Multi-county chase ends with fatality

Deputy's pursuit of suspected car thief beginning in Newton County under investigation

By TOM SPIGOLON tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — The sheriff's office is investigating whether a deputy followed the agency's vehicle pursuit policies in initiating a multi-county chase in Newton County that resulted in a woman's death after a suspected car thief wrecked near Lithonia Sunday.

The victim was a back seat passenger and was ejected from the fleeing vehicle while the suspect and another passenger were seriously injured.

The injuries occurred after the vehicle in which they were traveling led officers from Newton County and Georgia State Patrol on a 16mile chase through Newton, Rockdale and DeKalb counties before striking a truck head-on near Lithonia, the GSP reported.

Newton County Sheriff's Office and GSP were working Monday to confirm the victim's identity and notify her next of kin before identifying her publicly.

The suspect driver, Ronreaco W. Bailey, 30, of Madison, and front seat passenger, Jatina Banks, 31, whose address was not given, had to be extricated from the stolen Volkswagen Passat SE they were in. They were transported to Grady Memorial Hospital in Atlanta with serious injuries, the GSP reported.

Newton County Schools celebrates first day of 2021-22 year

By TOM SPIGOLON

LeMoyne Brunson was getting a little hot under the collar.

The new principal of Newton County Theme School was welcoming many of his school's younger students personally Monday, Aug. 2, on the school's front steps as they streamed in on foot, by bus and in their parents' vehicles.

The humidity was making the morning temperatures seem higher than they "Overall it's been a great morning. The humidity could be better," he said, laughing.

"I've been real pleased. Everything seems real organized."

Brunson was celebrating his first day as principal of the 1,000-student school after serving as principal of Fairview Elementary School. He replaced Ashante Everett, who was recently named Newton County School System's director of Student Services.

Theme School after spending their first year learning virtually because of the pandemic.

Most kindergarten students seemed prepared for their first days. Few tears were seen on the eyes of students or parents.

Special Education parapro Joanna Holcombe and Instructional Coach Della Kirkpatrick were among the staff members helping Brunson welcome students.

A Newton County sheriff's deputy also helped school officials by informing parents they were not allowed to park in the nearby Newton County School District headquarters parking lot to drop off their students.

Many students also wore masks in accordance with the school district's plan for the face coverings being "highly recommended" but not required for students or staff.

School system officials have said the plan could change depending on community transmission of COVID-19.

Harper resigns from Porterdale City Council

Third councilmember to step down in less than year

By TOM SPIGOLON

tspigolon@covnews.com

Porterdale City Council soon will be forced to fill its third vacancy in a year after longtime Councilman Mike Harper announced his resignation recently.

Harper, who was first elected in 2009, was in the middle of his third term representing Post 4 on the city council.

He tendered his resignation Friday, July 30, said City Manager Frank Etheridge. The city charter requires the remaining council members to appoint a successor for the remainder of the term.

Councilmembers indicated during a meeting Monday night that Harper cited health problems for his decision to resign five months before his term ends Dec. 31.

Harper had repeatedly been absent in recent months and been forced at times in the past year to attend council meetings remotely — at least once due to being diagnosed with COVID-19.

Councilman Lowell Chambers said Harper had served the city well during his time in office.

"He's put in many good years to the city," Chambers said.

Harper would have been up for re-election in the Nov. 2 city election and the council will have to decide if it wants to appoint a placeholder or someone interested in seeking a full term.

Porterdale council members earlier this year appointed Mike Patterson to fill the Post 3 seat left vacant by the resignation of Tim Savage, while Councilwoman Kay Piper won a special election for the Post 1 seat

COVINGTON, Ga. — The Newton County School System's (NCSS) Office of Public Relations was recently recognized by the National School Public Relations Association (NSPRA) with eight national awards for publications.

NCSS Public Relations Director, Sherri Partee, earned five Awards of Excellence in Writing for various articles.

Partee also earned two Awards of Merit for the district's 2018-2019 Annual Report and its "We Are NCSS" Magazine.

In addition to the Awards of Excellence and Awards of Merit, she also won one Award of Honorable Mention for the school system's electronic publication, "NCSS Board Notes."

All of the district's award-winning publications are posted on the National School Public Relations Association's website at www. nspra.org.

"Our department strives to keep all NCSS stakeholders informed of important information through various means of communications," said Partee. "It's truly an honor to receive these awards of recognition from the National School Public Relations Association."

Partee added, "We'd also like to thank Square One Creative Group and EF Pages, publishers of School & Family magazines. Although the Public Relations Department produced the content for the Annual Report, much of the credit for the award-winning publication must go to Square One Creative Group, as they did a fantastic job of putting all of the information together into such a well-designed publication.

"The same goes for EF Pages. They transformed the content we provided into beautiful magazines for our readers to enjoy. While the awards are very special, most important is the fact that we were able to provide our stakeholders with important information regarding our school system."

COVINGTON, Ga. The Newton County Clerk of Courts office contacts residents who are called for jury duty and gives potential jurors instructions.

However, Newton County Clerk of Courts Linda Hays said a computer program overseen by an outside vendor randomly selects names of potential jurors and sends the names to her for her workers to demographic makeup. By 2011, that system faced increasing scrutiny — especially as counties like Gwinnett and Cobb saw their populations grow rapidly and become more diverse in the 1990s and 2000s.

Hays, who has been in office since 1983, said the system of choosing jurors changed when the Georgia General Assembly approved and Gov. Nathan Deal signed the Jury Composition Reform Act of 2011. The law was designed to expand the local jury pool and eliminate any chance for discrimination by placing every eligible resident in the

It also placed the Council of Superior Court Clerks of Georgia in charge of creating and maintaining a statewide master source list of potential jurors, according to information from the Georgia Bar Association.

The law gave the Council the authority to ask the Department of Driver Services (DDS) and the Georgia Secretary of State to give the Council voter registration records for both active and inactive voters; and the lists of all who hold valid or expired driver's licenses or state-issued personal ID cards.

The lists provide the name, address, date of birth, gender and any racial and ethnic information DDS collected, according to the state bar association.

The 2011 law also gave the Council authority to ask other departments for the names of those who should legally be excluded, including felons whose civil rights have not been restored; and state residents declared mentally incompetent. In 2012, the Georgia

Supreme Court adopted its Jury Composition Rule which — together with the 2011 law established the new jury process, according to information from the clerks council.

To do a random selection, the Council takes the list of those with valid driver's licenses and voter registrations, among other information, and removes those who should legally be excluded or who recently moved outside the county or state.

The Council then compiles the state source list of those who are eligible in Georgia, divides it into 159 county master jury lists and sends them to the individual Clerks of Court in every county.

The Newton County names are then downloaded into a computer program and a third-party vendor, Micropact, uses it to randomly select individuals to comprise the county's jury "venire," or pool of prospective jurors.

Hays said Newton County has 89,417 residents on the new jury master list for 2021.

The Newton vendor's computer program assigns each potential juror a number between one and 89,417. It then chooses the first jury pool by choosing numbers at random and locating those assigned to the numbers.

It selects subsequent jurors by choosing a number between one and 89,416, then between one and 89,415, and so on until a pre-selected jury pool total is

The vendor then sends the final list to Hays' office, she said.

For the week of April 12, Newton County summoned 150 for the jury pool. A total of 53 appeared and 20 were placed on a call list as alternates, Hays said.

A total of 11 were sent notices about failing to appear and given chances to respond, she said. If they did not respond after being notified a second time, a sheriff's deputy notifies them in person they must appear before a judge to explain their absence, she said. The remaining 55 who were summoned were determined by Hays' office to have legal deferrals, meaning they were excused based on a variety of military service. They also can include being above 70 years old or having child care issues, Hays said.

Potential jurors who have such issues as an illness, death in the family, vacation plans or a new job can defer their jury service to another term but still must serve, she said.

Sheriff's Office, said the incident began when a Newton County deputy was assisting the Covington Police Department in responding to a stolen vehicle alert sent by a Flock camera from an undisclosed location Sunday morning. The deputy attempted a traffic stop on the vehicle but the suspect fled, Jett said.

The vehicle had been stolen from a Brandon, Mississippi, resident, a sheriff's office report stated.

A pursuit then began around 11:25 a.m. at I-20 Westbound at the U.S. Hwy. 278 exit (Exit 90), Jett and the GSP reported.

A trooper was assisting the deputy and the trooper became the primary officer in the pursuit near Sigman

Road on I-20 West in Rockdale County, the GSP report-

"The driver took exit 75 to Turner Hill Road and disregarded the red traffic signal, entering back on to I-20 West," a GSP spokesman

"While continuing to drive extremely recklessly and with disregard to the safety of others, the driver exited off I-20 West at Exit 74 disregarding another red traffic signal at the intersection with Evans Mill Road.

"The pursuit continued west on Old Hillandale Drive approaching the intersection with Lithonia Industrial (Boulevard) where the driver again disregarded a red traffic signal," the spokesman said.

At that point a Ford Superduty, with a Ford Explorer in tow, was traveling south on Lithonia Industrial approaching the intersection with Old Hillandale Drive.

The front bumper of the Passat struck the left front side of the trailer towing the Explorer in the right lane of Lithonia Industrial south, the spokesman said.

"After impact, the Passat began to overturn into the south ditch of Old Hillandale Drive. The right rear passenger was ejected from the Passat and pronounced deceased on (the) scene."

The driver and front seat passenger were extracted and transported to Grady by ambulance with serious injuries. The Superduty's driver sustained minor injuries but refused treatment.

GSP's Specialized Collision Reconstruction Team also responded and was investigating.

"At this time charges are pending and a thorough investigation is being conducted," the spokesman stated.

Jett said the Newton County sheriff's Office of Professional Standards "will conduct an investigation to determine whether the deputy adhered to the agency's policies and procedures" before beginning the pursuit.

"On behalf of Sheriff Ezell Brown and the Newton County Sheriff's Office, I send our deepest condolences to the family of the deceased victim," Jett said.

Panel: Overcoming vaccine hesitancy key to getting past COVID-19

By DAVID WILLIAMS

Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — Georgia and other states with low COVID-19 vaccination rates are in a race against time with fast-replicating variants of the virus, a faculty member at the Morehouse School of Medicine said Thursday.

The various coronavirus vaccines now available are effective against the Delta variant, now responsible for the most new infections. But other variants could spring up soon unless more residents of low-vaccination states get vaccinated, Dr. Michelle Nichols, associate dean of family medicine at Morehouse, warned during a panel discussion sponsored by the school and the Peach State Health Plan.

'These variants are smart. They're dangerous," she said. "There's a point at which variants will overtake us."

Faculty members from Morehouse, state agency heads, representatives of Peach State Health Plan and educational, religious and nonprofit leaders spent an hour talking about what can be done to overcome vaccine hesitancy in Georgia.

As of Thursday, COVID-19 had hospitalized 914,984 Georgians, while the virus had resulted in 21,593 confirmed or probable deaths. The state's vaccination rate of 38% trails the national average.

Nichols said a key factor in why so many Georgians are reluctant to get vaccinated is the amount of misinformation being spread about the shots. She said COVID-19 vaccinations will not affect a woman's fertility, will not alter a person's DNA and will not cause a person to contract the virus.

Dr. Kathleen Toomey, commissioner of the Georgia Department of Public Health, said another argument against getting the shot is that it won't protect the recipient from contracting the virus.

"You can still acquire an infection," she said. "But you're less likely to become seriously ill or die. ... Nothing is more dangerous

Hoping students can have a normal school year

This school year is primed to be one like no other in Newton County even after the bizarre year students and staff members experienced in 2020-21. Almost 20,000 Newton County students on Monday were set to return to in-person learning in buildings at 24 schools on the first scheduled day of classes for the first time since August 2019.

Their schools' administrators were operating under the district's plan that face coverings should be "highly recommended" but not required for students or However, Superintendent Samantha Fuhrev clearly is ready to make a change if the number of new COVID-19 cases continue to rise locally as the disease's Delta variant takes hold primarily on unvaccinated individuals.

Questions already arise about how the students, especially the youngest, will deal with in-person classes this year.

For example, how far behind will first-graders be as they adjust to their first year of learning in a classroom with other students? Many have spent the last year learning in front of a computer screen in their living rooms.

Will they already be behind the few students who chose to learn in-person after being given the option last year?

At only a 37% vaccination rate — well below the statewide 46% rate — Newton County appears to be squarely in the path of the variant which reportedly is more contagious and spreads more rapidly than COVID-19. Most new COVID cases are among the unvaccinat-

New cases in Newton County have risen in more than a month from a seven-day average of three new cases on June 29 to an average of 24 new cases on July 31.

If the school system requires masks for all students, how will young students and their teachers deal with learning while adjusting their unfamiliar masks throughout the day?

Many other Georgia school districts announced mask mandates last week even as Gov. Brian Kemp repeated his vow that he won't impose a statewide mask rule or restrict business and public activities, the Associated Press reported.

"Georgia will not lock down or impose statewide mask mandates," Kemp tweeted as he repeated a stance that has remained consistent since he stopped ordering closures early in the pandemic in 2020.

Kemp sought to use his powers under the public health state of emergency to keep cities and counties from issuing their own mask rules. He even sued the city of Atlanta to try to block its mask mandate though it ended in a compromise in which Kemp said cities and counties could require face coverings if infections were above a certain level.

As more school districts continued to announce last week that they will require students and employees to wear masks, it pushed the share of Georgia public school students covered by mask mandates above 30%, according to Associated Press calculations. Meanwhile, the state Department of Public Health reported nearly 4,000 positive COVID-19 tests on one day last week — the most reported since Feb. 11.

The simple solution would be for more Newton Countians to get vaccinated, send the numbers down again and not give school officials a reason for taking extreme measures to keep students educated.

Children need to be in a school building with other children for a number of good reasons beyond the educations they receive. They learn how to interact in positive ways with others. Many rely on the schools to provide breakfast and lunch regularly.

Here's hoping we all provide a little more sanity to our daily interactions with others and let our kids have a normal school year again.

Hank Johnson guest editorial

Getting into 'good trouble' ear friends: By now, many of you know I was arrested last week. Yes, I was arrested in Washington fighting against Senate inaction on voting rights and filibuster reform.

Like my dear friend and mentor, the late civil rights icon Congressman John Lewis would say, I was getting in 'good trouble.'

I took this stand during the Brothers Day of Action on Capitol Hill with Black Voters Matter, the Color of Change and other Black men voting rights activists. It was also in response to voter suppression bills and laws throughout the country, including Georgia, that target students, the elderly and people of color. We proudly followed what Black women groups had done the week before, including my friend Congressional Black Caucus Chair Joyce Beatty of

And as negotiations were ongoing to reach a deal on infrastructure spending this week, I went to bat for workers and urged more mass transit funding for MARTA and throughout the nation.

As I write, I'm working in Congress to extend the eviction moratorium that expired July 31. The moratorium was put in place by the CDC to prevent people from being displaced during the pandemic. Congress has the power to direct the CDC to extend the eviction moratorium to provide relief, as we encourage state and local governments to distribute the $46 billion that we allocated. I'll keep you informed as things develop.

[Last] week in Washington, I introduced three bills designed to protect workers, bring transparency to the federal courts system and help the federal court system deal with its backlog in cases. Justice delayed is justice denied.

Thank you for allowing me the opportunity to represent you. If you have an issue please call my district office at 770-987-2291.

Rep. Hank Johnson represents Georgia's 4th Congressional District, which includes part of Newton County, in the U.S. House.

David Carroll columnist

Yes, I've had the 'Fauci ouchie' and I'm proud of it s a kid, I would read my favorite ▲newspaper columnists. I loved looking up the big words used by George Will. Lewis Grizzard's humor was solid gold, every single time. I enjoyed the show business name-dropping of Earl Wilson. I even liked the gossipy "scoops" uncovered by government watchdog Jack Anderson.

Many of those columnists would occasionally do a "From the Mailbag" column, answering questions from readers. It seemed like a lazy way to fill their space during a week in which they were not inspired to write an actual column. Or perhaps they were otherwise occupied with health issues, vacation time or common chores.

Thankfully, my health appears to be fine, and I'm not on vacation. But those weeds in my yard aren't trimming themselves, so let's go to the mailbox:

"Hello David, it seems like everyone is talking about vaccinations, but unless I have missed something, I haven't seen your take on it. Have you been jabbed? If so, were you among the first in line, or were you reluctant? And have there been any side effects?"

Oh yes, I've had the "Fauci ouchie" and I'm proud of it. As soon as my wife and I became eligible (last March) we got in line. To my knowledge, I've always been fully vaccinated for all the childhood stuff, the flu, and even shingles, with no hesitation. If my doctor recommends it, I follow that advice. Apparently, everyone has a different reaction to the COVID-19 vaccine (my vaccine was Moderna). Some folks barely notice it, while others say it wiped them out for a day or two. Some say their arm is sore, others say their knee joints ache. For me, it was a brief toothache. At least I think it was caused by the vaccine. Or maybe I had too much hard candy that day, who knows? Everyone is free to choose, and with so many lies being spread by certain "news channels" and Facebook fakes, I can see why some people are skittish. But the numbers prove that while yes, vaccinated people can still get the virus, their chances of being seriously ill, as in "ventilator ill" are greatly reduced. Plus, as epidemiologist Brian Castrucci said, "Severe vaccine reactions happen within days, they don't take years. We've been vaccinating people for several months. It's safe."

Ninety-something percent of those hospitalized with COVID-19 in recent weeks are not vaccinated, and for some of them, it was too late. If I'm drowning, and someone offers me a life jacket, I'm not going to argue about their politics.

As you will recall, former President Trump accelerated the vaccine development known as Operation Warp Speed, and Trump himself got vaccinated in January. So why are some of his most ardent supporters so opposed to the "Trump vaccine?"

"David, why are you news media types spreading fear about the virus? Is this just a way to boost ratings? We are tired of the fear the Delta variant of mongering." I know I come across as a defender of journalists more than many of you would like. This is how I've made my living for the past 30 years, and at least on the local level, I have not seen the manipulation of which we are so often accused.

What if media outlets conspired to cover up or downplay the emergence of a virus that has taken the lives of 600,000 Americans, so far? What would be the outcry about that? And now with this new threat, should journalists just look the other way? Sadly, some cable hosts do, and they have a large, vulnerable audience.

For those who put their trust in Facebook doctors, and believe the government is trying to turn them into zombies, nothing the mainstream media says matters anyway. So again, I'll quote Brian Castrucci: "What if I'm driving on a busy highway, and I suddenly slam on my brakes and just stop? (Because of my freedom and liberty.) Well, my individual actions have tragic consequences for others. If you wouldn't slam your brakes on a busy highway, vaccine. In closing, as America's slow-consider getting the est-rising newspaper columnist, most of the letters and emails I get are delightful and greatly appreciated. But then there's this guy:

"Mr. Carroll, you are part of the problem. You're just another Communist who is trying to bring down our nation. You condemned the so-called insurrection and riot at the Capitol, which was mostly a peaceful protest by great patriots. It's lamestream media morons like you who exist only to stir the pot and spread lies and hatred."

No doubt you're speaking for many people. I could either respond, or I could trim those weeds. I will choose the most productive option.

Fun by the Numbers

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

26 years, too.

The camp has seen more than 300 high school players go through and make it to the NBA.

Castle's head coach, Charlemagne Gibbons, was excited to hear that one of his players was selected. Gibbons' hope, though, is that Castle will take the knowledge he attained and apply it to the entire Rams squad during the 2021-22-basketball season.

"I think he's getting better at leading with a more vocal tone," Gibbons said. "If he can continue to work on that during these next couple of months, he'll really be ready for the start of the season."

Castle is a 6-foot-6 junior point guard for the Rams. The 2021-22 season will tip-off on Nov. 30 at Archer High School per MaxPreps.

There has been plenty of water pass under the bridge since I first began attending games. It still remains a passion, however.

Feds sign off on final portion of pandemic relief for Georgia schools

By DAVID WILLIAMS

Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — Georgia schools are about to receive the final $1.4 billion installment of $4.2 billion in federal coronavirus relief funds the state Department of Education was allocated through legislation Congress passed in March.

The U.S. Department of Education approved the state's plan for the stimulus money on Thursday. Georgia received the first $2.8 billion shortly after President Joe Biden signed the American Rescue Plan into law

Of the total $4.2 billion package earmarked for Georgia, $3.8 billion will go directly to school districts across the state. The other $425 million will be used to address statewide needs.

"We are focused on supporting learning, expanding resources for student mental health and wellbeing, and ensuring the safety of students, staff, and families," State School Superintendent Richard Woods said.

"We will use these funds to deploy state-level Academic Recovery Specialists, establish school-based health clinics, and more. The resources we've been given will schools.

directly support schools and students."

More than 1.7 million Georgia students were forced to switch to online classes in March of last year as cases of COVID-19 began to mount. The 2020-21 school year that began last August was conducted with a mishmash of virtual and in-person instruction.

The state- and regional-level Academic Recovery Specialists will help teachers and administrators recover from the gaps in learning resulting from the disruption the pandemic brought to the

The federal money also will pay for state-level support for school nurses, school psychologists, school social workers, wraparound services and military families. It will help establish school-based health clinics for rural students, provide mental-health awareness training for educators and provide support and therapeutic services for students with disabilities.

Georgia will return fully to in-person classes with the start of the 2021-22 school year, with most districts beginning classes this week.

State Department of Education creates new office to focus on rural Georgia

By DAVID WILLIAMS

Capitol Beat News Service ATLANTA — Rural education in Georgia is getting special attention in the form of a new office within the state Department of Education that will focus on the needs of rural schools.

The Office of Rural Education and Innovation will be headed by Bronwyn Ragan-Martin, a veteran education leader who served most recently as superintendent of the Early County School System and president of the Georgia School Superintendents Association.

Ragan-Martin will take on the title of deputy superintendent for rural education and innovation starting in October.

"It is a top priority of my administration to strengthen and bring greater opportunities and economic prosperity to rural Georgia," Gov. Brian Kemp said Wednesday.

"The Georgia Department of Education's new Office of Rural Education and Innovation will support those efforts to renew and revitalize rural Georgia and ensure our state remains the best place to live, work, and raise a family." "Our rural schools and districts face unique challenges and resource gaps – and many of those challenges have only intensified due to the pandemic," State School Superintendent Richard Woods

"There is also, though, an opportunity for a transformational investment in rural Georgia that could change the lives of children and the course of their communities. That's what I'm tasking our new Office of Rural Education and Innovation with working toward."

Woods said Ragan-Martin's experience, commitment and deep roots in rural Georgia make her a perfect fit for her new role.

Ragan-Martin has been school superintendent in Early County, a system with about 2,000 students, since 2013.

She also served on the school superintendents association's Rural Task Force from 2018 until last year. A native of Randolph County, Ragan-Martin holds a bachelor's degree in English from Mount Holyoke College in Massachusetts, a master's in English education from Georgia Southwestern College, and a doctorate in curriculum and instruction from Valdosta State University. The new office will be supported with federal coronavirus relief funds and work to address educational needs in rural Georgia including connectivity, teacher retention and recruitment, resources and funding, and educator development. Ragan-Martin and the staff she brings on will join school and community leaders to address gaps brought to the forefront during the pandemic and develop a roadmap for moving beyond recovery to renewal.

Each new season is similar to a new book. We may think we know at times what is going to happen but that doesn't always prove to be the case.

Attending high school football games on Friday nights has been a long-standing tradition for me. I don't remember the exact time I attended one in person but it was in the 1970s.

My father started taking me to the games when I was young and I was instantly hooked. At times we didn't make all of the road games due to distance and my father's work schedule but home games were always attended. I recently thought back on how a handful of games each year left such an impression.

As a young student I remember being excited every Friday morning there was a home game. The night before was really like Christmas Eve.

Nothing else really seemed to matter at school that day. At least it didn't for me.

My mind was already on kickoff which was still several hours away. Home games meant a pep rally in the school gym in the afternoon and by this point I was ready for the game to start.

My alma mater had a series of strong seasons in the early 1980s and made it all the way to the state championship game one season. The state title game was played at home and I don't think I have ever seen as many people at the local

Standard signs with Mountain Lions

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Last Friday afternoon, a small group of people gathered at the Newton High School baseball field. They congregated to celebrate Wil Standard signing his scholarship to continue his baseball career at Young Harris College.

After four years as a Ram, spending ample time at first base and on the mound, Standard is off to be a Mountain Lion starting in the fall.

He said it only took one visit to Young Harris to make his decision.

"It truly felt like home," Standard said. "All of the people are so responsive and actually build a relationship with you. I've always preferred the smaller school, too, because it's easier to stay connected and it's different feeling. It's a true family feel up there."

a special day for the now-former Ram. Despite the horrific heat and scorching sun, people close to him were able to give Standard a celebratory send-off.

When he arrives to Young Harris a few weeks from now, Standard plans to major in communications to which he aims to become a sports media professional.

But he didn't overlook the significance of his scholarship signing. Standard recognized that, with a huge smile on his face, during his closing remarks and once the ceremony concluded.

"To be able to celebrate this means a lot," Standard said after his former teammates doused him with water. "Especially in this last year, we've had so many uncertainties. We didn't know that it would even be possible to get to this moment."

Castle participates in NBA's Top 100 camp

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. Newton High School basketball star Stephon Castle was in Orlando, Florida, last week. From July 25-30, Castle participated in the 2021 NBA Top 100 camp.

This is an even more prestigious honor than it would've been in previous years as the selection field was reduced to 60 players. The fact that Castle was selected with a reduced field speaks volumes.

But the four-star recruit didn't take the opportunity for granted. Castle feels as if he soaked up a lot of knowledge in those five days. "My coaches told me to always stay level-headed," Castle said. "Always play hard and that will carry me through this next season."

Through the camp, NBA players provide hands on training. Current and former players like Rajon Rondo (Los Angeles Clippers), Ben Simmons (Philadelphia 76ers) and Josh Smith (former Atlanta Hawk, Detroit Piston, and Houston Rocket) were just a few of the players assisting with the camp.

Participants in the camp go through series of drills, tournaments and general basketball techniques. The whole goal is to help each individual player improve on his craft.

Lady Cougars started title defense Monday

By CHRIS BRIDGES

MONTICELLO, Ga. — The Piedmont Academy varsity fast-pitch softball team is set for to defend its title.

The Lady Cougars opened the 2021 season on Monday with a home doubleheader against Bulloch Academy at 4 p.m. The team hosts Brentwood on Aug. 5.

Piedmont is the defending GISA Class AA champion and has been preparing for the new season for several weeks under the direction of coach John Johnson. The coach said a solid nucleus of players return along with some talented newcomers.

Piedmont defeated Briarwood in the championship series last season. Johnson said he expects the Lady Buccaneers to be strong once more in 2021.

The 2021 Lady Cougars returns several key statistical leaders for the 2021 season. All-Region players Fleming Sealy, Maddie Waddleton, Averi Camp and Emily McEwen all are back for another championship run. Camp and McEwen were also named to the All-State team last season.

Camp had an earned run average of 2.33 in the pitcher's circle with 26 strikeouts. McEwen, now set for her junior season, pitched 48 innings with a 1.17 ERA and 22 strikeouts

Sealy, who will be a senior this season, batted .392 and scored 10 runs with 24 RBIs to help lead the offense in 2020 while Waddleton finished with a .433 batting average and scored 17 runs while driving in 21. Waddleton

Tropical flavors abound in this vegan Pineapple Upside Down Cake.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

What could make a long day sitting by the pool or an afternoon at the beach even better? A dessert reminiscent of a tropical island, of course. Pineapple and coconut are two flavors that evoke Caribbean shores with steel drum bands playing in the background and salty seas on the horizon.

Pineapple upside down cake is a familiar dessert classic on which people can put their own unique spins. With this recipe from "Vegan Cooking for Beginners" (Publications International) by PIL editors, vegan dessert guests can also enjoy the fare thanks to vegan-friendly ingre-

slices

7 maraschino cherries

Cake:

3 tablespoons boiling water 1 tablespoon ground flaxseed

2 cups all-purpose flour 2 teaspoons baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt

1 cup granulated sugar

1/2 cup vegetable oil 1 teaspoon vanilla

1 cup refrigerated coconut milk beverage

1/2 teaspoon baking soda 1 tablespoon apple cider vinegar

Directions:

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 9-inch round baking pan.

For topping, cook and stir brown sugar and buttery spread in medium skillet over medium heat until melted and smooth. Remove from heat. Pour into prepared pan. Arrange pineapple slices in pan, placing cherries in centers of pineapples.

Combine boiling water and flaxseed in small bowl. Let stand until cool. Whisk flour, baking powder and salt in medium bowl. Whisk granulated sugar, oil and vanilla in large bowl until well blended. Whisk in flaxseed mixture. Stir in flour mixture just until moistened. Stir in coconut milk just until blended. Place baking soda in small cup; stir in vinegar. Gently stir vinegar into batter just until blended. Pour batter over pineapple.

Bake 45 to 50 minutes, or until toothpick inserted into center comes out clean. Cool in pan on wire rack for 10 minutes. Run thin knife around edge of pan to loosen cake. Invert onto serving plate. Cool completely.

Note: The cake can also be baked in a 12-inch cast-iron skillet. Melt the buttery spread and brown sugar in the skillet, add the pineapple and cherries and pour the batter over the fruit. Check the cake for doneness at 40 minutes.

Enjoy a Mediterranean-inspired dinner

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

The Mediterranean diet has long been touted as a healthy way to eat. The Mediterranean diet is inspired by the eating trends of people from Italy and Greece in the 1960s. Principal aspects include high consumption of legumes, olive oil, fruits, and vegetables. When coupled with other healthy eating habits like selecting natural, unrefined ingredients, such as nutrient-rich honey instead of refined sugar, people can transform how they eat without sacrificing flavor. This recipe for delicious "Grilled Lamb Chops With Honey Figs" from "Cooking Light Fresh Food Superfast" (Oxmoor House) by The Cooking Light Editors combines ingredients that would customarily be found in a Mediterranean Diet

Figs can cook quickly, so choose firm, ripe ones that can withstand the heat of the grill.

Once the weekend arrives, home cooks can experiment with tasty treats that fill homes with decadent aromas and rouse late sleepers from their slumber.

Relax with weekend breakfast recipe

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS news@covnews.com

There may be little time in the schedule to prepare homemade breakfasts and enjoy a leisurely morning meal on weekdays. But once the weekend arrives, home cooks can experiment with tasty treats that fill homes with decadent aromas and rouse late sleepers from their slumber. French toast or pancakes may be popular weekend breakfast options, but why not switch things up with another sticky and sweet option? "Sweet Sunday Rolls" from "The Contented Vegan" (Head of Zeus) by Peggy Brusseau are quick to prepare and perfect for a relaxing morning meal when time allows. Enjoy with tea or coffee.

Sweet Sunday Rolls

Serves 4 Ingredients: 1/2 cup desiccated

(shredded) coconut 1/2 cup lightly packed soft light

brown sugar

1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

 $10 \frac{1}{2}$ ounces all-purpose or wholewheat flour, plus extra for dusting your work surface

2 teaspoons baking

1 teaspoon cream of tartar

2 3/4 ounces coconut oil, plus a little extra for greasing the dish

5 ounces plant milk 2/3 cup raisins

2 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil

3 ounces maple or barley malt syrup

Directions: Preheat the oven to 425 degrees, and grease an 11 1/4 inch round baking dish or similar ovenproof dish with a generous coating of coconut oil. Sprinkle the shredded coconut over the greased dish, jostling it a little to distribute Combine the sugar and cinnamon in a small bowl. Sprinkle half of the cinnamon sugar over the coconut-coated baking dish.

In a separate bowl, mix the flour, baking soda and cream of tartar. Add the coconut oil and use a table knife to "cut" it into the dry ingredients until the mixture resembles fine breadcrumbs. Add the plant milk and stir well, then knead to a firm dough using your Lightly flour a work surface. Turn out the dough and shape it into a rough rectangle. Use a rolling pin (or simply press with your hands) to flatten it into a bigger rectangle of about 8 by 12 inches, with a thickness of about 5/8

With the long edge closest to you, spread the raisins over the dough, leaving a gap of about 1 1/4 inches all around the edges. Lightly press the raisins into the dough. Sprinkle the remaining cinnamon sugar over the raisins, and drizzle with the olive oil and half of the syrup.

Roll the dough into a log from the long edge, working away from you. Press firmly as you roll to ensure the filling is properly embedded. Check that the ends and the long edge are closed — if necessary, dampen those edges and press together to seal.

Using a serrated bread knife, cut the roll into slices about 1 1/4 inches thick. Lay the slices flat in the prepared baking dish, leaving a little room between each slice. Bake in the oven for 15 minutes.

While the rolls are baking, cut a piece of baking paper large enough to cover the baking dish. When the rolls are cooked, set the dish on a wire rack or trivet. Lay the baking paper over the dish and put a large plate or tray upside down on top of the paper, with the baking dish centered underneath. Using oven gloves, carefully lift the dish and plate, holding them firmly together as you turn them over. Leave the baking dish upside down on the plate for 2 to 3 minutes, then carefully lift off. Collect and spread any coconut mixture left in the dish over the rolls, which are now upside down. Drizzle the remaining syrup over the rolls while they are still hot. Cool for 10 to 15 minutes before gently pulling them away from each other. Eat while still warm.

'Mr. Corman' fights disillusionment and himself in Apple TV+ comedy Josh Corman is a man underwhelmed by life and himself.

As played by Joseph Gordon-Levitt ("Third Rock From the Sun," "Lincoln") in the Apple TV+ comedy series "Mr. Corman," which begins streaming Friday, Aug. 6, he's a 30-something born and raised in the suburbs of Los Angeles whose life hasn't turned out as he envisioned.

An artist at heart, his music career didn't amount to much and so he pays the bills by teaching fifth graders at a public school while sharing an apartment with his best friend Victor (Arturo Castro, "Broad City"). His relationship with his fiancee also has gone south and he struggles with feelings of anxiety, loneliness and depression, which he confides to his mother Ruth (Debra Winger, "Terms of Endearment"). On top of that, he also suspects he's not that great a person.

It's a lot for one young man to bear and Gordon-Levitt, who created the series, conceived of the character as an unlucky version of himself.

"It was sort of thinking about: What if just a couple of things were different?" the actor and San Fernando Valley native explains. "Like what if I hadn't found my partner yet? ... Or what if the art that I do hadn't panned out into a career? ... Or what if I had one good, healthy parent and one parent who was less healthy or problematic or causing chaos?

"And so sort of making some of these changes like that formed this character, who is in many ways just like me," he continues. "He walks like me and talks like me. He grew up where I grew up. He went to high school where I went to high school. He had many of the same thoughts and opinions and tastes that I do. But these certain things are different."

But, Gordon-Levitt explains, Josh does have things in his life to be thankful for but he just doesn't appreciate them. He has a good job in a noble profession for which he seems to have a flair, he has friends who care about him and his mother is always there to lend a sympathetic ear.

Toward that end, the interplay between Josh and Ruth comes across as very natural mother/son dialog and Gordon-Levitt credits Winger for being a brilliant actress and fitting right in.

"She looks like my mom and my mom's sister, my mom's cousins," he reports. "Like the Gordon women, she has a very similar essence to her. And she also grew up in L.A. the way I grew up in the Valley, in the suburbs of L.A., the way that I did.

"And yeah, she's just the perfect person for this," he continues, "and if anybody out there hasn't seen 'Terms of Endearment,' it's really some of the best acting that's ever been done in a movie and she won the Oscar for it and with good reason. And it's been such a delight to do this together with her."

Turn to the Magnolia Network for innovative culinary content

There's a new kid on the foodie TV block and it's actually the work of someone with whom viewers are likely very familiar.

Magnolia Network, a joint venture of Discovery and Chip and Joanna Gaines, offers up a plethora of programming devoted to culinary pursuits, with everything from howtos and new ideas to cultural and historical perspectives, growing your own produce and even old favorites. And the good news much of it is streaming right now on discovery+ and the Magnolia Network app. Such as the following.

"Magnolia Table With Joanna Gaines" (Available now): Now in its third season after premiering on discovery+ in January, this family-oriented entry finds Gaines in her kitchen sharing her favorite recipes, revealing where they come from and why she keeps returning to them again and again.

"Family Dinner" (Available now): Andrew Zimmern ("Bizarre Foods") is your host for this series in which he visits families across the country to hear their stories and explore how our regional, historical and cultural heritages inform what and how we eat.

"Homegrown" (Available now): As the title suggests, this recently premiered offering follows Atlanta-based farmer Jamila Norman as she assists families in transforming their outdoor spaces into functional backyard farms and highlights the joys and benefits of growing your own food.

"The Artisan's Kitchen" (Available now): Professional baker and flour expert Bryan Ford brings his Honduran heritage and New Orleans upbringing to bear on his creations in this series as he offers up ideas for new recipes as well as remixed classics.

"Zoe Bakes" (Available now): Pastry chef and cookbook Zoe Francois is your host for this series in which she breaks down the secrets of pastry chefs and home bakers and shows how to create beautiful and tasty confections right in your own kitchen.

"Ranch to Table" (Premieres Friday, Aug. 6): This new series follows seventh generation California rancher and entrepreneur Elizabeth Poett as she runs her family's 14,000-acre ranch and creates regional dishes using her own fresh ingredients.

"For the Love of Kitchens" (Premieres Friday, Aug. 6): You can't have cuisine without a kitchen and in this series, Paul O'Leary, Helen Parker and Robin McLellan and their team of craftspeople design beautiful state-of-the-art kitchens from their facility in a 16th century mill in the English countryside.

"The French Chef" (Available now on Magnolia app only): From the network's substantial library comes this classic 1962-73 series featuring legendary chef Julia Child as she sought to take the mystery and intimidation factor out of French cuisine, featuring recipes from her "Mastering the Art of French Cooking" bestseller and emphasizing the use of fresh and sometimes hard-to-find ingredients.

OF 'MYSTERY 101: DEADLY HISTORY'

ON HALLMARK MOVIES & MYSTERIES

What do you think about the "Mystery 101" franchise now reaching its seventh installment with "Deadly History'?

We've been very lucky to have this many episodes ... and even as a fan of the show, I'm curious about what happens next, even after this one. It's left with such a big cliffhanger, even more of one than the last time, this can't be the last one. It had better not be!

While your "Mystery 101" character Amy Winslow is a college professor, she's also been credible as an amateur sleuth. Has it been a challenge to balance those aspects?

In doing one of these mystery shows, I really wanted it to be believable that she would be an asset to Travis (the police detective played in the films by Kristoffer Polaha). Anybody who teaches a class, and especially one known as Mystery 101, means she probably knows as much or more than Travis about detective work just through reading and studying. She wouldn't be someone who just tagged along.

You and your husband are awaiting the arrival of your second child together soon, and shortly after you welcomed your first one last year, you made the latest of your many Hallmark holiday movies ("The Angel Tree"). If the timing and the circumstances allow, are you game to film another one for the upcoming holiday season?

Last time, about a month later, I was ready to go – so, yeah, I'm here to work. I'll just have two babies with me! There have been definite conversations, so if someone wants me to do one and the script is great, I'm down for it. And if not, I'm also down for staying on the farm and putting my feet up.

Breaking Bland 9:01 p.m. on HGTV Host and designer Mary Welch

Noah Matthews.

Fox Stasik breaks design boundaries and encourages clients to take a pass on traditional and predictable looks to create a truly personalized space in this new home improvement series. In the premiere, "Copper, Blue and a Wet Bar Too," a family of four want to bring out their home's innate Charleston spirit, but accomplish that without all the conventional decor clichés. Stark pushes them to take some risks with a design that infuses their residence with a bold, colorful and modern vibe. Drs. Ebonie Vincent, Brad Schaeffer and Sarah Haller return for a new season of their medical docuseries, in which they diagnose and treat truly exceptional foot maladies, including one so rare that only eight people in the world have been diagnosed with it. In these new episodes, the doctors transform the lives of their patients, who suffer from painful conditions that include literal horns on their feet to bark-like growths. One woman even appears to have permanent stilettos on her heels, the result of a condition called Olmsted Syndrome.

My Feet Are Killing Me

10 p.m. on TLC

tonight's PICKS

NFL Football

8 p.m. on WAGA

NFL fans hungering for gridiron action will get their first taste of it for 2021 when the Dallas Cowboys and Pittsburgh Steelers clash in the Pro Football Hall of Fame Game from Tom Benson Hall of Fame Stadium in Canton, Ohio. This marks the seventh time these teams have met in this preseason classic, each winning three times.

Mountain Men 8 p.m. on HIST

John battles a ferocious blizzard and an onslaught of equally fierce predators to protect his bison in the new episode "Winter's Fury." Elsewhere, a stranded pack mule in dire straits forces Kidd and Harry to navigate treacherous rapids in a risky rescue mission. Mike has a frighteningly close encounter with a bear while repairing an old mountain cabin, while Jake responds to a mountain lion attack at a local ranch.

Deadly Mom Retreat 8 p.m. on LMN

Struggling yet fiercely determined to move on since her divorce, Jules (Lara Amersey) jumps at the chance to participate in a singles retreat with her new friend Marissa (Christina Cox). The word "retreat" takes on a different context, though, when a series of near-fatal accidents befall Jules almost immediately upon her arrival — and they all seem to involve a fellow visitor. Chris Violette, Rebecca LaMarche and Jon Welch also star in this 2021 thriller.

9:33 p.m. on HIST

As the challenge comes down to the final four participants, British Columbia's Chilko Lake continues its merciless assault on those struggling to survive in a new episode called "The Troll." Some survivalists attempt to change up their strategy as a new resource opens up, while another participant copes with the mental head game.

What's Available NOW On

"Critter Fixers: Country Vets, Season 2" (Available now)

A mule in need of a pedicure, an alpaca with parasites, a fainting goat and a sick puppy are among the cases brought before Drs. Terrence Ferguson and Vernard Hodges of rural Georgia's Critter Fixer Veterinary Hospital in the sophomore round of this unscripted National Geographic series.

"Garfield" (Available now)

Bill Murray supplies the voice of the computer-animated fat cat in this 2004 comedy. Annoyed at the arrival of Odie the dog, Garfield locks him outside. Odie wanders off and is picked up by a small-time entertainer (Stephen Tobolowsky) who wants to take him to the big city to use in his act. A now-repentant Garfield sets out to get him back.

"Sydney to the Max" (Available now)

This family sitcom stars Ruth Righi as middle-school student Sydney Reynolds, who lives with her single dad, Max (Ian Reed Kesler), in the home where he grew up, with his mother, Judy (Caroline Rhea). As Sydney's interests and activities begin to mature, Max turns to Judy for her perspective in scenes that shift back and forth between the present and the 1990s, when Max was Sydney's age.

"The Simpsons: The Good, the Bart and The Loki" (Available now)

The long-running Fox series meets the Marvel Cinematic Universe in this animated short that finds Loki (voice of Tom Hiddleston) banished to Springfield, where he joins forces with Bart (voice of Nancy Cartwright) to fight against his toughest adversaries. "Simpsons" regulars Dan Castellaneta and Yeardley Smith are also in the voice cast, as are Dawnn Lewis and Maurice La Marche. (ORIGINAL)

Emmy winner J.J. Abrams (the "Star Trek" movie reboots) is one of the executive producers behind this fourepisode documentary series that explores the widespread fascination with unidentified flying objects. On a related note, it also looks at rumors of possible clandestine influence by the American government, lucrative private interests and the military, allegedly to use the truth about extraterrestrial visitors to further their own agendas. This series initially was sparked by a 2017 New York Times story revealing that the Pentagon has been tracking UFOs for years.

Family Game Fight! 10:30 p.m. on WXIA

Married actors Kristen Bell and Dax Shepard co-host this new game show, which premieres tonight before moving into its regular time period on Wednesday. Inspired by the couple's instinctively competitive antics on "The Ellen DeGeneres Show," this new series pits them against each other as they are "adopted" into real-life families to vie in several zany games. Tonight's premiere finds Bell and Shepard, with their respective teams, facing off in Between the Sheets, Brain Freeze and Pie Rollers. The winning family plays Spin Cycle for a chance to win $100,000.

Cheap Old Houses 9:01 p.m. on HGTV

In this new home improvement series based on their popular Instagram site, hosts Ethan and Elizabeth Finkelstein tour older houses across America that are architecturally intact and available for under $150,000. During their initial tour of each property the couple shares stories about the home's historical significance and architectural fea-tures. The premiere finds them in upstate New York, visiting an 1850 Italianate with a jaw-drop-ping midcentury interior, and a 1900 Victorian with its original details. They also tour an 1850 schoolhouse restored by a father-daughter team. Another episode follows.

Super Heists 10 p.m. on CNBC

Anyone who is partial to movies and TV shows about crime capers (the "Ocean's" film series, perhaps), this six episode do-cuseries should fit the bill perfectly. Exclusive interviews with some real-life master thieves add juice to these stories about some of their most audacious heists, as viewed from two par-allel points of view: the thieves and the investigators who pursue them and never forget to follow the money. Among this season's stories is a bank heist rumored to contain a $30 million slush fund for President Richard Nixon.

Titans

10 p.m. on TNT Dick (Brenton Thwaites) makes his alliance with Kory, Gar and Rachel (Anna Diop, Ryan Potter, Teagan Croft) official, after which they all demonstrate their chief powers in the episode "Together." Meanwhile, Dr. Adamson (Reed Birney) dispatches a new Nuclear Stepdad to the family, who launch an attack that the young Titans are able to repel. When Dick subsequently confronts Adamson, the latter summons a strike team to kill Dick, but a surprising figure comes to the rescue. Curran Walters also stars.

Fantasy Island 9 p.m. on WAGA This reboot of the hit 1977-84

In the premiere, Roarke welcomes TV morning show host Christine Collins (guest star Bellamy Young, "Prodigal Son") who is consumed by an unnatural hunger. Kiara Barnes also stars.

In the new episode "Delusional," Tally (Jessica Sutton) leads the unit on a mind-bending mission to track down Nicte Batan (recurring guest star Arlen Aguayo). What remains to be seen, however, is whether those in the group are able to stand up against Nicte's formidable defenses.

Jennifer Nettles went to Broadway by way of 'Chicago'

Q: I found it interesting that Jennifer Nettles was the star chosen to introduce the Broadway segment on this year's "A Capitol Fourth" special. Has she performed on Broadway? - Heather Ross, Kansas City, Mo.

A: She has, and it got a lot of attention at the time, given her well-known roots in country music. The Grammy-winning artist who attained fame as half of the duo Sugarland had a limited run as Roxie Hart in the popular musical "Chicago" in 2015, and she acknowledged her stage work (and what she has said is her lifelong love of theater) by performing "Oh, What a Beautiful Mornin"' from "Oklahoma!" on PBS' recent Fourth of July special. Also, her recently released album "Always Like New" draws from such stage classics as "My Fair Lady" and "Annie."

Though she hasn't been back on the Great White Way regularly since her "Chicago" stint, Nettles has continued her acting pursuits. Besides starring in two NBC movies inspired by Dolly Parton's "Coat of Many Colors" song, she has appeared in the series "Underground" and "The Righteous Gemstones," and she also was in the Oscar-nominated film "Harriet."

Q: Having enjoyed Turner Classic Movies' festival of Elvis pictures, I'm wondering which ones were his first and last movies. - Richard Schyuler, via e-mail

A: The first was the 1956 Western "Love Me Tender," retitled from "The Reno Brothers" to match the name of Presley's legendary theme tune. Though his swan song as an actor was the 1969 drama "Change of Habit," his last feature film released was the 1972 documentary "Elvis on Tour" (which was included as part of the latest TCM tribute to him) After that, his remaining media appearances were in televised concert specials.

"At the birth of something, the assumption is that there will be rights and rules in place. We learned, actually, that people fought very hard for those and they were born out of needs and necessities. That's a fun exploration in this show." - Megan Follows of "The Republic of Sarah" on The CW

"Growing Up Animal: Season 1" (Disney+ - series premiere, Aug. 18)

From National Geographic comes this six-episode unscripted original series that takes viewers on the intimate and extraordinary adventure of baby animals such as chimps, sea lions, elephants, African wild dogs, lions and grizzlies, from the safety of the womb to the uncertainty of birth and their tentative first steps.

"Truth Be Told: Season 2" (Apple TV+ — season premiere, Aug. 20)

The second round of this original drama series follows investigative reporter-turned-true crime podcaster Poppy Parnell (Octavia Spencer, "The Help") as she takes on a case that deeply involves a childhood friend, media mogul Micah Keith (Kate Hudson, "Almost Famous"). Christopher Backus, Alona Tal, David Lvons and Katherine LaNasa are among cast returnees.
