Infrastructure

County receives $212M for water, sewer upgrades

By GABRIEL STOVALL
gstovall@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Newton County has received what Chairman Marcello Banes called "a big win" for the area in the form of a federal American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) drinking water grant totaling $212.7 million.

The grant application, which was written by Newton County staff from water resources and finance, was officially awarded last Tuesday, Jan. 31, and will provide Newton County Water Resources, Newton County Water & Sewerage Authority and the city of Covington funds to do extensive renovations to five key pieces of the county's water resources system.

The news of the grant first came in the form of an official letter from Banes who called the grant "a point of pride for Newton County and its outstanding partnerships." According to Banes' letter, the grant will be used toward improvements to the county's drinking water infrastructure as a response to the area's growth trends.

"This selection of Newton County and its partners for this $212,783,781 grant also the value of our strong community partnerships and proves that by working together, we are able to make big things happen," Banes wrote. "The work that will

Celebrating Black History Month

Monday is deadline for History Month parade

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Monday, Feb. 13, is the deadline to be part of the second Newton County African American History Parade Celebration.

The event is scheduled for Feb. 18 at 10 a.m. The final parade route has not been announced but will roughly follow routes of other parades beginning at Legion Field on Mill Street and traveling through the Covington Square and back to Legion Field.

Those wanting to register a group or groups to participate can email Ann Marks Bargie of the Newton County Historical Committee on Black Heritage Preservation at newtonhistoricalcommittee@gmail.com for an entry form.

Bargie said the parade hosted about 70 entries in its first year in February 2022 and would likely limit entries to about 100 this year.

Organizers are asking for a $20 donation from each entry to benefit and support the annual scholarship program and other charities of the nonprofit Newton County Historical Committee on Black Heritage Preservation.

The 2023 national theme of Black History Month is "Black Resistance" to honor those "African Americans have resisted historic and ongoing oppression, in all

Celebrated centarian Martha Malcolm dies at 106

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

OXFORD, Ga. — A Covington centarian whom the community helped celebrate birthdays in recent years has died.

Martha Malcolm died Jan. 22 with her daughter and two granddaughters by her side, stated an obituary from Caldwell & Cowan Funeral Home.

Malcolm spent her final years at Merryvale Assisted Living in Oxford “surrounded by many special friends and caretakers that became like family.”

It was at Merryvale that the community helped her celebrate her birthday in recent years.

In October, Malcolm sat comfortably in an oversized pink chair with a smile on her face as she celebrated her special day. Family members and friends sang “Happy Birthday” to the birthday girl twice, shared their favorite “Martha-isms” and went all out to show their love to their friend and beloved family member.

Two members of the Newton County government also helped her celebrate, including Board of Commissioners Chairman Marcello Banes and Interim County Manager Jarvis Sims who read a proclamation that declared Sept. 29 as “Martha Malcolm Day” in Newton County.

When she turned 104 in September 2020, she again celebrated with the community in a drive-by birthday event.

Singer Harry Connick Jr. called her and sang “Happy Birthday” to her — four years after featuring her on his nationally syndicated talk show.

Connick met Malcolm after featuring a video of her as part of a montage of videos of viewers doing a dance featured on his TV show.

Friends had submitted a video of her doing Connick’s “Back it Up” dance.

Malcolm had lived in Newton County for 77 years. She and her husband, Marion, moved from Morgan County to Newton County in 1945.

She retired from Covington Manufacturing Co. after 25 years while Marion was a mechanic for almost half a century — working more than three decades for an auto dealership before he went out on his own.

The couple moved to a house on what was then a dirt road — now Ga. Hwy. 36 — and lived there for 57 years, a family member said.

Malcolm also was a member of High Point Baptist Church for 70 years “and spent her entire life devoted to serving others,” said the obituary.

She later lived with a daughter near Lake Varner until the daughter’s death in 2017, which prompted the family to move the centarian to Merryvale.

Visitation for Malcolm was at Caldwell & Cowan Funeral Home on Jan. 28. Flowers are accepted or donations may be made to Children’s Healthcare of Atlanta at www.choa.org/donors-and-volunteers.

forms,” according to information from The History Channel.

However, Bargie said her organization's parade simply is trying to "bringing awareness" to the history of Black Newton Countians — and Americans in general. The Covington parade does not have a theme and is not encouraging participants to include a theme of any kind on parade entries, she said.

In fact, Bargie said the parade promises to be a diverse event featuring entries ranging from the Newton and Alcovy high schools’ marching bands, to Latin American and Caribbean groups.

"Anyone in Newton County is welcome to participate," Bargie said.

Lineup will begin at Legion Field at 3173 Mill St. NE in Covington at 9 a.m. Those entering vehicles should describe on the form approximately how many people or vehicles will be in a group, organizers said.

The Newton County Historical Committee on Black Heritage Preservation also is hosting its annual Black History Scholarship Gala “Legends” Tribute Feb. 18 at 6 p.m. at Turner Lake Complex, 6185 Turner Lake Road NW.

The program is dedicated to the memory of longtime Newton County Community Band and middle school band director T.K. Adams Sr.

Guests of Honor include Leila Elkins, Raymond Hammonds, Billy Middleton, Ned Clark, Daniel Jackson and Edward Blake. For more information, call 404-861-0707, 678-485-7540 or 678-296-7314.

Poll shows support for Medicaid expansion

By REBECCA GRAPEVINE
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — A new poll out Friday showed Georgians support using some of the state’s record surplus to improve social services by expanding Medicaid and increasing funding for education.

The Georgia Budget and Policy Institute (GBPI), a left-leaning think tank in Atlanta, commissioned the poll of 1,099 Georgians through the University of Georgia’s School of Public and International Affairs.

The poll found 71.4% of Georgians support full Medicaid expansion. Notably, it showed 56.4% of Republicans and 70% of independents favor full Medicaid expansion, indicating broad bipartisan support for the proposal.

Expanding Medicaid would cover about 500,000 Georgians at a relatively low cost to the state, advocates contend.

However, Republican leaders have said they will not consider full Medicaid expansion during this legislative session. Instead, the state will implement GOP Gov. Brian Kemp’s limited expansion this summer that will provide Medicaid to low-income Georgians who meet certain work or education requirements.

Robert Louis Davis

Lester Lackey & Sons Funeral Home

Home-Going Celebration for Mr. Robert Louis Davis was Saturday, February 4, 2023, at Sims Chapel Baptist Church, 61 Sims Chapel Road, Covington, Georgia 30014.

Pastor Emeritus Cecil J. Rozier, Sr.; Reverend Fay Smith, Eulogist.

Robert Louis Davis, born on August 1, 1938, in Atlanta, Georgia passed away on January 26, 2023. He was the youngest of three children born to the late Edward and Emma Davis. Robert Louis had one brother, John Wesley Davis and one sister, Cora Lee Davis. He was named after one of his mother’s brothers, Robert Benton. Robert Louis was always called Louis.

In 1939, when his mother returned to Newton County, Louis, his brother and sister attended Washington Street School. Louis later joined the United States Navy and spent time in San Diego, California, where he became a member of a church.

After his honorable discharge from the Navy, he attended classes taught by Mr. G. Hillman in Covington to hone his skills in carpentry. Louis had several jobs before retiring as a contractor with Atlanta Gas Light Company in 2000.

Robert Louis married Nellie Grier in the early 1960s and became a stepfather to four children: Elsie, Patricia, Johnny and Shirley (Shavin). Later, 19 grandchildren were added to this family.

Louis had one biological daughter, Cynthia, who married Douglas Jones. Cynthia and Douglas have two daughters, Cynquita and Dokita. Two grandchildren, Jordan and Gekynle (GK), complete this household where Louis had lived for the past two and one-half years. Louis was part of a loyal and devoted family in Porterdale.

Prior to living with the Jones’ family, Louis had lived in Conyers with his mother and his sister since 2009.

Along with his hard-working and loving mother, Louis, his brother and his sister grew up with maternal grandparents, Davis and Cora Benton, in Almon and in Covington with their mother. He had several maternal aunts and uncles: Eddie Roy Benton, Bessie Kate Wallace, Plez Benton, Leola Baker, Moses (Fat) Benton, Robert Benton, Arbie Benton, Rose Anna Kelley, and Ralph Benton. All are now deceased. He had one paternal uncle, John Wesley Davis, deceased.

In regards to his living relatives, Robert Louis leaves to mourn his passing Cora and Chyna Fennoy, nieces; John Walter and Kenzo Jacoby Oden, nephews; Deacon Arthur Farley, “adopted” brother; Rev. Ocie Cunningham, “adopted” sister; Willie Albert Manning, stepsister; several cousins and friends.

Interment was in the Church Cemetery. Repast was in the Church Fellowship Hall.

The family of the late Mr. Robert L. Davis would like to express their sincere gratitude to each of you for your love and kindness shown during their hours of bereavement. May God continue to bless each one of you. Special thanks to Letice Benton.

the Professional Association of Georgia Educators hosts on the state level.

Newton County School System’s three high school STAR Students and their STAR Teachers included:

ALCOVY — STAR Student Savannah Stanton and STAR Teacher Michele Nichols.

Stanton is a senior at Alcovy High School, and she was named Alcovy High School’s Star Student after scoring 1230 out of 1600 on the SAT. She has taken AP Computer Science Principals and World History at Alcovy High School. She has also completed 42 credit hours and is currently working on seven more hours at Georgia State University’s Perimeter College.

In her spare time, Stanton tutors different math subjects such as Algebra I, Algebra II, and Calculus.

Stanton has applied to Florida State University, the University of Chicago, and the University of Georgia. Her goal is to major in mathematics with a minor in chemistry. She would like to earn a master’s degree with an emphasis in Actuarial Science and work her way up to a high position at an actuarial firm.

She selected her 11th-grade American Literature teacher, Michele Nichols, as her STAR Teacher.

“I selected Mrs. Nichols because she was the first teacher I ever had at Alcovy, along with my most memorable,” Stanton said. “Her class was always a pleasant learning environment, along with a safe space where I feel like I could talk to her about anything.”

This is Nichols’ second time being named a STAR Teacher.

EASTSIDE — School and NCSS STAR Student Joseph Cloer and STAR Teacher Ryan Allred.

Cloer is a senior at Eastside High School and NCCA STEM Institute. Cloer is both Eastside High School’s 2023 STAR Student and Newton County School System’s 2023 STAR Student after posting the highest SAT score in the district — 1470 out of 1600.

Cloer has taken several Advanced Placement courses during his high school career, including World History, U.S. History, Language & Composition, Physics, Seminar, Literature, Statistics, Computer Science, and Macroeconomics.

He is also very involved in extracurricular activities, including Cross Country, TSA, and Theater.

He has served as the captain of both the math team and the academic team and is a member of both the Oxford Acting Company and the Oxford Youth Singers.

Cloer has already been accepted to Kennesaw State University. However, his ultimate goal is to attend Georgia Tech, where he would like to pursue a major in computer science with a minor in math. His career goal is to become a programmer or computer designer.

Cloer chose engineering teacher, Ryan Allred, as his STAR Teacher.

“Mr. Allred has been there for me and helped me figure out what I want to do in the future. He’s the one who guided me on the path to computer science,” Cloer said.

This is Allred’s fourth time being selected a STAR Teacher.

Cloer is now eligible to move on to the regional competition for the award.

NEWTON — STAR Student Dhakiya Knights and STAR Teacher Laura Lambert.

Knights is a senior at Newton High School and the NCCA STEM Institute. She is also Newton High School’s 2023 STAR Student, after scoring 1450 out of 1600 on the SAT in one sitting. During her high school career, Knights has participated in numerous extracurricular activities including HOSA, Beta Club, National Honor Society, Tennis and the STEM Council. She is also on the Associate Board of Directors at the Newton College & Career Academy.

Knights has taken several AP classes, including Psychology, World History, U.S. History, Language & Composition, Calculus, Biology, Literature, Macroeconomics, Seminar, and Statistics.

She has applied to numerous universities, including Yale, Columbia, New York University, Duke, Johns Hopkins, Mercer, Georgia College & State University, Georgia State University, Wesleyan, Baylor, Augusta, Emory, Cornell, and Harvard.

Her plan is to major in either neuroscience or psychology, depending on which school she ultimately attends. She would also like to minor in communications. Knights' career goal is to become a physician and biomedical researcher, she said.

Knights chose her Advanced Placement biology teacher, Laura Lambert, as her STAR Teacher.

“I have had Ms. Lambert all four years and through it all she has been one of my top supporters. She is always there pushing; she’s a driving force yet down to earth and humble. She’s a teacher I can sit down and have a conversation with and be seen,” Knights said.

This is Lambert’s second time being named a STAR Teacher.

High school seniors must have the highest score on a single test date on the SAT to obtain the STAR award nomination.

The SAT is a national college entrance exam some colleges and universities utilize to measure critical thinking skills students need for academic success in college. Each section of the SAT is scored on a scale of 200 to 800, with the current version of the exam worth a total of 1600 points.

In order to qualify for the STAR Student award, the student must also be in the top 10% or among the top 10 students of their class based on grade point average.

Samantha Fuhrey, superintendent of Newton County School System, said, “These STAR students are indicative of the high-quality, high-caliber students we have in Newton County.

“We commend Savannah, Dhakiya and Joseph for staying the course and demonstrating what one can accomplish through hard work and discipline. In addition, we thank the parents, teachers, and leaders who have supported these students through the years.”

Slain activist’s family wants answers

By REBECCA GRAPEVINE
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA – The parents of slain activist Manuel Esteban Paez Teran called on the Georgia Bureau of Investigation (GBI) Monday to provide answers about the events leading up to the activist’s death last month.

Paez Teran – who went by “Tortuguita” – along with other activists was protesting the proposed building of a large police training center in a forest in southern DeKalb County. Groups critical of the police and environmentalists have opposed the building of the Atlanta Public Safety Training Center, or “Cop City,” since 2021 by setting up encampments in the 85-acre forest.

On Jan. 18, a law enforcement “clearing operation” turned violent. A Georgia State Patrol officer was shot and seriously wounded and Paez Teran was shot and killed.

A private autopsy commissioned by the family indicated that 26-year-old Paez Teran was shot at least 12 times by several different firearms, attorney Brian Spears said Monday.

“Multiple officers riddled his body with bullets,” Spears said.

There is no camera footage of the event because none of the officers present were wearing body cameras, GBI spokeswoman Nelly Miles said last month. Bodycam footage of the aftermath does exist.

The attorneys called on the GBI and other law enforcement agencies to release any and all audio and video footage – including drone and helicopter footage – of the events of Jan. 18.

DeKalb County District Attorney Sherry Boston recused herself from the investigation last month because her office has been involved in a task force related to the training facility.

be done with these funds will truly be a community effort utilized by Newton County, the City of Covington and the Newton County Water and Sewage Authority.”

Based on verbiage in the grant application obtained by an open records request by The Covington News, the grant will allow the county to “improve its drinking water quality, drinking water supply and its water reclamation treatment and collection system by implementing a regional initiative to make these overdue infrastructure improvements.”

The grant's three main objectives listed in the application are to “provide water services in underserved/unserved areas of the County where population has increased,” as well as increasing capacity due to economic development and growth and to “replace infrastructure which has exceeded the functional lifespan.”

Since at least 2018, according to the grant application summary, multiple industrial projects and additions have either opened or are planned for the Newton County area. Among them listed in the grant application are the Nishinbo expansion which was announced Sept. 7, 2018, and forecasted to bring 100 jobs; and a General Mills expansion announced Sept. 8, 2020.

Additionally, phase one and phase two plans that brought Facebook and Baymare facilities to the area were also listed.

These, along with the planned arrival of electric vehicle manufacturer Rivian — expected to bring 7,500 jobs to Newton County — along with the groundbreaking Absolics’ new glass substrate facility are just the most recent signposts of massive economic and industrial growth coming to the area.

And, of course, industrial growth gives way to residential growth. According to the grant application’s summary, the county’s water and sewage systems, as is, will soon become overwhelmed by the expected increase.

Dubbing the project the, “Regional Infrastructure Resiliency Initiative for Newton County,” it’s projected to serve zip codes 30014, 30016, 30025, 30054, 30055 and 30056 with a service area population of 115,355, according to July 2021 U.S. Census numbers. The total price tag for the Resiliency Initiative is about $216.4 million. The grant application summary states that the remaining funds needed will come “from local sources.”

More specificly, according to the grant application, the following are the five specified targets for the initiative’s upgrades: Cornish Creek Water Treatment Plant, the East Newton Water Transmission, the Scott Emmons Water Reclamation Facility, Industrial Reuse Water Facility “and their related components to serve Rivian,” the City of Covington Water Reclamation Facility and the City of Covington Eastside Basin.

Two projects in particular — the Water Reclamation Facility improvements, and the Eastside Basin improvements — were specifically cited as integral to the county’s ability to continue future growth.

The Water Reclamation Facility improvements listed are the addition of a new mechanical bar screen, influential structure rehabilitation, replacing odor control structure, replacing aerators and the addition of a new equalization tank.

As for the Eastside Basin, its proposed modifications include replacing and upsizing the existing gravity sewer main. Extending the gravity main would also free up capacity by allowing the newly built Eastside High School’s sewer main to operate more efficiently.

The grant application summary states that, “without these improvements, Covington will no longer be able to accept new industrial or residential projects and will limit growth within the City and Newton County.”

The ARPA Act of 2021, which is also called the COVID-19 Stimulus Package, is a $1.9 trillion stimulus bill signed into law by President Joe Biden on March 11, 2021. It was designed expedite the nation's economic recovery after the pandemic.

The county government is the wholesale provider of treated water for most of Newton and parts of Jasper and Walton counties. It pumps the raw water from Lake Varner and treats it at its Cornish Creek Water Treatment Facility before distributing it to residents of said counties.

In his letter, Baner also thanked Gov. Brian Kemp and the state Office of Planning and Budgeting.

Nikki Haley takes on Trump

More experience in executive governmental office. Greater command of global geopolitical issues. Better understanding of state prerogatives in the American federal system. Deeper commitment to local charitable undertakings. Earlier personal involvement in family business. In short: compares favorably with Donald J. Trump's 2016 profile as a presidential candidate.

Who says Nikki Haley — a onetime member of the South Carolina state legislature, a governor, chief delegate to the United Nations, and, as an Asian American woman, a pathfinder in American political life — can't compete with Trump for next year's Republican presidential nomination?

Not her colleagues at the United Nations; they respected her position and perspectives at Turtle Bay. Not the Republican inner circle in her state; they know she knocked off the longest-serving lawmaker in her state in a GOP primary. Not national Republican leaders; they watched her soar from last place to first in the gubernatorial primary that led her to the governor's mansion atop Arsenal Hill in Columbia.

And not Trump himself, who, when he selected her for the U.N. post shortly after winning the 2016 election, called her "a proven deal-maker," citing her "track record of bringing people together regardless of background or party affiliation."

Haley is the first Republican to challenge Trump; she will make her formal entry next week amid the exposed brick and hardwood floors of a Charleston venue called The Shed in a state Trump carried by nearly 12 points in 2020.

That will be an important marker in the 2024 campaign. More than a half-dozen other Republicans are contemplating, if not planning, an effort to win the Republican presidential nomination. Knowing Trump's inclination for sharklike attacks, none dared be first to jump into the water.

But now that Haley is plunging in, others may follow swiftly; look for former Maryland Gov. Larry Hogan to be the next to join the campaign. In presidential politics, where the race for funding and ground operatives is vital, to hesitate is to fall behind.

Sen. Tim Scott of South Carolina, who traveled in October to New Hampshire, site of the first primary, this month will be decamping in Iowa, which holds the first caucus. No one from South Carolina (where the temperature is 70 degrees as I write this) goes to Iowa (temperature at typing time: 7 degrees, wind chill minus 6 degrees) in February without presidential ambitions. (Footnote: It was Gov. Haley who appointed Scott to the Senate in 2013.)

Haley's tweet last week provided hints about the campaign she will run. "It's time for a new generation," she wrote. "It's time for new leadership. And it's time to take our country back. America is worth the fight — and we're just getting started."

No one steeped in American politics could fail to deconstruct those four sentences.

The "new generation" is an echo of John F. Kennedy's 1960 campaign. The phrase "new leadership" is a riff off Gary Hart's 1984 campaign slogan of "new ideas." The reference to "take our country back" is an allusion to a phrase the Tea Party movement employed in 2009 and that Trump used at a rally in Phoenix in 2015 ("Don't worry, we'll take our country back," he said in a speech about immigration). In fact, he used it repeatedly during his presidency, including in his Jan. 6, 2021, speech urging supporters to march to the Capitol ("Because you'll never take back our country with weakness, you have to show strength and you have to be strong.").

Haley's comment about America being "worth the fight" is classic Trump rhetoric, including the second half of that Jan. 6 imprecation ("you have to show strength"). The phrase about "just getting started" is an allusion to a 1970 song by the brother-and-sister music duo the Carpenters ("We've Only Just Begun") whose theme Ronald Reagan appropriated repeatedly, including in a late second-term radio address on education overhaul. It is, moreover, a variation on one of the 40th president's favorite reprise lines (which he used to soothe Republicans after the party's catastrophic 1986 midterm performance, when after losing eight Senate seats, he said, "Washington ain't seen nothing yet").

Trump and Haley have an unusual relationship. She criticized the Manhattan tycoon for his signature early proposal, calling his notion of banning Muslims from entering the country "un-American." She endorsed Sen. Marco Rubio of Florida in the critical 2016 South Carolina primary and then, in a nationally televised GOP response to Barack Obama's State of the Union address, called for her party to reject the "angriest voices."

No one, especially Trump, missed the meaning. He countered: "The people of South Carolina are embarrassed by Nikki Haley!"

But when she left the U.N. position, Trump said, "She's done a fantastic job, and we've done a fantastic job together." After the insurrection at the Capitol, she said that Trump had "lost any sort of political viability." Haley later said she wouldn't seek the White House if Trump planned a third presidential campaign. When she decided to run anyway, she contacted the former president. Trump said he told her to "go by your heart, if you want to run." Days later, he said Haley had decided to "follow her heart, not her honor."

Her positions on abortion (she spoke of "a baby's right to live, the most basic right there is" at the 2019 Susan B. Anthony List Campaign for Life gala) and taxes ("We will not produce the jobs our people deserve by placing higher tax burdens on our workers and our small businesses," she said at her 2011 gubernatorial inaugural) are in the sweet spot

Remembering Karen Carpenter, 1950-1983

Forty years ago this week, I was doing my radio show when I heard that Karen Carpenter had died.

We had no internet, so there were no sources of instant information, analysis, or gossip. We had an Associated Press teletype service with only the minimum facts. The popular vocal half of the Carpenter siblings was only 32 years old. I was numb.

By 1983, the Carpenters' time had pretty much passed. On my top-40 radio station, I hadn't played a Carpenters record in years, with the exception of "Merry Christmas Darling" which was in the stack of holiday records that every station played.

I was not yet a teenager when the Carpenters' run of soft-rock hits began. Their first release was a re-working of the Beatles hit "Ticket to Ride." It was performed as a ballad by Karen and her brother Richard, a gifted pianist and producer. I didn't particularly care for it.

The following year, they found the right formula. They took an old Burt Bacharach song called "Close to You" that had been recorded by several artists and made it their own. It soon went all the way to number one, followed by "We've Only Just Begun," which was originally a bank commercial. These were followed by a long string of hits in the 1970s.

Karen was special. Even though she was barely out of her teens, her voice had a very mature, womanly "lived in" quality. Karen often sang in a low, deep range, so when she sang about "Rainy Days and Mondays" always getting her down, she sold every word of it.

She could also brighten our day by singing about "The Top of the World" or reminiscing about the songs she and her brother grew up with, in "Yesterday Once More."

At their peak, the Carpenters were the hardest-working act in show business. Between 1970 and 1976, no one recorded more songs, appeared on more TV shows, or performed more live concerts, worldwide. It was not unusual for them to sell out a show in Chattanooga one week, go to Los Angeles to record an album the following week, and then host a prime time network TV special before jetting off to Japan to do a week's worth of shows. Eventually the breakneck schedule took its toll.

The siblings each battled their own demons. Richard took Quaaludes to get to sleep each night, and suffered from severe depression. Karen, once a normal sized healthy woman, began to lose weight at a frightening pace. When a British TV host observed her skeletal frame and quizzed her about it, Karen shrugged it off. "I'm just pooped," she said.

A few days after Karen's death, the medical reports confirmed what many had suspected. She had succumbed to heart failure brought on by her long, largely secret battle with a disease called anorexia.

I had never heard that word until after Karen's death. It made no sense to me. How could a beautiful, healthy woman

Secretary backs bill targeting senior exploitation

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — Georgia Secretary of State Brad Raffensperger urged the General Assembly Monday to pass legislation aimed at preventing the financial exploitation of Georgia seniors.

Senate Bill 84, sponsored by Senate Finance Committee Chairman Chuck

Brad Raffensperger

Hufstetler, R-Rome, would authorize financial advisors to delay transactions involving their elderly or disabled clients if they suspect fraud.

Financial exploitation of seniors has been on the rise since the pandemic struck nearly three years ago, Raffensperger said Monday during a news conference at the state Capitol.

“The COVID pandemic helped [drive] that rapid increase as you saw many people isolated from their support systems and under tremendous financial strain and worry,” he said.

Raffensperger said the rate of financial exploitation of seniors has doubled across the country since the start of the pandemic, with COVID-related scams accounting for more than $100 million in losses.

He cited a federal study that found U.S. financial institutions lost more than $3.4 billion to fraudulent criminal activity in 2020 alone.

The Securities Division in the secretary of state’s office handles complaints of financial exploitation. But those complaints often come too late, Raffensperger said.

“The money is usually gone well before we are notified,” he said. “Recovery is difficult.”

Senate Bill 84 is designed to avoid financial exploitation by letting financial advisors who spot something amiss in a pending transaction head it off.

“This bill will give financial institutions the tools to be preemptive instead of waiting until after the fact when the money may be gone,” Hufstetler said.

“There’s many horror stories of that out there, and we want to take care of them.”

The bill’s cosponsors include Republican Sens. Mike Dugan of Carrollton, Kay Kirkpatrick of Marietta, Ben Watson of Savannah, and Rick Williams of Milledgeville, and Democratic Sen. Jason Esteves of Atlanta.

Georgia House bill targets attacks on ‘critical infrastructure’

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — Legislation introduced into the state House of Representatives Monday would establish the crime of “interference with critical infrastructure” in Georgia.

House Bill 227, sponsored by Rep. Rob Leverett, R-Elberton, was prompted by a rash of attacks in recent months by gunmen on utility substations.

The most widely publicized was an attack on two Duke Energy substations in Moore County, N.C., in December that left about 45,000 customers without power for days.

Under the legislation, critical infrastructure includes electricity, water, sewers, telecommunications, internet, public transportation and public transit systems, hospitals, ambulances, emergency medical and rescue services, the military, police, Coast Guard, and prison and fire services.

The bill is being endorsed by Georgia EMC, the umbrella organization representing 41 electric membership corporations across the state, as a way to protect customers from service disruptions.

“People need electricity — and other critical infrastructure -- in their jobs, schools and homes for cooking, heating, communicating and even supporting medical treatments,” Georgia EMC spokesman Walter Jones said. “Would-be bad actors need to know that Georgia protects its citizens.”

The measure provides penalties of up to 20 years in prison for the most serious offenders, those who intentionally damage a form of critical infrastructure with the intention of disrupting service.

Intentionally interfering with the “proper operation” of a form of critical infrastructure is a lesser offense punishable by up to 10 years in prison.

In either case, the bill requires the offender to pay restitution for the damage.

Tampering with any form of critical infrastructure, such as preventing an electric meter from registering how much electricity a customer has used, would be a misdemeanor.

The bill’s cosponsors include House Majority Whip James Burchett, R-Waycross, and House Majority Caucus Chairman Bruce Williamson, R-Monroe.

In the months and years to come, a slew of news stories and TV movies spotlighted anorexia and its warning signs. Of course, it had been around before Karen, and it still is today. We now understand it a bit more, and we cheer those who have managed to cope with it, and those who have overcome it.

Recently I dusted off my old Carpenters greatest hits CD that I hadn’t touched in years. In some quarters it isn’t cool or manly for a guy to admit he’s a Carpenters fan. Let me repeat, I was (and still am, sort of) a rock ‘n roll deejay. People expect me to talk about the Stones, the Who, and U2. Not those syrupy love songs.

So this is my confession. I’m proudly listening to “Superstar,” to be followed by “Goodbye to Love” and “Only Yesterday.” Karen Carpenter is responsible for some of the greatest music ever recorded, and it still sounds great today. She did it all in only 32 years. I miss her.

Eagles hoping to return to winning tradition

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — East-side’s baseball program is steeped in tradition. The Eagles have grown accustomed to 20-plus win seasons, top two finishes in their region in addition to being mainstays in the state playoffs.

This year, however, the program welcomes lots of “new.” A new coach, Eastside alumnus Cody Walker, takes the helm this season, and with him, the return of many young players who will play on a brand new home baseball diamond.

Walker hopes these factors line up to just what the program needs at this pivotal moment.

“This is kind of like a foundational year,” Walker said. “There’s a new coach, a new field and some new guys coming in. It feels all new but, at the same time, these guys have helped me feel like part of them so quickly. So, it’s been easy to hit the ground running.”

All of that aforementioned tradition was lost last spring when Eastside had its worst finish since 2010 — the 2020 COVID-19 impacted season notwithstanding.

The Eagles finished 8-19 overall with a 5-9 record in Region 8-AAAAA, which caused them to miss the playoffs for the first time in eight seasons.

Nevertheless, Eastside has many components that give them hope for a return to its traditionally winning ways.

Walker could not pinpoint even a handful of individuals who are set to be the leaders this year. However, Walker doesn’t see that as a bad thing.

“We have a good core group of guys,” Walker said. “There’s a good group of seniors they’re being led by. Overall, we’re pretty young, and we’re feeling great.”

The Eagles will begin their fresh, new 2023 season on Feb. 13 when they hit the road to face Madison County. Then, they will compete in the Newton Cup Diamond Day against Alcovy and Newton on Saturday, Feb. 18.

Region 8-AAAAA play starts for Eastside when Loganville comes to town on March 10.

Walker is excited to see how the team performs in 2023.

“Anybody you see win any major championship doesn’t go through it with a breeze,” Walker said. “Even if we were the No. 1 team in the nation, there will still be hardships. It’s not about the good you do when you’re up, but how you respond when you’re down. And we’ll have some downs this season, that’s no secret, but it’s going to be how we bounce back to tell us what type of team we’re going to be.”

Tigers using last year’s success as ‘fuel’

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — In the spring of 2022, Alcovy Tigers baseball took a huge step forward as a program — they qualified for the state playoffs for the first time since 2013.

Alcovy was under the direction of Jimmy Hughes at the time but, between seasons, Kareem Hayes was promoted to the helm.

Hayes, who served as an assistant for one year for Hughes, wants to see the Tigers not just qualify for the playoffs in 2023, but also advance.

“We’re using [last year’s playoff berth] as fuel,” Hayes said. “It was a different experience for those guys, and that atmosphere was definitely different. But those guys now see what playoff baseball is like. We’re incorporating our practices and workouts like playoff baseball so they can get the understanding of what it’s like to play at that level.”

One of the reasons why Hayes believes Alcovy can do that is the amount of young talent returning from last year’s squad.

Players like Reece Payne, Connor Merrit, CJ Salmon and Hunter Parker were among the many names highlighted by Hayes as leaders for this year’s team. Then, there are the newcomers such as Chris Guillory and Dylan Lester who have already caught the attention of their new head coach.

Chris Salmon, Stephon Fryer and Henry Clay are assistant coaches for the Tigers, and they’re starting to see the potential in this year’s squad as well.

Something that Hayes has noticed, though, that makes this group special is the camaraderie it has developed in offseason workouts.

“They’re building a family and a brotherhood among themselves,”

File | The News
Alcovy is sitting on ‘ready’ as the 2023 baseball season.

Hayes said. “They pick up each other when they’re down, and that’s what we’re trying to build.”

Alcovy’s season commences on Feb. 13 when the Tigers take on Apalachee on the road followed by a home matchup with Apalachee on Feb. 15.

Three days later, the Tigers will host the Newton Cup Diamond Day with Newton and Eastside baseball.

Lastly, on March 13, Mundy’s Mill comes in to kickoff Alcovy’s Region 3-AAAAAAA slate of games.

Hayes is eager to see how his team competes against tough competition up and down the Tigers’ schedule.

“Everybody we have on our schedule is very competitive,” Hayes said. “They’re all great teams, especially in our region. All of the teams are coached by great men. And we plan to use the non-region schedule just to see where we’re at. When it comes time for region, we’ll be ready.”

were focused on getting it done,” Grimes said. “But this year it’s taken us a minute to get there. We’re still relaxed and I think we’ve gotten comfortable at the top. It doesn’t take much to get our focus back there, though.”

Geno Brown and Bruce Smith were mentioned by Grimes as leaders on this year’s team.

“[Geno] has grown so much as a leader on the team,” Grimes said. “And [Bruce] has come a long way and has improved a lot.”

Now, with the regular season behind them and the region tournament upcoming, the Bulldogs will shift their focus forward.

And, while Grimes is confident in his “We all need to be focused on one common goal,” Grimes said. “Until then, it’s not going to happen. But I have seen this year that, when we’re all as one unit, we can get there.”

in Region 5A-Division I — Social Circle hasn’t lost a region game since Feb. 18, 2021.

This is coming off plausibly Social Circle’s best season in program history going 30-1 overall, winning the Region 8A-Public championship and advancing to the Final Four of the Class A-Public state playoffs.

Its goal this year is to repeat as back-to-back region champions and make another run in the postseason. So far so good.

The Redskins have defeated Prince Avenue, Jasper County twice and Oglethorpe County. More importantly, Social Circle has endured a tough non-region slate this season.

It has played powerhouses such as Morgan County, Archer, Christian Heritage and Thomson.

Quin Jackson stressed the importance of learning from those games and high-pressured environments.

“We have to be tough and be ready for those types of moments,” he said. “That’s what the coaches have been helping us prepare for. We really have to be ready for that.”

Seven of the team’s 10 losses this season have been by 10 points or less — signifying how competitive this bunch is, even when not winning games.

Still, Quin Jackson is certain that he and his teammates have not played their best, complete game yet, but he believes the best is yet to come.

“We have to have the right mindset and expect that things are going to happen,” Jackson said. “We have to be ready to score, be disciplined and all of the above.”

Social Circle closes out its regular season this week against Prince Avenue on Tuesday and Oglethorpe County coming to town on Friday. Then the region tournament will follow and be held at Social Circle on Feb. 15 and 17.

Jackson and the entire Redskins’ team plan to use the sayings on the wall inside their locker room to help generate even better results moving forward.

In fact, the motivational words the players see everyday have the Redskins feeling ready for the challenges ahead as the postseason looms.

“We’ve been through this situation before, so we kind of know what to expect,” Quin Jackson said. “We just have to have the right mindset and get our teammates ready so we’ll have more success on the court.”

COVINGTON, Ga. — University of Georgia's football team aren't the only Bulldogs in the Peach State who are back-to-back champions. Covington Academy's basketball team is the defending, back-to-back GAPPS state champions.

In 2023, the Bulldogs are looking to make it three straight title seasons. Head coach Trell Grimes is not only optimistic concerning his team's chances, he's even more confident that Covington Academy can pull it off.

"This team that I have now is better than I had last year," Grimes said. "Last year we had more athletes, but this year we have more basketball players throughout the whole roster."

Covington Academy is currently 12-6 overall with a 6-3 record in Region 2 I-A. It has triumphed over teams like Nathanael Greene Academy, the Grace Christian Academy and HALO Academy.

A few key losses have plagued the Bulldogs, too. They suffered defeats against region foe Hills Academy along with non-region losses to Trinity Prep and Lanier Christian Academy.

Crutchfield was pleased with his performance on the state stage.

In his sophomore year, Crutchfield pointed to the amount of practice he does that helped get to this point early in his high school career.

There is also something Crutchfield does to assist with his mental approach to each meet.

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga. — R...E...S...P...E...C...T...Quin Jackson knows what it means to him.

Pardon the Aretha Franklin reference, but the late soul singer's most iconic song could be the best way to describe the main threat that runs through the Social Circle boys basketball program right now.

"You always have to have respect, because respect goes a long way," said Jackson, a 6-foot senior guard on the Redskins' team. "You gotta have respect for good things to happen to you. And I learned that throughout my Redskins career."

Respect is just one of many words plastered on the wall inside Social Circle basketball's locker room. Other words and phrases on display include "legacy," "play hard," "believe" and "compete."

All the words are in clear view throughout the locker room whenever the Redskins enter. And, while they may not look special to the average person, they mean something to the Redskins.

Those words are the program's foundational principles.

"We have to have visual reminders of what we're about every time we walk into our locker room," head coach Taylor Jackson said. "Those visual reminders help center ourselves even when we're just sitting there talking or they're getting dressed. It's going back to those basics of what makes you a good basketball player and ultimately a good team."

Those words were painted on the walls when former head coach Brian Anderson — coach Jackson was an assistant at the time — was first hired to lead the program a few years back.

And, though a few changes have been made in the program since that time, the message has never wavered.

Quin Jackson is one of the leaders on this year's team. Currently, the senior guard averages roughly 16 points per game for Social Circle.

Prior to this year, he admitted that the words on the wall didn't resonate with him. At this time in his career, however, the words jump off the wall.

"They really didn't have any meaning to me, because I was just a junior varsity player learning my way," Jackson said. "It's good to know now, and I can help the younger players learn what those words mean and how they stand out."

Jackson's play has helped the Redskins to a 13-10 overall record with an unblemished, 4-0 mark

Debate over certificate of need law coming

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA – State lawmakers have eased restrictions in Georgia’s certificate of need (CON) law over the years, making it easier for providers to build new health-care facilities or offer new medical services without proving the community needs them.

Now, a push is on to repeal the CON law altogether, bolstered by a six-figure ad campaign launched ahead of this year’s General Assembly session by Americans for Prosperity (AFP), a conservative advocacy group founded by the Koch brothers.

“Right now, state bureaucrats are middlemen, determining whether your town can get a new hospital or if your doctor can order a new X-ray machine,” said Tony West, the AFP’s deputy state director for Georgia. “Burdensome certificate-of-need laws are to blame.

“These laws force providers to get a government permission slip to open a new office or offer a new service. AFP-GA is calling on the legislature to repeal these laws.”

The upcoming debate under the Gold Dome promises to pit free-market advocates including the AFP against representatives of Georgia’s politically influential hospital industry, who warn that losing CON would be a disaster for health-care access, particularly in rural areas.

“A lot of out-of-state private equity money wants to come in and repeal CON so they can build new facilities,” said

Capitol Beat News Service

A push is on to repeal Georgia’s certificate of need law altogether, bolstered by a six-figure ad campaign launched ahead of this year’s General Assembly session by Americans for Prosperity (AFP), a conservative advocacy group.

Monty Veazey, president and CEO of the Tifton-based Georgia Alliance of Community Hospitals, which represents the state’s nonprofit hospitals. “[But] nobody’s going to build a hospital in a rural area where they can’t make any money.”

Georgia’s CON law was first passed in 1979 to comply with a federal mandate aimed at reducing health-care costs by avoiding duplication. About three dozen states currently have CON laws on their books.

Georgia lawmakers have gotten rid of some of the law’s restrictions since its original adoption. In 2008, the legislature exempted physician-owned ambulatory surgery centers with a single specialty from having to obtain a CON from the state Department of Community Health (DCH).

In 2013, the legislature limited the filing of objections to CON applications to existing hospitals within 35 miles of the proposed site of a new facility seeking a certificate of need.

The General Assembly came back again in 2019 and raised the capital and equipment spending thresholds requiring applicants to apply for a CON from $3 million to $10 million for capital expenditures, and from $1.3 million to $3 million for planned equipment purchases.

The 2019 legislation also exempted from the CON law planned acquisitions of existing health-care facilities that involve corporate restructuring.

While those changes to the law were made nearly four years ago, the DCH’s governing board didn’t adopt final rules implementing them until March of last year due to delays caused by the pandemic, said Anna Adams, executive vice president of external affairs for the Georgia Hospital Association. Because of those delays, it’s premature for lawmakers to consider further changes to CON, Adams said.

“Some of these items have not yet been implemented,” she said. “Let’s wait and see these work.”

It’s unclear whether legislation introduced into the General Assembly this year will call for a further loosening of restrictions in the CON law, an outright repeal, or both.

“There might be some smaller bites at the apple,” said Chris Denson, director of policy and research for the Georgia Public Policy foundation, a think tank that advocates free-market approaches to public-policy issues. “There are various ways to go about piecemeal reform.”

Kyle Wingfield, the foundation’s president and CEO, said one example of reforms to the law could be a further increase in the threshold for planned capital and equipment spending that triggers the CON requirement.

Denson said another would be allowing applicants for new ambulatory surgery centers to file only a letter of non-reviewability (LNR) with the state rather than a CON. Unlike applying for a CON, the LNR process does not allow third parties to contest a project, he said.

But Denson said he supports a full repeal of CON. He cited a recent study from the Mercatus Center, another free-market oriented think tank at Virginia’s George Mason University, that found states without CON laws have opened more new hospitals than CON states.

“Pennsylvania has a very similar rural profile to Georgia and hasn’t had a CON law in place since 1997,” he said. “Georgia has closed nine rural hospitals since 2005. Pennsylvania has closed five.

“With an outright repeal, you would see additional health-care facilities open up ... which would not only increase access but reduce costs.”

But Veazey said repeal of CON would simply add to an already high concentration of ambulatory surgery centers in areas that don’t need them and leave rural hospitals saddled with a patient mix heavily tilted toward patients without health insurance.

Georgia hospitals were forced to shell out $7.1 billion in uncompensated health care last year, up from $5 billion in 2021, he said.

“We have to serve all patients regardless of ability to pay,” Veazey said. “It’s not a level playing field.”

“Free-market approaches work for the hotel industry or restaurants,” Adams added. “Nobody is going to die if we don’t have as many restaurants in a county as we would like. ... Georgia already has access-to-health-care problems [repealing] CON is not going to fix.”

Gas Prices

Newton County’s average price drops 3 cents in a week

STAFF REPORT
news@covnews.com

ATLANTA — Newton County and Georgia’s gas price averages today, Feb. 6, dropped at the pump compared to a week ago.

Newton County’s average price for a gallon of unleaded regular gas was $3.36 — down 3 cents from $3.39 on Jan. 30, according to information from AAA-The Auto Club Group.

The county’s average price was higher than all its contiguous counties except Jasper where it was $3.41. The lowest price was found in Henry County at $3.28.

Metro Atlanta’s average price for unleaded regular was $3.34, also a decrease from a week ago. Average prices for other grades of fuel in Metro Atlanta were $3.72 for mid-grade, $4.08 for premium and $4.65 for diesel.

Statewide, drivers are now paying an average price of $3.34 per gallon for regular unleaded gasoline which is 5 cents less than a week ago, 52 cents more than a month ago, and 10 cents more than this time last year.

It now costs $50.10 to fill a 15-gallon tank of regular gasoline. Drivers are now paying almost $2.00 more to fill up at the pump compared to a year ago.

“Georgians finally felt relief at the pumps this weekend,” said Montrae Waiters, AAA-The Auto Club Group spokeswoman. “Despite rising gas demand across the U.S. and recently elevated oil prices, the growth in total supply has helped to limit pump price increases.”

Since last Monday, the national average for a gallon of regular gasoline has decreased by 3 cents to $3.47.

Data from the Energy Information Administration showed gas demand rose from 8.14 to 8.49 million barrels a day last week. Meanwhile, total domestic gasoline stocks increased by 2.6 million barrels to 234.6 million barrels, AAA reported.

At the close of last Wednesday’s formal trading session, WTI decreased by $2.46 to settle at $76.41. Crude prices fell last week after the U.S. Federal Reserve increased interest rates and signaled that more increases are possible. As a result, the market believes oil demand could be less than expected this year, pulling prices down, AAA reported.

Trevor Noah is the host Sunday as CBS and Paramount+ present the 65th Annual Grammy Awards.

Grammy Awards keep things musical with 65th annual ceremony

Music has helped the world keep moving, even in the most challenging of times ... and that's a fact that the latest Grammy Award nominations reflect.

The recording industry's 65th annual ceremony will be presented Sunday, Feb. 5, on CBS and Paramount+ from Los Angeles' Crypto.com Arena. Trevor Noah returns as host for the third consecutive year, and the list of those who are up for the honors is led by a veteran of the business, since Beyoncé tops the list with nine bids. That number now ties her with someone she knows quite well — her husband, Jay-Z — as the artists who have scored the most Grammy nominations over time, with 88 each.

Among the other performers who have multiple Grammy chances this time are Kendrick Lamar with eight, and Adele and Brandi Carlile with seven each. They're followed by a number of talents with six Grammy opportunities apiece: DJ Khalid, Future, Terius "The-Dream" Gesteelde-Diamant (also known as Terius Nash), Randy Merrill and Harry Styles.

Here are the contenders in several of the categories in the 65th Annual Grammy Awards.

Record of the Year: "About Damn Time," Lizzo; "As It Was," Harry Styles; "Bad Habit," Steve Lacy; "Break My Soul," Beyoncé; "Don't Shut Me Down," ABBA; "Easy on Me," Adele; "Good Morning Gorgeous," Mary J. Blige; "The Heart Part 5," Kendrick Lamar; "Woman," Doja Cat; "You and Me on the Rock," Brandi Carlile featuring Lucius

Album of the Year: "Good Morning Gorgeous (Deluxe)," Mary J. Blige; "Harry's House," Harry Styles; "In These Silent Days," Brandi Carlile; "Mr. Morale & the Big Steppers," Kendrick Lamar; "Music of the Spheres," Coldplay; "Renaissance," Beyoncé; "Special," Lizzo; "30," Adele; "Un Verano Sin Ti," Bad Bunny; "Voyage," ABBA

Song of the Year: "abcdefu," GAYLE; "About Damn Time," Lizzo; "All Too Well," Taylor Swift; "As It Was," Harry Styles; "Bad Habit," Steve Lacy; "Break My Soul," Beyoncé; "Easy on Me," Adele; "God Did," DJ Khaled featuring Rick Ross, Lil Wayne, Jay-Z, John Legend & Fridayy; "The Heart Part 5," Kendrick Lamar; "Just Like That," Bonnie Raitt

Best New Artist: Anitta; Omar Apollo; DOMi & JD Beck; Samara Joy, Latto; Maneskin; Muni Long; Tobe Nwigwe; Molly Tuttle; Wet Leg

Best Rock Song: "Black Summer," Red Hot Chili Peppers; "Blackout," Turnstile; "Broken Horses," Brandi Carlile; "Harmonia's Dream," The War on Drugs; "Patient Number 9," Ozzy Osbourne featuring Jeff Beck

Best R&B Song: "Cuff It," Beyoncé; "Good Morning Gorgeous," Mary J. Blige; "Hrs & Hrs," Muni Long; "Hurt Me So Good," Jazmine Sullivan; "Please Don't Walk Away," PJ Morton

Best Rap Song: "Churchill Downs," Jack Harlow featuring Drake; "God Did," DJ Khaled featuring Rick Ross, Lil Wayne, Jay-Z, John Legend & Fridayy; "The Heart Part 5," Kendrick Lamar; "pushin P," Gunna & Future featuring Young Thug; "Wait for U," Future featuring Drake & Tems

Dogs in the Wild, A Nature Miniseries

8 p.m. on WGTV

One family, 37 different faces. This ambitious miniseries travels the globe with an eye toward revealing the secrets of the most successful carnivore on the planet: the canids. From the recognizable and familiar like foxes, wolves, African wild dogs and coyotes to the lesser-known ones like the Japanese raccoon dog, New Guinea singing dog, dholes and dingoes, canids have conquered every continent except Antarctica. This series premiere episode "Meet the Family," introduces us to mans' best friends' cousins.

A Song to Remember

8 p.m. on TCM

As part of the channel's evening dedicated to piano players, Prof. Joseph Elsnar (Paul Muni) guides his protégé Frédéric Chopin (Cornel Wilde) through his formative years in Poland. But at a recital in a duke's home, Chopin insults the new Russian-installed governor, and must flee the country. He's taken to Paris, where he eventually comes under the wing and influence of novelist George Sand (Merle Oberon) and rises to prominence in the music world in this 1945 classic.

A Million Little Things

10:01 p.m. on WSB

This fifth and final season premiere gives viewers one more chance to experience both the joy and sadness that comes from unyielding friendship and love. With Delilah (Stephanie Szostak) and Charlie (Brynlee/ Everly Fisher) still in France, Eddie (David Giuntoli) finds long-distance co-parenting a challenge. And Katherine (Grace Park) is coming to terms with her sexuality while trying to build a relationship with Greta (Cameron Esposito). Meanwhile, Maggie (Allison Miller) and Gary (James Roday Rodriguez) are facing potential parenthood while cancer forces Gary to confront his mortality.

Skylar Astin

The Craftsman
8 p.m. on MAGN
One of the most famous Victorian houses in America is looking to add on and Eric Hollenbeck comes to the rescue to make pilasters, corbels and a balustrade as he works on an addition to “The Carson Mansion,” aptly the title of this new episode. Viewers also learn how the small city of Eureka, Calif., was founded, preserved and maintained, as well as how to cut wood so that it sheds water.

So Help Me Todd
9:01 p.m. on WGCL
Todd (Skylar Astin) agrees to help Susan’s (Inga Schlingmann) fiancé locate a missing employee, but he stumbles into a case Margaret (Marcia Gay Harden) agreed to co-counsel with Gus (Jeffrey Nordling). When Margaret and Todd realize their cases are converging, a firewall is put into place to prevent them from communicating with each other in the new episode “Wall of Fire.” Madeline Wise, Tristen J. Winger and Rosa Arredondo also star.

The Vagabond King
10:30 p.m. on TCM
Louis XI of France (Walter Hampden) drafts Paris’s popular “king” of criminals, Francois Villon (Oreste Kirkop) as Provost Marshal in his fight against Charles of Burgundy (Tom Duggan) and the traitorous nobles who rally around him. But just who comes out ahead in the 1956 musical romance. Kathryn Grayson, Cedric Hardwicke and Leslie Nielsen also star.

Swiss Army Man
10:55 p.m. on HBO
Hank (Paul Dano) is stranded on a deserted island and about to kill himself, when he notices a corpse (Daniel Radcliffe) washed up on the beach. He befriends it, names it Manny, then discovers that his new friend can talk and has a myriad of supernatural abilities — some of which may help him get home in this 2016 comedy.

"Gunther's Millions"

This four-part documentary series follows the peculiar story of Gunther, a German shepherd who was bequeathed millions by a childless countess and taken into the care of an Italian pharmaceutical heir who built an empire and became involved with one of the biggest tax fraud schemes of all time. (ORIGINAL)

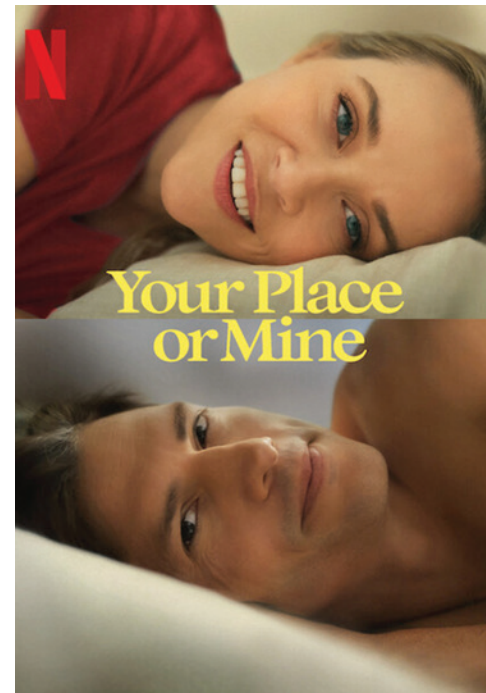

"You"

It's a new year, a new country and a new persona, but Joe (Penn Badgley) can't seem to shake off his messy past as he finds himself in the strange new role of reluctant detective and discovers he may not be the only killer in London. Tati Gabrielle, Charlotte Ritchie and Lukas Gage also star in Season 4. (ORIGINAL)

"My Dad the Bounty Hunter"

This animated action-comedy series from executive producers Everett Downing Jr. ("We the People") and Patrick Harpin ("Clarence") follows the hyper-space adventures of two kids who discover their seemingly average dad is actually an intergalactic bounty hunter. Laz Alonso, Yvonne Orji, Priah Ferguson and Yvette Nicole Brown head the voice cast. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Your Place or Mine"

Best friends Debbie and Peter (Reese Witherspoon, Ashton Kutcher), an Angeleno and a New Yorker, learn a few things about their lives and themselves when they agree to swap houses and lives for a week in this romantic comedy from director Aline Brosh McKenna ("Crazy Ex-Girlfriend," "Arranged"). Steve Zahn and Rachel Bloom also star. (ORIGINAL)

What's Available NOW On

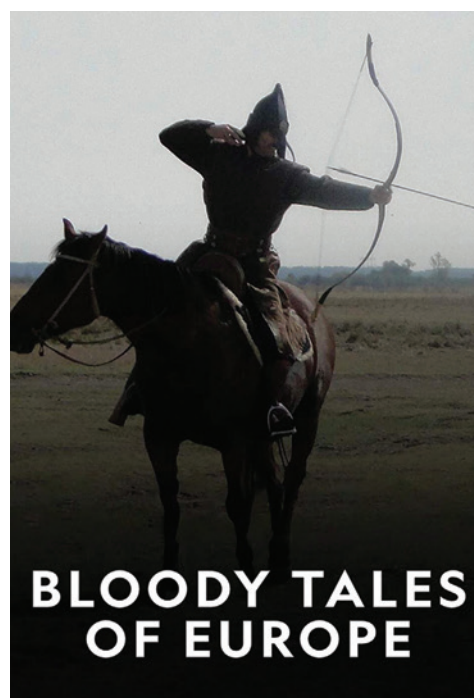

"T. Rex Autopsy" (Available now)

Veterinary surgeons, paleontologists and anatomists teamed up with special effects technicians for this special, which incorporates research findings about Tyrannosaurus rex to build the first full-size, anatomically precise replica of the creature. The 40-foot specimen is correct down to the feel and texture of its skin and even the smell of the beast, allowing scientists to scan it, X-ray it and cut it open for forensic study.

"Riding Britain's Railways" (Available now)

From across the pond comes this National Geographic documentary series that chronicles the role of the rail system in the development of Great Britain in the 19th and 20th centuries and gives viewers a tour of the country via train. Dan Cruickshank ("The British") is the host of the three episodes.

"Bloody Tales of Europe" (Available now)

Historian Dr. Suzannah Lipscomb and journalist Joe Crowley combine their talents to unlock the secrets behind lurid tales of murder, torture, death and incarceration all over Europe, from the U.K. and France, to Italy and Poland, in this six episode British documentary series that originally aired in 2013 on National Geographic.

"King Shakir Recycle" (Available now)

Outraged aliens seek revenge on Earthlings when garbage shot into space by humans land on their planets, forcing King Shakir and his family to save the world from destruction in this animated children's series from Turkey. Mustafa Oral, Atilla Sendil and Levent Unsal head the voice cast.

celebrity q&a BY GEORGE DICKIE

Mariel Molino OF 'THE WATCHFUL EYE' ON FREEFORM

How did you create your character of Elena Santos in "The Watchful Eye"?

It was really important to build a backstory and really go into the details, even if they weren't on the page, of why she was here, why she hadn't left New York, what her relationship with her father was like, what her relationship with her mother (was like), how she sees herself, how she sees the world. And then from there, what's really great is you start having more questions and so you start answering them and creating that.

At the end of filming, did you find you had to breathe this character out?

Yeah, I did. I mean, I remember at the beginning it was really hard for me because I kind of was thrown into a new country (the series filmed partially in Vancouver), a new character and a new crew with all these new faces. And I think also Elena and her journey is a very solitary one. A lot of the scenes that I did were alone and a lot of the work that I did on set was alone and reacting to different noises that would not be there. So I actually found that at the beginning, it was extremely difficult and isolating. And that actually helped me with Elena because I feel like that was her journey. She felt very isolated and alone.

But as the story progressed, I think that it actually became easier for me to let go of Elena ... and then once it was done, I was done. I was able to kind of make peace with what I had worked on and turn the page and start with a new character, which I had to actually. (Chuckles) So there wasn't much of a choice.

I AM CASA

TRACI MASK
Mom, Wife, CASA Volunteer
 If not me, then who? I have always been passionate about helping children find their voice and be heard. As a two time cancer survivor, I was no longer able to work, but I still wanted to make a difference. You don't have to have experience in child welfare, you just need to want to make a difference in a child's life. I mean, who wouldn't want to do that, right?

Star Wars: A New Hope
11:30 a.m. on TBS
George Lucas' original 1977 science-fiction classic — which has spawned sequels, prequels, spinoffs and enough merchandise to fill several Imperial cruisers — remains a treat for all ages. As rebels battle a totalitarian galactic regime led by Darth Vader, the war reaches isolated farm boy Luke Skywalker (Mark Hamill), whose connection to the struggle turns out more personal than he ever imagined. Harrison Ford and Carrie Fisher also star as, of course, Han Solo and Princess Leia.

The Girl Who Escaped: The Kara Robinson Story
8 p.m. on LIFE
Kara Robinson (Katie Douglas) was watering plants when she was approached by Richard Evonitz (Kristian Bruun), who put a gun to her neck and kidnapped her. When her captor finally fell asleep, she escaped and was able to lead the police back to the apartment's exact location and identify her kidnapper who turned out to be a serial killer who was also responsible for the unsolved murders of at least three other young girls in this 2023 docudrama that is based on a true story.

tonight's PICKS

Super Bowl LVII

Puppy Bowl XIX

2 p.m. on ANPL, DISC
It takes dedication to tail wagging and licking to earn the right to play in the greatest exhibition of cuteness the world has ever known. These puppies can't wait to take to the gridiron in the Puppy Bowl Stadium and show off their moves on the field. The full player lineup from Team Ruff and Team Fluff will leave fantasy leagues barking up the wrong tree. This year, the game celebrates more puppies, more animal shelters and rescues, and more inspiring adoption stories than ever before. Which team will win the Lombarky trophy?

Super Bowl LVII

6:30 p.m. on WAGA
State Farm Stadium in Glendale, Ariz., is the scene as the Kansas City Chiefs and Philadelphia Eagles go at it for the league championship in Super Bowl LVII. In last year's contest, that honor went to the Los Angeles Rams, who defeated the Cincinnati Bengals 23-20 at SoFi Stadium in Los Angeles.

Curly Top

8 p.m. on TCM
Airing as part of a Shirley Temple double feature, wealthy Edward Morgan (John Boles) becomes charmed with a curly-haired orphan (Temple) and her pretty older sister Mary (Rochelle Hudson), and arranges to adopt both under the alias of "Mr. Jones." As he spends more time with them, he soon finds himself falling in love with Mary in this 1935 musical romance. "Wee Willie Winkie" immediately follows.

A Star Is Born

10:50 p.m. on FREE
Bradley Cooper proved himself a Renaissance man with this 2018 musical blockbuster, on which he made his directorial debut as well as co-writing the screenplay and starring as the male lead, an alcoholic country superstar who discovers a brilliant new singer-songwriter (Lady Gaga).

Laurence Fishburne

Cleo From 5 to 7

8 p.m. on TCM

Airing as part of the channel's theme of "Academy Museum: (writer) Agnes Varda," Cleo (Corinne Marchand), is a successful singer and aspiring hypochondriac. She becomes increasingly worried that she might have terminal cancer while awaiting test results from her doctor. She spends her day with friends and observing strangers, but everything is nuanced by her fear of hearing back from her doctor at 6:30 p.m. in this 1962 comedy. Antoine Bourseiller, Dominique Davray and Dorothee Blank also star.

Jurassic World

8:30 p.m. on TNT

The "Jurassic Park" franchise roared back to life with this Steven Spielberg-produced 2015 chapter, in which the resort's owners try to goose attendance by introducing a new hybrid creature, the Indominus Rex. What could possibly go wrong? Though it's hard to take your eyes off the dinosaurs, Chris Pratt is enjoyable as a motorcycle-riding "dinosaur whisperer," with Bryce Dallas Howard as an executive who's hosting her nephews at the site when mayhem erupts.

History's Greatest Mysteries

9 p.m. on HIST

In Dallas, Texas, on Nov 22, 1963, President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, shaking the nation to its core. While an initial suspect was captured, many believe there's more to the story. Investigators and amateur sleuths alike have been searching for answers for almost 60 years. Will newly declassified documents and evidence finally provide closure? Laurence Fishburne hosts the new episode "The Assassination of JFK."

tonight's PICKS

“Love Trip: Paris”

Elvis

8 p.m. on HBO

This 2022 biopic follows the rock ‘n’ roll icon Elvis Presley (Austin Butler) from his rise to fame to his unprecedented superstardom. He maintains a complicated relationship with his enigmatic manager, Colonel Tom Parker (Tom Hanks), over the course of 20 years. Central to Presley’s journey and happiness is one of the most influential people in his life — Priscilla (Olivia DeJonge).

Love Trip: Paris

9 p.m. on FREE

Trouver l’amour à Paris! Four American girls — Caroline, Rose, Lacy, Josielyn — unlucky in love in their own country, move into a penthouse in the middle of Paris to find a floor of French suitors waiting to date them in this new unscripted series. But is this love trip to Paris their one-way ticket to romance, or are they headed for heartbreak in another language?

Will Trent

10 p.m. on WSB

They’re still working the bugs out of the program. A double murder leads Trent (Ramon Rodriguez) and the GBI on a cyber-chase to investigate a software firm’s activity behind closed doors. Meanwhile, Angie (Erika Christensen) does her best to ensure a key witness testifies in her case in the new episode “Should I Go Get My Tin Foil Hat?”

History’s Greatest Heists With Pierce Brosnan

10:03 p.m. on HIST

The new episode “The Pierre Hotel Robbery,” explores how a pair of talented thieves who specialized in hotel jobs went after the biggest target of their careers: New York’s famed Pierre Hotel. Planning everything down to the minute, the team took over the 41-story hotel, getting into the lobby vault and its hundreds of safe deposit boxes, ultimately walking away with $3 million in jewels and cash. Pierce Brosnan hosts.

Mark-Paul Gosselaar is busy again

Q: It was good to see Mark-Paul Gosselaar in the "Will Trent" premiere, but I heard that he's going to have a show of his own again. When will that be on? – Terry Dunn, Lancaster, Pa.

A: The "NYPD Blue" and "Saved by the Bell" alum is among the stars of "Found," an NBC series about a team that probes ongoing cases of missing people. The show had been slated to premiere later this month, but the network has decided to hold it for the fall season, also ordering additional scripts for it – which would seem to bode well, at least in terms of how NBC executives regard it. Regular cast members also include Shanola Hampton, Brett Dalton ("Marvel's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D.," "Chicago Fire") and Kelli Williams ("The Practice").

Q: Did the people who hired Jerrod Carmichael to host the Golden Globe Awards expect him to take such shots at them on the show? – Kelly Blake, via email

A: Let's just say that the Hollywood Foreign Press Association (as well as NBC, which had aired his "Carmichael Show" series) had to know who they were getting when they hired him for the job ... which really is the same situation as when they enlisted Ricky Gervais or the team of Tina Fey and Amy Poehler, also known for edgy humor in their own ways, in earlier years.

The HFPA also must have realized that it was a fairly easy target for satire, given the circumstances that caused it to be without a television home for the Golden Globes last year. Carmichael certainly took that opportunity, just about from the second he first stepped onto the stage for the event, but the overall tone was fairly subdued for an occasion that still was trying to play into its reputation as the "party of the year."
