Newton County Special Olympics

'Excited to return'

First Special Olympics Games in three years set for April 12-14

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga.

— Almost 500 Newton County special olympians are about to get their first chance in three years to compete in the agency's biggest event.

Newton County Special Olympics' annual Spring Games track and field event is set for April 12-14, 10 a.m.-noon each day, at Sharp Stadium at 2207 Williams St. in Covington.

Middle and high school students and adult graduates will compete April 12; followed by elementary competitors spread over two days April 13-14 so spacing can be done as a precaution against COVID, said LaTrelle Cawthon, coordinator of the event and Newton Special Olympics.

Flint Hill, Fairview, West Newton, Porterdale and Oak Hill Elementary schools will compete on April 13, followed by South Salem, Live Oak, Middle Ridge and East Newton Elementary schools on April 14.

Organizers canceled the formerly annual event in 2020 and 2021 because of concerns about the spread of COVID, Cawthon said.

"We're so excited to return," Cawthon said.

In lieu of a parade, this year student-athletes will have the opportunity to visit a petting zoo provided by Cassandra Butts of Newborn that will set up on site throughout the event.

"We feel the students will more fully enjoy the animals and this will also allow more social distancing, following COVID-19 practices," school officials said.

Cawthon said participants have enjoyed a petting zoo in past years.

"The children just loved it," she said.

About 250 upper ages and 240 elementary students are set to compete, Cawthon said.

No more permit to carry

Local impact detailed as firearm legislation gets final passage

By TAYLOR BECK
tbeck@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Permits will no longer be required of Georgians to carry a concealed firearm after such legislation passed through the General Assembly last week.

The Republican-controlled Senate passed Senate Bill 319 along party lines Friday just two days after it was approved in the Georgia House.

Gov. Brian Kemp, who was a proponent of the legislation, was expected to sign the bill into law soon but had not done so at the time of this publication.

"I appreciate the House & Senate for their hard work to get Constitutional Carry over the finish line," Kemp wrote in a series of tweets. "Law-abiding Georgians deserve to ensure they can protect themselves and their families, and scheduled around the community.

This weekend, the Newton County Parks and Recreation department will host its annual egg hunt. On Saturday, April 9, starting at 11 a.m., there will be an egg hunt, face painting stations and other games and prizes at City Pond Park in Covington. The event is open to children age 10 and under. The first 100 children will receive a free "goody bag." Also on April 9, Allen Memorial United Methodist Church will host its annual free Easter Egg Hunt for the community at 1 p.m. at the church, located at 803 Whatcoat St. in Oxford.

Two separate egg hunts are planned: one for kindergarten and under, and the other for first grade and up. Children's crafts, goody bags, and more will be available. The family-friendly event is open to the community, and

Newton County Board of Commissioners

Sheriff seeks $6 million budget increase for vehicles, positions

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Newton County government’s various departments made requests last week that would represent a 19% increase in the General Fund budget if approved.

Ezell Brown

Requests totaled more than $95 million, which was almost $18 million above the 2022 General Fund — the part of the overall budget that funds most of the county government. The largest increase was in the part of the General Fund overseen by Sheriff Ezell Brown that includes the sheriff’s office, detention center, Westside and Eastside precincts and school resource officers, which requested a combined $6 million increase. Brown said the county had progressed throughout its history by working to improve its public services. “The method of how we move forward is entirely up to you,” Brown told the Board of Commissioners during initial 2023 budget hearings last week. Among the requests in Brown’s 2023 budget were 32 new positions totaling about $2 million for nine new deputies, seven new investigators, six detention officers and new administrative positions and a purchasing officer. Brown said his office’s budget requests included addition of a purchasing officer; and a hiring and retention initiative that includes a $3,000 hiring bonus for experienced deputies and detention officers; a $1,500 bonus for non-experienced employees; and a retention bonus of $1,500 for all employees who maintain employment every five years. “Should this be removed or reduced, we risk the possibility of (not) being competitive with hiring. All the surrounding agencies are currently offering sign-on (and) retention bonuses” according to notes included in Brown’s budget request.

His notes to commissioners also stated he wanted to outfit all newly hired deputies with fully equipped vehicles and is seeking to upgrade a “deteriorated fleet” with some vehicles as old as 17 years. “Operating older vehicles on the road puts them at risk and increases costs associated with mechanical failures. Vehicles are required for responding to emergencies and ensuring the health and safety of Newton County residents, which is the primary role of law enforcement. Timely repairs and/or purchase of new vehicles need to be prioritized to ensure that there is no disruption in service.” Brown told Board members he asked them for vehicles in 2019 and “did not know, nor did you know, that COVID was going to happen” in 2020. He said even if his office had the funding to order 100 vehicles to totally replace his fleet “you still couldn’t get them” in 2020 because of vehicle makers’ plants shutting down production.

He also said he and Board members knew his office had vehicles in need of repair and replacement in 2019. “But we put it on the back burner and now we are suffering because of the fact that we didn’t act right then,” he said. In response to a question from Commissioner Stan Edwards, Brown said the sheriff’s office had received nine of 16 vehicles for which the Board approved special funding in 2021. He said the sheriff’s office was still awaiting delivery of the other seven — specially equipped for law enforcement use — but they likely will not arrive until 2023 because of the shortages of parts and computer components all vehicle makers are now facing. He said Dodge Chargers as old as 2005 models were being used. NCSO is also using Ford Crown Victorias which have not been produced for 11 years but the sheriff’s office is maintaining. Brown asked that Interim County Manager Jarvis Sims meet

General Assembly

Georgia lawmakers send $30.2 billion budget to Kemp

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — The General Assembly gave final passage Monday night to a $30.2 billion state budget that provides pay raises to state employees and Georgia teachers. During the final hour of this year’s legislative session, the Georgia House of Representatives passed the fiscal 2023 spending plan 160-5. The state Senate had passed the budget unanimously earlier in the day. The budget, which takes effect July 1, will increase salaries for most state employees by $5,000 and gives state retirees their first cost-of-living adjustment in 14 years. Targeted raises will go to correctional officers in the adult and juveniles prison systems to try to stem huge turnover rates. Teachers, who saw a $3,000 raise in 2019, will get another $2,000, fulfilling a pledge Gov. Brian Kemp made on the campaign trail four years ago to raise teacher pay by $5,000. With state coffers flush with robust tax revenues coming out of the pandemic, the budget increases spending by 10.8% over the budget the General Assembly adopted last spring. It includes an $11.8 billion investment in K-12 education, the largest in the state’s history. The spending plan also eliminates the institutional fees the University System of Georgia began charging students during the Great Recession and increases Medicaid coverage for low-income mothers in Georgia to a full year following the birth of their children, up from the current six months. Senate Appropriations Committee Chairman Blake Tillery, R-Vidalia, injected a word of warning when he presented the budget. While strong state tax collections have given lawmakers leeway for the additional spending, he said there are signs of trouble for the economy. “The storm clouds are on the horizon,” he said. “We need to know that and be honest with our constituents as we approach the next 12 months.”

Newton County Planning Commission

Dearing Road apartment complex plans approved after zoning in place for 34 years

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Newton County planning commissioners recently approved early plans for single- and multi-family developments that have been in the works in one case for decades.

Commissioners approved a preliminary plat for a 176-unit apartment complex whose zoning had been in place for 34 years southeast of Covington. Covington Place apartments are planned on 10.5 acres on Dearing Road at Dearing Woods Way. They are part of a planned unit development called Covington Plantation that was first approved in 1988, according to county records.

A PUD essentially is approved as a single entity that can include a mix of multi-family and single-family residential uses. Covington Plantation already has a single-family area and a multi-family section called the Townhomes at Dearing.

Commissioners also approved the extension of approval for a 15-year-old preliminary plat for Cornish Hills on a total of 211 acres west of Lake Varner in north Newton County.

The proposed preliminary plat includes multiple parcels on Cornish Mountain Road, Flat Rock Road and Hale Drive which will be combined on a final plat and developed under the Open Space Conservation Residential regulations in the zoning ordinance.

The Open Space regulations require at least one-third of the site to be conserved in minimally disturbed natural areas that must be maintained under such uses as wetlands, forested areas, meadows, wildlife corridors, game preserves, agricultural, parks, pedestrian trails, bike paths, utility easements and corridors; or for the preservation of historic and cultural resources.

Cornish Hills' preliminary plat includes 75 lots on 211 acres for a density of 0.36 units per acre with 33% — 70 acres — to remain as open space.

Planning commissioners must approve a preliminary plat before a final site plan and plat can be approved by the planning staff and building permits issued, according to the county zoning ordinance.

Also at its most recent meeting on March 22, the county planning commission:

- Voted to approve with conditions a preliminary plat for an eight-lot subdivision on 20.5 acres on Malcom Road.
- Voted to table (delay action) on a request for a rezoning of 2.3 acres at 12862 Brown Bridge Road from single-family residential to commercial, and a request for an exemption to parking requirements in the Salem Road Overlay District.

The site is directly across Brown Bridge

Road from Walmart. Applicant Taylor English Duma LLC is seeking a special exemption to overlay district regulations that limit parking to two rows in front of commercial properties.

- Voted to approve with conditions the rezoning of 9.5 acres at 200 Bates Road from Agricultural to Agricultural Residential.

- Voted to approve two requests for 33.7 acres at 55 Potts Lane, including a rezoning from Agricultural Residential to Agricultural, and a conditional use permit to establish a tree service.

with his administrative staff to devise a vehicle replacement plan.

Vehicle requests in the budget included:

- $325,000 for a Bearcat G3 armored vehicle for use by the SWAT team "for various tactical assignments where resident danger and officer safety is high."
- $190,800 for three Chevrolet Tahoes used for local inmate transport. The cost includes equipment needed for law enforcement purposes such as radios, badging and striping.
- $49,645 for a Chrysler Pacifica minivan for use by Special Investigations Unit, SWAT team and gangs unit.

"Specifically, this vehicle will help transport multiple law enforcement staff to locations while providing the flexibility of adequate space for storing equipment within the vehicle."

- $947,600 for 23 Dodge Charger vehicles for use by multiple departments including the patrol unit, civil unit and school resource officers,

"Once purchased, these vehicles will replace existing and older higher mileage vehicles which may be transferred to other departments that experience less vehicle usage. Current vehicles being used are prone to more repairs and ongoing maintenance issues as a result of their age and advanced usage."

- $157,452 for three

Dodge Durango SUVs for use by various departments including the Gangs unit.

"Specifically, this vehicle will help transport staff and needed equipment for equipment for law enforcement purposes while potentially providing the flexibility of off-road usage if the situation arises."

- $44,900 for one Dodge Ram 1500 5x7 bed Crew Cab for use by Special Investigations Unit, SWAT team and Gangs unit.

"This vehicle will help transport staff and needed equipment while providing the flexibility of adequate cargo space."

- $97,400 for two Dodge Ram 1500 4x4 Crew Cab trucks for use by Special Investigations Unit and SWAT team.

Hope wins the day in Georgia

Imagine your child or sibling had an “episode,” as some are wont to call it. That person had to be admitted to a hospital in Georgia — hopefully without the assistance of the police.

How do you pay for it — knowing medical care is going to be expensive and likely a cost not covered by insurance?

In fact, medical costs are the leading contributor to bankruptcy in both Georgia and nationwide. And insurance companies have not exactly been volunteering to cover costs of mental health care.

Until now — with an added push from the Georgia General Assembly.

I admit, I haven’t been in total agreement with many of the initiatives the Republican-led Assembly has introduced in the past two years. I think they went too far, too fast in some of their more highly publicized actions.

But their passage of legislation to require health insurance companies to cover mental illness the same way they cover physical illness is almost “transformative,” in the words of one state lawmaker.

The legislation also would apply to Georgia Medicaid and the State Health Benefit Plan.

It was carried in the state Senate by a Newton County legislator, District 17 Sen. Brian Strickland, R-McDonough. Gov. Brian Kemp signed it into law Monday.

Care management organizations (CMOs) participating in Georgia Medicaid will have to dedicate at least 85% of their revenues to patient care, Capitol Beat News Service reported.

In another way that Georgia legislators — led by House Speaker David Ralston — see this as a priority, the bill also creates a loan program to address a shortage of mental-health specialists who are especially rare in many of the state’s rural areas.

It offers loan forgiveness to several types of mental-health specialists as well as primary-care physicians if they work in areas with a shortage of such professionals.

The bill authorizes the Behavioral Health Reform and Innovation Commission, of which Strickland is a member, to keep working on mental-health reforms by mid-2025.

“Many parts of this bill are long-term investments,” he said. “But we’ll start the process to make Georgia not just the No. 1 state in which to do business, but the No. 1 state for mental-health services.”

The Senate did not change the current law that requires a mentally disturbed person to be involuntarily committed for an evaluation at a mental-health care facility if they pose an “imminent” threat to themselves or others, Capitol Beat reported.

Strickland said an officer could take an individual to be evaluated without having to charge them with a crime.

The original House version of the bill removed from the bill “imminent,” which meant the threat had to be occurring, rather than could occur within a short time.

It also authorizes the Georgia Public Safety Training Center in Forsyth to provide mental health training to police officers — in a show of rare bipartisanship because it was introduced by a Democrat.

State Insurance Commissioner John King praised the bill as ensuring “a final product that provides much needed coverage without undermining our values or forcing insurers to cover controversial treatments.”

The bill overcame pushback from health insurers and such false claims as protection for pedophiles.

A related bill would allow local law enforcement agencies to develop procedures for mental-health workers to join police in responding to 911 calls, including calling in a trained mental-health worker, the news service reported.

According to the non-profit Mental Health America of Georgia, this state ranks 48th out of 50 states and Washington, D.C., for access to mental health care, resources and insurance.

An individual with serious mental illness has a one in five chance of ending up in prison or the local jail instead of a hospital, and sheriff’s deputies and police with little mental health training have bore the brunt of the problems for years.

Ralston — who made the bill his top priority for this year’s session — told House members after the vote, “Today, hope won.” He received a standing ovation.

Hope for many hurting Georgians — and their loved ones — did indeed win.

Our View on the Issue

Turn attention from driving distractions

From star athletes announcing fake retirements to various media outlets sharing downright unbelievable, fake news stories, as the moth of March comes to an end, people too often fall victim to April Fools Day pranks.

But as the calendar turns, with it comes National Distracted Driving Awareness Month that highlights an issue that is no joke.

Over the month of April, organizations such as AAA work to educate the public on the risks of distracted driving and teach how to minimize those distractions.

Many people don’t realize that taking your eyes off the road for even two seconds can turn deadly for you or someone else.

“Distracted drivers kill thousands of people every year,” AAA spokeswoman Montrae Waiters said in a recent news release. “If you’re not focused on driving, you’re endangering the lives of everyone on the road. Please put the phone down and eliminate any other distractions when you get behind the wheel.”

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA):

- 400,000 people are injured in distraction-related crashes every year.
- 3,138 people were killed nationwide (2020).
- 55 distracted driving crashes resulted in 61 fatalities in Georgia (2020).
- The true numbers are likely much higher due to underreporting.

According to NHTSA, nearly one in five distracted driving deaths were non-motorists.

Distractions come in many different forms, including eating, drinking, personal grooming, adjusting the radio, using a cell phone, text messaging and other passengers, among others.

So what can drivers do to prevent distracted driving? Here are a few suggestions from AAA:

Put down the electronic devices. Don’t use cell phones while driving — handheld or hands-free — except in absolute emergencies. Never use text messaging, email functions, video games or the internet with a wireless device, including those built into the vehicle, while driving. Drivers that use cell phones while behind the wheel are up to four times as likely to be involved in a crash. Further, research shows that hands-free cell phones offer no significant safety benefits over handheld phones. Hands-free is not risk free.

Make adjustments before you start rolling. Address vehicle systems like your GPS, seats, mirrors, climate controls and sound systems before hitting the road. Decide on your route and check traffic conditions ahead of time.

Ask your passengers for help if you need something, so you can stay focused on the road.

And if nothing else, pull over, stop the vehicle and get whatever distractions facing you handled before getting back out on the road.

Don’t be an April fool. Don’t drive distracted.

Fresh prints on Chris Rock’s face

On a recent Sunday night, my wife Cindy and I were among the 13 Americans actually watching the Academy Awards. Of course, a few hundred million have now seen Will Smith spring from his front row seat, charging toward Chris Rock to avenge a tacky joke about his wife Jada Pinkett Smith.

The incident has been replayed, posted and shared to everyone not living in a remote jungle. Every major network has dissected the footage, some in slow motion. I fully expect the Golf Channel to do a re-enactment, offering recommendations on which club Smith should use if he goes on the attack again.

We all have questions. Should Rock have poked fun at Ms. Pinkett Smith’s bald head, the result of the skin disease Alopecia? Should Smith, who laughed at the joke until his wife showed her disapproval, have settled the issue with words instead? Should Smith have been arrested for assaulting Rock during the live broadcast, as anyone else would have been?

My wife and I were half-way paying attention, as those of us with cellphones tend to do. As soon as ABC silenced the audio and put a generic photo on screen, we knew something had gone wrong. Eventually they restored the video, and Smith was shown shouting at Rock. I’m not the best lip reader, but it was something like, “Sir, I take umbrage at your uncouth comments about my lady!” (Actually, I’ve been looking for a reason to use the word “umbrage” in my column, and this might be my only shot.)

It was right out of a Jerry Springer show. Come to think of it, the past few years in America have been Springer-ized. Everybody is screaming, cursing, and acting out. From the executive branch, to the legislative, and now even the wife of a Supreme Court justice, so I suppose the circle is complete.

From studying the replays, it was confirmed that Will Smith slapped Chris Rock. Yes, this large, strapping man who had played Muhammad Ali in a movie, slapped an older, smaller man. (Best line I’ve seen so far: What did police find when they dusted Chris Rock’s face? Fresh prints. I so wish I could take credit for that).

While some have expressed admiration for Smith’s apparent chivalry, I’m still trying to figure out the slap. I have seen every episode of “Bonanza,” many of which featured Hoss Cartwright defending a woman’s honor by exacting vengeance on some scruffy lowlife who dared insult a lady. Never once did Hoss utilize an open-hand slap. Nope, the big cowboy charged up, much like Will Smith, but with fists a’ flying. If Hoss had slapped an outlaw, he would have been laughed off the Ponderosa.

Cindy reminded me of the one time I was in a similar situation, and forever became her hero. Early in our marriage, I emceed a charity event called the Kudzu Ball, which was a parody of a high-society gala known as the Cotton Ball. There was a costume contest, and Cindy, dressed as “Kudzilla” was among the winners.

After the show, some drunk confronted her and complained that she won because of her relation to me. Her integrity was being questioned! I leapt into action, getting in the guy’s face, ready to go toe-to-toe. Now keep in mind that I am not a fighter. Physically, I’m as intimidating as Don Knotts in his Sunday go to meeting clothes. Surprisingly, the guy backed away and apologized, while I strutted around like Foghorn Leghorn. To be honest, I don’t know what I would have done had the situation escalated, but there would have been no slapping.

By the time you read this, I’m sure Will Smith’s public relations team will have apologized to Chris Rock’s team (and vice versa), and they will soon star in a movie together to cash in on the notoriety.

And, the next time the far more acerbic comedian Ricky Gervais hosts an awards show, he will be surrounded by armed guards.

For the past two years, we have craved normalcy, looking forward to the day when we could talk about anything besides COVID-19. In a weird sort of way, we got our wish.

along the trail.

Also set for April 16, the First Presbyterian Church of Covington will host an egg hunt starting at 10 a.m. at the church playground, located at 1169 Clark St SW in Covington.

On Easter Sunday, as several churches will host special services around the county, two churches will move their services to public locations.

Pathway Church in Porterdale plans to hold a sunrise service at Porter Memorial Gymnasium, located at 2201 Main St., beginning at 7 a.m.

First Baptist Church of Covington will host “Easter Sunday on the Square” starting at 10 a.m. on the Covington Square. The entire Square will be shut down for the event.

“It has become one of favorite ministry highlights of the entire year ... It’s an awesome morning, and we want you to join us,” said the Rev. Cody McNutt, who is senior pastor of First Baptist Church of Covington, in a social media video invitation.

Easter is one of the principal holidays of Christianity that marks the resurrection of Jesus three days after his death by crucifixion. For many Christian churches, Easter is the culmination of the Lenten season of fasting and penitence.

CARRY:

this legislation strengthens that God-given right.

“I look forward to signing the Georgia Constitutional Carry Act of 2021 into law soon and fulfilling another promise I made to the voters of this state,” he added.

For weeks, Democrats have argued the legislation would lead to an increase in crime. State Sen. Elena Parent, D-Atlanta, who is chairperson of the Senate Democratic Caucus, said the bill would remove “one of the only checks” that keep criminals from getting firearms. Currently, Georgia does not require a background check in private sales of firearms, so oftentimes permit applications are the first time a check is required.

“Senate Bill 319 allowing permit-less carry in Georgia passes the Senate,” Parent wrote on Twitter. “This eliminates one of the only checks we have to keep guns out of the hands of criminals. Instead we should pass universal background checks, safe storage laws, and permitting that includes training.”

Parent also said police chiefs across the state have come out in opposition to the bill.

“Everyone has guns,” she said. “It makes our streets dangerous.”

But Sen. Randy Robertson, R-Cataula, said violent crime has risen in Georgia because of a lack of aggressive law enforcement by some police agencies.

“Let’s stop blaming an inanimate object,” Robertson said.

“The Constitution of the United States says we have the right to bear arms and the right to protect ourselves and our families,” said Sen. Jeff Mullis, R-Chickamauga, who was the bill’s chief sponsor.

But what are law enforcement officials saying?

Covington Police Chief Stacey Cotton told The Covington News he didn’t think crime would increase much, if at all.

“I don’t believe this legislation will increase crime very much if [at] all,” he said. “Several years ago, a law was passed that prohibited police from asking for a concealed carry permit if a person was seen or believed to have a weapon on their person. That law, in theory, negated the need for the permit anymore if we were not allowed to ask for it.

“With that said, I have always been a supporter of law-abiding citizens’ right to carry and possess a firearm, and traditionally those people rarely, if ever, commit crimes,” Cotton added. “A criminal, by definition, is someone who has committed a crime, and during that act the penalties are increased if a gun is involved. If the person is a convicted felon, then they were not supposed to have the weapon in the first place so they have committed a crime by just simple possession. No amount of regulation or laws that I have seen in my 35 years of law enforcement has stopped the person intent on committing a crime or hindered them in using a gun to commit the crime. The law is the last thing a criminal is concerned about.”

Once the bill is signed into law, its impact could be felt on a financial level.

Over the last several years in Newton County, more than 2,500 permits have been issued locally, which translates to a conservative estimate of between $75,000 and $195,000 in annual revenue, depending on the permit application type. The cost for a new applicant is $78 while a renewal only costs $30.

Since 2016, there have been at least 2,557 permits issued by the Newton County Probate Court. The most in recent years came in 2018 (3,114).

Permits issued by the year:

- 2016 — 2,675
- 2017 — 2,557
- 2018 — 3,114
- 2019 — 2,720
- 2020 — 2,690* (*as of September, per report)

Social Circle girls capture Region 8A-Public championship April 1

HIAWASSEE, Ga. — When the Social Circle Lady Redskins returned to Social Circle last Friday, they brought home more than just a 4-3 win over Towns County. With the win, the Lady Redskins were crowned champions of Region 8A-Public — the first region title for the girls soccer program since 2017. The players' joy was noticeable, according to head coach Heather Richardson. "They were very excited and had worked so hard to get to that point," Richardson said. Friday's win concludes the Lady Redskins' regular season with a 17-1 overall record along with a 13-1 record in Region 8A-Public.

Of the 17 wins, 13 of them were shut out victories for Social Circle as well as eight mercy rule wins, too. The Lady Redskins began the season 2-0 by defeating Cedar Shoals and Monroe Area. Their lone loss of 2022 came against Commerce on Feb. 7, losing 5-4 on the road. Social Circle has not lost since. Immediately following that loss, the Lady Redskins won seven straight, six of which resulted in shutouts. Then, Social Circle avenged its loss against Commerce when it won 3-1 on March 10. The Lady Redskins then enjoyed a stretch of matches where they won six straight that all resulted in shutouts. Friday's contest against

Oakley helps lead EHS to postseason

COVINGTON, Ga. — Last week, the Eastside Lady Eagles punched their ticket to the 2022 Class 5A playoffs. A senior leader on both ends of the field has been Katie Oakley.

Oakley serves as the team's starting goalkeeper and has played on the offensive side of the formation, too. According to Oakley, being able to play both positions has helped the overall team this season. "Offensively, I can help make plays and even score," Oakley said. "[Playing in the goal], I can help protect from goals being scored." Even though her Eastside soccer career is on its home stretch, Oakley has already determined her post-graduation soccer plans. On Nov. 11, Oakley signed her national letter of intent to continue her soccer career at Georgia Southern beginning next school year. When deciding WINDER, Ga. — Solidifying their place in the Class 5A playoffs, the Eastside Lady Eagles went on the road and defeated the Apalachee Lady Wildcats 7-0 on Friday, April 1. Goals were scored by Lauren Davis (2), Katie Oakley, Joanna Funes, Mia Mostek, Sophia Leal and Jordyn Jones. Abigail Morgan (2) as well as Oakley and Leal assisted on four of the seven goals, too. Three goals were scored in the first half with four being scored in the second half to provide plenty of cushion down the stretch. The Lady Eagles' defense did not allow a single shot on goal, either, which helped preserve the shutout victory. Eastside Coach Joel Singleton was thrilled with his team's performance. "We played a very good game tonight," Singleton said. "Our passing was as good as it's been all season. I thought we executed on the offensive end as well as we have all season. Multiple players scored and assisted scores. I love that about this group. They like to see their teammates enjoy success!" With the win the Lady Eagles improved to 10-4-1 overall and 4-3-0 in Region 8-A-A-A-A-A, which secured a state playoff berth for Eastside. The Lady Eagles will play at Region 6-A-A-A-A-A champion Midtown, formerly Grady High, in Atlanta on Tuesday, April 12. Eastside's final regular season match was scheduled for Friday, April 8, at Sprayberry High.

Moore drills first career home run

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga. — When Social Circle went on the road and defeated Lincoln County 11-0 on March 30, junior third baseman Mason Moore had a career moment. Moore drilled his first career home run as a Redskin. He finished the game going 2-for-4 at the plate and had two RBIs. For Moore, the moment was special because of the team he's on. "At Social Circle we pride ourselves on being a family," Moore said. "We play and practice together day after day and I have such a close bond with my teammates and coaches that helps us be successful through the season." March 30's win improved the Redskins to 14-5 with an unblemished 7-0 record in Region 8A-Public. According to Moore, the team aimed for a set of aspirations that Towns County was the closest contest Social Circle endured since its 3-2 win over Monroe Area on Feb. 4.

But, with the state playoffs on the horizon, Richardson stressed how a close match served as a good reminder for her team heading into the postseason.

“I feel like it was a good game for us to have going into the playoffs because we didn’t beat [Towns County] 8-0 or 10-0,” Richardson said. “It was a pretty tough game for us. So, I think that set the tone that, starting next week, all the games are going to be tough. Everybody is playing for the same thing and we have to get mentally prepared for that.”

In total, the Lady Redskins have outscored all of their opponents this season 147-14. That brings their average to 7.7 goals per match.

Offensively, Tess Preston and Peyton Brooks have separated themselves scoring goals at a high rate all season. As one of the team’s seniors, Preston leads the team with 59 goals and also has a team-high 29 assists. Brooks, as a sophomore, has 56 goals along with 21 assists.

Alana Ferguson, who joined the team after basketball season, is the third Lady Redskin who has scored double-digit goals with 10 total.

Seniors Kaylee Connell and Taylor Wright have recorded 12 assists apiece, too.

Defensively, senior Rory Stowe and freshman Faith Young “hold it down” as the two team’s center backs, Richardson said.

Freshman goalkeeper Addie Stracner has seen the most game time (225 minutes) in the goal this season and has collected 22 saves, three of which were in the win on Friday at Towns County. Sophomore Alaina Smith has recorded 17 saves in 80 minutes of game time, too.

For Richardson, seeing her team perform at a high level all season across the board has been crucial to this season’s success.

“It has helped us get into the position we’re in,” Richardson said. “Having players that make an impact, the older ones and younger ones. That’s definitely what you need to be successful and to be good all over the field.

I think we are definitely a well-rounded team.”

Now, with the regular season wrapped up, the Lady Redskins will enjoy spring break and come back the latter part of the week to begin preparation for the Class A-Public state playoffs.

By earning the No. 1 seed out of Region 8A-Public, Social Circle will host the first round of the state playoffs next Tuesday, April 12. And, with aspirations for a deep playoff run, Richardson stressed how her team has to focus on the fundamentals to fuel a long lasting postseason.

“We have to be solid on defense,” Richardson said. “We can’t make any mistakes. Then, we have to score goals when we get the opportunity. We can’t miss opportunities when we have them. And definitely having confidence in ourselves and our teammates and working hard.”

SC BOYS CLAIM REGION TITLE

Courtesy of Commerce defeating Lake Oconee Academy 3-2 on Monday, April 4, the Social Circle boys team was also crowned champions of Region 8A-Public.

Previously, the Redskins were in a tie for first place but, with Lake Oconee Academy’s loss, the team can claim the title outright.

The boys finished the regular season 17-2 (13-1).

See The News’ April 9-10 edition for the full story on the boys’ region championship season.

MOORE:

each player wanted to achieve.

And Moore said each aspiration is still within the team’s grasp.

“The season so far has been successful, we are currently undefeated in region play and plan to stay that way the rest of the year,” Moore said. “The main goal was a 20 or more regular season wins and we are currently on our way to that sitting at 14-5 with 11 games left.”

In addition to his role on the baseball team, Moore is also a football player for the Redskins. He serves as one of the team’s two starting safeties. Moore’s favorite subject at Social Circle is U.S. history because he has “always loved learning the history of the United States.”

Throughout his three years at Social Circle, Moore recognized that he’s grown in various areas. However, the biggest change he has noticed has been in his physical growth.

During his sophomore season, he stood at 6’2, 155 pounds. A year later, he is 6’3, 190 pounds.

But none of his individual growth or accomplishments would matter to Moore if not for the support he receives from his team.

Moore highlighted how having a strong team connection makes all the difference for him and the Redskins this season.

“Our bond as a team at Social Circle is very close,” Moore said. “All nine starters have been playing together since at least sixth grade. The team hangs out almost every day after practice and after games we all go eat. So, we are with each other almost 24/7.”

OAKLEY:

which position she was committing to on the soccer field, Oakley said it was tough. However, when she settled on being a goalkeeper, she expressed how content she was with the final decision.

“Starting at 12-13 years old is pretty late for a goalkeeper,” Oakley said. “So against my competitors at other clubs I needed to catch up since they were about two years ahead of me. With a lot of training and building strength mainly in my legs, I was able to catch up. My only weakness was my height when starting out. So, I trained to make sure my height wasn’t my downfall. I have decided to play as a goalkeeper for college and would not change my decision.”

As a captain this season, Oakley leads her squad with 15 goals scored and has recorded three assists thus far.

Oakley is 100% committed to soccer, too. Between her participation in school soccer as well as club soccer, Oakley said it was difficult to fit any other extracurricular activities into her already packed schedule.

Additionally, Oakley is a student at the Newton College and Career Academy (NCCA). There, she’s enrolled in her favorite class, which is Computer Science because learning coding and such interests her.

Even so, Oakley will be off to Statesboro in just a few short months to continue pursuing her soccer career to wherever the next level leads.

She plans to major in Handicap Engineering while also planning to earn a minor in business.

All of her plans are to help assist her immediate and distant goals in life, she said.

“My long-term goal would be to play soccer for as long as I can, with a club that will sign me,” Oakley said. “After soccer, I plan on using my degree to get into the engineering field and get a job doing what I love.”

as senior Nick Mitchell.

Norton scored a 79 while Harper finished with an 81 and O’Brien recorded an 88. Mitchell rounded his performance out with a 99.

Head coach Chris Edgar displayed the pride he has in each of his players.

“I was proud of our entire team’s effort,” Edgar said. “All these guys took on the mental challenges that golf puts on you and handled it well.”

To top it all off, Eastside was one of only eight teams to qualify for the Sectionals Tournament this season.

Now, the Eagles set their sights on the Sectionals Tournament on May 2 at the Cartersville Country Club. In order for them to advance to the State Tournament, Eastside will, once again, need a top four finish.

Bridgestone hosts Spring Golf Capitol Kickoff

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

ATLANTA — In anticipation of Masters week, Bridgestone Golf in Newton County hosted the Spring Golf Capitol Kickoff at Liberty Plaza directly across from the State Capitol on Friday, April 1.

This event serves as an early beginner for the Masters Tournament week in Augusta each year.

In addition to this event, Bridgestone Golf was displaying its new Tour B golf ball the company categorizes as “the smarter tour ball.”

State officials and politicians dropped by on Friday to swing at a few golf balls and, when they left, Bridgestone Golf gifted each one their own golf ball, too.

The Masters will take place from April 7-10 at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Why it pays for seniors to maintain good credit

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

The benefits of maintaining good credit include looking more reliable in the eyes of prospective employers and securing lower mortgage interest rates when buying a home. Those rewards can benefit anyone, but they’re especially enticing to young people. But what about seniors? Do individuals stand to benefit significantly from maintaining good credit into their golden years?

According to the credit reporting agency Experian, senior citizens tend to have the best credit scores of any consumer demographic. That could be a byproduct of years of financial discipline, and there are many benefits to maintaining that discipline into retirement.

- Home buying and borrowing: Buying a home is often considered a big financial step forward for young people, but that doesn’t mean aging men and women are completely out of the real estate market. In its 2020

“State of the Nation’s Housing” report, the Joint Center for Housing Studies (JCHS) of Harvard University reported that the share of homeowners age 65 and over with housing debt doubled to 42% between 1989 and 2019. In addition, 27% of homeowners age 80 and over were carrying mortgage debt in 2019. Maintaining strong credit after retirement can help homeowners who still have mortgage debt get better terms if they choose to refinance their mortgages. Even seniors who have paid off their mortgages can benefit from maintaining good credit if they decide to downsize to a smaller home but cannot afford to simply buy the new home outright.

- Rewards: Retirement is often associated with travel, recreation and leisure. Such pursuits can be more affordable when seniors utilize rewards-based credit cards that help them finance vacations, weekend getaways and other expenses associated with traveling.

Seniors who maintain strong credit ratings into their golden years may have more access to the best travel-based rewards cards than those whose credit scores dip in retirement.

- Unforeseen expenses: No one knows what’s around the corner, but savvy seniors recognize the importance of planning for the unknown. The COVID-19 pandemic seemingly came out of nowhere, and among its many ripple effects was the sudden job loss experienced by seniors. The JCHS report found that 21% of homeowners age 65 and over had reported loss of employment income related to the pandemic. Unforeseen medical expenses also can compromise seniors’ financial freedom. Maintaining a strong credit rating into older adulthood can help seniors navigate such financial uncertainty more smoothly. Such a strategy can help seniors secure low-interest loans or credit cards that can help them pay down sudden, unforeseen expenses without getting into significant debt.

The importance of a strong credit rating is often emphasized to young people. However, a strong credit rating can be equally beneficial for seniors.

Piedmont ranked among nation’s top employers

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

ATLANTA — Piedmont Healthcare was named to Forbes magazine’s list of “America’s Best Large Employers” for 2022, coming in at No. 166 among all employers of 5,000 employees or more across the United States.

Piedmont was one of just 48 health care organizations nationally to land on the list. Overall, Piedmont ranked among 15 Georgia companies that earned spots on the list.

“Our talented team of doctors, nurses, clinicians and staff are helping to change lives across Georgia – they make Piedmont one of the best places to work,” said President and Chief Executive Officer Kevin Brown. “After all that we have weathered these past two years, it is gratifying to see us recognized as one of ‘America’s Best Large Employers.’”

The results are based on surveys from more than 60,000 participants. As part of the selection and ranking process, Piedmont employees responded to surveys about topics including development opportunities, working conditions, compensation, diversity and how likely they were to recommend Piedmont to friends and family.

“It’s an honor to be ranked by Forbes as one of ‘America’s Best Large Employers,’ and it says a lot about what it means to work at Piedmont. I’m tremendously proud that Piedmont employees feel valued, are excited to make a positive difference in the lives of our patients, and know they are respected as individuals and rewarded for their success,” said Chief Human Resources Officer Vicki Cansler.

The Forbes 2022 “America’s Best Large Employers” final list ranks the 500 large employers that received the most recommendations, and employers are not able to apply for spots on the list. Piedmont was also previously named on Forbes “America’s Best Employers by State 2021” and “Best-In-State list for 2020.”

Piedmont Healthcare has dozens of facilities across the metro area, including in Newton County. Learn more at piedmont.org.

powder, and salt in a 2-quart mixing bowl; mix well. In a 4-quart mixing bowl, beat butter and cream cheese on high speed of hand-held electric mixer 1 minute. Add flour mixture; beat on low speed 1 minute or until blended (mixture will form a stiff paste).
In a small bowl, whisk eggs, milk and vanilla just until blended. Add egg mixture to cream cheese mixture in four additions, beating 2 minutes after each addition. (Do not undermix.)
Pour batter into pan. Bake 55 to 60 minutes or until a cake tester inserted near the center comes out clean. Cool cake in pan 10 minutes. Loosen cake from sides of pan; carefully invert onto a cooling rack, keeping pan over cake. Cool completely.
Place cake on serving platter. Sprinkle with powdered sugar or prepare a glaze, if desired.

Celebrate Passover with homemade charoset

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

Passover is steeped in tradition. Many of these traditions involve symbolic foods which tell the story of the Israelites and their miraculous exodus from Egyptian slavery.
One such food is charoset (also spelled haroset), which symbolizes the mortar the Israelites used to build bricks when they were slaves in Egypt. Charoset is a fruit relish used on small sandwiches made from matzoh and bitter herbs.

The bittersweet taste is supposed to teach the bitterness of bondage and the sweetness of freedom.

Passover celebrants can make their own charoset by following this recipe, courtesy of Israel My Glory magazine.

Charoset
Makes 15 tablespoons
Ingredients:
1 large apple, any variety
1/2 cup chopped nuts
2 tablespoons honey
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Small amount of lemon juice (optional)
Directions:
The easiest method is to put the apples and nuts into a food processor and pulse until finely diced. Sprinkle enough lemon juice on the mixture to keep the apples from turning brown. Then mix in the other ingredients. Some people also mix in a little grape juice or wine. The recipe is very forgiving, so the measurements do not have to be exact.

Charoset is part of the traditional Passover seder plate.

Ham takes center stage for Easter dinner, holiday entertaining

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

Many people prefer to serve ham instead of lamb for Easter dinner. Ham can be perfectly smoky and salty but also sweet when it is cooked with a delicious glaze.

This recipe for “Brandied Baked Ham with Mustard Butter” from Denise Gee’s “Southern Appetizers: 60 Delectables for Gracious Get-Togethers” pairs the fruity overtones of brandy with the tang of mustard to form an ideal blend of flavors.

Brandied Baked Ham with Mustard Butter
Ham:
1 1/2 cups packed dark brown sugar
2 tablespoons grainy mustard
1 5-pound bone-in half ham, fully cooked

1 1/2 teaspoons whole cloves
Mustard Butter:
2 cups butter, softened
1/4 cup grated sweet onion
1/4 cup Dijon or Creole mustard
To make the ham: In a small saucepan, stir to combine the brown sugar, brandy, and mustard. Bring the mixture to a boil over medium-high heat and, stirring constantly, cook until the glaze is thick and syrupy, about 3 minutes.

Preheat the oven to 325 degrees. Line a shallow roasting pan with heavy-duty aluminum foil and place a wire rack on top.
Score the fat on top of the ham by making diagonal cuts in a diamond pattern. Insert the cloves into the intersections of each diamond. Place the ham on the rack in the prepared pan. Insert a meat thermometer, making sure it doesn’t touch the bone.

Bake the ham for about 1 hour, or until the meat thermometer registers 125 degrees.
Remove the ham and brush on the brandy glaze. Return the ham to the oven and cook for 20 to 30 minutes more, or until the meat thermometer registers 135 degrees. Let it stand for 15 minutes.
To make the mustard butter: In a medium bowl, stir to combine the butter, sweet onion and mustard.

coverstory

BY JAY BOBBIN

Courtney B. Vance and Aunjanue Ellis star in "61st Street," premiering Sunday on AMC.

Courtney B. Vance walks a treacherous '61st Street'

After winning many awards by playing one of the most famous attorneys ever, Courtney B. Vance is portraying a different kind of lawyer in a different kind of story.

The actor follows his lauded work as Johnnie Cochran in "The People v. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story" – plus his turns in "Lovecraft Country" and "Genius: Aretha" – in the Chicago-set AMC drama series "61st Street," which debuts the first of its two scheduled seasons Sunday, April 10. (The same night, AMC+ and ALLBLK begin streaming both the premiere and the second episode, with the two services then showing each episode a week before AMC does.)

Vance plays Franklin Roberts, who becomes the legal representative for Moses Johnson (Tosin Cole), a young athlete mistaken for a gang member by police. The case becomes about much more, as cops and the prosecution use it to try to settle some scores over an officer's death during a drug raid. Cast members also include recent "King Richard" Oscar nominee Aunjanue Ellis, Bentley Green and Holt McCallany ("Nightmare Alley").

Also an executive producer of "61st Street" along with others including fellow actor Michael B. Jordan and series creator Peter Moffat, Vance says, "I think we all had to get our minds around how big this thing was. We didn't have one person who was overseeing the day-to-day operations, so all the actors and much of the crew had to pitch in and make sure we were on the same page."

Though "61st Street" is quite different from "The People vs. O.J. Simpson," Vance was drawn to both dramas by their shared theme of the legal arena, and by the ever-intensifying place the law holds for so many people in daily modern living.

"It is a prime time for discussions of right and wrong, of moral centers," Vance reflects. "I think we're at a crossroads about what's right for a city, a country and a society. If someone crosses a line, what is the right thing to do? We continually find ways to say it's the (citizens') fault, and maybe we need to look at the way police are trained and how they react to situations. Maybe we need a reboot, but at least we need to talk about it."

Vance spent much of last year filming both seasons of "61st Street," so his work schedule often coincided with that of wife Angela Bassett, a star and executive producer of Fox's "9-1-1." He's not complaining much, if at all: "We're blessed enough to be able to work, and we've been working our entire professional careers, since we graduated from Yale Drama School. I don't think I've ever had any other job, and that's very rare."

Hot spot workers cater to the rich and famous in 'Serving the Hamptons'

The Hamptons on the eastern end of New York's Long Island is one of the swankiest resort areas on the East Coast and a playground for the rich, famous and powerful. And at its epicenter is a hot spot that is the subject of an unscripted series upcoming on discovery+.

"Serving the Hamptons," a five-episode hourlong series that begins streaming Thursday, April 7, follows the employees of the popular Southhampton eatery 75 Main, whose owner Zach Erdem demands the highest level of service for his clientele of billionaires, politicians and celebrities.

That means getting the best help, and to attract it Erdem provides accommodations at a posh beach house. But in return, they must follow his rules, the biggest being no hooking up. Given that his workers are young, attractive singles, that can be a tall order. But Erdem has his reasons.

"This always happens," he explains. "They go out, they drink and they're like, 'OK, I was trying to hook up with this girl but' And a fight broke out or something happened and the next day it will affect my work. ..."

"I look for mostly single employees," he continues. "It's better for me because if you hire married couples, even if the couple is divorced, like your chef gets upset because the (waitress) made a mistake and then the chef would scream at her. And the husband comes and (confronts) the chef and tries to beat him up. ... This cannot happen."

Erdem's story is a page right out of the American dream. He grew up herding animals in the mountains of Turkey and came to this country with little money after seeing a photo of New York City in a newspaper.

He eventually found his way to Southhampton and 75 Main, where he began as a dishwasher and impressed his bosses with his work ethic and people skills. After working his way up through the ranks, leaving the restaurant and coming back, he purchased it in 2010.

Summer is high season in the Hamptons and 75 Main is packed daily. So Erdem, a self-admitted micromanager, demands his 250-plus employees be on their game and do things the right way – his way.

"My staff sometimes gets mad at me," he says, "and they're just, 'You know what? F... Zach. I can't do this. The guy's crazy. He wants this, he wants that.'"

"Yeah, of course I want that," he continues. "You want to make money? This is how you make money. You want to give the good service? This is how you do it. You learn. I never tried to be mean to anybody or make someone upset. All I want is the best quality staff service for my customers."

Madeline Hooper

OF 'GARDENFIT' ON PBS

What inspired you to make a show about fitness for gardeners?

I think just to say that we really wanted to do something that would treat people, and that's because I garden a lot and I have a lot of aches and pains. And a fellow gardener really recommended Jeff (Hughes, her co-host and physical therapist) very highly. He had solved his big issues with his shoulder. And I went to see him and really in no time he kind of found what was wrong with me and helped me correct how I garden, how I use my body. And it just inspired me and it made me feel that every gardener should know Jeff's approach to fitness. So we came up with this mission.

What are common physical mistakes you see gardeners make?

I think one common mistake ... all of them overwork. So they see a bed and they want to take all the weeds out of it and they really don't leave until they finish that task, and that's when they need Jeff the most. ...

It's also about the mind because so many gardeners think that they're doing a lot of exercise and they are and they are very physically inclined to work hard in their garden. But to do it correctly, to have an understanding, to watch Jeff do these fixes that are so common sense that I think people can actually do what he is demonstrating.

And that is the difference, I think, with "GardenFit," the marriage between a beautiful garden and wanting to have one and then actually enjoying working in it as opposed to straining your body. So I think that's the wind in our wings and what Jeff does that I feel and we both know will make gardeners actually enjoy their gardening so much more.

tonight's PICKS

Nick Gehlfuss

Chicago Med

8 p.m. on WXIA

Rival gangs bring their bitter war inside the corridors of the hospital in the new episode "If You Love Someone, Set Them Free." Meanwhile, Will and Dr. Charles (Nick Gehlfuss, Oliver Platt) try to help a teenage brain cancer patient who is refusing treatment. A crisis arises in the operating room when a patient's transplanted uterus fails, forcing Drs. Blake and Marcil (Sarah Rafferty, Dominic Rains) to ponder another transplant with the patient's sister as the donor.

The Flash

8 p.m. on WUPA

Barry's (Grant Gustin) determination to protect Team Flash is tested when Frost (Danielle Panabaker) courts danger as she tries to stop the Black Flame in the new "Reckless."

Chicago Fire

9 p.m. on WXIA

In a new episode called "Keep You Safe," Severide and Kidd (Taylor Kinney, Miranda May) team up to help the Chicago Police Department investigate a suspicious car wreck. Meanwhile, the relationship between Chief Hawkins and Violet (Jimmy Nicholas, Hanako Greensmith) takes a perilous turn.

NOVA

9 p.m. on WGTV

Three women living with a high risk for developing Alzheimer's disease enroll in trials at the University of Wisconsin in hopes of finding a cure for this devastating ailment in the new episode "Determined: Fighting Alzheimer's." Their mothers all were claimed by the disease, so the trio anxiously monitor their own conditions for signs that the malady might be attacking their own mental capacity. With nuance and tenderness, this sensitive film interweaves the medical study with the personal ups and downs of these women.

tonight's PICKS

Anthony Anderson

Law & Order
8 p.m. on WXIA
Detectives Bernard and Cosgrove (Anthony Anderson, Jeffrey Donovan) are assigned to investigate the murder of a congressional candidate in the new episode “Free Speech.” Meanwhile Assistant District Attorneys Price and Maroun (Hugh Dancy, Odelya Halevi) struggle with an extremist plot that will resort to any means necessary to thwart the late candidate’s agenda. Camryn Manheim and Sam Waterston also star.

Restaurant: Impossible
8 p.m. on FOOD
In a deeply moving episode called “Hard Knocks in Hendersonville,” host Robert Irvine meets Ray, an ex-con who turned his life around but can’t seem to find success with his restaurant, Dreadlife Kitchen, in Hendersonville, NC. With bad decor and no coherent systems in place for running the eatery, Robert must help Ray transform his business and build his brand.

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit
9 p.m. on WXIA
A new episode called “Once Upon a Time in El Barrio” finds Detective Velasco (Octavio Pisano) turning to Benson (Mariska Hargitay) for assistance in locating and rescuing three girls from his hometown who were abducted by human traffickers and brought to New York. Ice-T, Kelli Giddish and Peter Scanavino also are featured.

Call Me Kat
9:01 p.m. on WAGA
In the new episode “Call Me Cupid,” Kat and Oscar (Maim Bialik, Christopher Rivas) try to set up Max (Cheyenne Jackson) with a woman named Nicole (guest star Laura Bell Bundy, Broadway’s “Legally Blonde: The Musical”), but Kat is startled to discover she still feels territorial when it comes to her longtime crush and current BFF. Elsewhere, Carter and Phil (Julian Gant, Leslie Jordan) join Randi (Kyla Pratt) in spying on her loud neighbors.

tonight's PICKS

Warren Boone

Undercover Boss
8 p.m. on WGCL
Coco’s Bakery, which started in 1948 as a small burger-and-pie restaurant on Southern California’s Pacific Coast Highway, is so customer-focused that its chief executive, Warren Boone, has the title of “chief people officer.” Tonight’s season finale episode finds an incognito Boone on the front lines of his business, making sure that the 30 Coco’s restaurants across California and Arizona are delivering on the promise of good food served in a place that’s as comfortable as your home kitchen.

The Blacklist
8 p.m. on WXIA
Tensions within the group escalate when Cooper’s (Harry Lennix) determined search to find out who is blackmailing him overlaps with the Task Force’s latest Blacklist case in a new episode called “Andrew Kennison.” James Spader, Diego Klattenhoff, Hisham Tawfiq and Amir Arison also star.

Charmed
8 p.m. on WUPA
Series star Rupert Evans, who plays Harry, directed the new episode “The Sisterhood of the Traveling Sandwich,” in which a conspiracy-theorist hobgoblin threatens the lives of everyone at the Blue Camellia. When Maggie and Kaela (Sarah Jeffery, Lucy Barrett) step in to save the day, however, they wind up getting stuck in the past. Meanwhile, Mel (Melonie Diaz) still struggles to regain control of her powers.

The UnXplained
9 p.m. on HIST
A new episode called “What Lies Below?” looks at the real “final frontier” of our planet: the underwater world of Earth’s oceans, 80 percent of which remains unexplored. Now, however, breakthroughs in new technology allow researchers to explore the world’s seas and deep lakes more thoroughly than ever before. This hour considers the extraordinary wonders that could await scientists deep below the surface. William Shatner is the host.

What's Available NOW On

“Mickey Mouse Funhouse” (Available now)

Mickey, Minnie, Donald, Daisy, Goofy and the rest of the gang are on the road to adventure in this series of animated shorts that originally aired on Disney Junior, which follows Funny, an enchanted talking playhouse who leads the group on imaginative journeys.

“Big City Greens: Season 3” (Available now)

A surprise party, a trivia night at the cafe and an epic journey to an e-waste center are among the adventures ahead for the transplanted urban farm family the Greens in Season 5 of this animated series from Disney Channel. Chris Houghton, Marieve Herington and Bob Joles head the voice cast.

“Spider-Man and His Amazing Friends” (Available now)

This animated Disney Junior series follows the adventures of Peter Parker, Gwen Stacy and Miles Morales as they team up with Hulk, Ms. Marvel and Black Panther to take down enemies such as Rhino, Doc Ock and Green Goblin. The voice cast features Benjamin Valic, Jakari Fraser, Lily Sanfelippo and Dee Bradley Baker.

“The Doc Files” (Available now)

This 2013-14 spinoff of the animated “Doc McStuffins” Disney Channel series gives young viewers a window into titular detective’s keen deductive skills as she shares an in-depth look at specific cases and diagnoses after the clinic doors close for the day. Loretta Devine, Kiara Muhammad, Lara Jill Miller and Robbie Rist head the voice cast.

Aasif Mandvi

The Ten Commandments

7 p.m. on WSB

A perennially popular Easter season TV event returns as Charlton Heston, Yul Brynner and Anne Baxter star in director Cecil B. DeMille's final film, the 1956 biblical epic about the life of Moses. The picture's first-rate visual effects include the parting of the Red Sea — and bear in mind what a wonder that was for moviegoers at the time, well before the computer-generated effects of today. Yvonne De Carlo, Nina Foch, John Derek and Vincent Price co-star, with little Fraser Heston as the infant Moses.

Would I Lie to You?

8:30 p.m. on WUPA

Aasif Mandvi ("Evil") hosts this North American adaptation of a hit British series that elevates the art of lying. In each episode, Matt Walsh ("Veep") and Sabrina Jalees ("Canada's Got Talent") lead opposing pairs of celebrity guests who try to determine who is lying and who is giving actual facts, by asking questions and observing the body language of the person being interrogated. The season's celebrity guests include Laura Benanti ("Gossip Girl"), Adam Pally ("Happy Endings") and Michael Ian Black ("Wet Hot American Summer"), among many others.

Ice Age: The Great Egg-Scapade

7:30 p.m. on WAGA
Ever wondered how the first Easter egg hunt came about? This animated special offers some comic speculation. Ethel (voice of Taraji P. Henson, “Empire”), a prehistoric bird, entrusts her precious egg to Sid (voice of John Leguizamo) and his new egg-sitting service. Alas, the dastardly pirate bunny Squint (voice of Seth Green) gets revenge on Sid and his pals by stealing, camouflaging and hiding all the eggs. The voice cast also includes Ray Romano and Denis Leary.

Killing Eve

8 p.m. on BBCA
Adapted from a series of novels by Luke Jennings, this critically acclaimed spy thriller and psychological drama has taken its viewers on a wild roller coaster ride, following the profoundly complicated cat-and-mouse relationship between a brilliant British intelligence investigator (Sandra Oh) and a psychopathic assassin (Jodie Comer) who becomes obsessed with her. After winning a Peabody Award and multiple acting accolades for both leading ladies, the series concludes its run tonight with a finale its stars and creative team promise has been designed to leave their loyal fans satisfied.

Billions

9 p.m. on SHOW
After discovering the truth about Prince’s (Corey Stoll) plans, Chuck (Paul Giamatti) feels compelled to undertake what is probably the biggest and most dangerous gambit in his career in the Season 6 finale, “Cold Storage.” The stakes are almost inconceivably high, because it’s an all-in gamble that probably will lead to either his rival or Chuck himself being sent to prison. Showtime has renewed this financial drama for a seventh season.

tonight's PICKS

Kelsea Ballerini

2022 CMT Music Awards

8 p.m. on WGCL

Kelsea Ballerini and Anthony Mackie co-host this live three-hour telecast of country music's only entirely fan-voted awards show, which airs from the historic Municipal Auditorium in Nashville, Tenn., as well as various locations around the city. Music superstar Kane Brown leads this year's voting pool with four nominations, while Ballerini, Mickey Guyton, BRELAND and Cody Johnson follow with three nods each. While past telecasts of this event aired on CMT, this 56th edition will be carried for the first time exclusively on CBS.

8 p.m. on WAGA

Athena (Angela Bassett) investigates a gas station robbery that takes a wildly unexpected turn when the intended victim turns the tables on her assailant in the new episode "Fear-o-Phobia." Meanwhile, Bobby (Peter Krause) and the team race to rescue a novice diver who freaks out while in a shark cage, and a house-sitter with a crippling fear of spiders. Elsewhere, Chimney (Kenneth Choi) returns to the 118, and Maddie (Jennifer Love Hewitt) shares some news with Buck (Oliver Stark), who realizes it's time to come clean with Taylor (guest star Megan West).

Bake or Break

10 p.m. on FOOD

Celebrated pastry chef Stephanie Boswell draws on her own years of experience and expertise to help bakeries that are struggling to stay in business in this new four-episode series. In the premiere, Boswell heads to Flint, Mich., where owner Teresa Morris is struggling to keep the lights on at The Cookie Jar, the bakery in which she has invested virtually every penny she has. Her signature Million Dollar Cookies sell well, but Boswell shows her how to expand her menu to bring in new revenue streams.

tonight's PICKS

Renee Zellweger

FBI
8 p.m. on WGCL
When a young couple who just returned from Cancun is found murdered in a New York City park, the team sets out to find a suspect who has ties to the local drug trade in the new episode “One Night Stand.” Meanwhile, on a more personal note, Scola (John Boyd) resolves to turn over a new leaf when it comes to his relationships. Missy Peregrym, Zeeko Zaki, Jeremy Sisto and Alana De La Garza also star.

The Resident
8 p.m. on WAGA
An already tense situation takes a dangerous turn when Conrad (Matt Czuchry) confronts a pharmacy owner about some fraudulent prescriptions filed under Conrad’s name in the new episode “Ride or Die.” Later, the ER is thrown into chaos when a street-racing accident leads to multiple severe injuries. Meanwhile, the Raptor (Malcolm-Jamal Warner) faces a personal crisis as his mother’s condition worsens.

To Tell the Truth
10 p.m. on WSB
In a new episode, host Anthony Anderson welcomes celebrity panelists Amanda Seales, Kevin Nealon and Jaleel White, who take their turn at trying to separate the real McCoy guests from the imposters. They include an Irish step dancer, an exorcist, a record-holding birdwatcher, someone who has thrown out the first pitch at 24 stadiums and a famous children’s book author.

The Thing About Pam
10:01 p.m. on WXIA
This unconventional true-crime thriller — which plays a lot like an episode of “Dateline” written and directed by Joel and Ethan Coen of “Fargo” — wraps up Season 1 with “She’s a Killer,” which finds Pam Hupp (Renee Zellweger) resorting to shocking and farcically absurd extremes to extricate herself from the mind-boggling web of lies she has spun. Despite her best efforts, though, some measure of justice, redemption and hope finally is granted. Judy Greer, Josh Duhamel and Glenn Fleshler also star.

'And Just Like That ... ,' will there be more?

BY JAY BOBBIN

Q: Will there be more of "And Just Like That ... "? — Sherry Wade, Chillicothe, Ohio

A: There will, and it's really no surprise that the "Sex and the City" sequel series will continue. HBO Max seemed very interested in having a second season, especially since the streaming service maintains the show drove the most new subscriptions for any new series it has debuted so far ... also not much of a surprise, given how many fans are members of the "Sex and the City" faithful. HBO executives had suggested that a Season 2 largely would be a matter of writer-producer Michael Patrick King, producer-star Sarah Jessica Parker and the other principal creative forces coming up with viable ideas for it — and also of the participants' schedules meshing again to enable it to become a reality, since Cynthia Nixon and Kristin Davis typically have remained busy with other work as well. It's still early, so no date has been set yet for the sophomore round's premiere.

celebrityquotes

"I'm still old school. I have my iPhone calendar and I also have my paper calendar and I write things down. My father was in the Army for 30 years and he would always say to me, 'Sunday night, lay out all your clothes for the entire week. That way you don't have to think about it. It's already set.' And what I saw at the time were regimented and strident rules but they're rules now that I live by." — Tamron Hall of "Someone They Knew ... With Tamron Hall" on Court TV and "Tamron Hall" in syndication

"I think that she's ruthless about certain things but she has to be. I mean, that's the nature of that job, is that you're not emotional about things that normal human beings are emotional about. But that doesn't mean you have no emotions." — Fiona Shaw on her character of spy Carolyn Martens on BBC America's "Killing Eve"
