Rep. Hank Johnson visits

THE GARDEN OF GETHSEMANE HOMELESS SHELTER

By EMILY ROSE HAMBY
Staff Writer

COVINGTON, Ga. – Congressman Hank Johnson visited The Garden of Gethsemane Homeless Shelter in Covington on Friday, as a part of his week of HOPE – “Helping Other People Elevate” – initiative. After addressing district officials, Johnson spoke with several homeless constituents to hear their stories and how the shelter has impacted their lives.

Attendees of the event included officials from the Newton County Board of Commissioners, the Newton County Chamber of Commerce, the Newton County Sheriff’s Office, board members of the shelter and executive director Clara Lett.

Johnson, who represents parts of DeKalb and Newton counties and all of Rockdale County, expressed his purpose of traveling to the Covington shelter to The Covington News.

“I’m glad that I was able to come out and see how the issue of homelessness, arises or is being addressed in Newton County,” Johnson said. “It looks to me like the Rainbow Center is a haven for homeless people and they are referred homeless people from different entities and organizations. There’s such a big homeless problem here that they can’t serve ev-

COUNTY COMMUNICATION

New app proves worth for Newton County government

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

NEWTON COUNTY – On May 24, the Newton County government introduced a new communication tool. Notify Newton is a smartphone app for Newton County residents to submit requests – items like pothole repairs and code violations – directly to staff.

Public information officer Bryan Fazio shared the effect the app has had so far.

“We have always had the people who have gone out and paved the roads and code enforcement,” Fazio said. “This enables a direct link to our constituents. It’s made it easier and more reachable and quicker.”

From day one to Aug. 1, 187 requests were received through Notify Newton. The public works department garnered one hundred of them along with code enforcement’s 53.

Public works’ responses mainly deal with potholes, illegal dumping, streets, roadways and trees while code enforcement has to do with blight and building inspections.

Fazio explained how users can operate all of the features of the app.

“It’s another avenue for residents to engage with us and continue to provide that service. This allows us to do it directly,” Fazio said. “Before we had a thing on our website people could go and fill out a request form. This way it’s similar, but they take a picture of it with their phone and we know exactly where.”

Once a request is received, the average response time has been three to five days. Fazio said that the longest has been seven days after the submitted request.

Notify Newton is available for download in the Google Play store and the App Store. By Aug. 1, the app was downloaded over 100 times on Android devices alone.

This app was added to the plethora of communication outlets already utilized by the Newton County government.

Newton County has its own website, Facebook page, Twitter, Instagram and YouTube accounts. Other options are in the works, too, according to Fazio.

“We know we haven’t reached everybody yet. And we’re trying to reach as many people as possible,”

Fazio said. “We’re working on some things now that will hopefully come out soon. The big thing now is getting the word out and letting people know we have it.”

Overall, the ultimate goal for Fazio and the Newton County government behind Notify Newton is to ensure proper assistance to residents.

“As we’ve grown, we want to continue providing that service and this enables us to do that,” Fazio said.

As an elected official on the federal level, I’m going to do all that I can to help ensure that this organization and any other organizations that are fighting homelessness in Newton County have the resources that they need to do the job that they do.”

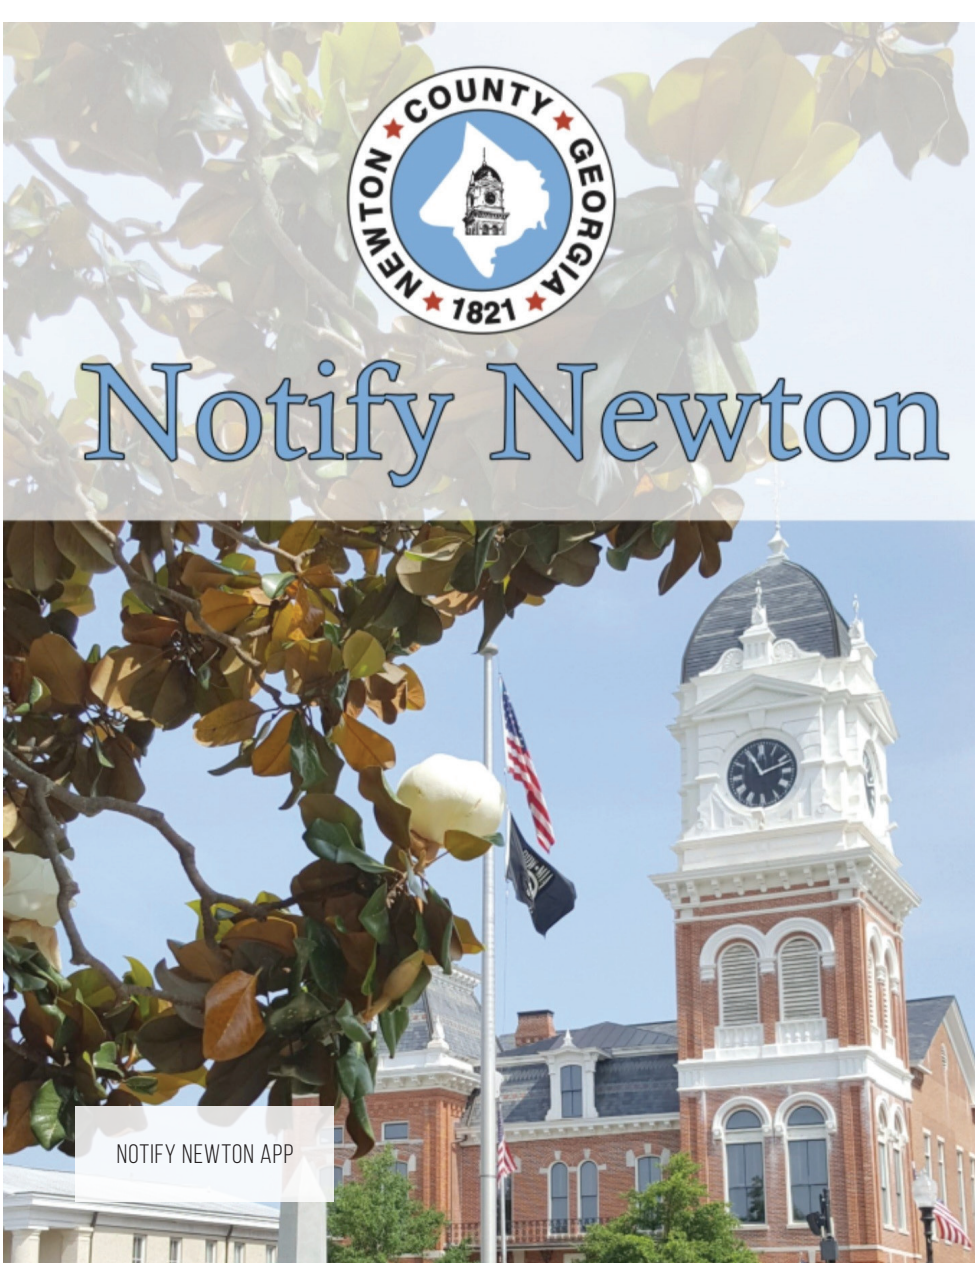

In addition to visiting The Garden of Gethsemane shelter, Johnson said his team has hosted six virtual events during his week of HOPE to inform citizens of available resources in their communities, from grant resources to veteran resources.

Johnson’s week of outreach stems from his efforts to inform his constituents of how they can utilize the federal government and his office in order to “make life better on the ground.”

During his discussion with district officials, Johnson listened to the concerns of Lett and others regarding the shelter’s funding and overpopulation.

“The government should be investing in people - America’s people. We must invest,” Johnson said. “We’ve all got to come together and start working to make our country a great place... and that’s just the bottom line.”

Georgia case against Trump just beginning

CAPITOL BEAT
News Service

ATLANTA – The indictment of former President Donald Trump in Fulton County Aug. 14 on charges of trying to overturn the 2020 presidential election in Georgia was the culmination of two and a half years of investigation.

But in another sense, the case is only beginning and is likely to drag out beyond a 2024 election that could pit Republican Trump in a rematch with Democratic incumbent Joe Biden.

That’s because Fulton District Attorney Fani Willis cast a wide net in putting together a racketeering case against not only Trump but 18 other defendants and 30 unindicted co-conspirators. Each one of the defendants is accused of violating Georgia’s Racketeer Influenced Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO), a charge that carries a minimum prison sentence of five years.

“RICO trials are legendarily long affairs,” said Christina Harvey, executive director of Stand Up America, a New York City-based progressive nonprofit founded during the 2016 presidential campaign.

In 41 counts, the 97-page indictment charges Trump and the other defendants with participating in a “criminal enterprise” that tried to convince high-ranking state and federal officials – including then-Vice President Mike Pence – to throw out the Electoral College results in favor of Biden in Georgia and a half dozen other swing states and declare Trump the winner of the electoral votes in those states.

Three of Trump’s co-defendants in the Georgia case are accused of participating as “fake” electors and casting their electoral votes for Trump even though Biden carried the Peach State. Another participant in that meeting, Lt. Gov. Burt Jones, could face separate charges because of a court ruling prohibiting Willis from investigating him due to a conflict of interest.

The scheme allegedly included filing false statements, lying to members of Georgia’s General Assembly, harassing and intimidating two rank-and-file Fulton County election workers, illegally accessing voting machines and data in Coffee County, and committing perjury to cover up the conspiracy.

The indictment alleges 161 criminal “acts” committed by the defendants, beginning with Trump’s nationally televised speech the night of the 2020 election claiming victory stretching to September of last year, when one of Trump’s lawyers was accused of lying to the special grand jury Willis formed to investigate the case.

Trump struck back against the indictment, labeling Willis on the former president’s social media site Truth Social as a “rabid partisan” out to sink his hopes of winning back the presidency.

“Willis has strategically stalled the investigation to try to ... interfere with the 2024 presidential race and damage the dominant Trump campaign,” Trump wrote. “These corrupt Democrat attempts will fail.”

Even Republicans who have accused Trump of promulgating lies in an effort to steal the election have accused Willis of overreaching.

Former New Jersey Gov. Chris Christie, a former Trump ally now seeking the Republican presidential nomination, said indicting Trump in Fulton County was unnecessary in that it duplicates many of the federal charges brought against the ex-president by Special Counsel Jack Smith.

“The conduct is very disturbing,” Christie said. “[But] Jack Smith charged the case weeks ago. ... The double charging of Donald Trump complicates things in a way that makes administration of justice much more difficult.”

Lawyers for Trump’s chief of staff and co-defendant Mark Meadows have filed a motion to move the state case into federal court. One advantage to the defendants of going to federal court would be to expand the jury pool from heavily Democratic Fulton County to other counties with more Republican voters.

But Willis argued during a news conference the night of Aug. 14 that state court is a proper venue.

“All elections in our nation are administered by the states, which are given the responsibility of ensuring a fair process and an accurate counting of the votes,” she said. “The states’ role in this process is essential to the functioning of our democracy.”

Meadows’ lawyers are expected to cite a federal law that allows defendants to be tried in federal court if the acts they are accused of committing took place as part of their official duties as federal officials. The same argument presumably would apply to Trump and former U.S. Attorney General Jeffrey Clark, another co-defendant.

But Norm Eisen, a senior fellow at the Brookings Institution, a Washington, D.C.-based think tank, is skeptical of that argument.

“You’re going to have to assert that an attempted coup is part of the official duties of a president or chief of staff,” he said. “No court would swallow that.”

Svante Myrick, president of the progressive advocacy group People for the American Way, said an advantage of a trial in state versus federal court is that it could be televised. Cameras are not allowed in federal court.

“People believe what they can see on their screen,” he said.

Another advantage to the prosecution of pursuing the case in state court is that neither Trump nor any other future Republican president could pardon anyone convicted of state crimes.

Lawyers for the defendants also are expected to argue statements their clients made that are being charged as crimes were asserting their First Amendment rights to free speech.

But former DeKalb County District Attorney Gwen Keyes Fleming said free speech has limits.

“Those rules stop at filing false and frivolous claims,” she said.

Fleming said the key to the prosecution will be proving the defendants knowingly lied in claiming the Georgia election was rigged despite numerous investigations that dismissed the allegations as false. While no one can get inside the defendants’ heads, she said there are plenty of texts and emails that go to intent.

“There were admissions folks did not believe this was true, but they were pursuing it anyway,” she said.

Finally, Trump’s critics pushed back on the argument that he is being pursued out of political motivations.

“This is not about getting Donald Trump,” said Joanna Lydgate, CEO of States United Democracy Center, a Boston-based group that advocates for safe and accurate elections. “It’s about taking every possible step to protect democracy and the rule of law.”

FINANCIAL FOCUS: Inflation can be ‘shocking’ in retirement

When you retire, you hope that you’ll be able to anticipate the events that could cause you financial challenges down the road. For one thing, most retirees are probably aware that, even if they remain healthy, their health care costs may rise, even if they’re covered by Medicare or Medicare Advantage. But there’s another potential risk that can sneak up on retirees: inflation.

However, once they reach retirement, retirees are all too aware of the effects of rising prices. In fact, 63 percent of retirees think the biggest financial shock in retirement is inflation and the rising cost of living, according to a recent survey by Age Wave and Edward Jones.

As you know, we have experienced mild inflation for some time, up until the past couple of years. But even when inflation subsides again, it can still be a threat to your retirement security. A 3 percent annual inflation rate can double your cost of living in about 25 years. What can you do to help alleviate the shock of inflation?

Actually, you can take considerable action to help meet this threat. Here are a few steps to consider:

- Try to cut down on expenses. Take a close look at all your discretionary expenses, such as travel, entertainment and so on. You might find areas in which you can cut back somewhat – and every little bit helps. Also, take advantage of all the senior discounts available to you. These days, many businesses and services offer these discounts, but you may have to ask about them. And if you want to look at an area that potentially offers even bigger savings, you might consider downsizing your living space, though this decision involves many factors, not all of them financial.
- Consider part-time work. If you wouldn’t mind doing some part-time work or consulting, you’ll find that the extra income could improve your cash flow and possibly make you somewhat less dependent on your investment portfolio for the financial resources you need to maintain your lifestyle. And the added income could eventually contribute to increased Social Security benefits. (However, if you earn over a certain amount and have already started collecting Social Security but haven’t reached your full retirement age – between 66 and 67 – your benefits may be temporarily reduced.)

- Review your investments for growth and income opportunities. Understandably, many investors shift their investment portfolios toward a more conservative approach when they retire – after all, they simply have fewer years to recover from the inevitable short-term market declines. Yet, to help stay ahead of inflation, even retired investors need some growth potential in their portfolios, such as stocks and other growth investments. At the same time, it may be a good idea to consider whether you’re getting what you need from your income-producing securities, such as certificates of deposit (CDs), bonds and other fixed-income investments. A financial professional can help review your portfolio to determine if the mix of growth and income is aligned with your particular needs given your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon.

The past few years have been a wakeup call for many people, especially retirees, on the threat that inflation poses to their financial security. But being proactive can help prevent inflation from deflating your retirement hopes and dreams.

DICK YARBROUGH COLUMNIST

From dog bites to pig iron, danger is all around us

Do you know what the most dangerous job is in these, the United States? No, it is not writing columns, although when you have been referred to as a “racist redneck” and an “Obama-bedwetting liberal” in the same week, not to mention a “spiritual moron” by a God-fearing, love-thy-neighbor Baptist, this is not exactly a job for the faint of heart. The humor-impaired can be a formidable bunch and they seem to be growing in numbers. But I bravely carry on. (Pause for applause.)

According to research at JohnFitch.com, a personal injury law firm in Columbus, Ohio, the most dangerous job around is Veterinary Services. Unlike the humor-impaired, animals can be very unpredictable. They say veterinary jobs receive the most injuries in a 40-hour week with 13.8 injuries for every 100,000 workers. Dogs can bite you. Cats can claw you and birds can peck on you, not to mention someone who brings a cranky boa constrictor in for its annual checkup.

The second most dangerous job? Here is a factoid that will wow the crowd at your next cocktail party or church picnic. The researchers at John Fitch say it is Bottled Water Manufacturing. Do what? You manufacture water? I thought water – like air – came with the territory. Upon closer inspection, they are talking about getting the stuff into bottles, which involves machinery and packaging and stacking. They cite incidents where pallets of water, some weighing up to 4,000 pounds, have fallen and severely injured or killed workers. I feel terrible that

DICK YARBROUGH

I might be somewhat responsible for having bought bottled water in the past not knowing the risks I was putting on these people. From now on, I plan to get my water from the garden hose like I did as a kid.

The Fitch folks say the third most dangerous job is Ambulance Services. I’m going to take their word for it. I have never seen the manufacturing of bottled water, but I have seen first responders at work – sometimes, up close and personal – and I can’t imagine a more dangerous job. I’m thinking that when 4,000 pounds of bottled water falls on somebody or a vet technician is bitten by a pet possum, the EMTs are going to be the first call. And they have the third most dangerous job?

Skiing is said to be the fourth most dangerous job. I wouldn’t know. I have never had on a pair of skis in my life. Given my agility impairment, I would probably look like the ski jumper on the old Wide World of Sports show that never made it down the chute. Besides, I don’t like cold weather.

Some of the rest of the John Fitch.com rankings are obvious. Nursing and Residential Care Facilities rated fifth most dangerous. The report notes: “With the amount of equipment required in patient care and oftentimes long hours with little rest, there is potential for risk and injury due to the nature of this incredibly difficult industry to work in.”

Not so obvious, the study says that the Inland Water Passenger Transportation is more dangerous than working in Correctional Facilities.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I know I’m a broken record on this issue, but it is very important to me. The issue being, illegal property taxation in this country and especially in our county. This month, hundreds of first time ever supposedly delinquent property tax pink slips with illegally gained writs of Fi. Fa., printed on the letters were sent out in mass solely by our Tax Collector. This conspiracy to illegally steal our homes from under us is being presented right in front of our faces. With the School Board Council whining about how they didn’t get their huge share of property taxes for the years of 2019 - 2022, where in two good masked years, nobody was even in their buildings getting proper education, at their own ignorant, (isn’t education & ignorant an oxymoron?), doing and they think they should be paid for nothing as well as contributing to making our lives a living-you-know-what. Doesn’t the actions show they have a vendetta against us and our legacies owning property? This is a long time feudal trend, but has been put in hyper drive because people are seeing the light. You can get started by looking up detailed proof of what “The Hidden Agenda Behind the Planned Destruction of America”, is by researching Rosa Koire. If we don’t do something, apparently this man and his business associates will try and steal our homes right out from under us. You might be free of debt by your own hard work, you can own your Title and think you own your house and have a legacy to pass to your future generations or do with as you will, but they don’t want you to have this. Dear Editor:

We have received information from the Georgia Funeral Directors Association that a scam has been reported around Georgia. We are not aware of any families in or around Covington that have been a victim of this scam but do want to pass this information on to our community.

The scam reportedly involves a caller who poses as an employee of a funeral home to do a survey about a recent funeral. The person is awarded a gift card for participating in the survey. The caller then needs a credit card in order to give them a credit.

This is a scam. Please do not become a victim. If someone does contact you posing as a representative of a funeral home it is our recommendation that you hang up and call the funeral home that you or your family has been using and verify the call before continuing the conversation.

Turner named principal of South Salem Elementary School

news@covnews.com

NEWTON COUNTY- The Newton County Board of Education recently announced the approval of Dr. Vanshelle Turner’s promotion as the new principal of South Salem Elementary School. Dr. Turner’s appointment comes as a result of her dedication, leadership and contributions to the South Salem Elementary School community.

Turner, who has been a member of the South Salem Elementary School family for the past few years, will take over the role of principal following the departure of Dr. Lenise Bostic, who has left to explore new opportunities. With her experience and her connection to the school, Turner is poised to lead South Salem Elementary School to new heights.

“Dr. Turner has a proven track record in turnaround school administration, performance management, and elementary education. As such, I am very confident that Dr. Turner will experience a smooth transition to the principalship at South Salem Elementary and will continue the culture of high expectations at the school,” interim superintendent Benjamin Roundtree said. “I am sure her knowledge, care, and commitment will lead to continued student and staff success.”

Dr. Turner is a dedicated and accomplished educator, possessing an impressive academic background. She earned her bachelor’s of science in Early Childhood Education from Georgia State University and her Master of Arts in Educational Leadership from Argosy University. She furthered her education with an Educational Specialist degree in Innovations in Early Childhood from Brenau University and attained her Doctor of Education degree in Early Childhood Education, also from Brenau.

Reflecting on her new role, Turner expressed her enthusiasm and determination.

“Being named the principal of South Salem Elementary School is a significant responsibility,” Dr. Turner said. “I will approach the role with dedication, focusing on providing students and staff with a supportive and inclusive educational environment. I am so incredibly blessed and thrilled to have this opportunity.”

Upon assuming her new position, Turner has outlined her initial priorities.

“My first steps will be getting acquainted with the school’s existing policies, curriculum, and overall educational environment,” Dr. Turner said. “I prioritize building relationships with teachers, students, and parents to understand their needs and aspirations. I would also assess areas that need strengthening, such as curriculum enhancements, teacher development, and communication strategies, to foster a positive and productive learning community.”

“I am confident that Dr. Vanshelle Turner’s leadership will propel South Salem Elementary School to even greater achievements, ensuring the continued success of its students and the school community as a whole,” Roundtree said. “Her dedication, expertise, and passion for education make her an outstanding candidate to lead South Salem Elementary School into the next chapter of academic excellence.”

ties. That raises an eyebrow. I know storms can come up on lakes and rivers on occasion, but is it really more dangerous than guarding prisoners, many of whom would gladly inflict bodily harm on an officer if given half a chance?

The Fitch list of the ten most dangerous jobs in the U.S. rounds out with Iron Foundries (#8) where molten pig iron or iron alloys is poured into molds to manufacture castings, followed by Couriers and Express Delivery Services (#9) because of the potential in that business for road accidents, bad weather and having to deal with cuckoo customers.

Last on the list is Mobile Home Manufacturing, which involves “heavy machinery, tools and materials that could potentially cause harm. There is a multitude of hazards that make these manufacturing jobs dangerous to work in.” Not to mention that mobile homes seem to be the first to go in a storm, which has got to be frustrating.

If you work in any of the above industries, I would urge you to be real careful. I don’t want a parakeet to claw you or a palette of water to fall on you or for you to go and break a bone skiing or get hot pig iron poured on you or any of the other above-mentioned hazards. I need you, dear reader. I mean, why else would I risk doing such a dangerous job?

it theirs, even though by law, they can’t sell a Title holders Deed without that person’s permission. The Property Tax Collector wants to put you back in debt or deeper. It’s all against the Constitution too and against the law, even though they pretend it isn’t. They do this with fear, fear that we will finally stand up for ourselves and say, “NO”.

Please say “NO”, if we all make a stand against these do nothing, Anarchists of the world, who make their living off Vulturing, then they will have to get a real job just like the rest of us do. I got punished this month when I finally broke down and went against my values and made an extortion payment to Marcus Jordan because of getting one of his pink letters. You know what happened? My water heater immediately went out and dropped water all over my floors. A message to me that I was bowing to something else rather than My God.

catch on the goal line to have it called back on a penalty as well. On the final drive before half-time, Calwise came through. With 40 seconds left on the clock, Benson connected with Calwise over the top for a 45-yard score.

Following a botched punt on Hapeville Charter's first drive of the second half, Calwise got his second touchdown of the season. He took the direct snap and sped into the end zone for a rushing touchdown to put the Rams ahead 28-0.

Maurice Harrell provided the Rams defense with their first turnover of the year by jumping the route for the interception.

Early in the fourth quarter, the Rams defense decided that they wanted more. Zachry Harden Jr. jumped the route and took the interception all the way down the sideline for a 69-yard pick-6

Before the Rams offense could see the field again, things continued to worsen for the Hornets. A second botched punt resulted in a safety and a 37-0 lead for the Rams.

After a cold stretch offensively for Newton, Johnson and sophomore Kaden Hambricht scored a rushing touchdown each to put the final touches on a 50-0 win for the Rams.

The Rams will begin their quest for another Newton Cup in week two. They will be at Sharp Stadium in a battle with the Alcovy Tigers on Friday, Aug. 25.

Morgan County. She drilled a two-run dinger against the Lady Bulldogs in the top of the second inning. Four days later, Turner hit another two-run home run in the bottom of the first versus Alcovy.

However, the latest homer when going up against Monroe Area on Aug. 16 meant a little bit more.

"My favorite home run from this year was against Monroe for sure," Turner said. "We just lost to them last week and for me to get a home run against them was definitely a great feeling to get it back."

Turner has played softball since she was 7 years old. In that time, she has played in the recreation league, for Whitewater Middle School and "top level travel ball."

Two things have always remained consistent: her strong bat and passion for playing the game.

"I realized I had a powerful hitting ability when I first picked up a bat in my first rec ball game," Turner said. "I started playing softball at the age of 7 and I knew right away it was something that I loved."

Turner has a .300 batting average along with five RBIs so far this season. Additionally, she's provided help in the pitcher's circle registering 9.1 innings pitched with seven strikeouts.

When asked, Turner mentioned that her personal goals for 2023 are to pitch a perfect game and help her team make it to and win state.

The Lady Redskins have won their last two games and stand at 4-2 overall. They won't enter Region 5A-Division I play until Sept. 7 when Social Circle welcomes Jasper County.

Between now and then, Social Circle will play seven non-region contests, too.

Despite what this season holds individually and as an entire squad, Turner has great anticipation for continuing to play with the Lady Redskins.

"The best part about playing for the Social Circle Lady 'Skins is knowing that I play for a team that always has my back no matter if I'm pitching, hitting home runs or striking out," Turner said. "They will always be there cheering me on."

Rams overwhelm Hornets 50-0

By GARRETT PITTS
 Correspondent

ATLANTA — Newton's playmakers started their seasons on high notes. Their individual performances allowed the Rams to take down Hapeville Charter 50-0 Saturday night.

The win was the first for first-year head coach Josh Skelton, who took over in the off-season.

The contest was played on a neutral site field at Banneker High School. Early on, the Rams leaned on their wide variety of skill players.

On the third play from scrimmage, running back Zion Johnson picked up right where he left off last year as the junior broke outside for a 56-yard touchdown run.

On the next offensive drive for the Rams, the first pass from sophomore quarterback Deron Benson dropped in the hands of senior Keon Davis down the field for a 51-yard touchdown pass.

As the offense hit their stride early, the defense was putting on a show of their own. The Rams' pressure schemes and speed to the ball seem to overwhelm the Hornet's offense.

Ryshawn Perry was another Newton player to start his season off strong. Perry finished the game with one sack and three tackles for loss.

Before he could get his first touchdown of the season, senior wideout Marcus Calwise had a touchdown called back on a penalty. On the next play, Calwise made a contested SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga. — Six games into 2023, the Social Circle Lady Redskins have received a spark through Emily Turner's bat.

As the No. 4 hitter in the lineup, Turner has connected on three home runs in each of the last three matchups.

The sophomore highlighted the significance each home run carries with it outside of the park.

"Hitting a home run is a great feeling," Turner said. "Knowing I can help my teammates with getting some runs on the board is something I am proud of."

Skelton earns first career win as Rams head coach

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

COVINGTON, Ga. — Just 204 days removed from his promotion to Newton's head football coach, Josh Skelton got the inaugural win of his career.

The Rams went on the road to face the Hapeville Charter Hornets on Aug. 19 at Banneker High School. Newton left Atlanta with a resounding, 50-0 win.

Therefore, the Rams and Skelton begin 1-0. But, for Skelton, it was more about the coaching staff around him.

"It feels good [to get that first win]," Skelton said. "We have an unbelievable staff first and foremost. It is little about me. Our staff puts in so much work seven days a week."

Skelton previously served in multiple capacities since joining Newton's football coaching staff in 2012. He was recruiting coordinator, defensive backs coach and, just last season, was the Rams' defensive coordinator.

Multiple players had a hand in the outcome as well.

Junior running back Zion Johnson scored twice along with Kaden Hambright's fourth quarter touchdown. Sophomore gunslinger Deron Benson tossed three touchdowns — one to Keon Davis and two to Marcus Calwise.

Calwise added a rushing score to his tally, too.

Defensively, Ryshawn Perry had a sack along with three tackles for loss. Newton's defense also provided points off a 69-yard pick-6 from Zachry Harden.

The Rams forced a safety in the fourth quarter and maintained their shutout.

For Skelton, keeping the opposing team off the scoreboard is just as important as the 50 points scored.

"[Not allowing a point] does a lot for us knowing what we can do if we stay locked in," Skelton said. "We had a few mistakes and things we needed to clean up but our boys pushed through it and we finished strong."

The Rams are back in action this Friday night, Aug. 25 at Sharp Stadium. They will face in-county foe the Alcovy Tigers at 7:30 p.m. Newton will be the road team for this year's matchup.

Cheesy, oven-baked potato tacos evoke Los Angeles' innovative tortilla scene

CHRISTOPHER KIMBALL

While exploring the taco scene in Los Angeles, we learned just how wide of a world filled tortillas could be. Corn tortillas filled with stingray. Hard-shell tacos shaped like baskets. Middle Eastern-influenced tacos Árabes with meat cooked on a spit with onion, Oaxacan cheese, avocado and chili salsa. Particularly memorable were the flautas, deep-fried flute-shaped tacos with lamb, chicken, chorizo or potato that are also called tacos dorados (which means golden). Crunchy and satisfying, the flautas came topped with salsa roja, guacamole and cotija cheese. For weeknights, however, we typically avoid the mess of deep-frying. So for this recipe from our book “Cook What You Have,” which draws on pantry staples to assemble easy, weeknight meals, we experimented with swapping deep-frying for the oven. And we were delighted with the crispy results. We keep the filling simple, with roughly mashed potatoes and shredded cheese, but we amp it with two flavor-packed pantry ingredients — canned chipotle chilies and the smoky sauce they are packed in. It’s like two ingredients in one. Pickled jalapeños offer yet another layer of tangy heat. Since we don’t deep-fry them, there’s no need to roll the filled tortillas into tubes; spooning the filling over one half of a flour tortilla and folding it over will do. Cooked on a greased baking sheet in a 475°F oven, our tacos bake up golden and crispy — with all the flavor of L.A., but none of the hassle of deep-frying.

Oven-Fried Potato and Cheese Tacos Dorados

Start to finish: 55 minutes (40 minutes active)

Servings: 4

5 tablespoons grapeseed or other neutral oil, divided

1½ pounds Yukon Gold potatoes, peeled and cut into ¾-inch cubes

½ cup lightly packed fresh cilantro, chopped, plus cilantro leaves to serve

4 scallions, thinly sliced

1 to 2 tablespoons pickled jalapeños, chopped, plus 1 tablespoon brine

1 chipotle chili in adobo, minced, plus 1 tablespoon adobo sauce

Kosher salt and ground black pepper

Eight 6-inch flour tortillas

8 ounces cheddar OR Monterey jack cheese, shredded (2 cups)

Shredded iceberg lettuce, to serve

Heat the oven to 475°F with a rack in the middle position. Grease a rimmed baking sheet with 3 tablespoons oil. In a 12-inch nonstick skillet over medium-high, heat the remaining 2 tablespoons oil until shimmering. Add the potatoes, cover and cook, stirring occasionally, until well browned and fully tender, about 12 minutes. Remove the pan from the heat and lightly mash the potatoes. Stir in the cilantro, scallions, pickled jalapeños and their brine, chipotle and adobo sauce, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Divide the potato filling evenly among the tortillas (about a scant ¼ cup each) and spread it to cover half of each tortilla, then sprinkle with the cheese, dividing it evenly. Fold the unfilled sides over. Arrange the filled tortillas on the prepared baking sheet, then flip each one so both sides are coated with oil. Bake until the tacos begin to brown and crisp on the bottoms, about 9 minutes. Using a wide metal spatula, flip each taco. Continue to bake until browned on the second sides, about another 3 minutes. Transfer the tacos directly to a wire rack and cool for about 5 minutes. Serve topped with the lettuce and cilantro leaves. Optional garnish: Diced avocado (or guacamole) OR sour cream OR salsa OR hot sauce OR a combination

BY SARAH PASSINGHAM

Mary Elizabeth Winstead in "Star Wars: Ahsoka"

Powerful forces: 'Ahsoka' must save the universe in new Star Wars spinoff series

A fan-favorite former Jedi Knight finally gets her live-action, starring moment in the new Disney+ limited series, "Star Wars: Ahsoka," debuting Wednesday, Aug. 23, on the streamer. Starring Rosario Dawson ("Dopesick") in the title role, the eight-episode series follows Ahsoka Tano as she takes on the not-so-small task of protecting the galaxy from imminent threats.

Former Jedi Padawan-turned-Rebel Alliance member Ahsoka is one of the most beloved characters in the Star Wars universe among fans of the franchise's animated films and TV series. Before Dawson's live-action portrayal of Ahsoka in the Disney+ series "The Mandalorian" and "The Book of Boba Fett," the character first appeared in the 2008 animated feature and subsequent TV series "Star Wars: The Clone Wars" as a teenage apprentice of Anakin Skywalker.

The new series is set just after the events of the animated series "Rebels" and in the same timeline as "The Mandalorian." Hayden Christensen ("Star Wars: Episode II - Attack of the Clones," 2002) reprises his role as Anakin yet again in "Ahsoka," after appearing in 2019's "Star Wars: Episode IX - The Rise of Skywalker," and bringing the character back to life in the spinoff series "Obi-Wan Kenobi" — presumably as a Force ghost, as he is long dead in this timeline.

So, who will the baddies in "Ahsoka" be without Darth Vader to represent the dark side? Returning to portray Grand Admiral Thrawn is "The Witcher" star Lars Mikkelsen, who lent his voice to the chilling Imperial officer in "Rebels."

Icy in demeanor and appearance — Thrawn is Chiss and his skin glows blue — he is only the tip of the villain iceberg in "Ahsoka." Portraying even more adversaries challenging the Jedi and the universe at large are Ivanna Sakhno ("High Fidelity") as Shin Hati, Diana Lee Inosanto ("The Last Tour," 2016) as Magistrate Morgan Elsbeth and the late Ray Stevenson ("Das Boot") as Baylan Skoll.

"Ahsoka" also stars Natasha Liu Bordizzo ("Day Shift," 2022) as Sabine Wren, Mary Elizabeth Winstead ("Kate," 2021) as Hera Syndulla, Eman Esfandi ("The Inspection," 2022) as Ezra Bridger and David Tennant ("Doctor Who") as the voice of droid Huyang, reprising his role from the Clone Wars series.

Portraying a character that is as cherished as Ahsoka, and held in such high regard by one of film and TV's most active and vocal fan bases, is a daunting task. Dawson was up for the challenge, however, crediting stunt co-ordinator Ming Qiu ("Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D.") with getting her into shape when it came to wielding a lightsaber like a Jedi, as she shared on the Dagobah Dispatch podcast in May: "When [Qiu] said, 'This one did not make my eyes hurt,' that was the first compliment that I got, and I think I cried."

Stunts are one thing, but harnessing the Force is another. Luckily for Dawson, that became second nature. "I feel like I have it more than someone who just wants to move an object," explained Dawson. "I feel that there is an energy that we have, and a power that we have, that if we do concentrate it and focus it in the right ways, we can move mountains."

Whether you're a Rebel or a member of the dark side of the Force, buckle in and get ready for an adventure across the universe when "Ahsoka" premieres on Disney+. Catch the first two episodes of the eight-episode series when they drop Wednesday, Aug. 23, on the streamer, with new episodes added weekly.

"The Great Seduction" (Aug. 30, Movie Premiere)

Based on the Canadian film "La Grande Séduction," this new Spanish take follows the inhabitants of the small fishing island of Santa María del Mar, whose livelihoods took a hit during industrialization. With a new chance at prosperity within reach, things look like they are about to take a turn for the better, and all they have left to do is find a doctor to move there. Hoping to "seduce" big city doctor Mateo (Pierre Louis) to move his practice to the island, the townspeople, led by their leader, Germán (Guillermo Villegas), put together an elaborate scheme to convince the doctor to stay.

"Choose Love" (Aug. 31, Interactive Movie Premiere)

Cami Conway (Laura Marano) has it all until she comes face to face with a kaleidoscope of tempting but tough choices. What she chooses depends wholly on you, the viewer in this new interactive rom-com. But be careful! Things don't always play out like you think!

"One Piece" - Season 1 (Aug. 31, Series Premiere)

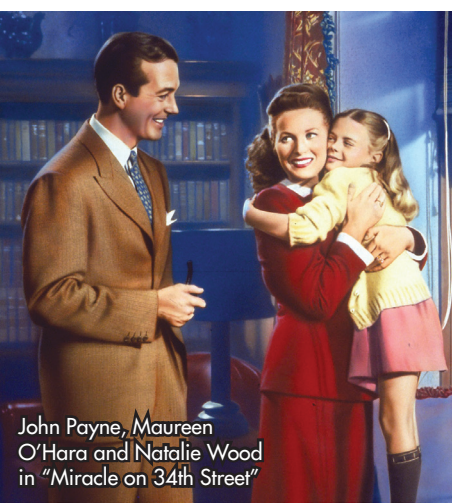

Eiichiro Oda's "One Piece," Japan's highest-selling manga series in history, takes on a new seafaring adventure. The series stars Iñaki Godoy ("Who Killed Sara?") as Monkey D. Luffy, a young adventurer who has longed for a life of freedom for as long as he can remember. Setting sail from his small village, Luffy embarks on a perilous journey to find One Piece, a legendary, fabled treasure that will help him to become the king of pirates, with the help of his intrepid crew — Roronoa Zoro (Mackenyu), Nami (Emily Rudd), Usopp (Jacob Romero), and Sanji (Taz Skylar).

"Disenchantment" - Season 5 (Sept. 1, Season Premiere)

Hear ye, hear ye! The end is near for "Disenchantment," as this hit animated series premieres its fifth and final season. Back for one last grand misadventure, heavy-drinking Queen Bean (Abbi Jacobson), her feisty elf companion, Elfo (Nat Faxon), and her personal demon, Luci (Eric André), are out to save Dreamland from Queen Dagmar's (Sharon Horgan) wicked rule. The stakes are higher for the trio (and the kingdom) as Bean, outrunning a prophecy that foretells she will kill someone she loves, must vanquish her mother, while facing down foes and her own destiny with Elfo and Luci.

BEST NATALIE WOOD MOVIES

"Miracle on 34th Street" (1947): A very young Wood is part of this holiday staple as a Macy's executive's (Maureen O'Hara) skeptical daughter, who doesn't believe in Santa Claus ... until she meets the real deal (played by Oscar winner Edmund Gwenn).

"Rebel Without a Cause" (1955): Wood started to come of age as a friend of a deeply troubled town newcomer (James Dean) in this Nicholas Ray-directed drama classic.

"The Searchers" (1956): Regarded by many as the greatest Western ever made, John Ford's saga features Wood as the Comanche-abducted niece of a Civil War veteran (John Wayne).

"Marjorie Morningstar" (1958): One of Wood's more underrated movies foreshadowed the premises of some of her later ones, adapting Herman Wouk's novel about a would-be actress whose love for an aspiring writer (Gene Kelly) is opposed by her parents.

"Splendor in the Grass" (1961): Speaking to a generation, which it still does today, Wood's performance for director Elia Kazan as a 1920s Kansas teen facing social pressures — and not doing particularly well in handling that — remains a major entry on the resumes of both Wood and her leading man, Warren Beatty. Turner Classic Movies presents the film as part of a night of movies about young people that extends from Friday, Sept. 1, into early the morning of Saturday, Sept. 2.

"West Side Story" (1961): Director Robert Wise's original, Oscar-winning screen version of the musical is destined to remain forever beloved for elements including Wood's portrayal of lovestruck heroine Maria.

"Gypsy" (1962): Wood does dynamic work as a burlesque performer striving to live out the dreams of her pushy mom (Rosalind Russell), the ultimate "stage mother."

"Love With the Proper Stranger" (1963): Forming a dynamic duo with Steve McQueen, Wood is affecting as a saleswoman dealing with an expected pregnancy and the musician who's the father.

"Inside Daisy Clover" (1965): In her first teaming with Robert Redford — who credits her with having been a major proponent of his screen career — Wood plays an unlikely movie star who has a hard time dealing with the trappings of the Hollywood of the 1930s.

"Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" (1969): Nodding to social developments of the time, Wood rolled the dice with her image by playing part of a two-couple foursome experimenting with freedom in commitment and sexuality.

"Brainstorm" (1983): Completed after her death, Wood's final film is an intriguing science-fiction tale casting her as one of several researchers involved in developing a device that can read people's minds.

tonight's PICKS

Michael Strahan from “The $100,000 Pyramid”
Naked and Afraid: Castaways DSC 8 p.m.

During this episode: Medics intervene when Justin tries fruit known as the Little Apple of Death; a clash about fire sparks into a raging fight between Ker-ra, Na'im and Bulent; Andrew and Heather question Patrick's hunt for a saltwater croc.

Billions SHOW 8 p.m.

Sometimes you have to take advantage of people to get ahead. Mike Prince (Corey Still) looks to leverage an old employee's work to help himself. Meanwhile, Chuck (Paul Giamatti) inspires the old team. And Wendy (Maggie Siff) is shaken by a betrayal.

The $100,000 Pyramid WSBDT 9 p.m.

A new episode of this game show airs, following as celebrities—paired with everyday contestants—compete in a word-association game that could lead to big bucks in the winner's circle. This week, Wendi McLendon-Covey dukes it out against Matt Walsh.

Telemarketers HBO 10 p.m.

Don't answer that call. It seems like telemarketing schemes are now even more opportunistic and sketchy with the implementation of robocalling, PACs and AI. Former telemarketers Sam and Pat continue their investigation, hoping to force changes.

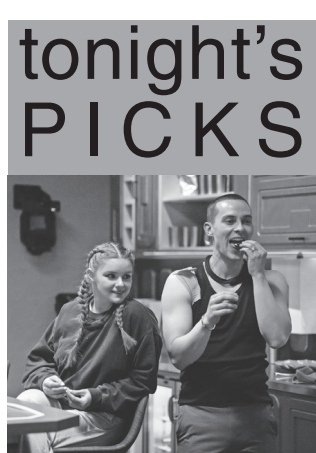

Sister Wives TLC 10 p.m.

Kody and his wives (past and present)—Meri, Janelle, Christine and Robyn—return for a new episode from Season 18. Now that Christine has moved out and Kody is facing further difficulties with Janelle and Meri, things are changing for the Browns.

Tony Bennett had a long relationship with TV

Q: I was so sorry to learn of the death of Tony Bennett. Did he ever do a TV series? – Jane Baldwin, via e-mail

A: While he didn't star in a weekly show himself, he did pop up occasionally on other people's series, often playing himself if not an extremely close variation of him. Among those were "77 Sunset Strip," "The Doris Day Show," "Cybill," "Entourage," "Blue Bloods," "Evening Shade," "Suddenly Susan," "30 Rock," "The Simpsons" (in voice only, of course) and "Saturday Night Live." When Bennett appeared on television, it often was in a musical context, expectedly. His specials with Lady Gaga earned huge praise in the later years of his career, and besides being a frequent talk-show guest, he teamed up with the likes of Frank Sinatra, Carol Burnett and Lena Horne, Dean Martin, Tom Jones, Glen Campbell and Jackie Gleason on programs over the years.

Q: With "Billions" now back on the air, how long will it be until the planned spinoff shows begin? – Jeremy Pine, via e-mail

A: That's a great question, with a good chunk of the answer dependent on when writers and actors get back to work. If anything, "Billions" is a series that demands intricate writing, and that's sure to be a prominent trait of consequent shows in the Showtime franchise. "Millions," "Trillions" and "Billions: Miami" may have new characters, but the original premise still is bound to be baked in ... and that will take some time, and even more time given the status of the entertainment industry in recent weeks and months.

Q: Looking through Naomi Watts's credits, I saw her listed as having starred in a TV series called "Sleepwalkers." What was that? – Ken Donnelly, Grand Junction, Colo.

A: It was a 1997-98 NBC show that preceded most of Watts's notable movie work. She played one of several psychiatric researchers who used the latest technology to literally enter the dreams of patients. Bruce Greenwood ("The Resident") and Abraham Benrubi ("ER") also were cast regulars. "Sleepwalkers" had a brief but convoluted history, with only two of the nine produced episodes aired nationally. Four more episodes were shown only on the West Coast, and the last two stories were shown outside the United States. The show has had video releases in such locations as Japan, Germany and Australia, but it's not known to have been released that way in America.
