EMA director: Sirens operating properly before tornado hit

Special to The News
An EF-1 tornado touched down in west Newton County on New Year's Eve.

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Warning sirens apparently were operating properly in three locations in west Newton when a tornado hit the area on New Year's Eve, a county official said.

Emergency Management Agency director Jody Nolan said his department tested the three sirens in the area of the tornado's path recently and determined all were operating as they should when a tornado warning was sent out New Year's Eve.

"We know the signal was sent out to activate them," Nolan said.

The sirens are at Newton County Fire Service Station 7 at 11662 Brown Bridge Road and Station 14 at 6169 Hwy. 212; and on top of a water tower at the intersection of Salem and Kirkland roads, he said.

Area residents complained on social media they did not hear the sirens go off before an EF-1 tornado ran through west Newton County between 5:39 and 5:46 p.m., a National Weather Service preliminary report stated.

The twister moved on a 2.5-mile path roughly along Brown

Bridge Road. It downed trees and damaged two vehicles, a middle school and some houses but did not cause any serious injuries.

Nolan said the National Weather Service (NWS) had issued a tornado watch for the area about 12 minutes before the tornado hit.

He said local emergency operators are trained to activate sirens after the National Weather Service tells them a tornado warning has been issued for a specific area. However, there is a two- to three-minute lag time between when the signal is given and the siren operating, he said.

"Once the warning was issued, the tornado had already formulated," Nolan said. "Five minutes can make all the difference in the world in the event of a tornado."

Newton County operates 23 weather sirens which are tested weekly on Wednesdays at noon. They are located in each of the cities in Newton County as well as throughout the county's unincorporated areas, he said.

Each siren costs $15,000 to $18,000 for

Berry talks delivering Newton County-grown Christmas tree to VP's home

COVINGTON, Ga. — This past Christmas was a sweet one for Berry's Tree Farm.

After their Murray Cypress Christmas tree in August was deemed Reserve Grand Champion in the 2021 National Christmas Tree Contest, Newton County tree farmer Chuck Berry earned the honor to see his award-winning tree erected in the home of Vice President Kamala Harris in Washington, D.C., for the holidays.

Berry said he and his wife, Lori, made the 10-hour drive to the nation's capital Nov. 24 to personally deliver the Christmas tree.

"It was a treat," he said. "As silly as it sounds, it was pretty emotional ... Not too many people are able to do something like that."

As the Berrys arrived to the vice president's home, Berry said Harris and Second Gentleman Douglas Emhoff welcomed them outside "like anybody else would when we've delivered trees." They met with the Berrys for about 30 minutes, Berry recalled.

Special to The News
A Murray Cypress Christmas tree raised by the Berrys was erected in the vice president's home for the holidays after winning Reserve Grand Champion in the 2021 National Christmas Tree Contest.

"Politics aside, they were very receptive and very appreciative of the tree," he said. "They were really engaged and interested. We really enjoyed our time with them ... They made us feel very welcome."

"Any time you have the opportunity to meet any vice president, it's quite the honor and accomplishment," Berry added.

The Berrys' Christmas tree was set up in the Turret Room in the residence at the Naval Observatory and decorated the next week.

In a Jan. 4 Newton County Board of Commissioners meeting, Berry was recognized for the achievement.

"[It is ] quite an honor for not only the family, but for the county, even for the state and for Christmas tree growers across the South, because, you know, everything's based on the Frazier fir out of North Carolina," Berry told commissioners.

"You know, that's what most people think of when they think of a real Christmas tree. And that is the Cadillac. We're not fortunate enough to grow Frazier fir Christmas trees here. We rely on Cypress trees, pine trees and cedar trees, and most of those Frazier fir growers in North Carolina think of our Cypress tree as a landscape tree. And they don't think you can grow a landscape tree into a Christmas tree, let alone be awarded Reserve Grand Champion and get to pull your truck and trailer into the front yard of the vice president's house in Washington D.C. and show her what Newton County could do."

Commission talks get heated during annual changing of vice chair position

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga — The annual rotation of a job leading Newton commission meetings in the chairman's absence produced some unusual requests from the new vice chairperson and some sniping between commissioners at times last week.

During its first meeting of 2022 on Jan. 4, the Newton County Board of Commissioners reappointed Jackie Smith to her 25th year as county clerk and named District 4 Commissioner J.C. Henderson to the largely ceremonial position of vice chairman in his 27th year on the Board.

The vice chairman position rotates annually based on district number and presides at meetings if the chairman is unable to attend. Chairman Marcello Banes did not miss a meeting in 2021.

Commissioners voted to appoint Henderson after he said he wanted special recognition intended to show "respect" for the position after his predecessor was "disrespected" last year.

He also wanted approval of a public hearing he would lead rather than the chairman before the budget process begins this year, and for 2021 vice chairperson Alana Sanders to receive a payment totaling 20% of her 2021 pay.

A majority of commissioners in January 2021 wanted a more experienced commissioner to have the job after the annual rotation of the job fell to District 3 during Alana Sanders' first meeting after her November 2020 election.

However, Sanders protested and said she had led meetings before for other organizations. She eventually won the position.

Henderson last week said the payment he proposed for Sanders was for her recent work on a committee determining how to distribute federal COVID relief funds in unincorporated Newton.

However, County Attorney Patrick Jaugstetter said state law requires any change to a commissioner's compensation to include a public notice beforehand, and other requirements.

"I would recommend that the salary, the additional compensation be taken out of your motion," he told Henderson.

"We can certainly work toward achieving that but it would be improper for this board to approve additional compensation to any board member at a meeting like this."

After dropping the requested payment for Sanders, Henderson said he wanted to lead a public meeting about the 2023 budget prior to commissioners hearing budget requests from department heads and constitutional officers in April.

District 1 Commissioner Stan Edwards said any board member could host such a meeting in individual districts. Commissioner Demond Mason of District 2 said he organized a budget meeting for his constituents in 2021.

State law also requires the Board of Commissioners to host two public hearings before the annual budget is set, typically in June before the July 1 start of the county's budget year.

But Henderson said the process "still doesn't do the public any good because the minds are already made up" at that point.

He said he wanted to host a meeting "anywhere," and said it was intended for residents countywide, rather than individual districts, to voice their opinions and would include constitutional officers who "in my opinion have been left out of the process."

Constitutional officers are elected offices the Georgia Constitution mandates be filled in every county, such as the tax commissioner, sheriff and Probate Court judge.

Chairman Marcello Banes said he disagreed with a vice chairman organizing and chairing his own countywide open meeting.

Jaugstetter said he recommended Henderson's requested meeting be considered when the Board approves a schedule of meetings related to the 2023 budget in coming weeks.

But Sanders defended the District 4 commissioner and said Henderson wanted meetings that would be broadcast live on the county's social media outlets as opposed to individual district meetings that might be less visible.

Henderson, who is Black and a Democrat, also took political jabs at Mason, who is also a Black Democrat, for siding with Republican members and not supporting Henderson's public meeting proposal.

"It's the same respect you're giving to the chairman and you're denying me that respect," he said

"What the problem is, is that the majority of the board, which is Republican, they don't want the citizens of Newton County to have any say-so in the budget," Henderson said.

"Republicans don't always have to be my Caucasian brothers on the board. It can be us too, as well," he said.

Mason's District 2 seat is up for election this year and he reportedly already has a Democratic challenger if he decides to seek re-election.

Henderson said he also wanted to be addressed as "vice chairman" during meetings and receive a nameplate with the words "vice chairman" placed at his seat on the commission dais as a show of respect to the holder of the position.

"I didn't like the way it was did (in 2021) to my good friend, Commissioner Sanders," he said.

Jaugstetter told commissioners the requirement they refer to Henderson as "vice chair" during meetings was not enforceable.

Mason said he did not hear any of his colleagues — which included Henderson — say they wanted him to be given additional income or a special nameplate when he served as vice chairman in 2020.

"So, what I want to know is, why now all of a sudden in 2021 and 2022 we are changing things," Mason said.

"I just want to make this clear: This has nothing to do with Republican ... nothing to do with Democrat," Mason said.

"It has to do with a level of respect for the entire board, and it should not be where we are showing favoritism to certain commissioners when it's their time to be vice chair and not give that same respect to other commissioners when they're the vice chair," Mason said.

Sanders said most commissioners, including Mason, did not want her to be vice chairperson in 2021.

"I was disrespected the entire year," Sanders said.

She said commissioners should show respect to future vice chairpersons based on the district seat they occupy rather than the person holding the seat.

"That's why he's putting in place that every commissioner behind us is respected and you don't show favoritism based on the person sitting in the seat, which you did," he told Mason.

Nice to see good karma for Georgia sports

There was an interesting thing that happened before Georgia's defeat of Alabama Monday night for its first national championship since Jimmy Carter was president.

Some call it serendipity. I've heard it called a "God thing." Head Coach Kirby Smart told ESPN he got off the elevator on the 15th floor of the team hotel in Indianapolis last week. There, he saw one of his predecessors, 89-year-old Vince Dooley, sitting on a bench, locked out of his room. "I thought, 'God put him there for me to see him the night before this game, and he was waiting on his key to come up to his room,'" Smart said. "I just knew that meant something." Dooley, for those unfamiliar, was the last University of Georgia head coach to win a national championship in 1980. Some guy you may have heard of, Herschel Walker, was the running back for that team. All of a sudden, it's an embarrassment of riches for long-suffering Georgia sports fans.

Georgia head coach Kirby Smart speaks with Vince Dooley after the game. Dooley was the Bulldogs head coach in 1980.

A little more than two months after the Atlanta Braves won their first World Championship in Major League Baseball in 26 years, Georgia won its first national championship in college football in 41 years Monday night at Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis. For those counting, it's the third national title in four seasons for a Georgia team, including Atlanta United in Major League Soccer in 2018. I will be the first to admit I did not see this win over Alabama coming and never thought it could happen. I told everyone I saw Monday that "Bama and its GOAT coach, Nick Saban, would buck the norm in college football and beat a good team for a second time in a season. I figured the Tide had found the chink in Georgia's armor and would beat them by at least two touchdowns. Everyone had downgraded the Tide this season after some narrow wins and Saban's first loss to one of his former assistants, Jimbo Fisher, and Texas A&M. Making Alabama an underdog only seems to give Saban what he needs to motivate his teams. They crushed Georgia in the SEC title game in Atlanta and their young quarterback, Bryce Young, won the Heisman Trophy. I also thought back to the many times my adopted home state had suffered heartbreak on the biggest stage in sports. After moving here from Tennessee shortly after the Tennessee Titans' heartbreaking loss to the St. Louis Rams in Super Bowl XXXIV at the Georgia Dome, I started seeing why Georgia sports fans were so pessimistic. The Braves produced a streak of 11 straight division titles between 1995 and 2006, which automatically qualified them for the MLB playoffs. But they were only able to win one World Series in those years while losing in the Fall Classic in 1996 and 1999 to the New York Yankees. After Florida State offensive coordinator Mark Richt was named Georgia's head coach in 2001, he produced winning teams almost immediately. But he rarely was able to get past the hated Florida Gators. Then, in 2012, Richt's Bulldogs advanced to the SEC championship game against Alabama in the Georgia Dome. Whoever won the game likely would advance to the national title game. The Dawgs, led by quarterback Aaron Murray, had a 21-10 lead over the Tide in the third quarter but (what many fans believe was inevitable) a collapse happened. They lost to Alabama after being unable to take advantage of being near the end zone and a go-ahead score with seconds to play. After Smart was hired away from Saban's Alabama staff in 2016, Georgia advanced to the national championship game in 2018 in Atlanta. Georgia led 13-0 at halftime and 20-7 in the second half. But, yet again, a collapse was imminent and freshman quarterback Tua Tagovailoa's 41-yard touchdown pass won the game for Alabama. Meanwhile, the NFL's Atlanta Falcons had the San Francisco 49ers down 17-0 in the 2012 NFC title game with a Super Bowl appearance on the line. The Falcons blew the lead, were down 28-24 with seconds to play but saw Harry Douglas fall down while catching what would have been the go-ahead score. But it was by far not the Falcons' most excruciating collapse. That happened in Super Bowl LI (51) in Houston. The Falcons led Tom Brady and the New England Patriots 28-3 with 17 minutes to play, only to lose 34-28 in overtime in the biggest collapse in Super Bowl history. Heck, even Georgia resident Caleb Lee Hutchinson lost the 2018 "American Idol" title on the ABC-TV musical competition reality show to Maddie Poppe in an upset. So, it's nice to see some good karma finally coming Georgia's way, albeit in the world of sports.

People don't really say what they really mean

Have you ever noticed that when famous people issue statements, or answer difficult interview questions, that they often say the same things? It's almost as if they share a rule book, filled with excuses. And it's not just famous people. Even in our everyday lives, people don't say what they really mean. As a public service, I would like to list a few of the more common falsehoods, followed by the truth. When an embattled Senator says, "I have decided not to seek re-election so I can spend more time with my family," he really means, "My polls show I couldn't win this election if I handed out hundred-dollar bills to each voter."

A few months later, when that same former senator suddenly accepts a position as a lobbyist, or as Ambassador to Luxembourg, he says, "It was a difficult decision, but after talking it over with my family, we agreed that I should accept this wonderful opportunity." What he really means is, "Thank goodness, I finally got a job offer!" When a prospective political candidate tells the press, "People are urging me to run, but I'm still exploring the possibility of a race," he really means, "I wish some people would actually urge me to run, and better yet, send me some money!" When the same person eventually enters the race, he says, "After much consideration, I have decided to run so that I may achieve my lifelong dream of public service." What he really means is, "Woo hoo! They sent me some money!"

When the company memo says, "Mr. Dumbledore has left the company to pursue other interests, and we wish him all the best," it usually means, "We caught him with one hand in the cash drawer, and the other hand holding a bottle of whiskey, and if you know Dumbledore, he has probably crossed the state line by now." When someone leans into you and says, "With all due respect..." you are about to get disrespected. It usually goes like this: "With all due respect Erma, whoever said you could make corn bread must have lost their taste buds when Nixon was president." Same goes with, "No offense, but..." When someone begins their sentence with that phrase, just turn around. Otherwise, you'll hear, "No offense Elbert, but when your belly hangs down to your knees, it might be time to buy a new T-shirt." Oh thanks, I was afraid you were going to offend me there for a minute. Once you reach a certain age, an old acquaintance will walk up and say, "Is that you Ludwig? Mercy, for your age, you sure are looking good!" What they really mean is, "Your name came up last week, and I could have sworn you've been dead for years." When the retail chain issues a statement to the media saying, "We are reorganizing our workforce to better serve the public," it really means, "We are letting all of our sales associates go, and the customers will have to figure it out on their own. Now if you'll excuse us, we have to go raise some prices." When the recorded voice on the phone says, "Please listen carefully, because our options have changed," it really means, "Just go ahead and press zero. We only have one real person for every hundred calls, so you're going to be waiting for three hours anyway." (Of course, being an eternal optimist, I take my chances, listening to that annoying "on hold" music.) Another recorded voice interrupts and says, "Your call is very important to us, please stay on the line." You and I both know it really means, "If you were truly important to us, you would be speaking to a human right now, wouldn't you?" When the scheduler at the doctor's office tells you to come in at 9 a.m. Thursday, it means you'd better pack a lunch, because 13 other people are also scheduled to see him at 9 a.m. Thursday. When the highway construction manager says, "We expect to have this project complete by the end of the year," you are sure to be disappointed on December 31st. That's when he will confess, "Well, we didn't say WHICH year!" When the real estate ad describes an old house as "stunning," that could mean many things. Often I am stunned it is still standing. When the online hotel ad says, "Our rooms have a rustic flavor, with retro décor," it really means, "We haven't changed the carpet or the curtains since 1966. Come to think of it, they might be due for a good cleaning." So let's all pledge to cut down on the lies. As Honest Abe Lincoln once said, "Just because you saw it on TV or the internet, doesn't mean it's true."

Covington's Dozier among 'Most Influential Georgians' list

By TAYLOR BECK
tbeck@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Greg Dozier, who is commissioner of Georgia's Technical College System (TCSG), was recently deemed one of the most impactful people in the state. Gwinnett County-based magazine "Georgia Trend" listed Dozier as one of the "100 Most Influential Georgians" for 2022. The list was compiled by the magazine's staff as it has been for the last 24 years to recognize "people who are making an impact on the state." Dozier resides in Covington with his wife and two daughters. He is the sibling of Asher Dozier, vice president of economic development for the Newton County Industrial Development Authority. Dozier has served as TCSG commissioner since he was first appointed to the position in December 2019.

Greg Dozier

The TCSG board voted unanimously to hire Dozier, who had been serving as the governor's chief financial officer. "Greg Dozier is a trusted ally and strong leader who understands state operations and offers a wealth of institutional knowledge as the incoming TCSG commissioner," Gov. Brian Kemp said at the time. "To implement my vision and TCSG's goals, Greg Dozier will always put families and students first. Together, we will ensure that our educational system remains top-notch and fulfills workforce needs. He is the right person for this job, and I know that he will continue to serve our state well." Before his appointment, Dozier had served in leadership capacities under governors Sonny Perdue, Nathan Deal and Kemp. Dozier previously served as commissioner of the Department of Corrections, commissioner of the Department of Driver Services, and division director at the Governor's Office of Planning and Budget. Written by Georgia Trend's staff, "Dozier leads TCSG's mission to provide Georgia businesses with a highly trained, skilled workforce. Recent progress includes a collaboration with the Georgia Department of Education that allows high school students to receive TCSG college credits for certain career, technical and agricultural education courses, plus construction of a $5.8 million regional logistics and transportation training center at Georgia Piedmont Technical College." Also listed within the top 100 were Stacey Abrams, founder of Fair Fight Action; Ed Bastian, CEO of Delta Airlines; Kevin Brown, president and CEO of Piedmont Healthcare; Angel Cabrera, president of Georgia Tech; Lt. Gov. Geoff Duncan; George T. French Jr., president of Clark Atlanta University; Gov. Brian Kemp; and Milton J. Little Jr., president and CEO of United Way of Greater Atlanta; among others.

Salem Road widening, massive I-20 interchange projects could begin mid-2023

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Newton County motorists using Salem Road and commuters to Atlanta on I-20 could run into major construction projects around the middle of next year.

Construction on both segments of a project to widen Salem Road (Georgia Hwy. 162) in Newton and Rockdale counties will begin around the same time in 2023, said GDOT Commissioner Russell McMurry.

McMurry gave the update during the annual Legislative Prayer Breakfast hosted by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of Covington.

He said both Salem Road segments are being done at about the same time so that “you endure one construction project.”

“Bear with us — orange barrels are progress,” McMurry said.

In Newton County, work is set to begin in summer 2023 on a widening and reconstruction of Salem Road from Old Salem Road to Brown Bridge Road, McMurry said.

The 1.7-mile project will increase it from its current two lanes to four 12-foot lanes with a 20-foot raised median in the middle, he said.

GDOT is buying right of way land for the road totaling 119 parcels, McMurry said.

Part of the road will be constructed on a new location for about 0.6 of a mile to bypass the historic Salem Camp Ground and the Salem United Methodist Church, according to an Atlanta Regional Commission study.

New traffic signals are planned at Salem Road’s intersections with Salem Circle, Spring Road, Village Drive, Greenleaf Drive, Country Walk Way and Golfview Drive, the ARC document stated

Old Concord Drive will no longer have direct access to Salem Road and will end with a cul-de-sac, it stated.

In addition, construction on the part of Salem Road between Old Salem Road and I-20 is expected to begin at the same time, McMurry said.

The part in Rockdale County is a 2.25-mile, $50 million project, he said.

“We’re actually buying property now,” McMurry said.

GDOT has acquired about 50 of the 150 parcels needed for the project, he said.

District 2 County Commissioner Demond Mason said he believed his west Newton constituents were “ready for this” road project.

“I think the District 2 constituents are looking forward to this because we really want to see more retail (stores) development on the western side of the county,” he said.

“We know that if we can deal with that traffic concern, it’ll be really easier for us to begin development,” Mason said.

County Chairman Marcello Banes said he appreciated the update about the Newton County projects.

state leaders are partnering with the county to make sure that we have the appropriate infrastructure here,” he said.

Some other area projects McMurry highlighted in his speech:

- The federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) is still working with the contractor on an investigation of the October collapse of the Access Road bridge over the Yellow River in west Newton County, McMurry said.

Work was halted after one man died when the decades-old structure collapsed as workers were removing parts of it for a replacement project. The bridge is about 100 yards east of I-20’s Crowell Road exit.

- A massive project to rebuild the I-20/I-285 interchange is expected to begin in 2023 and finish in late spring 2026, McMurry said.

The $800 million project will build a new interchange, add lanes on both interstates and replace various bridges .

“If you ever go up to 285 and 400 and see the kind of work that’s going on now, that’s the kind of scale this project is,” he said.

“It is a game-changer. It certainly reduces congestion,” McMurry said.

He noted the interchange has been rated among the top 50 freight bottlenecks in the nation.

The often-dangerous exit has been the scene of numerous tractor-trailer wrecks in recent years.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Students will soon compete to determine who is the best speller in the Newton County School System when it hosts the 2022 district Spelling Bee on Friday, Jan. 14, at 10 a.m. at Porter Performing Arts Center.

Champions from elementary and middle schools in the district will compete.

Students in grades four through eight were eligible to participate in their school competitions. Should the school champion be unable to participate, the runner-up will serve as alternate and compete in the Bee to represent the school.

“Even in the technology rich world that we live in today, spelling continues to be an important tool because the written word is so powerful,” said Benjamin Roundtree, NCSS Chief Academic Officer.

“Among other things, the spelling bee supports our students’ learning by enhancing their understanding of vocabulary relative to spelling and by promoting correct word usage. Indeed, spelling bee competitions in our schools continue to be highly anticipated events, and we are happy to continue this venerable tradition.”

ment is one that had been in the making for several decades.

Beginning as a dairy and row crop organization, the Berry Family Farm of more than 200 acres was started in January 1894 after Charles Woodson Berry purchased the property in Almon community.

Through four generations, the Berry family raised corn, hay and Jersey cows.

In 1969, the farm’s dairy operation ceased, and after selling its last herd of cows, the family welcomed a new form of farming a few years later.

In 1977, the Berrys planted its first crop of Christmas trees and began to sell them in 1983. The operation grew quickly — in 1999, the Berrys reportedly sold more than 3,700 trees.

Now under the family farm’s fifth (Berry) and sixth generations (son, Chase) of leadership, Berry said business has gone really well in recent years and getting to show off their product in the vice president’s home has yielded a great impact.

“Only positive effects on our business,” Berry said. “The last two years have been great for sales already, and from a publicity standpoint, this kind of stuff only helps.”

SIRENS:

the device and its maintenance, Nolan said.

The sirens “primarily are placed where they could provide warning” to people outdoors in the nearby area, Nolan said.

About 1,100 — one every 1/4-square-mile — would be needed to properly notify residents because of the way modern homes are insulated against outside sounds and how densely populated the area is, Nolan said.

NWS sees about 90% of tornadoes form by using Doppler radar, he said.

Trained weather spotters or first-responders see only about 10% of tornadoes from the ground, Nolan said.

Nolan said he continues to recommend county residents register cell phones and landlines with the CodeRed service for emergency alert notifications at <https://public.coderedweb.com/CNE/en-US/BFB7CC4C6C0A?isMobile=true>.

Nolan said residents can select to receive text warnings to be sent via email or text messages to their phone.

“You get immediate notifications and you don’t have that delay,” Nolan said

District 3 Commissioner Alana Sanders said during a Jan. 4 Board of Commissioners meeting that residents said they did not hear warning sirens before the tornado struck.

Sanders asked County Attorney Patrick Jaugstetter about her concerns because of Jaugstetter’s experience in what other area counties had done to prepare for severe weather.

She said customers in the parking lot at Walmart at Salem and Brown Bridge roads were not warned because no sirens were nearby.

“What can we do as a commission to make sure that we are warning citizens or getting those sirens up in the high-density (areas) which are District 3 and District 2,” Sanders asked.

“Those citizens had no idea that tornado was even hovering over them.”

Jaugstetter echoed Nolan in saying that “as a general rule” sirens are used to warn anyone outside at the time of the emergency.

“As a general rule, you place your sirens where people are going to be outside,” Jaugstetter said. “I’m not sure sirens are the solution.”

Commissioner J.C. Henderson said he believed some COVID relief money should be directed toward purchase of more sirens.

“I don’t care if they didn’t hear it,” he said. “Just to have them in the community is a certain amount of protection.”

In other action at the same meeting, county commissioners also approved the Newton County Water & Sewerage Authority’s use of a county government easement off Alcovy Road for installation of a water line to serve the Stanton Springs area.

Use of the easement near the entrance to the Cornish Creek water treatment plant allows NCWSA to install a 24-inch water main line as part of a planned $5.75 million project to serve industries in Stanton Springs North and South, including the future site of electric vehicle maker Rivian, Facebook’s two data centers, Takeda Pharmaceuticals and a project called Morning Hornet.

Rams win Sugar Bowl National Prep Classic

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

WESTWEGO, La. — When the Newton Rams traveled to Louisiana to compete in the 2022 Sugar Bowl National Prep Classic last weekend, they had one thing in mind: win. And that they did.

Even though the Rams faced some tough competition from all over the country, they attacked each opponent head on and brought the trophy back to Covington.

Head coach Charlemagne Gibbons was proud of his team's performance. "To go 4-0 over there does show that we're growing into consistent play game in and game out," Gibbons said. "That's one of the things I took away from the tournament."

Special to The News

The Newton Rams boys basketball team recently won the Sugar Bowl National Prep Classic in Louisiana.

Round one took place on Thursday, Jan. 6 when Newton faced John Curtis Christian out of River Ridge, Louisiana. The Rams cruised to a 77-53 win over the Patriots to advance.

Things just got better for Newton from there. In the next round, the Rams played against St. Mary's High School from Phoenix, Arizona and won 68-53. Newton's third game against Westminster Academy based out of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, featured the Rams' biggest win of the tournament.

Newton won 65-36 punching its ticket to the championship round to face Beaumont United out of Beaumont, Texas.

This matchup was much closer than the previous three, but that didn't deter the Rams from their mission of winning it all.

They were victorious over the Timberwolves 67-54 to bring home the championship.

But the championship trophy wasn't the only piece of hardware the Rams brought back to 1 Ram Way.

Jakai Newton, who averaged 21 points in the tournament, was voted as the tournament's Most Valuable Player. His contributions included a 25-point, 7-rebound performance to help the Rams down Beaumont United in the final round.

In addition to Jakai Newton's individual award, Stephon Castle earned a spot on the All-Tournament team, too.

Lastly, Jabaz Jenkins was recognized prior to the championship game and received the $1,500 AllState Sugar Bowl Scholarship award for his community service.

All in all, it was indeed a successful weekend for the Rams basketball team. Going 4-0 improves their record to 13-1 and solidifies their No. 21 national ranking by MaxPreps. Newton began region play on Tuesday, Jan. 11, too, with a home match-up against Parkview.

After this tournament win, Gibbons wants to see the same approach to each game moving forward as his team had with the Sugar Bowl Classic.

"The mental endurance and consistency that we played with is where I'd like to keep it each game," Gibbons said. "And, if we are able to go there, I think that gives us an opportunity to be fighting for a state championship."

Eagles drop games at Walnut Grove

By GARRETT PITTS
Correspondent

WALNUT GROVE, Ga. — Both of Eastside's basketball programs left Walnut Grove High School on the losing end Friday night. The Lady Eagles lost 69-32 to begin the night and the Eagles suffered a 68-48 defeat in game two.

LADY EAGLES

For the Lady Eagles, the team continued a rough 2021-22 campaign. It was the Lady Warriors' fast paced style that was too much to handle for all four quarters.

The sizable win for the Lady Warriors was nothing without their dominant defensive showing.

Walnut Grove was pressing on both sides of the court and doing their best to limit any space for the Eagles to pass and create shot opportunities.

The final two quarters belonged to Walnut Grove sophomore Cameria Reed, who caught fire and began to beat the Eagles almost single-handedly.

Going into the fourth quarter with a 48-28 lead, the Lady Warriors opened the final frame with a 21-point run, with Reed responsible for 12 of the points.

The first quarter was the closest the game was as both teams traded points early on, but the Lady Warriors just never let up as the game progressed. By halftime, the Lady Eagles trailed 34-18 and the rest was history.

The Lady Eagles dropped to 1-9 after the loss, with a 0-4 record in the region. The Lady Eagles will look to get back on track as they will go on the road to face a struggling 2-12 Johnson Knights on Tuesday, Jan. 11.

EAGLES

So far this season, the boys basketball team has had many highs and lows on the court. Running into a hot Walnut Grove team was one of the last things the Eagles needed.

The Warriors had won nine out of their last 10 games going into the matchup with the Eagles.

The Warriors and Eagles were matching points early into the game as both teams maintained both speed and physicality on both sides of the court.

But the Warriors separated themselves once the second quarter commenced.

Across the second and third quarters, Walnut Grove outscored Eastside 37-19. The separation was largely due to the Warriors' bench that the Eagles couldn't contend with.

Walnut Grove's Shawn Walker II helped the Warriors keep separation in the final two quarters as the senior forward was almost unstoppable at the rim for the Warriors.

The Eagles were getting many players involved but still could not keep the pace to overcome the Warriors lead.

Sophomore Daylan Dixon led the Eagles in scoring with 16 as he was the only player on the Eagles to eclipse ten points in the game.

The Eagles fell to 7-7 after the loss.

Eastside, Social Circle compete in area duals

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Two local wrestling teams made considerable noise at their respective area duals on Friday, Jan. 7.

The biggest noise came from Social Circle, though, as the undefeated Redskins defended their region championship with a clean sweep. To top it all off, the Redskins did so in front of the home crowd as they hosted the duals.

In the first match, Social Circle won against Mount De Sales 81-0. Match No. 2 saw the Redskins down Eagles Landing Christian 71-3. The final match ended with Social Circle once again on top of Georgia Military College 79-0.

As a result, the Redskins were named Area 4 Dual Champions for the fourth straight year.

Eastside competed in Region 8-5A's area dual at Jackson County High School, too.

The Eagles placed fifth in what head coach Sam Miller deemed a "tough-as-nails Region 8-5A duals."

In the first two matches, Eastside lost to Loganville and Greenbrier. However, in the third match, the Eagles triumphed over Apalachee. With its fifth place finish, Eastside will now be alternates for the state duals tournament.

Throughout the three matches, Eastside had some standout performances.

Jordan Hittle (126 pounds), Wyatt King (145 pounds), Wyatt Bauer (170 pounds), Dixon Carter (285 pounds) and Michael Abernathy (160 pounds) all went undefeated. Carter, specifically, recorded three pins to earn each of his wins.

When all was said and done, Miller expressed the pride he has for his team on Twitter.

"We are alternates for the state duals tournament," Miller's Tweet read. "[That is] nothing to hang our heads on as tough of a region ours is."

The Georgia Department of Natural Resources Wildlife Resources Division is hiring 2 full-time Business Support Analysts in Social Circle. Please view the DNR Vacancy Announcement at www.gadnr.org/careers for the qualifications, salary information and how to apply for these positions. ### FINALLY:

So, there were many questions surrounding the Bulldogs football team as to whether they could finally get over the hump and win a national championship again.

Monday night, all those questions were answered.

The Bulldogs defeated the Crimson Tide for the first time since 2007, and it was the first time ever to beat Nick Saban. Georgia's criticized quarterback even led the way for the team in the fourth quarter finishing 4-for-4 for 83 yards and two touchdowns.

As a result, Georgia pulled away from Alabama and there was no doubt, the Bulldogs ended a long, excruciating stretch of their history, finally beat a Saban-led team and silenced all the doubters about whether this year was, in fact, their year.

‘Next year’ finally arrives

UGA Athletics
Georgia’s Stetson Bennett kisses the trophy after the College Football Playoff championship game against Alabama on Monday in Indianapolis.

Growing up being a Georgia Tech fan surrounded by numerous Georgia fans, I’ve constantly heard the phrase: “next year is our year.” I would always sarcastically respond, “next year seems to always be a year away.”

Well, that’s not the case anymore for the Bulldog faithful. “Next year” finally came around, and Georgia is the 2022 College Football National Champions.

But, the championship run didn’t come about easy for Georgia by any means. It’s been 41 years since the Bulldogs last hoisted a national championship trophy and were the kings of the college football world. Since then, they have endured many excruciating losses.

“Second and 26,” “Chris Conley catching the ball” and other phrases have become way too familiar for Georgia fans the last few years, in particular.

With those defeats, Georgia and its fans had to wait a long time for what transpired Monday night.

Now, that wait is over. The Bulldogs topped Alabama 33-18 at Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Georgia’s win came just 37 days after that same Alabama team seemed to have exposed the Bulldogs by defeating them 41-24 in the SEC Championship game in Atlanta. Stetson Bennett, already highly scrutinized by many members of the fanbase, had many costly errors in the game as well.

Following that game, many skeptics, including myself and maybe many people reading this right now, were asking the question: If not now, then when?

Going into that SEC Championship matchup, Georgia had the No. 1 defense allowing less than a touchdown per game in the regular season. That included three shutout victories.

The highest point total allowed was at Tennessee on Nov. 13 when the Volunteers managed to score 17 points.

Their offense was scoring an average 41 points on top of that beating their opponents by an average of nearly 34 points.

Bulldogs finally get 41-year-old monkey off their back

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Through the good, bad and ugly, the Georgia Bulldogs found a way to claim the program’s first national championship since 1980. It also ended a seven-game losing streak against Alabama by downing the Crimson Tide 33-18 Monday night at Lucas Oil Stadium in Indianapolis.

Most of the good came for the Bulldogs in the final eight minutes of the game.

Trailing 18-13, Stetson Bennett took the free play awarded by an Alabama offside penalty and connected with freshman wideout Adonai Mitchell for a 40-yard touchdown pass.

Five minutes later, Bennett threw his second touchdown of the final frame of action to another freshman in tight end Brock Bowers. This time, it was a 15-yard pass for the score.

Then, the final blow that sealed the deal for the Bulldogs came with less than a minute remaining in the contest.

Heisman winner Bryce Young dropped back to pass looking for a touchdown to draw within two points. On the attempt, Young lobbed the ball into triple coverage that was picked off by Kelee Ringo — an interception that Ringo returned 79 yards for a pick-six.

All of that good followed a pretty ugly string of events that seemed to have set the Bulldogs back from their championship quest.

It all started with a sack on Bennett by Alabama’s Christian Harris. While going down on the play, Bennett tried to throw the ball away to avoid the lost yardage. But, the play was deemed a fumble by the officiating crew that proceeded to be recovered by Brian Branch at the Alabama 16-yard line.

Four plays later, the Crimson Tide scored their only touchdown of the night when Young connected with Cameron Latu from three yards out.

But Georgia bounced back scoring 20 unanswered points to finally get a 41-year old monkey off its back. Bennett also finished the game going 4-for-4 while throwing for 83 yards and the two touchdown passes.

Early on, however, it wasn’t smooth sailing for the Bulldogs as they did just enough to stay afloat.

As a matter of fact, it was a low-scoring, field goal kicking competition between Georgia’s Jack Podlesny and Alabama’s Will Reichard to begin the contest.

On the opening possession of the game, Reichard split the uprights from 37 yards out to put the Crimson Tide up 3-0 5:05 into the game. Podlesny tied things up in the opening minutes of the second quarter after connecting on a 24-yard field goal.

A little over a minute later, Reichard responded with a 45-yard field goal for Alabama to regain a 6-3 lead. Alabama’s advantage doubled with 7:07 remaining in the first half with another 37-yard field goal by Reichard.

With 3:09 left before halftime, Podlesny drew the score 9-6 with a 49-yard field goal.

Georgia’s offense had its opportunities to capitalize on numerous Crimson Tide miscues, but, due to bad plays and execution, it couldn’t break through for a touchdown.

The Bulldogs finished 4-for-12 on third down attempts and tallied 10 penalties for 70 yards. At halftime, Georgia had more penalty yards (49) than rushing yards (26).

Even so, they only trailed by three at halftime with both kickers remaining perfect on their combined five attempts.

Thanks to Jalen Carter’s left hand, though, Reichard’s perfect streak ended in the third quarter.

Reichard trotted out onto the field to attempt his fourth field goal of the game after the Crimson Tide’s offense yet again went three-and-out. Already connecting on his first three attempts, Reichard’s fourth attempt was blocked by Carter to keep the score 9-6.

On the ensuing drive, the Bulldogs put up their first touchdown of the night off a 1-yard rush by Zamir White, giving UGA its first lead of the night.

It’s safe to say that it wasn’t a perfect outing for the Bulldogs by any stretch of the imagination. Georgia didn’t need perfection, it just needed the good to outweigh the bad and the ugly.

And, when Nolan Smith sacked Young to finish the game, there was enough good for the Bulldogs to claim their third ever national championship.

Apartments at Martin's Crossing branded RENDER Covington

By TAYLOR BECK
tbeck@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — A 315-unit apartment complex planned at The Shoppes at Martin's Crossing will be known as RENDER Covington, development company Crescent Communities recently announced.

The project that was unveiled in late June 2021 calls for the construction of an "upscale" apartment complex on a 19.6-acre tract neighboring the "soon-to-be renovated" shopping center on U.S. Hwy. 278 in Covington.

Per a "conceptual master plan," Crescent Communities intends to build six three-story buildings across the property, constructed to an "appropriate scale" based on the surrounding area.

Developers said the project would feature Class A unit interior finishes such as stainless-steel appliances, stone-surface countertops and vinyl wood flooring, and community amenities would include a fitness center, resort-style swimming pool, dog park, bicycle gear garage, detached garages and direct access to the Eastside Trail.

Pictured is a rendering of the apartments. Developers say they will feature stainless-steel appliances, stone-surface countertops and vinyl wood flooring. Amenities would include a fitness center, resort-style swimming pool, dog park, bicycle gear garage, detached garages and direct access to the Eastside Trail.

"We feel that this is a great opportunity for this property and really for the community, too," former land owner and Newton County resident Sam Hay III said during a September meeting when the Covington City Council approved a special-use permit for the development. "We all know that our employment growth [and] our industrial growth has exceeded our housing growth, really, for a good many years now. And there are a good many folks who work in our community who really haven't been able to find suitable housing."

There will be options for one-bedroom rentals starting at $1,200 per month, two-bedroom rentals starting between $1,800-$1,900 per month, and a limited offering of three-bedroom rentals starting at more than $2,000 per month, according to developers.

On Monday, Jan. 10, real estate management firm CP Capital announced it would be partnering with current property owner Crescent Communities to develop RENDER Covington.

"The Atlanta apartment market has been one of the best-performing markets in the country since the onset of the pandemic, with continued economic recovery and in-migration leading to strong demand," Jeremy Katz, co-head of CP Capital, said in a news release. "We look forward to partnering with Crescent to deliver a brand new, modern multifamily community that fulfills the ever-present need for affordable rental housing in the area."

Covington Planning and Development Manager Marc Beechuk said Monday that the project was currently wrapping up its site review and working toward the completion of its building review.

Developers intended to break ground on the project this month. The first units are expected in May 2023, with construction expected to be completed in January 2024, developers said.

"With very few entitled multifamily sites existing in Covington, the demand for rental housing is extremely high, with comparable properties in the area all fully leased," Crescent Communities Managing Director Kyle Brock said in a Monday news release. "We're thrilled to bring our first joint venture with CP Capital to Covington, a city that is filled with charm and unique opportunities for both families and working professionals."

Newton County reaches 2.4% unemployment rate – lowest on record

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

Newton County's unemployment rate fell to its lowest level on record in November.

The county's rate of 2.4% was lower than the previous lowest rate of 2.5% recorded in late 1998, according to information from the Georgia Department of Labor.

A total of 415 additional Newton County residents found work in November compared to the previous month, while an additional 250 residents joined the county's labor force — which is comprised of all those working or making themselves available to work, the labor department reported.

The department uses the total of Newton County residents employed either both inside and outside the county in calculating the unemployment rate.

Newton County's jobless rate was lower than the national rate of 4.2% and the statewide unemployment rate of 2.8% — which also set a record low last month. The state's all-time high workforce is larger than it was before the coronavirus pandemic, the Capitol Beat News Service reported.

Commissioner of Labor Mark Butler said the state has "fully recovered from this pandemic when it comes to employed Georgians."

"The hard work is still in front of us as job creation is outpacing new workers in the labor force," he said.

Debbie Harper, president of the Newton County Chamber of Commerce, said both record low numbers are "great news for the state as well as Newton County" but may be attributable to residents getting seasonal jobs before the holidays.

"Also, we are seeing more competitive wages from local employers which is helping to get the unemployment numbers lower ... a couple of trends we hope to see continue."

Harper said she often hears questions about why so many job openings remain if unemployment numbers are at such low levels.

"What we have seen locally and other communities have seen is that people have dropped out of the workforce altogether due to varying COVID circumstances and are no longer being counted in the unemployment numbers," she said.

"In saying that, we have seen more people starting their own business or taking a part-time side business full time — the most I have seen in my almost nine years at the Chamber," Harper said.

Newton County's November 2021 unemployment rate was a 0.3% decrease from October's rate of 2.7% and nearly two-thirds less than the 6.1% recorded in November 2020.

First-time claims by Newton residents for unemployment benefits also dropped 26%, from 244 in October to 180 in November.

County residents who were employed totaled 52,054 in November, compared to 51,639 the previous month; and 1,273 residents were unemployed compared to 1,438 in October.

A total of 53,327 Newton County residents ages 16 and older were in the labor force, compared to 53,077 in October.

The previous lowest jobless rates in Newton County were 2.5% in December 1998, 2.6% in November 2000 and 2.7% four times between 1998 and 2000, according to labor department records.

Georgia's unemployment rate of 2.8% was well below the national jobless rate of 4.2%, the Georgia Department of Labor reported. At the same time, more than 5 million Georgians held jobs.

Jobs in Georgia were up 13,500 over the month and are up 4.4% over the year to more than 4.6 million. During the last six months, the number of jobs has increased by 130,600.

Butler said, "We have regained almost all of the jobs we lost during the pandemic. However, the number of job seekers is still below pre-pandemic numbers," he said.

"Creating more jobs becomes very difficult if we can't fill vacancies in the 300,000 jobs that are currently open. It's a good problem to have and shows how strong Georgia's recovery has been, especially compared to other states our size."

First-time unemployment claims statewide declined last month by 10,116 to 17,194, a 37% decrease and the first time since November 2019 that initial claims fell below the 20,000 plateau.

More than 190,000 job openings were posted at EmployGeorgia.

com, the labor department's website.

John Cena (left) and Freddie Stroma star in the HBO Max series "Peacemaker," which starts streaming Thursday.

After being part of the Suicide Squad, Peacemaker is ready to go off on his own.

Following the 2021 movie about the team of convicts turned crime-fighters, John Cena works again with writer-director James Gunn by reprising the DC Comics character – who intends to instill peace, even if that takes committing mayhem – as the new series “Peacemaker” begins streaming Thursday, Jan. 13, on HBO Max. A black ops soldier, Christopher Smith (Cena) uses everything at his disposal to try to shape the world the way he’d like it, whatever price anyone else must pay in the process.

"I was not planning to do it at all," maintains "Guardians of the Galaxy" filmmaker Gunn of revisiting "Peacemaker" in series form, but he thought differently after he was approached by DC executives. "They were like, 'Hey, if you could do a TV show on any one of the characters from "The Suicide Squad," who would you do?'"

"I just found something really interesting about Peacemaker, because I loved working with John Cena and I thought that he had a lot of acting gifts and comedy gifts that we weren't able to fully utilize in the movie. And also because I thought he was just a really cool, interesting character that could be pertinent to today's world, in terms of his sort of backwards way of looking at things. A lot of the show is about his friendships with these other characters, even though they represent very different parts of America today."

Robert Patrick ("Scorpion") is cast as Peacemaker/Christopher's disapproving father Auggie, with the "Harry Potter" movies' Freddie Stroma as Adrian Chase, a district attorney who moonlights as crime-battler Vigilante. Danielle Brooks ("Robin Roberts Presents: Mahalia"), Steve Agee and Jennifer Holland also are series regulars.

The notably glib Cena built a successful acting career out of his fame as a WWE superstar, and while he deems “Peacemaker” a sensible career step, he also feels it fits his overall approach. “Living life with a sense of curiosity and a sense of challenge to want to see more, learn more, do more, I think that’s a great way to go about using the gift that we’re given,” Cena reasons. “That’s only my perspective, but I don’t think that should be just applied towards a career. I think that’s a great way to look at life.”

As for what he believes will sustain the character throughout a series, Gunn reflects, “Peacemaker has a lot to learn, and it wouldn’t take just one season of TV for him to learn that. But it is that ability to learn that he does have, I believe, that for me makes him a little bit more likable.”

Guarnaschelli challenges culinary masters in 'Alex vs. America'

Alex Guarnaschelli's reputation as a fierce competitor on shows such as "Iron Chef America," "Food Network Challenge" and "Beat Bobby Flay" is legendary. But now she's willing to put herself at a competitive disadvantage in a new show airing on Food Network.

In "Alex vs. America," airing Sundays, the chef and cookbook author invites in culinary masters from across the country to compete in their given specialty, be it chocolate, shellfish or sugar.

The catch here is that these areas may or may not be Guarnaschelli's strong suit, thus forcing her to up her game and perhaps stretch her culinary boundaries. The final products undergo a blind tasting and a winner is declared. Eric Adjepong ("Top Chef") is the host.

"It makes me feel like what would normally come into my head to do is not going to cut it here ...," Guarnaschelli explains. "I have a lot of pride when it comes to competing. And does that always means that the pride only comes when you win? No. I think the pride comes, too, when you make a good dish and you're proud of it even if it's not the best dish.

"And then there's the other side of it," she continues, "which is you don't always win. Did you learn? Did you grow? Did you interface with people that you wouldn't have and did you see interpretations of these ingredients or techniques that you didn't know? Absolutely. So the question is, somehow how can you be the master of your universe and a student of it at the same time? And I think viewers might feel a little bit of the same, I'm hoping."

And learning is what it is all about for Guarnaschelli. An executive chef at New York's Butter restaurant with more than 30 years of experience, Guarnaschelli is always ready to add another weapon to her culinary arsenal. And competing against people who are considered to be masters at what they do is a great way to learn – and be humbled.

"Cooking has a way of always cutting you down to size," she says. "There's always another piece of humble pie available for consumption. I like the learning. I like winning. I don't mind that I don't always win. And I love the learning of it. And I love the energy. I didn't know so many people wanted to come and try and beat me."

Rachael Stirling

OF 'HOLLINGTON DRIVE' ON ACORN TV

How much did the trenchcoat help you get into your character of tightly wound suburban teacher Helen in Acorn TV's "Hollington Drive"?

Yeah, the white trenchcoat was the first piece of (costume) that we found and went "Oh my gosh! This is it!" Because it's sort of brilliantly impractical as well as being luxurious. What was that wonderful series, was it called "The Fall" that Gillian Anderson had with sort of silky shirts and that sort of thing? So she's got this sort of silky kind of slightly hinted-at sexual thing but then this magnificent, very impractical white trenchcoat which I absolutely adored and didn't get to take home, I'm sad to say. Actually, it became so symbolic as the character, that coat, that I sort of didn't want it by the end because I just would have been putting on Helen (laughs).

There is an intimidation factor that goes with a trenchcoat.

Exactly, isn't there, yes. And sort of a sumptuous amount of material and a sort of ... virgin version of a kind of Army trenchcoat in that magnificent white. But yes, I loved it. I really love putting her together with costumes.

Was Helen a character you had to breathe out at the end of the day?

Yes, I did. Oh my gosh! Very much so. And in amongst the sort of whole tussle of the end of the show, we had a long, tired day at the end filming ... the thing that everyone's waiting for at the end of episode four. And with various stunts that had been going on, I had a fractured rib at the end of it and I couldn't work. I'm starting a play in February and I've been in crippling (laughs) pain. Yes, stunt gone wrong; there's a bit too much of that nowadays.

tonight's PICKS

Drew Carey

The Price Is Right at Night

8 p.m. on WGCL

There's a reason "The Price Is Right" is the longest-running game show in TV history, and the occasional nighttime editions of the series nearly always draw a big audience (and feature bigger prizes!). Host Drew Carey definitely has his heart in the right place with this newest primetime special, which celebrates first responders, inviting those selfless and tireless souls to "come on down" and compete for some life-changing showcases.

Next Level Chef

9 p.m. on WAGA

In the new episode "Infinite Pastabilities," host Gordon Ramsay and his fellow mentors Richard Blais and Nyesha Arrington challenge their teams to create a delicious Italian dinner. To prove they can create magic in any environment, even when the odds may be stacked against them, for this task each team is randomly assigned to a kitchen. Everyone on the team that creates the best dish wins safety from elimination, but one chef from another team sees his or her dreams go up in smoke.

American Greed

10 p.m. on CNBC

This docuseries hits a 200-episode milestone with "Theranos CEO on Trial," which looks at a corporation founded in 2003 by Elizabeth Holmes, then just 19. The enterprise was hailed as a breakthrough health technology company when it claimed to have devised blood tests that required only tiny amounts of blood that could be analyzed using the company's small automated devices. Those claims were found to be false, resulting in charges of fraud. The case also is the subject of "The Dropout," an upcoming streaming miniseries on Hulu.

Joe Millionaire: For Richer or Poorer

8 p.m. on WAGA

Viewers who are convinced the women competing in this reality show reboot are just in it for the money are not likely to change their mind as this series moves into its regular Thursday time period with “Admit It, You’re a Gold Digger!,” a new episode that — yep! — finds the ladies literally digging for gold. The winners of that challenge get some coveted “alone” time with potential millionaires Steven McBee and Kurt Sowers. Martin Andrew also is on hand as The Butler.

Married to Real Estate

9:01 p.m. on HGTV

Real estate broker and designer Egypt Sherrod and her husband, builder Mike Jackson, “marry” their complementary skills in this new eight-episode series aimed at helping families find a perfect home in their ideal metro Atlanta neighborhood. In the series premiere, Egypt and Mike tour two unique properties with a couple who are big fans of mid-century modern style. Once they choose a property, the clients point out design elements in the original structure that they would love to keep, so Egypt and Mike incorporate those features into their renovation.

B Positive

9:30 p.m. on WGCL

Two-time Tony Award winner Katie Finneran guest stars as Natalie, Gina’s (Annaleigh Ashford) sister, who pays her sibling a surprise visit in a new episode called “S’mores, Elvis and a Cubano.” Meanwhile, Drew (Thomas Middleditch) starts an extended road trip with Harry (Hector Elizondo), unaware that he and his passenger have two totally different destinations in mind. Kether Donohue, Sara Rue, Linda Lavin, Jane Seymour and Ben Vereen also star.

Liev Schreiber

Secrets of Sulphur Springs

8 p.m. on DISN

This hit family mystery series returns for Season 2 with “Only Time Will Tell,” picking up the action from the Season 1 finale, in which a stunned Griffin, Savannah and Harper (Preston Oliver, Elle Graham, Kyliegh Curran) find themselves confronted with a virtual clone of Harper named Daisy. Elsewhere, the ghost of the Tremont Hotel sends Harper and Griffin an important message. Immediately following, in “No Time to Waste” Harper pretends to be Daisy to learn some family secrets, while Topher (Bryant Tardy) stumbles upon the hidden bunker.

Ray Donovan: The Movie

9 p.m. on SHOW

After seven seasons, this acclaimed crime drama calls it a wrap with this two-hour movie finale, which picks up the action pretty much where Season 7 left off. Mickey Donovan (Golden Globe winner Jon Voight) is in the wind, but Ray (Liev Schreiber) vows to do whatever it takes to find his volatile father and stop him before the old man can cause even more carnage. The film also interweaves Ray and Mickey’s origin story from 30 years ago with present-day fallout from the long-running Donovan-Sullivan feud.

Blue Bloods

10 p.m. on WGCL

Danny (Donnie Wahlberg) pursues con man Dickie Delaney (guest star Jimmy Buffett) after the grifter — who pretends to be beloved singer Jimmy Buffett — tricks Danny into paying for his expensive restaurant meal in the new episode “On the Arm.” Meanwhile, Frank (Tom Selleck) investigates New York Police Captain Terrell (guest star Regina Taylor), who is using her badge to acquire goods and services from local stores.

What's Available NOW On

"Betty White Goes Wild!" (Jan. 14)

The streaming service comes forth with this documentary from National Geographic in which White – who passed away Dec. 31 at the age of 99 – heads to the zoos in Los Angeles and San Diego to gain an insight into the behavioral traits of big cats, their everyday lives and the challenges they face in the wild.

"Diary of a Wimpy Kid: Dog Days" (Available now)

Summer can be very long for a youngster with no plans ... and a father who wants him to have some. Such is the plight of young hero Greg (Zachary Gordon) in this family-friendly comedy. Dad (Steve Zahn) is intent on getting his video game-loving son out of the house and active. Greg's admiration of a young country club employee (Peyton List) may help.

"Like Mike" (Available now)

Lil' Bow Wow, Morris Chestnut and Jonathan Lipnicki star in this lightweight but amiable 2002 comedy film about an orphan who is imbued with exceptional basketball talents after he finds a pair of Michael Jordan's shoes after his own footwear is stolen by bullies. Robert Forster and Eugene Levy also star for director John Schultz.

"X-Men: First Class" (Available now)

This 2011 prequel to the earlier films is smart fun, tracing the roots of Professor Xavier and Magneto before they became enemies. James McAvoy and Michael Fassbender handle the roles nicely as the duo bonds in the 1960s to battle a common foe (Kevin Bacon), assisted by mutants determined to use their powers for good. Jennifer Lawrence and January Jones also star for director Matthew Vaughn.

NFL Football

4:30 p.m. on WAGA

NFL playoff action begins this afternoon with two Wild Card games, starting with this NFC contest and followed by an AFC clash in prime time on CBS. The winners here, along with those from tomorrow's two games on CBS and NBC, advance to the divisional round next weekend. Fox's NFL broadcast team includes Joe Buck and Troy Aikman.

Peacemaker

10:15 p.m. on HBO

Writer-director James Gunn created this TV series spinoff from "The Suicide Squad" for HBO's streaming service HBO Max, but non-subscribers to that service can catch the first episode here tonight. In the title role, John Cena reprises his violent character of a merciless killer (real name Christopher Smith) who believes in achieving "peace" at any cost. Steve Agee, Danielle Brooks, Robert Patrick, Jennifer Holland, Freddie Stroma and Chukwudi Iwuji make up the supporting ensemble, with Lochlyn Munro and Christopher Heyerdahl in recurring roles.

Bridget Everett

Killer Relationship With Faith Jenkins

7 p.m. on OXY
Faith Jenkins, a former criminal prosecutor in the Manhattan District Attorney's office, hosts this new series, which explores romances that start out looking like a happily-ever-after in the making, before veering off on a dark detour to a bitter ending. Among the cases scheduled for examination in the eight episodes that make up Season 1, a seemingly solid marriage between two deeply religious people is ruined to ensure that a twisted personal secret doesn't come to light.

Cheat Day USA

9 p.m. on COOK

The Season 1 finale, "Crazy Comfort Food," takes host Robert Irvine on a quest for foods that comfort the soul, leading him to the oldest Irish pub in Philadelphia, where he tucks into meatloaf and mashed potatoes stacked a mile high, as well as fish and chips prepared using a centuries-old secret. Next, in Stamford, Conn., he flirts with a sugar coma after indulging in chocolate-hazelnut peanut butter cut French toast, then samples a chicken cutlet vodka mozzarella melt.

Somebody Somewhere

10:35 p.m. on HBO

Comic and singer Bridget Everett stars in this new seven-episode comedy series as Sam, who may look like a generic Kansan to the untrained eye. The truth is very different, though: Sam feels like an alien to others in her hometown, especially since she's struggling with issues of loss and acceptance as the series opens. Singing is her refuge, an act that leads her on a journey to find herself, and a community of other outsiders who share her "otherness." Jeff Hiller, Mary Catherine Garrison, Danny McCarthy and Mike Hagerty co-star.

James Rutenbeck

Hidden Figures

8 p.m. on FX

One of the biggest sleeper hits of 2016, this biographical drama resonated profoundly for many moviegoers with its account of how NASA mathematicians Katherine Johnson, Dorothy Vaughan and Mary Jackson (Taraji P. Henson, Octavia Spencer, Janelle Monae) managed to cross gender and race lines in 1961 to help launch astronaut John Glenn into outer space. Its ensemble cast won a Screen Actors Guild Award for its collective performance, among many other honors. Air- ing today as part of FX's MLK Day of Remembrance movie marathon.

Summer House

9 p.m. on BRAVO

After spending last summer quarantined together, the house- mates of this unscripted series are back to hustling at their New York jobs during the week, then hitting the Hamptons on the weekends for a social whirl as Season 6 opens. Lindsay Hub- bard, who is at a major personal crossroads, returns, along with Paige DeSorbo, Kyle Cooke, Amanda Batula, Carl Radke, Danielle Olivera, Ciara Miller and Luke Gulbranson. New friends to the group include Andrea Den- ver, Mya Allen and Alex Wach.

Independent Lens

11 p.m. on WGTV

Filmmaker James Rutenbeck set out to make a high-minded documentary about how en- gagement with the humanities can transform the lives of those facing economic hardship and its attendant challenges. After spending a few years among students in his target area of focus, however, Rutenbeck realized his film's premise was gravely flawed and reflected his own complicity in racist struc- tures and assumptions. "A Reck- oning in Boston" chronicles the filmmaker's epiphany.

tonight's PICKS

Rick Lagina

The Kings of Napa
8 p.m. on OWN

In the new episode “She’s Gotta Crush It,” Vanessa (Karen LeBlanc) accepts an award on behalf of Reginald even as she is trying to come to terms with some harsh truths about her husband’s past. Meanwhile, August (Ebonée Noel) receives an unnerving call, one that leaves her convinced that someone is targeting the estate. Elsewhere, Bridgette (Yaani King Mondschein) grows convinced that she is being treated unfairly, so she fights to get her job back.

Great Performances
9 p.m. on WGTV

The new one-hour episode “Reopening — The Broadway Revival” pulls back the curtain to reveal how some of the most popular shows in New York undertook the monumental process of turning the lights back on after its pandemic-induced shutdown, the longest hiatus in history for the Great White Way. Hosted by Frank DiLella, the documentary views this reawakening from the perspective of such luminaries as Tony Award winners Adrienne Warren (“Tina: The Tina Turner Musical”) and Aaron Tveit (“Moulin Rouge”), along with Chita Rivera and Kristin Chenoweth.

Beyond Oak Island
10:03 p.m. on HIST

A new episode called “The Buried Loot of Sam Bass” finds Rick and Marty Lagina, along with Matty Blake, contributing their skill and experience to treasure hunters Donna McCauley and Gypsy Jewels as they search two erstwhile criminal hideouts in Mineral Springs, Texas. Either or both of these sites is believed by some to be where the notorious outlaw Sam Bass stashed more than a million dollars in stolen gold.

From Fox News to CNN: Why Chris Wallace made his move

Q: Why did Chris Wallace leave Fox News Channel after so long? – Kathy Miles, Buffalo, N.Y.

A: If one takes what he had to say about it at face value, the veteran newsman (and son of fellow television-news veteran Mike Wallace) was presented with a new challenge elsewhere and decided to accept it. He'll be joining CNN+ when that streaming-service corollary of the cable network launches later in 2022, and he'll reportedly do a weekday program that will let him address subjects beyond politics.

It also must be noted, though, that Wallace spent a lot of time delineating for critics between what he does and what Fox News Channel's weeknight opinion-show hosts do. It's possible that he might have decided the time to keep doing that was over, and Wallace's new program is being designed around his hard-news approach. At least for now, "Fox News Sunday" is being handled by a rotating set of anchors in the immediate aftermath of Wallace's departure from that news operation.

Q: I often hear Sunny Hostin reference her legal background on "The View." Exactly what sort of an attorney is she? – Susan Levy, Clovis, Calif.

A: With a Doctor of Law degree from Notre Dame Law School, she first went to work as a law clerk for a retired chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals, then joined the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice as a trial attorney. Following that, Hostin became a federal prosecutor specializing in child sex crimes ... and while she's typically passionate (along with the show's other hosts) about the subjects she addresses on the weekday ABC program, that's likely why that subject elicits such particularly strong responses from her.

Hostin also has dived into other areas of the law professionally, as with her time at risk-consultant firm Kroll, where she served as a managing director of business intelligence and investigations. In that role, she oversaw investigators who looked into cases of fraud around the globe.
