By TOM SPIGOLON

COVINGTON, Ga. — The Newton County Planning Commission has voted to recommend approval of an animal rehabilitation center on Crowell Road.

Planning commissioners Aug. 24 voted to recommend the Newton County Board of Commissioners approve a conditional use permit (CUP) for the center at 706 Crowell Road — which is in an R2 Single-Family Residential zone.

They voted 4-0 to recommend the CUP with staff's conditions for a "home occupation business with customer contact" on a 5.15-acre site. The applicant is Danielle Nicole Kanoy. County Development Services director Judy Johnson said even though the zoning ordinance does not allow keeping livestock in residential zones, the property historically had farm animals before the ordinance regulated them which made it a

Hurricane Ida remnants could impact Newton County

By TAYLOR BECK

COVINGTON, Ga. — Hurricane Ida made landfall as a category 4 storm Sunday and soon reportedly left one person killed and more than 1 million people across Louisiana and Mississippi without power.

Within Ida's first 24 hours on land, she weakened to a category 1 and later a tropical storm, but residents across the Southeast are still being advised to brace for impact.

According to the National Weather Service, periods of heavy rain will be possible in north-central Georgia, which includes Newton and surrounding counties, Tuesday morning into Wednesday as the remnants of Hurricane Ida are expected to move northeast into middle Tennessee. Total rainfall amounts could average between 2-4 inches, if not more. A Flash Flood Watch has been issued for the region.

COVINGTON, Ga. — Newton County Sheriff Ezell Brown was elected as the Secretary-Treasurer of the Georgia Sheriffs' Association (GSA) during the annual summer training conference, sponsored by the GSA, at Jekyll Island from Aug. 2-4.

Ezell Brown

Brown's elected position as Secretary-Treasurer paves the way for him to become President, as he will begin to ascend the ranks within the GSA.

Prior to becoming President, he will have the opportunity to serve as 2nd Vice President and 1st Vice President of the GSA. "I am honored to serve as the Secretary-Treasurer of the Georgia Sheriffs' Association. God continues to bless me with amazing opportunities in my law enforcement career," said Brown. "I look forward to continuing my work with the Georgia Sheriffs' Association and assisting the committee in advancing the association to a whole new level of 21st-century law enforcement and community achievement."

Throughout his tenure in law enforcement, Brown has received countless achievement awards, accolades, and distinctions in recognition of his service and community involvement. He has served as the Region 2 Vice President of the GSA for eight years in addition to serving as the organization's chaplain. Additionally, he serves on the Georgia Probation Subcommittee for the Council of Criminal Justice Reform, the Board of Directors of the Newton County Salvation Army, and the Executive Board of the Georgia Piedmont Technical College. He was appointed by Gov. Brian Kemp to the Sexual Offender Registration Review Board in 2020.

"We are pleased to have Sheriff Brown as the newly-elected Secretary-Treasurer of the Georgia Sheriff's Association," said GSA Executive Director Terry Norris. "His many years of experience in the Sheriff's Office, coupled with his effectiveness as a listener and problem solver, will greatly enhance the continued success of the Association."

The GSA, which was formed in 1954, provides a variety of activities and services, such as the annual training events for Georgia sheriffs and related personnel; advocacy at the Georgia General Assembly; and sponsor of the Georgia Sheriffs' Youth Homes.

The mission of the GSA is to promote and further professionalize the Office of Sheriff in order to enhance public safety throughout Georgia.

NCHS Class of 1956 plans reunion event

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Sid Haggard graduated in 1956 from Newton County High School and eventually returned to Covington in the 1990s after working throughout the country.

He recalled what awaited new high school graduates at the time.

"It was either (working at) the mill or the Army," Haggard said.

Gloria Gray Hayes also graduated with Haggard the same year but never left Newton County.

Both made their lives with their families and careers in the decades since graduation.

They are among the organizers of the 65th reunion of the school's Class of 1956.

About 62 are signed up to attend the event Thursday, Sept. 2, at the Lions Club building in Academy Springs Park in Covington, Haggard said.

It will include a reception and a catered dinner. Organizers also plan to spotlight the Homer Sharp Scholarship Fund, which will receive donations and money raised from registrations after expenses, Haggard said.

"A committee of classmates volunteers has been working for several weeks to ensure the evening will be memorable,"

Haggard said.

Some attendees will travel from as far as California for the reunion of the seventh graduating class of the school, Haggard said. However, others stayed and made their careers in the area, such as retired Judge Sam Ozburn and banker Rob Fowler, he said.

Haggard said he believed many of his classmates wanted to attend "just to stay in touch" with their former classmates.

Of the 136 members of the graduating class, about 70 have passed away, he said.

Hayes said she had attended the 50th and 60th reunions of the close-knit group and did not think twice when one of her best friends called in June and asked her to "get involved" in organizing it.

She said many attendees still live in Newton County. Others left the county to reside elsewhere but "their heart always remained here and they wanted to come back" for Thursday's reunion, she said.

"I'm hoping to have a good time," she said.

The school opened in 1949 on the current site of the Newton County School System's central office on Newton Drive in Covington. Nearby Homer Sharp Stadium is named for the man who was the school's principal and handed them their diplomas on May 28, 1956.

Unlike Haggard, Hayes never left Newton County following graduation.

Three of her siblings also attended Newton County High School. The Salem community native worked for the county government for 28 years before retiring in 2006.

Haggard began his career with the Forestry Service before he traveled the country working for the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

He and his late wife raised a family in the Washington, D.C., area before returning to Covington after his retirement.

He was involved with the 50th and 60th reunions and took the initiative to organize this reunion.

Haggard said the main difference between post-graduation aspirations for males in 1956 and later decades was the opportunities that became available.

Young men now have many more options than his generation did in Covington, he said.

"Now, it's which college do they want to attend."

Contractor rushes to finish east Newton bridge after missing July deadline

By TOM SPIGOLON
 tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Officials now foresee a September completion of an east Newton bridge after GDOT began assessing a daily charge on the builder for missing a deadline for completion.

The long-awaited County Hwy. 213 replacement bridge over West Bear Creek likely will be completed in mid- to late September after the contractor missed a July 20 deadline in a contract to complete the structure, a GDOT spokesman said.

The state agency began assessing a $1,000 per calendar day charge on prime contractor Williams Contracting Company LLC for missing a July 20 deadline for completion, said GDOT spokesman Kyle Collins.

Collins said the major part of the bridge structure is complete but still awaits installation of new roadway approaches, guardrails and planting of grass, among other contract items, Collins said.

The $1.27 million project is 2.5 miles west of Mansfield near Dobbs Road. Workers closed the old, outdated bridge in March and began detouring County Hwy. 213 traffic to the north along Dixie and Elks Club roads.

The project is part of the GDOT Low Impact Bridge Program, which is designed to speed up work using prefabricated bridge components.

Projects in the Low Impact program must meet such criteria as no geometry or grade changes, low environmental impacts, and all detours off-site and approved by local entities, a GDOT news release stated.

Efforts to reach Williams Contracting for comment proved unsuccessful.

Since the war began, more than 2,400 U.S. service members have reportedly died in Afghanistan through April 2021. Thursday's airport attack, terrorist group ISIS-K took responsibility for, marked the first casualties in the country since February 2020.

Reader wonders if contract offered to county attorney was ‘bogus’

Dear Editor:

As news spread about the Newton Board of Commissioners (BOC) offering a contract to Ms. Megan Martin to become our county’s in-house, salaried attorney, many of us said it’s about time. This action has been in the works for some time and would save taxpayers a lot of money.

Ms. Martin has been working as county attorney under a contract with the Jarrard and Davis Law Firm for the last six years. Her performance has been outstanding as she helped extract the county from various legal entanglements associated with the Bear Creek Project and the county landfill. She also helped develop legislation for our new form of government and has successfully defended the county from the outrageous salary claims of the Chairman and Probate Judge.

So it was no surprise that Martin was selected as the most experienced and best qualified person to become our in-house county attorney. The surprise is that District Commissioners Mason, Henderson and Sanders refused to offer her a legitimate contract, renewable on a yearly basis. Instead, they voted to offer her a six-month contract that would be reviewed at the end of that time. Of course, a six-month contract is a sham offer for an experienced attorney who has been serving in this very position for the last six years and who would have to leave her current employer to take the job. Ms. Martin’s competency is well established so there is no valid reason for a short term contract to further evaluate her performance.

It seems unlikely that Ms. Martin will accept such a shaky offer of employment. It’s a slap in the face of someone so well regarded among those who practice government law. And, after the way Martin has been treated, it will be hard to find a competent attorney who wants to work for such a dysfunctional county commission.

So, how is the public to understand this fiasco? Apparently, the three BOC members nixed a genuine contract proposed by Commissioner Edwards so they can eventually hire someone else not in the current applicant pool. Their motives are certainly questionable given the growing power struggle among BOC members. What are the intentions of Sanders, Henderson and Mason? What kind of attorney are they looking for? Surely they understand the critical nature of this position and will not try to hire someone who cannot provide the best possible legal services for the county. Hopefully, they also understand that their delaying tactics are costing taxpayers more money.

If experience and competency are the primary requirements, as they should be, Ms. Martin is the best candidate available and should be offered a legitimate contract with annual evaluations. There will not be any other applicants that can match her credentials. Citizens should demand that the BOC move forward with offering Ms. Martin a good faith employment contract and to quit playing political games with this important decision.

Are disasters only way country will unify?

How elusive is unity in this day and age? It’s taking a natural disaster to convince people in heavily Republican Mississippi to allow themselves to be rescued by FEMA workers from a Democrat-controlled federal government after Hurricane Ida blew through this week.

We’re also coming up on the 20th anniversary of a unifying event: the terrorist attacks on New York and Washington on Sept. 11, 2001.

However, politicians at all levels of government — goaded on by small groups of supporters they often refer to locally as “citizens” — routinely fan the flames of division with talk of, “What’s in it for me and mine?”

They see windows of opportunity when the other side falters and move as fast as they can to climb through those windows.

Whether they know it or not, words matter. Tone matters. The more sharp each is, the more it cuts through efforts for uniting behind a common purpose.

We’ve seen three radio talk show hosts in recent weeks — who made their marks urging their listeners to oppose public health efforts to vaccinate against COVID-19 — lose their lives to the disease.

Marc Bernier, a conservative Florida radio host who called himself “Mr. Anti-Vax,” died recently after a three-week battle with COVID-19.

Our own Congressman Jody Hice has essentially been the mouthpiece for the Freedom Caucus, a group of congressmen so named, I guess, because they have the freedom to repeat any rumors or lies they hear about politicians from either party they don’t agree with.

Hice, a Republican and former pastor, has only sounded like a congressman doing his job in recent days as a member of the opposite party as he criticized the Democratic president for his handling of the Afghanistan withdrawal.

Now, we have football legend Herschel Walker returning to his Georgia hometown after decades in Texas, running for the U.S. Senate and speaking of the need for “unity.”

“When people start to talk about separation ... There is no ‘I’ in team, there’s no ‘we’ in team; It is called ‘team.’ And that’s how the team is better is when you play as one, as one group and it is sad this country is in the place it’s in today,” Walker told Fox Sports.

“The way we get it back is we got to get together and we need to talk these problems out and work them out and quit listening to a lot of these people who want to separate us.”

But at the same time he is running for the Senate — after never holding elected office at any level — at the urging of the producer of the Big Lie based on claims about voting irregularities not borne out by truth.

Donald Trump’s words led to changes in Georgia’s voting laws approved without the evidence needed to back up the need for them.

Meanwhile, Trump’s successor, President Joe Biden, spoke about the need for unity soon after being inaugurated in January.

He argued it was not about all reaching the same choice on issues but about resolving disagreement.

Biden then went about signing more executive orders than his three predecessors combined. His call for “unity” disappeared with his actions to reverse “bad policy” strongly supported by conservatives.

His call appears to be forgotten as he halted funding for the construction of Trump’s border wall, canceled the Keystone XL pipeline, among many other initiatives Biden’s liberal supporters cheered but conservatives jeered.

The only time the country appears to come together is when disaster strikes — or they fear their vehicle falling into a river as they drive on a decaying bridge. Yes, the recent passage of the federal infrastructure bill was a rare example of bipartisanship.

Until this county, state and country and its leaders decide how best to achieve a single goal all can live with, this “team” Herschel Walker spoke of may be going in the wrong direction for years to come.

David Carroll columnist

Putting American voters on ‘four years notice,’ again

One year ago this week, I wrote a column called “Four Years Notice.” It was an open letter to Democratic and Republican party leaders, encouraging them to find fresh candidates for the 2024 presidential election.

My closing words were, “Find a candidate who will ensure America will be respected worldwide. One who will listen to all sides, and recognize our differences are what make us great, not what are tearing us down.”

If anyone applies for the job who insists on rehashing the past, send them packing. You have four years notice. Please don’t waste that time.”

One year later, the needle has not moved. Unfortunately, the 2024 campaign began shortly after the 2020 election was decided.

In November 2024, President Biden will turn 82, and former President Trump will be 78. Despite their advanced age, they are considered the front runners for their party’s presidential nomination.

I have great admiration for senior citizens. With any luck, I’ll be one in the not too distant future. I get emails and letters each week from readers in their 80s and 90s who can out-write me, out-think me, and probably out-run me.

But I’m a realist. I see where America is these days. Internationally, we are not viewed with the respect we have traditionally enjoyed. Financially, we are a disaster waiting to happen. Physically, we’re overweight, overworked, and reeling from a pandemic with rapidly spreading variants. Politically, we’re at each other’s throats, and the division seems to grow each day.

With all this going on, in a nation of 328 million Americans, are Joe Biden and Donald Trump really our two best choices to take the oath of office in January 2025? Can neither party put forward someone who is 40, 50, 60, or heck, even 70? Don’t we have capable leaders in the Senate, the House, state capitols, or major cities?

Putting it in baseball terms, Henry Aaron was the best home run hitter of all time, but you didn’t see him with a bat in his hands at age 80. By that time, it was someone else’s turn. Why aren’t the two major parties putting players with great potential in their starting lineup?

Does America really want Donald Trump back in the White House? Apparently not, since 81 million people voted to give him more time on the golf course.

Does America really want Joe Biden holding the nuclear football until he’s 86 years old? Although the official line is, “He’s planning to run for a second term,” that’s hard to believe if you have seen him struggle to get through a news conference. I support whoever happens to be president at any given time, even if I disagree with them on some issues. That’s what good Americans do. I hoped Trump’s uncouth campaign style would give way to presidential behavior after he was elected. That did not happen. Too often, the noise drowned out his accomplishments.

I admire Biden’s work on vaccination distribution and infrastructure improvements, even though I’m disappointed in his shortcomings in other areas. But I always want the president, whoever it may be, to succeed.

So let’s look ahead. On the Democratic side, Vice President Kamala Harris is the obvious candidate, if and when Biden decides not to run. But as a 2020 presidential candidate, she failed to attract much support. Her early results as VP haven’t set the woods on fire. How embarrassing would it be if Democrats bypassed her and supported other candidates? It would be a public admission of, “Well, we made a poor choice in 2020.

As for Republicans, Trump simply won’t get out of the way. Yes, people still attend his rallies, and some politicians are afraid to go to the restroom without his blessing. But many of those 81 million Biden voters didn’t really love Joe Biden. They voted for “Anyone but Trump.” 2024, as it now stands, would likely fill polling places with those who are now against Biden, or still against Trump.

So the notice I’m giving today is far more time-sensitive. Just one year from now, you’ll be bombarded with commercials for the 2022 midterm elections, including U.S. Senate races in Georgia and Alabama, and various gubernatorial races. Almost immediately after those votes are counted, the 2024 campaign will rev up. Must we again settle for Biden vs. Trump? We will soon find out if the leadership of one or both parties is courageous enough to find candidates who are focused on the future.

That’s my take. Now it’s your turn. In two weeks, this column will include your feedback, anonymously if you wish. Is there a candidate, old or new, that you would support in 2024? Tell me who, and why. My email is RadioTV2020@yahoo.com.

Fun by the Numbers

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row,

8				5		3	7
6		1			9
	2			7		1		6
	7			8
4			9				1
3			6		8	7

column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

State continues investigation after man found dead in home

By DAVID CLEMONS
The Walton Tribune

The Georgia Bureau of Investigation has not yet identified the man found dead earlier this month at a home in Walton County.

“We are awaiting crime lab results in this case,” Nelly Miles, director of the GBI Office of Public and Governmental Affairs, told The Tribune on Friday.

The GBI said the landlord of a home on Jersey-Social Circle

Road found the man dead at the home on Aug. 2. That’s in unincorporated Covington.

The landlord called in the Walton County Sheriff’s Office, which in turn called in the GBI. At the time, the GBI said it wasn’t clear how long the man had been dead.

Anyone with information in the case is asked to call the Sheriff’s Office at 770-267-6557 or the GBI in Athens at 706-552-2309.

Verner to retire from JDA of Jasper, Morgan, Newton, Walton Counties

Chairman Alan Verner recently told the Joint Development Authority of Jasper, Morgan, Newton and Walton Counties he was retiring from the agency’s board after 22 years, including the last 15 as chairman. Verner, a Morgan County businessman, is one of two original members left from the Joint Development Authority’s organization in 1999. He led the Authority through recruitment of Take-da and Facebook at Stanton Springs and the acquisition of land for Stanton Springs North in Social Circle. From left, Verner receives a retirement gift from Authority attorney Andrea Gray during a meeting at the Covington Airport.

State and federal law regulates other types of animals, she said.

In addition, the ordinance does not specifically address animal rescue and rehabilitation centers.

The applicant also plans to use it for filming and educational purposes, which is similar to a variety of allowed uses in the ordinance, Johnson said.

As a result, she said she concluded it was a "home occupation with customer contact," which was the broadest category she could find for what was planned.

However, because it had a "customer contact" element to it, the ordinance required the Board of Commissioners to consider a CUP for it after conducting a public hearing, she said.

Johnson added that her staff is reviewing the Home Occupation part of the zoning ordinance.

Kanoy has operated the nonprofit Wildlife Critters Circle of Life Rehabilitation Center for more than 20 years in a variety of locations. Its stated goal is to "rescue, rehabilitate, and release injured and orphaned native mammals, reptiles, and birds" and provide education about them. Occupants have included a miniature Scottish highlander cow, alpacas and more, according to its website.

A CUP allows the Board of Commissioners to approve a conditional use on a particular land parcel without changing the general zoning district, according to the county zoning ordinance.

It is valid for up to two years and cannot be transferred if a business or residence is sold, according to the ordinance.

In other action on Aug. 24, the planning commission approved a preliminary plat for the Salem Townhomes and Retail Center with some conditions at Salem Road and Georgia Hwy. 81.

The plan by applicant Philip Johnson is for 20 townhomes and a small, neighborhood retail center.

Its site includes 5.06 acres and is in the Salem Overlay District's Tier 2, which either allows or requires a CUP for retail uses, depending on the use.

Conditions included construction of a six-foot privacy fence for nine townhomes along the rear property line.

The planning commission also:

- Recommended the Board of Commissioners rezone 17 acres at 51 Cedar Road from R2 (Single-Residential) to AR (Agricultural Residential) to allow livestock and livestock quarters. Michael Stevens of McDonough is the applicant.
- Recommended the Board of Commissioners approve a CUP for an existing auto repair business on 3 acres at 11225 Hwy. 36 in the M1 (Light Industrial) zone. The CUP will give the applicant the ability to have 25% of the property used for outdoor storage. Derwin Bryan Davis of Conyers is the applicant.

- Approved applicant Dorothy M. Jackson's withdrawal of a request for the planning commission's approval of an administrative use permit for operation of an adult day care facility at 10173 Puckett St. The planning commission has final approval on such permits.
- Delayed until Sept. 28 consideration of a change in the uses allowed on 51 acres on Crowell Road.

Applicant Denny Dobbs requested a change from Tier 1 and 2 to entirely Tier 2 on the land. A change to Tier 2 would allow construction of a mixed-use development on the entire site, according to the ordinance.

have weakened to approximately 60 mph.

One death as result of the storm has been confirmed, according to the Louisiana Department of Public Health, but Louisiana Gov. John Bel Edwards spoke to reporters Monday and said he expects Ida's death toll to "go up considerably throughout the day" as search and rescue efforts continue.

Ida hit Louisiana on the 16-year anniversary of Hurricane Katrina, which killed more than 1,800 people and reportedly cause more than $100 billion in damages in 2005.

Officials encouraged residents to evacuate Louisiana ahead of Ida’s landfall. The Covington News staff reached out to several area hotels to see if any evacuees were seeking refuge in Newton County, but none had been reported as of Monday at 11 a.m.

Award for 2021 was a great honor

“I have had the privilege to work with and learn from some truly remarkable agriculture teachers throughout my career who have been instrumental in my success. This recognition would not have been possible without their support and help over the years. I would also like to thank my administration, fellow agriculture teachers, and the Newton County School System for always supporting my program and ideas.

“I love being a teacher and seeing the impact that agricultural education can have on a student’s life and in our community,” said Gunter. “I have enjoyed seeing the agricultural education programs grow over the last 10 years in Newton County and look forward to continuing to see even greater growth and accomplishments in the future.”

Tim Schmitt, NCSS director of CTAE and Workforce Innovation, said, “Dr. Gunter is one of the hardest working teachers I have had the pleasure to work with in 20-plus years in this business.

“Her passion for teaching and commitment to Agriculture Education is unmatched and Newton County Schools is very lucky to have her. I am thrilled that GVATA has recognized her dedication and leadership.”

Lady Cougars defeat Brentwood

By CHRIS BRIDGES
Correspondent

MONTICELLO, Ga. — Piedmont Academy's softball team earned a 7-2 victory last Saturday against visiting Brentwood in a matchup of two perennially strong programs. Emily McEwen went the distance in the pitcher's circle and recorded three strikeouts while limiting the Lady Eagles to five hits in the home contest. "It was a good win," said coach Joe Johnson.

"We still are working to clean up a few things. We definitely were strong with our pitching and our defense made the plays behind her." The Lady Cougars jumped out to a 3-1 lead after the first inning and never trailed after the top of the first. Piedmont scored a run in the third, two more in the fourth and an insurance run in the bottom of the sixth. "The girls are starting to see the softball better at the plate,"

Johnson said. "We still have to work on making adjustments in the batter's box. This is a hard-working group of kids. We just have to keep grinding it out and getting better every day. There is still a lot of softball left to play. McEwen and Abby Arnold both had two hits to help lead the team offensively. Teagan Hinson had two RBIs while Marissa Holder and Maddie Waddleton also drove in runs.

Piedmont was scheduled to play at Locust Grove on Monday but that game was cancelled. The Lady Cougars were scheduled to play at Brentwood in a rematch in Sandersville on Wednesday of this week. The team will play Westfield and Southwest Georgia Academy on Saturday for a pair of games beginning at 11 a.m.

Georgia dove season opens Saturday with some changes

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

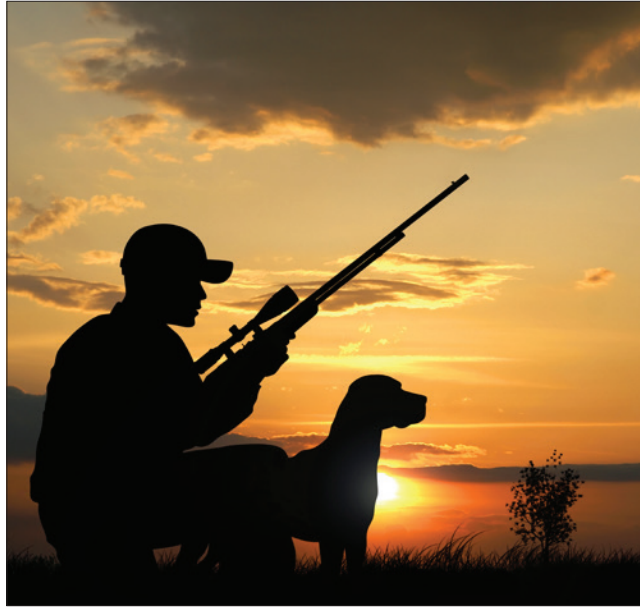

The Georgia dove hunting season opens Sept. 4 with a new schedule that extends the first part of the season into October, according to the state Department of Natural Resources' Wildlife Resources Division (WRD).

"For wing shooters, dove season kicks off the fall hunting season," said Alan Isler, chief of the WRD Game Management Section.

"Two big changes this year includes expanding the first dove season into October and changing opening day shooting hours — make sure you take note of the right shooting hours for the field you plan to hunt."

The official 2021-2022 dove seasons are Sept. 4 to Oct. 10; Nov. 20 to Nov. 28; and Dec. 19 to Jan. 31.

Statewide shooting hours — for all of the dove season — are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. However, on managed Wildlife Management Area (WMA) dove hunts, opening day shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to noon.

More dove season tips and information:

- Dove Field Forecast (<https://georgiawildlife.com/hunting/dove>):

The dove field forecast identifies available crops and anticipated hunting conditions for opening day.

- Regulations Quick Review: The daily bag limit is 15 doves per hunter. Collared doves may be taken and do not count toward your daily limit. Shotguns must be plugged to hold no more than three shot shells while hunting doves. Hunters must obtain permission from landowners before hunting on private property.

- Report Banded Doves: In 2003, the U.S. Geological Survey and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in cooperation with several states, including Georgia, initiated an ongoing dove banding project. Hunters can participate in this conservation effort by examining harvested doves for leg bands and reporting band numbers to the USFWS at www.reportband.gov.

- Private Field Plans? Make Sure the Field is Legal: Check out the online brochure, "Dove Hunting and Agricultural Practices in Georgia," available at <http://georgiawildlife.com/migratory-bird-info>.

Licenses Needed: Hunters 16 years of age and older need to have a hunting license and a Georgia Migratory Bird Stamp. This stamp is how Georgia participates in the federal Harvest Information Program (HIP). Some licenses allow the license holder to get the Georgia Migratory Bird Stamp at no cost. Hunters may purchase licenses online at www.GoOutdoorsGeorgia.com, by phone at 1-800-366-2661 or at license vendor locations (list of vendors available online).

As Friday's game progressed, Cawthon saw a noticeable difference in his current role compared to his previous one.

For all of 23 years, Cawthon has called offensive plays for the team he has coached. Now, he's delegated that responsibility to assistants.

As a result, Cawthon felt out of place on the sideline. He even stressed that was the biggest adjustment for him to make among other adjustments.

"That was the weirdest thing," Cawthon said. "And just getting used to the view again. I like to see things, so I'm really adjusting where I need to be on the sidelines and letting our coaches coach. I want to stay out of their way because they're all professionals and I trust every single one of them."

Be that as it may, there was a constant that Cawthon was pleased about seeing in this year's Eagles squad.

Cawthon said that Eastside has always been proud of the player's competitive spirit throughout the years. That spirit was tested right out of the gate Friday night.

After only completing a couple of drives, the game went under a lengthy lightning delay that caused the game to restart at 9 p.m.

But the Eagles persevered and their motivational drive shone bright. Thanks to that drive, the Eagles brought home Caw-thon's first career win as a head coach.

As a matter of fact, Cawthon highlighted that the team's play was the most rewarding part of the night.

"Just seeing our kids and how happy they were after the game," Cawthon said. "It's always rewarding to see our kids celebrating with smiles on their faces after the game in the locker room. It was a special night all around."

All-Southeast Region selection in 2017. Then, in 2018, Bryan was a Second Team All-SEC selection, too.

Even after receiving all of these accolades, though, Bryan pointed to something else that is her favorite part of the game. Playing as a team is the reason why Bryan has been committed to softball since she started playing around 8 years old.

"For me, I've always enjoyed the team experience," Bryan said. "With softball, it's not an individual sport and it's completely team-oriented. I enjoy playing with my teammates. It helps me and it also helps my teammates. So, being a part of a team and knowing that no one person can do it alone."

From the hallways of Newton High School to the Louisiana campus, Bryan said the support has been apparent coming from the Covington area. With the backing from her parents, other family members, friends and coaches, Bryan highlighted the importance each of them has played in her successful softball career.

Now, Bryan hopes her career will serve as an inspiration to younger girls from Covington who aspire to be successful in whatever they choose to pursue. That is why it's so important to Bryan to give back as much as she can.

"From being at Georgia as a freshman to my COVID year at Louisiana, Covington and Newton County has always been behind my back," Bryan said. "When I come home, I'll go back to Newton High School and give back and be there to help. I love my city and they've always had my back."

BATTLE BEGINS FOR NEWTON CUP

Eagles seek revenge as Rams try to retain trophy for third straight year

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — It'll be Rams versus Eagles at Sharp Stadium this Friday night as the two teams compete for the coveted Newton Cup.

Overall, it's been even in the 17 matchups between the two schools.

Newton leads the overall series 9-7-1.

The last two years, however, have resulted in lopsided victories for the Rams. They have defeated the Eagles by a combined 63-14.

In 2018, Eastside defeated Newton 27-20 following a Newton shut out of Eastside the year prior 40-0.

Both teams tied 41-41 in 2016

Battle for Newton Cup

that followed a three-year hiatus where the schools didn't face each other.

Eastside won the final two games in 2013 and 2012 that preceded the three-year gap 34-28 and 32-0, respectively.

From 2003-2011, each team swapped three-game winning streaks against one another.

Newton won every game from 2003 to 2005, then Eastside won from 2006 to 2008 and the Rams won three straight from 2009 to 2011.

The very first matchup between the Eagles and Rams was in 2002 which Eastside won 14-7.

So, it's safe to say that this rivalry has become a storied one by each passing year. On one side, Newton has maintained possession of the Newton Cup and, on the other side, Eastside wants the Newton Cup back on its campus for the first time since 2018.

Who will prevail in their quest? Find out under the Friday night lights at Sharp Stadium this week.

The Covington News will be on-hand providing live updates on Twitter throughout the game and the full recap will be in the weekend edition.

Cawthon earns first win as Eagles head coach

File | The Covington News

Jay Cawthon picked up his first win as Eastside's head coach with a 20-8 victory over Winder-Barrow on Friday.

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga.

— For the 17th consecutive season, Jay Cawthon roamed the sidelines for the Eastside Eagles football team. Last Friday night at Winder-Barrow High School, though, there was something different.

Instead of being the Eagles' offensive coordinator, Cawthon walked onto the sideline as the head man. And in his first outing as head coach, the Eagles defeated the Bulldogs 20-8.

Once the game ended, Eastside players doused Cawthon with an ice bath that christened the entire night.

"That was pretty special," Cawthon said of the ice bath. "I did not see it coming. [All of the players] came up to me and said 'hey, congratulations on your first win.' That was really cool to know that was on their mind."

Bryan voted Sun Belt Female Student-Athlete of the Year

University of Louisiana - Lafayette

Covington native Ciara Bryan was voted as the Sun Belt Conference Female Student-Athlete of the Year for the 2020-2021 year. The announcement was made on Aug. 16.

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

phubbard@covnews.com

LAFAYETTE, La. — Upon the completion of her four-year career as a Georgia Bulldog, Ciara Bryan transferred to the University of Louisiana. She played for the Ragin' Cajuns after the NCAA added one year of eligibility to all spring sports players due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

What a year it was for the Covington native.

Bryan was named to the NCAA Division I Second Team All-American team for Softball America. She was also recognized as the Sun Belt Conference's (SBC) Player of the Year as well as Newcomer of the Year.

But, on Aug. 16, Bryan received a phone call with news that would just add to her stellar resume.

The SBC announced that Bryan was voted as the conference's Female Student-Athlete of the Year.

Bryan recognized how significant the honor meant to her.

"When I got the call,

I was really excited and thrilled," Bryan said. "There have only been three people before me to receive this honor from the University of Louisiana. So, it's a big deal and I take pride in that."

The honor comes on the heels of an impressive 2021 season.

Bryan recorded a .418 average, seven home runs, 87 hits (which ranked third in the NCAA), 39 RBIs and 37 stolen bases.

This wasn't the first time Bryan had been recognized in her softball career that started at Newton High School.

During her time as a Ram, Bryan was the region player of the year as a junior, defensive player of the year as a freshman, received the coach's award as a sophomore and was named Most Valuable Player.

After she graduated in 2016, Bryan went and played at the University of Georgia. When she was a Bulldog, she was a NCEA Third Team

As the seasons transition from summer to autumn, it is time to incorporate hardier recipes into the dinner repertoire. But just because something seems to be more filling doesn't mean it has to be high in calories or compromise light eating plans. Cooks may be surprised to discover how much flavor is nestled within this 300-calorie "Spinach-Walnut Stuffed Chicken" dish from "Taste of Home: Healthy Cooking Cookbook" (RDA Enthusiast Brands) by the Taste of Home Editors. The cheese and chicken produce stick-to-your ribs satiety, and the toasted walnuts add a delicious crunch.

Fresh greens paired with pasta deliver an abundance of nutrients to the meal.

Vegetables and pasta are an ideal

news@covnews.com

Pasta recipes are versatile and can quickly feed a crowd when increased accordingly. Another benefit to pasta is it often is a safe bet when hosting a dinner party that includes people who follow vegan or vegetarian lifestyles. Furthermore, with the abundance of "alternative" pastas available, even individuals who must go gluten-free can indulge without worry.

Fresh greens paired with pasta deliver an abundance of nutrients to the meal. This recipe for "Penne With Seasonal Greens" from "The Contented Vegan" by Peggy Brusseu includes a variety of seasonal greens, but they can be modified to taste or with whatever fresh produce is available at the market.

Penne With Seasonal Greens

Serves 4

Ingredients:
2 tablespoons untoasted sesame oil
16 cups chopped
mixed seasonal greens,
such as cavolo nero,
tatsoi, mustard greens,
dandelion leaves,
Tenderstem, or purple

sprouting broccoli, small amounts of spinach, arugula, and chicory
1 tablespoon dried basil
1 tablespoon dried oregano
1 fresh chili, finely chopped, or 1/2 teaspoon chili flakes
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 whole garlic bulb, cloves separated and chopped
1 pound, 2 ounces
dried penne
Extra virgin olive oil for drizzling
Directions:
Pour the oil into a large (4-liter/16 cup) saucepan. If you don't have one, use the largest pan you have
and fill it with greens.
Press and pack the chopped greens into the pan. It should be absolutely full!
Cover the pan and place over a medium-high heat for 5 minutes.

If you have used a smaller pan, add the remaining greens and the herbs, spices and garlic. There will be room — the greens will reduce in bulk very quickly. Reduce the heat to medium and cook for 12 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally.

True crime buffs probe 'Only Murders in the Building' in Hulu comedy mystery

A podcast and a resolve to investigate "Only Murders in the Building" bring together an unlikely mix of New York apartment dwellers in a so-named comedic murder mystery series upcoming on Hulu.

In the eight-episode series that begins streaming Tuesday, Aug. 31, a grisly murder in the Arconia, an exclusive Upper West Side apartment building, brings together three strangers: Charles Hayden Savage (Steve Martin), a veteran actor whose claim to fame is for playing a TV detective decades ago; Oliver (Martin Short), a New York stage director with major money problems; and Mabel (Selena Gomez), a mysterious young woman with a link to the victim and no apparent means that would enable her to reside at the pricey address.

All are true-crime aficionados and fans of the podcast "All Is Not OK in Oklahoma." Soon, the oddly matched trio resolve to probe the slaying and start a podcast "Only Murders in the Building" to document their investigation.

The series was created by Martin and John Hoffman ("Grace & Frankie," "Looking") with Short and Gomez also getting executive producer credits here.

"I'm actually a true crime — 'fan' is the wrong word, but I'm interested in it," Martin explains. "I'm interested in the solving of crime. I really like that. And so I had this idea ... This is one the most unusual things I've ever done because it actually has a plot. I usually don't do things with plots."

With a long partnership dating back to "Three Amigos!" in the mid-80s, "Only Murders in the Building" represents yet another effort from Martin and Short. The addition of Gomez, best known for her stint as Alex in Disney Channel's "Wizards of Waverly Place," to the pair of septuagenarians may seem an odd match, but Short reports that the 29-year-old actress fit right in.

"What I love about the end product of the show," Short says, "is the three different energies of the actors. I kind of play it very real. Steve goes way over the top. And Selena grounds everything in this kind of dry, hilarious delivery. And the combination, I think, is perfect. And it was a dream to work with this brilliant, young lady."

For her part, Gomez was understandably apprehensive to be working with two comedy legends but those nerves vanished quickly.

"I didn't know what to expect because sometimes I find that comedy people can sometimes be a little bit distant and so I didn't know what I was getting myself into," she explains. "And now I have like these two crazy uncles in my life that basically give me boy advice and I sing rap songs to them."

"Naughty rap songs, I have to add," Martin quips.

Magnolia's 'Zoe Bakes' aims to make baking easy and fun

For many people, there is an intimidation factor to baking that puts them off. It can be too exacting, too scientific and therefore too easy to screw up.

Zoe Francois aims to change all that with "Zoe Bakes." Streaming currently on Magnolia Network, the half-hour series follows the trained baker and cookbook author in her Minneapolis home kitchen as she breaks down recipes, be it pie dough, biscuits or pizza, and shares tips and tricks designed to help the home baker create a consistent final product every time.

"I think people are maybe more intimidated by baking than anything else in the kitchen ...," Francois says. "And when I show them like the tricks that I know, all of a sudden like the world opens up and it's no longer scary and they're enjoying it."

One problem many people have when baking, Francois argues, is in the communication of recipes. Here, it's a case of words failing to capture the meaning as measurements of ingredients — like a walnut-sized piece of butter or a heaping cup of flour — can mean different things to different people and thus create room for error. So Francois advocates for the use of scales to level the playing field.

"They actually are easier to use," she asserts, "like there's less measuring cups and measuring spoons and all this stuff, it's easier and it's super-consistent. So as long as you have a really sound recipe, it's going to be consistent the first time you make it and the last time you make it because weights are always the same, whereas cup measures can really vary so much. So that's one of the things that was hammered home to me in culinary school, working in professional kitchens and now that I am trying to get every home baker to use."

Another favorite trick of Francois', which viewers saw in the premiere episode, is the use of vodka in pie dough, which can be a tricky concoction for a lot of home bakers. Here, she uses the popular liquor as a substitute for adding more water, which can create gluten and make the dough tough.

"You want more liquid in there so that you can roll out the dough easily and it's not crumbly and cracking," she says. "If you add vodka, you get more liquid without developing any gluten and it tenderizes the dough, so it's sort of a win in so many directions."

"And you have vodka," she adds with a laugh.

Holland Taylor OF 'THE CHAIR' ON NETFLIX

The fire scene in the first episode looked like it was fun to shoot. Was it?

(Laughs) That was very fun to shoot. (It was also) very real because we were actually working with fire and it was fun to burn (the memos). And you never know when you're going to do something like that, the idea is to just be alive to the impulse of the moment because it will be truthful. And I found as I was dropping each piece in the waste paper basket, I just said "Choo! Choo!" It was just something that spontaneously happened in the moment. At my age as an actress, I have a certain confidence that whatever I do is going to be a true impulse and I'm not going to hurt any scene by responding to it. So I pretty much do what occurs to me. ...

Amanda (Peet, the series' creator and executive producer) would love it when I would do things like that. She would say, "Oh my God! Keep doing it!" Whatever little gracenotes get added come out of your natural response, your natural behavioral response to the situation. And it's very different to actually light something on fire from imagining lighting something on fire. You know, whatever comes out is worth having.

Did you do that scene in one take?

I think we had to do two or three to get enough coverage of it. It's sort of different angles or you try something a little different or do it the same. But since you're going to be jumping cameras, it doesn't matter. It was jumping angles so it could all be included.

Future of Work

10 p.m. on WGTV

In the aftermath of the COVID-19 pandemic, this three-part docuseries examines some of the monumental changes in the contemporary workplace and their long-term impact on workers, employers, educators and communities. Tonight's premiere, "The New Industrial Revolution," looks at some of the continuing disrupting factors to the world of work, such as artificial intelligence, robotics, platform technology, globalization and labor practices. The hour also illustrates how the pandemic drove unemployment and caused those stats to flip from the lowest in 50 years to the highest in a century.

Meanwhile, a contrite Kirby (Maddison Brown) returns to the Manor and attempts to make amends to those she recently hurt, with an assist from Sam (Rafael de la Fuente). Culhane and Jeff (Robert C. tonight's PICKS

Tom Hanks

Black Panther

8 p.m. on TNT

More than a movie, this true phenomenon stars Chadwick Boseman as the Marvel title character, the prince of a kingdom called Wakanda that needs defenders from outside invaders. One enemy tellingly is named Killmonger, played by Michael B. Jordan in a fine reunion with “Creed” director Ryan Coogler. Though this 2018 film has the requisite special effects and frantic battles, it also has much more in terms of depicting family relationships and the essence of an entire culture. The first-rate cast also includes Letitia Wright, Martin Freeman, Angela Bassett, Forest Whitaker, Andy Serkis, Lupita Nyong'o and Daniel Kaluuya.

News of the World

8 p.m. on HBO

Paul Greengrass directed and co-wrote this 2020 adaptation of a 2016 novel of the same title by Paulette Giles, a period drama that follows a former Confederate army officer (Tom Hanks) as he tries to return a young orphan (Helena Zengel) to her last remaining family members. The girl had been raised from an early age by a Kiowa Indian tribe. Zengel received nominations as best supporting actress at the Golden Globe and Screen Actors Guild Awards; the film received Oscar nominations for its original score, cinematography, production design and sound.

Kevin Dillon

Roswell, New Mexico

8 p.m. on WUPA

Series regular Heather Hemmens, who plays Maria, directed the new episode "Goodnight Elizabeth," wherein Liz's (Jeanine Mason) plan does not go as she had hoped it would, putting herself, Isobel and Michael (Lily Cowles, Michael Vlamis) in grave danger. Elsewhere, Eduardo (guest star David DeSantos) takes Alex (Tyler Blackburn) into his confidence. Nathan Dean, Michael Trevino and Amber Midthunder also star.

Harry & Meghan: Escaping the Palace

8 p.m. on LIFE

Jordan Dean and Sydney Morton assume the title roles in this new 2021 docudrama, which purports to explore what happened behind the scenes in the British royal family following the seemingly fairytale wedding of Prince Harry and American actress Meghan Markle in 2018. In her adopted country, Meghan soon felt sad and isolated, and her husband shared her disappointment that the royal family and their staff didn't shield Meghan more from a hostile British press. Jordan Whalen and Laura Mitchell play Prince William and Kate Middleton.

Creepshow

10 p.m. on AMC

This horror anthology adapted from a 1982 hit movie returns for its sophomore season with a double bill that opens with "Model Kid," about a young loner (Brock Duncan) whose only close friends are the model action figures of his favorite scary movie monsters. Tyner Rushing, Jana Allen and Kevin Dillon also star. Then, in "Television of the Dead," a public TV station is overwhelmed when the appraisal of an antique book inadvertently summons a dark force. Mark Ashworth, Marissa Hampton, Coley Company and Ted Raimi star.

tonight's PICKS

Clive Owen

DC's Stargirl
8 p.m. on WUPA
Ominous weather patterns over Blue Valley hint at the imminent approach of Eclipso, but Pat and Courtney (Luke Wilson, Brec Bassinger) can't agree on the best way to search for him in the new episode "Summer School: Chapter Five." Elsewhere, Cameron (Hunter Sansone) opens up to Courtney, while Cindy's (Meg DeLacy) plan to recruit another student takes a surprising turn. Amy Smart, Cameron Gellman, Yvette Monreal, Anjelika Washington and Trae Romano also star.

Frontline
9 p.m. on WGTV
"America After 9/11" examines how the 2001 terror attacks on the United States carried out by 19 hijackers changed the course of history, scrambling the global geopolitical order and persuading American political leaders to compromise long-held principles out of fear of another attack. The U.S. response to that horrifying day not only transformed the Middle East, but America itself, and in very fundamental respects. As the 20th anniversary of those attacks approaches, this special episode looks at how 9/11 affected actions by four U.S. presidents.

Impeachment: American Crime Story
10 p.m. on FX
Based on a critically acclaimed nonfiction book by Jeffrey Toobin, Season 3 of this docudrama anthology revolves around the impeachment of President Bill Clinton, especially as relating to the Monica Lewinsky scandal. British actor Clive Owen plays the beleaguered president, with Edie Falco as Hillary Clinton. Beanie Feldstein ("Booksmart") plays Lewinsky, Sarah Paulson portrays Linda Tripp and Anna-leigh Ashford ("B Positive") is Clinton accuser Paula Jones. Rounding out the cast are Billy Eichner as right-wing online newshound Matt Drudge and Margo Martindale as literary agent Lucianne Goldberg.

Q: I've been seeing ads for the new show "Ordinary Joe," and the actor who stars in it looks like the same one who played Bob Benson on "Mad Men." Is it? – Penny Goldman, via e-mail

James Wolk

A: It is. James Wolk is the performer in question, and he actually has three roles in one in the NBC series that's slated to premiere Sept. 20. The drama has a concept like that of the Gwyneth Paltrow movie "Sliding Doors," showing the multiple ways the same person's life could have turned out if they had just done one thing differently.

In-between "Mad Men" and "Ordinary Joe," Wolk has had several other series including "Lone Star," (which somewhat famously aired only two episodes before Fox pulled it), "The Crazy Ones," "Zoo," "Goliath," "Tell Me a Story" and "Watchmen."

Vickie Sargent and her husband, Steve, celebrated 50 years of marriage last week at Union Chapel United Methodist Church in Monroe. As part of the festivities, Sargent pulled her wedding dress out of storage and put it on display, but the dress was celebrating 50 years for the first of several times. That's because Sargent's wedding dress has several more landmark dates to mark in the next few years, as four different women wore it for their nuptials over the course of seven years starting a half century ago. Sargent was the first to wear it for a simple reason — her mother, Carolyn Towler, made it by hand herself, sewing every stitch herself, including the lace along the seams and the veil and train. "Steven and I were just going to go the courthouse to get married," Sargent said. "But my mother wanted me to have a full wedding to remember and she made me a dress." On Aug. 27, 1971, Vickie and Steven Sargent were united in holy matrimony at Union Chapel. After the wedding, Vickie changed into another outfit to head off with her new husband; this, too, was hand- Dress » Page A5

ICU beds scarce in Athens region

Majority of emergency, regular beds and adult ventilators employed as region sees another surge of cases of the coronavirus

David Clemons THE WALTON TRIBUNE

One intensive care bed was available across a 12-county stretch of northeast Georgia early Tuesday, and that was an improvement from the weekend. All 76 ICU beds in the Region E Healthcare Coalition — a regional planning effort of agencies from Walton County to the South Carolina line — were in use Sunday and Monday. A single ICU bed was available as of Tuesday morning. ICU bed usage peaked as COVID-19 raged after the holidays, with 92 beds in the region used on Jan. 11. The number fell to as few as 43 in use on July 4 but has risen steadily as the delta variant of COVID-19 has made case numbers soar. Beds » Page A7

Bar honors 13 service members lost in Kabul

COVINGTON

COVINGTON NEWS

The loss of 13 American military members who were killed last week as result of a suicide bombing attack at the airport in Kabul, Afghanistan, stirred the nation.

To honor the lives of Sgt. Johnny Rosario Pichardo, Sgt. Nicole L. Gee, Staff Sgt. Darin T. Hoover, Cpl. Hunter Lopez, Cpl. Daegan W. Page, Cpl. Humberto A.

Sanchez, Lance Cpl. David L. Espinoza, Lance Cpl. Jared M. Schmitz, Lance Cpl. Rylee J. McCollum, Lance Cpl. Dylan R. Merola and Lance Cpl. Kareem M. Nikoui, all of the U.S. Marines, plus Navy Corpsman Maxton W. Soviak and Army Staff Sgt. Ryan C. Knauss, President Joe Biden issued an order last week to fly all flags at half staff. However, eateries and various establishments across the nation, including two Newton County bars, cleared space to pay their respects in another form.

Five O'Clock Sports Bar and Grill in Covington reserved a table in its dining area Saturday and placed a beer to honor each of the 13 fallen soldiers. A photo of the table circulated on Facebook and other social media with the statement: "Respect to the ones who made the ultimate sacrifice."

Greg Rogers, who is one of the bar's owners, said he decided to create the tribute after pictures of similar tributes at other establishments were sent to him.

"I thought it was a great idea," Rogers told The Covington News. "Ultimately, our freedoms come from them. ... If it weren't for the men and women who make the ultimate sacrifice like these 13 soldiers did, we wouldn't live in this country and have the freedoms we have today."

Rogers said his father served in the Army, and he has several friends who have served or currently serve in the military.

The 13 service members were in Kabul as part of an evacuation operation to bring numerous Americans home and others to safety after Afghanistan was overtaken by Taliban forces Sunday, Aug. 15. Taliban fighters completed the takeover just weeks after Biden's administration withdrew thousands of troops in July, in hopes to officially end a 20-year war.

Since the war began, more than 2,400 U.S. service members have reportedly died in Afghanistan through April 2021. Thursday's airport attack, which the terrorist group ISIS-K took responsibility for, marked the first American casualties in the country since February 2020.

HURRICANE IDA

New Orleans faces days or even weeks without electricity after storm hits

Ida devastates power infrastructure in the Gulf Coast region

David R. Baker, Josh Saul and Will Wade
BLOOMBERG

More than a million customers in New Orleans and beyond face days or even weeks without electricity during the summer heat after Hurricane Ida devastated the power infrastructure.

More than 25,000 workers from at least 32 states are mobilized to assist with power restoration efforts and officials have warned it could take weeks before normal service resumes in some areas. The widespread outages mean spoiled food in the fridge, no air conditioning and limited ability to recharge devices. Gas stations without power won't be able to pump.

By Tuesday, almost 1.1 million customers in Louisiana and Mississippi lacked power according to PowerOutage.us. As difficult as the days ahead will be, many local officials expressed relief that the situation wasn't worse. New Orleans' levees, flood gates and pumps held fast even as Ida dumped more than a foot of rain on the region, passing their biggest test since a $14.5 billion restoration after Hurricane Katrina devastated the city.

While there were reports of scattered deaths tied to Ida, the city escaped the kind of flooding from the 2005 storm that destroyed entire neighborhoods, left parts uninhabitable for months and claimed 1,800 lives.

"We did not have another Katrina, and that's something we should all be thankful for," Mayor LaToya Cantrell said Monday at a press conference.

Even as the area's flood-prevention infrastructure absorbed Ida's blow, the power grid collapsed. The storm's ferocious winds, measuring 150 mph at landfall, took out all eight transmission lines that deliver power to New Orleans, snapped utility poles in half and crumpled at least one steel transmission tower into a twisted metal heap, blacking out the entire city. Utility executives say it's impossible to tell how long it will take to fix.

While the levees' resilience is no doubt due to the rebuilding effort that followed Katrina, the starkly different outcomes also stem from the storms' different characteristics. Katrina slammed the coast with a 30-foot storm surge of ocean water, while preliminary estimates from Ida put its surge far lower. Ida's winds, however, were stronger than Katrina's, and that's what ultimately took out so many power lines.

"Katrina was a water event — this was the opposite," said Rod West, group president of utility operations for Entergy Corp.

While it's likely some customers will have power restored this week, the company needs to do a full assessment of the damage before knowing when the system would fully be restored and how much it would cost, West said. About 115,000 homes and businesses across Louisiana and Mississippi had power restored Monday.

2 dead in Miss. highway collapse; 2 dead in La.

At least four people have died as Ida brought about dangerous storm surges and heavy flooding in Mississippi and Louisiana.

On Monday evening, two people were killed and 10 people were injured following a highway collapse in southeast Mississippi caused by torrential rainfall. In Louisiana, a man died while attempting to maneuver his vehicle through floodwater in New Orleans while another person died after a tree fell on them in Prairieville, about 15 miles from Baton Rouge.

Louisiana Gov. John Bel Edwards said Monday that the death toll from Ida — which battered the state as it made landfall as a Category 4 hurricane before it was downgraded to a tropical depression — could grow "considerably." Parts of the state remained unreachable, making it impossible to fully assess the damage.

Entire towns have been cut off from communication, and more than a million people are without power. Crews are working to find residents trapped in still-flooded Gulf Coast communities battered by Ida.

In Mississippi, part of Highway 26, a two-lane state highway, washed out west of Lucedale, said Cal Robertson, a spokesperson for the Mississippi Highway Patrol. The washout was 50 feet long and 20 feet deep, he said, describing the highway as a "high road with steep embankments."

Evacuees haven't made it to this area

Perhaps it was because of the fast-moving nature of Hurricane Ida, but local hotels said they haven't seen an influx of evacuees from the Gulf Coast.

Hotels in both Newton and Walton counties reported no guests staying with them Monday as a result of the evacuation efforts. That's a contrast to other Gulf hurricanes such as Katrina in 2005, when relief efforts locally were mobilized.

Biden is all bark, no bite

President Joe Biden has held numerous press conferences since the Taliban completed its swift takeover of Afghanistan, though it took him a minute to actually get in front of the cameras. Taliban fighters completed the takeover of Afghanistan on Aug. 15, while Biden was on vacation at Camp David. Weeks before, the president said he believed such a takeover was highly unlikely. Boy, was he wrong.

After initially saying he'd address the nation in a few days, Biden spoke publicly the next day, Aug. 16, but only after facing intense, bipartisan backlash.

He's held numerous press events since that time, and each has been memorable, but not in the way that's reassuring or hopeful. In fact, nothing he actually said was noteworthy, because the words he spoke seemed empty, disconnected and incoherent on occasion, as if he were reading it all for the first time.

What strikes me about these events is a continual, resounding image of Biden turning his back on reporters, refusing to take or answer questions. The one time he did try to answer a question, the audio was cut — a coincidence, I'm sure — making his answer inaudible.

These press events were a prime opportunity to showcase the strength and power the U.S. holds on the world stage. It was an opportunity to let Biden remind the world "the U.S.

What's your take?

does not negotiate with terrorists." It was an opportunity to invoke confidence and hope for Americans trapped in Afghanistan.

Instead, our president — a position so often referred to as the most powerful in the world — appeared weak. He stuck to a script, pointed fingers of blame in some instances and never shouldered any of the responsibility. Biden also seemed in a hurry to get away from the cameras and avoid all questions, again, turning his back on the nation.

It wasn't until Thursday, Aug. 26, that Biden finally took a few questions from the media, and that was only after waiting five hours to address the nation after suicide bombings left at least 13 American troops dead and many other injured in Kabul. And many of his remarks weren't inspiring.

This is our president. But hey, at least he isn't the big, mean orange man, right?

Before he was elected, Biden's slogan was "Build Back Better," which was not only geared toward his plan to defeat COVID-19, but also improve the economy and tackling environmental issues. He also assured American voters he was the man for the job because he excelled in foreign policy — something the president of the United States must always be ready and willing to do. He promised to put an end to amateurism and once again restore the country's status as a "top dog" on the world stage.

Here we are, now 220 days into his presidency, and it appears Biden was all bark, no bite. In fact, thanks to Biden, we're no longer viewed as "top dog," or even a close second. The U.S. is now seen as that one dog we've all seen on YouTube who, when playing fetch with its owner, doesn't bring back a ball, but somehow manages to fetch a potato instead.

In addition to our foreign failures, we're also facing problems on the homeland. We've reached record inflation rates, which is essentially taking money away from our paychecks. We're still struggling to fight off COVID-19, despite the president's plan to beat the virus, also touted on the campaign trail.

Don't forget about the ongoing crisis at the southern border.

And let's also not forget

Biden's decision to end the Keystone Pipeline, which not only cut hundreds of thousands of jobs but also effectively severed our nation's path to energy independence.

I'll give credit where it's due. Biden's administration did help lead a historic infrastructure bill through Congress, which should be helpful for generations to come. But getting our infrastructure where it needs to be today is going to take a long, long time.

Based on these issues, as well as various others not mentioned, I do not see our country being "built back better," and I don't fully believe Biden's leadership is putting us on the right track to doing so. And based on USA Today's latest presidential approval rating poll, it appears nearly 60% of you agree.

If Biden doesn't take control of the Afghanistan situation and get a grip on the pertinent issues facing our country, not only will the world view of America's governing leaders continue dwindling to that of a sad laughingstock, but don't be surprised when bipartisan calls for Biden's resignation really begin to heat up, too.

He knew she would see the ad on Page 1

I got back to the office the other day to find about half the staff in tears or nearly there over the customer who'd come in to place an ad.

The only ones who weren't emotional were those who hadn't yet heard the story of Patricia and A.J. "Butch" Waldrop Jr.

Mr. Waldrop came in the office and asked to place a birthday ad for his wife in our nearest issue to the day when the former Patricia Ann Coker would have turned 79.

She died Jan. 24.

Mrs. Waldrop was a native of Walton County, born Sept. 2, 1942, to Mary Lee Thompson Coker and John Robert Coker.

She was preceded in death by her parents; two of her brothers, Robert Lee Coker and Roger Coker; and her sisters, Shirley Briscoe and Joyce Kennedy.

She was survived by her husband; their daughter and son-in-law, Janet and Scott Gleason; their son and daughter-in-law, Keith and Karen Waldrop; her brother and sister-in-law, Eugene and Mary Ann Coker; and three granddaughters, Anna, Emily and Samantha.

Mrs. Waldrop was laid to rest Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 26, at the Campton United Methodist Church cemetery.

Mr. Waldrop came in and wanted to make sure his poem written for his late wife would be in a place she would be sure to see it, the front page of our newspaper. And while that is not a place we normally have birthday wishes, Madison Graham was able to work with Mr. Waldrop every step of the way to make sure his message to her was perfect.

After all, he said, she would be sure to see it on Page A1 of The Tribune. From all of us, happy birthday, Patricia.

Some anniversaries are impossible to forget

My husband and I celebrated our 39th wedding anniversary on Sunday.

I remember the day of our wedding well, but not every anniversary makes a mark on my memory.

Over the past decade, we usually eat out or take in a movie on Aug. 29 each year. Sunday it was lunch at a Mexican restaurant, and an evening walk with the dog along the trails at Turner Lake Park in Covington. In these chaotic times we live in, low key and relaxed celebrations are fine with us.

When Frank served in the military, we were often apart on anniversaries ... and birthdays and holidays. That's when I would receive the most fabulous flowers, no matter where my hubby was deployed. (I count my blessings that he always returned home from those missions.) We've also experienced anniversaries when one or both of us were ill. In 1998, I was sick as a dog with food poisoning from bad shrimp. On that anniversary Frank put a beautiful arrangement of flowers on the bureau in the bedroom, a bucket by the side of the bed, and a tray of ginger ale, saltine crackers and broth on the nightstand. He's still the best in sickness and in health.

Fortunately, we've never experienced real crises on a wedding anniversary.

On Sunday, Hurricane Ida slammed into the Louisiana coast, echoing the day 16 years ago when Hurricane Katrina devastated New Orleans and other communities up and down the Gulf Coast.

I don't remember what we did for our anniversary in 2005; I do, however, remember being glued to the television and witnessing the catastrophe of human suffering unfold.

There were scenes of people desperately clinging to rooftops. Thousands of New Orleans residents who could not evacuate took shelter at the superdome. That situation rapidly deteriorated and people endured a public health crisis in the very place they sought refuge. Wicked and wretched individuals preyed on the misfortune of their neighbors, looting businesses and vacant homes.

The cyclone named Katrina breached levees and caused the deaths of around 1,200 people. The storm wreaked havoc along the Gulf Coast, costing $106 billion in damage and spawning 62 tornadoes in eight states.

I'm sure this is an anniversary many along the Gulf Coast did not want to relive. Only time will tell what impacts Ida will have made.

As I write this, search and rescue operations are underway and recovery efforts are set to go into high gear. Hospitals in Louisiana are operating on backup generators, their staffs overwhelmed with caring for COVID-19 patients. Heaven bless our health care workers who continue to put their patients first, despite a deadly pandemic and storm surges.

By press time, our area will have already felt some effects from Ida, as it would have pushed inland bringing rain and strong winds to Mississippi, Tennessee and north Georgia.

My daughter and son-in-law, who live in Mobile, Alabama, called Monday morning with a safety update on their situation. They spent half the night in the bathroom as spin-off tornadoes were reported moving through their area. I'm relieved they suffered no injury or substantial damage. (However, the fact they remain unvaccinated for the coronavirus still causes me deep concern.)

Hurricane season is officially from June 1 to Nov. 30, though today's storms can arrive early or late, like inconsiderate guests. I only hope that more people heed warnings issued by emergency management officials and evacuate when the next unwelcome guest blows into the Gulf's warm waters.

Our nation needs a fresh start in 2024

One year ago this week, I wrote a column called “Four Years Notice.” It was an open letter to Democratic and Republican party leaders, encouraging them to find fresh candidates for the 2024 presidential election.

My closing words were, “Find a candidate who will ensure America will be respected worldwide. One who will listen to all sides, and recognize our differences are what make us great, not what are tearing us down.”

One year later, the needle has not moved. Unfortunately, the 2024 campaign began shortly after the 2020 election was decided.

In November 2024, President Joe Biden will turn 82, and former President Donald Trump will be 78. Despite their advanced age, they are considered the front runners for their respective parties’ presidential nomination.

I have great admiration for senior citizens. With any luck, I’ll be one in the not too distant future. I get emails and letters each week from readers in their 80s and 90s who can out-write me, out-think me, and probably out-run me.

But I’m a realist. I see where America is these days. Internationally, we are not viewed with the respect we have traditionally enjoyed. Financially, we are a disaster waiting to happen. Physically, we’re overweight, overworked and reeling from a pandemic with rapidly spreading variants. Politically, we’re at each other’s throats, and the division seems to grow each day.

With all this going on, in a nation of 328 million Americans, are Biden and Trump really our two best choices to take the oath of office in January 2025?

Can neither party put forward someone who is 40, 50, 60, or heck, even 70? Don’t we have capable leaders in the Senate, the House, state capitols, or major cities?

Putting it in baseball terms, Henry Aaron was the best home run hitter of all time, but you didn’t see him with a bat in his hands at age 80. By that time, it was someone else’s turn. Why aren’t the two major parties putting players with great potential in their starting lineup?

Does America really want Trump back in the White House? Apparently not, since 81 million people voted to give him more time on the golf course.

Does America really want Biden holding the nuclear football until he’s 86 years old? Although the official line is, “He’s planning to run for a second term,” that’s hard to believe if you have seen him struggle to get through a news conference.

I support whoever happens to be president at any given time, even if I disagree with him on some issues. That’s what good Americans do. I hoped Trump’s uncouth campaign style would give way to presidential behavior after he was elected. That did not happen. Too often, the noise drowned out his accomplishments.

I admire Biden’s work on vaccination distribution and infrastructure improvements, even though I’m disappointed in his shortcomings in other areas. But I always want the president, whoever it may be, to succeed.

So the notice I’m giving today is far more time-sensitive. Just one year from now, you’ll be bombarded with commercials for the 2022 midterm elections, including U.S. Senate races in Georgia and Alabama, and various gubernatorial races.

Almost immediately after those votes are counted, the 2024 campaign will rev up. Must we again settle for Biden versus Trump, or even their stand-ins and surrogates? We will soon find out if the leadership of one or both parties is courageous enough to find candidates who are focused on the future, and not the past.

That’s my take. Now it’s your turn. In two weeks, this column will include your feedback, anonymously if you wish.

Is there a candidate, old or new, you would support in 2024? Tell me who, and why. My email is RadioTV2020@yahoo.com.

Dress: 4 couples, one dress, and all have stood test of time

Continued from A1 made by her mother, though Towler was disappointed her daughter asked not for a more casual dress, but for pants.

“She sewed those pants for me,” Sargent said. “But she insisted on putting lace on them, too.”

After that, it seemed the story of the dress would end in the shadows of Sargent’s closet, stored away in a garment bag as a pleasant memory. Instead, it was only the beginning of the dress’ wedding adventures.

A year later, Sargent’s friend, Cathy, was planning her own wedding to Greg Meadows. Coworkers at Oxford Slacks in Monroe, the two were talking about Cathy’s wedding plans when Vickie offered her a bit of help.

“She offered me her dress,” Cathy Meadows said. “Of course, I said yes.”

On Sept. 16, 1972, a little more than a year after Sargent’s wedding, Meadows wore the dress herself, standing up with Greg at Union Chapel for her own nuptials. The remarkable aspect of it all, Meadows said, was how well the dress served, requiring no alterations or changes at all to work as a second bride’s wedding attire. “It fit perfectly,” she said.

A year after that, Sargent pulled the dress out a third time.

Craig and Holly Buckles needed a wedding. Both only 18, they decided to tie the knot before Craig went off to report for duty in the U.S. Air Force, necessitating they throw together a ceremony quickly — including the need to find a dress.

Out came Sargent’s dress again.

“My mother was friends with Vickie’s mother and she asked if it was OK if I wore Vickie’s wedding dress,” Holly Buckles said.

Of course it was, Buckles was told, and the dress stood up before a preacher at Union Chapel for the third time in as many years as the Buckles were wed on Dec. 29, 1973, with Holly wearing the dress without any issues.

“It turned out so perfect,” Buckles said. “We didn’t have to make any alterations or anything. You couldn’t get a better dress.”

The dress got a few years off before it reported for duty one final time as Steve Sargent’s sister, Sharon, married Leonard Pierce on May 14, 1977, while wearing the dress.

Vickie Sargent stood up for that one in her own role, though in a different dress this time.

“I was the maid of honor for that one,” Sargent said.

On Saturday, the Sargents celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception for friends and family at the Union Chapel fellowship hall.

“We didn’t have a reception back 50 years ago,” Sargent said. “So we’re finally having one now.”

Celebrating with them were the Buckles and Meadows families, who were able to make it to mark their friends’ wedding anniversary, and get a glimpse at the dress that served them in their own weddings nearly half a century ago, as well, in the same church they were all married in so long ago.

After all, Sargent said, the dress has a commendable track record for all four of its couples.

“All of us stayed married,” Sargent said. “We all made it.”

Sargent was happy to give the dress at least a bit of the credit for that.

“It still looks great, too,” she said.

Kemp calls up more Guard troops to help

Dave Williams CAPITOL BEAT

ATLANTA — Gov. Brian Kemp committed up to 2,500 Georgia National Guard troops Monday to fighting the surge of COVID-19 cases across the state.

While the 105 Guard members Kemp deployed to 10 hard-hit hospitals last week were medically trained, the newly assigned troops will be given nonmedical assignments, the governor said. He said hospital executives have told him they need help with such tasks as directing traffic, staffing cafeterias and cleaning rooms.

“It’s a real morale booster to let the people working in the hospitals know we’re listening to them,” Kemp said.

The additional commitment came as COVID-19 cases continued to explode in Georgia. The 12,223 new cases reported on Saturday was among the highest since the coronavirus pandemic first hit Georgia in March of last year, state Commissioner of Public Health Dr. Kathleen Toomey said.

That was topped by the 19,083 new cases reported Monday.

Toomey said many of the newer cases involve school-age children, particularly those ages 11 to 17.

“Children are getting infected and transmitting to other family members,” she said.

Toomey said the three vaccines that have proven effective against COVID-19 continue to work well against the virus, including the highly contagious delta variant.

While 168 vaccinated Georgians have died from the disease, that represents a tiny percentage of the total deaths from COVID-19, she said.

“We have the capacity to vaccinate more and more people,” she said. “We’re just not getting people coming to be vaccinated.”

Mass vaccination sites have worked well to increase the number of vaccinated Georgians.

But Toomey said some health care workers giving shots have been harassed by people opposed to vaccinations.

Gov. Brian Kemp welcomes Justice Clarence Thomas to the state Capitol on Monday. Thomas was in Atlanta for the investiture of Judge Andrew Pinson for the Appeals Court of Georgia. Pinson is a former clerk for Thomas, a Georgia native. Special to The Tribune

One site even had to close due to threats, she said.

“This is wrong. These people are giving their lives to help others,” she said. “We should be thanking these individuals.”

Kemp said vaccination incentives have paid off. He cited DeKalb County, where 2,500 people were vaccinated during a single event.

The governor also announced the Georgia Department of Community Health will offer $150 Visa gift cards or $480 in credit for health care expenses to State Health Benefit Plan members as a vaccination incentive.

He reminded state employees state agency offices will be closed this Friday to give them a chance to get a vaccination.

Meanwhile, Kemp continued to emphasize vaccines as a better weapon for fighting COVID-19 than government-imposed mask mandates.

“Mandates are only going to cause division,” he said. “We shouldn’t be fighting about these issues.”

Besides the additional National Guard commitment, an executive order Kemp signed Monday also lifted the usual limits on weight, height, length and operating hour of commercial trucks to speed medical supplies to Georgia hospitals. He said hospitals are reporting oxygen in short supply.

Beds: Majority of emergency beds, ventilators being used

In addition, the state reported 73 emergency beds in use, or 51% of the capacity in the Athens-based Region E.

There were 66 adult ventilators in use, 70% of the capacity.

More than 550 hospital beds were filled, almost 90% of capacity.

Georgia has reported 19,594 deaths from COVID-19, including 85 added to the tally in its daily report Monday afternoon.

Walton County had 991 new cases in the two-week span ending Monday. There have been 248 deaths from COVID-19 in the county.

murder, two counts of aggravated assault and concealing the death of another.

He is on the calendar for Chief Judge John M. Ott in Walton County Superior Court the week of Sept. 20.

Watters and others were arrested in connection with the death of 25-year-old Chase David Loffler in 2018.

Loffler was reported missing in March of that year and found beaten and strangled to death in the yard of a home near Loganville in early April. The Georgia Bureau of Investigation identified the body using DNA tests.

Later that year, a Walton County grand jury returned indictments against Watters, Jonathan Britt Lester of Loganville and Watters’ father, Roger Gene Watters of Social Circle.

Lester faces the same charges as Kolbie Watters, while Roger Watters is charged with concealing a death and making false statements to police.

The indictment alleged Kolbie Watters and Lester beat Loffler to death using their hands, feet and a bat, and strangled him and placed a plastic bag over his death.

Lester, 24, was arrested in Asheville, North Carolina. He is being held in the Newtonton County Jail.

Roger Watters, 47, has remained in the Walton County Jail since April 2018.

A federal judge sentenced Kolbie Watters to life plus 10 years in prison for conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute and to distribute controlled substances, and possession of a firearm in furtherance of a drug trafficking crime.

Lester was sentenced to 17½ years for conspiracy to possess with intent to distribute and to distribute controlled substances.

Three other people from north Georgia pleaded guilty in what prosecutors called a conspiracy to distribute “massive amounts of dangerous illegal drugs.”

Prosecutors have said Loffler was a suspected co-conspirator in the drug operation.

Private schools draw the short straw

For all you private school members of the Georgia High School Association, the time has come. Secession seems to be your only reasonable option, because you're clearly not welcome anymore.

For as long as I can remember, which is becoming a lot shorter for this old man, a conflict has simmered among public and private schools in GHSA. Any success of private programs was credited/blamed on an unlevel playing field, unlimited as they are by school zones.

Over the years, GHSA has tried a variety of so-called "multipliers," which added a certain percentage to the student population of private schools, forcing them into classifications higher than they would normally be placed. But despite playing against bigger schools, many private schools had the audacity to keep winning.

So now, the association has its finger on the nuclear button. A recent recommendation, which will be voted on in October, segregates the biggest private schools come the postseason.

All totaled, it only affects nine schools that currently compete in Classes AA through AAAAA.

The smaller private schools — those in Class A like locals George Walton and Loganville Christian — have already been exiled to their own classification.

So watered down is the Class A private league that the playoffs are almost

After a pair of impressive wins to open the season, Social Circle has given every indication its football program is turning a corner.

A third consecutive win

Friday night would make it a certainty as the Class A Redskins hit the road for the first time and face cross-county rival Walnut Grove of Class AAAAA.

They are no longer in the same region, but that is unlikely to dampen the intensity of the showdown between these two longtime rivals.

The Hurricanes and Bulldogs will meet for the 52nd time in what has traditionally been an entertaining game. But the Hurricanes will be heavy favorites this week.

The Bulldogs are led by new head coach Clint Jenkins, who spent the past three years at Dacula, where he won a pair of region titles. He faces a major rebuilding job this fall.

In its season opener last week, Morgan was routed by Class AA Putnam County 37-0.

Meanwhile, the Hurricanes continue to roll. They finished their two-game tour of Walton County with a pair of impressive wins over Class AAAAA programs Loganville and Walnut Grove, winning by a combined score of 63-7.

Offensively, Monroe has been led by the potent combination of quarterback Seltian Straughter (four passing and two rushing TDs) and running back Alan Jones (two more of them. But they can only put 11 on the field at a time.”

Social Circle hasn’t won three straight games since 2006, which is also the last time they ended the year with a winning record.
On the other side, a loss would be a devastating blow for a Walnut Grove team that’s dropped back-to-back games to open the season, including being blanked 35-0 by rival Monroe Area last Friday.
The Warriors have struggled to develop a consistent offensive attack and have been too generous on defense.

The two area programs met for the first time last fall, with the Warriors winning easily by a final of 42-16. Despite the four-classification discrepancy, the Redskins feel like they have a great chance to even the series.
“We haven’t played the toughest teams the past two weeks, but any time you step on the field and have some success, it gives you confidence,” Patton said.

The Redskins were expected to be explosive on offense, led by the return of defending Walton County passing champ Logan Cross. In two games, he’s passed for more than 500 yards and thrown four TDs with no interceptions.
But it’s the defense that’s seen the biggest improvement. Last fall, they allowed 31 points a game. They’ve given up 6 so far this fall, including last week’s 21-0 blanking of Providence Christian.

The Lions have lost what appeared to be a pair of winnable games to open the season. What might be their best chance at a victory could come Friday night.
After hosting a winless Strong Rock, the road ahead is treacherous. Five of their final seven games will be against teams that are either currently ranked or began the season in the top 10 among Class A private schools.
The Lions have struggled offensively, scoring just 10 in a season-opening loss to Providence Christian and being shut out against Bethlehem Christian last Friday.

Strong Rock hasn’t had problems compiling points. It’s averaging 29 points a game, sparked by senior quarterback Brady Sanders, who leads the team in both passing and rushing.
However, LCA defense showed promise last week against Bethlehem Christian. The Lions’ defense only gave up a field goal late in the third quarter during the 3-0 loss to the Knights.

The Red Devils offense will be in a state of flux this week after losing quarterback

Gavin Hall to transfer.
Loganville hits the road for the first time this week after taking last Friday night off. The Red Devils will make the trek to Cumming to face off with Forsyth Central.
The Red Devils will rely heavily on the running game, turning to running back duo Solomon Leslie and Avery Hamilton to lead the offense.
Forsyth won its season opener against Northview in Week 1 by a final of 62-0 while Loganville fell to cross-county rival Monroe Area 28-7 the same night.
The Bulldogs finished 4-4 last season, but are led this year by new head coach David Rooney.

opened its season with a 62-0 rout of Northview.
Smith said he received an email from Hall’s father the Sunday night after the Monroe loss requesting a meeting. The coach said he finally spoke with Mr. Hall Monday night, and by that time the decision had already been made for Hall to transfer.

He withdrew from Loganville on Tuesday.
Hall earned the starting job at George Walton last fall as a freshman and carried the Bulldogs to the third round of state. He finished third in the county in passing and fifth in rushing, compiling nearly 1,500 all-purpose yards and accounting for 16 touchdowns.

But when former GWA head coach Shane Davis resigned following the season after being suspended by the former head of school, Hall decided he no longer wanted to play for the Bulldogs and transferred to Loganville in February.

meaningless. The league includes 53 schools, only 39 of whom field football teams.
There are 32 spots for the state playoffs, which means 82% of Class A private teams will reach the postseason.
If you think that's bad, consider the situation for those nine larger independent schools. They'll be allowed to compete in a region against publics during the regular season, although the publics won't be forced to count those games in the region standings.
After the regular season, the publics will play out their 32-team bracket while the privates are left to figure out how to devise a meaningful postseason tournament with just nine teams.

The privates have made a counteroffer, which includes moving all of its teams out of Class AA, or even selectively moving its most successful programs into even higher classifications. As of now, the publics aren't having it. What they do have is the votes to do as they will.
Given the likelihood that the GHSA moves forward and banishes their private school members into oblivion, I have a suggestion.
All privates, from Class A on up, should form their own association, maybe even joining the current Georgia Independent School Association. That would give them a larger pool to compile regular-season schedules and populate postseason brackets.

They could also seek non-league games against out-of-state schools.
Finally, and most importantly, they should recruit like crazy, something they're already accused of doing. Since they are no longer limited by GHSA rules, they should siphon away as many of the best players as possible.
Sounds spiteful, I know. But it's no worse than the jealousy and envy that's driving the other side.

The George Walton Academy volleyball team stepped up in classification last Thursday but when all was said and done the Volley Dogs had defeated visiting Grayson in four sets.
After falling 25-22 in the first set, GWA responded to win the next three with scores of 25-19, 25-18 and 28-26.
"This was a great home win for the Lady Dogs against a very solid Grayson team," said first-year coach David Schnieders. "This was our first home match and the student body showed great support. The upper school students and community were all on campus for the annual ice cream social. The team really appreciated playing in front of so many George Walton Academy family and friends. It was a team effort all the way around."

Following the match, the three senior including Hadley Schnieders, Delaney Sims and Abby Wright and senior manager Anna Swope were recognized during the community pep rally.

The Lady Dogs were 10-3 overall leading into this week with victories against Jefferson, Lakeview Academy, Walnut Grove, Oglethorpe County, Lanier, Collins Hill, Apalachee and East Forsyth.
Sims has 100 kills and 64 digs while Wright has 52. Wright also had 10 total blocks.
Kelsey Gasaway has a team-high 143 assists and Schienders has 58.

THE WALTON TRIBUNE
Two of the county's top softball team continued to roll over the weekend with George Walton going 4-0 in the Titan Warrior Classic Tournament in Winder while Walnut Grove posted a 2-0 record Saturday during a three-team round robin at Parkview.
The Lady Bulldogs began the weekend with a 2-0 win over Class AAAAA Starr's Mill Friday afternoon followed by a 9-6 win over Campbell later in the evening.
Senior Caroline Conner proved to be the hero of the Starr's Mill game. She got the start in the circle and pitched a complete game with 10 strikeouts while helping herself out at the plate with a 2-run double in the first that wound up being the difference in the contest.

GWA continued its hot streak with a 1-0 win over Hampton Saturday at noon then capped off the day with a 8-3 win over Grovetown.
Conner once again had a big day in the circle, tossing another complete game against Hampton in which she struck out 14 batters.
The Lady Bulldogs return to action Thursday on the road at powerhouse Wesleyan. GWA was scheduled to host Hebron Christian on Tuesday.
Walnut Grove kicked off its Saturday with an 11-1 shellacking of Peachtree Ridge followed by a dominant 8-3 win over Parkview.

In the game against Peachtree Ridge, Malorie Watson picked up the win in the circle after tossing 4 2/3 innings with six strikeouts. Reigning Region 8-AAAAA Player of the Year Nova Wright led the offense with three hits and four RBIs while Alyssa Neidigh blasted a three-run homer in the fourth.
Jenna Yeary picked up the win in Game 2 by tossing a complete game on 106 pitches with five strikeouts. Wright, Kaitlyn Johnson and Haley Carroll paced the offense with two this each while Wright and Carroll combined for five RBIs.
Walnut Grove returns to region play this week with a doubleheader at Apalachee on Thursday. The Lady Warriors were scheduled to host Greenbrier Tuesday afternoon.

George Walton's Caroline Conner racked up 24 strikeouts in 13 innings of work over the weekend which helped the Lady Bulldogs to a 4-0 record over two days.

Probate 8020

IN THE JUVENILE COURT OF WALTON COUNTY STATE OF GEORGIA

IN THE INTEREST OF: Case Number: 147-21J-0352

I.K.G. Sex: Female; Age: 1 Year; DOB: 08/22/2019, Child Under 18 Years of Age.

NOTICE OF SUMMONS AND EFFECT OF TERMINATION JUDGMENT

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN, the biological mother, Miyucca Kemiah Brown, and the legal father, Ketron Rokee Green of I. K. G. :

Georgia law provides that you can permanently lose your rights as a parent. A petition to terminate parental rights has been filed requesting the court to terminate your parental rights to your child. A court hearing for your case has been scheduled for Monday the 18th day of October, 2021 , at 1:30 p .m., at the Juvenile Court of Walton County. A copy of the petition may be obtained by the parents from the Clerk of the Juvenile Court at Walton County Courthouse, Monroe, Georgia, during regular business hours , Monday through Friday, 9:00 o'clock am until 5:00 o'clock p .m. exclusive of holidays. A free copy shall be available to the parent. Upon request, the copy will be mailed to the requester -parents or alleged parents only. The general nature of the allegations are abandonment and failure to comply with your reunification case plan.

If you fail to appear, the court can terminate your rights in your absence. If the court at the trial finds that the facts set out in the petition to terminate parental rights are true and that termination of your rights will serve the best interest of your child, the court can enter a judgment ending the rights to your child. If the judgment terminates your parental rights, you will no longer have any rights to your child. This means that you will not have the right to visit, contact, or have custody of your child or your child's earnings of property. Your child will be legally freed to be adopted by someone else. Even if your parental rights are terminated:

(1) You will still be responsible for providing financial support (child support payments) for your child's care unless and until your child is adopted; and

(2) Your child can still inherit from you unless and until your child is adopted.

This is a very serious matter. You should contact an attorney immediately so that you can be prepared for the court hearing. You have the right to hire an attorney and have him or her represent you. If you cannot afford to hire an attorney, the court will appoint an attorney if the court finds that you are an indigent person. Whether or not you decide to hire an attorney, you have the right to attend the hearing in your case, to call witnesses on your behalf, and to question those witnesses brought against you.

If you have any questions concerning this notice, you may call the telephone of the clerk's office which is 770-267-1346.

WITNESS THE HONORABLE J. STANLEY RHYMER, Judge of said Juvenile Court.

This 12th day of August, 2021.

Adoption/Child Custody 8040

the trial finds that the facts set out in the petition to terminate parental rights are true and that termination of your rights will serve the best interest of your child, the court can enter a judgment ending the rights to your child. If the judgment terminates your parental rights, you will no longer have any rights to your child. This means that you will not have the right to visit, contact, or have custody of your child or make any decisions affecting your child or your child's earnings of property. Your child will be legally freed to be adopted by someone else. Even if your parental rights are terminated: (1) You will still be responsible for providing financial support (child support payments) for your child's care unless and until your child is adopted; and (2) Your child can still inherit from you unless and until your child is adopted.

This is a very serious matter. You should contact an attorney immediately so that you can be prepared for the court hearing. You have the right to hire an attorney and have him or her represent you. If you cannot afford to hire an attorney, the court will appoint an attorney if the court finds that you are an indigent person. Whether or not you decide to hire an attorney, you have the right to attend the hearing in your case, to call witnesses on your behalf, and to question those witnesses brought against you. If you have any questions concerning this notice, you may call the telephone of the clerk's office which is 770-267-1346. WITNESS THE HONORABLE J. STANLEY RHYMER, Judge of said Juvenile Court.

Bryan makes history in GWA loss to Stratford

Greg Yarman
CORRESPONDENT

George Walton Academy junior Sara Bryan made school history Friday night, becoming the first female GWA player to score a point for the Bulldogs football program.

Bryan, who was an all-region selection at midfielder on the GWA soccer team this spring, came out for football this fall.

She got her first extra point attempt Friday night with 9:20 remaining in the second quarter as the Bulldogs played host to Stratford Academy.

After a 2-yard touchdown run by Caleb Fortunat, Bryan's PAT was true.

That cut Stratford's lead to 28-7, but the Eagles continued to pour it en route to a 47-7 victory.

After an hour's delay following lightning strikes in the vicinity of Don Williams Stadium, George Walton got possession but gained just 4 yards.

On its first play from scrimmage after a punt, Shaun Wilmore dashed 42 yards for a touchdown. Nathan Haskell kicked it to 7-0.

Keondre Glover recovered a GWA fumble, giving Stratford a short field. After a 15-yard run by Glover, Nate Slaphey took in the touchdown from 3 yards out and a 14-0 lead.

Shaun Wilmore picked off a pass and returned it to the GWA 31-yard line about mid-way through the quarter, setting up Glover's 8-yard touchdown run. Stratford led 21-0 after a quarter. The Eagles added to it in on a 24-yard touchdown pass to Keondre Glover from Lawson Cole just 10 seconds into the second quarter.

A face mask penalty tacked on to Fortunat's kickoff return set up 28- and 2-yard runs by Fortunat, the second giving GWA its touchdown.

But Stratford added an 8-yard touchdown run by Slaphey and 15-yarder by Glover before halftime.

The teams played with a running clock in the second half. Stratford struck just once, on a 1-yard touchdown run by John Wade, and led 47-7 going into the fourth. That's where it ended.

Stratford put two players in triple-digits for rushing. Wilmore ended at 109 yards while Slaphey had 103.

Glover pitched in 57.

GWA (0-2) will be off next week and look for its first victory Sept. 10 at Crawford County in Roberta.

Stratford (1-0) will be back home in Macon next week to welcome Westfield, a 51-21 winner Friday night over Trinity Christian.

Monroe Area 35, Walnut Grove 0

At Monroe, a week after trouncing arch-rival Loganville by three touchdowns, Monroe returned to the Purple Pit and routed Walnut Grove 35-0, giving the Class AAA Hurricanes a pair of wins over Class AAAAA opponents.

It was Monroe's fifth straight victory over the Warriors.

For the second week in a row, they were dominant on both sides of the ball. Junior running back Alan Jones led the attack with 10 carries for 117 yards and two touchdowns, all in the first half.

Senior quarterback Selatian Straughter had another solid performance with a pair of scores, one rushing and one passing. He closed out his career against the Warriors with 573 all-purpose yards and 10 touchdowns.

After a one-hour storm delay, the game got off to a sloppy start with both quarterbacks throwing interceptions. But while the Warriors could never get moving, the Hurricanes rolled, scoring on four straight possessions and getting a special teams touchdown.

Sophomore safety Blake Raffield got things started for Monroe when he picked off Warriors quarterback Ashton Adams on the Walnut Grove 30. A penalty pushed the ball to the 15 and one play later, Straughter sprinted around the right end for his first score.

The Hurricanes improved to 2-0 and will travel to Madison Friday to face Morgan County for the 52nd renewal of the longtime rivalry. Walnut Grove fell to 0-2 and will return home to face Social Circle.
