10 NCCA recognized as 2023 College and Career Academy of the Year

STAFF REPORT
news@covnews.com

Earlier in October, the Newton College and Career Academy (NCCA) received a special recognition from the Technical College System of Georgia (TCSG).

For 2023, the TCSG named NCCA as the College and Career Academy of the Year.

Chad Walker, NCCA's Chief Executive Officer, said he was "blown away" in an interview with The Covington News.

Walker shared that NCCA plans to keep moving forward in the future. But, he stressed that, whatever success NCCA has or will achieve is credit to the 2023

College and Career Academy of the Year's "secret sauce."

"The success of the Newton College and Career Academy is the people. I'm just blessed to work with amazing staff," Walker said. "They are what makes Newton College and Career Academy an amazing place. They are the secret sauce."

9 Horton does not seek re-election, Baggett becomes Covington mayor

news@covnews.com

Mayor Steve Horton ended speculation at city of Covington council's meeting on Feb. 20 by announcing he would not seek a second term in 2023's city elections.

Horton cited family concerns in announcing he would end a 39-year involvement with all levels of the city government and not run for the post he won in 2019.

"I appreciate, more than anybody knows, the trust that everybody in the community put in me for run for this position," he told Covington city council members. "I believe I've done everything in my power to uphold that trust and to do the things that this job requires of me. I don't have anything that I kind of need to look back on in any negative way. I appreciate that."

Council member Fleeta Baggett

was elected as the new mayor for the city of Covington on election night, Nov. 7.

A lifelong resident of Newton County, Baggett has been a member of the Covington city council since 2019 where she has served District 2 on the east ward.

The new mayor-elect won handily over her four opponents, receiving 878 votes. This garnered 52.36 percent of the vote.

Rivian selects construction partner for Stanton Springs location

VIA CLAYCO

By EVAN NEWTON
News Editor

Rivian announced on Dec. 19 that Clayco has been selected as the construction company behind the $5 billion dollar project in Stanton Springs.

Vice president of facilities at Rivian, Tony Sanger, stated the collaboration between Rivian and Clayco is a symbiotic partnership that will propel the community forward.

"We have an ambitious goal to develop an eco-conscious facility that illustrates our mission of keeping the world adventurous forever," Sanger said in a released statement. "With Clayco's dedication to developing innovative ideas and solutions, we are confident they are the right partner to ensure the Rivian plant is a shining example of sustainable manufacturing."

The electric vehicle company has been a hot topic of conversation in the Stanton Springs area ever since it was first officially announced back in late 2021.

In November, the Joint Development Authority consisting of Newton, Jasper, Morgan and Walton counties and Rivian closed on bonds to finance the electric vehicle plant, leading to this next step in the process.

Clayco is described in a press release as a "full-service, turnkey real estate development, architecture, engineering, and construction firm."

The firm will handle primary construction duties for its 1,800-acre complex, with Jacobs as its engineer of record and Skidmore, Owings & Merrill (SOM) as its de-

The Chi Tau Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., which serves both Newton and Rockdale counties, is celebrating a Diamond member (someone who has served 75+ years) in the Sorority.

Ophelia Underwood, who turned 100 years old in November, is still actively serving AKA.

Underwood was awarded the 2023 Soror of the Year award by the chapter during the group's December chapter meeting.

The awards committee, co-chaired by Vikki Williams and Yvonne Browder, presented the centenarian with a crown, pink stole and the "2023 Soror of the Year" sash in honor of her many years of service to "all mankind."

Sharron Porter serves as president of the Chi Tau Omega Chapter.

8 Newton Sound Factory performs at United Nations convention

news@covnews.com

Newton High School's band traveled to Atlanta on Dec. 11 and performed at the Conference of the States Parties to the United Nations Convention Against Corruption. The conference was held at the Georgia World Congress Center.

It was the United Nations' first conference on United States soil outside of New York with leaders from over 190 nations in attendance.

According to a post from Newton County Schools' official Facebook page, Newton High was selected "ahead of other high schools and universities in the area."

Newton High's director of bands, Jason Smith said "words can't describe" the experience.

"It didn't get real until we walked into the exhibit hall and we were just getting a quick lay of the land," Smith said. "As we're walking through the exhibit hall and seeing the different names of the countries on the tables and walking all the way up to the front, it was really surreal."

7 Cotton retires, Bradford named new chief of Covington police dept.

STAFF REPORT
news@covnews.com

After 25.5 years at the helm of Covington's police department, and following more than 36 years working for the City of Covington, Stacey Cotton announced his retirement.

He announced his decision on May 20 to his staff via email, citing not much more for reason other than, it was time.

"You know, 36 years is a long time," Cotton said. "I'm still young enough that I can go and have another career and do something different, but I've also reached the age where I could early retire with the city, and I just felt like I'd like to have a little different scenery."

On Nov. 1, Philip Bradford was named the department's next chief of police. The announcement came a few days before his 38th work anniversary.

Bradford told The Covington News what the promotion means to him.

"It's a lifelong dream come true," Bradford said.

6 Newton County fire chief and fire inspector 'relieved of their duties'

news@covnews.com

Back on Nov. 6, 2023, former Newton County fire chief Michael Conner and fire inspector Glenn Mikos were terminated following an investigation conducted by the county.

Newton County released a statement following termination, which did not give reasons behind the terminations. They did, however, commit to "upholding the highest ethical standards" and to "ensure the trust of the community's most valuable resource, the residents," per the statement.

Both men were placed under investigation back in October as part of a potential conflict of interest after the fire department had purchased dive equipment from Mikos' dive shop, Into The Blue Scuba LLC.

Conner was placed on paid administrative leave from Oct. 19 to Nov. 2 and was terminated following that. Mikos was then terminated the following day on Nov. 3.

Public information officer Bryan Fazio spoke with The Covington News following the termination stating that the county holds the utmost confidence in the fire department while also

"We're [Newton County] confident that the men and women of our fire services will continue to provide the safety and services they are so well noted for as we move forward and begin the search for our next fire chief," Fazio said.

As of this publication, no fire chief has been named for Newton County.

Charges against councilman Anthony Henderson dismissed

By EVAN NEWTON
News Editor

COVINGTON, Ga. - Charges leading to the arrest of city council member and mayor pro-tem Anthony Henderson earlier this year have been dismissed.

The Cobb County District Attorney's office confirmed to The Covington News that the case against Henderson was dismissed on Oct. 23.

The News also reached out to Henderson and was able to confirm with him the charges have been dropped.

Henderson was initially charged with criminal damage to property in the second degree, a felony, back in April.

According to an incident report, Henderson allegedly damaged an entry gate at The Battery in Cobb County with his white Camaro.

While Henderson was not arrested at the scene, he later turned himself in to authorities on April 26 and was released on a $1,000 bond.

Federal judge: Redistricting case focuses on Black voters

Proposed Congressional Districts of Georgia

Source: 2021 Plan Congress Type: Congress

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA - A federal judge appeared to throw cold water Wednesday on efforts to challenge new congressional and legislative maps the General Assembly's Republican majorities drew during a recent special session.

U.S. District Judge Steve Jones declared during a hearing that the case has focused on the rights of Black voters, not either Asian or Hispanic voters, the Associated Press reported.

The new maps created seven new Black majority districts in the General Assembly, two in the state Senate and five in the Georgia House, as well as an additional Black majority district in the state's congressional map, as Jones ordered in October when he declared the maps lawmakers drew in 2021 in violation of the Voting Rights Act.

But legislative Democrats argued during the special session that Republicans failed to protect so-called "coalition" districts, where Blacks do not make up a majority of voters but together with Hispanic and Asian voters wield enough political clout to elect a minority candidate.

The prime example Democrats cited was Georgia's 7th Congressional District, which was a coalition district centered in Gwinnett County under the 2021 map. The redrawn district would become 75% white under the new map, as Republicans moved the district completely out of Gwinnett and ran it as far north as heavily white Dawson and Lumpkin counties.

But Jones said Wednesday that no evidence concerning Asian and Hispanic voting behavior was introduced at the earlier trial. He said he was reluctant to rule on what amounts to a new alleged violation during a short time frame.

The judge indicated he would issue a decision soon to meet a mid-January deadline for the 2024 elections.

State unemployment rate at 3.4 percent for third straight month

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA - Georgia's unemployment rate held steady at 3.4 percent in November for the third month in a row, the state Department of Labor reported Thursday.

Several categories again reached record highs, including the number of jobs, which rose slightly by 0.3 percent last month compared to November of last year to more than 4.95 million.

The labor force was up by 11,263 to nearly 5.36 million, another all-time high. Georgia's labor force participation rate held steady at 61.6 percent last month compared to October but is up from 61.0 percent at the beginning of the year.

The number of employed Georgians also rose by 9,755 to almost 5.18 million, also an all-time high.

"With record-high job numbers, a thriving economy that stands among the nation's best, and a workforce eager to embrace new opportunities, Georgia is poised to enter the new year with hope and boundless possibilities for all," state Commissioner of Labor Bruce Thompson said Thursday.

On the negative side of the ledger, initial unemployment claims were up by three percent last month to 22,316. However, first-time jobless claims for the year declined by 13 percent.

New ads portray Trump a danger to democracy

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA - An anti-Donald Trump Republican political action committee has launched a new six-figure ad campaign warning voters to "wake up" to the threat it says the former president poses to American democracy.

The 60-second ad, being run by the Republican Accountability PAC, compares Trump to dictators who systematically dismantled their countries' democracies, including Benito Mussolini of Italy, Hugo Chavez of Venezuela, and Augusto Pinochet of Chile.

"Trump said he would terminate the Constitution so he could be president again," the ad states. "Do you know who also did that? Mussolini, Chavez, Pinochet."

The ad will run nationally on CNN and MSNBC and in the swing states of Georgia, Arizona, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin on the Hallmark Channel and during TBS' "A Christmas Story" marathon. The campaign began on Friday and will run through next week.

Trump continues to hold a huge lead in various polls for the 2024 Republican presidential nomination, despite facing multiple criminal indictments for his alleged attempts to overturn the 2020 election, including racketeering charges in Fulton County.

"Among Republicans and Democrats alike, not enough people have internalized that Trump is cruising to a third nomination," said Gunner Ramer, political director for the Republican Accountability PAC. "He's become even more conspiratorial, more dictatorial, more authoritarian - and he has a real chance of being the next president of the United States. It's time to start confronting the problem head-on."

The Republican Accountability PAC also ran ads targeting Trump in August after he was indicted in Georgia. Last year, the PAC ran ads aimed at then-U.S. Senate candidate Herschel Walker, the University of Georgia football icon Trump endorsed in what turned out to be an unsuccessful bid to unseat Democratic Sen. Raphael Warnock.

Ex-Atlanta cop convicted of pandemic relief fraud

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA - A Georgia attorney and former Atlanta police officer has been convicted on federal charges of fraudulently obtaining more than $7 million in pandemic relief funds.

Shelitha Robertson, 62, of Atlanta submitted applications for Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) loans on behalf of four businesses she owned. The applications falsely inflated the number of employees and average monthly payroll for each of the businesses, resulting in larger PPP loans that she could legitimately obtain.

Robertson used the loan proceeds to buy luxury items, including a 10-carat diamond ring, and transfer funds to family members and a co-conspirator who already has pleaded guilty in the case.

Robertson was convicted of one count of conspiracy to commit wire fraud, three counts of wire fraud, and one count of money laundering. She faces a maximum of 20 years in prison for each count of conspiracy to commit wire fraud and wire fraud, and up to 10 years behind bars for money laundering.

The investigation was conducted by the COVID-19 Fraud Enforcement Task Force, which the Justice Department formed in 2021 to enhance efforts to prevent and combat pandemic-related fraud.

Robertson is scheduled to be sentenced in April.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Consider these year-end financial moves

It won't be long before we turn the page on 2023. But you still have time to make some financial moves that can pay off in 2024 – and beyond. Here are a few to consider:

- Review your progress toward your goals. Have you made progress toward your long-term goals over this past year? If not, you may want to revisit your investment and financial strategies.
- Boost contributions to your retirement plans. If your employer allows it, you may be able to increase your contributions to your 401(k) or similar retirement plan before the year ends. And you have until April 15 to contribute to your IRA for the 2023 tax year. You can put in up to $6,500 to your traditional or Roth IRA and add another $1,000 if you're 50 or older. (Your ability to fully contribute to a Roth IRA is based on your income).
- Don't waste FSA dollars. If you have a flexible spending account (FSA) through your employer, you've likely used it to take care of a variety of health care costs, such as deductibles, co-payments and coinsurance. But FSAs are "use it or lose it" accounts, so if you have unspent dollars at year-end, you risk losing them. Make sure you know your employer's deadlines for incurring expenses and submitting claims so you can take full advantage of your FSA.
- Contribute to your HSA. When you have a health savings account (HSA), your contributions are tax deductible, your earnings generally grow tax free and your withdrawals are tax free, as long as they're used for qualified medical expenses. Plus, an HSA isn't "use it or lose it" – you can carry unused funds through retirement, when you can still use them for qualified medical expenses. And you've got until the April 15 tax deadline to contribute to your HSA for 2023 (Check with your employer on how to contribute to your HSA past December 31, 2023.)

- Strengthen your emergency fund. If you don't already have an emergency fund, see if you can start one before the year lets out. Eventually, try to put away three to six months' worth of living expenses, with the money kept in a liquid, low-risk account.
- Think about tax-loss harvesting. If you have some investments that have lost value, and they no longer fit into your plan, you could sell them to offset gains from other investments, including capital gains distributions from mutual funds. And if your losses exceed gains for the year, you could use the remaining losses to offset up to $3,000 of ordinary income – and any amount over $3,000 can be carried forward to offset gains in future years. You'll want to consult with your tax advisor before embarking on tax-loss harvesting.
- Bundle your charitable contributions. A few years ago, a change in the tax laws resulted in a large increase in the standard deduction, which led to fewer people itemizing deductions and less incentive for making deductible charitable gifts. But if you can afford to

Begets Upon Violent Begets

A famous family story:

My mother, a WWII girl born in 1923, was a rebellious sort. She and some of her wilder friends from Huntington College, a small Methodist school in Montgomery, Alabama, took a trip to New York City during their Christmas vacation. According to my mother, the inclement weather was such that the trains couldn't return south; the girls got snowed in, were delayed a few days from the beginning of the Winter semester, and had the time of their lives.

During that extended yet brief visit, my mom fell in love and became engaged to a Roman Catholic (gasp!), a New Yorker (double-gasp!), and an officer in The Army Air Corps.

For a brief time, my mother's left hand bore a modest engagement ring. She began the catechumenical steps to becoming a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

Then, my mother's fiancé was killed in action.

As my grandmother told the story to me, the fallen soldier's parents who had become attached to my mom, traveled to her home in Covington, Georgia to embrace and grieve with her. My grandmother spoke about this couple warmly, even bestowing upon them her trademark phrase of approval, "lovely people."

My great-grandmother who also lived in the house, whose family farm had been pillaged by Sherman's troops as they marched to the sea during The Civil War a few years before she was born, refused to come out of her room during the bereaved couple's visit with their would-be daughter-in-law. After the second day, my great-grandmother spitefully shouted downstairs to my grandmother for all to hear, "Sallie Mae, when are those damn Yankees leaving this house?!"

My great-grandmother's soul was crippled by unrelenting seething hatred her entire life.

War does that.

I'm not going to dwell here on the whys and wherefores and the who-done-what-to-whos of the war in Gaza. The turmoil in the region brought by enmity and occupation has been stewing there for a long time.

And this war involves a chafe of religious faiths, a condition that condones people outside the region of conflict to choose sides. Sometimes to violent ends.

During such a war, when children are killed – or emerge from the rubble of their homes and hospitals only to starve to death, there is always a group of people who say virulent stuff like, "Well, those kids would just grow up to be terrorists."

That's a guaranteed formula, isn't it? If you want a generation of children to grow up to hate you, bomb them.

The great Georgia essayist, Martin Luther King, Jr. wrote: "The ultimate weakness of violence is that it is a descending spiral begetting the very thing it seeks to destroy, instead of diminishing evil, it multiplies it."

Violence begetting violence begetting violence.

Pondering all of this, and again pondering about babies, children, and non-combatants besieged and ensnared in harm's way...well, this is why American politicians need

Remember, remember, the joy of December

"Christian, remember your dignity." Pope Leo I, or Pope Leo the Great, as he's also known, ruled in the mid-fifth century, but his words have plenty to teach us in our current moment.

Every Christmas Day, Catholics read his sermon, in which he implores: "Dearly beloved, today our Savior is born; let us rejoice. Sadness should have no place on the birthday of life. The fear of death has been swallowed up; life brings us joy with the promise of eternal happiness."

He goes on to say: "No one is shut out from this joy; all share the same reason for rejoicing. Our Lord, victor over sin and death, finding no man free from sin, came to free us all."

What a refreshing message in the midst of so much turmoil and craziness. And what a blessed reminder that real freedom exists.

There is more to life than everything in the news: the shootings, the nasty political debates, the government dysfunction. Those things aren't what matter. And that's what December is about – remembering that we have roots that are deeper than the shallowness of the present and a future that is more enduring than the weight of our past.

Pilgrims are not headed to Jerusalem right now as they might normally be, due to the war. But when you are there, you encounter the greatest love that there is.

When I was last there, it was the Muslim call to prayer that kept me from hitting snooze my first morning there. Jet lag begone! Everyone in the Old City in the wee hours of the morning was headed to prayer – Christians, Jews and Muslims. In December, thinking of the Holy Land, this is what we should all be doing. This is the call.

"Christian, remember your dignity," Pope Leo said, "and now that you share in God's own nature, do not return by sin to your former base condition. Bear in mind who is your head and of whose body you are a member. Do not forget that you have been rescued from the power of darkness and brought into the light of God's kingdom."

NCCA STEM Institute celebrates two teams as state finalists in Samsung Solve for Tomorrow competition

news@covnews.com

Two teams from the NCCA STEM Institute have emerged as state finalists in the 14th annual Samsung Solve for Tomorrow competition, securing their position among the top 300 teams nationwide.

These teams are not only recognized at the national level but also stand out as two of the six finalists from the state of Georgia.

Samsung Solve for Tomorrow is a national competition that aims to empower students in grades 6-12 to harness the potential of STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Math) to devise innovative solutions addressing critical issues in their local communities. By applying principles of problem-based learning, environmental stewardship, and entrepreneurship, public middle and high school students are encouraged to catalyze change and address society's most pressing challenges.

"In Georgia there were six teams selected for Samsung Solve for Tomorrow finalists and NCCA has two of those six teams, so we're pretty excited to represent a third of the finalists here in Georgia," said Laura Lambert, NCCA STEM Institute program coordinator. "Each of those teams has won a $2,500 Samsung prize package for our school so they've already won $5,000 in gear for our school. They are now in the running for the state award. Not only was this our first time ever submitting to this competition, but we had two teams from two different classes be named state finalists. The most exciting part about these two projects is they were not extracurricular. They were part of things they were already doing in class."

One of the teams, consisting of Hulet Neely, Shania Stewart, Layla Crayon and Nevaeh Craven, designed the Quick Save CPR Mat — a tool guiding individuals in administering CPR without formal training. Placed on the victim's chest, the mat provides voice commands, directing users on hand placement and the appropriate pressure for effective CPR.

"There are not a lot of people CPR certified or trained to do CPR which is very sad because anything can happen at any given time," Crayon said. "We made this device portable so you can do CPR anywhere without having to wait for an ambulance or emergency technicians to arrive. It can save time which will save lives."

Another invention comes from the team comprising Justin Johnson and Tre'von Davis — the Feather Falling Shoe. This potentially life-saving device, when worn, detects when a person experiences a fall.

"Our invention was created to address the shortage of healthcare workers in nursing homes," Johnson said. "There are load sensors in our shoe that can detect and measure if someone has fallen. The system will then alert staff that someone has fallen."

Johnson shared a personal connection to the project.

"My grandfather's passing resulted from a fall during my childhood," Johnson said.

"Our goal is to prevent such incidents by providing a detection device that alerts others to a fall."

Now that they have been named finalists, Davis noted they will focus on redesigning their prototype and conduct more testing.

"Right now, we have 60 percent accuracy so far," Davis said. "It works best on tile, but we want to tailor it to work better on carpet."

"Congratulations to the NCCA STEM Institute teams for their outstanding achievement as state finalists in the Samsung Solve for Tomorrow competition," said Shakila Henderson-Baker, chair of the Newton County Board of Education. "Their innovative projects, such as the Quick Save CPR Mat and Feather Falling Shoe, showcase not only technical prowess but also a commendable commitment to community well-being. We are immensely proud of their accomplishments and eagerly anticipate their continued success in the competition."

to stop and think — and even pray — before they speak, before they spout off hate-filled soundbite quips like, "level the place."

Spouting Off

Words are important. Constitutions, declarations of war, treaties, and scripture are all made of words. The pen is mightier than the sword of course, but I would argue, in this moment of our history, that the pencil might be even mightier than the pen — the pencil has an eraser. The eraser is a tool that can retract words written in anger and haste and without forethought. An eraser is a tool for rescuing the wise and circumspect.

Ah, but the enemy of circumspection is the ubiquitous microphone, instantly at the ready to collect whatever words are spouted off and spewed forth. Combining the microphone with a twenty-four-hour news cycle gives pundits and statespersons — people not exactly known for their comfort with silence — ample opportunity to spout off.

Just as the over-printing of currency brings down its value, when leaders spout off, the value of words is reduced. And a society in which the value of words is reduced is a society that suffers from a diminishment of true listening, clear thinking, good judgment, empathy, and goodness itself.

I know that the ongoing work of bringing solutions to war-torn lands is multi-layered and complicated. But maybe — just maybe — a tiny reduction of "violent begets" can begin with our words.

I truly believe...

Good words — spoken and carefully heard — can condition us to become stronger and better trees known by our good fruit.

should reflect something noble: service! These days, it's more about celebrity and power. Every Republican debate lately has been more depressing than the previous one. Not necessarily because of any of the candidates, but because we may have forgotten what we represent and should be working toward.

Christmas means something. This season is more than decorations. It's actual light. And the Abrahamic faiths have a common connection. In a particular way this year, Christians and Jews need to remember that we are family. What does that mean for geopolitical realities? That's a matter for prayer and for action.

There will be many headlines this month, many distractions and distressing events. But hang on to December in moments of contemplation. Actual love. Real virtue. These things are more powerful than any political primary or election.

December is an opportunity to remember what we often miss in the general hubbub of life. It's a time, too, to catch up with the people we love who, after all, won't be here forever.

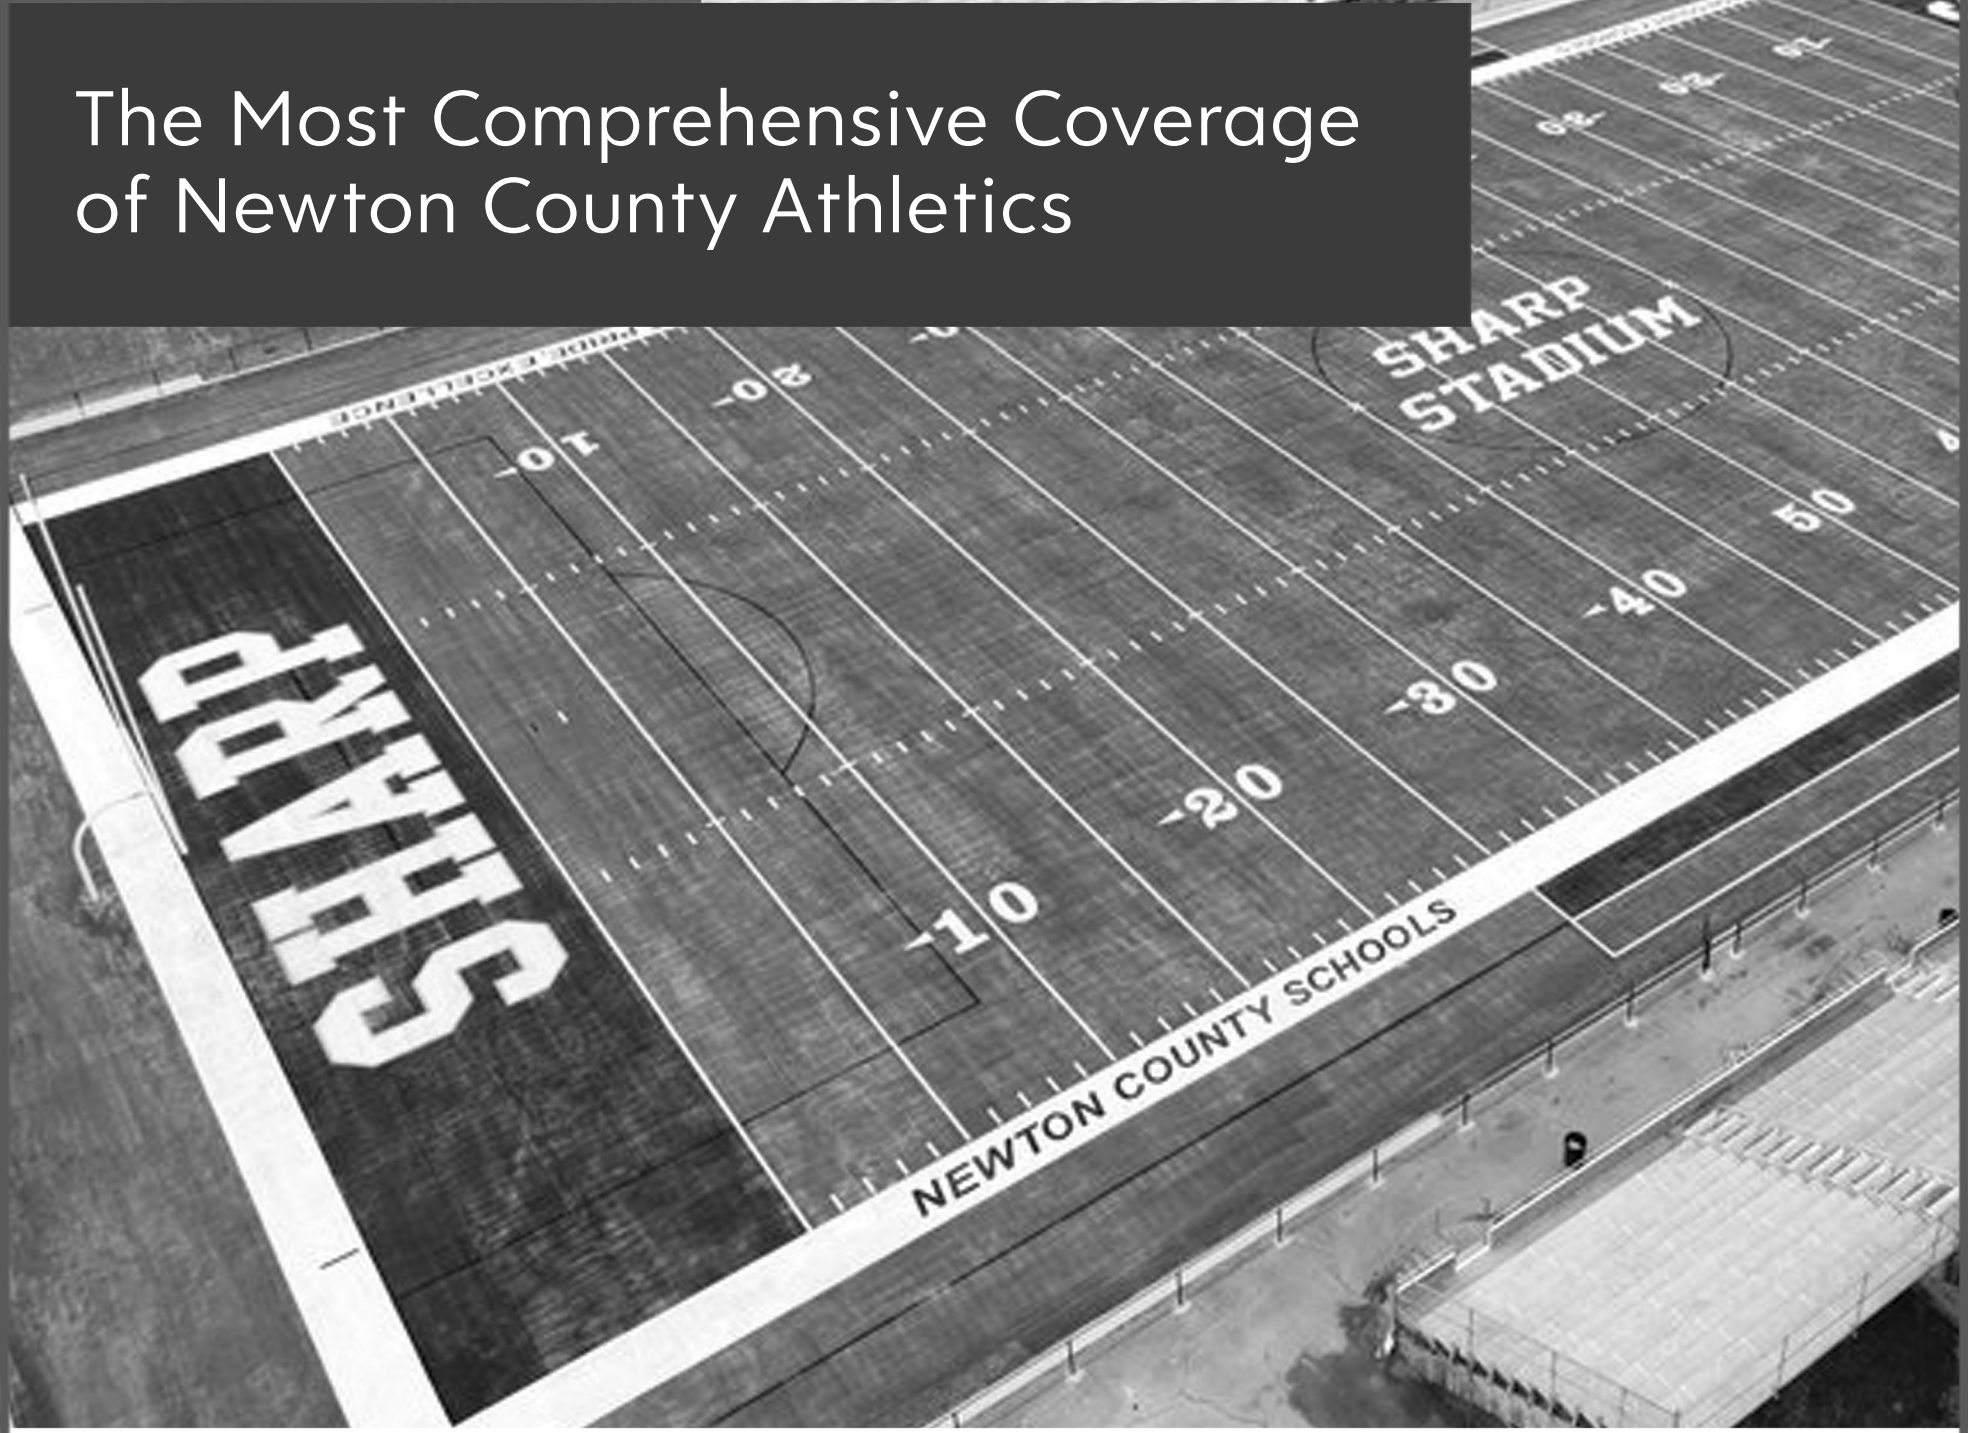

Life is far from perfect, but the work and love of family make all the difference. Mary, Joseph and Jesus are quite the reminder of the importance of love and family. Going back to December should include inserting yourself into the Holy Family, whatever your circumstances are. Because there is love there. And don't we need that?

ALL-COV NEWS FOOTBALL

MARCUS CALWISE — MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

REC: 47      REC YDS: 878      REC TD: 12      RUSH TD: 2      INT: 1

Marcus Calwise is the All-Cov News Most Valuable Player for the 2023 season. Calwise played the majority of his snaps at wide receiver but the senior did it all for the Rams in his final year. Calwise’s ability to make plays at receiver, quarterback, running back and defensive back became crucial for Newton and its hunt for the playoffs. Calwise earned First Team honors for Region 4-AAAAAAA as a wide receiver.

ZION JOHNSON — OFFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE YEAR

CAR: 184      RUSH YDS: 1647      YDS/CAR: 9.0      RUSH TD: 19

Zion Johnson is the All-Cov News Offensive Player of the Year. Johnson was the catalyst for the Newton offense in 2023. The junior followed up his sophomore year with a strong campaign on the ground. Johnson was named to the First Team All-Region honors for Region 4-AAAAAAA at running back.

JACOREY JACKSON — DEFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE YEAR

TKL: 75      TFL: 11      SACKS: 6      FMB REC: 1

Jacorey Jackson is the All-Cov News Defensive Player of the Year. Jackson was the face of Eastside’s front seven in his senior season. Jackson ended the year with the team-high in sacks (six). Jackson’s ability to get to the quarterback and stopping the run earned him First Team honors for Region 4-AAAAAAA.

MARION EUBANKS JR. — NEWCOMER OF THE YEAR

REC YDS: 379      REC TD: 4      INT: 6

Marion Eubanks Jr. is the All-Cov News Newcomer of the Year. In his first year playing football for the Eagles, Eubanks made key plays on both sides of the ball. Eubanks ended the year leading the team in touchdown receptions and interceptions. After the season, Eubanks was named to the First Team All-Region offense and defense for Region 8-AAAAA.

JAY CAWTHON — COACH OF THE YEAR

Eastside Eagles : 8-4      2nd in Region 8-AAAAA      2nd Round Class AAAAA Playoff Berth

Jay Cawthon is the All-Cov News Coach of the Year for the 2023 season. Cawthon led the Eagles to their third consecutive postseason berth with him at the helm while increasing their win total from last year. The Eagles finished with a 5-1 record in region play. Cawthon led the Eagles to the second round of the Class AAAAA playoffs.

Effortlessly gorgeous and easy to ship, drop cookies are what to bake for Christmas

By KATIE WORKMAN
Associated Press

I'm as dazzled by a beautifully decorated holiday cookie as the next person, but when it comes to wielding a pastry bag myself, I'm not a pro. I'm much more about the cookies than the piping. And while elaborately crafted cookies shaped like delicate snowflakes or sporting ombre frostings are beautiful, I can be content with delicious.

But these chewy brownie cookies are pretty handsome too, without any fancy footwork. Plus, they are very shippable. Their fudginess means they won't dry out quickly, and they are sturdy, so don't need nearly as much bubble wrap to protect them in transit.

This recipe is based on the Big Chewy Brownie Cookies from my first cookbook The Mom 100, but I decided to gussy them up for the holidays. The base is a fudgy, moist, brownie-like batter. Dried cherries add sweet-tart chewiness, and white chocolate chips add a peek of creamy white, and a bit more texture. They look festive — perfect for a cookie swap!

You can make the batter up to five days ahead and store it in the fridge, or freeze the cookie balls for up to a month in a freezer-safe zipper top bag with the air pressed out. Let them defrost before baking, or if baking the cookies directly from the freezer, just know you'll need to add a few minutes to the cooking time.

EASY TO SHIP

To ship the cookies, make sure they are completely cooled before packing them up. Use a sturdy corrugated cardboard box, line it with bubble wrap, and create a base with some packing peanuts and crumbled paper (you can search out eco-friendly bubble wrapping and other packing materials). Place the cookies into plastic bags in flat layers. Layer the bags in the lined box, separated by more packing material to keep them cushioned.

Or pack them into a pretty container, also with some padding between the layers, and then nestle the container in the shipping box with some more packing material on the top and sides. Make sure the box is full, so the cookies don't shift and break. Mark the box perishable, and send via one- or two-night delivery to your lucky recipient.

OR SEND THE DOUGH, INSTEAD

Know what a fantastic gift for a good friend would be? A container full of frozen disks of this dough for them to take out and bake when the need arises over the holidays (or any time).

Just write the title (Big Chewy Brownie Cookies with Dried Cherries and White Chocolate Chips), the defrosting and baking instructions, and the ingredients if you have cause to think they might be serving them to someone with allergies. Tack that onto the tin, and prepare to accept grateful words.

THE RECIPE

Big Chewy Brownie Cookies with Dried Cherries and White Chocolate Chips

- ½ cup (1 stick) unsalted butter
- 2 ounces unsweetened chocolate
- 12 ounces semisweet chocolate chips
- 1 ½ cups all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 large eggs
- 1 ½ cups sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 cup white chocolate chips
- ¾ cup roughly chopped dried cherries
- Preheat the oven to 350°F.
- In a small pot, add the butter, and the unsweetened and semisweet chocolates, and heat over low heat, stirring frequently, just until everything is melted and smooth. Allow to cool slightly.

Meanwhile, in a small bowl, combine the flour, baking powder and salt. In a large bowl, beat the eggs and sugar with an electric mixer until creamy and yellow, about one minute. Beat in the vanilla. With the mixer on low speed, blend in the flour mixture in a few batches, just until barely combined.

Add the chocolate mixture to the bowl and beat until smooth. Let the mixture cool; the batter will be very thick. Stir in the white chocolate chips and the dried cherries (if you stir the chocolate chips in before it cools, the chocolate will start to melt and become streaky, if you want that look.)

Scoop out heaping tablespoons of the batter and create 12 mounds on a rimmed baking sheet (you will bake three baking sheets of cookies in all). Bake for 9 to 11 minutes until the tops are crackly and the edges are set. Remove from the oven and let them sit for one minute on the baking sheet (the cookies will sink slightly), then transfer them to a wire rack to finish cooling.

For a holiday gift with a personal touch, mix up some homemade granola

By KATIE WORKMAN
Associated Press

As the end of the year speeds toward us, we've kicked into full-on gift-giving mode. And nothing makes folks feel more appreciated than a homemade gift, especially one they can eat and share.

For me, granola is always the answer.

A beautiful jar of crunchy, chewy, slightly sweet granola for quick breakfasts, tossing onto little bowls of yogurt or skyr, or (if you are my older son) grabbing by the handful every time you pass through the kitchen.

Granola is so customizable that once you start playing around with it, making it can become almost as addictive as eating it. Change up the dried fruits, use all maple syrup or all honey, add a bit of crystallized ginger or a pinch of ground cloves.

Because nut allergies are so prevalent (I speak from personal experience), keeping your granola nut-free will make it a gift that almost everyone can enjoy.

Many store-bought granolas have a lot of added fat and sugar. This recipe has a much more manageable amount of oil and sweeteners. Note this granola is vegetarian but not vegan, thanks to the honey and egg whites. The egg whites help create nice little clumps of granola without necessitating the addition of more fat or sugar.

KATIE WORKMAN

This is also a great recipe for getting the kids involved. They can measure, mix and spread everything out on the baking sheet. With supervision around the hot baking sheet, older kids can gently stir the granola during baking.

BAKING TIPS

Because the dried fruit will burn if baked too long, add it to the oat mix only during the second part of bake time. Baking it lets it become chewy and incorporated into the mix.

If you want your granola crunchier, bake the oat part a bit longer before stirring in the fruit.

If you're certain that nut allergies aren't an issue, add a handful or two of chopped nuts when you add the dried fruit midway through baking.

This granola keeps for three weeks in a cool place, well sealed (though I have never once had it last that long).

PRESENTATION

I like to package up this granola in clear glass Mason jars with attached lids, with cheery ribbons and labels. You can also find jars that have spoons attached.

Think about adding some suggestions on a little card attached to the jar for how the recipients can use the granola. Recommend using it as a topping for everything from ice cream to yogurt, a complement to oatmeal, a dip for a banana, or blended into a crumble on a fruit crisp.

You can double or triple the recipe easily — and I always do, because I don't want to give it all away!

GRANOLA RECIPE

- ¼ cup honey
- ¼ cup pure maple syrup
- 2 large egg whites
- 1/3 cup vegetable oil, plus oil for the baking sheet (optional)
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon kosher salt
- ½ teaspoon grated orange zest, optional
- 4 cups old-fashioned oats, not quick-cooking
- 2 cups mixed chopped dried fruit such as apricots or prune, and/or dried cherries, blueberries, cranberries and raisins
- Nonstick cooking spray (optional)
- Preheat the oven to 275°F.
- Place the honey, maple syrup, egg whites, oil, vanilla, cinnamon, salt, and orange zest, if using, in a large bowl and mix until well blended. Set 1/2 cup of the honey mixture aside in a medium-size bowl. Add the oats to the large bowl and mix with a spoon or your hands until everything is well combined and coated.

Add the dried fruit to the reserved 1/2 cup of the honey mixture and stir to combine. Set the dried fruit mixture aside.

Spray a rimmed baking sheet with nonstick cooking spray, or coat it lightly with oil, or line it with parchment paper. Spread the oat mixture out on the prepared baking sheet in a thin, even layer. Bake the oat mixture for 30 minutes (see Baking Tip above).

Add the dried fruit mixture to the oat mixture and stir well with a spoon or spatula to combine. Spread the granola out again in an even layer. Bake it until the oats are golden brown and crunchy, 25 to 30 minutes, stirring it once more halfway through the baking time, but leave some clumps! Let the granola cool on the baking sheet on a wire rack.

Jeannie Mai co-hosts
"Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve with
Ryan Seacrest"

Stop rockin' around the Christmas tree, because it's time to head to New York City — via your living room TV — for "Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve With Ryan Seacrest," ringing in the new year Sunday, Dec. 31, when the annual special is broadcast live on ABC from The Big Apple. Seacrest, who will undoubtedly be toasting his upcoming gig as the new host of "Wheel of Fortune" when the ball drops, will be joined by co-hosts from parties across America as everyone welcomes the new year with musical performances to keep audiences dancing all the way into 2024.

Every year, parties fill Times Square in New York City, braving the brisk weather to watch the ball drop. Top musical artists keep everyone celebrating warm with exciting live performances you can't help but rock out to, from stages in The Big Apple and Los Angeles. The at-home broadcast also features clips from celebrations around the world as countries spanning every time zone count down the last seconds of 2023.

The superstars helping us ring in 2024 are Aqua ("Barbie Girl"); Doechii ("Persuasive"); Ellie Goulding ("By the End of the Night"); Janelle Monáe ("Lipstick Lover"); Loud Luxury, Two Friends and Bebe Rexha, who will perform their hit "If Only I"; Ludacris ("Stand Up"); Nile Rodgers and CHIC ("Good Times"); Paul Russell ("Lil Boo Thang"); and Renée Rapp ("Snow Angel"). Hollywood rockers Thirty Seconds to Mars ("Seasons") will also be putting on a show at the L.A. party. More musical acts performing from Times Square will be announced as we near the final days of the year, according to ABC.

Tuning in to the "New Year's Rockin' Eve" broadcast is an annual tradition for millions of viewers, and a convention that began all the way back to the eve of 1973. That year, feeling that the New Year's Eve broadcast special had grown stale, Dick Clark, known primarily at the time as the long-standing host of the music and dance program "American Bandstand," used his connection to youth culture to craft a new kind of special that would attract a younger audience.

Clark was the face of New Year's Eve programming until 2004 when the host suffered a stroke, leading "Live! With Regis and Kathie Lee" anchor Regis Philbin to step in that year. Clark returned to co-host the show in 2005 alongside "American Idol" host Seacrest, who celebrates his 19th Times Square New Year with this upcoming broadcast.

Clark and Seacrest co-hosted "New Year's Rockin' Eve" for years, ringing in their final new year together in 2012 before Clark's death that August. Clark's legacy lives on in the iconic broadcast he created, not just in its name but in its spirit. In an interview with Entertainment Weekly last December, Seacrest shared what Clark taught him about what the show means to viewers, saying, "I think the idea for us is just to create a big party for people who don't want to go anywhere, who want to just relax, be in their homes, be with their families, order pizza, order Buffalo wings, whatever it is." Seacrest added, "We can bring the excitement, the energy and the new year to them. That's what Dick told me all along. He goes, 'We're talking to people who are at home, but we bring the excitement to them through the show.'"

So long, 2023: 'Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve' ushers in another new year

tonight's PICKS

Keill Smith-Bynoe
in “Ghosts UK”

Beat Bobby Flay

FOOD 7 p.m.

Culinary powerhouses Alex Guarnaschelli and Anne Burrell join forces with Alison Sattler and Kevin Scharph to conquer the kitchen and Bobby Flay in this continuation of a “BBF” marathon. Chef Michael Voltaggio and actress Ellie Kemper compete next.

Married to Real Estate

HGTV 8 p.m.

During this special episode, featuring behind-the-scenes details and never-before-seen footage, Egypt and Mike revisit their favorite renovations, including an old family home turned into a chic short-term rental and refreshing a Southern-charm haven.

Children Ruin Everything

WPCH 8:30 p.m.

With potential buyers coming to look at their house sooner than expected, Astrid (Meaghan Rath) and James (Aaron Abrams) try to rally the kids to clean and get outside before their open house begins, but their daughter takes a vow to not leave their home.

Ghosts UK

WANF 9 p.m.

With housing prices rising across the globe, inheriting a house must be a godsend. Unfortunately, it isn't for the Coopers as their new house is haunted by the ghosts of its past occupants. If that isn't bad enough, the house is also falling apart.

Transplant

WXIA 9 p.m.

A big day for Bash (Hamza Haq) turns sour as he recalls painful memories during his citizenship interview. Meanwhile, Theo (Jim Watson) deals with a young patient that fears deportation and a recovering addict eats Mags (Laurence Leboeuf) keys.

"Fool Me Once" (Jan. 1)

Adapted from Harlan Coben's 2016 novel of the same name, this series follows Maya Stern (Michelle Keegan), who is trying to come to terms with the brutal murder of her husband, Joe (Richard Armitage). But, when Maya installs a nanny-cam to keep an eye on her young daughter, she is shocked to see a man who looks to be her husband in her house. Det. Sergeant Sami Kierce (Adeel Akhtar) leads the homicide investigation into Joe's death, while Maya's niece and nephew are trying to find the truth about their mother's murder, several months earlier. Are the two cases connected?

"Bitconned" (Jan. 1)

In 2017, amidst the economic frenzy of the Bitcoin boom, there was no better place for scammers than cryptocurrency. So when Ray Trapani's friend approached him with the idea of creating a debit card for crypto, Trapani jumped at the chance. There was only one problem: he had no idea how to do that. But thanks to fake LinkedIn profiles, paid celebrity endorsements, and the online community's insatiable desire to "get rich quick," Centra Tech was soon raking in millions of dollars a day. Was it real? No. But did it work? Maybe. This documentary comes from director Bryan Storkel.

"Society of the Snow" (Jan. 4)

In 1972, the Uruguayan Air Force Flight 571, chartered to fly a rugby team to Chile, catastrophically crashes on a glacier in the heart of the Andes. Only 29 of the 45 passengers survived the crash and, finding themselves in one of the world's toughest environments, they are forced to resort to extreme measures to stay alive. Enzo Vogrincic, Matías Recalt, Agustín Pardella and Esteban Bigliardi star in this Spanish biographical drama.

"Trevor Noah: Where Was I" (Available Now)

Returning to Netflix for his fourth original comedy special, Trevor Noah shares his hilarious experiences from his recent travels around the world, ranging from foreign national anthems to varying cultural norms.

BEST NEW YEAR'S EVE MOVIES

"The Apartment" (1960): Director Billy Wilder's Oscar-winning comedy-drama concludes on New Year's Eve, as elevator operator Fran Kubelik (Shirley MacLaine) makes her romantic choice between corporate executive J.D. Sheldrake (Fred MacMurray) and his recent employee C.C. Baxter (Jack Lemmon) — resulting in one of the most famous movie lines ever.

"Ocean's Eleven" (1960): The lights go out throughout Las Vegas when midnight hits on New Year's Eve, thanks to the ex-military buddies led by suave Danny Ocean (Frank Sinatra) in the ultimate "Rat Pack" movie. Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr. and Peter Lawford play some of the other pals who are in on the simultaneous robbery of several casinos. Turner Classic Movies shows the film often and appropriately presents it again on Sunday, Dec. 31.

"About Last Night ... " (1986): As evidence that almost anyone's New Year's Eve has to go better, take Danny and Debbie (Rob Lowe, Demi Moore), whose live-in relationship hits the skids amid a huge holiday crowd at a favorite Chicago bar. While she wants to comfort a girlfriend (Elizabeth Perkins) who's just suffered a trauma in love, he wants to party, and the rest pretty much spells itself out.

"Peter's Friends" (1992): Along the lines of "The Big Chill," this engaging British-made comedy reunites a group of college chums at one's (Stephen Fry) English estate on New Year's Eve. A couple of the film's other actors directed (Kenneth Branagh) and co-wrote (Rita Rudner) the picture, which also features Hugh Laurie, well before he became an American television star in "House."

"Entrapment" (1999): The dawn of the millennium is a big factor in this heist caper, as an insurance investigator (Catherine Zeta-Jones) tries to entrap master thief (Sean Connery) by joining his scheme to swipe billions of dollars while just about everyone else is cheering the arrival of the 21st century.

"Sex and the City" (2008): One sequence of the HBO-series-inspired film shows how the female friends see in a new year, with a reunion of Carrie and Miranda (Sarah Jessica Parker, Cynthia Nixon) particularly affecting.

"New Year's Eve" (2011): Well, sure. There are loads of stories and stars in director Garry Marshall's ode to Dec. 31, but arguably the most affecting segment teams Robert De Niro and Halle Berry as a cancer patient and his nurse, who await the midnight ball drop together.

What's Available NOW On Disney+

“LEGO Marvel Avengers: Code Red” (Available Now)

In the animated special, The Avengers assemble to save New York City from the threat of the Red Skull and his Hydra forces. In the midst of the battle, the Avengers are unexpectedly joined by Black Widow's father, Red Guardian (Trevor Devall), which doesn't go over well with Natasha (Laura Bailey). But, when Red Guardian disappears under mysterious circumstances, Black Widow and the Avengers investigate, discovering that the villainous Collector is kidnapping every character who has “red” in their name.

“A Muppets Christmas: Letters to Santa” (Available Now)

When Gonzo (Dave Goelz) accidentally diverts three letters to Santa (Richard Griffiths), he talks Kermit (Steve Whitmire) and his friends into delivering them to the North Pole personally.

“Cool Runnings” (Available Now)

Four Jamaican bobsledders dream of competing in the Winter Olympics, despite never having seen snow. With the help of a disgraced former champion desperate to redeem himself, the Jamaicans set out to become worthy of Olympic selection, and go all out for glory. Leon, John Candy, Doug E. Doug, Rawle D. Lewis and Malik Yoba star.

“Ice Age” (Available Now)

Back when the Earth was being overrun by glaciers and animals were scurrying to save themselves from the upcoming Ice Age, a sloth named Sid (John Leguizamo), a woolly mammoth named Manny (Ray Romano) and a saber-toothed tiger named Diego (Denis Leary) are forced to become unlikely heroes. The three reluctantly come together when they have to return a human child to its father while braving the deadly elements of the impending Ice Age.

Mel Gibson in “Lethal Weapon”

Lethal Weapon

AMC 2 p.m.

In the first of a four-part marathon, detective and family man Roger Murtaugh (Danny Glover) is partnered with Martin Riggs (Mel Gibson), a former Green Beret with a death wish. Can they put aside their differences to catch a gang of drug smugglers?

I Am Burt Reynolds

WPCH 8 p.m.

Through archival footage and interviews with family and friends, this 2021 documentary chronicles the life of late actor Burt Reynolds. It is an intimate portrait of the “Smokey and the Bandit” (1977) actor, who had a prolific career in Hollywood.

48 Hours

WANF 9 p.m.

Journalists investigate shocking criminal cases and compelling real-life drama in a new episode of CBS’s long-running news-magazine. Presented by Erin Moriarty, Peter Van Sant and others, viewers explore the mysteries that engross a nation.

Time Bomb Y2K

HBO 10 p.m.

As the dawn of a new millennium approached, rumors spread that a bug would cause computers worldwide to reset, right as the year 1999 turned to 2000. This documentary unravels the mass hysteria that followed, changing the fabric of modern society.

tonight's PICKS

Rachel Smith co-hosts
“New Year’s Eve Live:
Nashville’s Big Bash”

Delicious Miss Brown

FOOD 12 p.m.

The talented Kardea Brown is getting married, and her friends and family are throwing her a bridal shower. She brings bite-sized Open-Faced Mini Salmon BLTs, Smoked Ham Salad in Lettuce Cups, Deviled Eggs with Fried Shrimp and Chocolate Coconut Nests.

New Year’s Eve Live: Nashville’s Big Bash

WANF 7:30 p.m.

Live from Bicentennial Capitol Mall State Park in Nashville, ring in the new year with America’s favorite country music superstars. Hosted by Elle King and Rachel Smith, expect performances from Thomas Rhett, Lainey Wilson and Lynyrd Skynyrd.

90 Day Fiancé

TLC 8 p.m.

Season 10 continues with this episode, checking in with these globetrotting couples as their weddings approach. There are cultural differences to face, but with a ticking clock, these “mail order” pairs must decide if it’s worth the ring.

NEXT at the Kennedy Center WGTV 8 p.m.

Filmed live from the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. comes a New Year’s Eve celebration like no other. Join Cynthia Erivo and her friends, Ben Platt and Joaquina Kalukango, as they ring in the new year with stunning musical performances.

tonight's PICKS

Howie Mandel from "America's Got Talent: Fantasy League"

Kids Baking Championship
FOOD 8 p.m.
It's picture day! Valerie Bertinelli and Duff Goldman meet the 12 kid bakers through portrait cakes with an edible photo on top and custom emojis that show off each baker's hobbies. Don't blink, because in the end, the least successful baker goes home.

Great Performances
WGTV 8 p.m.
Hosted by "Downton Abbey" star Hugh Bonneville, this new episode rings in the new year with beautiful music, as the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra celebrates the arrival of 2024 at the Musikverein in Vienna, performing alongside the Vienna City Ballet.

2023 Rock & Roll Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony
WSBDT 8 p.m.
Viewers can expect a wonderful night for music when Kate Bush, Sheryl Crow, Missy Elliott, George Michael, Willie Nelson, Rage Against the Machine and The Spinners are all inducted into the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame as the Class of 2023.

America's Got Talent: Fantasy League
WXIA 8 p.m.
In this brand-new spin-off, judges Mel B, Simon Cowell, Heidi Klum and Howie Mandel join in on the fun for the first time ever. Much like tonight's PICKS

Martin Short, Steve Martin and Selena Gomez in “Only Murders in the Building”

Extended Family

WXIA 8:30 p.m.

After their marriage ends in an amicable divorce, exes Jim (Jon Cryer) and Julia (Abigail Spencer) learn to navigate life, co-parenting and their new un-conventional family after Julia gets engaged to the rich owner of Jim's favorite basketball team.

The Floor

WAGA 9 p.m.

Rob Lowe hosts this brand-new game show, in which 81 contestants stand on 81 squares on a massive, LED-lit game show floor, competing for a whopping grand prize ($250,000) in a larger-than-life trivia showdown. The inaugural episode airs tonight.

American Masters

WGTV 9 p.m.

A new episode of this series, aimed to share profiles of important figures in American arts and culture, offers a look into artist Edward Hopper's work, life and relationships, including his early career as an illustrator and commercial acclaim.

Only Murders in the Building

WSBDT 9 p.m.

A few months removed from its Season 3 finale, this hit Hulu comedy makes its television debut. The series follows three strangers (Selena Gomez, Steve Martin and Martin Short) as they bond over solving mysteries in their apartment complex.

Fargo

FX 10 p.m.

Juno Temple, Jon Hamm, Jennifer Jason Leigh and Joe Keery star in Season 5 of this anthology series, with an all-new episode airing tonight. Typical Mid-western housewife Dot (Temple) continues to face a haunted past, and Roy's (Hamm) campaign continues.

The end is near for "Blue Bloods"

Q: I heard that "Blue Bloods" is ending. Is that true? – Bill Shaffer, via e-mail

A: It is, but not for a while yet. The Tom Selleck-starring CBS police drama's 14th season – set to begin Feb. 16 – will be its last, and it will be divided into two parts. The first 10 of the final episodes will air early in 2024, then the concluding eight will appear in the fall next year.

Though it's always a shock in a sense to see one of television's longest-running shows reach its conclusion, it's not a total surprise in this case. The principal cast members of "Blue Bloods" were asked to take a pay cut for a 14th year of the series to happen, and while that agreement was reached in the case of that one season, it would have had to be extended or renegotiated for it to happen again. By planning for the ending now, the creative team can plan for a proper ending to the saga of New York's law-and-order Reagan family.

Just because new episodes will end, though, don't expect the show to vanish completely. Reruns of it are syndicated heavily on such channels as ION Television, UPtv and NewsNation, and the repeatability that it already has demonstrated is virtually certain to keep it visible for some time to come.

Q: It's been interesting to see Emma Stone in "The Curse." Has she done any other TV series? – Stacey Roth, Modesto, Calif.

A: She was a regular on the Fox show "Drive," which had a brief run in the spring of 2007, and which cast her as half of a father-daughter team of cross-country auto racers (Dylan Baker played her dad). Stone's movie stardom began the same year with the release of "Superbad," but she might have had TV fame several years earlier if the first pilot she made had gone to series; she was cast as Laurie in a planned reboot of "The Partridge Family," but the first episode ended up being the only one made.

Stone also has done guest roles on such shows as "Medium," "Malcolm in the Middle" and "30 Rock," and she starred in the Netflix miniseries "Maniac" (on which she was an executive producer, as she also is on Showtime's "The Curse"). Additionally, she has hosted "Saturday Night Live" five times, the most recent of those turns being at the start of December.
