar investment that's being made here on this site that will stand here for decades to come," Horton said. "Y'all made a vision a reality."

The Sinclair at Callaway Farm is expected to be completed by 2025.

DEER CONTINUED FROM A1 Finally, at 9 years old – and with his mothers permission – Noah took to the woods with his dad for the first time. Wesley was there when Noah got his first kill, a trophy for many in the world of hunting.

"He [Noah] shot and it [the deer] ran off and he was kind of distraught," Wesley said."When we went to the bottom hill it [the deer] was laying there and he was just smiling from ear-to-ear."

Noah became a natural, killing several deer over the course of the last few years leading to the big kills this year.

"I've been hunting for four years now and this is my fourth season and I've been working really hard to get a deer like that," Noah said. "I've killed deer before and it feels similar. It's just more I'm happy that I'm able to put meat in the freezer... and I'm excited because it's something I can mount on the wall."

Noah credits everything he knows about hunting to his dad. "He started with just showing me how to know where the patterns of the deer are," Noah said. "Then when I started hunting he would show me how to call in the deer and use all of the proper techniques to get them to come in." When asked to provide what his goals were for future seasons, Noah says it is hard to know what to expect but that he wants to be added to the Boone and

Crockett Club someday. By doing so he wants to help preserve the conservation efforts of the group by maintaining a "healthy deer population."

But for now, the family of hunters will take their wins from this season and celebrate accordingly by eating a hard-earned meal. Wesley states it is a favorite in their household.

"Tonight we're having country-fried deer steak."

tion of Alcovy High School theatre instructor, Jenica Brittingham, and her assistant director Michael Vickery. ## Piedmont Newton Hospital Receives First Cenotaph Smart Cradle iedmont Newton Hospital can now offer parents who experience the loss of a baby before, during or shortly after birth more time with their child, thanks to a donated Cenotaph Smart Cradle. Piedmont Newton received the cooling bereavement cradle from two organizations dedicated to supporting parents through infant loss and volunteerism, respectively, Rachel's Gift and Heartbeats & Hands 540.

The smart cradle is designed to preserve the body of a deceased infant, allowing parents to keep the baby with them for longer than would be possible without its cooling function. The cradle resembles a typical hospital bassinet, but it is outfitted with a discrete cooling pad.

"When we do have a mother lose a baby, she will often ask to keep the child in the room with her. Having this bereavement cradle will allow us to say 'yes' to more time and provide truly patient-centered care for these mothers and their loved ones," said Susann Whittle, clinical manager of the Labor & Delivery unit at Piedmont Newton. "We are so grateful to Rachel's Gift and Heartbeats & Hands 540 for helping us foster a dignified grieving experience for these patients while they are with us."

Georgia has the second highest rate of fetal mortality in the country, according to recently published data from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), underscoring the importance of access to a Cenotaph Smart Cradle in Newton County. The cooling cradle donated by Rachel's Gift and Heartbeats & Hands 540 is Piedmont Newton's first.

The Newton Women's Services team is committed to supporting families through infant loss. As a Rachel's Gift partner hospital, Piedmont Newton receives keepsake boxes from the organization that include a handmade blanket and specialized bereavement resources to give to moms and families at their time of loss.

FINANCIAL FOCUS: Can you make charitable giving 'less taxing?'

nce again, it's the season of generosity. In addition to considering gifts for your loved ones, you might want to think about charitable gifts as well. But what should you know before making gifts to charities?

And what impact might these gifts have on your financial and tax situation?

First, you may want to create a gift budget by deciding just how much you will give to charitable organizations over the rest of Next, look closely at the groups to whom you wish to contribute. You can find many reputable charities, but some others may be less worthy of your support. One of the red flags of a questionable organization is the amount of money it spends on administrative costs versus the amount that goes to its stated purpose. You can check on the spending patterns of charitable groups, and find other valuable information about them, on the well-regarded Charity Navigator website (charitynavigator.org).

Once you've established a gift budget and are comfortable with the groups you choose to support, you might turn your thoughts to another key issue connected with charitable giving: tax benefits. A few years ago, changes in the tax laws resulted in a large increase in the standard deduction, which meant that many taxpayers found it more favorable not to itemize - and lost the ability to take charitable deductions. But if you still do itemize, your charitable gifts or contributions to tax-exempt groups - those that qualify as 501(c)(3) organizations — can generally be deducted, up to 60 percent of your adjusted gross income, although lower limits may apply, depending on the nature of your gift and the organization to which you're contributing.

Other, more longterm avenues also exist that combine charitable giving with potential tax benefits. One such possibility is a donor-advised fund, which allows you to make an irrevocable charitable contribution and receive an immediate tax deduction. You can give cash, but if you donate appreciated assets, such as stocks, your tax deduction would be the fair market value of the assets, up to 30 percent of your adjusted gross income. Plus, you would not incur the capital gains tax that would otherwise be due upon the sale of these assets. Once you establish a donor-advised fund, you have the flexibility to make charitable gifts over time, and you can contribute to the fund as often as you like.

Another possible tax benefit from making charitable contributions could arrive when you start taking required minimum distributions, or RMDs, from some of your retirement accounts, such as your traditional IRA and 401(k). These RMDs could be sizable - and distributions are counted as taxable income. But by taking what's called a qualified charitable distribution (QCD), you can move money from a traditional or Roth IRA to a qualified charitable organization, possibly satisfying your RMD, which then may be excluded from your tax-please, for repeating myself, as people of a certain age often do. I've written columns before on major anniversaries of assassination of John F. Kennedy. But I have just left a remarkable sculpture exhibit in the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts and found myself walking down Avenue du Président-Kennedy and remembering the whole awful episode, 60 years ago this week: the memory that won't go away, the memory that, in defiance of human experience, somehow gets fresher every year.

The sculpture exhibit is a retrospective on the work of Marisol, the Venezuelan-American sculptor who, in small wooden figures sitting below a massive carving of John F. Kennedy Jr. - the three-year-old in full salute, the way the military men once saluted his fallen father – triggered a flood of memories, none of them nostal-

If you were alive on Nov. 22, 1963 - and, given the demographics of a newspaper, there's a good chance you were - you don't have to be reminded of what happened that afternoon in Dallas.

Mere words will be sufficient: Tarmac greeting. Pink dress. Motorcade. Shots. Texas Book Depository. Clint Hill. Parkland Hospital. J.D. Tippett. Lee Harvey Oswald. Air Force One. Sarah Hughes. Lyndon Johnson: I will do my best ... I ask for your help, and God's.

So much has happened since then – more assassinations; the civil-rights, women's and gay rights movements; a superpower bogged down in places that seemed peripheral in 1963, like Vietnam, Iraq, above all Afghanistan: massive transformations in commerce, technology, manners. And yet that terrible day retains its awesome power. Authors have written that football teams preparing for weekend games took off Friday morning in one country and landed, Friday afternoon, in another. Jack DeGange was the Yale football beat writer for the old "New Haven Journal-Courier." It was the day before the Harvard-Yale game, and the universities' freshman teams were preparing to play at DeWitt Cuyler Field, now named in memory of Clink Frank. On the sidelines, he remembers vividly, Bob Kiphuth, Yale's legendary swimming coach, stood by his car, door open, radio turned full blast to the news. When Yale's varsity took to the Yale Bowl turf for practice, Mr. Storin's counterpart, Yale football manager Bill Schaffer, told coach John Pont the game was postponed.

So much more would postponed; some things were cancelled. You might say the great age of America itself was cancelled that afternoon.

We didn't realize it until Mr. Kennedy was dead just how much his youth, enthusiasm and vigor – he pronounced it vigah, though for him it was was a painful version, riddled as he was with aches and illness - captivated us, and the world. But until that Friday Americans hadn't experienced tragedy in their public life since the death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. They were living in a warm bath of security, and part of it – here Dwight Eisenhower deserves some credit was a sense of security about their leaders.

Americans would not experience another shared experience like the Kennedy assassination for 38 years, when terrorists attacked Manhattan and Washington.

asketball media day was a success.

An ongoing theme for this basketball season was the addition of many new faces into big time roles, both for players and coaches.

Alcovy began the event with head coaches Justin Hunter and Taylor Jackson taking the stage alongside two players and an assistant coach from both squads.

Jackson is going into his first season as head coach for the Tigers.

At the media day, Jackson spoke about his time as an assistant coach at Newton and as the head coach at Social Circle. He looks to take the success he had in those programs into an Alcovy boy's team that is looking to get over the hump. Key pieces for Jackson in 2023 will be up-

From a roster standpoint, there are players at all levels that will look to contribute for the Lady Eagles on the court in 2023.

The three captains that will look to lead Eastside back to the playoffs are Jailyn Williams, Kaliel Kracht and Morgan Sandema.

Along with the captains, sophomores Jarilix Rivera-Villarini and Donee Morain are expected to play valuable minutes for King. For Randolph and the boys team, it is about maintaining the standard. The last few seasons, we have seen the boy's team take the next steps. Last year, they

Coming off a 3-22 season in his first year as head coach, Bailey spoke about how this season's Lady Rams team possesses a different level of talent.

Through four games, Bailey's assessment looks to be correct as the Lady Rams have already tied their win total from last year.

The addition of talent along with the new mindset on offense has the Lady Rams primed for a breakout year under Bailey.

Things will not be easy right away for Newton, as they will be faced with a tough schedule in both the region and non-region.

"I embodied the leadership role last year and the year before that, it was just that I was not a senior," Calwise said. "I really took it it into my own hands and bought in to what coach had me do and what I needed to do to step up and lead the team."

One change that Calwise saw toward the end of his senior season was his added reps at defensive back. The change sprung due to an injury in the position group.

"I started playing defensive back near the end of the season because one of our defensive backs got hurt in practice," Calwise said. "Coach wanted me to step up and I did and played that role for our team. It was not a difference to me [playing at defensive back], ball is ball to me."

The first real game action on defense came in Newton's high stakes matchup with Archer in the final week of the reg-whole week at practice, I was talking to the defense saying I was going to catch a pick and for it to happen was a good feeling. They cheated me out of the play because it was supposed to be a touchdown, but they shorted me at the oneyard line," Calwise jokingly said.

Calwise ended the year with 878 receiving yards while hauling in 12 touchdowns. To go along with his work out wide, Calwise had two rushing touchdowns, two passing touchdowns and the aforementioned interception.

One special part of 2023 for Calwise was the promotion of head coach Josh Skelton, who led the Rams to the playoffs in his first season at the helm.

"He did a lot. There are not enough words that can describe the things he did for us," Calwise said. "Not even based on football, it is a lot of the things he did for us off the field. Being our head coach, it gave us the boost and that we can see anything is possible. It was his first year doing something new and he bought into his role and he did what he needed to do

Similar to the start of the 2022 season. Eastside began the year with a win over Luella.

After defeating the Lions in a onescore game at home last year, the Eagles beat Luella 340 this year.

Weeks two and three saw Eastside matchup with county rivals Newton and Alcovy.

Against Newton, both teams

The game against the Tigers was a rebound for Eastside, that blanked Alcovy 31-0.

ith his Newton career now behind him, Marcus Calwise did a little bit of everything for the Rams during his three years on varsity.

Whether he is catching a touchdown pass, returning a punt, taking a carry in the backfield, catching an interception or throwing a touchdown, Calwise was the Rams' jack of all trades.

Nursing an injury over the offseason, the senior wideout did all he could to invest in himself and his teammates.

"I put a lot of hard work in because the majority of the offseason I was dealing with injuries," Calwise said. "I fought through adversity and did the things I could do, which was working out and being there to boost my teammates.

The 2023 season was special to Calwise, and the win over Grayson on September 29 was the highlight of the year.

'My most memorable moment is when we beat Grayson," Calwise said. "To beat Grayson and to be the first to do it at Newton High School was really a blessing. The way we did it, too, was a good feeling."

of some of music's most renowned bass players and digs into the stories that make these musicians stand out. A follow-up to his recent book, "Geddy Lee's Big Beautiful Book of Bass," the new, fourpart series features episodes with Krist Novoselic (Nirvana), Les Claypool (Primus), Melissa Auf der Maur (Hole, Smashing Pumpkins) and Rob Trujillo (Metallica).

Dine in with a blast from the past when "Good Burger 2" premieres Wednesday, Nov 22, on Paramount+. Stars Kenan Thompson ("Saturday Night Live") and Kel Mitchell ("All I Didn't Want for Christmas," 2022) return to their breakout comedic roles as Dexter Reed and Ed in the long-anticipated sequel to the classic 1997 family comedy film, "Good Burger."

Dexter and Ed first met at their summer restaurant job when "Good Burger" was a hit segment on the teen sketch comedy series from Nickelodeon, "All That," in 1994. Employees at Good Burger, the pair always managed to make a mess of things while trying to serve customers. The first film saw Dexter and Ed contend with a new burger joint in town, Mondo Burger, which employed some questionable tactics to best its competition.

In addition to Thompson and Mitchell reprising their roles, there are some "Good Burger" cast members joining the sequel. Josh Server ("The Final Rose," 2022) is Good Burger co-worker Fizz, Lori Beth Denberg ("Maurice on Mars") is customer Connie Muldoon and Carmen Electra ("Book of Fire," 2016) is former Mondo Burger mastermind Roxanne.

The sequel sees Ed pick Dexter up in a burger-themed ride after his invention proves to be a failure. With a fender bender in the rearview, the two pull into Good Burger, where Dexter is welcomed back to his old job with open arms. The happy reunion is short-lived, however, as corporate America has come for Good Burger's business. Eager to upgrade both himself and the restaurant, Dexter's big ideas set Good Burger on a collision course with seemingly unstoppable technological advancements in fast-food customer service.

"Good Burger 2" also stars Lil Rel Howery ("Vacation Friends 2," 2023) as Cecil McNevin and Jillian Bell ("Fool's Paradise," 2023) as Katt Boswell, two slick Mega Corp executives looking to replace human Good Burger employees with robot replicas. The corporate world once again has it out for Good Burger, leaving Dexter and Ed no choice but to band together with the rest of their co-workers to keep their beloved restaurant the special place that it is.

In the official trailer for the film, Katt menacingly leans in to threaten Ed, saying, "We're going to change the world," at the counter of the robot testing facility. She's promptly hit in the face with a burger by a malfunctioning roboserver, so maybe Dexter and Ed have a chance to save Good Burger after all.

Also featured in the trailer are Ed's numerous mishaps in managing the restaurant. He sticks his hand in a customer's drink, uses janitorial items to fix the milkshake machine, tosses an order in the face of someone inquiring about veggie burgers and confuses the city Hong Kong for several unrelated things in a meeting at the Mega Corp offices.

Joining the sequel are Kamaia Fairburn ("Blockbuster") as Mia, Alex R. Hibbert ("Moonlight," 2016) as Ed2, Fabrizio Guido ("Mr. Iglesias") as Mr. Jensen, Elizabeth Hinkler ("Tiny Beautiful Things") as Cindy, Emily Hinkler ("Follow Me," 2020) as Mindy and Anabel Graetz ("The Greatest Beer Run Ever," 2022) as Ruth.

The original movie featured cameos from the always-game former NBA star Shaquille O'Neal; funk music innovator and Parliament-Funkadelic collective founder George Clinton; and "A Different World" star Sinbad as Dexter's teacher, Mr. Wheat. The official trailer for "Good Burger 2" highlighted the celebs that will roll through the sequel's drive-thru, including actress, comedian and "Nailed It" host Nicole Byer; former New England Patriots tight end Rob Gronkowski; standup comedian and "The Rookie" actor Flula Borg; billionaire businessman and "Shark Tank" panelist Mark Cuban; and social media comedian Matt Friend.

An official teaser trailer for "Good Burger 2" was released by Paramount+ in August and in it, Dexter and Ed are reunited by a near collision, referencing their unlucky meeting from the first film 26 years ago. Ed predictably embarrasses himself at a fine dining restaurant and the Good Burger duo don their paper caps and walk in sync with determination. The whole Good Burger crew joins Ed in his classic line, "Welcome to Good Burger, home of the good burger. Can I take your order?'

Thompson and Mitchell both produced "Good Burger 2" and Adam Conover ("Adam Ruins Everything"), Kevin Kopelow ("Kenan & Kel") and Heath Seifert ("Warped!") wrote the screenplay. The movie was filmed in Rhode Island and production was set up at a former Friendly's location to shoot some scenes.

Hope you're hungry for "Good Burger 2" when it drops on Wednesday, Nov. 22, on Paramount+. And if you can't get enough "Good Burger" hijinks, the original movie and the first four seasons of "All That" are also available on the streamer.

"Verified Stand-Up" - Season 1 (Nov. 28)

This new stand-up comedy series, filmed at Webster Hall in New York City, features 10 of the best comedians in the game: Asif Ali, Dulcé Sloan, Gianmarco Soresi, Isiah Kelly, Leslie Liao, Nimesh Patel, Robby Hoffman, Rosébud Baker, Sabrina Wu, and Vanessa Gonzalez. Over the course of two-episodes, discover your new favorite comedian with a hilarious set from each artist.

"American Symphony" (Nov. 29)

In 2022, musician Jon Batiste finds himself the most celebrated artist of the year with 11 Grammy nominations and five wins, including Album of the Year. In the midst of that triumph, Jon embarks on his most ambitious challenge to date, composing an original symphony. However, this trajectory is upended when Batiste's life partner — best-selling author Suleika Jaouad — learns that her long-dormant cancer has returned. This documentary is an intimate portrait of two artists at a crossroads and a meditation on art, love, and the creative process.

"Family Switch" (Nov. 30)

Jess (Jennifer Garner) and Bill Walker (Ed Helms) are doing their best to keep their family connected as their children grow older, more independent, and more distant. When a chance encounter with an astrological reader causes the entire family to wake up to a full body switch, on the morning of the most important day of each of their lives, the Walkers must unite to land a promotion, college interview, record deal and soccer tryout. Emma Myers and Brady Noon also star in this family comedy based on the book "Bedtime For Mommy" by Amy Krouse-Rosenthal.

"May December" (Dec. 1)

After their relationship ignited a tabloid saga two decades ago, Gracie (Julianne Moore) and Joe (Charles Melton) now lead a seemingly perfect suburban life. Their domestic bliss is disrupted when Elizabeth (Natalie Portman), a famous television actress, arrives in their tight-knit community to research her upcoming role as Gracie. As Elizabeth ingratiates herself into the everyday lives of Gracie and Joe, the uncomfortable facts of their scandal unfurl, causing long-dormant emotions to resurface.

BEST WILLIAM FRIEDKIN MOVIES

"Good Times" (1967): Friedkin's first studio feature as a director was this engaging, loosely structured and music-infused showcase for Sonny and Cher.

"The Birthday Party" (1968): The Harold Pinter play gave Friedkin an early challenge in bringing it to the screen, with another major force in star Robert Shaw.

"The Night They Raided Minsky's" (1968): The death of co-star Bert Lahr during production put Friedkin to the test on this comedy about a police invasion of a New York burlesque showcase.

"The Boys in the Band" (1970): One of the first major movies about homosexuality saw Friedkin retaining the original stage cast of Mart Crowley's play.

"The French Connection" (1971): Friedkin entered the echelon of major American directors with this pulse-pounding Oscar-winning drama, starring Gene Hackman and Roy Scheider as police partners out to dismantle a foreign drug operation in New York. The chase sequence with a hard-driving Hackman pursuing an overhead train remains a milestone of its kind.

"The Exorcist" (1973): Included in a Turner Classic Movies salute to Friedkin - who died in August - on Sunday, Nov. 26, one of the top horror films of all time adapts William Peter Blatty's novel about a movie star's (Ellen Burstyn) daughter (Linda Blair) helped by two priests (Max von Sydow, Jason Miller) when she's possessed by

"Sorcerer" (1977): Friedkin reunited with star Roy Scheider for this searing take on the classic "The Wages of Fear," about several diverse people risking their lives in a jungle transport of seriously unstable nitroglycerin.

"The Brink's Job" (1978): A great cast of character actors led by Peter Falk and Peter Boyle dramatizes the true story of a security-company heist.

"Cruising" (1980): Friedkin courted - and got - controversy with this drama starring Al Pacino as a cop going undercover while on the trail of a serial killer.

"To Live and Die in L.A." (1985): A Secret Service agent (William Petersen) relentlessly pursues a counterfeiter (Willem Dafoe) in Friedkin's atmospheric melodrama.

"Blue Chips" (1994): Nick Nolte is superb as a college basketball coach under extreme pressure to deliver a winning team; Shaquille O'Neal, Bobby Knight and Rick Pitino are among actual sports figures who appear here.

"12 Angry Men" (1997): Forty years after the classic jury drama, Friedkin made his own version for cable, with a superb ensemble cast including Jack Lemmon, George C Scott, Hume Cronyn, Ossie Davis and James Gandolfini.

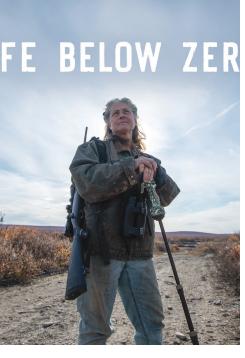

"Rules of Engagement" (2000): A military lawyer (Tommy Lee Jones) is conflicted while defending another officer (Samuel L. Jackson) who saved him when they served in Vietnam.

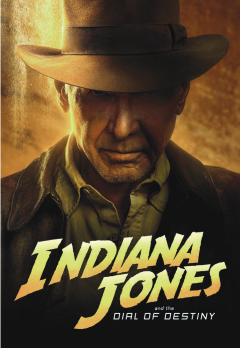

"The Hunted" (2003): Friedkin worked again with Tommy Lee Jones, playing a survival authority tracking one of his former students (Benicio Del Toro) who has become a killer.

"The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" (2023):

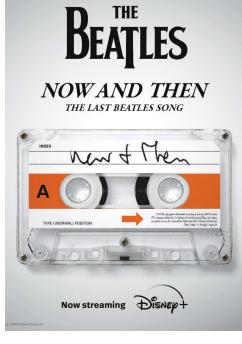

Presented lately on Showtime, Friiedkin's final project casts Kiefer Sutherland as the U.S. Navy's allegedly troubled Captain Queeg, who prompts a mutiny among his crew.

"Life Below Zero" - Season 21 (Nov. 29)

This series takes viewers deep into an Alaskan winter to meet tough, resilient residents as they try to stay one step ahead of storms and man-eating beasts to survive the season. When the closest neighbor is more than 300 miles away, these Alaskans subsist solely on what is hunted and foraged. They catch fish for currency in bartering for supplies, or use their packs of sled dogs for transportation.

"Indiana Jones and the Dial of Destiny" (Dec. 1)

Swing into a brand new adventure with the fifth and final film in the Indiana Jones franchise. The new film sees Indiana Jones (Harrison Ford) nearing retirement and settled in New York City. But, when his estranged goddaughter, Helena Shaw (Phoebe Waller-Bridge) shows up asking for help, the famed adventurer gears up to take on one last adventure. Looking to retrieve a relic that can change the course of history, Indy and Helena soon find themselves squaring off against Jurgen Voller (Mads Mikkelsen), a former Nazi who works for NASA.

"Doctor Who: Wild Blue Yonder" (Dec. 2)

Three new series specials, "The Star Beast" (Nov. 25), "Wild Blue Yonder" (Dec. 2) and "The Giggle" (Dec. 9) will reunite the Fourteenth Doctor (David Tennant) and Donna Temple-Noble (Catherine Tate) as they come face-to-face with their most terrifying villain yet: the Toymaker (played by Neil Patrick Harris).

"Now And Then – The Last Beatles Song" (Available Now)

This 12-minute documentary film, written and directed by Oliver Murray, tells the story behind the last Beatles song "Now And Then," with exclusive archival footage and commentary from Paul, Ringo, George, Sean Ono Lennon and Peter Jackson, on an eventful journey that took place over five decades and is the product of conversations and collaborations between the four Beatles that go on to this day. The long mythologized John Lennon demo was first worked on in February 1995 by Paul, George and Ringo as part of The Beatles Anthology project but it remained unfinished, until now.

The Big Apple holds big appeal for Kelly Clarkson

Q: Why did Kelly Clarkson move her talk show to New York? - Connie Ryan, Woodbury, N.J.

A: She has said that she needed a "fresh start," and though she also considered relocating to Montana, she realized that wouldn't be conducive to landing big-name in-studio guests for her syndicated weekday program. She has many familiar NBC personalities as neighbors at "30 Rock," the new base for her show, and she was welcomed on-air by Seth Meyers and "Today's" Hoda Kotb and Jenna Bush Hager when she started her fifth-season run in mid-October.

Q: Who was the actress who played Rosalind Shays, the character who fell down the elevator shaft, on "L.A. Law"? – Wendy Powers, via e-mail

A: As the acclaimed drama series now gets a renewed showcase via remastered versions of the episodes, which are streaming on Hulu, that landmark scene is getting revived fame of its own. The actress in question was Diana Muldaur, who became a major villain on the show as Shays, a particularly strong-willed attorney brought into the law firm and making enemies everywhere she turned ... one exception being senior partner Leland McKenzie (Richard Dysart), with whom she developed a personal relationship.

He was standing with her when she took her ultimately fatal step into what she thought was an elevator, but instead was an empty shaft that sent her plunging to her doom. The surprise moment got a huge reaction when it first aired on NBC, putting the coda on a role that earned Muldaur two Primetime Emmy nominations. The prolific performer also is widely known for her work in the "Star Trek" franchise, having played two different characters on the original 1960s series and Dr. Katherine Pulaski on "Star Trek: The Next Generation."
