STAFF REPORT

news@covnews.com

The Newton County School System (NCSS) Public Relations Department recently earned multiple awards of excellence for publications and videos produced during the 2022-2023 school year from the Georgia School Public Relations Association (GSPRA). The awards included three gold awards for the district website, annual report, and a video highlighting the new Eastside High School. Newton County School System's annual report also won "Best in Category" for the state competition. In addition to the gold awards, the public relations department earned six silver awards and three bronze awards for videos. The NCSS PR team joined forces with the NCSS Human Resources team to earn a bronze award for the district's "Staff Speaks" recruiting video campaign.

School public relations departments throughout the state were eligible to participate in the Georgia School Public Relations Association's annual recognition program.

"The goal of the NCSS Public Relations Department is to keep our stakeholders continually informed of important information regarding our school district," said Sherri Partee, Director of Public Relations for Newton County Schools. "It's truly an honor to have our videos and publications receive statewide recognition."

"Our goal is to tell the story of our school system," added Derrick Barnes, NCSS Public Relations and Visual Media Coordinator. "While the awards are very special, most important is the fact that we were able to provide our stakeholders with important information regarding our school system, students, and staff."

COUNTY MEETINGS

BOC denies land rezonings, recognizes 4-H at latest meeting

By EMILY ROSE HAMBY

Staff Writer

NEWTON COUNTY - Land rezonings and 4-H acknowledgement were among the topics of discussion at the first regular Newton County Board of Commissioners meeting of the month on Oct. 3.

During the chairman's report, Marcello Banes called for the reading of a National 4-H Week proclamation, where he declared the week of Oct. 1 through Oct. 7 to be Newton County 4-H Week. The proclamation acknowledged the growth and development seen throughout the state and county as a result of 4-H initiatives.

Several agents, volunteers and children involved with the county's 4-H program through the University of Georgia's Cooperative Extension were present at the meeting. Agent Charlene Scott shared achievements and updates on the county's program followed by Banes presenting the group with the proclamation displayed on a plaque.

County manager Harold Cooper was absent from last Tuesday's meeting, however, Jason Johnson presented the county manager report. Johnson highlighted each entity that comprises the government relations workforce team and explained that the goal is to improve communication with the outlying offices and agencies to "ensure collaboration and continu[e] to meet the needs of [our] citizens."

The meeting's consent agenda was passed unanimously, which approved the Newton County Sheriff's Office's (NCSO) request to accept the fiscal year 2023 Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant. Additionally, the board voted unanimously to cancel their second meeting in November (Nov. 21) and their second meeting in December (Dec. 19).

Sheriff Ezell Brown presented NCSO's request for a budget amendment to use remaining funds from fiscal year 2023's student resource officer (SRO) budget to support various needs of the Sheriff's Office, which was the first topic of the items for consideration and discussion portion of the meeting. The board approved the request in a 3-1 vote, with commissioner Ronnie Cowan absent.

At 7:30 p.m., the board transitioned into the meeting's zoning/public hearing. The applicant for the first item, which was unanimously recommended for denial by the Planning Commission, requested that the petition be tabled for 60 days, which was granted with a 4-0 vote by the board.

Greg Osbourne of Longleaf Commercial, LLC, was present at the meeting as an applicant for two, companion case applications requesting parcel rezonings for a warehouse. Both applications were unanimously recommended for denial by the Planning Commission on Sept 26.

Osbourne requested that the first petition be tabled for 60 days. The board denied the tabling of the petition in a 3-2 vote with Chairman Banes breaking the tie.

The first petition requested the rezoning of the parcel, located at the corner of Hwy 278 and Social Circle Road, from agricultural to light industrial to locate the Newton County Logistics Center, an industrial

As a result, the school's composite score also saw gains in 2023. In addition, with their results, Eastside High School students bested the nation's public school system students in both Evidenced-Based Reading and Writing and the composite score and matched the national score for Math.

The SAT is a national college entrance exam some colleges and universities utilize to measure critical thinking skills students need for academic success in college. The SAT assesses how well students analyze and solve problems. It is typically taken by high school juniors and seniors.

Findings in development services planner Shena Applewhaite's report presented include the applicant stating the project would likely affect water supply watersheds, with its proposed watershed being the Little River Watershed. The transportation director indicated that “the proposed warehouse will be required to limit all access points to SR 12 or upgrade Social Circle Road and the Social Circle Road intersection with SR 12.” The traffic study, conducted by A&R Engineering Inc., projected 1,411 new daily trips with 128 A.M. peak hour trips and 131 P.M. peak hour trips from the proposed development.

During the public hearing, seven citizens expressed their opposition to the application, with concerns including congestive traffic in the area, pollution, a potential increase in taxes and safety for children who play in the area.

Osbourne refuted citizen concerns by explaining that the proposed “class A logistics distribution facility is not a warehouse,” adding that “your Amazon package shows up on your front porch – it stayed in that building at least one night.” He cleared up claims of high volume traffic, saying only nine trucks in the A.M. and 14 trucks in the P.M. and night would be added to the traffic count, according to professional consultants on the matter.

The application failed following a 3-1 vote by the board.

Osbourne's second companion case application requested the rezoning of the parcel located on Social Circle Road from single-family residential to light industrial for the warehouse.

Osbourne and one citizen spoke in favor during the public hearing.

“I did request a 60-day deferral for this hearing, so that I would have time to have town hall meetings with the public and try to come to some common ground,” Osbourne said. “I am totally in favor of compromise, we think we've done the best we could to protect the community from this development – light pollution, noise pollution... I just wanted to point that out. I don't know if that was proposed earlier in the night. If it was, that's extremely disappointing.”

Eight citizens voiced their opposition to the project with similar concerns to the application's companion case.

The board unanimously denied the application.

The board passed two more rezonings unanimously without opposition being presented during the public hearings before reaching their final item in the meeting's zoning section.

The final zoning application requested expanding the use to add truck parking and an auto body shop on Hwy 11. The Planning Commission recommended denial of this petition on Sept. 26. The applicant was not present at the meeting.

There were no speakers in favor of the application. Two citizens spoke in opposition, with one saying that she “found it hard to offer anyone an approval when they don't currently have a business license and have been operating without a business license.” According to commissioner Alana Sanders, businesses in Georgia do not have to have a license, however, Newton County has an ordinance requiring businesses to have a license.

The board voted 3-2 to deny the application, with chairman Baner breaking the tie in support of the Planning Commission.

Moving back into the items for discussion and consideration, the board unanimously passed the remaining four items, which included:

Human Resources' request of approval of the Defined Benefits Plan. Contact between Newton County and the Association of County Commissioners of Georgia

Public Works' request of approval for the chairman to execute a contract with Newton Trails for the restoration of the Cricket Frog Trestle over the Alcovy River Project

BOC/purchasing request of approval of contract – Sunbelt Builders for design of administrative building renovations and centralized storage facility

BOC/purchasing request of approval of contract – Sunbelt Builders for design of RL Cousins Center renovations

The next regular board of commissioners meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 17 at 7 p.m. at the Historic Courthouse in Covington.

ANN COULTER COLUMNIST

NIKKI HALEY: THROW OUT THE BABY – KEEP THE BATHWATER!

You’d think the one thing Republicans would have learned from the 2016 Trump campaign is that voters wanted something completely different from what the GOP had been offering. For decades, Republicans had run on tax cuts, more military spending to fund the forever wars, and diversity-lite. But Trump proved that what voters wanted was a wall, mass deportations, and a white guy who wasn’t embarrassed about being white. The GOP was like a man who keeps giving his wife Super Bowl tickets for her birthday, when what she wants is a fur coat.

Unfortunately, Trump himself didn’t learn anything from the 2016 campaign, either. Once he got into office, he gave us Super Bowl tickets: tax cuts, more military spending to fund the forever wars, and diversity-lite.

Back when he was talking about Mexican rapists, anchor babies, Kate Steinle, sanctuary cities and a Muslim ban, Trump was a runaway hit with voters! Marco Rubio, Ted Cruz and Jeb! were left lying by the side of the road, mumbling about their immigrant relatives.

After six months of impotent rage as they watched Trump’s poll numbers rise, the Republican Establishment finally took its revenge the night of President Obama’s 2016 State of the Union address.

The instrument of their revenge was Nikki Haley. Appealing to Republicans’ diversity-lite side, Nikki is fairly bristling with implausible stories of racist America treating her and her family racistly in the 1970s (the darkest days of the Jim Crow South!). But the epilogue is that we have “come a long way.” I, for one, am totally relieved that we have finally redeemed ourselves in Haley’s eyes.

Now, she’s running for president, as the perfect establishment candidate, designed to repel voters from coast to coast. Having Haley in the White House would be like having to watch “Roots” every night. (Note to candidates: “Being in the White House” includes being in the vice president’s office.)

At the 2016 State of the Union, President Obama attacked Trump, warning Americans not to listen to “extremist voices,” or “fear the future” because of the “influx of new immigrants.”

Giving the opposing point of view was Haley – who also attacked Trump. For something completely different, she warned Americans not to listen to “the loudest voice in the room.” She then laid out the official Republican position on immigration. (Fling open the border!)

Haley said:
– Anyone who is “willing to work hard, abide by our laws, and love our traditions” is “welcome in our country.” Anyone “willing to work hard”? That is the definition of open borders. “Abide by our laws”? Seven months of Trump sweeping the polls on an anti-immigration message, and the most the GOP Establishment would give us is, “OK, no more felons.”
– We should welcome all immigrants “just like we have for centuries.”

Has Haley read a history book? Calvin Coolidge shut down immigration for half a century.
– We should “fix our broken immigration system.”

ANN COULTER

Translation from Establishment Speak: “Amnesty.”

– We should be “welcoming properly vetted legal immigrants, regardless of their race or religion.”

What precisely are we “vetting” if we’re not allowed to look at race or religion? Other than the fact that they were Chechen or Middle Eastern Muslims, there was no reason to reject the immigrants who killed scores of Americans in San Bernardino, Chattanooga and the Boston Marathon. Oh, yeah, also 3,000 of them on 9/11.

– “The best thing we can do,” Haley concluded, “is turn down the volume.”

Which is exactly what the GOP had been saying to voters for decades: You guys need to shut the hell up.

But Haley wasn’t done performing tasks for the Establishment. In February 2016, she joined Chris Wallace (in both 2016 and 2020), Jake Tapper and 417 other MSM journalists in their quest to have Trump never stop disavowing the KKK.

Instead of getting tired of winning, Trump supporters were getting tired of condemning.

Thus, shortly before the South Carolina primary, brave Nikki gave a speech, saying, “I will not stop until we fight a man that chooses not to disavow the KKK.”

Headlines all over.

In June of that year, after a mass shooting by a disturbed white man at a black church in Charleston, South Carolina, Haley grandiosely removed the Confederate battle flag from state capitol grounds.

And you know what? Today, black people have as much wealth as other Americans, their SAT scores have risen, and there hasn’t been another mass shooting of black people since then. All thanks to Gov. Haley.

Despite her vow to never stop fighting Trump, he was elected president, whereupon he immediately hired ... Nikki Haley.

Even in a completely useless job – ambassador to the United Nations – she managed to screw it up. First, Haley practically invited President Bashar al-Assad of Syria to launch the “worst chemical attack in years” (New York Times) by telling reporters, just weeks earlier, that removing Assad was no longer a U.S. “priority.”

Next, she misstated U.S. policy on CBS’s “Face the Nation,” claiming that Trump was about to issue a new round of sanctions against Russia. (He wasn’t.) With Trump shouting at the TV, the White House said Haley was “confused,” and the State Department asked her to issue a correction.

But Haley got a good I-Am-Woman-Hear-Me-Roar moment out of it: “Haley fires back at White House: ‘I don’t get confused’”

There were any number of competent Republicans Trump could have hired instead of Haley, even some who didn’t hate him, didn’t hate his supporters, and didn’t oppose everything he (claimed) he stood for.

Obviously, Trump never meant a word he said on the campaign trail.

Ironically, Republican donors are wild about Nikki. As far as I can tell, they’re her biggest supporters. Turns out, they’re just as stupid as Trump is.

DICK YARBROUGH COLUMNIST

Some random thoughts on some random subjects

Just when you thought our federal government couldn’t get any more dysfunctional, we all watched the political train wreck that was the ouster of a U.S. Speaker of the House for the first time in our nation’s history. Speaker Kevin McCarthy was voted out of office thanks to 208 Democrats and 9 Republicans – meaning 210 Republicans voted for him. (Georgia’s 14 representatives voted 5-9 against the ouster along party lines.) McCarthy had it coming. It took 15 votes for him to get the job in the first place and one of the conditions he agreed to was to allow a single member of Congress – Democrat or Republican – to bring a “motion to vacate,” which forces a vote on removing the speaker. Republican Matt Gaetz, of Florida, did just that. . . .

Humorist Will Rogers once observed he was not a member of an organized political party. He was a Democrat. No question if ol’ Will was around today, he would be a Republican. They have turned disorganization into an art form. . . .

Meanwhile back home, the Georgia High School Association has approved a rule allowing high school athletes in the state to profit from their name, likeness and image (NIL) as do college athletes today. You have to wonder where all of this is going to end up: Middle school? Grammar school? Preschool? (“Hello. My name is Timmy, I am 4 years old. I play dodgeball and I want to tell you about a special this weekend on tire rotation from my friends at Meineke Car Care. Tell ‘em Timmy sent you. Now ‘scuse me. I gotta go teetee.”). . . .

Is there any nation on Earth more preoccupied with dredging up its past and heading off on a guilt trip than we are? On December 7, 1941, the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor without warning, killing 2,400 Americans and wounding a thousand more. Some 11,000 American soldiers died as Japanese prisoners of war and another 500 to 600 American didn’t survive the brutal Bataan Death March. So what do some want to focus on 80-plus years later? Japanese internment camps. Given that we didn’t know the good guys from the bad, our government took no chances.

DICK YARBROUGH

And good for them. To you hand-wringers, get over it. The Japanese started it all with their sneak attack. They are the ones who should be apologizing and making repatriations. . . .

My recent column about my trip to Iraq to be with members of Georgia’s 48th Brigade Combat Team got a response from Dr. David Campbell, senior minister at Due West United Methodist Church in Cobb County. He had been there 20 years ago as an Army chaplain and knew first-hand the conditions I had described. However, he had one correction to offer. I had quoted Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman as saying, “War is hell.” Dr. Campbell said, “Sherman was wrong. War is war and hell is hell. It is the chaplain’s job to help remind people of the difference!” Touché! . . .

Another reader who shall remain anonymous is not a Brian Kemp fan. Among the many sins our governor has committed in the reader’s view is that he went to Davos, a worldwide economic forum in Switzerland, viewed by some as a nefarious New World Order cabal. “Kemp has sold Georgians out to the ChiComs,” he wrote,” and attended the WEF Conference in Davos, Switzerland this past spring. I wonder what kind of screw-job Georgians are about to get from Kemp’s involvement in Davos.” I didn’t have the heart to tell him that Donald Trump also hung out with that bunch of commie pinko, George Soros-loving, tree hugging, climate change conspiracists at the WEF Conference in Davos, as well. Not once, but twice. Oops! . . .

Finally, our state and my alma mater lost a great man with the recent passing of Sonny Seiler. He will forever be associated with the long line of Georgia Bulldog mascots known as “Uga,” but he was also a crackerjack lawyer in Savannah and possessed of a sharp wit. I was honored to be president of the University of Georgia National Alumni Association and followed in that post by Sonny Seiler. He was a great friend and a Damn Good Dawg. He will be missed.

joined forces to organize the event for girls aged eight to fourteen. “They not only get a chance to do skill work with experienced coaches and players but also have the chance to meet two WNBA players,” Bailey said. “They will get a chance to sit down in a panel form to listen and ask any questions they have.”

Bailey received help from his current players to assist in the stations by allowing them to give direction and training to the young athletes. After a warm up assisted by Lady Rams players and the staff brought from the Atlanta Dream, the girls were split into groups before going station-to-station. Each station showed different aspects from the game of basketball as the young athletes gained tips on agility, offense, defense and basketball IQ. After the drills wrapped up, all of the girls came together to take group photos with Janelle, Howard and Young. At the conclusion of the event, Janelle hosted a panel to discuss opportunities for women in the sports world and how open the job field can be in sports.

With a successful turnout, Janelle and Bailey agreed about the plans to continue these types of events in the future for young girls. “I would love to do this more in the future,” Janelle said. “This is the fourth event that we have done but it has been important for me because I want to see more young girls play the game of basketball and do what they love.”

clutch hit here and there and make this pitch there. We were in those games and those were against solid teams.” Going into the final stretch of the year, Davis and the coaching staff know the plan the rest of the way. On the mound, the Lady Redskins plan to stick with the duo of Abbey Land and Emily Turner. “They will be our two pitchers and they compliment each other,” Davis said. “Emily has a little more velocity, but Abbey has more experience with being a senior. They complement each other and they do a great job of keeping our opponents off balance.” Social Circle’s lineup offensively may not be as solidified as in year’s past, but Davis sees benefits with how the team has been playing at the plate. The variety of lineup configurations has allowed his players to get at bats at different spots in the lineup. “We are getting there [at the plate],” Davis said. “We have been having to adjust and shuffle the lineup around a little bit lately, but what it means is everyone is gaining experience in those spots. If a situation comes up, we will have someone who has been in that situation.” With eyes on Super Regionals and Columbus, it is the time of year where the Lady Redskins’ experience should come into play. Over the last two seasons, Social Circle has played 17 playoff games, and Davis knows the small things will be magnified at this stage. “It is something we have talked about after every game this week. There is going to be the little moment in the game that means the difference,” Davis said. “It is never going to announce itself, but it is going to be the little moment of backing up somebody, fielding a bunt, getting a bunt down, taking an extra base and keeping the opponent from getting the extra base. There is going to be those little things that happen that won’t show up in the box score, but you’ll back and say, ‘That made a huge difference right there.’”

NEWTON ALL-GIRLS SKILL CLINIC

BRIA JANELLE INVITED RHYNE HOWARD AND TAMERA YOUNG TO PARTICIPATE IN THE ALL-GIRLS SKILL CLINIC HOSTED AT NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL SATURDAY MORNING | GARRETT PITTS

Newton and Atlanta Dream host all-girls skill clinic

By GARRETT PITTS
Sports Editor

COVINGTON, Ga. - Newton High School hosted an all-girls skill clinic Saturday morning with the help of Bria Janelle and the Atlanta Dream. Backed by the Bria Janelle Foundation, the Rams were able to put together an event to help young girls ages eight through fourteen who were looking to pursue basketball. "It was about taking the franchise that I work with and the community that I love to serve in and bringing them together," Janelle said. "Being able to bring them [the Atlanta Dream] means a lot, especially to the girls. We see a lot of times where football players and guys basketball get things but we forget about the young girls. The eight to fourteen [age range], there is a lot of talent here." Even though basketball was the main focus, Janelle saw the event as an opportunity to teach much more than just the game to the young girls that attended. "They are getting a chance to sharpen up their skills on the court, but for me it is about how they are becoming better young women," Janelle said. "I want them to leave here better than they arrived. I always say 'People don't remember what you said, they remember how you make them feel' and that has been our purpose today." Janelle, who is the PA announcer for Newton basketball and the in-arena announcer for the Atlanta Dream, brought a pair of WNBA players from the Dream's present and past. Atlanta's first round picks in 2022 and 2008, Rhyné Howard and Tamera Young, joined the event. The presence of Howard and Brown helped to show what is possible for the girls if they want to pursue a career in basketball. Janelle and Lady Rams head coach Jawan Bailey

EASTSIDE VOLLEYBALL

LADY EAGLES HOPE TO BRING INTENSITY TO REGION MEET

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
Managing Editor

Eastside's girls volleyball team finished its regular season slate on a hot streak. The Lady Eagles won four of their last five matches. Even following an intense, non-region loss with Eagles Landing Christian, head coach Maggie Johnston pointed to a few things she hopes to see more of moving forward. "I really like our odds of being able to make it to the playoffs if they can bring that intensity. We don't always match the level we can get to in games. We just got to show up and do what we can do," Johnston said. "Overall, I'm very impressed with their blocking and we got good touches on those fast pace balls." The Lady Eagles currently have an 18-15 overall record as well as a 3-2 mark in Region 8-A. As a result, they will enter Tuesday, Oct. 10's region meet at Jefferson as the No. 3 seed. Eastside only trails Jefferson and Loganville in the standings. As far as preparation is concerned for the region meet, Johnston stressed it will not be too complicated at this juncture of the year. "Come out...get some touches on the ball, make sure we're getting good serves, emphasize blocking, work on a fast offense and not do anything too fancy at this point," Johnston said.

PHILLIP B. HUBBARD | THE COVINGTON NEWS

Prior to the season's start in early August, the players on the 2023 squad set out a mission statement along with a few goals to aim for. The theme of this year's mission statement was to be in "beast mode." Johnston believes that mindset can carry the Lady Eagles a long way with the postseason on the horizon. "One thing that they decided they were going to do is not let any dropped balls. Although they have their moments, they really strive on defense to make sure they don't have any dropped balls. That was one of their big lines in their mission statement," Johnston said. "The other components they have in there are to keep things fun and keep things easy going. Those two components together are when we play our best."

SOCIAL CIRCLE SOFTBALL

Lady Redskins 'Forged by the Fire'

By GARRETT PITTS
Sports Editor

As the final week of the regular season comes to a close, the Social Circle Lady Redskins find themselves in a familiar spot as they eye another postseason run. The Lady Redskins sit at 17-9 while having a 5-3 edge against their Region 5A-Division 1 foes. Similar to the 2022 season, Social Circle faced a tough non-region slate along with four matchups against region powerhouse Prince Avenue. Head coach Chris Davis feels his team has been battle-tested to this point in the season and he believes it will make them stronger in the next two weeks. "We have really had to compete this year, we played a tough schedule," Davis said. "We played some good teams but we also overcame some injuries and we still have been dealing with injuries. This is the type of the team that has become forged by the fire. Since, I felt like we have dealt with a little more overall, as a team." The Lady Redskins have come out on the losing end of all three Prince Avenue matchups this year, which all but secures them the No. 2 seed in the region. Looking back at earlier parts of the season, Davis referenced times where he felt his time was playing at their best. The 11-6 and 8-2 wins over Morgan County and George Walton, respectively, were both games that Davis felt were some of the best games his team have played. Even in the losses against the Lady Wolverines, Davis felt good about how close his team played. "[Even] our first two matchups with Prince. Prince is 28-0 and they are really good, but we were in it," Davis said. "We are not perfect, we still need a

Kale, crispy bacon upgrades grilled cheese to an adult level

CHRISTOPHER KIMBALL

Satisfying, tasty and quick, a grilled cheese is a weeknight staple for a reason. But we use a couple tricks to spruce it up, taking it from an after-school kids' treat to a meal an adult would love.

First, we don't shy away from a bit of cooking before assembling the sandwich, as in this recipe from our book "Cook What You Have," which draws on pantry staples to create easy, weeknight meals. We give grilled cheese a tasty — and somewhat healthful! — update by sautéing kale by the handful with caramelized onions to make the bulk of the filling for the sandwich.

Second, when we grill the buttered bread, we press down on the sandwich to make more contact with the pan, which promotes flavorful browning.

A slather of mustard lends tangy contrast to the melty cheese. To add a salty-smoky note, tuck crisp bacon slices inside the sandwiches before cooking them, though it's still delicious without it.

Just be sure to use a hearty sandwich bread that's sturdy enough to contain all the fillings so the sandwich doesn't fall apart when you pull it out of the pan.

Kale and Cheddar Melts with Caramelized Onion

Start to finish: 40 minutes

Servings: 4

2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil

1 medium yellow onion, halved and thinly sliced

Kosher salt and ground black pepper

1 large bunch lacinato kale OR curly kale, stemmed and chopped into rough 1-inch pieces (about 12 cups)

2 tablespoons salted butter, room temperature

8 slices hearty white OR whole-wheat OR rye sandwich bread

4 teaspoons whole-grain mustard OR Dijon mustard

8 slices cheddar OR provolone OR whole-milk mozzarella OR pepper jack cheese

4 slices cooked bacon (optional)

In a 12-inch nonstick skillet over medium-high, heat the oil until shimmering. Add the onion, $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon salt and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper. Cook, stirring occasionally, until the onion is soft and golden brown, about 10 minutes. Add the kale a large handful at a time, stirring to slightly wilt after each addition. Add $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water, then reduce to medium, cover and cook, stirring occasionally, until the kale is tender, 10 to 12 minutes. Transfer the kale mixture to a medium bowl; set aside. Wipe out the skillet.

Meanwhile, spread butter over 1 side of each slice of bread, evenly dividing the butter. Flip the slices to be buttered side down, then spread about $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon mustard on each slice. Top each of 4 bread slices with 1 slice of cheese, a quarter of the kale mixture and 1 slice of bacon (if using), torn to fit. Top each with a slice of the remaining cheese, then with another slice of bread, buttered side up. Press on the sandwiches to compact the fillings.

Heat the skillet over medium until droplets of water flicked onto the surface quickly sizzle and evaporate. Add 2 of the sandwiches and cook until golden brown on the bottoms, 2 to 3 minutes. Using a wide spatula, flip the sandwiches and cook, pressing down lightly and adjusting the heat as needed, until golden brown on the second sides and the cheese is melted, 2 to 3 minutes. Transfer to a cutting board. Cook the remaining sandwiches in the same way (the second batch may cook faster). Cut each sandwich in half.

Kelsey Grammer, Jess Salgueiro and Jack Cutmore-Scott in "Frasier"

The doctor is in again: Kelsey Grammer returns as 'Frasier'

There's been room for "Frasier" ever since the original series ended, so there's certainly space for a revival.

After winning four of his five Primetime Emmys for playing the title part, Kelsey Grammer returns as the high-minded psychiatrist in a new Paramount+ version of "Frasier" that starts streaming Thursday, Oct. 12 (CBS will give the revival's first two episodes a broadcast run Oct. 17.). Originated by the actor as a supporting character on "Cheers," Dr. Frasier Crane returns to that show's Boston setting, with an outline of that city replacing that of his hometown of Seattle (where the first "Frasier" took place) in the opening credits.

Also mostly new is the supporting cast, which was the case when Grammer initially transferred "Frasier" into his own show. Such figures as Frasier's brother Niles, played by David Hyde Pierce ("Julia"), who chose not to return, and his father Martin, played by John Mahoney, ("Moonstruck," 1987) who died in 2018, are now absent, as are Martin's caretaker and Niles' eventual wife, Daphne (Jane Leeves, "The Resident"), and Martin's frequent-Frasier-nemesis dog, Eddie. However, Peri Gilpin ("Scorpion") and Bebe Neuwirth ("Julia") — alias, respectively, Frasier's radio show producer Roz and his ex-wife Lilith — will be back on a recurring basis.

Among actors joining "Frasier" for the first time are Jack Cutmore-Scott ("Oppenheimer," 2023) as Frasier's son, Freddy, and new actor Anders Keith as David, the son of Niles and Daphne (born in the finale of the original "Frasier"). Nicholas Lyndhurst ("Only Fools and Horses") is also a regular cast member as a college pal of Frasier's who is a professor now. Among the aspects retaining familiarity, though, will be a new rendering of the theme song ("Tossed Salads and Scrambled Eggs") recorded by Grammer, who also remains an executive producer.

The first "Frasier" continues to be seen regularly in repeats, and having yielded more than 250 episodes over 11 seasons, its successor has a long and celebrated legacy to live up to — encompassing its Primetime Emmy wins for outstanding comedy series for five consecutive years (1994-98). Much as the first show was, the new one is an exploration of Dr. Crane starting over. When last seen, he was headed for Chicago, presumably for him to be together with the girlfriend he had at the time (played by guest star Laura Linney, "Ozark"). That became his destination after he let go of a San Francisco television job he had gotten.

Putting Frasier back in Boston is bound to give interesting twists to the premise in which viewers first got to know him. At least on a steady basis, he'll be without Sam Malone (Ted Danson, "The Good Place"), Diane Chambers (Shelley Long, "Modern Family") and the others he commiserated with regularly at the bar "where everybody knows your name." Much as he did upon his move to Seattle, he'll be surrounded by a fresh group that the new "Frasier's" makers clearly hope will catch on with viewers in the same way Niles and others did.

"Camp Courage" (Oct. 15)

This documentary tells the story of Olga and her granddaughter, Milana, who, made refugees by the war in Ukraine, travel to a summer camp in the Austrian Alps to test the limits of their own bravery, and to strengthen their growing bond.

"Bodies" (Oct. 19)

Four detectives. Four timelines. One body. Based on the mind-bending graphic novel by Si Spencer, this eight-episode series is a police procedural with a twist. When a body — the same body — is found on Longharvest Lane in London's East End in 1890, 1941, 2023 and 2053, one detective from each period must investigate. As connections are drawn across the decades, the detectives soon discover their investigations are linked, and an enigmatic political leader — Elias Mannix (Stephen Graham) — becomes increasingly central. Jacob Fortune-Lloyd, Shira Haas, Amaka Okafor, Kyle Solter and Tom Mothersdale star.

"Movie: Old Dads" (Oct. 20)

Three best friends become fathers later in life and find themselves battling preschool principals, millennial CEOs and anything created after 1987. Marking Bill Burr's directorial debut, this comedy film stars Burr, Bobby Cannavale, Bokeem Woodbine and Josh Brener.

"Surviving Paradise" - Season 1 (Oct. 20)

Twelve contestants think they are going to have the summer of their lives, living the life of luxury in a clifftop, oceanside villa. What they don't know is that they'll have to start with nothing, living in the woods without any lavish amenities. Through friendships and alliances, they'll team up to fight their way into the villa for a chance at the $100,000 grand prize. Jessiemae Peluso hosts.

BEST BETTE DAVIS MOVIES

"Of Human Bondage" (1934): Davis plays cruel waitress Mildred, who coldly toys with an earnest admirer's (Leslie Howard) emotions, in this adaptation of the W. Somerset Maugham classic.

"Dangerous" (1935): Davis earned her first Academy Award as an actress whose drinking problem leads to trouble for her and others.

"The Petrified Forest" (1936): Working again with Leslie Howard, with Humphrey Bogart added, Davis stars in the Robert E. Sherwood play about crossed paths at a diner. "Jezebel" (1938): Sort of a pre-"Gone With the Wind," this Davis staple saw her score her second Oscar as a willful Southern belle trying to win back her ex-fiance (Henry Fonda).

"Dark Victory" (1939): In one of Davis' most popular movies, she stars as a socialite who develops a brain tumor, then falls in love with the doctor (George Brent) who operates on her.

"The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex" (1939): Davis and Errol Flynn have the title roles in the tempestuous royal love story.

"The Letter" (1940): Another W. Somerset Maugham work was the source of Davis' turn as a murder suspect whose claim of self-defense might unravel because of a certain letter.

"Now, Voyager" (1942): A spinster, portrayed by Davis, undergoes a radical transformation after spending time in a sanitarium.

"The Corn Is Green" (1945): A schoolteacher (Davis) becomes the patron of a promising student (John Dall) in the screen version of Emlyn Williams' play.

"A Stolen Life" (1946): Davis plays twin sisters, one of whom "steals" the other's identity — and husband (Glenn Ford) — after a drowning.

"All About Eve" (1950): "It's going to be a bumpy night," indeed. The classic backstage drama stars Davis as a veteran stage star targeted by an ambitious admirer (Anne Baxter).

"Pocketful of Miracles" (1961): The last movie directed by Frank Capra features Davis as a down-and-out woman who has convinced her soon-to-visit daughter (Ann-Margret) that she's a member of New York society.

"What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" (1962): Davis' later career got a big jolt from this legendary chiller, pairing her with Joan Crawford as former-actress siblings engaged in psychological terror. Turner Classic Movies presents the film on Tuesday, Oct. 17.

"Hush ... Hush, Sweet Charlotte" (1964): The same team behind "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" furnished Davis with another tale of family strife turned horrifying.

"The Nanny" (1965): Davis is terrifically chilling as said minder of children, who matches wits with a savvy and suspicious youngster (William Dix).

"Death on the Nile" (1978): Agatha Christie's puzzler places Davis among the suspects during a cruise on which Hercule Poirot (Peter Ustinov) probes an heiress' murder.

"The Whales of August" (1987): Davis was near the end of her career when she worked with such other screen veterans as Lillian Gish and Vincent Price in the story of widowed sisters (Davis, Gish) and what may be their last Maine summer.

Missy Peregrym's "FBI" absence was for a good reason

Q: I've been watching many repeats of "FBI" lately. How long was Missy Peregrym off the show last year? – Steve Cooper, Philadelphia, Pa.

A: She was out for the last several episodes of Season 4 in 2022, for a maternity leave for the birth of her second child, and she was written out of the CBS drama temporarily by having her character – Special Agent Maggie Bell – sidelined by exposure to sarin gas. The episode in which that happened comes up fairly frequently in the rotation of repeats shown by ION Television and Pop. (Season 5 has not been part of that package yet.)

Peregrym remained absent for the first six stories at the start of the fifth season, during which time Shantel VanSanten continued her guest stint as Special Agent Nina Chase, who served as a member of the team while Maggie was recuperating. The latter character's return was greeted with warm reception by the other characters, mirroring (from what Peregrym told us at the time) the spirited "welcome back" that the actress got from her co-stars.

Q: Seeing a change of host on "Meet the Press" has made me wonder, was David Brinkley the original host of "This Week"? – Joanne Norris, via e-mail

A: Yes, iconic anchor-reporter Brinkley inaugurated the Sunday-morning ABC program when it premiered in 1981, replacing the long-running series "Issues and Answers." In fact, "This Week" was the reason Brinkley left NBC News, though he assumed some other duties at ABC as well.

After he retired in 1996, Sam Donaldson and Cokie Roberts became "This Week" co-anchors, and they stayed until 2002. George Stephanopoulos then became the host, and he stayed until 2010 with Jake Tapper filling in as host for several months until the arrival of Christiane Amanpour to assume the job. However, she only was there until the end of 2011, when Stephanopoulos returned. Since 2016, he has split "This Week" anchoring duties with Martha Raddatz, and Joanthan Karl often appears in that role as well.

Q: Was Chuck Norris still making movies while he was starring in "Walker, Texas Ranger"? – Al Sterling, via e-mail

A: Early in the run of the CBS series that was a Saturday-night staple, he was able to keep doing work in such mid-1990s movies as "Hellbound" and "Top Dog," but the demands of a weekly-show schedule – which also involved his being an executive producer and coordinating the martial-arts choreography – soon found Norris having to devote the great bulk of his creative energy to his television venture. It was his first home-screen project to consume him that way, though he had been involved earlier in the animated series "Karate Kommandos," which he created and voiced his own cartoon likeness for.

Norris did make a couple of TV-movies toward the end of his nine-season "Walker" run, playing a Secret Service agent in a CBS franchise with the umbrella title "The President's Man," and he made appearances as himself after "Walker" ended on the sitcoms "Yes, Dear" and "The Goldbergs."

After escaping from a mental institution, an escaped killer, Michael Myers (Nick Castle), returns to his hometown of Haddonfield, Ill., in order to continue his murderous rampage and ruin the night of one unsuspecting babysitter (Jamie Lee Curtis). John Carpenter's classic, 1978 film, "Halloween," airs Saturday, Oct. 21, on AMC, followed immediately by its sequels: "Halloween II" (1981), "Halloween H20: 20 Years Later" (1998) and more.
