FBI raids Oxford-area farm

Incident reportedly associated with widening probe into Jan. 6 U.S. Capitol riot

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — The FBI raided an Oxford-area farm last week and seized electronics associated with the leader of a far-right militia, according to area media sources.

It was part of the widening investigation into the Jan. 6 riot at the U.S. Capitol, the residents said.

The FBI "carried out court-authorized law enforcement activity" at the Oxford-area farm where Donnie and Annemarie Hyatt live north of Covington, spokesman Kevin Rowson told The Covington News.

He said the agency had no other comment on the incident.

The FBI reportedly seized cell phones, computers and other electronics from the home of the couple — which is inside Walton County about one mile north of the Newton County line — Tuesday, Aug. 10.

They are associated with Stockbridge resident Chris Hill, the leader of a far-right militia called the III% Security Force, the AJC reported.

Donnie Hyatt told the AJC 40 federal agents in four armored vehicles converged at 7 a.m. Aug. 10 morning to serve a warrant to search the property.

He said the agents had a warrant, but it was for a sealed investigation and had

2022 Election: Race for US Senate in Georgia

Tom Spigolon | The Covington News

U.S. Senate candidate Kelvin King speaks to a group of Newton County Republicans during a recent campaign stop on the Covington Square.

King stops in Covington on name-building tour

Seeking GOP nomination in 2022 to challenge Warnock

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Republican Kelvin King says he is the best candidate to challenge Democratic incumbent Raphael Warnock for his U.S. Senate seat because of the way he can "cancel" out some of the senator's inherent advantages.

He also targeted a high-profile, potential Republican opponent for criticism during a recent campaign stop on the Covington Square.

King is owner of a metro Atlanta construction company and a Sandy Springs resident who was a major supporter of former president Donald Trump during the 2020 election.

He brought his tour of every Georgia county to Newton on Wednesday, Aug. 11, as part of an effort to build name recognition before the 2022 primaries in May 2022.

King, a political newcomer, began his first race for an elected office in April by seeking the 2022 Republican nomination for Warnock's U.S. Senate seat.

He and state Agriculture Commissioner Gary Black are among a number of Republicans expected to qualify for the GOP nomination to challenge Warnock, pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta who likely will seek a full six-year term in 2022.

Warnock is considered among the more vulnerable Senate incumbents after narrowly defeating Republican Kelly Loeffler in a special election runoff in January for the right to complete the final two years of a Senate term.

Among those also considering seeking the GOP nomination are Herschel Walker, the Georgia football legend who is a longtime Texas resident. Trump and others have encouraged the Georgia native to move back to run for Warnock's seat.

King, who played football for the Air Force Academy, said Walker was a great

Newton High student arrested after alleged chokehold leads to unconsciousness

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — A Newton High School student is facing a criminal charge of aggravated assault in addition to school disciplinary action after allegedly choking another student until the victim passed out recently.

School system spokesperson Sherri Partee said the school nurse and Newton County EMTs treated the victim at the scene after the incident in the school’s commons area during a lunch period Wednesday, Aug. 11.

“Three administrators and another staff member responded within seconds,” Partee said.

“We take these situations very seriously as the safety of our students and staff is our No. 1 concern,” she said.

A school resource officer reported she responded to a fight between students after administrators had broken it up about 1:30 p.m. during the school’s third lunch period.

One student lost consciousness after being placed in a chokehold by another student, the officer reported

“The (victim) was seen by the nurse, administrators and EMTs that were already on location for another incident,” the officer reported.

The student who placed the victim in a chokehold “was not on location” after the fight but was later identified and placed under arrest, the report stated.

The suspect was to be transported to Newton County Detention Center, fingerprinted and transported to Rockdale Youth Detention Center, the officer reported.

Information about the suspect and victim was withheld because both are juveniles, according to the report.

Locals recover their belongings from their homes destroyed in the earthquake in Camp-Perrin, Les Cayes, Haiti, Sunday, Aug. 15. The death toll from the magnitude 7.2 earthquake in Haiti has soared as rescuers race to find survivors amid the rubble ahead of a potential deluge from an approaching tropical storm.

Area Haitians seek to help quake-ravaged homeland

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Some Newton County residents with ties to Haiti are directly feeling the effects of the devastating weekend earthquake and are seeking to help with relief efforts in the country.

Covington resident Gracia Bien-aime said a niece, her baby and another relative died in the quake.

The walls of a home collapsed on the niece and child, while the other relative died of an unknown reason while trying to escape the damage, she said.

“It was devastating news,” she said. “It’s a circumstance beyond capacity.”

The Associated Press reported at least 1,419 people died and more than 6,900 were injured in the quake which measured 7.2 on the Richter scale.

It was centered about 80 miles west of the capital of Port-au-Prince, and caused major damage in some towns and triggered landslides that hampered rescue efforts.

The country is considered the poorest in the Western Hemisphere and already was dealing with the pandemic, worsening gang violence and poverty and political upheaval following the July 7 assassination of President Jovenel Moïse.

It also was still recovering from a 2010 quake that killed thousands and devastated Port-au-Prince. Pastor Jean Dieunel Cadely of Bethel Church of God in Covington said church leaders are working on plans to provide aid of some kind.

He said many church members have relatives in the affected area and Cadely said he is receiving regular reports from the region.

“We are really in a tough time,” he said. Bien-aime said she has lived in the U.S. for 30 years, including the last 14 years in Newton County. She annually has traveled to her homeland as a missionary from her church, Bethel Church of God.

She said all she thought about after hearing the news about the quake damage was how she could help with rescue efforts for her family members and other Haitians.

“I have in my mind to go,” she said.

Bien-aime, who was unable to travel to Haiti in July because of the political problems, said she “cannot get used to” dealing with such tragic news as the deaths of people she knows — even though the country appears to be continually dealing with a political or humanitarian crisis.

Cadely said the church regularly seeks to help those in need, including in Haiti.

“This is nothing new to us,” he said.

Friends, family celebrate nursing home resident's 100th birthday

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Friends, family and at least one elected official honored Covington resident Rosetta Martin on her 100th birthday Thursday, Aug. 12, with a drive-by birthday celebration in front of her residence at Riverside Health Care Center.

Martin waved from a wheelchair under the nursing home's front portico as vehicles drove by with occupants wishing her happy birthday.

A Newton County Sheriff's Office vehicle used its siren and blue lights to wish her a happy birthday. Sheriff Ezell Brown shook her hand.

She said she wanted to give her well-wishers a simple message for helping her celebrate her milestone.

"Live for Jesus," Martin said.

Family members said Martin was a lifelong Newton County resident and a retired food service worker and manager.

few details, the AJC reported.

The Hyatts were among the thousands who attended former President Donald Trump's rally in Washington, D.C., on Jan. 6. They were not among those who breached the Capitol, Donnie Hyatt told the AJC.

The Hyatts did not respond to calls from The Covington News.

Hill helped place Newton County in the national spotlight in September 2016 when he led the III% Security Force on the Covington Square in an armed protest of the possible construction of a Muslim mosque and cemetery in south Newton County.

He also released a video at the time in which he admitted publicly he said some "crass" things about mosque planners, though he denied it was meant to intimidate.

Hill reportedly also was among those attending a protest in August 2020 that turned violent in the city of Stone Mountain amid calls for removal of the Confederate memorial carving in Stone Mountain Park.

football player during his Heisman Trophy-winning career at UGA and in the NFL.

However, he discounted Walker's potential as someone who could be a leader in government.

"He was a legend on the football field. But this is not football," King said.

King said he is the best candidate to challenge Warnock in part because, as a Black candidate, he can counter the state's first Black U.S. senator because he has had many of the same life experiences.

"I can say things others cannot," King said.

King's mother was 15 years old when he was born in Macon and he grew up in poverty in a single-parent home in Mableton in Cobb County.

He later went on to star in football for Pebblebrook High School in Cobb County and earned an appointment to the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado, where he went on to serve in the Air Force for five years.

King is in the midst of his "Un-Cancel America" tour — a reference to charges the Democratic Party favors a "cancel culture."

Dictionary.com defines "cancel culture" as "the phenomenon or practice of publicly rejecting, boycotting, or ending support for particular people or groups because of their socially or morally unacceptable views or actions."

However, Republicans have charged Democrats also use it to unfairly smear some groups or institutions merely because they are supported by the GOP.

The tour began July 31 in Rabun County and is set to run through all 159 Georgia counties in 30 days. King and wife, Janelle, traveled though six counties Aug. 11.

Yes, it was bad, but ...

Was the withdrawal from Afghanistan painful to watch? Yes, of course.

Was it worth the billions we spent on firepower and supplies over 20 years to simply be allowed to fall into Taliban hands? Absolutely not.

Was this a disaster of President Joe Biden's making, stemming from his weakness as a leader? Republicans, led by our own congressman Jody Hice, would, of course, say yes as they sense an opening to regain a majority in both houses of Congress in 2022.

Of course, the congressman is expected to parrot complaints from former president Donald Trump and other Trump supporters in Congress.

I think our military leadership knew it'd be tough for the Afghan military to hold off the Taliban, despite the extensive training we gave them. Did we know they would fold like a deck of cards? I don't think so.

In fact, Trump already has begun issuing statements about how things would have gone much differently had he been reelected.

Really, Mr. Trump? Biden was the fourth president dealing with this morass that was, essentially, a continuation of something Russia's predecessor, the

Sidiqullah Khan | Associated Press

USSR, was unable to solve.

Then-president George W. Bush placed troops in Afghanistan soon after 9-11. His successor, Barack Obama, with Biden as Vice President, continued the war. Trump followed but with the pledge to remove our troops from Afghanistan.

Slate reported that Trump issued a statement on Thursday that stated "the world would find that our withdrawal from Afghanistan would be a conditions-based withdrawal. I personally had discussions with top Taliban leaders whereby they understood what they are doing now would not have been acceptable. It would have been a much different and much more successful withdrawal, and the Taliban understood that much better than anyone."

But Trump's emissaries signed an "accord" with the Taliban in February 2020 that imposed only a few conditions — and the Taliban are violating none of them at the moment, Slate reported.

The Taliban merely agreed not to allow any "individuals or groups, including al-Qaida, to use the soil of Afghanistan to threaten the security of the United States and its allies." The accord did not bar the Taliban from fighting Afghan government troops or from capturing Afghan provinces on its own, Slate reported.

In addition Trump's claim that he had "discussions with top Taliban leaders" is overstated, Slate reported. Through an interpreter, he had a discussion with a Taliban leader with whom Trump said he had a "very good" relationship" and lauded the Taliban for "killing terrorists...some very bad people."

"They're looking to get this ended and we're looking to get this ended," Trump reportedly said.

Should Biden's withdrawal have been as swift and complete as it was? No.

But who's to say it would have gone differently or, in Trump's words, "much more successful" under him?

A statement released by the White House said that Trump "emphasized the need to continue the reduction in violence" and "urged the Taliban to participate in intra-Afghan negotiations."

No Americans have been killed there since February 2020. The situation probably would not have improved if we had left troops and millions more in supplies and funding for the military suppliers who were there.

The next president — or presidents — would have inherited the same problem and, likely, the same end result from a country whose military we trained and supplied but did not feel the need to resist.

Biden's response was not good, but Trump needs to back off from throwing stones at a glass house he helped build.

Your Letters to the Editor

Reader says 'lines matter'

Dear Editor:

Legislative district maps are being redrawn for Georgia, based (supposedly) on the results of the census. There are always members of whichever party is in power, who want to chop up and re-draw the districts in ways they think will keep them in power. Often this results in districts that are grossly stretched or distorted and communities and cities divided. Many cities are spilt unnecessarily into multiple House or Senate districts, making it difficult for citizens to get strong representation.

Where the district lines lie, and how they get drawn, matter, but the process tends to be done in secret by the party in power, out of sight of us, the voters.

I ask that you send a postcard, letter, email or phone call to the Chair and Vice Chair of the House Redistricting Committee and ask them to demonstrate transparency in the redistricting process by publishing a schedule for the process up through the special session and to provide a date for the release of the proposed maps for review by the public. Chair Bonnie Rich can be reached at 402 CLOB, Atlanta, GA 30334, bonnie.rich@house.ga.gov, 404-656-5087. Vice Chair Darlene Taylor can be reached at 401-H State Capitol, Atlanta, GA 30334, darlene.taylor@house.ga.gov, 404-656-7857.

Fox, CNN are often professional wrestling of news

It happened in a doctor's office. It was during one of those awkward moments, when a medical assistant and I were awaiting the arrival of a doctor.

We were running out of small talk about the weather, COVID, and lunch plans.

"So what type of work do you do?" she asked. "I work for a TV station," I replied. "I'm one of those news guys."

"Oh, really? Which side are you on?" she asked. I was a bit confused. "Excuse me?"

She continued. "I mean, don't you have to be on one side or the other? You know, Democrat or Republican? Isn't that what y'all do on the news?"

She was dead serious. She said the news had two sides, and that's why she didn't watch. "One side tells you one thing, and the other is just the opposite, and I just stopped watching because I don't know what to believe," she said.

I read and hear comments like this far too often, and it breaks my heart. We as a nation have more access to news than ever before, and it's as close as our fingertips. But here's the truth: what she calls news is not news.

When I was growing up, there was no confusion about news. There were three major television networks, a handful of national news magazines, and prestigious daily newspapers in our larger cities. They all covered Republican presidents and Democratic presidents. When things were going well (the moon landing, infrastructure improvements, a good economy), it was reported. When things went wrong (violence in the streets, the Watergate scandal, runaway inflation), that made the news too.

In addition to balanced news coverage, there was commentary. Newspapers and magazines have always had opinion columns and editorial pages, and all are labeled as such. Many TV networks and local stations often included an opinion piece, from a journalist or perhaps the station manager at the end of a newscast. Again, we were told in advance: this is commentary, not news. You could agree or disagree, and your feedback was encouraged.

The formula seems simple enough. We'll give you the news straight down the middle, and then over here in this section, we'll offer some comments to give you something to think about. Quite often, we will give you the pros and cons, and ask you to make up your own mind. For a couple of centuries, that seemed to work rather well.

Then came cable TV, and look at us now. Like my friend the medical assistant, we are so fed up, confused, and disoriented, we have given up on what we call "the news."

The problem here is that we have partisan entertainers, also known as cable news hosts, masquerading as journalists. They are not.

Labels are important. The next time you're in the store, look at those labels. They tell you exactly what you're getting. When you grab a box of Morton salt, you know there won't be sugar inside. They are not trying to fool you.

The same policy should be enforced on television. Tonight when you click on "Wheel of Fortune," the title is accurate.

There's a big wheel, and someone will win a fortune. No false advertising there. What will you get if you watch "Entertainment Tonight?" There will be no war coverage, no sports, and no financial advice. It's just entertainment, like it says on the label.

Certain cable networks should be honest with their viewers. Fox News Channel is not all news. Much of the content is highly partisan opinion. The same goes for CNN, which was established as the Cable News Network. In the beginning, both of those networks (along with others) focused on actual news.

In later years however, they shifted to a different style. It was a proven financial windfall, long ago perfected by professional wrestling promoters.

As followers of wrestling can testify, watching two people grapple in the ring, observing all the rules, can be tedious.

But if those wrestlers do something outrageous to grab our attention, suddenly we are glued to the TV set. Hit an opponent with a chair? Now you're talking. Is that blood flowing from his forehead? We can't take our eyes off that.

Fox, CNN, and their imitators are often the professional wrestling of news. It is a sideshow, designed to infuriate and sensationalize. Is the content truthful? Occasionally, but some of their own attorneys have admitted that certain hosts are not to be believed. Yet, they persist.

I'm all for freedom of speech. These networks should stay on the air, if they're presenting factual information.

But the word "news" should be removed from the name. The correct word is "opinion." Americans need to learn the difference.

News is a word with a long, proud history. Give it back to those who don't abuse it.

Fun by the Numbers

Here's How It Works:
Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Minnoia announces candidacy for Porterdale City Council

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

PORTERDALE, Ga. — Jill Minnoia announces her candidacy for Porterdale City Council’s Post 4 seat in the Nov. 2 election.

“I am honored to have been encouraged to run for Porterdale City Council, Post 4. After much thought, consideration, and support from my family, friends, and neighbors I have decided to serve the community that I love as a City Council member.”

She said her intention is to listen openly to the concerns of community members, make educated and well-informed decisions in order to be fair to all, and work hard to continue to improve the city of Porter-dale.

Minnoia has lived in Porterdale since 2016. She is a board member for C.A.R.E (Community Assistance Relief Effort) which is a local nonprofit that raises funds to provide scholarships for Porterdale residence seeking to continue their education.

She served as a board member for the Porterdale Planning and Zoning Committee from 2017 to 2019. She is a graduate of Leadership Rockdale class of 2009; served as a Court Appointed Special Advocate for Rockdale County CASA Inc.; and served as a board member for Project ReNeWal.

Minnoia is a Georgia native and a graduate of Avondale High School in Avondale Estates. After high school she pursued a career in the event and hospitality industry and graduated from the Southeast Tourism Society Marketing College.

She has worked more than 20 years as an event manager and coordinator for local city government including the city of Conyers and city of Lilburn.

“I seek this opportunity to serve my community and to work on behalf of the citizens to continue to make Porterdale a thriving community that we love and are proud of,” Minnoia said.

state law enforcement agency about certain records and requested an investigation into certain transactions” after receiving a number of records weeks ago. He said the records would include “certain P-card holder’s records covering 2020 and further back.”

Shortly after the news broke, Banes publicly thank McGinley via Facebook and said he had wanted an investigation to be carried out by the Georgia Bureau of Investigation in June — when public allegations of P-card misuse had first begun.

“I would like to thank District Attorney Randy McGinley for informing the public of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation investigation into P-Card use in our county,” Banes wrote on his Facebook

“On June 16, 2021, I requested the GBI to do a full investigation into the use of my P-Card. I was later told that I did not have the authority to make the request. Only a District Attorney has this authority.

"I have told this community when I took the position as chairman that I wanted to promote transparency in government. I will continue to stand by my commitment.”

McGinley could not disclose which P-card users or records would be part of the investigation. Currently, there are 50 employees and elected officials with county-issued P-cards, including Banes and McGinley.

“If [the investigation] necessitates further action, then my office will do so,” McGinley said.

“It is not appropriate for me to comment beyond that at this point.”

Bound by Georgia Rules of Professional Conduct, Rule 3.8, McGinley said he could not make any public comment that would “have a substantial likelihood of heightening public condemnation” of anyone accused of a crime.

“There are times when I will tell everyone that it would not be appropriate for me to comment on whether there is even an ongoing investigation,” he said. “However, in circumstances where it is already publicly known, including by potential parties being investigated, there is not much purpose served by me not at least confirming that there is an investigation.”

WILLIAMS:

“I’ve spent a great 16 years on the Covington City Council,” Williams told The Covington News in a phone interview Monday. “It’s been a fulfilling time, but I want to spend more time with my family ... There’s been times that I’ve been so busy, members of my family would have to make an appointment just to spend time with me.

“After my family and I talked about it, I feel like it’s time to make a change and ... hang up my hat,” she added.

Williams said she was proud to play a part in the city’s many accomplishments over the years. She complimented the leadership of various mayors and council members, and also the diligence and hard work of city employees across all departments during her tenure.

With Williams’ time in office set to end in December, at least two new faces have qualified to take her place.

As of 3 p.m. Monday — the first day for candidates to officially qualify for municipal elections — Charika Davis and George Scott “Scotty” Scoggins were the only candidates to qualify to run for West Ward, Post 2.

Davis, who was born and raised in Covington resides in the Sterling Lakes subdivision. She currently serves on Covington’s Planning Commission Board, and she is a charter member of the Covington Area Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc.

Scoggins is owner of Scoggins Travel

Agency. Scoggins and his wife, Shelley, have only lived in Covington for two years, but he said his wife’s family has lived in the city for more than 27 years, “so we are very familiar with the town.” The couple resides in Clark’s Grove, where Scoggins serves as president of the Neighborhood Association.

During the Covington City Council meeting Monday night, Williams said she would be endorsing Davis.

Councilwoman Susie Keck qualified to seek reelection for a second term in East Ward, Post 1. Currently, she faces no opposition.

Councilman Anthony Henderson also qualified Monday to seek reelection for a second term in West Ward, Post 3.

Henderson’s case was bound over to the state Attorney General in February for prosecution for allegedly violating election laws in 2017, in which investigators say he helped a handful of people register to vote in Covington’s municipal election, despite not being residents of the city.

To date, Henderson has not been indicted.

As of Monday, no one has qualified to run against Henderson.

More candidates may come forward in the coming days, as the qualifying period is Aug. 16-20 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day.

Covington’s municipal election will be held Nov. 2 at city hall within the courtroom chambers located at 2116 Stallings Street.

appreciation for the players' effort throughout the game. "Plain and simple, we weren't getting it done in the first two quarters," Dukes said. "We caught fire and got back to what we wanted to do." Early in the game, though, the likelihood of Alcovy winning seemed dim. To start the second quarter, the Tigers had more bad snaps (four) than they did first downs (zero). They couldn't get anything positive going on offense and, when they did, a penalty would negate it. But, once all of the players seemed to settle down in the fourth quarter, the Tigers started attacking. Now, they plan to take the momentum off this scrimmage win into the regular season. Their season kicks off this Friday at North Forsyth High School. According to Dukes, last week's scrimmage gave him and his coaches a great measuring stick to where the team is. "We went through some tough times in this game," Dukes said. "We're going to use this experience to help us weather the storm because we know it's not going to be easy."

State of the Program

Newton focused on 'One Ram Way'

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — 'One Ram Way' is posted all over the Newton High School campus. Whether it is inside the school or on the sports fields, the mantra for the Rams has been publicized by the administration.

But, what does this motto represent? Vincent Byams, Newton's athletic director, began this summer working with all of the coaches to begin enforcing the idea to all Ram student-athletes. "We've established the 'One Ram Way,'" Byams said. "It has to do with core beliefs that our coaches came up with: commitment, excellence, integrity, discipline and teamwork. Those are the five components we wanted to hone in on as a collective body." Byams labeled it as a cultural piece instilling those principles into the student-athletes. Now, as the school year has started, the athletic department

File | The Covington News

Newton High School's athletic program is looking forward to a successful year across all sports.

is excited for the community to see this motto in action. So, Newton High School is planning the inaugural Athletics Jamboree. No date has been decided upon yet as the original date of Aug. 14 was postponed. The jamboree will feature athletics stations giving information on sports guidelines and how to stay informed. There'll also be activities such as players signing autographs, a food truck, icy truck as well as door prizes and giveaways. The driving force behind this event is giving the community an opportunity to see the student-athletes. In addition to the jamboree, the Rams are also planning events for throughout football season such as homecoming, senior night, teacher appreciation and military appreciation night. The overall mission for this school year with athletics is to captivate Newton County residents. "We're here for the community," Byams said. "And we feel the community is here for us. We want to be a reflection of all constituents. People should expect to see players competing on the field or court, but also expect to be entertained. We'll have raffles and giveaways. There's going to be something there for everybody." And, with this year expected to not have as many restrictions on attendance as last year, the fan experience should be more exciting. Byams stressed that he anticipates large crowds at all sporting events and a lively turnout, too. But everything starts with those principles behind the school's motto. As long as the student-athletes are exhibiting those features on and off the playing field, Byams said he and the coaches are doing their jobs. "At Newton High School, we think we are the best," Byams said. "Not in terms of wins and losses, but about the culture and attitude of our students. They're going to be able to come to our programs, learn those attributes and, when they come out, we expect them to be outstanding individuals in the community."

"We're being aggressive at the plate and on the bases as well," head coach Miranda Lamb said. "We've got some quick kids out there and I trust them on the bases." Alcovy swept its double-header against Discovery High School on Aug. 12 19-0 and 21-0 to open the season. Then, they split their games at Prince Avenue Christian School's Diamond Day on Aug. 14. The Lady Tigers defeated Oglethorpe County 4-0 in game one and lost to Prince Avenue 9-3 in game two. In its lone loss on Saturday, Lamb credited fatigue rather than the lack of production from her players. "Our girls were tired by the second game," Lamb said. "It's early in the season and we've only been out there playing for about a month. So, getting them in playing shape to play 14 innings instead of just seven is where we're at the moment." Moving forward, Lamb plans to emphasize conditioning and getting in better shape to compete as the season progresses. But, overall, Lamb is satisfied with how her team has performed to open the season. Lamb wants to see more from her team, but has noticed her team is progressing exponentially. "They're trusting the process," Lamb said. "They're believing in what we're telling them and putting in the work. And it's paying off so far." Alcovy was to play its next games Aug. 17 and Aug. 18 on the road at Clarke Central and Monticello, respectively. They'll also participate in the Diamond Day tournament along with Newton and Eastside on Aug. 21.

Alcovy downs Stockbridge in preseason play

Defense played a huge role in completing the Tigers' comeback versus Stockbridge on Aug. 13.

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

COVINGTON, Ga. — It's not how you start; it's how you finish.

That statement is applicable to the Alcovy Tigers when they defeated Stockbridge 14-9 in the "Tiger Brawl" scrimmage last Friday.

After a horrendous start to the game that granted Stockbridge a 9-0 lead, everything just seemed to click for the Tigers around the four-minute mark of the final quarter.

Tristan Mayweather scored the first touchdown on a two-yard run that drew the score 9-7. Following the score, MJ Stroud sacked Stockbridge's quarterback to force a three-and-out.

Then, with just 35 seconds left in the contest, Ashton Evans connected with

Eastside hopes to capitalize on 'crucial' summer

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — As the 2021 season has drawn closer for the Eastside Lady Eagles, they have aimed to take advantage of the preparation process.

For their head coach, Heather Wood, this offseason has been the most important to help the team get ready for the season ahead.

"The summer has been crucial for our entire team," Wood said. "That is when we can really set the tone for our season and the expectations we have. This summer, specifically, was crucial for us to develop of sense of cohesiveness among the girls."

Wood also said that the Lady Eagles are in a tough softball region, which places even more emphasis on what they've done this summer.

Despite the tough region, though, the Lady Eagles are optimistic with their expectations for 2021.

"Our goal every year is to play our best softball toward the end of the season," Wood said. "We hope the experience of playing last year will help prepare our returning players for the difficult region and a return to the state playoffs. Then, hopefully, we can make a run in Columbus."

To help make these dreams a reality, Eastside returns a lot of players from last year's squad.

There are eight seniors and 14 returners from a year ago. Those returners include seniors, freshmen, outfielders and pitchers.

And, even though some of the returners didn't play on the varsity team last season, Wood said that the vast experience would benefit the team.

"We have a lot of veteran leadership," Wood said. "I think that is something we've tried to capitalize on going into the season."

Playing in the 5A

classification, Wood and her team foresees a lot of high intensity moments this upcoming season. With that, the Lady Eagles have emphasized being mentally and physically prepared.

Eastside feels that, if they can master both preparation processes, their team has the pieces in place to make noise in 2021.

"One thing about this team is we're so well-rounded," Wood said. "We have a great group of athletes who will help set us apart from other teams. In the past, our team has maybe only had one or two standouts, but I feel like we're good across the board."

Hazards hiding in drinking water

news@covnews.com

Life on Earth would not exist without water. Plants and animals rely on fresh water daily, even more than some people may recognize. In fact, survival experts note that a human can survive without food for anywhere from eight to 21 days, but only three days to a week without adequate water.

Even though water is such a crucial commodity, many waterways and drinking water sources are under attack. Substances people use everyday are turning up in rivers, oceans and lakes, affecting not only marine life, but people as well.

It's important to note that the United States has one of the safest public drinking supplies in the world. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency regulates drinking water quality in public water systems, and strict concentration levels for pollutants and chemicals have long since been established. However, contamination can occur in source water as well as in distribution systems even after water has been treated. Contaminants can include naturally occurring chemicals and minerals, as well as materials that are used in manufacturing, local land use and through sewer or wastewater releases.

The following are just a few of the contaminants that can cause adverse conditions if present in water.

- Arsenic: Arsenic can enter the water from natural deposits in the earth or from industrial agricultural pollution, advises the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. This may be a concern for those who rely on well water.
- Benzene: Federal drinking water surveys

Metro Creative Service

While water is crucial to the survival of plants and animals, studies show many waterways and drinking water sources are under attack today.

in the United States estimated that roughly 1.3% of groundwater systems contained benzene. Large concentrations of benzene can be troublesome because it is known to cause cancer. Benzene is found in crude oil and gasoline, but also can occur naturally in volcanic gases and smoke from forest fires.

Chlorine: Chlorine in small amounts has been standard in U.S. drinking water treatment since 1904. While chlorine can eradicate many pathogens, there is a downside. In the 1970s, scientists discovered that chlorine added to water can mix with organic matter and form trihalomethanes, one of which is chloroform, according to the water safety resource Water Benefits Health. THMs increase the production of free radicals that can be cancer-causing.

- Giardia: This tiny parasite is found in soil or water that has been contaminated with feces from infected animals or people, advises the World Health Organization. Swallowing contaminated drinking water or recreational water at lakes or pools can cause gastrointestinal illness.
- Improper pH: There are some proponents of consuming alkaline water to increase fat burning and neutralize acidic blood, as well as to act as an antioxidant. However, according to the Cleveland Clinic, elevating the pH too much toward the alkaline side can affect kidney function and also cause the skin to become dry, itchy and irritated.

Water is needed to maintain health, but various contaminants may be lurking in water supplies. Testing water regularly can provide insight as to what might be hiding among those oxygen and hydrogen molecules.

5 reasons everyone should have an air fryer

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

Air fryers have emerged as must-have items in recent years. Air fryers flew off the shelves during the 2020 holiday season, and that popularity hasn't waned in the ensuing months.

Air fryers are touted as handy tools for a variety of reasons, including that they can cook foods quickly and with relatively little to no use of oil. Those who have yet to join the legions of air fryer fans may wonder if one is worthy of a spot in their kitchen, or if reviews of these appliances are just a bunch of hot air?

While there are scores of air fryers on the market offering various features, each utilizes a similar technology. Air fryers work by circulating very hot air around foods coated with just a small amount of oil (and some recipes add no oil at all) to crisp them. Air fryers can be used to prepare both fresh and frozen foods. Some also have features that go beyond air frying, serving as souped-up toaster ovens and broilers.

For those who still need more convincing, the following are five reasons why you may want to purchase an air fryer in the near future.

1. Affordability: Air fryers are very affordable, especially when considering their versatility. Many air fryers can be had for around $100 or less.

2. Create healthier foods: Since air fryers rely on little or no oil, fat content in the cooking process drops considerably. That makes air frying a heart-healthy option, particularly for people who appreciate fried foods but not all of the negatives associated with such dishes.

3. Cook foods faster: Air fryers reach high cooking temperatures in just minutes, compared to 10 to 15 minutes for traditional ovens. Air fryers can shave several minutes off of cooking times, which appeals to busy home cooks.

4. Good for tight kitchens: Those who have small kitchens may benefit from air fryers that boast combination cooking features. That means they can use one appliance for all of their meals, saving them from the nuisance of overcrowded counter space.

5. Great for small meals: Air fryers cannot cook large batches, which makes them ideal for singletons or empty nesters who do not want to make large quantities of food.

Air fryers can be a lifestyle choice and an investment in faster, healthier cooking.

When taking a spoonful of banana split, some people may ponder where this sweet reward came from.

Who invented the banana split?

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

Ice cream aficionados enjoy it in many different forms — from cups to cones — but sundaes truly can be the ultimate treats. The impressive and often enormous “banana split” may be the king of all sundaes, with ice cream shops scooping them out in record numbers when the weather warms. Because banana splits are so large, they're often the perfect desserts to share on date night.

When taking a spoonful of banana split, some people may ponder where this sweet reward came from. As with many food origin stories, various people lay claim as the inventor of the banana split. A trusted historical account points to Latrobe, Pa. as the home of the first banana split. Legend has it that Latrobe pharmacy owner David Strickler sliced a banana in two, added scoops of vanilla, chocolate and strawberry ice cream, three kinds of flavored toppings, and whipped cream in 1904. Strickler also enlisted the help of a glassmaker to create the first “banana boat” vessel to house his newfangled dessert.

Other cities, including Boston and Wilmington, Ohio, also claim to be birthplaces of this beloved dessert. In fact, Wilmington holds fast to their banana split creation story and even hosts its annual Banana Split Festival.

Even though these dessert giants battled it out as banana split inventors, Walgreens pharmacy ultimately is credited with helping to make banana splits popular across the country after adopting the dish as the pharmacy's signature dessert.

There's never a wrong time to enjoy a banana split, but they're especially tempting in summer. Dig into these other fun banana split and ice cream facts.

- The banana scientifically is classified as a berry because a berry must contain seeds inside the flesh and not outside.

- Around 0.074 pounds of bananas per person per day are consumed in the United States.

- The first banana split cost 10 cents. That may seem like a bargain, but it was double the cost of other sundaes.

- Romans purportedly sent people into the mountains to collect snow that they flavored with fruits and juices to create an early version of ice cream.

- Around 50% of the volume of ice cream is air, which gives the dessert its light and creamy texture.

- You'll want to make your banana split with a ripe, yellow banana. A green banana starts out very starchy. As the fruit yellows, the starch turns into sugars.

- A traditional recipe for a banana split contains around 1,000 calories. Dairy Queen lists their banana split at 510 calories per serving.

Banana splits are delectable desserts that may have originated in Pennsylvania, but are now known across the globe.

Professor Ji-Yoon Kim may represent a first at her university but she might be the last person who'd want to take on this mess.

As played by Sandra Oh (“Killing Eve,” “Grey’s Anatomy”) in the Netflix half-hour comedy “The Chair,” which begins streaming Friday, Aug. 20, she’s the first woman chair of the English department at Pembroke University as well as one of the few staff members of color at the prestigious Massachusetts institution.

Though its stately buildings and finely manicured campus suggest wealth, the university is in fact hemorrhaging money and Dean Larson (David Morse, "Outsiders") instructs his department heads to find the dead wood among the faculty and push them toward the door. Translation: Pick out the old-timers with high salaries and low enrollments and make them want to retire.

Which puts two profs squarely in Ji-Yoon's crosshairs – Elliot Rentz (Bob Balaban) and Joan Hambling (Holland Taylor, “Two and a Half Men”) – both of whom are painfully aware of the budget cuts and the fact that their advanced age makes them a target.

For Taylor, the script by Amanda Peet (an actress who steps behind the camera as creator, executive producer and showrunner here) and the opportunity to play a character her own age were big drawing cards.

Taylor explains. “She’s sort of, as Amanda Peet ... said to me when we began, ‘This character is unedited at this point in her life.’ And that really appealed to me because I would say that I was brought up with a lot of manners and a lot of awareness of others and I definitely have an editor that controls how I behave very, very well. And I can sort of see that loosening as I get older.”

There are other issues making Ji-Yoon's life interesting. Bill Dobson (Jay Duplass, "Transparent"), a popular instructor, suffers a series of embarrassing episodes as he struggles with his wife's tragic death during childbirth; Yasmin McKay (Nana Mensah, "New Amsterdam"), a younger professor, agitates for change and advancement in the department; and young daughter Ju Ju (Everly Carganilla, "Yes Day") acts out, much to the dismay of her single mom.

Meanwhile, Joan deals with the prospect that her longtime friend might also turn out to be her executioner, professionally speaking.

“This is a mentor/mentee relationship,” Taylor notes, “and when the mentee has excelled and climbed the mountain and done very well, it’s very exciting for the older person who has been her friend and advising her. And even though Joan is being pushed aside by (Ji-Yoon’s) generation, Joan would not see (Ji-Yoon) as a personal threat at all until she does feel that she’s been let down by her, which is very crushing. So it’s a very, very human story.”

Celebs get enshrined in ice cream on 'Ben & Jerry's: Clash of the Cones'

Anyone with an interest in making ice cream would do well to check out a novel competition series upcoming on Food Network and discovery+.

In "Ben & Jerry's: Clash of the Cones," premiering Monday, Aug. 16, the finer points of making the cool treat are bandied about in detail as contestants are tasked with making new and innovative flavors of ice cream that capture the essence of a celebrity, be they actor Kevin Bacon or rapper Chris "Ludacris" Bridges, based on direction given by the celeb themselves. So while a celebrity may say they like chocolate, blueberries, marshmallow and strawberries, combining all that in one ice cream and making it flavorful and delicious can be a monumental challenge.

The winner receives a $20,000 grand prize and the opportunity to have their ice cream sampled by fans at an event in their hometown.

Filmed this past spring at a specially constructed ice cream lab at the Ben & Jerry's facility in Waterbury, Vt., the show is hosted by Molly Yeh ("Girl Meets Farm") with the creations judged by Jet and Ali Tila ("Guy's Grocery Games") as well as Ben & Jerry's flavor guru Chris Rivard.

"It's actually a lot of challenges in one," Jet Tila explains. "(It's) abstract in that this flavor has never existed. You have to get the personality of every single celebrity, which must be stressful, and you also kind of have to live up to, beyond Ben & Jerry's, just deliciousness, fun, craveable. And then within the realm of Ben & Jerry's, the swirls, crunches. So I think it's a very fun challenge for an experienced ice cream maker."

"Ben & Jerry's Clash of the Cones"

And for the judges, there are specific criteria to consider.

"You want to look at the texture," Ali Tila explains. "That's one of the big things. It shouldn't be gummy. It should be scoopable, it shouldn't be icy, things like that. And they're technically able to create a good base ice cream. And then on top of that, there are a lot of mix-ins. Ben & Jerry's is really big on chunks and swirls and stuff like that, so we want to make sure that their inclusions in the ice cream were also well-executed, they're not too hard. ... And if they haven't mastered any of those types of techniques, that's going to show in a competition like this."

And the concoctions can even cross into the sweet-and-savory realm. But as to whether Kevin Bacon's ice cream included a certain salt-cured pork product, Jet Tila wasn't saying.

"I remember eating bacon in one of the challenges," he allows with a laugh, "and I remember a lot of judges were split on whether they should or shouldn't have and they went for it anyway. And you know, high risk/high reward but it also means there are some high failures. So we did eat bacon somewhere in the show."

BY GEORGE DICKIE

Josh Gates

OF 'EXPEDITION UNKNOWN' ON DISCOVERY CHANNEL

How was diving among sharks in the Bahamas with William Shatner for Shark Week?

He was amazing. I mean, look, one of my major concerns here was you don't want to kill a national treasure. I mean, I don't want to be the guy who killed Captain Kirk. So we were obviously like, "Oh, is he gonna be able to do this? Is he gonna be OK under water?" He has been diving for years. He was really capable and impressive. I mean, he strapped on the tank and threw on the wetsuit and got in the water and I was like, "Oh, great. OK." And so he was terrific.

As a self-admitted Trekkie, do you ask him any "Trek" questions that you've always wanted answered?

Well you know, he's so funny. He sort of famously shies away from all the "Trek" stuff. I mean, he has spent his whole career having people just fawn over him and ask every question you can think of about "Star Trek." And so all week long, I just kept trying to slip in "Star Trek" jokes and references. He was such a good sport about it. I mean, there were a couple of times where I thought he was going to kill me but he was such a good sport about it. But yeah, as much as possible I tried to bend his ear about "Star Trek" and like I said, he was a champ about it.

tonight's PICKS

Jamie Foxx

Riverdale

8 p.m. on WUPA

In the new episode "Chapter Eight-Eight: Citizen Lodge," Hiram Lodge (Mark Consuelos) shares his origin story with his de facto protégé Reggie Mantle (Charles Melton), explaining how years ago he went from a young man known as Jaime Luna (played by guest star Michael Consuelos, Mark's real-life son) to his current identity as the intimidating kingpin of Riverdale. The conversation prompts Reggie to reflect on his relationship with his own father.

In the Dark

9 p.m. on WUPA

Murphy, Felix and Max (Perry Mattfeld, Morgan Krantz, Casey Deidrick) turn to Josiah (guest star Maurice Compte) for some urgently needed answers about Jess (Brooke Markham) in the new episode "Pretty in Pink." Elsewhere, Gene (Matt Murray) decides to take a risk and makes a bold move.

Beat Shazam

9:01 p.m. on WAGA

Two-person teams comprising a mother and daughter, a pair of middle-school teachers and an aunt and nephew battle their way to a surprising final elimination and an even more unbelievable endgame in a new episode that promises a lot with its title: "Our Most Shocking Show Ever!" Jamie Foxx hosts the proceedings, in which the players test their musical knowledge against a song-identification app.

I Survived a Serial Killer

9:30 p.m. on A&E

This new half-hour docuseries chronicles the heroic yet harrowing personal stories of rare individuals who were lucky — or resourceful — enough to survive a close encounter with a mass murderer. Each episode also includes interviews with those closest to these cases that involve such infamous killers as Andrew Urdiales, Richard Beasley (The Craigslist Killer), Angel Resendez (The Railway Killer) and David Parker Ray (The Toy Box Killer).

tonight's PICKS

Serinda Swan

Coroner

8 p.m. on WUPA
Coroner Jenny Cooper (Serinda Swan) is tasked with investigating the mysterious death of a caregiver as this medical drama returns for its third season. Jenny's trying to move on from her recent trauma, a process that has led to a split with her live-in boyfriend, Liam (Eric Bruneau). Elsewhere, Detective Donovan McAvoyi (Roger Cross) is forced to confront his own mortality in a new way, while Ross (Ehren Kassam) struggles with growing pains in the form of identity challenges. Nicholas Campbell also stars.

grown-ish

8 p.m. on FREE
When her boss uses some of Zoey's (Yara Shahidi) ideas without giving her credit for them, she debates whether to keep quiet about it or speak up, which could risk her internship, in the new episode "A Peace of Light." Elsewhere, Jazz (Chloe Bailey) seeks medical leave from the track team by going to therapy, and Aaron (Trevor Jackson) tries to make a good impression on someone.

The Outpost

9 p.m. on WUPA
As Luna and Garret (Maeve Courtier-Lilley, Jake Stormoen) embark on a risky rescue mission, Tobin (Aaron Fontaine) finds a way to demonstrate his loyalty in a new episode called "All We Do Is Say Goodbye."

Alone

9:33 p.m. on HIST
With only three survivalists remaining, the final contenders struggle to claim the $500,000 prize in the Season 8 finale, "The Reckoning." As this trio makes a last stand against the mental challenges assailing them, one survivalist is threatened by a new, all-too-real predator. "Ultimate Moments," a one-hour retrospective special looking back at past seasons of this hit reality show, immediately follows the finale.

Kristin Kreuk

Burden of Truth
8 p.m. on WUPA
In the new episode “Scorched Earth,” a desperate Joanna (Kristin Kreuk) races to find some evidence supporting the dismissal of the charges against her before her scheduled hearing at the end of the day. That obsessive focus on finding what she needs leads to tension with her legal team, however. Meanwhile, Billy (Peter Mooney) is searching for a lead in the case against the mine.

Half Brothers
8:15 p.m. on HBO
Part road-trip comedy, part family drama, Luke Greenfield’s 2020 film opens 25 years after Flavio Murguia (Juan Espinoza) left Mexico to seek employment in the United States, but never returned to his family as promised. His son, Renato (Luis Gerardo Méndez), has grown up to be a successful aviation company executive, so when he receives a phone call advising him that his ailing father needs him in Chicago, Renato only grudgingly sets out on the journey. Connor Del Rio, Vincent Spano and Pia Watson also star.

The Greatest AtHome Videos
9 p.m. on WGCL
Cedric the Entertainer (“The Neighborhood”) returns to host the sophomore season of this one-hour feel-good reality series that spotlights the humor, humanity and striking creativity that have become hallmarks for this new generation of viral home videos. Producers report that Season 2 showcases an evolution in this show’s format, featuring new video categories that reflect the world as it continues to reopen in the aftermath of a global pandemic.

Dynasty
9 p.m. on WUPA
With Fallon (Elizabeth Gillies) preoccupied with her business ventures and at odds yet again with Alexis (Elaine Hendrix), hubby Liam (Adam Huber) is left feeling neglected in the new episode “She Lives in a Showplace Penthouse.”

What's Available NOW On

Growing Up Animal

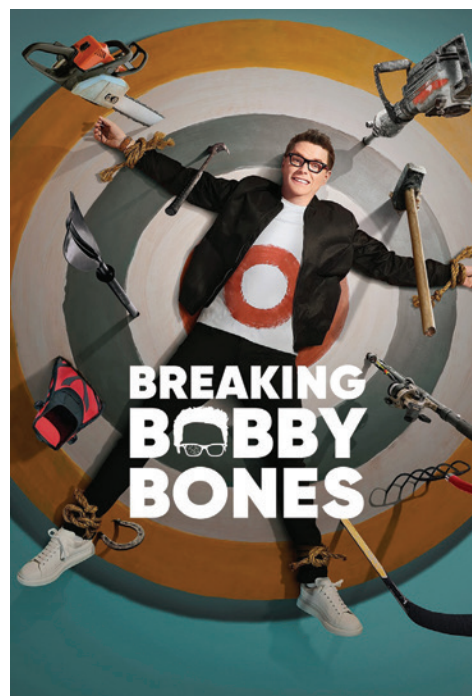

"Growing Up Animal" (Available now)

From National Geographic comes this six-episode unscripted series that takes viewers on the intimate and extraordinary adventure of baby animals such as chimps, sea lions, elephants, African wild dogs, lions, and grizzlies, from the safety of the womb to the uncertainty of birth and their tentative first steps. (ORIGINAL)

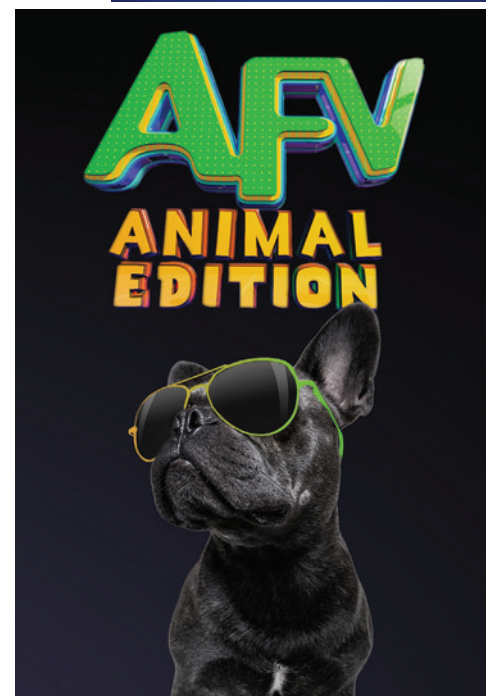

"Eragon" (Aug. 20)

A young man's (Ed Speleers) discovery of a dragon's egg is just the start of an adventure that ultimately pits him against a sinister king (John Malkovich) in this version of the Christopher Paolini fantasy novel, directed by visual-effects master Stefen Fangmeier ("Twister"). Jeremy Irons plays the hero's guru in a cast that also includes Sienna Guillory, Robert Carlyle and Djimon Hounsou.

"Breaking Bobby Bones" (Available now)

This series sends radio personality and "American Idol" mentor Bobby Bones on a road trip across the United States to meet local heroes who challenge him to attempt the daunting tricks of their trade. In one episode, for example, Bones must overcome his crippling fear of heights to dangle 4,000 feet above the Grand Canyon floor to clean the clear-glass underside of the Skywalk.

"America's Funniest Home Videos: Animal Edition" (Available now)

For TV executives, when it comes to their ratings, too much of a good thing is wonderful, which helps explain this fluffy but fun spinoff of the long-running comedy docuseries "America's Funniest Home Videos." Since that show launched back in 1989, clips of critters at their crankiest, clumsiest and most cunning have been a mainstay of that broadcast megahit, hosted nowadays by Alfonso Ribeiro.

Jen Lilley

Stand Up to Cancer

8 p.m. on WSB WGCL WXIA E! DEST DSCFAM IFC SHOW

Executive produced by Oscar winning actress Reese Witherspoon and her husband, Jim Toth, this year's hour-long fundraising event originates live from Los Angeles and airs simultaneously on more than 60 media platforms across the U.S. and Canada. The coverage includes all four major U.S. networks — ABC, CBS, Fox and NBC — which are donating an hour of commercial-free airtime. Ken Jeong and his wife, physician Tran Ho, a cancer survivor herself, are co-hosts, along with Anthony Anderson and Sofia Vergara, with Common and Brittany Howard among the performers.

A Little Daytime Drama

9 p.m. on HALL

This new 2021 romance stars Jen Lilley as Maggie, head writer on a soap opera with ratings so low the show faces imminent cancellation. Maggie has a vested interest in turning that scenario around, since the show's creator, Alice (real-life soap veteran Linda Dano), is ready to pass the baton to Maggie and retire. Alice's plan to boost ratings, however, is to bring back Darin (Ryan Paevey), a past fan favorite who bailed on the show — and a relationship with Maggie — years ago.

AUGUST 22, 2021

tonight's PICKS

Anthony Anderson

North Woods Law: Protect and Preserve

8 p.m. on ANPL

The new episode “Grave Danger” finds the officers of the Fish and Game Dive Team on a mission to find gravestones and bodies after the embankment of New Hampshire’s Upper Ammonoosuc River erodes near a cemetery.

The Walking Dead

9 p.m. on AMC

As one of cable’s most successful series returns for Season 11, the community of Alexandria lies a battered shell of its former self, its security devastated by the destruction left in the wake of the Whisperers. Now, the Alexandrians must re-fortify the place and find a way to feed the swelling population, which includes survivors from the fall of the Kingdom and the burning of Hilltop, as well as Maggie (Lauren Cohan) and her new group, the Wardens.

Aurora Teagarden Mysteries

9 p.m. on HMM

Candace Cameron Bure returns to her role as the titular crime-solving librarian in “Honey-moon, Honeymurder,” which finds Aurora and newlywed husband Nick Miller (Niall Matter) on a “pre-honeymoon” getaway together at a lake cabin after weather forces them to postpone their main trip to Paris. Any romantic mood curdles, though, with the discovery of a corpse. Marilu Henner also stars; Miranda Frigon, Brad Harder and Dylan Sloane guest star.

To Tell the Truth

10 p.m. on WSB

Host Anthony Anderson welcomes his “black-ish” co-star Deon Cole to the panel, along with Caroline Rhea (“Sabrina the Teenage Witch”) and Adam Pally (“Happy Endings”) to a new episode in which they’ll try to guess which guests are telling the truth about their real identities. In the case of this bunch, the panelists are trying to find a peanut artist, a bug baker, an aquanaut, a breakup coach and a blues musician.

tonight's PICKS

Gordon Ramsay

Hell's Kitchen

8 p.m. on WAGA

The chefs jump back into the online dating pool, hoping they'll find a perfect match for the ingredients they need for their dish, in the new episode "Sweeping Right." Later, the stakes are high during a special Steak Night dinner service, but chaos erupts when one team badly overcooks their dish. Gordon Ramsay is the host.

Below Deck Mediterranean

9 p.m. on BRAVO

Chef Mathew hopes to polish off his most successful charter to date, while Lloyd throws himself into planning and leading a vibrant Oktoberfest celebration in a new episode called "Brews, Stews & Management Blues." Later, Katie struggles to keep the interior afloat, leaving her to make a very unusual decision about her team.

Ben & Jerry's Clash of the Cones

9 p.m. on FOOD

In the new episode "Ice Cream Yum Yum," host Molly Yeh tasks the five remaining ice cream masters with creating a flavor inspired by the rapper Ludacris and his favorite desserts. Later, for the chunk challenge, they're assigned to create classic sandwich cookies from scratch, then incorporate them into their ice cream. Judges Chris Rivard, Jet Tila and his wife, Ali, decide which competitor goes home.

Ultimate Surfer

10 p.m. on WSB

Jesse Palmer hosts this new summer competition series, which premieres tonight and Tuesday, Aug. 24, and brings together some of the world's best rising surf stars to vie for the title of Ultimate Surfer. The competitors, which include both men and women, train and live together at the World Surf League's state-of-the-art Surf Ranch in Lemoore, Calif., which utilizes 11-time surfing world champion Kelly Slater's human-made wave technology. Erin Coscarelli and Joe Turpel provide commentary.

tonight's PICKS

Leah McSweeney

Stargirl
8 p.m. on WUPA
Having gotten a seductive taste of the superhero life, Mike (Trae Romano) begs Pat (Luke Wilson) to let him join the team in the new episode “Summer School: Chapter Three.” Elsewhere, after seeking help from Thunderbolt (voice of guest star Jim Gaffigan), the JSA team prepares to confront The Shade (guest star Jonathan Cake). Brec Bassinger, Yvette Monreal, Cameron Gellman, Anjelika Washington, Amy Smart and Meg DeLacy also star.

Deadliest Catch
8 p.m. on DISC
An Arctic storm blasts the fleet as Sig Hansen ventures into deep waters he hasn’t fished in 17 years in a new episode called “Winter’s Gambit.” Meanwhile, Capt. Johnathan Hillstrand steers the Time Bandit into menacing 30-foot waves as he attempts a Hail Mary run toward Russia. Capt. Keith Colburn attempts a risky maneuver to save the Wizard’s pots.

Fantasy Island
9 p.m. on WAGA
Eileen (guest star Debbi Morgan), a flamboyant eccentric, arrives on the island hoping to spend time with her estranged daughter and her family, but they’re not remotely interested in that idea, in the new episode “Quantum Entanglement.” The new arrivals also include Charles (guest star Cliff Chamberlain), a depressed physics professor seeking reassurance that the universe has something greater out there for him.

The Real Housewives of New York City
9 p.m. on BRAVO
Leah clashes bitterly with her mother during a family dinner, while Luann takes up a (literally) sobering new business venture in a new episode called “Be Mine, Galentine.” Elsewhere, Sonja has an untimely brush with COVID-19, spurring a close-knit girls trip back to Ramona’s vacation home in the Hamptons.

Look who was talking: Meredith Vieira, on her own show

Q: Please settle a debate. I know Meredith Vieira was on "The View," but did she ever have her own talk show? – Danielle Ford, Kansas City, Mo.

A: She did. "The Meredith Vieira Show" aired in syndication for two seasons, from 2014 to 2016, with the production based at New York's Rockefeller Center (NBC Universal made and distributed the program). Vieira wanted the show's set to be structured largely like her own home, and mentions of her family were frequent. As it happened, former "Today" co-host Vieira wouldn't be out of the daytime-TV game all that long afterward. Having hosted "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire" before she started her talk show, she returned to games by presiding over "25 Words or Less," which premiered in 2019 (originally getting a tryout on a handful of Fox-owned stations) and is still running.

Q: I've been watching the repeats of "Chicago Fire" on ION Television. Why was the character Shay killed off? – Susan Pierce, Twin Falls, Idaho

A: It was to underscore the dangers of firefighting, which can result in unexpected tragedy for those who fight blazes. Executive producer Matt Olmstead explained at the time that even though it was sad to say goodbye to cast member Lauren German, the end had to come for a popular character such as Shay for that story line to have maximum impact. Her exit came at the start of Season 3 of the NBC-originated drama, and Kara Killmer joined the cast as Shay's replacement Sylvie Brett soon afterward. German did OK post-"Fire," though: She moved on to the series "Lucifer," which will have had six seasons (with the final one coming Sept. 10) between its runs on Fox and Netflix by the time it ends.

celebrity quotes

"We really just want to make people able to smile after these last crazy months. We want some happiness to be out there, something to make us feel a little bit more connected again." – Kristen Bell of "Family Game Fight!" on NBC

"Hallmark was going to do it, but I don't think we could figure out quite what the story was, so I'm in the middle of producing that myself. It will come. It will see the light of day, I promise." – Jill Wagner, seen recently in "Mystery 101: Deadly History" on Hallmark Movies & Mysteries, on making a movie based on the love story of her and her husband

"This isn't the first time I've done production in Puerto Rico, but it's the first time I've done a whole series here, being here for three or four months consecutively." – Roselyn Sanchez of "Fantasy Island" on Fox
