COVINGTON, Ga. — On the eve of Martin Luther King Jr. Day, Stacey Abrams told Newton County residents that the fight for voting rights was far from over.

Abrams, who is a Democrat gubernatorial candidate in Georgia, and Sen. Rev. Raphael Warnock, D-Ga., addressed the topic of voting Sunday during Newton County's 37th Annual Commemorative Celebration of the Life and Legacy of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., which was live streamed via Facebook.

COVINGTON, Ga. — Area residents were honored Sunday for their contributions to the "peace and unity" of Newton County ahead of Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

Longtime resident Freda Reed was recipient of the "I Have a Dream" Award during the 37th Annual Commemorative Celebration of the Life and Legacy of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., which was live streamed via Facebook.

To be nominated for the "I Have a Dream" Award, nominees must have given at least two years of service to the Newton County community; must be a registered voter; is affiliated with a church/synagogue/worship center; made contributions to the community that are not for profit and visible to the community; made nondiscriminatory contributions; models a spirit of peace and unity; is one who will initiate and support change; must be endowed with a humble spirit; must be steadfast in his/her convictions; and must be one who fosters and supports education on all levels.

Reed, who has been called a "fearless crusader and advocate" for the youth and elderly across the county, is director of Newton County Senior Services Inc., where she has worked for more than 20 years. In this role, Reed has worked to help make the lives of the elderly participants remain independent and active.

After realizing many seniors in the community were the sole caregivers in their household and even raising their grandchildren, Reed was inspired to write a grant application seeking funding to organize the Great and Grand Program, which offers one week of camp for area youth, and helps get school supplies, clothes and counseling to students.

Reed is a member of Saint Paul AME Church. She is married to Rickey Reed, Sr., the mother of two adult children and two grandchildren.

Weston Brown received the Trailblazer Award.

To be nominated for the Trail-blazer Award, nominees must be a longtime resident of Newton County; must be a registered voter; must be a creator of change in the community and follow through to implementation; change facilitated by the nominee must be a benefit to the community; must be resourceful and committed to all aspects of the county; and the nominee must foster a cohesive spirit of "peace, unity, diversity and love."

Brown, originally from Blakely, Georgia, has been described as a "gentle giant" within the Newton County community. Brown was the first African American teacher to integrate Newton County Comprehensive High School in 1967; he taught construction.

Brown was named Newton High's Teacher of the Year in 1974 and 1982. He was also named the state's construction teacher of the year.

In 2000, Brown retired from teaching after spending a total of 33 years in the classroom. However, today, at the age of 80, former students, community leaders and business owners

COVINGTON, Ga. — Despite consistent snowfall in Newton County on Sunday, temperatures above freezing helped keep it from accumulating and causing hazardous road conditions Monday morning.

In a Saturday weather outlook,

National Weather Service forecasters estimated the top half of Newton County could receive up to 2 inches of snow, which cause icy roads and various power outages. The bottom half of the county was predicted to see little-to-no impact. And for all

Tony Bowden J.C. Harwell & Son Funeral Home

Mr. Tony Bowden, age 81, passed away Thursday, January 13, 2022. He was born in Social Circle on February 22, 1940 to Pete and Vira Bowden who have preceded him in death. Mr. Bowden grew up in Social Circle and graduated from Social Circle High School. He proudly served in the United States Army. Mr. Bowden worked as a superintendent for Batson-Cook in Atlanta where he built numerous buildings all over metro Atlanta and the Southeastern United States. While growing up in Social Circle he was a member of Sewell United Methodist Church and for many years he attended and was very active at Shiloh United Methodist Church. Tony enjoyed fishing, gardening "growing the best tomatoes in Newton County", he was a true fan of the Atlanta Braves, he enjoyed NASCAR, and nothing made him happier than being with his grandchildren who affectionately called him "Two". Along with his parents he was preceded in death by his wife Sandra Bowden, his brothers

Don and Jon Bowden. Mr. Bowden is survived by his daughter and son-in-law Tonia and Tony Paramore of Athens; his grandchildren Bryce and Samantha; his brother Jerry Bowden of Social Circle; his sister and brother-in-law Sue and Harold Malcom of Social Circle; his dog Lola; along with a host of nieces, nephews, other family and close friends. Funeral services for Mr. Bowden will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday, January 19, 2022 at Shiloh United Methodist Church with Reverend Mike Wadley officiating. Interment will follow at Lawnwood Memorial Park. The family will receive friends at the church from 1:00 PM until 2:00 PM Wednesday prior to the service. In lieu of flowers the family suggest donations be made to either Sewell United Methodist Church, 1660 Sewell Church Road, Mansfield, GA 30055 or Shiloh United Methodist Church, 10 Almon Road, Covington, GA 30016. The family respectfully ask that all in attendance please wear a mask and practice social distancing during this time together.

Weston Louise Barnette Caldwell & Cowan Funeral Home

Weston Louise Barnette passed away on January 13, 2022. She was preceded in death by her parents, Ralph and Nettie Reagan Fuller; and son, Randy Williams. Weston was married to Tom Williams for 40 years and to Joe Barnette for two years. She is survived by her son and daughter-in-law, Sammy & Martha Williams; daughter-in-law, Sharyn Williams; and sister, Lillian Farmer. Her grandchildren are Mary Williams, Keith Williams (Leah), Travis Williams (Nicolette), Michael Williams (Katie), Lindsey Williams (Michelle), and Amy Tyre (Matthew); and 9 great-grandchildren. Weston was a member of Sardis Congregational Church and Salem United Methodist Church. She was employed by Oxford Manufacturing Company and Kroger. She was a private caterer for many years. Weston loved baking and was well known for her delicious cakes and peanut brittle. Additionally, she enjoyed growing jonquils. Weston loved to travel with the AARP on road trips throughout the country. She was a faithful supporter of Ma and Pa's Opry. The family wishes to express their sincere appreciation for the loving care given by Merryvale Assisted Living and Abbey Hospice. A Funeral Service for Weston will be held Wednesday, January 19, 2022, 11:00 A.M., at the Chapel of Caldwell & Cowan, 1215 Access Road, in Covington, with Carol Standard officiating. Friends are invited to visit with the family at the funeral home one hour prior to her service from 10:00 – 11:00 A.M. The family has requested a private interment. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Salem United Methodist Church, 3962 Salem Road, Covington, Georgia 30016. This obituary was crafted with love and care by Weston's family. Governor Brian Kemp's latest executive order has eliminated restrictions on large gatherings; however, CDC guidelines recommend social distancing (6 feet apart) and wearing of masks while in public. ### Patricia Garst Caldwell & Cowan Funeral Home

Patricia Garst, of Covington, passed away Thursday, December 23, 2021, at the age of 59. Patty graduated from Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College with a Veterinary Assistant degree. She performed her externship at her grandmother's farm, Lena Turner, in Bruce, Mississippi. Patty assisted with the births of many calves. She later would earn her Bachelors Degree in the Arts from Ashford University. Her Grandma and mother taught her to be an exceptional cook throughout her life. Patty had endearing memories of her childhood, particularly of attending Vacation Bible School in all of the locations she lived. She commented often of memories relating to her Grandmother Bradford and her Great Aunts. On many occasions, Patty and her two sisters would dress up in old 1920's and 1930's outfits. They would perform for all the family while everyone sat in rockers and swings on the porch. All the while fireflies beamed all around them and the owls hooted from somewhere on the edge of the woods. This being one of Patty's cherished childhood memories. Mrs. Garst was a warm soul and made everywhere home. She had the biggest most wonderful laugh, and her kind smile and exuberance would light up any room. She loved to cook and entertain family. Feeding the geese and having lunch at the monastery was one of her favorite things to do. Mrs. Garst loved fishing and traveling to the mountains. Above all of these things, the most important part of her whole life was loving her grandchildren and being an integral part of each of their lives. She was preceded in death by her father, James Garrett Bradford. Although Patty has passed all too soon, she had a wonderful life. She touched more people than she probably ever would know. She taught kindness and compassion by example and left a mark on this world that will not be soon forgotten. Survivors include her loving husband, John Garst; daughters, Sarah Holland (Chet), Laura Brandon (Cullen Moss) Cathleen Clines (Cameron), Cheryl L. Garst; sons, James H. Brandon III (Emily), John G. Garst (Cynthia), Michael W. Garst (Daniel Ballon); grandchildren, Ava Kay Holland, Margot Jean Holland, Caiden Xander Moss, Walker Thomas Brandon, James H. Brandon, IV, Christina Clines, Caitlyn Clines, J. Alexander Garst; mother, Faye Welsh; sisters, Dr. Cheryl Billingsley (John), Sandy Hammac; brother, Commander James Bradford (Adele); as well as several nieces and nephews. A Memorial Service for Mrs. Garst will be held Saturday, January 22, 2022, 2:00 P.M., at the Chapel of Caldwell & Cowan, 1215 Access Road, in Covington, with Pastor David Armstrong-Reiner officiating. Friends are invited to visit with the family at the funeral home two hours prior to her service, from 12 Noon - 2:00 P.M. It was Patty's wishes that in-lieu of donating flowers, individuals who are able, please go donate blood. During her treatment for Diffuse B Cell lymphoma, there were many times she had to wait on blood due to shortage in emergent times. Every time she received blood, she always expressed her gratitude for the people who selflessly donate. Please visit The American Red Cross for blood donation locations and information. <https://www.redcross.org/> Governor Brian Kemp's latest executive order has eliminated restrictions on large gatherings; however, CDC guidelines recommend social distancing (6 feet apart) and wearing of masks while in public. # Heard-Mixon Elementary fifth-grader named NCSS Spelling Bee winner

STAFF REPORTS
news@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Heard-Mixon Elementary School fifth-grader Rylan Yeager outlasted 18 other students through 17 rounds Friday to win Newton County School System’s (NCSS) 2022 District Spelling Bee.

Rylan and the runner-up, Cameron Rutberg of Newton County Theme School, battled it out for multiple rounds before the Heard-Mixon student successfully spelled “drizzle” to win the competition at Porter Performing Arts Center.

“I was so happy,” Rylan said.

“I did not think I would win, and I did not even know there was a trophy for this one. I thought there was only a trophy for the national (spelling bee),” she said while clutching her blue and gold award.

Rylan had to sit through three rounds of not competing while Bee officials called contestants back up to the stage after none were able to spell the words they were given.

Cameron, a fifth-grader, was able to get past the others who returned to the stage. But he earned the runner-up spot after not being able to out-spell Rylan in the final rounds.

Rylan noted she prepared for the Bee by asking people to give her practice words. On the the morning of the Spelling Bee she even tried reading a dictionary for some last-minute studying, she said.

She added that she was somewhat surprised by the difficulty of many of the words called in the Bee.

Words like “mortification,” “bivouac” and “Cantonese” were among those tripping up spellers. Other words originated in India or in 1700s Europe, while geographical names like Des Moines, Iowa’s capital city, also were thrown in.

“There were some really hard words in this one,” she said. “Some of them were very easy and basic but some of them were words I’ve never even heard of.”

As a result, Rylan said she would definitely be reading her dictionary to help prepare for the upcoming competition representing Newton County Schools in the Regional Bee at Edwards Middle School in Conyers Feb. 26.

Penny Mosley, NCSS director of elementary schools, said she was “very proud of Rylan.”

“She did a phenomenal job today. Many of the words called were pulled from the Scripps National Spelling Bee winners’ list, so they weren’t easy,” Mosley said.

“Rylan is only in fifth grade and was competing against the best elementary and middle school spellers in the county. Her win says a lot about her ability.

“As a result, I have no doubt she will represent our school system very well in the Regional Spelling Bee next month,” Mosley said.

NCSS Director of Public Relations Sherri Partee contributed to this report.

Oxford College opts to begin spring semester classes in remote format

STAFF REPORTS
news@covnews.com

Due to the rise in COVID-19 cases, Oxford College opted to begin the spring semester in a remote format.

In-person courses may resume Jan. 31, if conditions are permissible, school officials announced in a newsletter. Residence halls have remained open with some students on campus throughout the remote period, although all classes were being held online.

As of Dec. 28, Emory

University had moved to its “orange operating status,” which means:

- Nonacademic indoor and outdoor gatherings will be limited to 25 persons or fewer.
- All nonessential events and gatherings should be postponed or moved to a virtual setting.
- Indoor dining is not permitted for any event or gathering.
- Masks are still required in all indoor public and common spaces on campus and strongly encouraged almosts in winning it all at last.

“There’s no describing the experience of it all,” Jourdan said.

It meant a lot to him as the culmination of a childhood steeped in UGA.

“Both my parents (Eastside teacher Lee and Betsy Jourdan) and my brother (Lee Jourdan Jr.) went to UGA,” Jourdan said. “I grew up pretty much surrounded by it.”

In particular, he grew up obsessed with the Redcoats.

“We had season tickets to Georgia football games,” Jourdan said. “I went with them from the time I was a little kid but I had trouble focusing on the game because I was always distracted by the band. I’ve wanted to be a Redcoat since I was 6.”

He joined the Redcoats as soon as he reached UGA but last year’s season was a disappointment due to COVID-19 restrictions. The one home game he was schedule to attend, against Vanderbilt, was canceled and never rescheduled, meaning he never got to take the stands as a player.

This year was different, as he traveled with the band to places like Charlotte, North Carolina; Miami, Florida, for the Orange Bowl; and, of course, Indy for the biggest game of them all.

“It was very cool,” Jourdan said.

He wasn’t the only person from Monroe in the stands wearing a Redcoats uniform, of course.

Isaac Stone, a sophomore at UGA and a graduate of Monroe Area High School, also was at the game decked out in the Redcoats finery, a sousaphone draped over his shoulders as he took in the seemingly impossible win.

“It was surreal,” Stone said. “It was insane. When Ringo caught that interception, the stadium exploded. Everyone around us were crying and cheering.”

Stone was aware of the title drought of course, but it was hard to really imagine how long that had been for some fans.

“I knew we hadn’t won since 1980,” Stone said. “It was devastating when we lost the SEC championship, so it was great to see us come out and play so hard Monday night. It was an unforgettable experience.”

Amanda Foley, who teaches nutrition and food science at Monroe Area High School, was there with the Redcoats as their flagline coordinator, a title she’s held since 2017. This was her second trip to the national title game with the Redcoats, but she far preferred the outcome this time around.

“2017 was just a dream,” Foley said. “We never expected that season to happen that way or to get to where we did. When we lost the championship, it was just devastating.”

This season, she said, felt much different.

“We knew this team was special,” Foley said. “It was wild.”

Foley had tried to keep her expectations in check going into the game.

“As a true Georgia fan basically my entire life, I went into the game trying not to get too excited or get my hopes up too much,” Foley said.

“I tend to try and distract myself with work, since I have the flagline to oversee. But it was phenomenal. It was the most exciting event I’ve been to in my entire life.”

She said she truly started to get excited in the fourth quarter, but kept her hopes in check until Ringo’s interception essentially sealed the win.

“Everyone was losing their minds,” Foley said. “My girls were crying even as they kept trying to do their routines in the stands to ‘Glory.’ We were all screaming so loud. I was hoarse for the next two days.”

She said she’s still coming down from the adrenaline high, and the party isn’t even over for her and the band, as they’ll be performing Saturday at the UGA parade and celebration for the historic championship win.

“It’s the best thing I’ve ever been to, ever,” Foley said.

It’s hard to look past the celebration, but the offseason looms, giving everyone time to prepare for the fall and a new season as defending national champs.

Stone said he hoped to see more success for the Bulldogs.

“I’m really excited for next year,” Stone said. “I can’t wait to see what the team can do next.”

Why don't Georgians listen to weather forecasts?

As former co-worker Dan Whittle used to say, Newton County was unable to dodge an icy bullet Sunday after we avoided most of the ice that many feared could cover our roads and electric lines and bring down tree limbs.

Kudos to our county and state road crews who had us prepared for the worst anyway. The lesson learned from this past weekend, however, is this: We should all listen to what the weather forecast says.

We should be prepared for something that may keep us in our homes for days, but not for a few hours.

Forecasters I heard said any ice or snow would be gone in a day. Yet, people still went to the grocery stores and grabbed all the milk and bread they could.

Now we face continued empty shelves because of the problems that have been around for a year or more such as supply chain issues, staffing shortages, etc.

Meanwhile, once again, it shows Metro Atlanta residents hear only the parts of weather forecasts they want to hear and not all of them.

Special to The News

Newton County public works crews were out Sunday night into the early hours of Monday morning salting roads and making sure area highways were in safe travel condition.

• • •

If you believe the government wasted resources preparing for a winter event Friday, I would refer you to news accounts from Jan. 29, 2014.

As a veteran Metro Atlanta commuter with the scars from almost eight years ago when the legendary "Snowpocalypse" event occurred, I'm even more grateful they used them.

For those of you who didn't live in the area at the time: Despite almost no real predictions about what was about to occur, a weekday morning rain turned into slippery ice on roads as temperatures dropped quickly through the morning and early afternoon.

As it became apparent what was happening, Georgia's government leadership decided at about 2 p.m. all state employees should go home immediately — just as most area school districts decided all students should go home at the same time. As that impending traffic disaster happened, ice formed on roads in a way that only allowed vehicles to travel about 5 mph — and it got worse as the day wore on.

School buses got stuck in mid-travel with emergency vehicles unable to get to them, trapping some students for 12 hours on buses with no food, water or bathrooms. Thousands of vehicles had to rely on good Samaritans to push them simply to gain enough momentum to roll up hills because any use of a gas pedal would only make tires spin. Motorists by the thousands were forced to walk in 20-degree temperatures after leaving their vehicles on the sides of roads and interstates.

But we still have to be prepared for another forecasted winter storm this weekend.

We got lucky this past weekend. Let's hope any complacency doesn't leave us unprepared simply because we've grown accustomed to dodging bad weather.

• • •

Lost amid surging COVID numbers, winter weather woes and sometimes dysfunctional and opaque local government was the Georgia General Assembly returning to Atlanta for the last half of its 2021-22 session.

One good thing that may come from this session is legislation that would increase the level of mental health care in Georgia.

The bill is the work of the Georgia Behavioral Health Reform and Innovation Committee, of which District 17 State Sen. Brian Strickland, R-McDonough, is a member.

The legislation has not been filed as of this writing. But a draft version of the bill showed it could, among other things, address staffing shortages in the mental health field by providing incentives for people to get trained as mental health workers.

It also could encourage insurance companies to provide coverage for mental health at the same level as physical health.

However, this is an election year so the session may not last as long as last year's first half which saw a controversial, 98-page voting law, Senate Bill 202, approved.

Gov. Brian Kemp, who faces a strong re-election challenge this year from both the right and left, already has called for using an almost $1 billion surplus in a number of areas.

In the amended Fiscal Year 2022 budget he said he will recommend a one-time, $2,000 payment to full-time, state-funded instructional and school support staff and administrators and a $1,000 payment to school bus drivers, nurses, nutrition workers and part-time employees.

In the 2023 budget, he said he wants to give teachers statewide a $2,000 annual raise and a $5,000 raise to state law enforcement and other state employees.

He said he plans to use $7 million for improvements and staffing for the GBI which

Columnist hates the face masks we are wearing

I'm just going to say it. I hate the face masks we are wearing these days.

Before you click "send" on an angry e-mail reply, let me explain. Yes, I understand they are useful tools in fighting the spread of COVID-19. I am required to wear one in my workplace, and I have no quarrel with that. My employer has been super cautious since the beginning of the pandemic, and the strategy seems to have been successful to this point.

While some critics rage about the changing protocols involving vaccines, boosters, and masks, I know scientists are aiming at a moving target. Dr. Anthony Fauci is a convenient villain for people who are tired of the pandemic, but after researching his life's work and achievements, I would take his advice before following any self-proclaimed Facebook University expert.

But yes, I'm over the masks. If and when there's a day when someone in authority can say, "Put your masks away, it's safe to breathe again," we should create a national holiday. Organize a parade on Main Street, and I'll supply the confetti.

In the early days of the pandemic, I missed the smiles, the eye contact, and the nods of recognition when glancing at a familiar face. We went to school together, didn't we? Didn't I used to work with you? Our kids played on the same team, right? Such moments have been taken away, replaced by fearful eyes, staring straight ahead. Our body language says,

"Don't come near me. Just pretend I'm not here."

We're coming up on two years of masked life. I work with a young man in my TV studio. We've spent a couple of hours a day together for about a year. I have never seen his face. He tries to give me direction. I wear an earpiece that blasts the sounds of my newscast into my head, so I'll know when to start talking, and when to stop. He tries to tell me about last-second changes. Often his eyes are big, as if he is saying something important. He will point toward an item on my desk, like the page of a script.

"Bloop gumm satchawhillack shruggerum," is what it sounds like. It's not his fault. He could be telling me my shoes are on fire, for all I know. Lord, take that mask away.

I had another friend, an elderly gent in his nineties. He recently passed away. He was sharp as a tack. A snappy dresser, and a voracious reader who kept up with current events. But he was a wee bit vain. I'm sure he was a ladies man in his day, and he always took pride in his appearance. That's why he wouldn't wear a hearing aid. He tried one of those "invisible miracle" gadgets for a while, and it was a dud.

Still, he was a heck of a lip reader. He got by on that skill for several years, until the pandemic. Everywhere he went, he encountered the mask. At the doctor's office. At restaurants and supermarkets. And at church, people were talking, even shouting to him from behind their mask. It came out sounding like my TV studio friend, except even more frantic. "HI JOHN! APPA NISHE LEBBER YAR FERRING!" He had no idea they were trying to compliment him on the sweater he was wearing. Please, rid us of these masks.

I've never particularly enjoyed telephone conversations, especially with hurried people who answer as if they've just made a pit stop at Indy. Even pre-mask, it was often, "Herman's Hardware, this is Melfergiddy speaking!" Now with that person muffled by a mask, I might as well be speaking to someone in Pakistan.

Like many of you, I was duped into thinking this whole ordeal would be over within a matter of weeks, or perhaps a few months. Now, we're starting to see evidence of stalled learning at school. Achievement scores, graduation rates, and ACT results are headed in the wrong direction.

As the pandemic drags on, what about the language comprehension and speech development for elementary students who are trying to decipher this masked-up world? What's it like growing up in a world of faceless strangers? How must it be not being exposed to the smiles, laughter, and spontaneity that humanity once offered?

Certainly, those with vision and hearing impairments have long dealt with this and conquered obstacles most of us never faced. It can be done, and they have proven this many times over.

So for the lip readers, those who love chance encounters, and the lonely among us who need a kind word and a smile, please God: Bring us a cure, provide immunity, and allow us to shed the masks. Then let's make a pact: Never take the little things for granted again.

intents and purposes, it appeared forecasters got it right. As snowy, windy storm blew across the metro Sunday, few downed trees and power outages were reported in Newton County.

Customers of the city of Covington, Georgia Power and Snapping Shoals EMC suffered power outages over the weekend, but most customers' electricity was restored by Monday morning.

Calls of downed trees as result of high winds measuring 20-35 mph and gusts up to 50 mph were reported in Newton County, but public works crews were able to respond quickly and keep roads cleared.

Late Sunday evening into the early Monday morning hours, county crews pretreated bridges and major intersections to prevent potential "black ice." Salt trucks were also on standby in case of reported issues.

As of Monday morning, Newton County Sheriff's Office spokesperson Caitlin Jett said there had been no reports of vehicle incidents related to winter weather/inclement road conditions.

Various counties in north Georgia were among the most impacted areas. Some residents reported nearly 4 inches of snow accumulation.

Economic developer backs out of Rivian town hall

STAFF REPORTS

The Walton Tribune

MADISON, Ga. — A local economic developer has backed out of a town hall meeting after intense public backlash over the Rivian Inc. truck plant.

Shane Short, the executive director of the Development Authority of Walton County, has declined to participate in the meeting planned for Thursday night in Rutledge.

Short, who recruits for the four-county Joint Development Authority that is bringing Rivian to Stanton Springs, told the Morgan County Citizen on Monday he would not attend the meeting. He cited personal attacks.

Gov. Brian Kemp announced last month the California-based company would make a $5 billion investment on a plant sited on nearly 2,000 acres straddling Morgan and Walton counties near the intersection of Interstate 20 and U.S. 278.

Kemp said the project would bring about 7,500 jobs to the area, but some nearby aren't pleased with the prospect of growth.

Shane Short

"There is nothing more that I can provide at this point," Short told the Madison newspaper.

"There has been too much anger and attacks at me personally and I have nothing further to say."

Short said he would meet with individuals and small groups but had no plans to have more large public meetings as he conducted last week at Social Circle Middle School.

JoEllen Artz of Rutledge said Short's decision does not mean the meeting is canceled. She told the newspaper she hoped to get another JDA representative to meet with neighbors

Thursday night.

The meeting is planned for Philadelphia Baptist Church, at 4031 Davis Academy Road.

Short said he canceled the meeting due to "personal attacks."

He said future information about the project would have to come from the JDA, the state or Rivian itself.

The JDA will meet again Jan. 25 at the Morgan County Government Administration Building in Madison. Authority meetings are open to the public.

Rivian has said it will have a town hall meeting, but the date and place haven't been set.

Mansfield to hold special election March 15 for Council Post 5

By TAYLOR BECK

tbeck@covnews.com

MANSFIELD, Ga. — A special election will be held March 15 to fill the vacant Post 5 seat on the Mansfield City Council.

Post 5 was up for grabs in the latest municipal election cycle, but no candidates qualified to run for the seat. In August, despite seats for Post 3-5 being up for election, incumbents for Post 3 (Blair Northen) and Post 4 (Austin Mitchell) were the only candidates to qualify in the 2021 municipal election cycle. By law, Mansfield was allowed to forego holding an election.

No one qualified to run for Post 5, a seat left empty after former councilman Bryan Hale resigned in July 2021.

Now, Mansfield will look to see that position filled through a special election slated for March 15. Whoever wins the seat will serve through Dec. 31, 2025.

In a recent interview with The News, Mayor G.W. Davis said the council had seen interest from two people for the Post 5 spot.

Qualifying will be Feb. 14-18 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day at city hall, located at 3146 Hwy. 11 S. The qualifying fee is

The last day for residents to register to vote in the special election is Feb. 14.

If needed, a runoff may be held April 12.

Incorporated in 1903, Mansfield is located in east Newton County with a population of approximately 442, per the 2020 Census. The city has a total area of approximately 1.1 square miles.

Georgia Republicans rankled by Biden’s voting rights agenda

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA – President Joe Biden put the spotlight on Georgia when he traveled to Atlanta Jan. 11 to pitch federal voting rights legislation stalled in the U.S. Senate. But to the Peach State’s Republican leaders, it was unwelcome attention. They bristled at the Democratic president’s portrayal of the Peach State as ground zero for a GOP-led voter suppression movement aimed at reversing Republican losses in 2020. “We’re the No.-1 state in the nation for election integrity,” Georgia House Speaker David Ralston said the day after Biden’s visit. “More Georgians are voting now than ever before.” Indeed, record voter turnout in November 2020 helped Biden become the first Democratic presidential candidate to carry Georgia since Bill Clinton in 1992.

Two months later, another huge turnout lifted Democrats Jon Ossoff and Raphael Warnock to victory over two incumbent Republican senators in runoff elections. Georgia Republicans reacted by passing sweeping election overhaul legislation last March. Among other things, the bill requires voters casting absentee ballots to present ID. It also limits the number of absentee-ballot drop boxes, which became a popular method of voting in 2020 as the coronavirus pandemic raged and vaccines weren’t yet available. While Republicans argued such steps promote election integrity, Democrats charged they were part of an effort by the GOP to make it harder for voters – particularly voters of color – to cast ballots. Minority voters historically have supported Democratic candidates. Warnock made a business case against the new state law and in favor of federal voting rights legislation Jan. 12 when he spoke at the annual Eggs and Issues breakfast sponsored by the Georgia Chamber of Commerce. He said Georgia’s new restrictions on voting have cost the state business investment, notably Major League Baseball’s decision to pull last summer’s All-Star Game out of Georgia. “Voter suppression is not good for business,” Warnock said. “Opening up [voter] access is the right thing to do and the smart thing to do.” But in an election year, some Georgia Republicans are looking to double down on the election-law changes the General Assembly adopted last year. State Senate President Pro Tempore Butch Miller, who is running for lieutenant governor, has introduced legislation to abolish drop boxes altogether and a constitutional amendment prohibiting non-U.S. citizens from voting. Warnock said the General Assembly should not consider getting rid of drop boxes while COVID-19 is still a threat. But Miller, R-Gainesville, noted there was no provision in state law for the boxes until the virus hit Georgia in March 2020. “Drop boxes were introduced as an emergency measure during the pandemic, but many counties did not follow the security guidelines in place, such as the requirement for camera surveillance on every drop box,” he said last fall when he pre-filed his bill. “Moving forward, we can return to a pre-pandemic normal of voting in person.” Miller’s constitutional amendment banning non-citizen voting won approval in the state Senate Ethics Committee last Thursday largely along party lines over objections from opponents who pointed out such a ban already exists in both state and federal law. But the measure could be headed for trouble when it reaches the full Senate. Constitutional changes require support from a two-thirds majority in each legislative chamber, and the Senate doesn’t have enough Republicans to attain that margin without help from Democrats. Even if Miller’s proposals make it through the Senate, their prospects in the House appear slim. Ralston, R-Blue Ridge, said the legislature has too many important priorities to tackle to get caught up in election-year politics. “I refuse to allow this state to be used by those who would change longstanding rules for political gain,” he said.

VISION:

theme of “creating the beloved community,” in which the power of the vote and voting rights were featured heavily throughout. Portions of King’s 1966 speech in Kingstree, South Carolina, where he called on audience members to register to vote and also get others to register and make sure they cast a ballot, was featured in the program. Warnock said he was working in Washington, D.C. with King’s vision of the “beloved community” in mind. “From health care to housing to defending the dignity of work and critical civil liberties, from protecting the sacred right to vote for every eligible citizen, to creating good-paying jobs, to combatting the existential threat of climate change, we are still working on Dr. King’s unfinished business,” Warnock said. “For years I’ve been inspired by Dr. King’s courage and his vision for a beloved community. And his words that we are tied in a single garment of destiny caught up in an inescapable network of mutuality — whatever affects one directly affects all of us indirectly. “And every vote and decision I make in the United States Senate I try my best to reflect that simple truth, because Dr. King was correct. And that wisdom applies, whether we are talking about justice and striving for equity, or investing in a better community and strengthening economic opportunity for all of us. “... Let me be clear. We can, and in this defining moment we must, all work to knit our single garment of destiny together.” To conclude the ceremony, Abrams recalled the story of Maceo Snipes, a World War II veteran who was shot in the back and killed after casting his vote in the Georgia Democratic Primary of July 1946. “He died for using his right to vote,” Abrams said. “From that story, I think about the progress we have made as a nation that the idea that casting your ballot will cost you your life is no longer part of our narrative.” Abrams said King played major role in changing the narrative in his 1946 letter to editor of the Atlanta Journal, decrying the murder of Snipes. “At the age of 17, a freshman at Morehouse College, [King] understood that adding his voice to that narrative,” she said, “calling out this heinous crime in Troup County, Georgia, was part of his responsibility.

"And from this story, I take the conversation progress very seriously," Abrams added. "I know you've heard from Sen. Raphael Warnock, who is part of the notion for progress in this nation. Someone who has taken his place in the U.S. Senate and lifted up the questions of our democracy and legitimacy of our ends, and he does so with the legacy of Martin Luther King but also with the legacy of Maceo Snipes. Because you see, the fight for the right to vote is the fight to avenge the unavenged murder of Maceo Snipes. It is the fight to say that we deserve the progress that comes from having our voices heard." After telling the story of Otis Moss, another Georgia veteran who wanted to exercise his right to vote in Troup County in the 1946 elections but was ultimately denied through acts of voter suppression, Abrams said voter suppression remained an issue today, despite much progress in voting rights overall. “As much as I applaud the legacy of our progress of Maceo Snipes, I fear for the perseverance of voter suppression,” she said. “Because you see, Troup County may become Lincoln County this year.”

Abrams said Lincoln County, outside of Augusta, had decided that due to its population decreasing, the government was going to eliminate polling places and essentially only have one polling place. “The argument being the population is too small to support the number of polling places,” she said. “And I push back because I think the number of polling places is not dependent on how many people can vote. It’s dependent on how many people should be able to vote. You see, if Lincoln County shuts down those polling places they are discussing, an Otis Moss may find himself without a car, without public transit, forced to walk miles to try and cast a ballot, one of the most basic and fundamental acts of democracy — of citizenship. And how do we know that but for a polling place a few miles closer ... his ability to cast a ballot could be made real? “And we can’t think about these things in a vacuum,” Abrams continued, “because we know in the state of Georgia it has been made evident, not only through the law they’ve passed but the evidence we’ve seen, that because of the restrictions put on the right to vote in Georgia in 2021, we have fewer people who can cast their ballots using absentee balloting because the schedules make no sense. Fewer people are using that right, because drop boxes have started to disappear. "We have people in our government fighting to limit the right to vote," she said, "so while Maceo Snipes may not be repeated, sadly, Otis Moss' story perseveres. “And so while we celebrate the progress we have made, we have to hold our attention, focused on the perseverance and persistence of segregation. This time not segregation based on race, but based on whether they think your voice should be heard or not. Our voices should be heard or not.” Abrams believed it was important to recognize progress made but also continue to persevere and persist, and to get the John Lewis Voting Rights Advancement Act passed in Congress. The proposed act would restore the Voting Rights Act of 1965's requirement that certain states pre-clear certain changes to their voting laws with the federal government. On August 24, 2021, the U.S. House of Representatives passed the bill by a margin of 219–212. On November 3, 2021, the bill failed to pass the Senate after failing to get the 60 votes needed to invoke cloture. “Georgia, Newton County, we’ve got to remember that we’ve got the power already, and we have shown that power in 2020 and 2021 and it is not the power to elect a particular person. It is the power, it is the strength in our numbers, because we have record turnout in this state, record turnout in communities that have been discounted and discredited and discouraged for decades, for centuries. And yet in the wake of a pandemic and voter suppression action that we have not seen in so many years, we still saw people turn out.” Abrams said King taught the people that “power is ours; it’s not just about finding the power for others, it’s finding the power in ourselves.” “We will find the power to make our voices heard,” she said. “We will find the power to protect our people. We will find the power to change our stars and set our future because the power belongs to us. And that is what we learned from Dr. King. That is who we are, and that is who we must be.”

“[Unselfish play] is what I have told the guys from day one,” Randolph said. “When you have [only one guy who is averaging 20 points], they are easy to stop. If you have at least five guys who can get double digits, you are a hard team to stop.”

The Eagles entered halftime with a 23-13 lead, but the team’s rebounding and shot selection started to overmatch Clarke Central as the game transitioned into the final two quarters.

Eastside’s Timothy Prather led the team in scoring during the opening half as the freshman continued to put together a stellar first year with the Eagles. Prather finished with 12, and Kassen Saunders also had 12.

Senior Jacquez Williams led the Eagles in scoring with 13. Raje Benton racked up multiple rebounds limiting second chance opportunities for Clarke Central, too.

After back-to-back wins in the region, Randolph likes where the team is heading.

“It feels like we are finally starting to play as a team,” Randolph said. “We have had some other guys step up and we have put them in big time roles.”

The win over Clarke Central moves the Eagles to 9-7 on the year with a 4-2 region record. The Eagles aimed for more region success as they faced the Loganville Red Devils Tuesday, Jan. 18.

Eastside's Jacquez Williams (21) scores on Clarke Central's Tyson Jones (11) during a Region 8-AAAAA game between the schools Friday night.

the game drew very close in the final eight minutes.

Mehkyla White nailed a 3-pointer halfway through the fourth quarter to make the score 39-34. That was after Eastside began the second half down by 13.

White’s 3-pointer however recorded the last points for the Lady Eagles.

Down the stretch, the Lady Gladiators converted on their scoring opportunities and pulled away with a 12-point victory.

Even so, the game was tight early on between the two schools.

Kaliel Kracht contributed most of the early offense for the Lady Eagles with seven points in the opening quarter.

The game began to run away from the Lady Eagles in the second quarter as the Gladiators offense found success getting to the line and getting free points off fouls.

Out of the 14 points scored from Clarke Central in three quarters, over half of it came from the free-throw line.

Alongside the fouls, the turnovers were causing similar issues for the Lady Eagles as the Gladiators were able to force the ball out and rack up the steal totals going into halftime.

The mid-game breakdown from Eastside was too much to overcome as the game reached the end.

White led the scoring for the Lady Eagles with 12 points, while Kracht finished with 10.

The close loss to Clarke Central drops the Lady Eagles to 2-10 on the year, but they will have a chance to bounce back in another home region matchup as they take on the Loganville Red Devils Tuesday, Jan. 18.

For Newton, it was a special honor.

“It was a good feeling,” Newton said. “I worked hard for it and had to just come out there and play my game.”

Newton is one of three juniors on this year’s Rams team who is committed to a Division I college. He committed to the University of Indiana on Oct. 22, 2021, to further his basketball career.

His contributions have helped lead the Rams to a 14-3 record and being No. 1 in Class 7A rankings.

Head coach Charlemagne Gibbons recognized how important Newton’s play has been to the Rams’ success this season.

“He’s been playing great basketball all season long,” Gibbons said. “And he understands that our teams need him to be aggressive. And I think his aggressiveness [in the tournament] showed people what kind of player he can be.”

done, White was thrilled to assist in her team’s win.

“This was the game where I felt like I had to do something,” White said. “I feel like this was my best game yet, too. It felt good getting the win.”

Head coach Gladys King has noticed a lot of growth White has displayed this season.

“She’s starting to understand that playing point guard is a vital role and requires a lot of work and understanding of the game,” King said.

In addition to her role on the basketball team, White is also an officer in DECA at Eastside.

Currently, she is taking Environmental Science from teacher Allison Bennett — White’s “favorite class.”

GAMES:

This game was seemingly a wrap when Texas quarterback Colt McCoy left early in the game with a shoulder injury. So, this one didn’t come down to the wire or anything like that.

I rank it No. 5, though, because of the historical significance.

This was year No. 2 under Nick Saban for the Crimson Tide. Let’s say McCoy stays healthy throughout the entire contest and Texas wins? Does the Alabama dynasty even begin? Are the Crimson Tide as dominant?

So much history could have been rewritten if Texas called a different play that McCoy got hurt on or whatever else might’ve been different.

We’ll, obviously, never know, but it begs the question: What could have been?

No. 4: Florida defeats Oklahoma 24-14 in 2008

Two factors went into placing this game at No. 4.

The first being that this was the first national championship game I can remember watching as I was only 11 years old. So, a little nostalgia kicks in when thinking about this game.

Then, there’s Florida

quarter Tim Tebow’s “promise.”

Halfway through the ‘08 season, the Gators were upset 31-30 against Ole Miss. In the postgame press conference, Tebow delivered a resounding speech to become known as the “I promise” speech.

The whole message relayed to the media that day was Tebow assuring the fanbase and supporters that the current team was going to get better from that point on.

Tebow and the Gators delivered on that promise, too, winning the rest of their games including the national championship. It was truly magical to see how that unfolded.

No. 3: LSU defeats Clemson 42-25 in 2019

Sometimes, you have dynasties formed like Alabama or the New England Patriots. Other times, the stars align, teams catch lightning in the bottle or however else you want to categorize it.

The 2019 LSU Tigers fall under the latter category, because the stars aligned perfectly for a dominant championship run.

Along the way to defeating Clemson to win it all, the Tigers downed six top-10 teams by an average of more than two touchdowns.

Led by Joe Burrow, Jamarr Chase and Clyde Edwards-Helaire as well as offensive analyst Joe Brady, the Tigers’ offense was a sight to see throughout the season.

And, even though winning the national championship seemed inevitable, this championship game has to be ranked No. 3 because of what it capped.

No. 2: 2013 FSU defeats Auburn 34-31 in 2014

Now, three through five on my list had to do with historical significance and nostalgia. The next two have to do with the actual game themselves.

Starting with the Florida State Seminoles defeating Auburn in 2014.

This national championship concluded the BCS era and, boy, what an ending it was.

Trailing 31-27 with just 1:20 remaining in the game, the Seminoles seemed to be on the losing end. But Jameis Winston had other plans.

On what turned out to be the game-winning drive, FSU drove 80 yards in seven plays and 1:06. The drive was capped off by a touchdown pass from Winston to Kelvin Benjamin for a 2-yard score.

I firmly believe this connection between Winston and Benjamin delivered the second-best moment in championship history that I’ve ever witnessed myself.

No. 1: Alabama defeats UGA 26-23 (OT) in 2018

The single best moment in championship history that I’ve seen in real time was when the Crimson Tide came back to defeat the Georgia Bulldogs in 2017.

On a play that is known as “2nd and 26,” freshman quarterback Tua Tagovailoa connected with freshman wideout Devonta Smith for the game-winning score in overtime.

The touchdown helped claim the 2018 crown for the Crimson Tide.

But, does that one moment warrant this game being my No. 1? Not at all.

The reason this game sits atop my list has to do with one thing: Guts.

You see, at halftime, the Crimson Tide trailed UGA 13-0 and their offense was dormant. Then, during the intermission, head coach Nick Saban made a change.

He subbed out Jalen Hurts who went 26-2 as a starter for a freshman who had just seen minimal action throughout that season.

Saban’s decision turned out to be the correct one as Alabama came back to win.

As I sit here and write this column, I vividly remember saying to myself right after this game, “No one else will ever have the guts to pull that off again on this stage.” And, right now, I stand by that statement.

There might be some coaches who challenge Saban on his throne as ‘greatest college football coach of all-time,’ but there’ll never be a coach to make a gutsy decision on the biggest stage in college football.

And that is why, this game is my No. 1 favorite I’ve watched in real time.

Jakai Newton leading Rams basketball

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

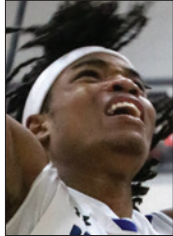

Winning four games in a row presents a challenge all its own. There comes an added difficulty in having to do so in three days.

Largely due to Jakai Newton, the Newton Rams won the 2022 AllState Sugar Bowl National Prep Classic in Louisiana a few weeks ago.

In the tournament, Newton averaged nearly 20 points per game which included a 25-point, seven-rebound performance in the championship game on Jan. 8.

Newton's performances earned him the tournament's Most Valuable Player award, too.

Eastside splits region contests versus Clarke Central

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — When the Clarke Central Gladiators came to town on Friday night, both Eastside teams were looking for two straight wins.

The Lady Eagles fell short in their comeback losing 46-34 while the Eagles' defense led the way for a 56-43 win.

Eagles 56, Gladiators 43

Coming off a dominant road win where they only allowed 29 points, the Eagles continued their strong defensive game plan early on against the Gladiators.

After holding Clarke Central to under 10 points in the opening quarter, it allowed the offense to break away with a sizable lead in the second.

The ball movement and unselfish play impressed head coach Dorrian Randolph, who has emphasized this team's ability to get everyone involved on offense.

Mehkyla White on a roll for EHS

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

Recently, the Eastside Lady Eagles celebrated their second victory of the 2021-22 season. They defeated Johnson High School 51-41.

It was a team effort to earn the win, but there was a particular player leading the way: Mehkyla White.

Mehkyla White

White, a junior at Eastside, has transitioned to playing point for the Lady Eagles this season. In the win over Johnson, she scored 47% of the team's points with a team-high 24 points on 60% shooting.

She also went 3-for-5 from 3-point range.

Resolutions are made each January, with most centering on ways to get healthy. Not all resolutions need to be of the healthy, however.

Explore new baking opportunities with French Silk recipe

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

The dawn of a new year presents plenty of opportunities to look to the future. Resolutions are made each January, with most centering on ways to get healthy. Not all resolutions need to be of the healthy, however. Once in a while it is fine to indulge, so a resolution to entertain more or to explore new baking opportunities can spice things up in the year ahead.

People aspiring to spend more time in the kitchen can celebrate winter baking and National Chocolate Cake Day (January 27) simultaneously. This recipe for “French Silk” from “Classic Stars Desserts” (Chronicle Books) by Emily Luchetti is for serious chocolate lovers. This fudgelike mousse cake pairs plenty of rich flavors and showcases the chocolate in this decadent cake.

French Silk

Serves 12

Ingredients:

- For Crust
3/4 cup walnuts, toasted
- 1 cup pecans, toasted
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 4 ounces (8 tablespoons) unsalted butter, melted
- For Filling:
1 1/4 pounds bittersweet chocolate, chopped
- 6 ounces (12 tablespoons) unsalted butter, at room temperature
- 3/4 cup granulated sugar
- 6 large eggs (use pasteurized eggs if you are concerned about eating uncooked eggs)
- 1/4 cup heavy whipping cream
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- For Topping:
1 cup heavy whipping cream
- 2 tablespoons granulated sugar

- To make the crust:

In a food processor, combine the walnuts, pecans, brown sugar, and cinnamon and pulse until the nuts are coarsely chopped. Pour the nuts into a bowl, add the butter, and stir until the nuts are evenly moistened. Press the nut mixture evenly onto the bottom of a 9-inch round spring-form pan. Refrigerate for 30 minutes.

- To make the filling:

Melt the chocolate in a double boiler. While the chocolate is melting, combine the butter and sugar in the bowl of a stand mixer fitted with the paddle attachment and add the eggs two at a time, mixing well after each addition. Scrape down the sides of the bowl, increase the speed to medium-high, and whip until well blended, about 2 minutes. The mixture will look curdled.

Remove the melted chocolate from the heat and stir until smooth and warm but not hot. With the mixer on low speed, add the chocolate to the egg mixture. Scrape the sides and along the bottom of the bowl and then continue to mix on low speed until the chocolate is fully incorporated. Add the cream and vanilla and mix until blended. Spread the filling over the crust. Refrigerate until firm, about 3 hours.

- To make the topping:

In a bowl, whisk together the cream and sugar until soft peaks form. Cover and refrigerate until serving.

Using a spatula, spread the topping over the top of the cake. Run a hot, dry knife around the inside edge of the pan to loosen the cake, then remove the pan sides and set the cake on a serving platter. Slice the cake with a hot, dry knife and serve chilled.

Appetizers, sandwiches and other game day offerings often prioritize taste over nutrition.

Party apps get healthy makeover

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

Healthy eating is on the minds of many people at the start of a new year. One road block to healthy eating each January is the start of the National Football League playoffs, which culminate with the big game each February.

Appetizers, sandwiches and other game day offerings often prioritize taste over nutrition. However, by rethinking some game day staples, it's easy to put a twist on popular favorites to make them lower in calories and fat and more nutritious.

This year skip the calorie-laden potato skins for “Sausage-Stuffed Red Potatoes,” which are just as delicious. Try this recipe, courtesy of “Taste of Home Healthy Cooking Cookbook” (RDA Enthusiast Brands, LLC) from Taste of Home Kitchens.

Sausage-Stuffed Red Potatoes

Makes 16 appetizers

Ingredients:

- 8 small red potatoes
- 1 pound Italian turkey sausage links, casings removed
- 1/2 cup chopped sweet red pepper
- 4 green onions, chopped
- 9 teaspoons minced fresh parsley, divided
- 1/3 cup shredded reduced-fat cheddar cheese

Directions:

1. Scrub and pierce potatoes; place on a microwave-safe plate. Microwave, uncovered, on high for 8 to 9 minutes or until tender, turning once.
2. Meanwhile, in a large skillet, cook sausage and pepper over medium heat until sausage is no longer pink. Add onions and 4 1/2 teaspoons parsley; cook 1 to 2 minutes longer. Remove from the heat; stir in cheese. Cut each potato in half lengthwise. Scoop out 1 tablespoon pulp (save for another use).
3. Spoon about 2 tablespoons sausage mixture into each half. Place on a microwave-safe plate. Microwave on high for 1 to 2 minutes or until cheese is melted. Sprinkle with remaining parsley.

Slow cooker special: Chase away chills with a thick, filling stew

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

Slow cookers can be unsung kitchen heroes any time of the year, but particularly during the colder seasons. That's because slow cookers take on one-pot meals with ease. A person simply places all the ingredients inside the crock, then returns in 8 hours or so to a completely cooked meal.

Certain recipes, including stews, lend themselves well to the slow-cooking method. While beef is often associated with stew, plenty of proteins can take the place of beef, including pork. This recipe for “Golden Harvest Pork Stew” from “Crock•Pot® 365 Year-Round Recipes” (Publications International, Ltd.) by the Crock•Pot

Kitchens utilizes pork and combines it with potatoes, carrots and corn for a stew that some may even mistake for a chowder.

Golden Harvest Pork Stew

Makes 4 servings

Ingredients:

- 1 pound boneless pork cutlets, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour, divided
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil

2 medium Yukon gold potatoes, unpeeled and cut into 1-inch cubes

- 1 large sweet potato, peeled and cut into 1-inch cubes
- 1 cup chopped carrots
- 1 ear corn, broken into 4 pieces, or 1/2 cup corn

- 1/2 cup chicken broth
- 1 jalapeño pepper, seeded and finely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black

Certain recipes, including stews, lend themselves well to the slow-cooking method. While beef is often associated with stew, plenty of proteins can take the place of beef, including pork. Metro Creative

pepper
1/4 teaspoon dried thyme
Chopped parsley
Directions:
1. Toss pork pieces with 1 tablespoon flour; set aside. Heat oil in large skillet over medium-high heat until hot. Add pork; cook until browned on all sides. Transfer to Crock•Pot® slow cooker.
2. Add remaining ingredients, except parsley and 1 tablespoon flour. Cover; cook on low 5 to 6 hours.
3. Stir 1/4 cup cooking liquid into remaining 1 tablespoon flour in small bowl. Stir flour mixture into stew. Turn Crock•Pot slow cooker to high. Cook 10 minutes or until thickened. Adjust seasonings, if desired. To serve, sprinkle with parsley.

Joe Mantegna (left) and Rick Glassman star in "As We See It," which begins streaming Friday on Amazon.

Joe Mantegna helps portray autism 'As We See It' in Amazon series

After his long run on "Criminal Minds," Joe Mantegna's new series is quite a switch for him ... and he brings part of his own family background to it.

A parent of an autistic daughter, the Tony Award-winning actor also addresses the subject in "As We See It," Amazon's adaptation of an Israeli drama series that begins streaming Friday, Jan. 21. Mantegna portrays the father of Jack (Rick Glassman), one of several young-adult roommates on the autism spectrum who are supported by their families and each other. Albert Rutecki and Sue Ann Pien play the other members of the central trio, with Sosie Bacon (daughter of Kevin Bacon and Kyra Sedgwick) as their main aide.

"I've been involved in it since its inception," Mantegna says of the show developed by Emmy-winning executive producer Jason Katims ("Friday Night Lights," "Parenthood"). "They came to me shortly after 'Criminal Minds' stopped, and when I read the (pilot) script, I was really knocked out by it ... for a lot of reasons. Jason is such a wonderful, beautiful writer, and it had a very personal impact on me."

Mantegna isn't sure whether his eldest daughter Gia's condition was known to Katims. "I never asked," he reveals. "Jason might have thought that might be an interesting layer, but I know that it's also a personal thing for him. They really thought it out to the point where, besides that the three main actors were identified as being on the autism spectrum, they were going to hire 12 (autistic) people on the crew – which is really unheard of. You have to go through the unions and all that, and they did that. I hope it's a sign of the times, in terms of where we're going with inclusion."

In "As We See It," Mantegna's character Lou faces a health challenge of his own. "My watchword for a good part of my life has been, 'Everybody's got a story, and nobody gets a free ride,' " reflects Mantegna. "To me, this is an example of that. Each of us has a personal story, and some of those are things we would not have chosen. And so be it."

Gia Mantegna is a makeup artist who almost ended up working on "As We See It" along with her father, but ultimately didn't. However, her dad has enjoyed acting with Glassman as his on-screen son, deeming him "a wonderful young man. Most people in the world would think of him as just a smart, sunny, quirky guy, yet being sensitive to that world, I could tell there's a reason for that quirkiness. He's a stand-up comic, so he has those certain savant abilities, just like my daughter has."

Welcome to the middle of January, a time of year when the Christmas bills are coming due and cabin fever is beginning to set in.

The instinct is to go far, far away – preferably to somewhere warm – but in the age of the pandemic that may prove difficult, if not unhealthy. So it might be safer to live vicariously through the foodies on Cooking Channel and Food Network, who will not only show you cool places but where you can get a great meal.

Andrew Zimmern certainly has the right idea in the Monday, Jan. 17, episode of Cooking's "The Zimmern List," in which he stops in San Diego, an often-overlooked culinary destination, to grab a bite of seafood in Little Italy, sample some authentic Mexican in Barrio Logan and feast on everybody's newest favorite fast food, fried chicken.

A quick hop halfway across the Pacific is Guy Fieri, who in the Friday, Jan. 21, episode of "Guy! Hawaiian Style" on Food Network has a busy agenda on tap for his family that includes spearfishing, catching prawns and a visit to Pearl Harbor to prepare a Mexican lunch for troops as a "mahalo" for their service.

If sheer volume is your thing, Casey Webb might have what you seek on Cooking's "Man v. Food" on Tuesday, Jan. 18, which finds him in Virginia Beach chowing down on a street corn snack-turned-burger, a decadent croissant-muffin hybrid and the vaunted corned beef omelet challenge involving a dozen eggs. Calorie counters, you have been forewarned.

Up the East Coast in Philadelphia, Robert Irvine is checking out some of the comfort foods the City of Brotherly Love has to offer in the Sunday, Jan. 16, edition of Cooking's "Cheat Day." The day starts with a stop at the city's oldest Irish pub for meatloaf and mashed potatoes stacked high with fish and chips. Then it's off to Stamford, Conn., for chocolate-hazelnut peanut butter cup French toast and San Antonio for crispy pata and sisig made from pork and spices.

And if you're looking for more exotic fare, turn it to Cooking on Monday for "Bizarre Foods: Delicious Destinations," which brings host Zimmern to Stockholm to sample herring and traditional Swedish fare such as pea soup and pancakes and cinnamon rolls topped with crunchy pearl sugar. There is also a dish known as "Jansson's temptation," a creamy potato and anchovy casserole that is said to be named for early-1900s Swedish opera singer Pelle Janson, a renowned gourmet.

Danny McBride

OF 'THE RIGHTEOUS GEMSTONES'
ON HBO

Did your chemistry with Cassidy Freeman, who plays your character Jesse's wife Amber on "The Righteous Gemstones," come immediately?

You know, when you're casting something like this, you're obviously trying to find the best person for the role. But in that short period of time that you're given to sort of be in the same room together when people are auditioning, you try your best to assess like what the actor's personality is like, if it would be copacetic. And we really were lucky with Cassidy that she is just so talented, so funny, so smart but also just a great person to have to spend 12 hours a day with as well.

And that is sort of the prerequisite for anyone who comes in and works with us, is that you've got to want to spend time with them and be cool, and Cassidy is very cool. And I think that that sort of people genuinely liking each other off screen I think helps with the chemistry on screen.

Is there room for a lot of improv in shooting the show?

You definitely can. We're not afraid of improv at all and it's not something that obviously if someone doesn't feel comfortable doing anything it's not required. ... But I love for actors to come in and put their spin on things or add things to it. I feel like it's part of what's cool about the collaboration of creating film or television – the idea that you can have so many voices and everyone can sort of add to it. I don't know, it's what's unique about this as an art form.

tonight's PICKS

Gordon Buchanan

Animals With Cameras, A Nature Miniseries

8 p.m. on WGTV

Wildlife cameraman Gordon Buchanan teams up with some pioneering animal scientists to explore stories of animals lives as "told" by the critters themselves, via cameras that are custom-built to fit unobtrusively on the animals. In part one, "Oceans," viewers are given a first-person look at the lives of ocean creatures including sharks, elephant seals, turtles and gannets. Part 2, "Australia," airs next Wednesday.

Trafficked With Mariana van Zeller

9 p.m. on NATGEO

The poverty-stricken favelas of Rio de Janeiro and the mountains of Colombia are considered hallowed ground to those inside the world of cocaine trafficking. Host Mariana van Zeller narrows her focus for a new episode called "Cocaine Queens," however, zeroing in not only on the drugs, but on the new breed of narcos that is gaining power: "las jefas," or lady bosses.

Home Inspector Joe

9:01 p.m. on HGTV

In this new home improvement series, host and licensed home inspector Joe Mazza helps buyers evaluate potential home purchases, drawing on his keen eye and uncanny sixth sense when it comes to spotting subtle red flags that could mean a hidden problem. The series premiere, "This Mold House," finds Joe and Noel Gatts, his designer of choice, touring two potential properties with clients Matt and Giovanna, identifying and fixing critical issues they find. Then, Noel opens up the home interior with a design that includes a budget-friendly kitchen.

tonight's PICKS

Jack Osbourne

Single Drunk Female

10 p.m. on FREE

Sofia Black-D'Elia (“The Mick”) stars in this new half-hour dramedy as Samantha Fink, an alcoholic in her 20s, who has a public flameout at a New York media company so mortifying that she is forced to move back home with her control-freak mother, Carol (Ally Sheedy), to avoid jail time. Back in Boston, Samantha gets a job at a local grocery store and begins the process of moving beyond her very worst self and making a new start. Rebecca Henderson, Sasha Compere and Garrick Bernard co-star. Another episode follows.

Fright Club

10 p.m. on TRAV

In the new episode “Scream-Filled Donuts,” host Jack Osbourne and the Ghost Brothers totally freak each other out with footage of a jealous entity terrorizing a couple. Other segments feature some creepy spectral disturbances inside an allegedly haunted donut shop, and a father struggling desperately to protect his family from a ghostly intruder.

Taking the Stand

10:02 p.m. on A+E

The new episode “Amber Guyger” opens with an off-duty Dallas police officer fatally shooting a man named Botham Jean in his own apartment, which she claims she mistakenly had believed was her own home when she returned from working a 13-hour shift. The jury must decide whether the shooting constitutes murder or a tragic mistake, so as Guyger takes the stand, she knows she may serve the rest of her life in prison if she can't persuade the jurors to believe her. Another episode immediately follows.

tonight's PICKS

Bill Maher
Undercover Boss
8 p.m. on WGCL
Sharon M. Leite, the CEO of a wellness brand known as The Vitamin Shoppe, recently implemented some innovations and operational changes at her company. Now, as she contemplates possible new ways to expand her brand even further, she goes undercover as a store associate to assess how some of her changes are affecting her front line employees. She knows she needs to find a healthy balance between customer satisfaction and the happiness of her own team.

Eli Roth Presents: A Ghost Ruined My Life
9 p.m. on TRAV
Producer, writer and director Eli Roth hosts this new paranormal anthology series, which presents stories of hauntings that have had a devastating effect upon the lives of the people who have experienced them. The series draws upon both eyewitness accounts, as well as reconstructions and re-enactments that play out like mini-horror films. In the series premiere, "Portal to Hell," when a single mother and her young son rent an old house in the country, they discover the place is filled with ghosts — and not all of them are friendly.

Real Time With Bill Maher
10 p.m. on HBO
Host Bill Maher reaches a milestone as his popular (if often polarizing) weekly series returns to open its 20th season. His guests are still to be announced, but one topic that's sure to be up for discussion is the ongoing pandemic. Maher, who was forced to do the show remotely from his home for a few months in 2020, expressed hope in his closing Season 19 remarks that he would return to a "more normal" reality this month. Instead, the Omicron variant drove another spike in coronavirus cases over his hiatus.

What's Available NOW On

"Assembled: The Making of Hawkeye" (Jan. 19)

The documentary series that looks at the creation of Marvel Studios shows and movies takes viewers behind the scenes of "Hawkeye" for an in-depth examination of the latest installment of storytelling in the Marvel Cinematic Universe. Hailee Steinfeld and Jeremy Renner are among the cast appearing. (ORIGINAL)

"Vets on the Beach: Seasons 1 & 2" (Jan. 19)

From Australia comes this Nat Geo Wild series that follows veterinary surgeon Chris Brown ("Dr. Chris: Pet Vet"), emergency veterinarian Lisa Chimes and fellow veterinarians as they treat animals at Bondi Junction Veterinary Hospital in Bondi Beach and Small Animal Specialist Hospital in the Sydney suburb of North Ryde.

"Catch That Kid" (Available now)

A 14-year-old, pre-"Twilight" Kristen Stewart stars in this 2004 action comedy about a girl and friends who plot to rob a bank to be able to afford live-saving surgery for her father after insurance refuses to pay for treatment. Corbin Bleu, Max Thieriot, Jennifer Beals and Sam Robards are also in the cast for director Bart Freundlich ("Wolves").

"Eternals" (Available now)

From the Marvel Cinematic Universe comes this latest theatrical release that follows the Eternals, a group of superheroes from beyond the stars who had protected the Earth since the dawn of man, who are forced to reunite when monstrous creatures known as Deviants return. Gemma Chan, Richard Madden, Kumail Nanjiani and Lia McHugh head the cast for director Chloé Zhao ("Nomadland"). (ORIGINAL)

tonight's PICKS

Emilie Ullerup

Don't Forget I Love You
8 p.m. on HALL

On her birthday, Taylor opens a time capsule left by her late mother to be unsealed on this milestone occasion. While she hadn't known what to expect, Taylor is unprepared by what's inside: a list of challenges that are sure to force her out of her comfort zone. Sensing that her late parent knew this would enhance the anxiety-prone Taylor's chances of finding meaningful love, she screws up her courage and begins this adventure. Emilie Ullerup, Clayton James and Daphne Hoskins star in this new romance.

Vanished: Searching for My Sister

8 p.m. on LIFE

While temporarily watching over her niece while her recently divorced twin sister gets their new home in order, mild-mannered Jada (Tatyana Ali, in a dual role) grows concerned when she doesn't hear anything from sister Kayla for a few days. She reports her twin missing, but Jada doesn't sense the police are taking the situation seriously, so she assumes the identity of her wild-child twin in an attempt to discover Kayla's whereabouts. Her rise takes her into a shocking netherworld. Jasmine Guy, Justin Bruening and Carolyn Hennesy co-star.

Dirty Jobs

8 p.m. on DISC
In a new episode called "Rock Sucker; Mountain Carver," host Mike Rowe uses a massive vacuum device to suck the rocks off an industrial roof. Later, he travels to the Black Hills of the Dakotas to help carve the largest monument in the world, an effigy of Crazy Horse. Both stories involve several generations working together to pass on their life's ambitions.

The Walking Dead: Origins

9 p.m. on AMC
This new limited series, which originally was shown on the streaming service AMC Plus, explores the journey of some of the most celebrated characters on "The Walking Dead," with each episode charting the story of the zombie apocalypse from the perspective of a single character. Interviews with the actors are interwoven with clips from pivotal moments in the series. The premiere, "Daryl's Story," chronicles the epic saga of Daryl Dixon, as told by Norman Reedus, the actor who became an instant fan favorite through his performance in the role.

Billions

9 p.m. on SHOW
As this hit financial drama opens Season 6, longtime antagonist Bobby "Axe" Axelrod has left the building. The character's off-camera alter-ego, actor Damian Lewis, opted not to renew his contract, citing a desire to spend more time with his family in the U.K. following the death of his wife, Helen McCrory, last April. Filling that nefarious void is new series regular Corey Stoll, who joined "Billions" last season in the recurring role of self-made billionaire Mike Prince. Paul Giamatti, Maggie Siff, David Costabile and Asia Kate Dillon also return.

tonight's PICKS

John Ortiz

Snowpiercer

9 p.m. on TNT

Archie Panjabi ("The Good Wife") joins the cast as this acclaimed TV series adaptation of an action movie blockbuster returns for its third season. Season 2 ended as Josie (Katie McGuinness) destroyed the Aquarium car, separating Snowpiercer's "head" from the rest of the train. As Season 3 opens, Layton (Daveed Diggs) and his inner circle take command of a 10-car "pirate train" to search for Melanie (Jennifer Connelly) and a safe haven with a milder climate where they can restart civilization. Sean Bean also returns as Mr. Wilford.

The Gilded Age

9 p.m. on HBO

Created by Julian Fellowes ("Downton Abbey"), this new period drama, which opens in 1882, boasts a dazzling cast in chronicling a period of American history that witnessed immense economic change and a dramatic clash between the "old ways" and brand new systems of the era. Christine Baranski and Cynthia Nixon head the main cast, with a supporting ensemble that includes such theater luminaries as Nathan Lane, Audra McDonald, Michael Cerveris, Donna Murphy, Bill Irwin, Kelli O'Hara and Carrie Coons.

Promised Land

10:01 p.m. on WSB

ABC has released relatively few details about this new drama and its characters, but then again, perhaps painting in broad strokes is the proper way to describe what the network says is "an epic, generation-spanning drama" about two Latinx families who become bitter rivals for power and control in the Sonoma Valley of California. The cast includes John Ortiz, Cecilia Suárez, Augusto Aguilera, Christina Ochoa, Mariel Molino and Bellamy Young ("Scandal").

tonight's PICKS

Tyler Hoechlin

Superman & Lois
8 p.m. on WUPA
After Clark's (Tyler Hoechlin) visions intensify during heated arguments with both his sons (Jordan Elsass, Alex Garfin), Lois (Elizabeth Tulloch) reaches out to her father, Ret. General Lane (Dylan Walsh), for help in "The Thing in the Mines," a new episode directed by Gregory Smith ("Rookie Blue"). Meanwhile, Natalie (Tayler Buck) is dismayed to discover her father (Wolé Parks) didn't keep a promise he made to her, and Lana (Emmanuelle Chriqui) vents her own frustrations to Kyle (Erik Valdez).

Abbott Elementary
9 p.m. on WSB
In the new episode "Student Transfer," Janine (Quinta Brunson) is shaken when she gets a negative teacher review, but her mood improves when a student is transferred from Melissa's (Lisa Ann Walter) class into hers. All too soon, though, it becomes obvious the newcomer is surprisingly high maintenance. Elsewhere, Jacob (Chris Perfetti), who catches a lot of abuse from his students, has little luck striking up a friendship with Gregory (Tyler James Williams) until they bond over a way to turn the roasting to their advantage.

Beyond Oak Island
10:03 p.m. on HIST
This spinoff series continues its fourth season with "The 1715 Treasure Fleet Part 2," which finds Matty Blake, research partner to brothers Rick and Marty Lagina, heading back to Florida's famed Treasure Coast. Upon arrival, he teams up with professional treasure salvager John Brandon and his team as they begin a dive on the wreckage of the famed 1715 Spanish Treasure Fleet, which was lost to a hurricane off the Florida coast while en route from Cuba back to Spain.

'American Auto' is giving Harriet Dyer a TV tune-up

Q: Where have I seen Harriet Dyer of "American Auto" before? – Mike Jennings, via email

A: While a lot of her work has been for television in her native Australia – which you might not suspect from her flawless American accent in her new NBC comedy – Dyer had the lead for the same network as a clairvoyant in the drama series "The InBetween" several summers ago. She also appeared in "Wakefield," which Showtime ran recently.

However, she may be even better known now for "The Invisible Man," the 2020 horror-movie update in which she plays Elisabeth Moss's sister. Semi-spoiler alert: Dyer makes a very memorable exit from the film in a scene that she told us was the last one shot on a very long work day, in the middle of the night. And it may well be the moment you'll remember most from the picture, long afterward.

Harriet Dyer

Q: Every so often on "Noir Alley," I'll hear Eddie Muller give the impression that he helps restore classic films himself. Is that actually something he does? – Bob Winder, Stuart, Fla.

Eddie Muller

A: It is. Even before he started hosting his weekly program on Turner Classic Movies, Muller became the founder and president of the Film Noir Foundation, which works with producers and studios to preserve examples of the genre. In many instances, movies that he presents on "Noir Alley" are titles he has had a firsthand role in bringing back to their original (or better) picture and sound quality.

Muller also showcases those films at in-person events he stages around the country (including in his native San Francisco), though in the era of the coronavirus pandemic, such in-person gatherings have been suspended.

To complete this puzzle, place the numbers 1-9 in the empty cells, so that every row, column and 3-by-3 box (in bold outline) contains all nine digits.

Each number 1-9 may appear only once in each row, column and 3-by-3 box.

celebrity quotes

"I was able to sock away more (hosting of) 'Jeopardy!' before the season (of production on 'Call Me Kat') began, but once that season begins, that's three weeks of the month that I'm on that job." – Mayim Bialik of "Call Me Kat" on Fox

"I personally have always wanted to do action, so this has truly been bigger than a Christmas gift. This has been such a huge gift to me as an actor, so I'm really grateful that (executive producer) James Gunn wrote this character and had me in mind for it." – Danielle Brooks of "Peacemaker" on HBO Max
