I-285 and I-20 Interchange Project

Anticipation

GDOT closes lanes to survey, test soil before work begins

DECATUR, Ga. — Georgia Department of Transportation contractors began a week of overnight lane closures on I-20 eastbound in DeKalb County Monday in anticipation of construction of the I-285/I-20 East Interchange project in a few months.

Overnight closures were scheduled through Friday, Feb. 3, at 6 a.m. One right lane will be closed on I-20 eastbound between Wesley Chapel and Panola roads, a GDOT news release stated.

The closures will allow crews to perform soil testing and surveying before major construction begins as early as April and runs through 2026 on the massive project, according to GDOT.

The I-285/I-20 East Interchange Project is intended to improve traffic flow and safety at the busy intersection of the two heavily-travelled interstates — where traffic often backs up during morning and evening rush hours and tractor-trailer wrecks are common occurrences because of the current design.

It will include reconstruction of the ramps directly connecting I-285 and I-20 East and add a combination of connecting lanes and auxiliary lanes along I-20 east of the interchange, according to GDOT.

The $691 million project is set to include ramp reconstruction, including I-20 westbound to I-285 southbound, I-20 westbound to I-285 northbound, and I-285 southbound to I-20 eastbound ramps.

It also will include:

- Construction of collector-distributor lanes between Wesley Chapel Road and the interchange, and a westbound auxiliary lane between Lithonia Industrial Boulevard and Wesley Chapel Road.

Collector-distributor lanes run parallel to the main travel lanes of an interstate or highway, connecting them to access roads or entrance ramps in order to improve traffic flow, speed and safety, according to GDOT.

Auxiliary lanes are the extra lanes alongside the main lanes that give drivers more time to merge in or out when entering or exiting the highway, GDOT said on its website.

- Widening the I-20 eastbound to I-285 northbound ramp from one to two lanes;
- Construction of one eastbound auxiliary lane from Panola Road to Lithonia Industrial Boulevard;
- Replacement of the Miller Road and Fairington Road bridges over I-20, and the I-20 bridge over Snapfinger Creek to accommodate the new auxiliary and CD lanes.

Juvenile arrested after video shoot in bathroom

COVINGTON, Ga. — An Alcovy High student allegedly was holding a stolen handgun when a TikTok video was filmed in a bathroom at the school Jan. 20.

The boy, who was not identified because of his status as a juvenile, was charged with crimes ranging from having a firearm on school grounds to obstructing officers.

His alleged action to bring a gun to school to shoot the video led administrators to place Alcovy on lockdown following the late-morning incident.

An Alcovy school resource officer reported being notified at 11:09 a.m. by two school administrators about a TikTok video being air dropped that showed two students holding a handgun in a boys restroom.

"The administration along with deputies located the students in the TikTok video immediately," the deputy reported.

However, the student who had the handgun in the video did not have it in his possession when he was initially questioned, the officer reported.

Deputies subsequently located a black Springfield Armory 40mm handgun which had been reported stolen in April 2022 from an undisclosed location.

Better Business Bureau cautions on ‘storm chasers,’ insurance claims

STAFF REPORT
news@covnews.com

ATLANTA — After a natural disaster, many people find that helping others brings out their best qualities.

Unfortunately, this goodwill can also bring in contractors who take advantage of those who have suffered through a crisis.

Better Business Bureau (BBB) provides tips for what to do after a damaging storm or tornado and warns residents to beware of “storm chasers,” out-of-town contractors soliciting business.

Once the storm has passed, cleanup and recovery efforts begin.

Storm victims should never feel pressured to make a hasty decision or choose an unknown contractor.

Make temporary repairs if necessary so you can take the time to choose a trustworthy contractor.

Keep the following tips in mind to recover safely and effectively after the storm:

Assess the damage

- Assess the damage and take pictures.
- Contact your insurance company immediately. Inquire about policy coverage and specific filing requirements.
- Document the damage to your property (and autos). Take pictures and, if possible, video evidence.
- Only make permanent repairs once you get approval from your insurance company. Your insurer might only fully reimburse you for permanent repairs made with their authorization.

Clean and make temporary repairs

- Make minor repairs that will limit further damage to the home.
- Save all your receipts if you must make temporary repairs to protect your home from the elements.
- Wear protective clothing. Long pants, a long-sleeved shirt, and sturdy shoes. Be cautious!
- Learn more about how to clean up after a tornado from the Red Cross, including the supplies you’ll need and how to handle fire hazards such as gas, electricity, and chemicals.

- Be on the lookout for price gouging. Report instances to your local BBB and Attorney General’s office.

Hire a contractor

- Get references. Get referrals from friends and relatives and check BBB.org for ratings and reviews on contractors in the area.
- Do your research. Local and national companies may do a fine job with your storm damage repair needs, but if you choose to do business with someone who is not local, be sure to understand who will be taking care of any service needs that may arise after the completion of the project.
- Learn about storm chasers. Storm chasers are businesses that follow storms hoping for a quick buck. Research anyone who offers you unsolicited assistance carefully.
- Contact your insurance company. Ask about your policy coverage and specific filing requirements.
- Save all receipts for food, temporary lodging, or other expenses that may be covered under your policy. Your insurance company may also have recommended contractors.
- Resist high-pressure sales. Some storm chasers use tactics such as the “good deal” you’ll get only if you hire the contractor on the spot. Be proactive in selecting a contractor and not reactive to sales calls on the phone or door-to-door pitches.

Disaster victims should never feel forced to make a hasty decision or choose an unknown contractor.

- Be especially careful of door-to-door contractors. Many municipalities require a solicitation permit if sales people go door-to-door. Ask for identification. Check their vehicle for a business name, phone number, and license plates for your state or province.
- Don’t sign over insurance checks to contractors. Get an invoice from the contractor and pay them directly (preferably with a credit card, which offers additional fraud protection over other forms of payment). Don’t sign any documents that give the contractor any rights to your insurance claims. If you have questions, contact your insurance company or agent.

- Be wary regarding places you can’t see.

While most contractors abide by the law, be careful allowing someone you do not know to inspect your roof and other areas of your house.

An unethical contractor may actually create damage to get work. The same goes for attics, crawl spaces, ducts, and other places you cannot easily access or see for yourself.

- Ask about preventive features and installations. Check with your contractor about adding tornado-resistant features to help protect against future damage during the repair process.

Know what you sign

- Read and understand anything you are asked to sign. Avoid signing an “estimate” or “authorization” form before you hire a particular contractor.
- Get a written contract agreement with anyone you hire.

It should specify the work, the materials used, and the price breakdown for both labor and materials.

- Any promises made orally should be written into the contract, including warranties on materials or labor.
- Make sure you know the terms and conditions if you choose to cancel a contract.
- Understand the terms and conditions and get copies of any warranties and guarantees.
- A contractor should be responsible for obtaining all necessary permits, not you.

Review contracts, deposits, and payments

- Make sure the contract is specific. Be sure the contract specifies the schedule for releasing payments to the contractor.
- Ask for a start and end date for the work to be done.
- Never pay in full in advance. Do not pay with cash.
- Don’t make a final payment or sign a completion agreement until all work is done to your satisfaction.

Georgia General Assembly

Panel OKs ‘alternative’ roadwork contracts

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — A bill tweaking a transportation project contracting option Georgia lawmakers authorized in 2021 will likely be among the first to hit the floor of either legislative chamber in a slow-moving start to the 2023 session.

The House Transportation Committee passed the bill unanimously on Thursday and sent it on to the Rules Committee, which will decide when to put in on the House floor.

The General Assembly passed legislation two years ago allowing the state Department of Transportation (DOT) to use a contracting alternative that gets contractors involved in projects as they are being designed, earlier than is typically the case.

“This is really for more complex projects,” Rep. Brad Thomas, R-Holly Springs, the bill’s chief sponsor, told committee members Thursday. “It allows for better control of estimates.”

“You don’t have to deal with change orders,” added Josh Waller, director of policy and government affairs for the DOT.

Waller said an example of a complex project is the planned raising of the Talmadge Bridge in Savannah. The State Transportation Board voted last week to authorize using alternative contracting to build that project.

Alternative contracting also works well when a project needs to be completed quickly, such as the replacement of the Courtland Street Bridge in downtown Atlanta, Waller said. That work several years ago was shortened from an originally anticipated two years to just six months.

relocate because of storm-related damage;

- Personal property that was damaged or destroyed by the Jan. 12 weather events;
- Lodging reimbursement for those having to stay in a hotel temporarily;
- Basic home repairs for homeowners whose primary residence was damaged by the Jan. 12 weather events;

- Other serious needs caused by the recent storms.

In addition to the assistance listed, FEMA is asking the public to note the following:

- Only one application per household;
- FEMA does not pay for lost or spoiled food.

By law, FEMA is not allowed to duplicate insurance payments or assistance provided by other sources, the release stated.

Anyone registering with FEMA may be referred to the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) for a disaster loan. SBA offers low-interest disaster loans to help businesses, homeowners and renters recover from declared disasters.

“Submitting a low-interest loan application is an important step in the recovery process. There is no obligation to take the loan, if offered. Residents who are not approved may be referred for additional grant consideration,” the release stated.

Additional disaster recovery centers are expected to be announced soon.

The charges against the boy included Bringing a Weapon on School Property, Theft by Receiving Stolen Property, Reckless Conduct, Obstruction of Law Enforcement Officers, and Possession of a Handgun by a Person under 18.

In an apparent separate incident on the same day, an Alcovy student was charged with bringing a weapon on school property after deputies found a six-inch knife in his vehicle, a warrant stated.

Johnnie Rae Scott, 17, was charged with one felony count of Carrying a Weapon in a School Safety Zone, it stated.

The Newton County School System said in a statement regarding the handgun incident, “Weapons of any kind are strictly prohibited on campus.”

“In addition to disciplinary action for violating the student code of conduct, the student in question will also face legal charges.”

The school system phoned parents to tell them about the lockdown following the discovery of the handgun Jan. 20.

“One student will face both legal charges and school disciplinary action for violating the student code of conduct,” NCSS spokesperson Sherri Partee told parents.

But some parents wrote on social media they were notified later than they should have been.

School system officials said, “The safety of our students and staff will always be our No. 1 concern.”

“When lockdowns occur, our first priority is to ensure the safety of our school family. We truly appreciate your patience and cooperation today and thank you for your continued support of Alcovy High School.”

Local control an issue in housing challenge

By REBECCA GRAPEVINE
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — As high-tech manufacturing plants — many in the electric vehicle and battery sectors — are lured to Georgia, affordable housing for workers is emerging as a key challenge.

Jon Burns

“The transformational projects, good paying jobs, and new investments are worth little if there aren’t options for hard-working Georgians to live where they work,” Republican Gov. Brian Kemp noted Jan. 25 in his annual State of the State address.

To address the problem, Kemp has proposed $35.7 million in the amended fiscal 2023 budget to create a rural workforce housing fund. If the governor’s budget recommendation is approved, those funds would be reallocated from existing spending items.

The program would be focused on helping local governments finance the infrastructure needed for building new housing developments, said Christopher Nunn, commissioner of the state Department of Community Affairs (DCA).

“We look forward to launching Georgia’s program, which will leverage [DCA] subject matter expertise in infrastructure to partner with local governments as well as developers,” Nunn said.

“Of course, we hope that this infusion will also beget additional rural housing investment to meet the needs of a growing workforce. This is a pervasive issue across states [that] few states have figured out how to address.”

The new fund, though, is just a small step toward addressing Georgia’s housing shortage.

Augusta is short by 8,600 housing units per year, while Columbus faces a 3,800-unit deficit and Savannah is short by 9,300 units, John Hunt, president of MarketNsght, a housing market research firm, told a state House study committee that focused on the issue last fall.

Many developers and other free-market advocates believe local regulations imposed by city and county governments drive up the cost of housing.

“Our work on this issue has established that government regulations, taxes and fees represent a sizable portion of the cost of a new home,” said Kyle Wingfield, president of the Georgia Public Policy Foundation, a think tank that advocates free-market solutions to public policy issues.

“At a time when Georgia needs hundreds of thousands of additional housing units ... we can’t afford these artificial barriers to building more housing supply.”

But local governments oppose state laws that would preempt local regulation of zoning, building designs and control over the construction of build-to-rent projects.

“I think it’s rather disingenuous of certain groups to blame [high housing costs] solely on local government regulations,” said Todd Edwards, deputy director of governmental affairs for the Association County Commissioners of Georgia (ACCG). “The affordability of housing is a very complex issue.”

Edwards pointed to a wide variety of factors that contribute to the cost of housing, including supply chain issues, labor shortages, inflation, and interest rates. If local governments cannot impose regulations around housing, the houses are likely to be built to “the lowest common denominator” and quickly sold to institutional investors, he said.

The ACCG and the Georgia Municipal Association are currently developing recommendations to increase the affordable housing supply in Georgia without preempting local control, Edwards said.

The Georgia Planning Association also opposes such preemption proposals.

“Local residents and local leaders know how to solve local problems because we live with them every day and we see them up close,” Whitney Shepherd, the association’s president, told the House study committee. “When we work together to come up with local plans and codes, we rely on the state to help us -- not strike those codes down because special interests told you to, especially when it comes to our homes.”

State preemption laws have failed to garner legislative support in the past few General Assembly sessions.

For example, during last year’s session, bills championed by Rep. Dale Washburn, R-Macon, and Sen. Steve Gooch, R-Dahlonega, that would have stopped local governments from prohibiting build-to-rent subdivisions stalled out in committee.

But Washburn continued the push for state legislation that would limit what local governments can regulate as chairman of the House study committee that focused on the issue last fall.

“If there is excessive regulation that restricts the free market from working efficiently, it must be identified and corrected,” the committee’s report concluded. “The Georgia General Assembly has the authority, and it should consider legislation that will make it easier for the free market to meet the housing needs of Georgians.”

House Speaker Jon Burns, R-Newington, said earlier this month he is keen to work with local governments on the affordable-housing issue.

“The House will respect our local partners, whether it be the cities and the counties,” Burns said. “That’s where decisions are made on zoning. ... Certainly, we will respect their decisions.”

At the same time, Burns appeared to leave the door open for consideration of preemption laws, though he did not outline any concrete plans.

“We do not want to stifle private investment in this state when it comes to housing,” he said.

Sen. Strickland reports on week of Jan. 17-20

By SEN. BRIAN STRICKLAND
Chairman, Senate Finance Committee

ATLANTA — On Jan. 16, Senate offices were closed in observance of the holiday honoring the life, legacy and vision of Martin Luther King Jr. Dr. King’s influence on this nation cannot be overstated. His example continues to inspire people around the world, and especially in the state of Georgia, to work towards justice in their communities and beyond.

Though the Senate did not convene in the Senate Chamber this week, many of us were hard at work in the Joint Appropriations Committee hearings here at the Capitol. It is our constitutional duty as a legislature to pass a balanced budget every session and ensure that every taxpayer dollar is used effectively. Below are a few highlights covered in this week’s hearings.

Each year, education in Georgia accounts for over half the state’s budget. This year is no exception. We must continue to invest in our education system at both the K-12 and higher education levels. This year, an additional $745 million is included in the Governor’s budget proposal for the Amended Fiscal Year (FY) 2023 budget and more than $1.1 billion is recommended to be included in the FY 2024 budget. These appropriations will fully fund the Quality Basic Education formula. It is imperative that we continue to build a workforce our growing state needs and that can only be achieved through providing the highest level of education to all Georgians.

Health care in Georgia continues to remain a top priority. More specifically, we know that health care is a significant cost for many Georgia families that do not have access to benefits provided through their employer. I am pleased to see the FY 2024 budget includes proposals to provide $52 million in funds to implement the Georgia Pathways Coverage program which was established pursuant to the Patients First Act, legislation that was passed in 2019. The Georgia Pathways Coverage program will increase access to adequate health insurance statewide and give Georgia families more accessible resources to provide care for their loved ones.

I look forward to the work that we will do as a Senate body this session as we build on the foundation of these critical first few weeks. If you have any questions or ideas, please do not hesitate to reach out to my office.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO FINISH OUT THIS CURRENT FISCAL YEAR, ENDING JUNE 30, 2023

Statewide Changes

Undesignated regular surplus funds to be used to provide refund funds for all Georgian taxpayers for the 2022 tax year between $250 and $500.

Educated Georgia

A one-time grant funding of $155,700,000 to be allocated to K-12 schools to fund school security grants, support learning loss grants and to support paraprofessionals with bachelor’s degrees seeking teaching certificates. Additionally, $105,000,000 would implement a state-of-the-art electronic medical records system at the Medical College of Georgia and $129,375,000 for design and construction of new and existing Quick Start facilities to support the electric vehicle industry.

Healthy Georgia

The kitchen at Georgia Regional Hospital in Atlanta would receive $9,905,000 for necessary renovations. A $282,771,933 increase in Medicaid utilization and enrollment growth including $4.5 million to continue the PeachCare premium suspension through the end of the fiscal year. Additionally, $6,428,193 would be utilized for additional Medicaid caseworkers and a management consultant to ensure quality assurance during redeterminations at the expiration of the federal COVID-19 Public Health Emergency. To prepare for the expiration of the federal COVID-19 Public Health Emergency, $1,965,580 would be utilized for technology and security upgrades to the Integrated Eligibility System (IES).

Safe Georgia

The Department of Corrections would receive $12,285,433 for physical health and pharmacy contracts as well as $51,495,000 for 33 projects at 19 facilities for repairs and upgrades to life safety and security systems.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR FISCAL YEAR 2024, BEGINNING JULY 1, 2023

Statewide Changes

A cost-of-living adjustment proposal of $566,966,153 would provide an annual increase of $2,000 to state and Regent employees, Pre-K teachers and assistant teachers, and certified K-12 personnel.

Educated Georgia

A proposal of $14,035,636 would increase the Pre-K operations grant to allow programs to reallocate funds to lead teacher salaries. Bonds amounting in $22,820,000 would replace 259 school buses. Additionally, $127,180,022 would aid enrollment growth, training and experience to recognize a 0.4% increase in enrollment, bringing the total number of full-time equivalent students funded to 1.74 million students and over 136,000 educators and administrators.

Healthy Georgia

To expand behavioral health and substance abuse crisis capacity, $13,08,198 has been proposed as well as $6,288,973 for additional mobile crisis teams to address increasing demand statewide. Additionally, $6,522,192 would assist the Georgia Board of Health Care Workforce with 102 residency slots in primary care medicine, the creation and administration of loan repayment programs for mental health and medical professionals as well as increase the numbers of physicians and advanced practice nurses.

Safe Georgia

Bond funds of $26,000,000 would assist emergency maintenance and repairs for the Safe Georgia

Bond funds of $26,000,000 would assist emergency maintenance and repairs for the Department of Corrections as well as $25,150,491 for physical and pharmacy services contracts. Additionally, $94,250 would assist the Criminal Justice Coordinating Council for one sexual assault kit tracking system administrator.

Responsible and Efficient Government

To support the operation and maintenance of the TeamWorks Financial and Human Capital Management software, $1,103,825 has been proposed. The Department of Driver Services calls for $454,044 for additional operating expenses for three new customer service centers.

GEORGIA LEGISLATIVE AAPI CAUCUS PRESS CONFERENCE

On Jan. 17, the Georgia Legislative Asian American Pacific Islander (AAPI) Caucus, a bipartisan bicameral caucus, held a press conference to announce leadership and legislative priorities for the 2023 Legislative Session. Comprised of 11 members from both the Georgia Senate and the Georgia house, the AAPI Caucus highlighted priorities such as increasing Asian American voter engagement and in-state tuition initiatives for all graduates from Georgia high schools. The caucus looks forward to working with other minority caucuses in addition to their key initiatives.

GOV. KEMP ANNOUNCES SENATE FLOOR LEADERS

On Thursday, Jan. 19, Gov. Brian Kemp announced his floor leaders for the 2023-2024 General Assembly. Sen. Bo Hatchett (R-Cornelia) will continue to serve as a floor leader, having been previously named in 2021. Sen. Mike Hodges (R-Brunswick) has been named as a Senate Floor Leader.

Stoking the fires of wokeness

When the talk turns to left-wing “woke” ideology on college campuses, I sometimes say I was there at the creation. I basically resigned my first academic job over it. Clearly it was quit or get fired — basically for having the wrong perceived identity and a congenital resistance to moralistic cant.

This was a New England university English department during the ‘70s. Things started off uncomfortably, with a flamboyantly gay administrator making a show of telling people he’d hired me as a “hunk.” To object would be “homophobic,” so I kept quiet.

There were many similar embarrassments, such as a colleague at a department function inquiring after my “pretty little wife” in a sneering tone, as if being a Southern girl made her a trivial person unworthy of serious attention. Having been raised in Little Rock, she was also presumed to be racist by definition. People patronized her to her face. Mostly, she kept such incidents to herself for fear I’d do something crazy.

These weren’t ordinary New Englanders, I hasten to add. Only academics. Elsewhere, people asked her questions just to hear her accent. And while she won’t like me bragging on her, Diane was always near the top of any class she enrolled in and earned graduate fellowships despite being seriously cute. We’d been introduced by the dean of the graduate school.

OK, enough. It soon became clear that the personal was indeed the political, as the left-wing jargon of the era had it, and that I was the wrong kind of person. A self-styled “radical” colleague once commiserated that it must be hard for an “aristocratic Southerner” like me to deal with the university’s enlightened racial climate.

I am an Irish Catholic from Elizabeth, New Jersey. But I was also under formal investigation for failing a Black student who’d submitted no term paper and failed to show up for the final exam. I had failed her partly as a means of determining if she was still alive; I never wanted to break a bereaved parent’s heart by awarding a passing grade to somebody who’d died.

I was grudgingly exonerated, but the handwriting was on the wall.

After we moved to Diane’s hometown, I taught more Black students in one semester than during three years in New England. Because I played pickup basketball in the gym, half of the school’s varsity team ended up in my class.

But that’s another story. I ultimately decided I’d chosen the wrong profession and got into journalism, where skepticism works better than dogmatism.

So now comes the reaction. Weary of moralizing professors, Republican politicians are promising to use government power to shut them up. In Florida, Gov. Ron DeSantis hopes to establish himself as a white nationalist alternative to Donald Trump

Vote favored landowner, not city residents

Dear Editor:

The City Council meeting held Tuesday, Jan. 17, 2023, was, to say the least, a big disappointment. Councilmember Anthony Henderson proposed “initiating a text amendment regarding proposed Alcovy Road Overlay District and allowing the property to remain as M2 zoning and to permit the mixture of land uses (Industrial, Commerical, Multi-Family, and Townhouses).” Let me explain. The proposed “text amendment” would allow the property owner/ developer to take the property, currently zoned M2 (heavy industrial), and allow for the development of commercial and high density residential to occur in these areas under the current zoning of M2. This would mean any protections allowed in the zoning of commercial or high density residential to be forfeited, not holding the developer to any restrictions with regards to buffers or setbacks typical for these types of zonings. The text amendment, while allowing these restrictions to be circumvented, also allows the developer or property owner to make any future alterations without having to inform adjoining property owners or neighbors of those changes. In essence the developer is given “a blank check.” This is what happened to the recent Town Center which has strayed far from its initial proposal that was to be high-end retail with a Publix, and commercial/ business center including “sit-down” restaurants such as Cracker Barrel or Texas Roadhouse for example, rather than a grocery store (for which we are grateful) and just scattered outer parcels with no comprehensive planning, and a cluster of apartments which do very little to serve the community at large. Councilmember Fleeta Baggett objected to the proposal asking that it be tabled until all members were present. Her proposal was met with harsh opposition, however. She stated it was the job of the councilmembers to heed the concerns of the opposition offered by constituents present and not pass without further discussion and research. Councilmember Morgan supported the proposal stating that he wanted growth and had rather see development over cows in a pasture. Mayor Horton offered objection based on the fact the City has not completed its

I grew up in such a simple time. From the time I was 6, I manned the cash register at my family’s grocery store.

Here’s how it worked. Let’s say I sold a box of Tide, priced at $1.99. I would add the 4% sales tax, and the total was $2.07. End of transaction. There were no questions, and there was no confusion.

I could say the same thing about everything I purchased. I still have my ticket stub from a Charlie Daniels concert. It cost 20 bucks. By mail, by phone, or in person, I spent exactly that, 20 dollars.

There was a sticker price on every car I bought. I would negotiate for a slightly lower price, tax was added, and the car was mine.

I could spend a night in a hotel. The sign said $69. At checkout, the clerk would add the sales tax, and I was back on the road. The world seemed to run pretty smoothly back then.

Not today. My sons are in their 30s, and they have never known a world without fees. Some of those fees are clearly spelled out, and others are hidden.

I don’t know who invented these fees, but that evil genius is probably on a beach he owns, charging outrageous fees to all who wander on his property.

Recently, my sons and I decided to renew a family tradition that was interrupted during the pandemic. We scheduled some dates to fly down to Florida, spend a couple of nights at an AirBNB, rent a car, and catch some Atlanta Braves spring training games. As we began the planning process, I started keeping track of all the quoted prices.

The flights were listed at a certain amount, as was the room, the car, and the game tickets. I rounded it off to a total of about a thousand dollars. One of my sons was given the assignment of putting together the final package, and (spoiler alert!) it came out to about twice as much as I originally predicted.

Why? You know the drill. The airlines tack on fees for everything but the flight attendants’ shoes. The AirBNB adds charges for a cleaning fee, a service fee, and taxes that evidently furnish a computer for every student, teacher, and alligator in the state of Florida. The car rental company, which once quaintly charged $29 bucks a day for a four-door land boat, now slaps on administrative fees, processing fees, and upgrade fees if you prefer a vehicle that can accommodate more than two tiny Olympic gymnasts.

And of course, the game tickets. Much has been said and written about Ticketmaster in recent weeks, since half of America spent a full week tying up their laptops and multiple phones in a futile effort to buy Taylor Swift tickets without forfeiting their homes and their children.

The long ago 10-dollar ticket to a spring training game that neither team even cares about winning is now multiplied times 10. PLUS the convenience fee, the internet fee, the venue fee, the mailing fee, and as various jokesters have said, the fee-fi-fo-fum, and the “because we can” fee.

The last line sums it up. They do it, because they can. Now you ask, is there hope? Will our government watchdogs shut down these scams?

Let me answer your questions with excerpts from three different articles. First, the Associated Press quoted the Government Accounting Office. “These fees are not part of the ticket price, meaning they can easily go unseen until it’s too late for the consumer to shop around.”

Also, according to the Tuscaloosa (Alabama) News, “The Federal Trade Commission says companies cannot hide important information from consumers to trick them into buying goods and services.”

And the Washington Post reported, “The government may soon require that hotels include these fees, which supposedly cover extra amenities, in the initial price they quote, rather than waiting until checkout.”

There! You see, help is on the way. Oh, I forgot a few important details. Those articles were published in 2010, 2015, and 2016. If you want actual changes in the laws, your elected officials may require an additional fee.

Federal Bureau of Investigation

Newton native named to lead Chicago FBI office

news@covnews.com

CHICAGO — Newton County native Robert W. “Wes” Wheeler Jr. has been named the special agent in charge of the FBI’s Chicago Field Office by Director Christopher Wray.

Wheeler, son of Anne and Bob Wheeler, most recently served as the chief of staff to the executive assistant director of the Criminal, Cyber, Response, and Services Branch at FBI Headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Prior to joining the FBI, Wheeler was a special agent of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation. He joined the FBI in 1999 as a special agent and was assigned to the Sherman Resident Agency (RA) in Texas, a satellite of the Dallas

Field Office. Wheeler worked a wide variety of criminal matters in Sherman. In 2002, he was assigned counterterrorism duties in the Plano RA of the Dallas Field Office and also served with the North Texas Joint Terrorism Task Force. In 2006, Wheeler joined the protection detail for the U.S. attorney general and transferred to Washington. In 2007, Wheeler began teaching new agents as an instructor at the FBI Academy in Quantico, Virginia. He also deployed to Kabul, Afghanistan, for several months in late 2009 to work kidnapping matters as a member of the Major Crimes Task Force. Wheeler joined the Counter-Improvised Explosive Devices Section of the Critical Incident Response Group at FBI Headquarters as a team leader in 2012. He was promoted to chief of the Counter-IED Readiness Unit in CIRG in 2015 and also served as the chief of the National Explosives Task Force. Wheeler was promoted in 2017 to supervisory special agent over the National Capital Response Squad in the Washington Field Office (WFO). In 2018, he led a WFO international terrorism squad focused on the continental United States and Middle East-based threats. He was promoted in 2020 to WFO’s assistant special agent in charge of the Mission Services Division, covering workforce development, applicants, security, and special inquiry background investigations. In 2021, Wheeler returned to headquarters as a section chief in the International Operations Division, focusing on global readiness and legal attaché operations in Europe, Eastern Europe, and Eurasia. He became chief of staff in the Cyber, Criminal, Response, and Services Branch in 2022.

by picking fights with teachers and professors at Florida’s public universities about race and gender. He has openly boasted that under his leadership, “Florida is where ‘woke’ goes to die.” Recently he banned an Advanced Placement course on African American studies from being taught in the state’s schools because it is “inexplicably contrary to Florida law and significantly lacks educational value.”

Whoever wrote that has no idea what “inexplicably” means. However, it’s clear that DeSantis thinks it’s legitimate to use government power to muzzle people he disagrees with. He’s a culture warrior of uncommon zeal. In one online commenter’s words, what offends his supporters is “anything to do with African Americans, the eternal grit in their oyster for which no pearl will ever appear.” The federal judge who issued an injunction blocking the enforcement of DeSantis’ ballyhooed “Stop WOKE Act” for violating the First and 14th Amendments quoted George Orwell: “If liberty means anything at all, it means the right to tell people what they do not want to hear.”

Evidently, DeSantis aspires to win the electoral votes of the same Deep South states that supported George Wallace in 1968, plus Florida. Nationally, however, it’s a dead-bang loser. Closer to home, there’s the newly elected Arkansas governor and former Trump administration head prevaricator Sarah Huckabee Sanders. She’s another right-wing politician invoking the word “freedom” to mean people who disagree with her need to shut up, or else. Sanders has issued executive orders (ayatollahs call them fatwas) banning critical race theory from being taught in Arkansas schools, although there’s zero evidence of it happening. She’s promised to rid the state of classes that make students feel guilty for being white. Some wonder what Sanders has planned for the museum near her alma mater, Little Rock Central High, commemorating the signal event in the state’s history -- when President Dwight Eisenhower dispatched the 101st Airborne to stop a white racist mob from preventing nine Black students from enrolling. There’s even a sculpture commemorating the bravery of the Little Rock Nine on the state capitol grounds. As a Catholic schoolgirl at the time, my wife wasn’t involved in the racist protests. But she has always felt embarrassed about those events, and we sent our sons to Central High. completed its assessment of the current and proposed sewerage expansion necessary to meet the needs of development which were voiced by the City Manager, Tres Thomas, who had plans for meeting with developer the following day to discuss further. Unfortunately, the mayor did not have a vote however due to the absence of Council member Keck in the need of a tiebreaker. Pressing on without any further details of the development or facts concerning resources for the development, Council members Kenneth Morgan, Charika Davis, and Anthony Henderson voted to approve initiating the text amendment. While

I do not object to growth as it is a necessary part of our community, it should be done with careful planning and purpose. This proposal gives away far too much power and position from the city and residents in favor of the landowner/ developer. In my opinion, this was reckless and without public interest but rather private interest in the landowner/ developer. This city deserves better representation than what was on display at this council meeting which can be viewed in its entirety on the city of Covington website soon.

Georgia General Assembly

Senate bill seeks to regulate third-party food delivery

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — Legislation establishing regulations for the fast-growing third-party food delivery industry in Georgia has been introduced in the General Assembly. Senate Bill 34 is an outgrowth of a Senate study committee chaired by Sen. Elena Parent, D-Atlanta, that held several meetings last summer and fall to talk about an industry that has no federal oversight and only patchwork state and local regulations. Third-party food delivery was virtually non-existent before the pandemic closed restaurants to in-person dining. Apps including Uber Eats and DoorDash sprang up so quickly and grew so rapidly that health regulators couldn’t catch up, resulting in complaints from customers of unsanitary practices. The industry also ran afoul of restaurant owners, who complained third-party food deliverers were running ads featuring their names without authorization, touting relationships that didn’t exist. Senate Bill 34 would put an end to such practices in Georgia, prohibiting third-party food companies from advertising non-existent connections with restaurants and requiring them to enter into contracts with restaurants before picking up and delivering food from those facilities. The legislation also would require vehicles used for third-party food delivery to be clean. No smoking or vaping would be allowed inside delivery vehicles, and pets would be prohibited unless they are service animals. Food containers delivered via a thirty party would have to be closed, sealed and tamper resistant. Thermal containers would be required when necessary to keep food at the proper temperature.

Skelton's passion for Rams football 'non stop'

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — When Josh Skelton first arrived in Newton County, he was a fresh-out-of-college, 23-year old just starting his coaching profession. He was hired to be the defensive backs coach as well as recruiting coordinator.

Eleven short years later, Skelton now finds himself at the helm of the Rams' football program.

Skelton's rise to the top is the product of his hard work.

"This is a win for all the guys who play their role to the best of their ability," Skelton said. "Whatever my role has been, I've tried to be the best at it. As head coach, nothing is different in terms of the mentality. We're going to try to be the best at it."

As defensive backs coach, Skelton helped groom numerous high profile athletes.

Current NFL players like Tay Gowan (Philadelphia Eagles) and Jacobi Francis (Houston Texans) are benefactors of Skelton's coaching. Then, there's Nyland Green who is part of the back-to-back national champion Georgia Bulldogs' roster along with Audavion Collins at Mississippi State.

Skelton's work as recruiting coordinator surpasses the defensive backs room.

That was on display at Newton's Early National Signing Day on Dec. 21, 2022.

Three-star players Justin Benton, Tristan Thompkins, Olan Robinson and Anthony Bynum each signed Division I athletic scholarships. In addition to those signings, Skelton played a pivotal part in Diondre Glover and Keyshawn Blackstock's transfers to Gardner-Webb and Michigan State, respectively.

Skelton has taken great pride in assisting high school athletes make it to the next level and beyond.

"I took getting our kids recruited personally," Skelton said. "And I'll continue to do anything I can to give them an opportunity to play after high school."

Last summer, Skelton was promoted to defensive coordinator following Spencer Fortson's departure to become Alcovy's head football coach.

Newton's reputation for the "Blue Swarm" defense hardly missed a beat with Skelton leading the unit.

The Rams averaged 21 points surrendered in 2022 (2021's average was 17 points), which also featured four games where they held their opponents to 14 points or fewer.

Now, Skelton will no longer just be leading one group or unit, but the entire football program.

Athletic director Vincent Byams mentioned how whatever success the Rams achieve in the future will be made easier with the community's help.

"He has a great vision for the program," Byams said. "And what he's going to need is that support, not only on the inside with the leadership here, but he's going to need the alumni and financial support. We believe we have a coach that's going to get us there, but he's going to need that support to help us get over the hump."

The first thing Skelton has to tackle is spring practice, then summer practice and, before too long, the start of the 2023 season will be back around.

Nevertheless, Skelton is excited about what this next chapter of his career holds.

"In front of the panel, I wanted to speak my passion," Skelton said. "I wanted to show the board and the panel that this isn't a job for me, it's my passion. I'm a seven day a week guy and I non-stop think about these guys and the community."

"I feel like I've done a lot for the Newton community and I feel like this is the next step for me to do more."

his preparation process. Before every game, Spear listens to music and "gets hype" while aiming to shoot 25-50 made jump shots. But working on his jump shot isn't the area he has seen the most improvement. "I learned last year it was very hard for me to take criticism," Spear said. "I feel as if I had to play a bigger part not only as a player but a player coach this year. I also learned how to talk to my teammates & encourage them without just breaking them down but also building them up." Spear also aspires to make his mark on Alcovy's track team in Eastside has just three games remaining on its regular season slate: Jan. 31 at Flowery Branch, Feb. 3 versus Winder-Barrow and Feb. 4 versus Social Circle. The Region 8-AAAAA tournament will be held at Winder-Barrow High School on Feb. 13, 15 and 17.

the spring. That doesn't take away from his future goals on the hard-court. After high school graduation in May, Spear plans to attend college to play basketball while majoring in digital marketing. Further down the road, Spear wants to play overseas and travel the world. However, Spear is excited to see how the Tigers finish the year, especially since it's his senior season. "A lot of people in the community don't understand how it feels to have such a young team," Spear said. "But some people rise to the challenge and others shy away from the light."

ball season. Alcovy won its first region title in seven years while Eastside and Social Circle made a run in Columbus, finishing toward the top of state. Social Circle girls soccer won its first state title ever in program history last season and Eastside girls soccer maintained its tradition of playoff qualifications. Right now, with basketball season in full swing, you have the Eastside girls team knocking off higher ranked opponents. Then there are Alcovy girls amid a strong turnaround and have the potential to have an impressive season.

There are many more examples inside and out of Newton County I could point to, but I believe you get the gist. So, I urge all of us to not look at females in sports — whether playing or working — as "less than" because they're not. They deserve as much of the prominence and prestige of being in sports like men do. And by altering our thinking and perspective, we as men might actually learn a thing or two about sports. Eagles regaining stride

phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Two weeks ago, the Eastside Eagles hit a substantial bump in the road during a season that was promising. It lost two straight which was preceded by a four overtime victory.

Head coach Dorrian Randolph said following the Social Circle loss on Jan. 21 that his players were just tired.

A week later, though, the Eagles seemed rejuvenated and are back to their winning ways.

On Tuesday, Eastside cruised to a 71-34 win over Clarke Central and a 58-38 win against Jefferson.

Randolph believes his team has gotten back on track, but he was hesitant to go all in, contingent on what his team does to finish out the regular season.

"As long as we keep up that energy and effort, we're down that path again," Randolph said. "Tuesday is really going to tell us, because we have to go to Flowery Branch. I heard it's a tough place to play. If we can come away with that one, the next time I talk to you I'll tell you, 'Yeah. I think we're there.'"

Last Friday's defeat of Jefferson improved the Eagles to 18-4 overall with a top place 8-2 Region 8-AAAAA record.

On Tuesday, Eastside heads to Flowery Branch followed by a home matchup with Winder-Barrow. It closes the season in non-region action against Social Circle on Feb. 4.

Two of the Eagles' final three games will be at home, in a gym Eastside calls, "The Eagles' Nest."

Randolph recognized the importance of having a strong home-court advantage and how it's helped the Eagles succeed throughout this season.

That was on display, too, on Friday.

"Tonight was probably the biggest crowd we've had [in the new gym]," Randolph said. "The athletic director said to me, 'Hey, it's starting to come.' It's not there yet where I would like it to be, but the kids are starting to come and support. And that, in turn, makes the players feel good and play harder."

SENIOR SHOT

White's three-pointer lifts Lady Eagles over Jefferson

Eastside senior guard MehKyla White (5) launches a three-pointer over Jefferson's Delaney Dewitt (2) to break a 61-61 tie and put the Lady Eagles up for good with 15 seconds left in a thrilling finish. Eastside defeated Jefferson 66-61 Friday.

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — On a night that was dedicated to honoring the Eastside Lady Eagles' senior class, one senior shined the most in the biggest spotlight.

Mehkyla White displayed her "clutch gene" to help Eastside earn a 66-61 win over the Jefferson Lady Dragons on Friday night.

As the clock was ticking under 20 seconds left, Jailyln Williams swung a pass to Mehkyla White at the top of the key. Without hesitation, White collected the pass, stepped into her shot with poise and the ball went through, hitting nothing but net.

Eastside's student section and fans went crazy in the Eagles' Nest while Jefferson was calling a timeout.

Whatever play the Lady Dragons drew up didn't work to set up a tying shot. Instead, Morgan Sanderra stole the possession away and raced down the court to put the finishing touches on Eastside's victory.

While the ending was pretty spectacular, the Lady Eagles' start was lackluster.

From the opening whistle — after Jefferson won the tip and two passes later converted the layup — Eastside trailed.

At the end of the first quarter, actually, the Lady Eagles found themselves down 26-9.

Eastside then outscored the Lady Dragons in the second to trim the deficit to 10 points.

In the third quarter, however, it didn't seem like the Lady Eagles would eat any further into Jefferson's advantage. Each team went back-and-forth in that eight-minute span, with the Lady Eagles winning that frame 11-8.

But, Eastside flipped the script in the fourth quarter compared to what transpired in the first.

At the 4:46 mark, Sanderra's offensive rebound-turned-layup tied the score up for the first time since it was 0-0 at tipoff.

In total, the Lady Eagles outscored Jefferson 25-9 in the fourth to complete the 17-point comeback.

During the majority of the comeback, Sanderra made her presence known. And, while White made arguably the most important shot of the night, Sanderra did everything from scoring to rebounding and everything in between to contribute.

In fact, Sanderra scored 12 of her 14 points in the second half, which was the second-most on the team Friday night.

It was Jailyln Williams who had the most points, scoring 18. White was behind Sanderra with 10 points and Aysia Spivey recorded COVINGTON, Ga. — The Alcovy boys basketball team has a lot of young talent that has emerged as future stars of the program. But there is one upperclassman to help foster those underclassmen's potential — Kendarrius Spear.

Taking on that role has been important for the senior guard.

"I feel like my season has been great so far," Spear said. "I was able to get the younger class ready for the upcoming season."

One of the ways Spear has led the Tigers has been through his voice. And, prior to this season, he didn't comprehend how impactful being vocal is on the team.

"I feel like I can speak up more for my team," Spear said. "I never understood how much my voice means to my younger team until now."

The biggest thing that drives Spear in his favorite sport is his competitive nature. That's why he's been enthralled with being on the court since seventh grade.

However, the top motivation for his individual growth on and off the court transcends the sport.

"A lot of people where I'm from don't make it out," Spear said. "A lot of people around me are stuck in a cycle that I personally want to be the first to break. I also couldn't let my great grandmother and auntie down."

Knowing this makes Spear intentional in

Let's not downgrade women's place in sports

Last Friday, I was courtside inside Eastside's gymnasium watching the Lady Eagles face Jefferson in a Region 8-AAAAA game. The Lady Eagles trailed by as many as 17 points in the first quarter, but they came back to defeat the Lady Dragons 66-61.

The most important shot came from senior Mehkyla White who gave her team its first and only lead of the contest with a clutch three-pointer less than 20 seconds left. It was a truly remarkable sight to see a tough, tenacious Lady Eagles' squad take down the No. 2 team in their region in such fashion.

Watching that game play out boggles my mind when I think that, once upon a time, local community members often asked why I "wasted my time" covering each of our schools' girls basketball games.

Yes, that happened last year, which was my first basketball season reporting in Newton County.

There would be many instances where people would say to me, "The boys game is the main event." Well, that wasn't the case Friday night at Eastside.

You're probably sitting there wondering why I'm sharing this. It's because Feb. 1 — which is the publication date this column will publish — is National Girls and Women in Sports Day.

In my opinion, hearing comments-disrespecting girls basketball teams and their games is not the only time I encountered this.

In fact, when I was getting my start in sports media/journalism, this was an issue.

Throughout my four years of high school, I would announce my alma mater's girls and boys high school soccer matches.

The girls game would begin at 5:30 p.m. followed by the boys who usually start at around 7:30 p.m.

While doing so, I would often get asked, "Why are you announcing the girls game?" My naive response was always, "Because they're playing the game, too."

Usually, the next thing out of that person's mouth was, "It's just the girls playing so I don't see the point."

Admittedly, it took me a while to realize what people like that were saying.

Then, when I began college — particularly when I began my coursework in the prestigious Grady Sports Media Program at the University of Georgia — I got even more of a front seat to this type of thinking.

My female colleagues would often be faced with people treating them as less than while trying to report on sports simply because of their gender. They would tell me stories and/or I would witness the treatment firsthand.

I see it on a too regular basis on social media, too.

There'll be people tweeting at female reporters saying stuff like: "Why do we have a woman reporting on our team?" "She doesn't know what she's talking about." "If you didn't play the game, I don't care what you say."

That thinking is simply incorrect, in my opinion, ladies and gentlemen.

Women have just as much right to have a career (no matter the field) in sports as men do.

Throughout my career, I've been blessed to work with and cover many remarkable women whose passions lie in sports.

I've even learned a lot myself about sports — from a general sense as well as the journalism perspective — by simply being around those individuals.

And that boggles my mind why there are so many people out there today thinking "women don't belong in sports."

In fact, some of the best sporting events I have covered in Newton County and beyond have revolved around girls athletics. To double down, the last few pieces of hardware were captured mainly by female led teams.

Indulgence done devilishly right

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

If asked to describe the favored foods of Valentine’s Day in a single word, “decadent” might prove the most apt descriptor. Foodies and non-foodies alike recognize that Valentine’s Day and chocolate are intertwined, making the day an ideal time to indulge in something decadent. This Valentine’s Day, couples can share their love for decadent delights by working alongside one another to whip up this recipe for “Devil’s Food Layer Cake” from Elisabeth M. Prueitt and Chad Robertson’s “Tartine” (Chronicle Books).

Devil’s Food Layer Cake
*Yields one 10-inch cake;
12 to 16 servings*

Cake layers
1-3/4 cups all-purpose flour
4-1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1-1/4 cups cocoa powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup unsalted butter, at room temperature
2-3/4 cups sugar
5 large eggs
1-1/4 cups full-fat buttermilk

Chocolate Ganache
24 ounces or 32 ounces bitter-sweet chocolate
3 cups or 4 cups heavy cream
1/2 cup plus 1 tablespoon caramel

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Butter and lightly flour the sides of two nine-inch cake pans, knocking out the excess flour. Line the bottom of each pan with parchment paper cut to fit exactly. To make the cake layers, sift together the flour, cornstarch, baking powder, baking soda, cocoa powder, and salt into a bowl and set aside. In the bowl of a stand mixer fitted with the paddle attachment, beat the butter on medium-high speed until light and creamy. Slowly add the sugar and continue to beat on the same speed light in color and fluffy. Add the eggs one at a time, mixing well after each addition until incorporated before adding the next egg. er and scrape down the sides of the bowl with the rubber spatula. With the mixer on low speed, add the flour mixture in three equal batches alternately with the buttermilk in two batches, beginning and ending with the flour mixture. Stop the mixer, scrape down the sides of the bowl and then mix again for another few seconds. Divide the cake batter evenly between the prepared cake pans. Bake until the top springs back when lightly touched or a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean, about 45 minutes. Let the cakes cool completely in the pans on a wire rack. When the cakes are cool, turn them out by inverting the pans, and then turn the cakes upright. Using a serrated knife, slice off the domed portion from the top of each cake to make the tops flat. If you want to decorate the cake with crumbs as described in the headline, reserve the slices for making the crumbs. To make the crumbs, preheat the oven to 250 degrees. Line a baking sheet with parchment paper or a nonstick liner. Break up the cake slices and spread on the lined baking sheet. Place in the oven and toast until completely dry, about 1 hour. Let cool completely, then transfer to a food processor or blender and process until finely ground. Sift the crumbs through a medium-mesh sieve. (Don’t use a sieve with fine mesh or the crumbs won’t pass through.) Set aside. To make the ganache, place the chocolate in a heatproof bowl, using the smaller amount of each ingredient if you will be decorating the cake with crumbs and the larger amount if you will not. Bring the cream to just under a boil in a small saucepan. Pour the cream over the chocolate. Let the mixture sit for a few minutes without stirring until the chocolate is partially melted, and then stir with a rubber spatula until smooth and shiny. To assemble the cake, split each cake into two layers to make four layers in all. Transfer one layer to a serving plate. Using an offset spatula, spread three tablespoons of the caramel evenly over the cake layer. Spread a thin layer of ganache (about 1/4-inch thick) over the caramel. Top with a second cake layer, and again spread with three tablespoons caramel and then a thin layer of ganache. Top with the fourth cake layer. Refrigerate the cake until the center seems firm, one to two hours. Cover the remaining ganache with plastic wrap and leave at room temperature for finishing the cake. Remove the cake from the refrigerator. Using the rest of the ganache, frost the top and sides of the cake with the offset spatula. If you are going to coat the cake with the toasted cake crumbs, the cake must be evenly frosted and the ganache must be soft enough for the crumbs to adhere. If the ganache has hardened, use a kitchen torch to soften it slightly, or put the whole cake into a 400-degree oven for 10 seconds or so, just until the chocolate looks shiny. Sprinkle the crumbs evenly over the top of the cake, then tilt and turn the cake so that they spill over the sides, adhering to them as they fall. If you are using only the ganache and not the crumbs, the ganache will be thicker on both the top and sides. Serve the cake at room temperature. To store, cover tightly and keep in a cool place for up to four days. It is not necessary to keep this cake in the refrigerator.

11 tips for cooking fish

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

Many Christians are preparing for Lent, when repentance, fasting and abstinence are part of the journey toward the celebration of Easter. It’s common to avoid animal products like beef, pork, lamb, and poultry during Friday fasts in Lent, with most people turning to fish to serve as the protein in their meals. Fish and other seafood may not be part of individuals’ normal dietary routines, which can lead to uncertainty regarding how to prepare and cook the ingredients they find at the supermarket or local fishmonger. These tips can set the course for success when cooking fish.

1. Seafood should have a mild, fishy aroma. If it is overpowering, the fish may be spoiled. It’s acceptable to ask the person at the fish counter how long the fish has been there. In regions where fish has to be transported inland great distances, it may be best to purchase frozen fish so it’s less likely to be past its prime.
2. Most fish is cooked when the center is opaque and the fish flakes easily with a fork. Fish can be fried, poached, steamed, baked, or grilled.
3. Baking fish is one of the easier methods to master, particularly if you’re prone to overcooking fish. Set the oven to 450 degrees to cook the fish fast and evenly. Thin fillets need around eight minutes, while thicker cuts may require 15 to 20 minutes.
4. Resist the urge to manipulate the fish too much; otherwise, it will fall apart since it is very delicate. Try to flip only once. 5. Pat the fish dry before cooking, as extra moisture can cause the fish to steam instead of sear, resulting in a mushy final product. 6. Choose the right fish for the recipe. For example, a chowder or paella will require a more sturdy fish, such as cod, while a more delicate fish will fall apart if simmered. 7. If you want crispy skin on fish, start it in the pan with the skin side up. Afterwards when you flip the fillet, it will crisp nicely. 8. Choosing a variety of seafood in a recipe might mean managing different cooking times. Investigate your ingredients and figure out when to add them to the mix. Shrimp or mussels, for example, cook rather quickly, so they tend to be added during the final phase. 9. If you will be frying fish, make sure not to overcrowd the pan so that the temperature remains consistent and will produce crispy results. 10. Watch for bones. Some fish, including trout and salmon, have a double rib cage, and that means small pin bones. Remove the bones by pressing the flesh with your fingers and using a tweezer to grab the pin bones. 11. For more professional flipping results, purchase a fish spatula, which can get underneath fillets without tearing them apart. This advice can put anyone on the road to successful fish preparation.

Trevor Noah is the host Sunday as CBS and Paramount+ present the 65th Annual Grammy Awards.

Grammy Awards keep things musical with 65th annual ceremony

Music has helped the world keep moving, even in the most challenging of times ... and that's a fact that the latest Grammy Award nominations reflect.

The recording industry's 65th annual ceremony will be presented Sunday, Feb. 5, on CBS and Paramount+ from Los Angeles' Crypto.com Arena. Trevor Noah returns as host for the third consecutive year, and the list of those who are up for the honors is led by a veteran of the business, since Beyoncé tops the list with nine bids. That number now ties her with someone she knows quite well – her husband, Jay-Z – as the artists who have scored the most Grammy nominations over time, with 88 each.

Among the other performers who have multiple Grammy chances this time are Kendrick Lamar with eight, and Adele and Brandi Carlile with seven each. They're followed by a number of talents with six Grammy opportunities apiece: DJ Khalid, Future, Terius "The-Dream" Gesteelde-Diamant (also known as Terius Nash), Randy Merrill and Harry Styles.

Here are the contenders in several of the categories in the 65th Annual Grammy Awards.

Record of the Year: "About Damn Time," Lizzo; "As It Was," Harry Styles; "Bad Habit," Steve Lacy; "Break My Soul," Beyoncé; "Don't Shut Me Down," ABBA; "Easy on Me," Adele; "Good Morning Gorgeous," Mary J. Blige; "The Heart Part 5," Kendrick Lamar; "Woman," Doja Cat; "You and Me on the Rock," Brandi Carlile featuring Lucius

Album of the Year: "Good Morning Gorgeous (Deluxe)," Mary J. Blige; "Harry's

House," Harry Styles; "In These Silent Days," Brandi Carlile; "Mr. Morale & the Big Steppers," Kendrick Lamar; "Music of the Spheres," Coldplay; "Renaissance," Beyoncé; "Special," Lizzo; "30," Adele; "Un Verano Sin Ti," Bad Bunny; "Voyage," ABBA

Song of the Year: "abcdefu," GAYLE; "About Damn Time," Lizzo; "All Too Well," Taylor Swift; "As It Was," Harry Styles; "Bad Habit," Steve Lacy; "Break My Soul," Beyoncé; "Easy on Me," Adele; "God Did," DJ Khaled featuring Rick Ross, Lil Wayne, Jay-Z, John Legend & Fridayy; "The Heart Part 5," Kendrick Lamar; "Just Like That," Bonnie Raitt

Best New Artist: Anitta; Omar Apollo; DOMi & JD Beck; Samara Joy, Latto; Maneskin; Muni Long; Tobe Nwigwe; Molly Tuttle; Wet Leg

Best Rock Song: "Black Summer," Red Hot Chili Peppers; "Blackout," Turnstile; "Broken Horses," Brandi Carlile; "Harmonia's Dream," The War on Drugs; "Patient Number 9," Ozzy Osbourne featuring Jeff Beck

Best R&B Song: "Cuff It," Beyoncé; "Good Morning Gorgeous," Mary J. Blige; "Hrs & Hrs," Muni Long; "Hurt Me So Good," Jazmine Sullivan; "Please Don't Walk Away," PJ Morton

Best Rap Song: "Churchill Downs," Jack Harlow featuring Drake; "God Did," DJ Khaled featuring Rick Ross, Lil Wayne, Jay-Z, John Legend & Fridayy; "The Heart Part 5," Kendrick Lamar; "pushin P," Gunna & Future featuring Young Thug; "Wait for U," Future featuring Drake & Tems

tonight's PICKS

Ryan Seacrest

Schoolhouse Rock! 50th Anniversary Singalong

8:30 p.m. on WSB

"Conjunction Junction, what's your function?" We'll have to wait and find that one out in this new special celebrating the 50th anniversary of the beloved educational series. Catchy and classic, this singalong features host Ryan Seacrest and a host of celebrities performing classics such as "Three Is a Magic Number" (Black Eyed Peas), "I'm Just a Bill" (Jason Biggs and Jenny Mollen), "Unpack Your Adjectives" (The Muppets and Fortune Feimster) and many more.

NOVA

9 p.m. on WGTV

The new episode "London Super Tunnel," tells of how more than 10,000 engineers and construction workers toiled for more than a decade to build a brand-new subterranean railroad under London: the Elizabeth Line. One of Europe's largest engineering projects, they confronted immense challenges, from building platforms and courses the size of aircraft carriers beneath London's busiest shopping venue, to designing, outfitting and testing a fleet of 70 new high-speed trains. Facing delays and cost overruns worsened by the pandemic, engineers and technicians race to create 10 new stations, operate new trains and test out new 13-mile twin tunnels.

The Ark

10 p.m. on SYFY

Taking place 100 years in the future, aboard the Ark One — a star-cruising vessel carrying humanity's last hope at survival — the ship sustains damage and heavy casualties in this new science fiction series. The remaining passengers must band together and complete the mission of finding a new planetary home, the destination of which is more than a year away. Christie Burke, Richard Fleeshman, Reece Ritchie, Stacey Read, Ryan Adams, Christina Wolfe, and Shalini Peiris co-star.

tonight's PICKS

Paula Newsome Groundhog Day 11 a.m. on AMC

Christmas figures in more movies than you can shake a candy cane at, but Punxsutawney Phil's day in the sun has inspired just one. Bill Murray stars in this 1993 romantic comedy as an obnoxious TV weatherman forced to re-live Feb. 2 until he gets it right ... mending his abrasive ways and winning the lovely Rita (Andie MacDowell). Chris Elliott and Brian Doyle-Murray also star.

Ghosts

8:31 p.m. on WGCL

It's like a metal detector, only for ghosts. Sam (Rose McIver) and Jay's (Utkarsh Ambudkar) assistant, Freddie (Mike Lane), purchases ghost-hunting equipment when suspicious activity leads him to suspect the B&B might be haunted. And Sasappis (Román Zaragoza) risks losing his relationship with Jessica (Nichole Sakura) — and his ride — when Freddie sells his car, on the new episode "Ghost Hunter." Brandon Scott Jones, Richie Moriarty, Danielle Pinnoch and Asher Grodman also star.

CSI: Vegas

10 p.m. on WGCL

Catherine's (Marg Helgenberger) day off with her granddaughter gets interrupted when a woman wakes up from a four-year coma and remembers details from the night her sister died in the new episode "When the Dust Settles." Paula Newsome, Matt Laura, Mandeep Dhillion, Jay Lee, and Ariana Guerra also star.

Killers Anonymous

11 p.m. on STARZ

Tensions mount at Killers Anonymous, a support group for killers, as the members of the group try to unravel the mystery behind which one of them is responsible for the assassination attempt on a U.S. senator that has the police authorities in the city on high alert. When new truths surface, alliances and betrayals emerge as the session explodes into violence and chaos in this 2019 thriller. The cast includes Gary Oldman, Jessica Alba, Suki Waterhouse and Tommy Flanagan.

Furious 7
8 p.m. on TBS

The huge success of the action-movie franchise continued with this 2015 edition, the last to feature co-star Paul Walker. An enemy (Jason Statham) is out for vengeance against Dom (Vin Diesel) and his hard-driving comrades, who venture to various locations including Tokyo and Abu Dhabi in a bid to get the villain before he gets them. As usual, the stunts are spectacular. Kurt Russell, wrestler Ronda Rousey and Lucas Black (“NCIS: New Orleans”) also appear.

Deliverance
8 p.m. on TCM

An ordinary rafting trip turns into a nightmarish journey for four businessmen in this 1972 drama. Burt Reynolds, Jon Voight, Ned Beatty and Ronny Cox star as the four men who brave the rapids of a backwoods river. But there is more to brave than they bargained for when they encounter two evil mountain vagrants (Billy McKinney, Herbert Coward). John Boorman directed the adaptation of James Dickey’s novel. The film airs as part of an evening of movies starring Voight.

Young Rock
8:30 p.m. on WXIA

It’s a walk down memory lane as Pat Patterson (Kiff VandenHeuvel) finds love in Boston, Andre the Giant (Matthew Wilzig) meets his destiny in Paris and Peter Maivia (Maua Fuifui) teaches Sean Connery how to fight in Dwayne’s (Dwayne Johnson) tales of their younger years in the new episode “Once Upon a Time In” Joseph Lee Anderson, Stacey Leilua, Bradley Constant, Ana Tuisila and Adrian Groulx also star.

celebrity q&a

BY GEORGE DICKIE

Mike Piazza

How to you prepare for a show like “Special Forces: World’s Toughest”?

I think this show, this experience pushed you past the point of exhaustion unlike anything probably all of us ever experienced. I mean, even the athletes here who have trained professionally, because I think the biggest thing I sort of came to realize was that when you get to a point of pure exhaustion, then you go into some alternative survival mode, and from there, it’s fight or flight, really, and you find yourself reacting in ways that you never thought were possible, both good and bad for that matter.

At the beginning of the show, the one thing they tell you is, no matter what you go through, you’ll come out of this a changed person. What was the most eye-opening change you saw?

I think for me was just the strength in everyone’s vulnerability. I think everyone showed how vulnerable they were ...

OF ‘SPECIAL FORCES: WORLD’S TOUGHEST’ ON FOX

When you’re on a team, you have to be vulnerable and you have to celebrate your strengths but also rely on your teammates. And that was the biggest thing for me was the respect that I found for everyone and for people that don’t come from an athletic background – you know, the entertainers and the people here that we wouldn’t really necessarily think that were athletic. ... But to go into a scenario like this and show how incredibly tough they were, they earned my respect. And that, to me, was kind of the biggest eye opener.

I AM CASA

TRACI MASK
Mom, Wife, CASA Volunteer
 If not me, then who? I have always been passionate about helping children find their voice and be heard. As a two time cancer survivor, I was no longer able to work, but I still wanted to make a difference. You don't have to have experience in child welfare, you just need to want to make a difference in a child's life. I mean, who wouldn't want to do that, right?

tonight's PICKS

Eloise Mumford and Dan Jeannotte

Sweeter Than Chocolate

8 p.m. on HALL
Lucy's chocolate shop has been in her family for generations — along with the secret recipe for Cupid chocolates. Rumor has it that if you eat one on Feb. 14, you'll meet your soulmate. Lucy (Eloise Mumford) isn't sure if it's magic or just romantic optimism. But Dean (Dan Jeannotte), a skeptical TV reporter, doesn't like the idea of a business taking advantage of romantic desperation. Together, they find that the truth can be complicated — especially when it comes to their own hearts in this 2023 romance.

Gwen Shamblin: Starving for Salvation

8 p.m. on LIFE
As the founder of the Tennessee-based Remnant Fellowship Church and the Weigh Down Workshop — a massively successful Christian-based diet program that preached the virtue of a slim waist and the power of prayer for weight loss — Gwen Shamblin (Jennifer Grey) was a rare woman to lead a Southern megachurch. As her church grew across the nation, so did her iron-fisted grip as its leader — accumulating power and money, while creating a larger-than-life public persona with dramatically teased and towering hair in this 2023 docu-drama.

tonight's PICKS

Eli Manning

2023 Pro Bowl Games

3 p.m. on WSB, ESPN

Fans will see something completely different when they tune into what was the NFL's version of an All-Star Game. Gone is the actual tackle football game between the top vote getters in the AFC and NFC. In its place will be a series of skills competitions and a non-contact flag football game, which will air with this broadcast from Allegiant Stadium outside Las Vegas. Peyton and Eli Manning will coach the teams and players expected to participate include Patrick Mahomes of the Kansas City Chiefs, Quinnen Williams of the New York Jets, Nick Chubb of the Cleveland Browns and Khalil Mack of the Los Angeles Chargers.

The 65th Annual Grammy Awards

8 p.m. on WGCL

Music's biggest night! It's a battle of powerhouse songs and artists at this year's Grammys as host Trevor Noah has to keep things moving in some very competitive categories. Song of the Year pits GAY-LE's "abcdefu," Lizzo's "About Damn Time," Taylor Swift's "All Too Well," Harry Styles' "As It Was," Beyonce's "Break My Soul," Adele's "Easy On Me," DJ Khaled's "God Did," Kendrick Lamar's "The Heart Part 5," Bonnie Raitt's "Just Like That" against each other. Beyonce leads the nominations with nine, tying the record for the most-nominated artist of all time.

Worst Cooks in America

8 p.m. on FOOD

You can eat it, but you just probably shouldn't. Chefs Anne Burrell and Darnell Ferguson bring in former finalists Peachez and Marti to compete in a culinary showdown with questionable quality with the remaining recruits in this Season 25 finale. The finalists then use their new skills to create a three-course, restaurant quality meal in hopes of winning the $25,000 prize.

tonight's PICKS

Peyton Manning

Extreme Sisters

9 p.m. on TLC

They say blood is thicker than water, and with triplets Hannah, Katherine and Nadia, that might be putting it mildly, as the trio live by their own rules. Then, sisters Anna and Lucy take doll parenting to the next level, Jessica has an unexpected idea to get even closer to Christina, and Vee doesn't like Ashley's choice for a dad. Family dramas may get better with sisters on the new episode "Triple Trouble."

C.B. Strike

9 p.m. on HBO

Tackling his first-ever cold case, private detective Cormoran Strike (Tom Burke) is approached by a woman asking for help finding her mother, Margot Bamforough, who went missing under mysterious circumstances in 1974. But despite the slim chance of success, he takes the case, adding to the long list that he and his partner Robin Ellacott (Holliday Grainger) are currently working on in the Season 5 premiere episode "Troubled Blood."

Maine Cabin Masters

9 p.m. on MAGN

Imagine coming back to open your beloved camp after a long winter to find it had been completely flooded. Chase, Ashley, Ryan and the rest of the Cabin Masters are called in when a family finds their camp a wee bit soggy than they remember leaving it. As the Masters pull back what remains of the floor, problems multiply as they find powder post beetles, dry rot and more in the new episode "Camp Over Troubled Waters."

History's Greatest of All Time With Peyton Manning

10:03 p.m. on HIST

Each week, the famed retired quarterback, Peyton Manning, hosts and executive produces this new series that counts down the greatest of all-time in a single category. Each of the eight, one-hour episodes range from the greatest general to the greatest inventor or President.

tonight's PICKS

President Joe Biden

CBS News: State of the Union 2023

9 p.m. on WGCL

It's a different world and a different political scenario from the last time President Joe Biden addressed the nation in the State of the Union Address. Continuing inflation, a divided Congress and the war in Ukraine have created challenges in every corner. Expect to hear his thoughts on the debt ceiling, the economy, infrastructure and the aforementioned Ukraine, while spelling out his vision for America in 2023.

The Real Housewives of New Jersey

9 p.m. on BRAVO

Last season tested loyalties and reignited feuds, and in the Season 13 premiere the ladies of the Garden State are learning that when it comes to planting seeds, you reap what you sow. Everything from marriage to friendships to families have been pushed to the limit, but will this be the year to finally repair what's been broken? These relationships will need more than just magic to survive, but one thing is for certain: The ladies of New Jersey, including Teresa Giudice and Melissa Gorga, will let nothing stand in their way.

History's Greatest Heists With Pierce Brosnan

10:03 p.m. on HIST

Since the creation of currency, people have done anything and everything in their power to get their hands on it, including formulating some of the most devious and high-stakes heist attempts of all time. This new series uses dramatic recreations, dynamic storytelling and cutting-edge visual effects, alongside first-person witness accounts from the people who were there, including the notorious Lufthansa Heist of New York, the half-billion-dollar Gardner Museum art theft, the Antwerp Belgium diamond heist, and others. Pierce Brosnan hosts.

Barbara Walters: Where her TV career began

Q: I know that Barbara Walters was on "Today" on NBC before she went to ABC, but was that her first job in television? – Dan Wright, via email

A: She actually started with NBC on a local level, as a writer-producer of a youth-oriented series done at the network's New York station. From there, Walters progressed to a similar behind-the-scenes role at "Today," getting an increasing number of on-air assignments that focused on women's issues.

She eventually was named a "Today" co-host in 1974, after more than a decade with the program, then was hired away by ABC News two years later to co-anchor the weeknight evening news with Harry Reasoner. Walters then joined her former "Today" colleague Hugh Downs on ABC's "20/20" in 1979, adding to her dynasty of work that has been celebrated so widely in recent weeks.

Sela Ward

Q: I enjoy Alana De La Garza on "FBI," but why did Sela Ward leave the show? – Chris Adams, Pembroke Pines, Fla.

A: At the time, Primetime Emmy winner Ward's family resided primarily in Mississippi, so working on the New York-set CBS drama meant a lot of commuting for her ... a likely reason she decided to leave the show after its first season. Interestingly, Ward herself was a replacement for someone who had been cast as the FBI team's leader – Connie Nielsen, who appeared only in the pilot episode.
