Broken pipes led to record-level water demand

STAFF REPORT

news@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — City of Covington and Newton County Water and Sewerage officials announced numerous reports of customers with broken pipes within the water systems over the weekend — which led to a record-level water demand.

"If you have busted pipes, please call 770-385-2000 to report it," city officials said in a social media posting. "We will assist you in shutting your water meter off that is located at the street."

"Once you or a plumber has made the necessary repairs, your water service can be restored.

"Also, if you suspect there is a water leak/main break in your area of the city due to standing/leaking water, please contact 770-385-2000 to report it so crews can be dispatched to check out the situation."

It stated that for those running water to protect vulnerable pipes from freezing, allow a small trickle of water to run from the faucets.

"You do not need to run the water at more than a trickle. If you are going out of town, have someone inspect your home to ensure that your water service is OK.

"As the temperatures slowly increase over (this) week, please inspect your water system to make sure you do not have any issues.

"Please help us protect and conserve our precious water resources. We greatly appreciate your assistance and understanding."

Snapping Shoals EMC, meanwhile, received notice from its power supplier that the electrical system was being stressed to its fullest extent.

The utility encouraged its members to reduce electricity usage at residences by lowering thermostats at least 2 degrees; turning off and unplugging any unnecessary electronics, including lights; not using any appliances or other electronics unless absolutely necessary; and delay the use of hot water.

"We understand this is a challenge, and we appreciate your patience as we face this extreme cold together."

Pathways To Coverage

How Georgia's new Medicaid requirement will work

By REBECCA GRAPEVINE

Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — After years of legal wrangling, the countdown to the July 1, 2023, launch date of Georgia's Medicaid work requirements program is underway.

The new plan — officially called Pathways to Coverage — will require enrollees to complete 80 hours of work, education, job training, or community service per month to get Medicaid health insurance. Many will also have to pay a monthly premium.

Once the program begins, Georgia will be the sole state with work requirements for Medicaid. Adults between ages 18 and 64 who earn less than 100% of the federal poverty level — and who are not otherwise eligible for Medicaid — are the targeted group. For 2022, the federal poverty level was $13,590 for a single person and $27,750 for a family of four.

Though exact numbers are difficult to calculate, it's expected that the Pathways program will provide insurance to only a small percentage of the 1.3 million Georgians without health insurance.

State officials estimate around 345,000 Georgians would be eligible for the new program. Back in 2020, they said they expected only about 64,000 people to actually enroll in the program.

Now that the program is becoming a reality, the Georgia Department of Community Health (DCH), the state Medicaid agency, has requested funds to cover up to 100,000 people in the upcoming budget, said spokesman David Graves.

"Georgia leadership has put in place barriers that they know, that they have calculated, will prevent ... people from enrolling," said Leon-

COVINGTON, Ga. — The Newton County School System (NCSS) recently announced the winners of the 2022 District Literacy Days Recitation, Drama, Read Aloud, and Ready Writing competitions held in December at Newton County's Porter Auditorium.

NCSS Elementary and middle schools held poetry competitions at their school and sent their grade level winners to participate in the district's recitation contest. Competitors were judged on a number of criteria in the poetry recitation contest, including stage presence, articulation, interpretation, memory and accuracy, and difficulty of the piece.

Clement’s Middle School’s drama team won top honors in the middle school competition with their performance of, “Cotton Candy on a Rainy Day.”

Cast members included Jessica Benton, Mariah Edwards, Morgyn Gay, Carleigh Hardegree, Nelani Jones, Skyy Lacy, Khamaya Leary, Genesis Nash, and Kennedy Zachary.

Winners in all categories will now represent Newton County School System at the regional competition at Griffin RESA in February.

“The Literacy Days Competition provides students with the opportunity to perform and be recognized for their talents through the celebration of the arts,” said NCSS Superintendent Samantha Fuhrey.

“I am proud of each and every one of our participants as it takes a tremendous amount of talent and commitment to participate in this type of competition. They represented their schools very well.”

Fuhrey added, “In addition to our poetry recitation, read aloud, and drama team winners, our district ready writing winners are also very talented. I know Newton County School System will be well represented at the Griffin RESA Regional Literacy Days Festival.”

ardo Cuello, research professor at Georgetown University’s Center for Children and Families, about the discrepancy between the number of eligible people and the number expected to enroll.

Critics of Pathways contend the program will cover far fewer Georgians and cost more than a full expansion of Medicaid, as 39 states have done.

Leah Chan, senior health analyst at the Georgia Budget and Policy Institute, a left-leaning think tank in Atlanta, said the new program will cost around $2,420 per enrollee while it would cost only $496 per enrollee if the state fully expanded Medicaid.

“New financial incentives under the American Rescue Plan sweeten the deal [for full Medicaid expansion] and more than offset the state cost of expansion for at least the first two years,” Chan said.

Enrollees in Georgia Pathways will need to certify their employment each month. Those who earn more than 50% of the federal poverty level will also be required to pay a monthly premium ranging from $7 to $11, with an additional surcharge for people who use tobacco products.

The program will provide a two-month grace period for people who do not pay their premiums. But after three months of non-payment, they will lose the insurance. They can be reinstated if they make at least one monthly payment within 90 days.

The state plans to use the existing benefits portal, Georgia Gateway, for program applicants to manage their work-requirement reporting, said Graves, the DCH spokesperson. He said Georgians can expect to learn more about the details of the program over the coming months.

Critics say the machinery necessary to track enrollee work records and payments will dramatically increase bureaucratic burdens both for Medicaid recipients and the state.

“When you think about working families in Georgia, they are busy with their jobs, getting kids to school and the doctor, paying the stack of bills that come in every month, and the last thing they need is additional red tape ... every month just to keep their health insurance from getting terminated,” Cuello said.

Cuello said the state will have to develop “expensive administrative processes” to ensure compliance with the work requirements. The [congressional Government Accountability Office] and states have estimated costs ranging from $70 million to $270 million a year to implement and run this type of program, he said.

DCH has not yet decided whether it will need to hire additional staff to help run the program, Graves said.

The Pathways program allows some exceptions to the work-requirement rules. Enrollees will be allowed 120 hours of “non-compliance,” that is of not meeting the work requirements, in every 12-month period.

Georgia Military Bases

Georgia bases land priority projects in defense bill

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — President Joe Biden signed the $858 billion National Defense Authorization Act Friday, legislation that approves fiscal 2023 funding requests for Georgia military bases from St. Marys to Marietta.

The annual defense bill represents a 10% increase over what the Pentagon received during the last federal fiscal year and 5% more than the Biden administration sought from Congress.

While many items on Georgia’s military wish list moved through the authorization process smoothly, the state’s congressional delegation had to mount a lobbying campaign to save the Combat Readiness Training Center in Savannah, an Air National Guard facility for military pilots the administration was threatening to close. It received full funding for the coming year.

“I strongly opposed the Biden administration’s plans to downgrade or close the Combat Readiness Training Center, and I brought Republicans and Democrats together to protect it,” said U.S. Sen. Jon Ossoff, D-Ga., who worked with fellow Georgia Democratic Sen. Raphael Warnock and U.S. Rep. Buddy Carter, R-Savannah, to save the center.

“It is vital to our national defense, and it’s a very important military asset of the state of Georgia.”

Other Georgia-based programs earmarked for funding included A-10 fighter aircraft and HH-60W helicopters at Moody Air Force Base in Valdosta, C-130 aircraft at Dobbins Air Reserve Base in Marietta, the new Columbia-class submarines likely to be stationed at Kings Bay Naval Submarine Base in St. Marys, hosting of the new Advanced Battle Management System at Robins Air Force Base in Warner Robins, and strengthening the power grid at the Army’s Fort Stewart in Hinesville.

The defense bill also includes a 4.6% pay raise for the troops and a provision allowing the Pentagon to adjust the basic allowance for housing rates in areas where housing costs are high.

“I hear from Georgia military families often about how stressful and costly it can be to find adequate base housing or relocate to another base community,” Warnock said.

“So, I’m particularly proud to have secured my provisions that address these issues into the final bill.”

The defense bill cleared the House of Representatives and Senate earlier this month.

Regional Transportation Tax

Transportation tax celebrates 10-year anniversary

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — Georgians in 12 regions across the state voted a decade ago to pay a 1% sales tax for 10 years to fund a backlog of critical transportation projects.

While most of the regions — including metro Atlanta — rejected the tax, voters in the regions surrounding Augusta, Columbus, and Dublin passed the measure. Six years later, voters in a fourth region in South Georgia anchored by Valdosta adopted the tax.

Nearly 900 projects later, the Transportation Investment Act (TIA) marked its 10th anniversary this year as a resounding success, state Commissioner of Transportation Russell McMurtry told an audience of Georgia lawmakers, state agency heads, and lobbyists Dec. 5.

“We’re going to deliver every project that was promised and finish in the black,” McMurtry said during the Biennial Institute, an orientation session for newly elected legislators at the University of Georgia.

Before each regional vote, roundtables of local elected officials — with public input — chose projects they wanted to fund with the tax.

Of the 871 projects in the three original participating regions funded through the tax, 764 went to the Heart of Georgia Altamaha (HOGA) region anchored by Dublin. The Central Savannah River Area (CSRA) region surrounding Augusta received 84, and just 23 went to the River Valley region surrounding Columbus.

The difference in those numbers was a function of cost, said Kenneth Franks, TIA program administrator for the Georgia Department of Transportation. The HOGA region had a need for a lot of smaller projects, mostly resurfacing and maintenance, Franks said.

“You’ve got cities and counties in that region that hadn’t had a dedicated source of transportation funding for years,” he said. “The other two focused on major projects ... the bigger corridors and interchanges.”

But there were exceptions to that trend. By far the largest TIA project funded thus far is in the HOGA region, a $112.3 million widening of U.S. 1 in Toombs and Appling counties from two lanes to four. The project also includes replacing a bridge over the Altamaha River.

The next largest TIA project is $47.9 million in the River Valley region to widen U.S. 280 from Lake Blackshear to Cordele. The project includes construction of a new two-lane bridge over Lake Blackshear parallel to an existing bridge to create four lanes.

“Given these numbers, should the administration continue its current policies or issue new, stricter policies to reduce the flow of people coming across the border?” Sixty-seven percent of those polled favored new, stricter policies, while just 33% wanted to continue current policies.

If more people knew what was happening, more people would demand change.

of movies also matured, and some of our best memories consist of the shared experience of laughing at raunchy comedies or buckling up for action-packed thrillers.

Suddenly in 2020, as mentioned earlier, everything stopped. Especially the movies. During the height of a contagious pandemic, the last place we wanted to be was in a confined room, sitting elbow-to-elbow next to folks sneezing and hacking God-knows-what.

Theaters closed, and some never reopened. Some of the remaining cinemas promised extra cleaning and assigned seating, and Hollywood hoped that high-profile films like “Elvis,” “Jurassic World,” and “Top Gun: Maverick” would bring fans back in droves.

A few movies have been successful in 2022, but most others have flopped. One recent December weekend was the second-worst of the entire year.

I can remember many a Christmas when we spent the first half of the day opening gifts and overeating, followed by a trip “to the movies.”

This year we’ll likely be home watching a movie or some streaming series. There will be no overpriced snacks, no sneezing strangers, and my shoes won’t stick to the floor.

Still, I’d be lying if I said I didn’t miss that big screen experience.

lows the writings of St. Thomas Aquinas and “believes that the invisible grace of God can be at work in visible things, just as the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, in the person of Christ.”

One of my favorite lyrics appears on the band’s third album, “Holy Ghost Power,” in the song “The Power and the Glory”: “So don’t get lost/At any old cost/Don’t take no byway/Just stay on that highway/Just keep moving forward/In the spirit of the Lord/You’ll be fine/On down the line.” It’s a good message for any time, but certainly for this time of year — full of worldly activity and yet also containing a desire to reevaluate things and get somewhere better, be someone better. The Hillbilly Thomists help, they really do — with fun and wisdom. (Bourbon-liking not required.)

There's gold in them thar hillbillies

It didn't surprise me when, backstage at the Grand Ole Opry, Father Thomas Joseph White began telling me that while he enjoyed touring with his band the Hillbilly Thomists, which consists of musical friars, he enjoys writing more. When not playing banjo in Nashville, White is the rector of the Angelicum in Rome; the school's most famous alumnus is Pope John Paul II. His latest book is an authoritative study of the Holy Trinity.

Father White is a founding member of the Hillbilly Thomists, which came about when he brought his banjo out just for fun at religious gatherings. Slowly, friars who had professional music backgrounds joined him and they got serious, and even hit the Billboard charts.

Later that night, as White began a solo on stage at the Opry, I turned to an archbishop and mentioned that we were listening to the rector of the storied Angelicum. At first, he thought I was pulling his leg. That's some of the fun of the Hillbilly Thomists. It may seem unlikely — friars of an over 800-year-old religious order dedicated to contemplation, study and preaching who are singing about bourbon, bluegrass and the Bible.

But that's also the beauty of it. The bluegrass tradition the Hillbilly Thomists have taken up is a great mix of good fun and opportunities to catechize, much of which is infused with the writings, or at least spirit, of famous Dominican St. Thomas Aquinas.

In introducing a song about bourbon, Father Timothy Danaher relayed the substance of a debate he heard fellow friars having about what they would want if they were stranded on an island — bourbon, bluegrass or the Bible? They concluded that you can memorize the Bible and bluegrass, but not bourbon.

While there is humor in the band, it's nonetheless based on serious religious principles.

As Father Justin Mary Bolger wrote, reflecting on some of the songs of the group's self-titled first album: "The world can be brutal, and sometimes singing the blues is the fitting response. But there's another strain of American music, namely, bluegrass and Gospel, that sings through hard times, but with hope — hope for redemption in Christ."

The band provides a little window into the friars' lives, which involve singing the psalms four times a day and being patient with one another and, hopefully, exuding some joy, Father Joseph Hagan tells me backstage.

The name of the band was taken from the Southern author Flannery O'Connor, who explained that people thought that she was a "hillbilly nihilist" based on her writing, whereas she was a "hillbilly Thomist." Further, the band's website says: "Flannery O'Connor said that her fiction was concerned with the ways grace is at work among people who do not have access to the sacraments."

The band's website defines a Thomist as someone who fol-

Most Americans unaware of how bad the border crisis is

This week could mark the most consequential development on the U.S.-Mexico border since January 2021, when President Joe Biden essentially opened the nation's doors to millions of illegal border crossers. Depending on how court fights turn out, Title 42, the Trump-era measure that allows the U.S. government to quickly return illegal crossers to Mexico on the grounds of preventing the spread of COVID, will likely soon expire. After that, officials expect a flood of illegal crossers, all coming into the United States confident that they, like hundreds of thousands before them just this year, will be allowed to stay.

The disaster will come on top of the Biden administration's currently disastrous border policy. In fiscal year 2022, the period from Oct. 1, 2021 to Sept. 30, 2022, Border Patrol agents encountered a record number of migrants crossing illegally into the United States — 2,378,944. Add onto that the estimated 600,000 illegal crossers who got away without any contact with the Border Patrol, and that means close to 3 million border crossers in a single year. The two months since the beginning of the new fiscal year have seen crossings at an even higher rate. And that is before the Title 42 change.

Already, the numbers have risen to unheard-of levels. Recently the Border Patrol reported encountering 16,000 migrants in just 48 hours — 8,000 per day. Compare that to the assessment of Jeh Johnson, President Barack Obama's head of homeland security, who once said that 1,000 encounters a day constituted a crisis. Now, there are predictions that post-Title 42 encounters might hit as many as 14,000 a day.

Cities and towns along the border have been overwhelmed since the Biden changes took place. Look at these figures from El Paso, Texas, in a story by the Washington Examiner's Anna Giaritelli: "According to all the data that are publicly available from the city, the 678,000 residents of El Paso have seen 84,082 immigrants released into their town between August 22 and December 11." That's an extraordinary influx in the last few months, repeated in other U.S. communities along the border.

But perhaps just as extraordinary has been the decision by many major media organizations that what is happening on the border is no big deal. In particular, major television news networks, with the notable exception of Fox News, have virtually pretended that the crisis was not happening.

Recently Fox's Bill Melugin, who has covered the current crisis close-up since it began, was asked about coverage on the national networks. "I can count on one hand the amount of times I've seen them down here in my 19 months of covering this," Melugin said.

Now, we are seeing what happens when so many in the media ignore a story. A new Harvard-Harris poll shows that Americans have no idea how bad the crisis is. When asked how many illegal crossers are entering the United States, they grossly underestimate the number. They are, in short, in the dark about what is happening on the border.

The pollsters asked: "How many border crossings by illegal immigrants do you think are occurring each year?" They were then given several ranges of numbers to choose from. Now remember, the correct answer for fiscal year 2022 is nearly 3 million.

Sixteen percent guessed that less than 100,000 illegal border crossers entered the United States in a year. Another 21% estimated that somewhere between 100,000 and 250,000 entered the U.S. Another 18% guessed between 250,000 and 500,000. And then 20% guessed between 500,000 and 1 million.

After that, 12% estimated between 1 million and 2 million cross in a year. And then 6% said between 2 million and 3 million. Finally, 7% said the number was over 3 million.

Remember again that the correct answer is about 3 million. All told, 87% of those surveyed underestimated the number of illegal border crossers each year. Significant groups of Americans really underestimated the number — about one-third believed fewer than 250,000 crossers are coming each year, which is a remarkably uninformed opinion. More than half believe less than 500,000 are coming, another remarkably uninformed opinion.

How is it that so many people are so ignorant of what is happening? Might the answer have something to do with the fact that so many news organizations have ignored the problem? Ignore the story and you'll have ignorant viewers.

The information deficit among so many Americans favors the Biden administration. If more people knew the true scope of the problem the president's policies have created, then more would likely be concerned, and more would oppose the administration's actions. Indeed, the Harvard-Harris pollsters, once they informed respondents of the correct answer, asked,

Missing the magic of the movies

In my neck of the woods, regular gasoline can be purchased at the low, low price of about $2.40 a gallon at this writing. At various times, I have expressed joy about this to friends and acquaintances.

As you know, there's always one guy who likes to rain on my parade. He will say, "Holler at me when it's back under two dollars like it was in 2020!"

Ah yes, 2020. When everything was closed, hospitals were jammed, and funeral homes were ordering extra caskets. Nobody was driving, and a little thing called "supply and demand" drove gas prices down to dirt cheap levels. Somehow, I can't get that nostalgic about 2020. If that's what it takes to lower gas prices another 50 cents, I'll pass.

Personally, I prefer paying relatively little for gas, while having the freedom and ability to go anywhere I like. But even as life has crept back to sort-of pre-COVID normalcy, there's one old habit I have not yet resumed. I haven't been inside a movie theater since before the pandemic.

I have loved going to movies as long as I can remember. As a kid, my parents would take me to family-friendly flicks like "The Love Bug" and "Herbie Rides Again." My mom drove a Volkswagen "doodlebug" so we had a vested interest in this series.

As I got a bit older, Dad started taking me to more adult-themed flicks. As a teen, I was introduced to the Mafia (and some serious violence) in "The Valachi Papers" and "The Godfather." That is the closest this Sand Mountain, Alabama kid ever got to organized crime, and it inspired a fascination with the topic that has never wavered. I have since read countless books and watched dozens of TV shows and movies based on "the mob," so if Robert DeNiro or Al Pacino are in a movie, I've probably seen it.

Dad also took me to see George C. Scott in "Patton," about the controversial World War II general. I can still remember the opening scene, and the music that accompanied it. Talk about larger than life. Gen. Patton's opening monologue, delivered in full military regalia in front of an enormous United States flag. I saw the movie once, 50 years ago, and it seems like yesterday.

As I got into my teens, I got hooked on James Bond movies. Even though the actors changed, the glamor and action only got bigger and better. Yes, I've seen them all, even the clunkers. And if there was no 007, I'd settle for brain candy like "Smokey and the Bandit" or "Airplane." I'd be lying if I didn't admit that date movies like "Grease" and "Saturday Night Fever" were perfect for some popcorn and cuddling.

After I got married, the movie theater served as a getaway on those wonderful occasions when a babysitter was available. When our kids entered the picture, we all enjoyed "Aladdin," "Beauty and the Beast," and other well-produced family movies.

As our sons got older, our choice

COVINGTON, Ga. — In a season where three of the four area football teams qualified for the state playoffs, each team had considerable contributions from key players. Of those players, 62 of them received recognition from their respective regions.

So, the sports staff at The Covington News has compiled its own All-Cov News Football team to further highlight local players’ success.

The 2022 team begins with five special honors: Most Valuable Player, Offensive, Defensive and Athlete of the Year as well as Coach of the Year. On top of that, there has been a first team offense and defense selected from the pool of All-Region honorees including an honorable mention list.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

Kenai Grier, Eastside

Kenai Grier continued the Eastside Eagles’ tradition of featuring strong running backs in their backfield. The senior back tallied 1,625 rushing yards and scored 20 total touchdowns this season.

Region 8-AAAAA coaches recognized Grier’s noteworthy season by voting him the region’s Offensive Player of the Year. For Recruit Georgia, Grier was an All-State Honorable Mention, too.

Being named MVP for All-Cov News caps off a season where, in its pre-season Football Preview magazine, The Covington News featured Grier as a “Next Man Up” following last year’s MVP running back Dallas Johnson’s graduation.

Offensive Player of the Year

Logan Cross, Social Circle

For the second year in a row, Logan Cross is receiving the All-Cov News Offensive Player of the Year honor. In fact, Cross improved upon his statistics from a season ago, which warrants the back-to-back recognition.

At the end of his senior season, Cross completed 68% of his passes, for 2,504 yards through the air and had 30 touchdowns.

Cross was voted First Team All-Region for Region 5A-Division I coaches, too, when the season was over.

Defensive Player of the Year

Justin Benton, Newton

Justin Benton wreaked havoc for opposing offensive lineman this past season in his return to the Newton Rams’ squad. After completing a year at the IMG Academy in Florida, Benton made his presence known throughout his senior year.

The Houston Cougars’ signee tallied 68 total tackles — 14 of which were tackles for loss — and sacked opponents’ quarterbacks five times.

Not only is he being recognized as the 2022 All-Cov News’ Defensive Player of the Year, but Region 4-AAAAAA honored Benton as its Co-Defensive Player of the Year, too.

Athlete of the Year

Ashton Evans, Alcovy

Ashton Evans seemed to be all over the field for the Alcovy Tigers in his senior campaign as their gunslinger. But he was much more than the Tigers’ quarterback.

Evans passed and rushed the ball effectively throughout the year and, from time to time, would slip out of the backfield to receive a pass. He also helped field kickoffs, too.

In his last year as a Tiger, Evans recorded 522 total yards and scored five touchdowns. Region 3-AAAAAA coaches voted Evans Second Team All-Region for his senior year resume.

Coach of the Year

Camiel Grant Jr., Newton

In what turned out to be his final year at the helm of the Newton’s football

CAMIEL GRANT JR.

Head Coach

program, Camiel Grant Jr. led the Rams to a few key victories.

For instance, the Rams went on the road and downed Parkview 20-18 for the second year in a row. Then, Newton avenged last season’s loss to South Gwinnett followed by the Rams’ first-ever victory over Archer to conclude the regular season.

When all was said and done, the Rams finished third in Region 4-AAAAAA, just a season removed from the playoffs entirely.

Newton County Unemployment

Jobless rate at 3.1%

More working but slightly fewer in workforce

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, GA. — Newton County saw its unemployment rate drop in November compared to the previous month.

Unemployment was at 3.1% for Newton County residents, which was down from 3.4% in October.

Newton County’s November rate was higher than all of its contiguous counties except Rockdale. It also was higher than the Metro Atlanta region (2.7%) and Georgia as a whole (3.0%).

Fewer Newton Countians were in the labor force — the total of all those working or making themselves available for work. A total of 54,675 county residents were in the workforce, down 127 from October.

Meanwhile, 20 more county residents were employed with 52,981 having jobs in November compared to 52,961 in October.

Also, 145 fewer residents were listed as unemployed. A total of 1,694 were jobless compared to 1,839 in October.

The number of initial unemployment claims by Newton residents was 249 in November, up 44 from October.

Georgia Labor Commissioner Mark Butler said Thursday that the Metro

Atlanta region — which includes Newton County — recorded an unemployment rate of 2.7% in November, down two-tenths of a percent from the revised 2.9% in October. A year ago, the rate was also 2.9%.

“We are seeing job numbers continue to rise across the state as Georgians secure employment,” said Butler, who leaves office at the end of this year. “Unemployment rates also dropped in regions throughout Georgia in November as we entered the holiday employment period.”

The labor force decreased in Atlanta by 5,799 and ended the month with 3.2 million. This number increased 39,941 when compared to November 2021.

The number of employed increased 1,001 to 3.12 million in November from October. From November 2021 to November 2022, the number of employed was up 44,819.

The number of unemployed was down 6,800 to 86,488 in November. From November 2021 to November 2022, the number of unemployed was down 4,878.

Metro Atlanta ended November with 3,037,600 jobs, an all-time high. Jobs were up 18,200 (0.6%) over the month and up 138,200 (4.8%) over the year. Job numbers were at an all-time high in Trade and Transportation, 657,000, Education and Health Services, 399,000, and Information, 126,600.

The sectors with the most over-the-month job gains included Retail Trade, 4,900, Accommodation and Food Services, 4,200, Transportation and Warehousing, 3,800, Health Care and Social Assistance, 1,800, and Wholesale Trade, 1,500.

The number of initial unemployment claims went up by 19% in Atlanta in November. When compared to last November, claims were up by about 32%.

Employ Georgia, the GDOL’s online job listing service at employgeorgia.com showed about 72,000 active job postings in metro Atlanta for November.

McDonald’s Golden Grants

Newton school among recipients of grants from McDonald’s operators

STAFF REPORT
news@covnews.com

A Newton County school was among 12 in Metro Atlanta to receive grants from area McDonald’s restaurant owners and operators.

Rocky Plains Elementary School received $1,000 for its PINK Ladies Mentorship Program, a news release stated.

The funding targets programs and organizations that fuel the imagination, education and growth of students, as recipients of a Golden Grant, the release stated.

A total of $40,000 is being allocated to various teachers and organizations to positively impact the lives of thousands of students.

Schools and educators make such an incredible impact on our community’s future leaders every day,” said Jeffrey Heidrick, a local McDonald’s Owner/Operator.

“We recognize the importance of education and contributing to communities throughout Greater Atlanta. It is truly an honor and a privilege to see how each school will use the funds to change the lives of their students.”

This year, 12 Golden Grants were awarded based on creativity, innovation, need and hands-on application of projects.

The top recipient was Macedonia Elementary School in Cherokee County which received $20,000 for its Chromebooks for Curriculum program.

Activities that qualified for a Golden Grant include arts and crafts programs, education initiatives, mentorship and empowerment programs, after-school programs, community service outreach, sporting programs, technology and COVID-19 relief efforts.

Winners were recognized during check presentations Dec. 12-16 by local owners and operators.

Ninety-five percent of McDonald’s 14,000 U.S. restaurants are owned and operated by independent local business owners.

Utilities

State energy regulators approve Georgia Power rate hike

BY DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — The state Public Service Commission (PSC) approved a $1.8 billion rate increase requested by Georgia Power Tuesday that embraced most of an agreement between the agency’s staff and the company presented last week.

Commissioners slightly lowered the upper limit on profits Georgia Power will be allowed to keep and sweetened incentives to be offered to encourage the development of solar energy and the deployment of electric vehicle charging stations.

But the PSC stopped short of more far-reaching changes proposed by Commissioner Lauren “Bubba” McDonald, who provided the lone opposition in Tuesday’s 4-1 vote.

The $1.8 billion rate hike — down from Georgia Power’s original request of $2.9 billion — will raise the average residential customer’s bill by $3.60 per month starting Jan. 1. That’s down significantly from the $14.90 monthly increase customers would have seen next year under the original front-loaded three-year request the company proposed in June.

Instead, customer rates will go up by 4.5% in 2024 and again in 2025 under the agreement between Georgia Power and the PSC’s Public Interest Advocacy Staff.

The commission set the return on equity (ROE) for the utility at the staff-recommended level of 10.5%, down from the 11% the company sought.

But commission Chair Tricia Pridemore amended the upper limit of the “earnings band” - the range within which the utility can earn profits for its shareholders without sharing them with customers — to 11.9%, slightly below the 12% Georgia Power requested and currently receives. The PSC staff had recommended reducing the upper limit to 11.5%.

“In the current environment of increasing interest rates and record inflation, it is important to hold the company close to current band levels in order to maintain the company’s financial integrity and the efficiency incentives to ultimately benefit customers,” Pridemore said.

The commission defeated an alternative amendment McDonald proposed to follow the staff’s suggestion and set the upper limit of the earnings band at 11.5%.

“All those revenues inside the band go to the company, not the ratepayer,” McDonald said.

The commission did approve one customer-friendly amendment Pridemore introduced increasing the percentage of revenues the company brings in above the earnings band that are refunded directly to ratepayers from the 10% contained in the agreement to 40%.

Chris Womack, Georgia Power’s chairman, president, and CEO, said in September the company expects to file a request in February for unrecovered fuel costs to account for the volatility of the energy market resulting from factors including rising natural gas prices and the impacts of the war in Ukraine.

The utility also will be looking to the PSC to recover the costs of bringing into service the two new nuclear reactors being built at Plant Vogtle.

Womack said Tuesday the commission’s decision struck a good balance between Georgia Power’s needs and those of its customers.

BY JAY BOBBIN

Miley Cyrus and Dolly Parton host "Miley's New Year's Eve Party" Saturday on NBC.

Happy New Year's Eve! TV gets into the spirit

Variety won't be lacking as television rings in 2023.

Whatever sort of music a viewer may prefer, there will be something that fits the bill ... but it doesn't stop there, with classic movies and recaps of 2022 also providing television options on Saturday, Dec. 31. Here's a look at some of the choices.

"A Toast to 2022!" (NBC): Various personalities reflect on notable events and individuals of the past 12 months.

"Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve With Ryan Seacrest 2023" (ABC): It simply wouldn't be the holiday without this. Seacrest holds forth in New York's Times Square once again, welcoming music stars both in primetime and after late local news, with the world-famous descent of the illuminated globe that will mark the start of the new year. Co-hosts include Ciara (at Disneyland), Billy Porter (New Orleans) and D-Nice (Los Angeles).

"New Year's Eve Live: Nashville's Big Bash" (CBS, Paramount+): As the country-music capital becomes the site of a New Year's Eve telecast again, Jimmie Allen and Elle King team with "Entertainment Tonight's" Rachel Smith as the hosting trio. Also on the roster of scheduled performers are Brooks & Dunn, Kelsea Ballerini, Little Big Town and Zac Brown Band. This also starts in primetime, then continues in late-night.

"Miley's New Year's Eve Party" (NBC, Peacock): Miley Cyrus will be in Miami for the second consecutive year to stage her own televised bash, with quite a noteworthy co-host to assist her – Dolly Parton, returning a favor in a sense to Cyrus, who appeared recently in the TV movie "Dolly Parton's Mountain Magic Christmas."

"United in Song 2022: Ringing in the New Year Together" (PBS; check local listings): The latest variation of a special that public television has shown for several years, this program sees the American Symphony Orchestra joined by vocalists from various categories.

"New Year's Eve With Anderson Cooper and Andy Cohen" (CNN): The close pals who have been teamed to cover Times Square festivities for a number of years do it again, though the overall merriment may be slightly less this year. Reportedly, an edict has been issued by CNN that any participants except the two hosts cannot drink on the air.

"The Thin Man" (Turner Classic Movies): The mystery-with-humor movie series, teaming William Powell and Myrna Loy as married sleuths Nick and Nora Charles, typically has a place on TCM on New Year's Eve ... and it does so again this year.

"Ocean's Eleven" (TNT): The 2001 reboot of the 1960 "Rat Pack" crime caper prompted a franchise of several movies, all of which are shown in a marathon. George Clooney plays the title leader of the gang intending to rob several Las Vegas casinos simultaneously.

tonight's PICKS

Amy Grant

The 45th Annual Kennedy Center Honors

8 p.m. on WGCL

It's pretty difficult to beat the star power of this year's honorees as George Clooney, Bono, The Edge, Adam Clayton, Larry Mullen Jr. (collectively U2), Amy Grant, Gladys Knight and Tania Leon are feted for their contributions to American culture. Also making appearances are Julia Roberts, Matt Damon, Don Cheadle, Eddie Vedder, Brandi Carlile, Sheryl Crow, Ariana DeBose, Maren Morris, Michael W. Smith, BeBe Winans, and many others.

Pawn Stars Do America

8 p.m. on HIST

Rick, Corey, and Chum are wrapping up their road trip in the Old Man's hometown — Winston-Salem, N.C. Surrounded by a bevy of experts, the guys are hoping to make some sweet Carolina deals to take back to Vegas. But before heading home, the guys check out a few powerful antique tractors, test fire weapons at the range, and hang with a NASCAR racing legend in the Season 1 finale episode "Sweet Carolina."

The Man From U.N.C.L.E.

8 p.m. on HBO

The movie version of the classic 1960s TV series lacks the Robert Vaughn-David McCallum chemistry as Henry Cavill and Armie Hammer assume the roles of reluctant spy partners Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin, but director Guy Ritchie gets the atmosphere of the time right as the agents launch a Cold War pursuit of the masterminds behind a global nuclear threat. Alicia Vikander plays a scientist's daughter who could help the duo in their mission. Hugh Grant also stars.

Elizabeth Stanton

Popstar's Best of 2022

8 p.m. on WUPA
Presented by Associated Television International, host Elizabeth Stanton counts down the greatest and most memorable moments and trends of 2022 based on polls from “Popstar Magazine” in this new special. From Justin Bieber’s health scares to Pete Davidson’s dating life, Harry Styles spitting to Will Smith’s Oscar meltdown, 2022 gave us plenty of things to ponder and reexamine.

Restaurant: Impossible

8 p.m. on FOOD
Felicia’s failing restaurant in Ash Fork, Ariz., has forced her to sacrifice her time with her children. Overwhelmed by guilt, she is ignoring her mountain of debt and her deteriorating business. Robert Irving must help Felicia turn her attitude and business strategy around to save the restaurant and her family in the Season 21 premiere episode “A Mother’s Guilt.”

The King’s Man

8 p.m. on HBO
The third installment in the “Kingsman” movie franchise and a prequel to the two earlier films, Matthew Vaughn’s 2021 spy action comedy underperformed at the box office, mainly due to pandemic-related issues. It still delivers an entertaining yarn about how the Kingsman organization was born during the turmoil of World War I. Ralph Fiennes heads the stellar cast as Orlando, Duke of Oxford and founder of the spy network, with Tom Hollander (“The Night Manager”) pulling triple duty in multiple roles. Gemma Arterton, Rhys Ifans, Matthew Goode and Daniel Bruhl co-star.

The Great Sinner

8 p.m. on TCM
Airing in celebration of “Star of the Month” Ava Gardner’s 100th birthday (Dec. 24), Fedja (Gregory Peck) is a young writer who goes to Wiesbaden to write about gambling and gamblers, only to ultimately become a compulsive gambler himself. Losing all his wealth, as well as his moral fiber, he commits the ultimate degradation of robbing a church poor box in order to feed his compulsion in this 1949 drama. In addition to Gardner, other stars include Melvyn Douglas, Walter Huston, Ethel Barrymore and Frank Morgan.

tonight's PICKS

Guy Fieri

The Mule

8 p.m. on MAX

Clint Eastwood produced, directed and stars in this 2018 crime drama, which screenwriter Nick Schenk adapted from a New York Times article. Eastwood cast himself as Earl Stone, an 80-something Korean War veteran in dire financial straits, so he accepts an offer from an acquaintance to become a cocaine courier — the “mule” of the title — for a Mexican drug cartel. Earl’s advanced age, race and spotless criminal history make him perfect for the gig. Bradley Cooper, Laurence Fishburne and Dianne Wiest also star.

13 Minutes

8:30 p.m. on SHOW

Writer-director Lindsay Gossling’s 2021 thriller set in a small Oklahoma town directly in the path of an oncoming monster tornado is a low-budget affair, which may help explain why the killer storm itself gets short shrift (the film’s title refers to the desperately short time the characters have to make it to safety in a local shelter). Instead, the first hour of the story deals with a laundry list of social issues in the doomed town. Trace Adkins, Amy Smart, Anne Heche, Yancey Arias and Thora Birch star.

Guy’s Hometown

9 p.m. on FOOD

Guy returns to Ferndale, Calif. — the small town where he grew up — for food, fun and a trip down memory lane. At the Humboldt County Fair, teams go head-to-head in a chili cook-off; there’s unexpected eats like deep fried burgers and monster pulled-pork; and Guy gives back to first responders and veterans with a big-time barbecue. Plus, a tour of the town includes a trip to Guy’s childhood home and a fired-up lesson in blacksmithing in the new episode “From Ferndale to Flavortown.”

“Movie: Roald Dahl’s Matilda the Musical”

Alisha Weir has the title role in this Matthew Warchus-directed production about the little girl who conjures her own fantastical tales as an escape from the oppressive private school where she was sent by her selfish parents. Emma Thompson, Andrea Riseborough, Stephen Graham, Lashana Lynch and Sindhu Vee also star. (ORIGINAL)

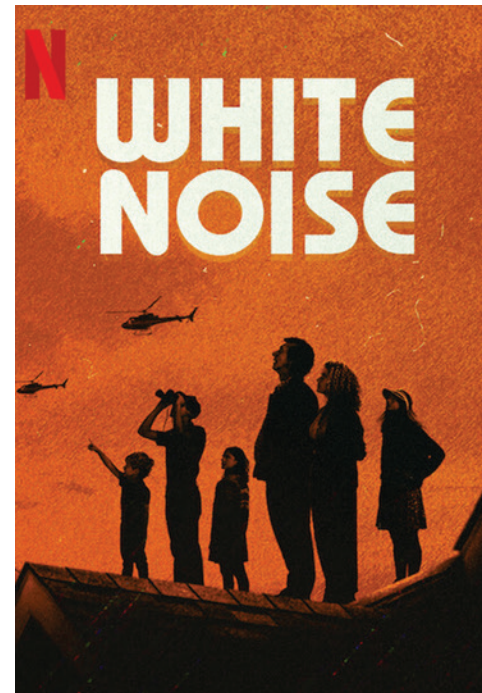

“My Unorthodox Life”

The sophomore round of this unscripted series about a woman who fled her ultra-Orthodox Jewish community picks up with fashion mogul Julia Haart facing an avalanche of personal and professional challenges, chief among them a divorce and a battle for control of her business empire, which quickly turns contentious. (ORIGINAL)

“Chelsea Handler: Revolution”

The award-winning comedian lets loose on a number of topics — including her choice to remain childless and alone, dating during the pandemic while her family invades her home and her vision for a future where men don't wear flip flops — in this stand-up performance recorded this past June at the Ryman Auditorium in Nashville, Tenn. (ORIGINAL)

“Movie: White Noise”

Noah Baumbach (“Greenberg,” “Frances Ha”) directed this dramedy about a contemporary American family’s attempts to deal with the mundane conflicts of everyday life while grappling with the universal mysteries of love, death and the possibility of happiness in an uncertain world. Adam Driver, Greta Gerwig and Don Cheadle head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

What's Available NOW On

“Encanto at the Hollywood Bowl” (Dec. 28)

The original voice cast of “Encanto” reunites at Southern California’s Hollywood Bowl for this concert event that celebrate the world, characters and songs of the 2021 Disney animated comedy and features an 80-piece orchestra conducted by Anthony Parnter, 50 dancers and spectacular special effects. Lin-Manuel Miranda does a special introduction. (ORIGINAL)

“Generation YouTube” (Dec. 30)

From National Geographic comes this documentary that charts the history of the last decade through the lens of the world’s most famous video sharing site, telling story of those who created it, the stars to whom it gave birth and the countries whose fates it changed.

“Little Giant” (Available now)

This National Geographic documentary follows Little E, an elephant calf born into a family struggling for survival in Kenya’s Maasai Mara. Drought is setting in, forcing them to keep moving to find food and water but they face threats from lions, hippos and even humans. The film chronicles how they address each challenge and reveals elephants to be loving creatures with intelligence that rivals a human’s.

“Wicked Tuna: Outer Banks Showdown” (Available now)

The first season of this National Geographic unscripted series follows the “Wicked Tuna” anglers from Gloucester, Mass., as they head down to North Carolina to compete with locals to see who can catch the most fish while contending with harsh weather and their new opponents’ unfamiliar tactics.

OF ‘DR. SEUSS BAKING CHALLENGE’ ON PRIME VIDEO AND FREEVEE

What’s the first thing that gets your attention when you’re judging these cakes?

For me personally, it’s originality and creativity. I look at those things first and then I also look at obviously the taste. And the originality and creativity and the taste as well is very important to me because you can see a lot of Dr. Seuss creations on social media, like Instagram or whatever. I don’t want to see something that I’ve already seen like 2,000 times on my phone; like I want to see something that is new and exciting and interesting. I also want to taste things that are new and exciting and interesting that I also haven’t tasted like 10 million times before.

Do you have a favorite Dr. Seuss character?

Well, my favorite book for sure is “Oh, the Places You’ll Go.” I even have like a little deck of cards that features various cities and landmarks that you need to – that’s called “Oh, the Places You’ll Go” that one is supposed to see in their lifetime. I mean, once upon a time it was my goal to hit all of that deck of cards. I don’t know if that’s ever going to happen but that’s my favorite book.

Character-wise, I actually like the Grinch because it reminds me of my boyfriend (laughs) because he hates Christmas and is just, to me, like really funny.

If you were to build a Grinch cake, how would you approach it?

I would build like a bust of him and I would definitely have to nail his features and his character and his energy. Like you want him to look kind of pissed off and bitter at the world, like something that just really encapsulates the energy of him.

Dick Clark's Primetime New Year's Rockin' Eve With Ryan Seacrest 2023

8 p.m. on WSB Put on your mittens and begin the countdown. Ryan Seacrest hosts from the preeminent destination to ring in the New Year — Times Square — and the nation's most-watched New Year's Eve celebration. Giving viewers a look at New Year's celebrations from around the globe, it also celebrates the year's very best in music featuring a night filled with superstar performances. It also kicks off Disney's 100 Years of Wonder celebration.

New Year's Eve Live: Nashville's Big Bash

8 p.m. on WGCL It's time to ring in the New Year in cowboy boots and a 10-gallon hat. Country music's hottest superstars return to downtown Nashville, Tenn., to celebrate the festivities across multiple locations.

Miley's New Year's Eve Party 10:30 p.m. on WXIA

The New Year will not know what hit it. Multi-platinum selling recording artist Miley Cyrus, and her co-host, global superstar Dolly Parton, bring the party to Miami as they count down to 2023. The star-studded event, executive produced by "Saturday Night Live" creator Lorne Michaels, will feature an A-list line-up of musical performances and special guests ready to put 2022 behind them and hit the New Year running. Expect the unexpected.

tonight's PICKS

Hugh Bonneville

Magic of Disney's Animal Kingdom

5 p.m. on NATGEO

This series gives viewers an all-access pass to explore Disney's Animal Kingdom Theme Park, Disney's Animal Kingdom Lodge and The Seas With Nemo & Friends at EP-COT, paying tribute to an array of more than 5,000 animals and their animal care experts who keep things running. The new episode "Betty and the Beast," features zebras arriving on the savanna and the first-ever babirusa piglet. Fan-favorite Josh Gad narrates, with multiple new episodes that immediately follow.

Great Performances

8 p.m. on WGTV

It's time to ring in the New Year — Viennese style. PBS favorite Hugh Bonneville returns to host the annual celebratory concert at the Golden Hall of Vienna's Musikverein for a performance of Strauss family waltzes conducted by Cleveland Orchestra Music Director Franz Welser-Most and featuring performances by the Vienna Boys and Girls Choirs and the Vienna State Ballet with choreography by Ashley Page.

The Dog Lover's Guide to Dating

8 p.m. on HALL

Simon (Corey Sevier) believes Chloe (Eliza King) is the girl of his dreams, but can't seem to win over her beloved pooch. So he enlists dog trainer Alex (Rebecca Dalton) to help him convince the skeptical pooch. And though Alex is reluctant to help, Simon soon finds himself wondering where his real connection might be in this 2022 romantic comedy.

Ugliest House in America

8 p.m. on HGTV

The Season 3 premiere of the surprise hit showcases 15 properties nominated by homeowners who believe their design-challenged home is among the worst in the country. Host Refta shares her hilarious reviews of each horrendous property, commenting on wacky layouts, clashing designs and severely outdated styles. Based on its ugly appearance, poor functionality and surprising design choices, one house will be deemed the "ugliest house in America" by HGTV and the network will award its homeowners a show-stopping $150,000 renovation.

tonight's PICKS

Patrice Bergeron

NHL Hockey

2 p.m. on TNT

It seems fitting that old school outdoor hockey should be played in the elements of Boston's Fenway Park, an old school baseball venue, as the 2023 NHL Winter Classic faces off there with Patrice Bergeron and the Bruins hosting Sidney Crosby and the Pittsburgh Penguins. With these Eastern Conference rivals apparently play-off-bound, the atmosphere here should be particularly raucous, especially when combined with the unpredictable January weather of the Northeast.

Rose Bowl

5 p.m. on ESPN

Today's Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif., may not help decide the national champion but it does have a long and illustrious history dating back to 1902, and today's contest between No. 8 Utah and No. 11 Penn State will certainly add to it. Cam Rising and the Utes come into this game as three-point favorites and on a roll, having won four of their last five to finish with a 10-3 record.

Bake It 'Til You Make It

9 p.m. on FOOD

Three talented bakers enter local competitions to have their work recognized by the best in the business. RaChelle is a perfectionist and a decade-long competitor who will enter bakes in any and every competition she can. Sumera is a nanny who has found her true calling in baking and is ready for the spotlight. Lili is a unique baking hobbyist who is going to try her hand at competition for the first time in the new episode "Did I Just Lose to Sourdough?"

Celebrity IOU

9 p.m. on HGTV

Drew Barrymore is calling on Jonathan and Drew Scott to gift Deb, her makeup artist and best friend of 20 years, a life-changing renovation. After 20 years of friendship, Drew wants to give Deb a fresh start after a difficult divorce. As a single mother, Deb hasn't had the resources to make the home improvements she's been wanting. So, Drew is calling in the brothers for a makeover that's fit for the next chapter of her life in the new episode "Drew Barrymore's Spectacular Reno Surprise."

tonight's PICKS

Ramón Rodríguez

Finding Your Roots With Henry Louis Gates, Jr.

8 p.m. on WGTV
Renowned scholar Dr. Henry Louis Gates Jr. returns for the Season 9 premiere episode “Hidden Kin,” where he explores the ancestral roots of actors Edward Norton and Julia Roberts, uncovering their hidden connections to American history — and to each other. Using genealogical detective work and cutting-edge DNA analysis to guide his guests through the branches of their family trees, they uncover buried secrets and inspiring stories of long-forgotten ancestors.

American Experience

9 p.m. on WGTV
As law enforcement began to develop more scientific methods in the 1920s, researchers claimed they could tell whether someone was lying by using a polygraph machine. Popularly known as the “lie detector,” the device transformed police work and seized headlines as an infallible crime-fighting tool. But it became an apparatus to frighten and intimidate millions of Americans. The Season 35 premiere episode “The Lie Detector,” was directed by Rob Rapley. It is a tale of good intentions, twisted morals and unintended consequences.

Will Trent

10 p.m. on WSB
Based on Karin Slaughter’s bestselling book series, this new crime drama follows Special Agent Will Trent (Ramón Rodríguez) of the Georgia Bureau of Investigations (GBI). He was abandoned at birth and endured a harsh coming-of-age in Atlanta’s overwhelmed foster care system. But now, determined to use his unique point of view to make sure no one is abandoned like he was, Will has the highest clearance rate in the GBI. Erika Christensen, Iantha Richardson, Jake McLaughlin and Sonja Sohn also star.

Harrison Ford is busy on the home screen

Q: Is "1923" Harrison Ford's first series? – Kim Brock, Goldsboro, N.C.

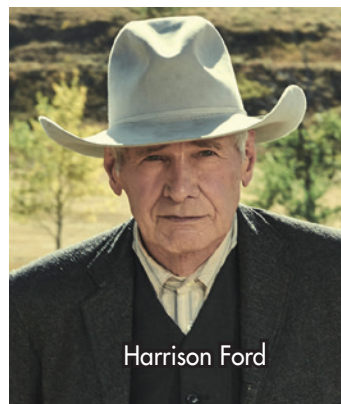

A: In terms of a continuing weekly role, yes, though he did guest shots on such shows as "The FBI" and "The Virginian" early in his career. However, it's interesting that even though "1923" made its Paramount+ debut first, Ford actually filmed another series before it.

"Shrinking" is set to premiere Jan. 27 on Apple TV+, with Ford as a therapist who's dealing with another counselor (Jason Segel), a man whose own grief prompts him to be painfully candid and honest with his patients. Chances are good that Ford will channel aspects over one of the funniest parts he's played (in our opinion), the cranky TV-news veteran who's decidedly unhappy about becoming a morning-show co-anchor in "Morning Glory."

Q: When will the new season of "The Bachelor" begin? – Jennifer Stephens, via email

A: Zach Shallcross – who determined his own fate on "The Bachelorette" earlier this year when he eliminated himself as a romantic option for Rachel Recchia – will start his search for love as the chooser when the ABC winter staple returns to its traditional Monday slot for its 27th season on Jan. 23. Jesse Palmer will be back as the host, and inevitably, tears will flow as the process takes its course once again.
