Russell announces candidacy for Porterdale City Council Post 1

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

PORTERDALE, Ga. - Eric Russell, resident of Porterdale, officially declared his candidacy for the position of Post 1 with the city council of Porterdale. He and his wife moved to Porterdale and purchased one of the mill houses within Porterdale's Historic District in 2022. He stated, "We loved the charm and character of not only the houses, but also the history behind what Porterdale had been, along with the possibility of what the village could become."

I retired from law enforcement after 27 years and have always felt called toward public service. I saw running for city council as a way to continue that service in the community, albeit in a much different role." Russell had begun a career in law enforcement in 1988 and had served in numerous areas within the Wichita Falls Police Department in Texas, including being a Crimes Against Persons detective as well as being promoted through the ranks of the department until retiring in 2015 as the Captain over the Patrol Division.

"I had been tasked with the implementation of the in-car computer system for the department prior to retirement and am proud of having successfully helped bring that department into the modern age of policing through the use of a computerized dispatching and report writing system." Russell also said, "I feel I have skills within the area of long term logistical planning that can be beneficial for the village of Porterdale in order to help continue to move toward a future that will reflect growth as well as keeping the nuances of the past that were formed by having the mill here in the community."

Russell stated that his vision would be to promote progress, preservation and prosperity here within the village while maintaining a sound fiscal position.

"I have talked to many people and asked a lot of questions especially given the past legacies of the village. I have attended almost every council meeting, including the annual planning retreat in order to become aware of as much information as possible before deciding to run for a council post. I believe that civic duty calls for dedication and the donation of personal time in order to make a difference in people's lives."

award-winning project centered around monitoring and enhancing the nutrition intake of their own mothers. Using a meticulous approach, the students tracked dietary habits, assessed nutritional intake, and carefully analyzed the data to craft tailored health and wellness plans. The outcome was a testament to their dedication to fostering healthier choices within their families and the broader community.

Guided by the FCCLA planning process, Shanell and Megan navigated the project's stages with finesse, allowing them to develop a comprehensive portfolio that stood out at the national conference. To secure their triumphant victory at the 2023 National FCCLA Leadership Conference, the duo first secured first-place accolades at the Regional Competition in Augusta, Georgia, followed by an impressive win at the state competition in Athens. Their journey to national acclaim reflects not only their exceptional talent but also their determination to make a lasting impact on their community's well-being.

Shanell and Megan now have their sights set on the future. With the resounding success of their current endeavor, they eagerly anticipate next year's National FCCLA Leadership Conference in Seattle, Washington, where they hope to clinch another first place victory.

"This was an incredible opportunity and a great experience," Shanell said. "It was very educational and attending the conference allowed us to see another side of the USA. Plus, we had the opportunity to meet other chapter members from across the country."

"It truly was a great experience," Megan said. "It was a great opportunity, and we came back with ideas for our own FCCLA chapter. Plus, our hard work paid off. We both froze when we were announced as the first-place winners. It was a shock. Now, we're already making plans for our next project and the next national conference."

Both students noted attending the conference would not have been possible without the support of their FCCLA advisor, Fleeta Jackson, Newton High School principal Dr. Shannon Buff, and other sponsors like the Covington Lions Club.

Dr. Shannon Buff, expressed her pride and admiration for Shanell and Megan, stating, "Their remarkable achievement is a testament to their dedication, creativity, and unwavering commitment to improving lives through education and action. We are immensely proud of their accomplishment and look forward to witnessing their continued success."

"Our CTAE students continue to raise the bar when it comes to leadership and competitive prowess," said Dr. Tim Schmitt, NCSS

Director of CTAE and Workforce Innovation. "Newton High's recent FCCLA success puts an exclamation point on the level of student talent we have in the district. I'm a firm believer in Career and Technical Student Organizations, like FCCLA. The amount of growth students gain from being a part of those organizations is unmatched. Participation, alone, elevates our students' ability to compete in tomorrow's college & career endeavors. Shanell and Megan's first place victory takes that elevation to a whole new height. Being a national winner is a BIG DEAL! I'm proud of the hard work our students and advisors put in to make this type of success a reality. I'm thankful for teachers like Dr. Jamala Penton and Ms. Fleeta Jackson for going the extra mile to sponsor an FCCLA chapter, allowing students an opportunity to travel and compete across the state and nation."

Seven inmates graduate from development program

STAFF REPORT
news@covnews.com

NEWTON COUNTY, Ga. — The Newton County Sheriff's Office (NCSO), with its continual partnership with Action Inc. and Georgia Piedmont Technical College, graduated seven inmate residents from the Workforce Development Program on July 21.

The Workforce Development Program is grant-funded and provides inmate residents with on-site training for manufacturing fundamentals, essential employment and life skills, forklift operation and safety, OSHA-10, CPR/First Aid/AED, and Lean Six Sigma - White Belt. After the completion of the 80-hour training course, inmate residents are provided with 12 months of mentored coaching, employment search, and placement assistance.

"I am a product of vocational education, and I've always been very proud of that. All that I've learned from the many years of higher education does not, never has, and never will equip me to do the things I can do physically with my hands. I am very proud of every last one of those who completed the program, and I look forward to seeing where these credentials take them in the future," Sheriff Ezell Brown said. "A major factor when considering recidivism is finding a job post-release, and through our partnership with Action, Inc. and Georgia Piedmont Technical College, we can provide inmate residents with the tools necessary to become employed and to prepare them to lead successful lives. I want to express my gratitude to Action, Inc. and Georgia Piedmont Technical College for their continued partnership with us and for providing their time and knowledge to our inmate residents."

The seven inmate residents not only graduated from the Workforce Development Program at the NCSO but they also became college alumnus at the same time, having received various certifications and industry-recognized credentials from the division of economic development through GPTC. Dr. Tavaraz Holston, President of Georgia Piedmont Technical College, said for some inmate residents, this was the first time they were offered the chance of a higher education.

New Georgia teacher prep rules scrap ‘diversity,’ other ‘woke’ words

CAPITOL BEAT
News Service

ATLANTA – Legal limits on how Georgia teachers can approach potentially divisive subjects are spreading from elementary and secondary school classrooms to university lecture halls.

Controversial changes to rules for teacher training the Georgia Professional Standards Commission (PSC) adopted in recent months take effect Aug. 15. The new rules delete words including “diversity,” “equity” and “inclusion,” and replace them with phrases including “fair access, opportunity, and advancement for all students.”

Those required changes in nomenclature also are tucked into broader legislation the Republican-controlled General Assembly passed last year prohibiting the teaching of “divisive concepts” in Georgia elementary and secondary schools. At the time, legislative Democrats, teachers, and civil rights advocates argued the restrictions would prevent teaching students the full reality of Georgia and U.S. history, both the good and the bad.

The new rules are sowing confusion among teachers, said Sarah Hunt Blackwell, First Amendment policy advocate for the Georgia chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

“Educators don’t know what they can and can’t say,” she said. “It’s a continuation of the divisive concepts bill.”

But supporters say the changes were adopted in an effort to avoid confusion.

Brian Sirmans, the commission’s chairman, said the University System of Georgia (USG) asked for the new rules to clarify expectations for incoming teachers. The words the commission voted unanimously to delete from teacher preparation standards have come to mean different things to different people in recent years, which has made interpreting them difficult, Sirmans said he was told by university system officials.

The changes are not aimed at reducing educational opportunities for minority students in Georgia, Sirmans told his commission colleagues before a vote in June.

“We still expect to prepare educators who are well prepared to meet the needs of all of the students they encounter,” he said.

The university system, in a statement issued Thursday, said the new rules came about after the system asked the commission for improvements in literacy education and in what’s required of teacher education programs on how to teach children to read.

“The proposed changes are the result of USG and PSC working together to review and revise rules for teacher preparation based on research-based practices that have been demonstrated to work best in teaching reading,” the statement read. “USG teacher preparation programs will follow these rules as updated and approved by the PSC.”

But critics say Georgia’s new rules are part of a multi-state effort by conservative Republicans aimed at “woke” policies in education, including the “Don’t Say Gay” bill Florida lawmakers passed last year prohibiting discussion of sexual orientation and gender identity in the schools.

“These rules changes indicate the commission doesn’t see the necessity of teachers being prepared to teach diversity,” Hunt-Blackwell said.

Hunt-Blackwell said the proposed rules changes were moving “under the radar” until the Georgia Coalition for Education Justice – an alliance of students, educators, parents and civil rights advocates – got wind of them. The coalition sent a four-page letter to the commission opposing the changes, held news conferences, and assembled speakers to testify against the rules at commission meetings.

“This has made a huge splash,” Hunt-Blackwell said. “This was the first time in decades people came to testify at their meetings.”

Hunt-Blackwell cited a study released last year by Hanover Research – a think tank that encourages school districts to adopt diversity, equity, and Inclusion (DEI) policies – that reported a link between teachers prepared in DEI and a narrowing of academic achievement gaps for students.

“We as educators recognize our student body reflects our communities and state, and the population of our state is more diverse than ever,” said Lisa Morgan, president of the Georgia Association of Educators. “Aspiring educators need the course work, information, and resources so they are not overwhelmed by the diversity of their classrooms.”

Morgan said Georgia’s teacher preparation programs have improved significantly in recent years.

“Changing these rules is taking a piece of that away,” she said. “Taking out these words is, in a sense, watering down.”

State Health Benefit Plan premiums going up five percent

CAPITOL BEAT
News Service

ATLANTA – State employees, public school teachers and retirees will pay five percent more for health insurance coverage next year on average.

The Georgia Board of Community Health approved the premium increase Thursday, only the second in the last six years. The increase, which takes effect Jan. 1, will cost enrollees in the State Health Benefit Plan (SHBP) $7.25 per month on average for those covered through individual plans and $23.61 a month for families.

The state Department of Community Health held SHBP premiums flat in 2019, 2020, 2022 and 2023. Premiums increased five percent in 2021.

But the costs of health care are on the rise following the COVID pandemic, as enrollees who put off wellness checks during the pandemic – including cancer screenings – are resuming those appointments, SHBP Executive Director Louis Amis told board members Thursday.

“We will see increases in medical inflation as we move forward,” he said.

Amis said the SHBP began covering the full cost of diagnostic mammograms for members last month. Full coverage of colonoscopies and retinal eye exams for diabetes will begin in January, he said.

“These are preventive measures we hope will improve members’ quality of life while managing costs,” he said.

Open enrollment for 2024 will begin Oct. 16 and run through Nov. 3.

Audit finds more than $105M in unremitted funds at state labor department

CAPITOL BEAT
News Service

ATLANTA – The Georgia Department of Labor (GDOL) withheld more than $105 million in penalties and fees accumulated in the last decade rather than turning it over to the state treasury, an internal audit has found.

The funds – administrative assessment fees, interest fees and employer penalties – were transferred to the treasury last week, as required by law, state Commissioner of Labor Bruce Thompson said Thursday. All of the funds were withheld during the administration of former Labor Commissioner Mark Butler, like Thompson, a Republican. Thompson took office at the beginning of January.

“This agency will no longer be shrouded in secrecy and isolation but fully cooperate with fellow state agencies and authorities to identify all fraud and corruption associated with the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund and the department,” Thompson said. “No one is above the law, and I hope everyone connected to this investigation voluntarily and openly cooperates with officials as we seek to put this dark history behind us.”

The 10-page audit, dated Aug. 4, does not allege fraudulent activity on the part of the labor department. Instead, it attributes the withholding of the funds to a legal disagreement.

According to the report, the money was withheld because the agency’s “upper management” was unhappy the department was not being appropriated the full amount of the fees and penalties it had collected and, as a result, withheld the funds intentionally. An in-house lawyer for the labor department believed the agency had a legal right to retain the money, the audit found.

While not alleging criminal wrongdoing, the audit concluded the practice of withholding funds from the state treasury in violation of the Georgia Constitution could encourage corruption.

“When management makes decisions to override the internal controls, policies and procedures which have been placed into operation, opportunities for fraud, waste, abuse and various forms of corruption tend to increase,” State Auditor Greg Griffin wrote. “In this case, our investigation found none of the retained funds had apparently been expended by GDOL.”

The investigation remains ongoing. State and federal agencies involved in the probe include the Georgia attorney general’s office, the U.S. Department of Labor, the state Office of Inspector General, and the Georgia Department of Audits & Accounts.

Thompson said Thursday’s announcement marks a significant step toward restoring accountability and transparency at the labor department.

GENE LYONS COLUMNIST

Dog days of summer

One time I started to write a book I called “Animal Passion,” a history of my marriage in pets. The first chapter, about an extraordinary collie/German shepherd mix we’d adopted during our student days on a cattle farm in Virginia, appeared in the Oxford American, for which I was most grateful.

Somewhere in Chapter Four, however, given our half-century of marriage and the number of animals we’d owned — dogs, cats, eventually horses and cows — it became clear that the fool thing would end up longer than “Don Quixote,” and I abandoned the project.

To give you some idea, I once kept a pack of eight beagle field trial dogs in the backyard — also in my office, the kitchen, in the TV room and anywhere else they enjoyed snoozing. One day Diane declared she’d had enough. Some of them had to go.

I said, “Fine, you choose four, and I’ll find homes for them.”

She gave me one of those looks wives give you. “You son of a bitch,” she said. And that was that.

Then there was the time our German shepherd mix Pupska bit our priest. He’d arrived 10 minutes early while I was showering and Diane was in the kitchen. How things normally worked was that all vehicles driving up the 75 yards from the front gate got a boisterous canine escort until I’d walk out to greet them, at which point the pack backed off.

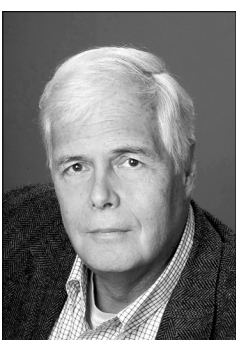

“It was all my fault,” Father Davis explained as we tended to his sore ankle. “She warned me not to come on the porch, but would I listen?”

He made a wry joke about the dog not recognizing his “Superman collar.” In the rural parish he’d served for decades, Pupska was far from his first farm dog. The way he saw it, she’d been doing her job.

So here’s my advice for President Joe Biden, whose dog Commander has reportedly been involved in several incidents of biting: The White House is no place for a German shepherd. The instinct to be territorial and protective is in their genes. They’re inclined to be leery of strangers and to resist handling by anybody they don’t know. Bullying begets counter-aggression. They are not beagles or even golden retrievers.

Did you see that photo of 400 goldens sitting together in a field in Scotland? That’s the breed you need.

Elsewhere in dog news, The New York Times recently published an extraordinary exercise in Manhattan provincialism entitled “Dog Parks Are Great for People. Too Bad They’re Terrible for Dogs.”

GENE LYONS

Because author Julie V. Iovine once encountered an aggressive dog with a churlish owner, she decided to warn everybody that a “thunderdome of rowdy pooches” is awful for everybody everywhere.

“Those loopy circles that dogs make in a dog park, called the zoomies?” Iovine writes. “Those could be playful, or they could very well be your dog screaming, ‘I just can’t take it anymore!’”

If you can’t tell the difference, you probably shouldn’t have a dog. Stick to cats. They’ll bewilder you, too, but the cat won’t care. One thing I’ve learned during our daily visits to a large, tree-shaded dog park over the last several years is that a sizeable proportion of pet owners have no clue.

The good news is that there are normally experienced hands around who can help out. Most dog fights, for example, resolve harmlessly unless people jump in, take sides and make everything worse.

Sometimes, however, it’s good to have somebody like Eric nearby, an imposing ex-Marine whose “command presence,” as they say in the Corps, can settle a dog fight with a stern look. Even Eric, however, knows better than to go grabbing. For one thing, you can get bitten.

Also, restraining a frightened animal only redoubles its fear.

Anyway, we really have little choice at our house. All four dogs know exactly what time it is. Never mind tornado warnings or 103 degrees. Comes 4 p.m., the cacophony can be deafening. Sophie, the elderly basset hound we adopted after our dog park friend Debbie died suddenly, stands on the car’s front seat peering ahead: a canine navigator.

By the time we turn into the city park, everybody’s whimpering and moaning. They charge the gate, eager to see their friends, canine and human. There are a couple of regulars who carry dog treats, beloved figures.

The bossy corgi/Aussie cattle dog we call “Officer Marley” has taught several people to throw balls for her. Hank the basset hound, aka “The Ladies’ Man,” trots off looking for young women to charm. Aspen, the handsome, sweet-natured collie/Great Pyrenees who’s the Brad Pitt of the dog park, searches for his pals, while Sophie solicits treats. You can’t fool her nose.

Diane and I walk laps while they play, and then adjourn to a tree-shaded bench to visit with some of the endearing oddballs we’ve met there who share our love of dogs.

Honoring those who quietly honor our country

Warning: This a No-Trump Zone. If you want to revere the man or revile him this week, you are going to have to go somewhere else. Not here.

Instead, I am going to talk about unsung heroes who have been serving their country quietly and with dignity for the past 97 years — those who guard the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia.

People ask me where I get my ideas for this space. I am blessed with readers who regularly suggest topics to me (not including those whose topic is to suggest I seek another line of work.)

One such reader is Carol Muldawer. An early supporter of the effort to bring the Olympic Games to Atlanta and a longtime aide and confidante of former Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young and the late Congressman John Lewis, Carol shared with me information on the story of those who serve the hallowed grounds as Sentinels of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. And a fascinating story it is.

The Tomb holds the remains of an unknown soldier from World Wars I and II as well as Korea. The remains of the Vietnam War soldier interred there was later identified through DNA as Air Force 1st Lt. Michael Joseph Blassie, who was shot down in Vietnam in 1972. He was reburied in his home state of Missouri and the crypt that once held his remains now reads “Honoring and Keeping Faith with America’s Missing Servicemen.” That includes my fraternity brother, Lt. Pat

DICK YARBROUGH

Boggs, USAF.

As with many of you, I have visited the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier on several occasions and have always been inspired with what I witnessed. It is a pageant of solemn dignity. After learning what goes into guarding the site, it becomes even more special.

The soldiers who guard the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier — men and women from every state in the union — are hand-picked and rigorously trained. Less than 20 percent of those who apply are accepted.

The Tomb has been guarded every minute of every day since March 25, 1937. The Guard is changed every 30 minutes during the summer and every hour during the winter. During the time the cemetery is closed, the guard is changed every two hours.

Twenty-one is a critical number at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. It refers to the 21-gun salute, the highest honor given to any military or foreign dignitary. The Sentinels walk 21 steps, stop on the 21st step, turn and face the Tomb for 21 seconds. They then change their weapon to the outside shoulder, count off 21 seconds and step off for another 21 steps and face the Tomb. The Sentinel repeats this over and over until the Guard Change ceremony. Incidentally, the guards do not wear insignia, so as not to outrank the Unknowns, whatever their ranks may have been.

The weather does not bother the Sentinels at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. They

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,

During this summer of extended heatwaves, destructive flooding, out-of-control wildfires, and record high ocean temperatures, it is reassuring to learn that Georgia and metro Atlanta will be developing coordinated climate pollution reduction plans. In July, Georgia received a $3 million EPA grant and the Atlanta Regional Commission a $1 million EPA grant to develop their emissions-cutting plans. Both grants are funded by the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022, the largest investment in climate action that our country has ever made.

The Georgia Environmental Protection Division, which is spearheading the state plan, emphasizes that the Georgia climate plan will primarily focus on economic development for the electric vehicle industry. This focus makes sense given the fact that manufacturers of electric vehicles and the batteries that power them are already building factories and creating new jobs across the state, including in our area. The focus also makes sense in light of the fact that Georgia’s biggest source of climate pollution is the transportation sector, which is the case for Newton County as well.

One of the stated goals of the Atlanta Regional Commission is to help local governments that haven’t started tackling their emissions learn from cities and counties that are already electrifying their vehicle fleets or making their buildings more energy-efficient. Counties and cities across Georgia, including Newton County and its municipalities, will be eligible to apply for competitive grants to fund emissions-reducing projects outlined by the plans.

While our individual actions matter, state, county and city investments in electrification, energy efficiency and clean energy are key to bringing down greenhouse gas emissions that fuel climate change and extreme weather. The Georgia and ARC climate pollution reduction plans in conjunction with actions at all levels of government offer a vital and historic opportunity to make a difference.

Sincerely,
Sara Vinson

The Forbes Next-Gen Wealth Advisors Best-in-State rankings, developed by SHOOK® Research, are based on an algorithm of qualitative criterion -- mostly gained through telephone and in-person due diligence interviews -- and quantitative data. Those advisors that are considered have a minimum of four years’ experience, and the algorithm weighs factors like revenue trends, assets under management, compliance records, industry experience and those that encompass the highest standards of best practices. Portfolio performance is not a criterion due to varying client objectives and lack of audited data. Neither Forbes nor SHOOK® receive a fee in exchange for rankings.

R.L. Cousins’ Class of 1970 gather for 50-year commemoration

news@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — It was a warm spring evening on April 29, 2023, and the air was filled with excitement and nostalgia as former students of R.L. Cousins High School gathered — post pandemic — to share a meal, fellowship and commemorate the closing of their beloved school over 50 years ago.

The event was held at Hampton Inn in Covington. The room was adorned with the school colors of maroon and gold that brought back fond memories of their time at RLC.

As they entered the room, the former students were filled with a sense of pride and camaraderie. They hugged and caught up on old times, reminiscing about their favorite teachers and the fun they had as teenagers and young adults.

The dinner was catered by Boyd’s Catering. Former students dined on delectable yet familiar dishes of southern fried chicken, herb baked chicken, baked ham, baked tilapia and rice, mac and cheese, sautéed green beans, plain green beans, honey glazed carrots, mashed potatoes and gravy, tossed green salad, rolls, tea and lemonade. All this was complemented with pound cake and peach cobbler for dessert, while listening to smooth R&B and Soul sounds from the 60s and 70s.

Prior to dinner, recognition was given to classmates who have passed. In fact, this event was inspired by the most recent passing of a classmate, Mr. Harvey Belcher; who silently sent a clarion call to all to reach out and touch one another, more frequently. Afterwards, the floor was open for comments, thoughts, and appreciations. Most importantly, the group unanimously agreed to gather annually to break bread and fellowship.

As the evening drew to a close, there were tears and hugs and lots of photo taking as they said their goodbyes, each carrying with them a renewed sense of community and the memories of their beloved school and principal, Mr. Robert L. Stewart, who guided the school from 1957-1970. At that moment, they knew that even though R.L. Cousins High School was now just a memory, the bonds they had formed and the culture they generated there, from 1966-1970, would last a lifetime.

march through rain, sleet, snow or blistering heat. But the welfare of the soldier is paramount. The Tomb Guards have contingencies plans in case weather conditions put them at risk. There is a rumor that during Hurricane Isabel, the Sentinels were ordered to abandon their posts for shelter and that they refused. No such order was ever given.

The Society of the Honor Guard which provides information on both the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and those that guard it also debunks several other rumors about those who serve as Sentinels, such as they cannot drink alcohol for the rest of their lives and cannot swear in public for the rest of their lives. Not true. I mean, these are outstanding human beings we are talking about here, but they are human.

I thank Carol Muldawer for sending me the information on those who perform this sacred duty and I wanted to share it with you. Why? Because we need to be reminded that we live in a great country where there are special people quietly doing selfless things, like the men and women of our military who guard and protect the memory and the resting place of those who made the ultimate sacrifice for us and whose names we do not know.

This is the real America. Not a bunch of loudmouth know-it-all wingnuts on both ends of the political spectrum blathering their incessant and divisive drivel. Oops! I think I just reentered the No-Trump Zone!

Alcovy trailed 28-0 at the half. The Tigers ended the shutout early in the second half, though.

Junior quarterback Patrick Lucero tossed a touchdown with 10:13 remaining in the third quarter. With just 10 seconds left in the same quarter, Alcovy cut the lead in half with a rushing score.

The Tigers' defense — known as the "Black Swarm" — helped give Alcovy a chance by not letting Arabia Mountain crack the scoreboard in the final 24 minutes.

During the summer, Jaquan Henderson departed the program for another coaching opportunity. So, Alanzo Harris, who is also the defensive backs coach, has assumed the defensive coordinator role.

Fortson is excited to see how Harris leads the defensive unit.

"I believe in everything he's got going on," Fortson said. "He's a fiery guy. He's been doing a good job in preparing the guys and getting the guys to take on his mentality. I think he's going to step in and do great."

In addition to Lucero, Patrick Wolfe also saw time at the quarterback spot during the preseason scrimmage, too. The two gunslingers have been battling for the starting role.

Heading into the regular season, Fortson gave an indication who will be the day No. 1 starter.

"Going in, Pat Lucero is our guy," Fortson said. "He's a guy we've been going in with. We have [Wolfe] come in and he's been lighting a fire underneath. So, it'll be good to see both of those guys battle out and see the things they're able to do controlling the offense."

The next time the Tigers hit the field will be Friday, Aug. 18. They will hit the road to kick off their season at Luella with the game starting at 7:30 p.m.

Fortson wants to see how the team's work the last few months has prepared them for the season ahead.

"This whole offseason process has been good," Fortson said. "We're just looking to continue to push forward with that effort with everything that everybody gave."

to take a two-possession lead into the locker room at the break.

"Defensively, we were flying around and make some big hits," the coach said. "With as many new kids as we had out there that was good to see. They have done everything we have asked of them. We are a whole lot better right now than we were in the spring."

Patton and the Redskin coaches were back at work during the weekend preparing for the 2023 regular season opener against Morgan County High School. The Bulldogs earned a sound win in the matchup a year ago and Patton knows it will be another tough matchup.

"Morgan County is really big," Patton said. "They are well coached and have a little more depth than we do. It will be a challenge for us to play some good competition right out of the gate. They are going to look to run the football. We have to shorten the game as much as possible because we have more kids playing both ways."

Sustaining drives will be a must for the SCHS offense in order to keep the Redskins defense off the field due to the August heat conditions.

While Patton said he was glad the new season was at hand, he noted coaches always would like a little more time to prepare.

Kickoff at Bill Corry Stadium in Madison is set for 7:30 p.m.

We have to be able to handle that adversity. That is a big deal with a young team. They know next Friday is for real and they will come ready to practice on Monday. I have no question about it."

Cawthon and his staff played the starting unit the entire first half. During the first 24 minutes, the starters had some bright moments.

On Monroe Area's second play from scrimmage, Jayden Barr picked off the Purple Hurricanes' quarterback. In the closing minutes of the first quarter, gunslinger Payton Shaw threw a 48-yard touchdown.

At halftime, the Eagles led 14-0, but it wasn't always smooth sailing.

The starting unit committed two turnovers that derailed a couple of drives. Cawthon believes the players can learn from the miscues.

"Our guys have got to learn to listen to the message and not the tone," Cawthon said. "I think we came out in the second half and played a lot better. With the older guys in that first series, I challenged them, 'You get one more series until next Friday.'"

Early in the third quarter, #4? Picked off a pass to end the starters' stay on the field. Then, the backup groups were inserted to finish off the last 20:30 of the game.

Back up running backs came in and had a few long runs that got the Eagles down to the one-yard line. A play later, they finished the drive off with a score.

The ensuing extra point attempt was missed to keep the score 20-0. On top of that, the defense kept Monroe Area off the board to pitch a shutout.

Overall, Cawthon was pleased with the backups' performance.

"I see the guys getting the fruits of their labor," Cawthon said. "Every single one of our kids work their tails off. And, to be able to play in a varsity game in front of a crowd, there's nothing sweeter. They practice just as hard as our varsity."

Eastside's season opener is up next on Friday, Aug. 18. The Eagles will host Luella at Sharp Stadium with the game kicking off at 7:30 p.m.

Preparations for entering a normal game week started last week.

"It really starts on Sunday," Cawthon said. "Our guys will come in at 3 p.m., get the game plan and try to execute on Monday. There's always mistakes on Monday. Tuesday, we clean it up. Wednesday, we better have it."

senior wideout Marcus Calwise followed by two additional rushing scores.

Newton led 44-0 with three minutes left in the first half.

The Rams' defense played as big of a part in the win as the offense did. They applied pressure schemes and held the big yardage plays by the Spartans to a minimum.

Newton forced a safety under three minutes left in the opening half to extend the lead 46-0.

From there, the Rams scored three more times to solidify their lopsided preseason scrimmage victory.

Now, Newton plans to carry that success into week one. Newton will play their first game of the regular season this week when they play Hapeville Charter on the road Saturday, Aug. 19.

Newton athletics' Facebook page announced Sunday that the game will be played at Banneker High School.

Skelton believes his team is ready for the season ahead.

"They have belief in one another," Skelton said. "One thing we are going to do is not listen to outside sources, because we know how much work we need to do."

FINAL TUNE UP

Rams run away from North Springs

By GARRETT PITTS
Correspondent

SANDY SPRINGS, Ga. — The Newton Rams left their scrimmage in high hopes after a 66-7 rout of the North Springs Spartans Friday night.

During the offseason, Josh Skelton took over as head coach for the Rams. After the scrimmage, he highlighted what he liked from his team's performance.

"I am very pleased, the guys played hard, fast and with aggression," Skelton said. "We know we have a lot of work to do on all three phases of the game."

The Rams had it rolling early and often. On the opening kickoff, Malik Brightwell delivered by taking the kickoff all the way back for a Rams touchdown.

Following a missed field goal for the Spartans, the Rams offense wanted another score, and they got it.

Sophomore quarterback Deron Benson dumped the ball off to sophomore running back Zion Johnson who took the ball 83 yards for the score on the first play of the drive.

Skelton recognized the Rams' eagerness to put up points as a key factor.

"Any opportunities we get to score, we want to be aggressive in those opportunities," Skelton said. "We talked about it all week that when we get a chance on special teams we want to be dominant."

Benson tossed two more touchdowns to MONROE, Ga. — Before their season begins on Aug. 18, the Eastside Eagles had one final tune up on Aug. 10 at Monroe Area. No official score was kept, but the unofficial score was Eastside winning 20-0.

Going into the 2023 campaign, head coach Jay Cawthon has stressed that the Eagles will field a young team. After Thursday's outcome, Cawthon highlighted what he saw from his players.

"I never question our effort," Cawthon said. "Our kids give effort 24/7. We just have to limit the mistakes."

Redskins have test run in preseason scrimmage

By CHRIS BRIDGES
The Walton Tribune

MACON, Ga. — As far as test runs go, it was a good one for the Social Circle High School football team.

The Redskins ventured to Tattnell Square Academy in Macon and returned home with a 17-9 win.

Coach Rob Patton took several positives from Friday.

"On offense, we really controlled the football," the Redskins coach said. "We had some 10 and 12 play drives. We were moving the football and controlling the clock and getting first downs."

The first offensive possession of the scrimmage did not yield points for Social Circle but it did take about eight minutes off the clock.

Tigers see growth in the offseason

COVINGTON, Ga. — Alcovy's offseason came to an end Friday night in its preseason scrimmage. The Tigers hosted Arabia Mountain at Sharp Stadium and came up short 28-14.

Nevertheless, head coach Spencer Fortson has noticed progression among his squad.

"We saw a lot of our guys being able to grow," Fortson said. "We're glad we had that opportunity. We've seen some guys put on some weight. We've seen guys get stronger. That's the things you want to see in the offseason."

Despite losing the preseason scrimmage, the Tigers had a valiant effort in the second half to almost come back and win.

In France, pesto is enriched with an umami bomb

CHRISTOPHER KIMBALL

Never to be outdone by their Italian neighbors, cooks in Provence have their own fragrant version of pesto. We first came across pistou in Marseille as a no-cook basil and garlic sauce stirred into a hearty bean soup. But variations abound, and yes, they also will mix it with pasta.

In this pappardelle recipe from our book “Tuesday Nights Mediterranean,” which features weeknight-friendly meals from the region, we took inspiration from Richard Olney’s classic book “Lulu’s Provençal Table.” The sauce comes together quickly in a food processor and is redolent with the bold flavors of Southern France — peppery basil and ample garlic, of course, but also rich anchovies for an extra hit of umami.

We finish the sauced pasta with toasted chili-spiked bread crumbs (we prefer panko for its light, crisp texture) for subtle spiciness and a welcome textural contrast to the al dente noodles.

Don’t forget to reserve some of the cooking liquid before draining the pasta. Adding a small amount of the starchy water while tossing the anchovy-basil puree with the noodles helps create a silky sauce that coats the pappardelle.

Pappardelle with Basil, Anchovy and Toasted Breadcrumbs

Start to finish: 35 minutes

Servings: 4

½ cup plus 2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil, divided

½ cup panko breadcrumbs

1 teaspoon red pepper flakes

Kosher salt and ground black pepper

12 ounces dried pappardelle pasta

2-ounce tin oil-packed anchovy fillets, drained (12 fillets)

3 medium garlic cloves, smashed and peeled

2 cups lightly packed fresh basil

In a 10-inch skillet over medium, heat 2 tablespoons oil until shimmering. Add the panko, pepper flakes and teaspoon salt, then cook, stirring often, until golden brown, about 3 minutes. Transfer to a paper towel-lined plate.

In a large pot, bring 4 quarts water to a boil. Stir in the pasta and 1 tablespoon salt, then cook, stirring occasionally, until al dente. Reserve about ¼ cup of the cooking water, then drain and return the pasta to the pot.

Meanwhile, in a food processor, process the anchovies, garlic, and a pinch each of salt and black pepper to form a chunky paste, about 5 seconds. Scrape the bowl. Add the basil and pulse until finely chopped, 8 to 10 pulses, then scrape the bowl. With the machine running, drizzle in ½ cup oil, then process until well combined, 8 to 10 seconds.

Add the anchovy-basil puree to the pasta and toss to combine, adding reserved pasta water as needed so the sauce coats the noodles. Serve sprinkled with the toasted breadcrumbs.

Marcie from "Snoopy Presents: One-of-a-Kind Marcie"

Marcie's moment: Peanuts introvert shines in 'Snoopy Presents' special Sequels, prequels, reboots, gritty reimaginings — we've grown accustomed to seeing content from the past reshaped and rereleased, and too often we are left with only the ghosts of our childhood favorites with hints of nostalgia in otherwise completely updated worlds. That's part of what makes the partnership between Peanuts and Apple TV+ so special — they achieve that perfect combination of old and new, delivering intriguing new stories while retaining the characters and settings we already know and love.

And it's not just about Charlie Brown and Snoopy these days, either. Prepare to see more of the characters you love in situations that you may not expect, when the all-new Peanuts special, "Snoopy Presents: One-of-a-Kind Marcie," premieres Friday, Aug. 18, on Apple TV+.

In case you need a refresher: Marcie is perhaps the most quiet and shy of all the Peanuts characters, a bookworm and dedicated student with an affinity for the arts. She also speaks French! A true Renaissance girl, she is usually accompanied by her best friend, the outgoing, enthusiastic and somewhat obtuse Peppermint Patty. Marcie is as introverted as Patty is extroverted, and she tends to keep her gregarious friend grounded.

But it may be Marcie who needs to seek Patty's help for a change in this new special. When she's unexpectedly elected as her school's class president — a role she did not seek or want — Marcie finds herself with new responsibilities that require her to step way outside of her comfort zone. As her peers look to her for leadership, Marcie must grapple with her own idiosyncrasies and find a way to fulfill her duties while staying true to herself. Can Marcie manage life in the public eye? Can she help her friends and be a good class president while doing things her own way? This sweet special will take Marcie fans on an unexpected and heartwarming journey.

This isn't the first Peanuts-related offering from Apple TV+ this year. We were already treated to a new season of "The Snoopy Show" on the streamer back in June, and starting on Sep. 22, fans will be able to indulge in tons of original Peanuts episodes (including "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" and "It's Magic, Charlie Brown") for the first time in decades when the Peanuts Anthology Vol. III and Vol. IV begin streaming on the platform. A couple of brand-new specials are on the way as well, including "Snoopy Presents: Welcome Home, Franklin" and a new TV series called "Camp Snoopy."

The partnership between Apple TV+ and Peanuts began in 2020, when the platform acquired the streaming rights to all Peanuts holiday specials and signed a deal with affiliated studio WildBrain, which ensured the production of a plethora of new series and specials. WildBrain is a Canadian company that boasts the largest independent collection of children's TV programs, and in partnering with it, Apple TV+ has signaled a dedication to making family-friendly and children's programming a meaningful part of its enterprise. The Peanuts specials and new additions to the Peanuts universe may be at the crux of their deal, but the pairing represents endless possibilities, since WildBrain's library includes classics such as "Strawberry Shortcake," "Carmen Sandiego," "Teletubbies," "Inspector Gadget," "Fireman Sam" and much, much more. Here's hoping some of those beloved classics will receive the same treatment as the Peanuts properties.

Apple TV+ is proving to be a true contender when it comes to animation. Its slate of animated series and films includes other nostalgic stories, such as "Frog and Toad," as well as innovative new series, such as the stop-motion series "Shape Island" and the part live-action, part animated series "Lovely Little Farm." It's no surprise that Apple as a company is investing in new and exciting ways to tell stories, but it sure is refreshing to see them applying that creativity and funding to children and family programming as well as its flashier, edgier fare. The Peanuts characters and other beloved series are given pride of place right alongside critical darlings like "Severance," "The Morning Show" or "Ted Lasso."

In October 1950, when the first Peanuts comic strip was published in seven newspapers, creator Charles M. Schulz could never have imagined how loved the ragtag group of kids he created would become, how big a following they would amass, or how they would transcend their initial newspaper comic format and be treasured by generations of children and adults alike. From newspapers to TV to movies to streaming services, Charlie Brown and his friends have come a long way, and the hold they have on our hearts is just as strong as ever.

Check in with some of your oldest friends and stream the newest installment of the Peanuts saga when "Snoopy Presents: One-of-a-Kind Marcie" premieres Friday, Aug. 18, on Apple TV+.

“Untold: Swamp Kings”

This new installment of the “Untold” docuseries heads down to Florida — where college football is life — to dig deeper into the story of the University of Florida Gators football team and its extraordinary return to victory. After their incredible success in the 1990s, the Gators found themselves in a lull by 2005. Taking on Urban Meyer as head coach, the team — including future NFL stars Brandon Siler, Tim Tebow, Brandon Spikes, Major Wright and Ahmad Black, among many others — rose to claim a string of legendary victories between 2005 and 2010.

“Lighthouse: Season 1”

Chart-topping musician Gen Hoshino and popular comedian Masayasu Wakabayashi meet up for uplifting chats on work, family, and hopes for the future in this new variety talk show.

“Who is Erin Carter?”

Erin (Evin Ahmad) is a seemingly-ordinary British mother, wife and teacher living a dream life in Spain. But, when Erin finds herself caught up in a supermarket robbery and reveals her impressive fighting skills, her life threatens to come unraveled as her true identity bubbles closer to the surface.

“Movie: Killer Book Club”

A group of eight university students meet every week to share their passion for horror literature in a book club. When a dark secret from their past is at risk of being revealed, the book club members find their lives coming unraveled by an anonymous stalker, who has written a bloody horror novel based on them. With chapters being published one at a time on social media, one member of the group must die for each new release. Trusting no one — not even each other — the book club takes on a fight for survival in the middle of the university campus.

Gene Kelly and Vera-Ellen in “On the Town”

BEST LEONARD BERNSTEIN SCREEN PROJECTS

“On the Town” (1949): For this iconic musical, legendary composer Bernstein — whose “Kaddish Symphony” will be showcased by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra on PBS’ “Great Performances” Monday, Aug. 21 (check local listings) — worked with the team of Betty Comden and Adolph Green on the songs for its original stage incarnation. Some were dropped from the movie (to Bernstein’s great displeasure), but still, the tunes help Gene Kelly (also the film’s co-director), Frank Sinatra and Jules Munshin have a blast as sailors in a 24-hour leave in “New York, New York.”

“On the Waterfront” (1954): Bernstein’s driving, Oscar-nominated score does much to help intensify director Elia Kazan and writer Budd Schulberg’s drama of dock worker Terry Malloy’s (Marlon Brando) fight against union corruption, sparked by his role in unwittingly setting up a colleague to be killed ... and also by the anger and outrage of the slain man’s sister (Eva Marie Saint) over his death.

“Omnibus” (1954-58): Though they technically were called “lectures,” Bernstein’s telecasts about various elements of music for this arts series were much more exciting than that word might suggest. With help from other musicians, he brought works by Beethoven and Bach (among others) to life, delving into what he believed their mindsets to be when they created some of their most famous compositions.

“New York Philharmonic Young People’s Concerts” (1958-72): An offshoot of Bernstein’s “Omnibus” involvement was this much-acclaimed series that posed such titular questions as “What Does Music Mean?” and

“Who Is Gustav Mahler?” ... and then proceeded to answer them through carefully chosen selections that represented the best of whatever the given episode’s subject was. The program proved internationally popular, with more than 40 countries running it.

“West Side Story” (1961): Arguably the most celebrated example of Bernstein’s music on film (with lyrics by Stephen Sondheim), the “Romeo and Juliet”-like story of young lovers on opposite sides of a turf war between two New York gangs — the Sharks and the Jets — includes some of the most famous songs ever devised for the theater, including “Somewhere,” “Tonight,” “America” and “I Feel Pretty.” The movie won 10 of the 11 Oscars it was nominated for, including best picture; the story and tunes also fueled the Steven Spielberg-directed 2021 version.

What's Available NOW On Disney+

“Farm Dreams: Season 1”

This docuseries follows farmer/forager Indy Srinath as she connects aspiring farmers with experts in order to help them live out their dream of living in nature on their own terms. More than just an exploration into the worlds of homesteading, aqua, micro, rooftop and indoor farming, hers is a journey of farmers helping farmers.

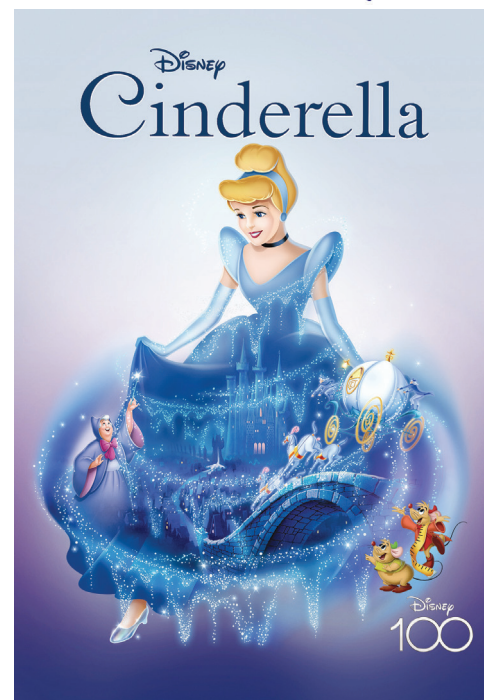

“Movie: Guardians of the Galaxy: Vol. 3”

The Marvel Cinematic Universe's favourite space family return for their final adventure together as they fight to stop the ruthless ambitions of The High Evolutionary (Chukwudi Iwujii). After a surprise attack at Knowhere, the team's headquarters, Rocket (Bradley Cooper) is gravely injured, forcing the remaining Guardians — Star-Lord (Chris Pratt), Gamora (Zoe Saldana), Drax (Dave Bautista), Nebula (Karen Gillan), Mantis (Pom Klementieff) and Groot (Vin Diesel) — to race against time to save their friend. Complicating matters even further, the Guardians are being pursued by “perfect” warrior Adam Warlock (Will Poulter), who is intent on revenge.

“Movie: Rio 2”

Blue macaws Blu (Jesse Eisenberg), Jewel (Anne Hathaway) and their three children are comfortably settled in the city, but perhaps too comfortably — Jewel fears that the children are becoming more like humans than birds. After learning that she and Blu may not be the last blue macaws after all, Jewel decides that their little family should visit the Amazon jungle. It's there that Blu meets his formidable father-in-law (Andy Garcia) and goes beak-to-beak with archnemesis Nigel (Jemaine Clement).

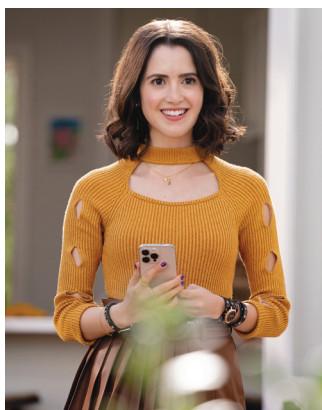

“Movie: Cinderella” (4K Remaster)

Disney's classic animated film makes its grand re-entrance with its brand-new, 4K remastered version. Releasing as part of World Princess Week and as part of Disney's centennial celebration, the remastered 1950 film follows the story of Cinderella (Ilene Woods), a young woman living with her cruel stepmother (Eleanor Audley) and two stepsisters (Rhoda Williams, Lucille Bliss), who treat her like a servant. When every young woman in the kingdom is invited to a ball at the royal palace, Cinderella sets out to find her happily ever after.

Kiowa Gordon in “Dark Winds”

Naked and Afraid: Castaways

DSC 8 p.m.

Things go from bad to worse for our nude adventurers when one of the survivalists needs to be medically evacuated off the island. Then Candice gets some protein while Bulent and Na'im argue when their pig snare fails and Kerra is caught in the middle.

Celebrity Family Feud

WSDT 8 p.m.

Steve Harvey hosts a new episode of this game show, seeing popular celebrities competing with their families as they answer questions in order to win money for charity. This time: Chris Redd, Fortune Feimster, Stephen A. Smith and Tamron Hall compete.

Dark Winds

AMC 9 p.m.

Leaphorn (Zahn McClarnon) risks his life in pursuit of a suspect during this new episode. Meanwhile, Manuelito (Jessica Matten) stands up to the sheriff in a bid to rescue her boss. Seeking answers, Chee (Kiowa Gordon) considers a dangerous proposition.

Luann and Sonja: Welcome to Crappie Lake

BRAVO 10 p.m.

Our socialite heroines had had enough of big city life and traded in their glamorous New York City lifestyles for small town charm. They may be fish out of water, but the townsfolk have come to love them (well, tolerate) even when they're insufferable.

Telemarketers

HBO 10 p.m.

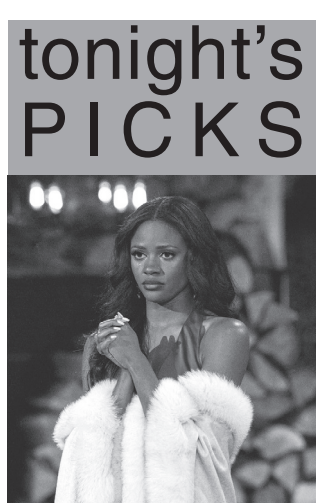

In the wake of the FTC shutting down CDG, other copy-cat telemarketing companies pop up and evade regulation by taking advantage of loopholes; Sam and Pat learn that the industry's corrupt ways run much deeper than just CDG; Pat disappears suddenly.

A Wolf behind the cameras: Scott turns director

Q: I was pleased to see Scott Wolf get a directing credit on a recent episode of "Nancy Drew." Was that the first time that had happened? – Chris Brandon, Manchester, N.H.

A: It actually was the second episode of the CW series that he directed, having also guided one during the previous season. Together, they marked the first times that Wolf – who has played Carson Drew on the now-ending show – had directed professionally. He may well continue as a director for hire on other projects, but he'll strictly be an anchor in his next major project, reuniting with his "Party of Five" co-star Lacey Chabert to play siblings again in Hallmark Channel's forthcoming holiday-season movie "A Merry Scottish Christmas."

Q: How is it that Fox will have new episodes of several animated series ready for the fall season, given the show-business strikes? Aren't actors not supposed to work in any way, even doing cartoon voices, during their strike? – Jon Carney, Gettysburg, Pa.

A: Episodes of animated shows have to be produced so far in advance of their broadcasts, the actors – and, for that matter, the writers – have to complete their work well before the programs' airings. Series such as "The Simpsons" and "Bob's Burgers" (plus Fox's new "Krapopolis") would have had those elements done before the strikes began, so other staff members still could start assembling them into the finished product.

Q: I see that nominations for the Primetime Emmy Awards have come out. When will the actual ceremony be held? – Scott Lyons, via e-mail

A: As of the time this column was written, that's anyone's guess. The show had been scheduled for Sept. 18 on Fox, but with the strikes by actors and writers, many ceremonies have been either postponed (as with the Daytime Emmy Awards) or considerably altered (like the MTV Movie & TV Awards, which took a very different form when scheduled host Drew Barrymore dropped out of the event, to show solidarity with striking writers). Though the Primetime Emmy nominees are known, the timing for the naming of the winners remains to be seen.
