Newton County District Attorney's Office

BOC considers local funds for DA's gang-focused positions

Money will provide supplies, equipment for investigator, assistant

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Newton County's governing body will consider providing up to $12,500 in local money to help pay for two state-funded positions for the district attorney to help prosecute gang-related crime.

However, the Board of Commissioners will wait until District Attorney Randy McGinley returns with a final amount of local money he will need for the positions in 2022 before considering if the county will take over their funding in 2023.

The Board voted Jan. 18 to approve McGinley's request to accept a grant from the Georgia Administrative Office of the Courts for up to $144,000 to fund new investigator and investigative assistant positions in Newton County through Dec. 31.

McGinley, who is district attorney for Newton and Walton counties, said the positions will focus on investigating gang-related crimes for the Newton County DA's office.

The investigator also will work with the Newton County School System to educate students about the dangers of such criminal activity, he said.

"There's got to be some work done on that end as well, not just on the prosecution end," McGinley said.

"The idea is the position is not just investigating cases, because they're doing a lot of that, but it's also going to be working with schools, going to schools, talking to young kids about gangs ... and trying to educate the public, as well," McGinley said.

"One of the issues we've had in both counties is when

Test site opens at Church Covington

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — A Georgia Department of Public Health COVID-19 testing supersite was scheduled to open Tuesday, Jan. 25, in north Newton County.

The Church Covington at 11975 Hwy. 142 North in Oxford hosted the testing site beginning Tuesday, Jan. 25, with operating days and hours of Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Saturday, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Daily lunch breaks for the staff are scheduled from 12:30 to 1 p.m., said GNR Health spokesperson Chad Wasdin.

Viral Solutions will operate the site and appointments are recommended, the company stated on its website. To register for testing, visit <https://patientportal.advancedmd.com/146518/online scheduling/existing>.

The medical test provider also operates test supersites for the state health department in Stonecrest, Marietta and Mercedes-Benz Stadium in Atlanta.

Wasdin said Newton County Chairman Marcello Banes worked to connect state public health department officials with The Church Covington Pastor Daryl Hooper — who then worked out the details of setting up the testing site.

"(Health department officials) visited the site with Viral Solutions to make sure the flow would work for their operational needs, and then COVINGTON, Ga. — Newton County could play host to the 2024 National Miracle League All-Star Weekend.

The Miracle League Association is a nonprofit organization that provides an opportunity for athletes with special needs to play baseball. The league was founded in the late 1990s in Conyers.

Newton Parks & Recreation Director Dwayne Mask and others affiliated with Newton County's Miracle League club spoke to the Board of Commissioners on Tuesday, Jan. 18, seeking their blessing and support to play host to a future National Miracle League All-Stars Weekend.

Mask told commissioners the Miracle League started an All-Stars event about seven years ago. Newton County was being considered as a potential host in October 2024.

Olivia Miller, who is a certified therapeutic recreation specialist and coordinates the Newton County Miracle League club, said the All-Star event would be a three-day event. On Friday, the more than 100 athletes and their families would arrive to town and begin festivities with a meet-and-greet event. Saturday would essentially be game day, as league contests would be played all day. Saturday night would feature a gala for the athletes and families. Sunday would be when Newton County's Miracle League games

Covington teen among GBI arrests on exploitation of children charges

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — A Covington teen and a New-born resident are facing a series of child pornography charges after their arrests as part of an ongoing Georgia Bureau of Investigation effort into fighting internet crimes against children. Taylor Boyd, 17, of Covington, and Rondriko Mohone, 39, of Newborn, were arrested Thursday, Jan. 20, on charges related to possession or distribution of child pornography and transported to the Newton County Detention Center, the GBI announced Friday.

Taylor Boyd

Rondriko Mohone

Mohone was being held without bond at the detention center in Covington, while information about Boyd was unavailable.

The investigations began after the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children sent “numerous independent and unrelated cybertips” to the GBI’s Child Exploitation and Computer Crimes (CEACC) Unit.

The cybertips were linked to Newton County and concerned the possession or distribution of explicit child sexual abuse material, commonly referred to as child pornography, according to the GBI.

On Thursday, the Newton County Sheriff’s Office and the GBI’s Atlanta Regional and West Metro Regional Drug Enforcement offices assisted the agency’s Child Exploitation and Computer Crimes (CEACC) Unit in executing search warrants at two residences related to separate investigations pertaining to the crime of Sexual Exploitation of Children.

The warrants led to the arrests of Boyd and Mohone.

Boyd was charged with five counts of Sexual Exploitation of Children (Possession of Child Pornography) and three counts of Sexual Exploitation of Children (Distribution of Child Pornography).

Mohone was charged with four counts of Sexual Exploitation of Children (Distribution of Child Pornography) and one count of Tampering with Evidence.

The arrests were the latest in a series of GBI actions on similar child pornography charges in Newton County.

On Oct. 15, 2021, federal marshals arrested Derrick Crooms of Newton County.

Robbie Alderman Lathem went home to be with her Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ on January 19, 2022. One month earlier, she had celebrated her 90th birthday surrounded by family. Robbie was born on December 20, 1931, in Pavo, Georgia, to Robert Brannon Alderman and Gladys Carwee Alderman. The oldest of three children, she was raised in Griffin, Georgia, where the family moved a few years later. Following her marriage to Milton Lathem in 1950, she made her home in Gainesville, Georgia, for 70 years. Last year, she relocated to Covington, Georgia, to be closer to family.

A world traveler, student, and insatiable reader, Robbie possessed both an extraordinary intellect and an endless thirst for knowledge. She shared her passion for the Lord unceasingly as a devoted disciple of Jesus Christ, answering the call of ministry throughout her life. Particularly close to her heart were discipleship classes she led in her home, where much laughter was shared and many lives were enriched. Through her Christian book ministry, Robbie gifted hundreds and hundreds of books to others, often from the trunk of her car. For every need, Robbie knew a book that would help (and had a copy on hand). Even the simplest of acts, such as passing out Bibles on the street, packing Christmas Shoeboxes,

POSITIONS:

we’ve had bigger operations that involved local law enforcement or the feds, (and) whenever somebody is head of a gang and gets put in prison, people fill those shoes pretty quickly,” he said.

McGinley asked the Board to provide county funds for the two positions and get reimbursed by the Administrative Office of the Courts.

He said the final amount needed from county funds for salaries will decrease as the calendar year progresses because the DA's office will need time to find qualified applicants and hire them.

"It's doubtful that we'll even spend that amount ($144,000). It's for calendar year 2022 and it ends Dec. 31 no matter when you hire somebody," he said.

County funding approved for the positions will come from a contingency fund set aside for unforeseen expenses that the Board annually includes in the budget, said county Finance Director Brittany White.

White said the requested money was not included in the 2022 budget and she wanted to "wait and see when he hired someone" before submitting a budget amendment to the Board.

LITTLE MONEY FOR SUPPLIES

McGinley said he was able to obtain a vehicle for the investigator from the county's fleet, and secured funding for laptop computers and monitors from a separate state ARPA grant.

He said he needed about $12,500 in local funding because the grant will only provide $2,500 for supplies and equipment for the two positions.

However, he said $2,500 was not enough money to buy desks, a copier and scanner; a bulletproof vest, firearm and ammunition; and law enforcement equipment for the investigator's vehicle.

"Investigators are sworn police officers that have been deputized by the sheriff's office," he said.

Funding for the grant comes from the Georgia Administrative Office of the Courts' share of COVID relief money approved in the federal American Rescue Plan Act of 2021.

The Administrative Office approved the money for the Alcovy Judicial Circuit to help tackle a backlog of cases related to the court system's partial shutdown in 2020 and 2021 that state judicial leaders ordered because of the pandemic, McGinley said.

AFTER THE GRANT RUNS OUT

The grant will only fund the positions through December and McGinley said he wanted commissioners' assurance they will keep funding the positions with local money beyond Jan. 1, 2023.

"I seek a little guidance on that going forward," he said. "I think it's something that's very important for this county."

McGinley said the judicial circuit can reapply for the state grant annually for three years but he did not know "if that money will be available going forward" because the Administrative Office's intent was to award most of it early in the three-year period.

"I know that's kind of an awkward thing and budgets change and years change," he said. "But I also know this county is getting an additional $10 million or so of additional ARPA money, and I know that's something that we'll have to come up again before the Board for further requests."

He said he did not want to try to hire for the positions if they were basically "short term contract" positions.

"I'd like for the board to consider and start thinking about ... these two positions being funded going forward," he said.

"This way, when I can hire people, which I hope will be very soon, I can tell them, 'This position — you're not going to be done Dec. 31.'"

Chairman Marcello Banes suggested McGinley return with his budget addition at a later meeting and discuss it and the need for future funding with the Board.

TEST:

we agreed upon a start date," Wasdin said.

Viral Solutions operates all aspects of the site, from staffing and specimen collection to producing test results, he said.

Insurance is not required but Viral Solutions may request the person's health insurance information to help with costs of the operation, Wasdin said.

"If insurance does not cover the service, it will not result in a cost to the individual," he said. "If someone does not have proof of insurance, they will still be able to receive a test at no cost."

He said lines have been relatively short at other test sites compared to previous weeks as demand for testing has decreased and more test sites have opened.

Newton's testing super-site was selected following complaints from some public officials about the lack of a test site in the county.

Banes said earlier this month the Gwinnett, Newton and Rockdale Health Departments had contacted him about any potential sites for a testing facility.

He said he had submitted the county-owned Gaither's at Myrtle Creek Farm in rural south Newton as a potential site because it was the only public facility that had enough space for the anticipated vehicle traffic.

The closest current mass test site to Newton County is Springfield Baptist Church in Conyers.

Banes said in a statement, “COVID-19 continues to affect our families, businesses and community through the spread of this virus that has caused hundreds of deaths right here in Newton County."

“I am so thankful for the Department of Public Health and all the work of the Gwinnett, Newton and Rockdale Health Departments to bring this mass testing site to our community. This site will be critical to make Newton County residents informed if they have COVID-19 and prevent the spread around our community.

"Please utilize this and all the resources available to work toward ending this pandemic,” Banes said.

The Church Covington is located on Georgia Hwy. 142 North about a half-mile north of City Pond Road.

A total of 16,411 Newton County residents had been reported as having confirmed cases of COVID-19 with 339 deaths on Jan. 21, according to Georgia Department of Public Health records.

Newton County's confirmed case rate for the last two weeks was 1,425 per 100,000 population, which was below the statewide rate of 1,793 per 100,000 for the same time period.

Meanwhile, Newton County's seven-day moving average of confirmed cases has decreased from 176.9 from Dec. 26 to Jan. 2, to 93.3 from Jan. 14 to Jan. 21, the department reported.

TRAILS:

plete the renovation of the now-closed bridge over the Alcovy River and is hoping grants and private donations will bring in enough money to complete the work within two years, said Newton Trails Inc. Chairman Duane Ford.

Newton Trails Inc. is a nonprofit that includes about 40 “pretty active” volunteers and about 30 additional people who regularly participate on its numerous projects and activities, Ford said.

“We have wonderful volunteers and very hard-working volunteers,” Ford said. “They’re in it for the trails and what they can do for the community and for themselves,” he said.

Its main project is completion of the Cricket Frog Trail, which is a 15-mile, public multi-use trail built atop the old Central of Georgia Railroad right of way path.

It currently runs in three sections between west Covington and Mansfield, with long-term plans extending it to downtown Porterdale at its western end and the Jasper County line in Newborn on its eastern terminus.

Newton Trails contributed $170,000 of the $400,000 cost of refurbishing the 247-foot wooden trestle bridge over Dried Indian Creek, including adding a 12-foot concrete surface for pedestrian use.

The bridge and the trail between Emory and Pace streets were to be completed and opened early this year, Ford said.

It also contracted with the PATH Foundation — builder of multi-use paths throughout Metro Atlanta — for engineering, design and cost estimates for the renovation of the Alcovy River bridge.

The bridge is about twice as long as the Dried Indian Creek bridge and Newton Trails is working to raise the $612,257 needed for its renovation, Ford said.

2021 A BUSY YEAR

Local governments helped the nonprofit’s small volunteer force make significant progress on completing the trail in 2021.

Newton Trails’ 2021 fundraising campaign exceeded its goal of $25,000 and volunteers used the money to resurface and open the West Bear Creek and East Bear Creek bridges, among other maintenance projects.

They also added new abutments at either end of both bridges, and removed trees and brush along five miles of unpaved trail.

The vegetation removal work cleared the way for the county government to pave five miles of the trail from the Alcovy River to East Bear Creek in unincorporated Newton, Ford said. The county also installed user-activated crossing lights at Piper Road.

The city of Covington completed paving of the trail within its borders — meaning 12.5 miles of the Cricket Frog Trail now have hard surfaces, Ford said.

Mansfield’s government also committed funds in 2021 that will lead to paving of the unpaved 0.8 miles within its city limits this year, Ford said.

Newton Trails received donations in 2021 for six trailside benches — two of which were installed in 2021 and the remaining benches on order, he said

Donations also were made for eight pet waste stations. Six were installed in the Covington area and two in the Mansfield area — where Nick Forbes built a kiosk for the trailhead at Beaver Park as a Boy Scout project, Ford said.

CRICKET FROG’S FUTURE

Ford said he believes Cricket Frog Trail has the potential to attract more tourism dollars to Newton County from recreation enthusiasts throughout east Georgia and Metro Atlanta.

The path runs along mostly flat land, which could attract walkers, runners and bicyclists wanting a change from more hilly area trails such as the Silver Comet Trail in northwest Georgia.

When a continuous route is complete after renovation of the Alcovy River bridge, it possibly could have the same kind of impact on Newton County the Silver Comet Trail had on Cobb and Paulding counties, he said.

Ford said the nonprofit is working to increase safety on the trail for pedestrians and cyclists by installing bollards in an attempt to keep out motorized traffic like ATVs.

It also is working with the Newton County Sheriff’s Office to provide better security for trail users, he said.

“The more it’s used, there will be less of that problem,” Ford predicted.

He said those willing to contribute to the Alcovy River bridge renovation project can take comfort in knowing the nonprofit has no administrative overhead costs.

Everyone involved in Newton Trails are volunteers — including those who do legal work for it or maintain its social media platforms, Ford said.

Free market, not presidents, control gas prices

You’ve seen them: the stickers some fools continually plaster on gas pumps that feature photos of President Joe Biden pointing and the words, “I did that” below it.

But how much have higher gas prices been Biden’s doing? Not much, just as former President Donald Trump could little claim he manufactured lower prices during his four years in office.

That’s because American presidents and politicians of either political party can do little about gas prices, other than react to them.

The U.S. is the biggest consumer of gasoline in the world. Gas prices in this country are the product of the free market and private oil companies’ stockholders.

The president cannot order supply of crude oil by American companies to rise and fall, as is the case in places like China or other places ruled by authoritarian governments with nationalized oil companies. And he certainly can only try to convince other countries to increase production.

It’s so much easier to criticize the opposing political party when it’s in power than it is to support its policies when your party is in power.

Trump’s supporters endured years of people making fun of his numerous gaffes and outrageous remarks on social media. Now they have used their opportunity to strike back at Biden with gusto, both with the gas pump stickers highlighting higher gas prices and the double entendre phrase “Let’s go Brandon.”

Curiously, some area pastors and former pastors have repeated the phrase, but I digress.

Biden spearheaded a coordinated release of oil from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve (SPR) in November with Japan, India, South Korea, Britain and China that helped stop the price increases for a while — though China did not take part.

Biden announced the release of 50 million barrels, which is about half of one day’s global consumption, according to news reports.

Yet, prices were expected to rise again and they have hovered at around $3.10 per gallon for regular gas in Metro Atlanta in recent months.

Is Biden to blame for the lack of truck drivers willing to transport the commodity, which slows the supply at the pump? Was he to blame for the May 2021 cyber attack on a key East Coast pipeline operator which sent motorists to use such containers as plastic bags to hoard gasoline and send prices up?

No more than Trump was to blame for the virus in 2020 that sent global demand — and prices — sharply downward.

Demand for gasoline fell sharply as employers temporarily shut down operations and traffic decreased noticeably on our roads as our government and others worldwide worked to fight the virus.

And the sudden decrease in demand had followed a regular over-supply by other oil-producing countries. They had been pumping out crude to supply the demand from a surging U.S. economy which began during the Obama administration and continued into Trump’s.

Crude prices dropped so low that it prompted American oil company executives to lobby Trump in April 2020 to use whatever means necessary to get prices back up — which Trump did by reversing his longtime call for more oil production by convincing OPEC to slash supply and increase prices.

Biden could increase sales from the U.S. Strategic Petroleum Reserve (SPR) but experts say it has a very nominal effect on the daily worldwide demand. And this country only has a finite amount of oil in the reserve.

A federal gas tax holiday to stop the collection of the federal 18.4-cents-per-gallon excise tax on gasoline is a possibility but economists have argued it would only increase demand and send prices even higher.

Some say Biden’s cancellation of permits for the 1,179-mile Keystone pipeline between the oil sands of Alberta, Canada, and Nebraska brought about higher prices.

The project was first proposed by the Canadian government in 2010 but former President Barack Obama, for whom Biden was vice president, opposed the U.S. part of the pipeline. Obama said it would not affect energy dependence on foreign governments or lower prices, not mentioning environmentalists’ fears about its possible effect on groundwater.

Trump supported the project, citing the jobs its construction would create, and issued permits allowing its construction within days of taking office in 2017.

Governor’s race already getting ugly

The 2022 Republican Party primary for governor has already been somewhat nasty.

Folks, we haven’t seen anything yet.

Even as Governor Brian Kemp

filed an ethics complaint against challenger David Perdue (a rather frivolous one in this writer’s opinion), this battle is about to reach the white-hot mark on the thermometer.

It has been interesting to listen to the reaction of some Republican insiders as well as the everyday GOP voter since this matchup became official. Some flat out don’t like the fact that an incumbent Republican is having to face primary opposition.

It’s not uncommon for incumbents in both of the two major political parties to receiver primary challenges. Often, they are not serious opposition but the Perdue candidacy is as legit of a threat to Kemp as it can be.

There are a large number of Georgia Republicans who still point at least one finger of blame at Kemp for allowing Joe Biden to carry the state’s electoral votes last November in the presidential election.

And there is a much smaller number of Republican voters who welcome the competition in the primary. Make no mistake, however, this is a small percentage of the GOP base in the Peach State. Most fear a brutal primary fight will benefit presumptive Democratic nominee Stacey Abrams in November.

It’s odd how so many Republicans don’t like contested primaries when there is an incumbent. In theory, aren’t Republicans supposed to be for competition? They want it when it comes to schools. They want it when it comes to business. Yet, they seem against it at the ballot box.

When Kelly Loeffler faced voters for the first-time last November, many state GOP insiders were upset that Doug Collins ran against her. It was a unique situation where candidates from all parties were on the ballot at the same time in “jungle primary.”

Actually, several Republicans in addition to Collins ran in race.

Even if Perdue did not enter the governor’s race this year, Kemp already

David Carroll columnist

Columnist says you don’t want to peak too early

It’s that awkward time of year. Baseball season ended in November, and I’m not sure when it will resume, as players are locked out while they argue with team owners over a few billion bucks and some change. College football’s long hiatus has begun, and it will be seven months until the Dawgs can defend their title. The Super Bowl will be played later than ever, on February 13. Tom Brady will be eligible for Medicare by then.

So I’ve begun my annual “I’m so bored I will clean up the den” exercise. Our den is the repository for all the junk that gets shoved aside while I’m watching baseball and football.

I started with my audio and video tapes. I have stashed away hours of myself, on radio and television since the 1980s. After watching and listening to a few tapes, I can now confirm: I wasn’t very good at either job.

I blame part of that on my youth and inexperience. On radio, I used far too many cliches, tried to sound like an adult when I clearly was not, and mispronounced some words while reading the news. For instance, “indicted.” How was I supposed to know the “c” was silent? Somehow that never came up in school. At least my boss got a good laugh out of it.

On television, I looked sweaty, pale, and tired. I’ll give myself a pass on the last part, because my show was on early in the morning.

As for my pallid appearance, I remember thinking I did not need any makeup powder, because I was 25, and did not apply cosmetic products to my face. I later learned that George Clooney, The Rock, and Brad Pitt wear makeup. It is important to point out that they live in mansions, and I clip coupons.

But I really did get better at my job as I got older. On my most mediocre days of the past 20 years, I have been wiser, better prepared, and more professional than I was as a kid.

This discovery coincides with a question I have been mulling over for decades. Why did the most successful musicians of our lifetime, almost all of them, do their best work before the age of 30? If they were great songwriters at 18, or 22, or 25, they were surely better at their craft by age 40 or 50, right? You know, like dentists and doctors.

According to music researchers, most American adults recognize and cherish songs like “Yesterday,” written and sung by Paul McCartney, “Superstition” by Stevie Wonder, “Don’t Stop Believing” by Journey, and “Sister Golden Hair” by America. These are songs that have been played repeatedly since they first hit the airwaves decades ago. They are embedded in our brains. Each of them were written by someone who was under 25 years old at the time.

Those same artists still write, record and perform music today. They have never stopped creating songs. But what have they written and recorded since they were 35 that you can sing along with today? Almost nothing. The always-prolific McCartney has recorded 20 albums since 1978, when he was 36. But the last McCartney song that most of us remember is “Silly Love Songs,” released when he was 34.

He still sells out large arenas, and will occasionally perform one of his more recent songs during his concerts. For his fans, this is what is known as a “beer run” or a “bathroom break.” Ninety percent of his live show consists of songs he made famous during the first 15 years of his career. His songs from the last 45 years are largely met with shrugs of indifference.

It’s not just McCartney. The same goes for his musical peers. In their 30s, did they suddenly lose the magic? Did they forget how to write a memorable melody, or how to tell a compelling story?

In all fairness, many of these legendary hit makers may have been better able to relate to us when they too, were young and struggling. When they wrote their now-familiar songs, they were not yet wealthy, and they were involved in youthful relationships (or break-ups).

At that point in their life, they were writing “I Can’t Get No Satisfaction.” What would they write now? “I Can’t Find My Glasses?” Or, “I Can’t Find a Good Arthritis Medication?”

And before you say, “They were ultra-creative at the time due to the influence of some strong drugs,” let’s be honest. These days, they have access to much stronger medication. If anything, their creative juices are probably even more juiced.

I suppose we should be thankful that doctors aren’t like rock stars. I wouldn’t want to have to switch doctors because he did his last successful surgery at the age of 30.

would be played, and then an awards ceremony would be held to close out the weekend.

Between athletes, their families, coaches and league administrators, Miller said approximately 500 total people would be expected for the All-Star weekend, including some from other countries. Today, there are more than 300 Miracle League clubs across the nation, including Puerto Rico, and even a few in Canada and Mexico. These clubs serve over 200,000 children and adults.

Last year's All-Star game was held Nov. 5-7 in Houston, Texas. If held in Newton County in 2024, Miller said the county's Miracle League club would be responsible for covering all expenses — from lodging to transportation to food — for the entire weekend.

"These families, due to some of the disabilities that their children may have, don't really get an opportunity to take a lot of vacations, so this is like a vacation for them," Miller said. "They come and they don't have to worry about anything because we've taken care of everything."

Mike Hopkins, who serves as chairman of the Friends of the Miracle League Committee, said the opportunity to host the event was something he hoped the entire community could support.

"We are fully committed behind this," Hopkins said. "So... we're not just coming in here asking you to help us; we're going to have the support of the whole community. Our board of directors are committed to following through and making sure that this is the best event ever. And, certainly, it will be a great showcase and be a good way for our community to get national recognition, so we're really excited."

Hopkins further opened up to the board and spoke about the Miracle League experience that he and his three special needs children have grown to love.

"If you ever want to have some real inspiration and excitement, come out and be a part of that experience," he said. "These kids get so excited, and it just really makes their year."

"As a father, I appreciate what the county has done in constructing the field here in Newton County and its an awesome complex ... We've got a top-notch facility, and I think part of the All-Star experience will allow us to enhance that and make it even better for our community."

Newton County opened its Miracle League Complex at City Pond Park in Covington in 2015.

Despite no official action taken by the board of commissioners, Banes voiced his full support of hosting the All-Star Weekend and urged commissioners to also support it.

A letter of intent was the first step of the process. Mask said he and others would be getting back in front of the Board of Commissioners as plans continued to progressed. Mask said the biggest need would be volunteers and funding. It would cost approximately $150,000 to host the All-Star Weekend, he said, but one donation had already been received.

"There's not anything in it for the Parks & Recreation Department or the Miracle League Board," Mask said. "But I do think it's something big for the community to come together and really show these families a lot of love."

During its Jan. 3 meeting, the Covington City Council unanimously approved authorization for Mayor Steve Horton to sign a letter of intent in support of hosting the game in October 2024.

on prices.

After Biden took office, Trump soon claimed gas prices were more than a dollar higher than when he was in office. Yet, in true Trump fashion, he was more than 50 cents per gallon off from the $2.39 per gallon AAA said was the national average on his final day on Jan. 20, 2021.

If gas prices fall below those seen in the summer of 2020, Biden shouldn't receive the credit for that, either.

Let's get real about how much blame Biden — or any president — should receive for gas prices.

Trump needs to come up with other reasons why he should be returned to office if, indeed, that's what he and his supporters want in 2024.

had primary opposition. Former DeKalb County CEO Vernon Jones, a major supporter of former President Trump, has been traveling the state in an attempt to unseat incumbent governor.

One recent poll showed Jones with 10% support in the primary.

Kandiss Taylor, a

South Georgia educator, is also in the Republican primary for governor. Taylor ran in the US Senate race against Loeffler last year and her campaign is the ultimate definition of a grassroots one as she travels to all corners of the state speaking to any group of voters, no matter how small

Political newcomer Jonathan Garcia has also declared his candidacy and there still may be others. Former Washington mayor Ames Barnett has been reportedly mulling whether to toss his hat into the ring.

Choice is a good thing and that includes when we go to vote.

Only countries that are run by a dictator have no choice. If you are a Republican voter and feel Kemp deserves a second term then by all means vote for him.

If you don't like the job Kemp has done, for whatever reason, then you have a choice. If Kemp does win the nomination of his party and then loses in the fall then it is not Perdue's fault or anyone else's. It would be Kemp's.

Shifting blame is also something Republicans say they are against. Yet we are already hearing that excuse being floating around.

Politics in the year

2022 has truly become fascinating and confusing. Georgia will be the eye of the political storm this year. If nothing else it gives political pundits plenty to talk about.

Student-Athletes of the Week Taylor Favors is spark for Redskins

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — This year, the Social Circle Lady Redskins have a very young team with two seniors leading the way. One of those seniors is Taylor Favors.

Currently standing at 8-11 overall, Social Circle has leaned heavily on Favors to provide leadership for the freshmen and sophomores. So much so that head coach Dave LaBarrie and her teammates named her team captain.

Favors has fully embraced this role during the 2021-22 season.

"There have been times when questions have been asked from the players," Favors said. "I have been COVINGTON, Ga. — The Alcovy Tigers recently earned their first region win of the 2021-22 season. The win was largely due to Ben Hodges' contributions.

Hodges' 19-point effort helped lead the Tigers to an 75-69 overtime victory over Heritage on Jan. 14 at home. His performance helped tremendously as the game drew close.

"I felt like my team needed me down the stretch," Hodges said. "I went out there playing confident and put together a good game."

Teasley leads Lady Eagles past Apalachee

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Friday night, the Eastside Eagles faced off against a region opponent in Apalachee High School. Both squads came out victorious with the Lady Eagles winning 52-44 and the Eagles winning 37-31.

For the Lady Eagles, though, they were led by senior Lizzie Teasley.

From the very beginning of the 2021-22 season, head coach Gladys King has admitted that, with a young team, she was going to lean heavily on Teasley.

Friday night, the Lady Eagles did just that and Teasley delivered in a big way.

In the eight-point victory, Teasley led the Lady Eagles with a double-double. She scored 19 points while also collecting 13 rebounds. She additionally had three steals, one block and one assist in the winning effort.

goals by the senior came from behind the 3-point line where Teasley went 5-for-9. She also went 4-for-5 at the free-throw line. King was not the least bit surprised at Teasley's outing on Friday and stressed just how significant it is to the girls basketball program to have Teasley perform at a high level.

"Lizzie is something special and she knows it," King told The Covington News. "She's a leader on and off the court. Her presence alone makes all the difference in any game we play. I am very pleased that we have Lizzie a part of our program. Her hard work and dedication to the program I hope has a lasting impact on the current players and future Lady Eagles."

Teasley wasn't alone in Friday's game, though.

Mehkyla White, Covington News' Female Student-Athlete of the Week for Jan. 26, had the second-highest point total with 18. White contributed four steals and two rebounds as well to help with the win.

Now, the Lady Eagles hit the road to Greenbrier on Jan. 28 after their game at Jackson County on Tuesday, Jan. 25. The Lady Eagles will be taking their improved 3-11 overall record as well as a 2-6 record in Region 8-AAAAA.

Eastside squads ready for 2022 soccer season

By MIKE HARRISON
Correspondent

COVINGTON, Ga. — The boys and girls soccer teams are heading into 2022 with high hopes for a successful season.

On top of that, the two teams anticipate similar seasons, too.

LADY EAGLES

After graduating seven seniors in 2021, another senior group is on deck to help the Lady Eagles this season.

Katie Oakley has scored 34 goals for Eastside in three years including 21 scored just in her freshman season. Lizzie Teasley has netted 20 career goals while Bailey Love recorded 13 assists in 2021, too.

File | The News

Eastside's soccer teams start their seasons against Mountain View on Friday, Jan. 28, at Sharp Stadium.

On defense, Hannah Scharf has led the Lady Eagles as well as Jordyn Jones.

This year's senior class has accumulated a 31-11-3 record overall and have been top 10 in the state the past three seasons.

Underclassmen Lauren Davis, Mia Mostek, Sophia Lea, Charlotte Abernathy and Abigail Morgan have also made contributions in the program's recent success.

Throughout all of this success, Eastside has been led by head coach Joel Singleton who is entering his 13th year at the helm.

As the reigning Region 8-AAAAA coach of the year, Singleton is excited about the upcoming season.

"Every team's different, but this senior class has been on a lot of great teams," Singleton said. "I am looking forward to seeing how this team grows, gels and comes together moving forward."

The Lady Eagles' regular season kicks off on Jan. 28 versus Mountain View at Sharp Stadium.

EAGLES

Like the Lady Eagles, the Eagles lost seven seniors to graduation last year, but there are eight more seniors ready to step up.

Included in this group are 2021 First Team All-Region players Patrick Kelly and Tanner Beam. In addition to last year's recognition, Kelly and Beam have already received an honor before 2022 kicks off.

Georgia High School Soccer voted Kelly and Beam onto the Preseason All-State team. Kelly was voted on as a defender and, receiving honorable mention was Beam as a midfielder.

According to head coach Champ Young, these two players have separated themselves as two leaders on this year's team.

"Patty's seen it all," Young said. "We're really going to lean on him hard from a leadership standpoint. Tanner is very creative with the ball and is a very special player for us, too. The big thing is learning how to lead and to make sure we're doing what we're supposed to so the kids around them can respond."

Young also highlighted other players who are set to assist the Eagles in 2022.

Ethan Manley returns as last year's top goal scorer for Eastside. Two running mates of Manley's will be Matthew Jolley and Wayne Warren.

Beam anchors the midfield.

On defense, Rodney Williams and Kelly as well as Caleb Coggins and Hunter Kersh lead that back half of the formation.

Eastside's regular season will commence on Jan. 28 against Mountain View at Sharp Stadium.

Benton's back; says return to Rams 'made sense'

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — News broke via Twitter on Jan. 5 that Justin Benton, who has spent the last year at IMG Academy in Bradenton, Florida, is returning to the Newton Rams football team for his senior season.

Benton is considered a four-star defensive lineman by 247Sports — the 28th best player in Georgia for the class of 2023.

Even though he's been in Florida for a year now, Benton admitted that he's kept an eye on the Rams.

"I always cared about what my guys were doing back home," Benton said. "I've kept up with a lot of guys through social media."

Now, Benton will be rejoining his teammates to help lead the Rams in 2022.

Prior to his departure to IMG Academy, Benton put together quite the resume as a Ram starter his freshman and sophomore seasons.

Particularly during his 10th grade year, Benton accumulated 93 tackles while leading the team in 2020 with 12.5 sacks, 24.5 tackles for loss and 22 quarterback hurries. He also tied the team-high in solo tackles with 55 and recorded an interception to boot.

Newton head coach Camiel Grant Jr. said Benton's return would be a boost for the team.

"The biggest thing that Justin brings that will be a game changer is his experience," Grant said. "Justin has been a starter at the varsity level since his ninth grade year. The experience and leadership he can bring to a young group is very important."

Grant also noted that Newton is graduating three starters on the defensive line, so Benton should help fill that void in 2022.

Benton is certain that his experience the past year will assist the Rams next season, too.

He stressed that he's learned how to compete going against a lot of quality competition at the academy. But, most of all, Benton admitted he was ready to return home.

"The main reason [for me to return] was for me to come back home and be around my people," Benton said. "It just made sense to come back home and finish my senior year."

Benton holds scholarship offers from Georgia, Arizona State, Arkansas, Florida and Florida State, among others.

Lady Yellow Jackets rise to No. 18 in latest AP Poll

Georgia Tech Athletics

ATLANTA — After playing a tough stretch of four games in eight days, Georgia Tech women's basketball moved to No. 18 in the Associated Press poll released Monday. The Yellow Jackets have been ranked in the nation's top 25 for six straight weeks.

Tech (13-4, 4-2 ACC) took the hardwood in three contests this week, opening with its first Atlantic Coast Conference road win of the season at Pitt on Tuesday, behind a game-high 17 points from Lotta-Maj Lahtinen and 16 points from Digna Strautmane.

Just 48 hours later, the Yellow Jackets hosted Florida State in McCamish Pavilion and outscored the Seminoles, 22-13, in the fourth quarter to post a come-from-behind victory. Lorela Cubaj scored a career-high 24 points in the win to lead three Jackets in double-figures. Tech dropped its final game of the stretch on Sunday at Miami by one point, 46-45.

Georgia Tech continues to lead the ACC and nation in scoring defense, while also topping the league in field goal percentage defense and rebounding defense. Individually, Cubaj remains atop the ACC standings in rebounds per game, averaging 12.0, while ranking sixth in the nation.

For the sixth week in a row, the ACC boasted six teams in the top 25: No. 3 Louisville, No. 4 NC State, No. 18 Georgia Tech, No. 19 Notre Dame, No. 20 North Carolina and No. 21 Duke.

Tech returns to the hardwood on Thursday, visiting Syracuse.

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Jenna Staiti scored 22 points and grabbed 12 rebounds as No. 13 Georgia became the first visiting team to earn a win at Missouri this season, using a strong finish to post a 72-62 victory over the Tigers Monday night.

Georgia has struggled at the beginning of Southeastern Conference games, falling behind early before rallying late. In three of its first four SEC games the Bulldogs trailed by 16 or more points. With a week to prepare for the Tigers, the Bulldogs came out strong and led the entire game — with a finishing run to put the game out of reach.

Hayley Frank's 3-pointer with 4:38 left pulled Missouri within a point, 56-55, but Staiti answered with a three-point play to start a 7-0 run by the Bulldogs, who pushed the lead to 10 points in the final minute.

Georgia's Sarah Ashlee Barker (3) celebrates a three-point basket with teammate Que Morrison (23) during the second half of an NCAA college basketball game against North Carolina State, Thursday, Dec. 16, 2021, in Raleigh, N.C. Karl B. DeBlakers | AP Photo

Que Morrison knocked down six straight free throws in the final minutes and scored 12 of her 18 points in the fourth quarter, adding six rebounds, six assists and three steals for Georgia (14-3, 3-2). Staiti scored nine of her points in the final period while posting her fourth double-double. Sarah Ashlee Barker added 11 points, all in the first half.

Georgia travels to Starkville to face Mississippi State Thursday before returning home Sunday to face No. 5 Tennessee, which currently sits alone atop the SEC at 6-0.

Upon her high school graduation in May, Favors aspires to take all of her leadership experience to the collegiate level.

Favors plans to attend Georgia State University to major in biology/forensic science as her favorite class she's enrolled in at Social Circle right now is her forensic science class.

But, even with that in mind, Favors isn't ready for this basketball season to end just yet.

"We had a slow start at the beginning of the season," Favors said. "But we went on a six-game winning streak. We are currently 8-11 and hoping to get some more wins before this season ends."

FTC shares security tips while video conferencing

In the future, when the world reflects on 2020, the word “Zoom” will no doubt come to mind. Though Zoom first launched its video conferencing software in 2013, that software did not become a fabric of many people’s daily lives until 2020, when a global pandemic was declared and the world suddenly shifted to remote working and virtual learning en masse.

Video conferencing apps like Zoom helped people of all ages maintain connections with their families, friends and professional colleagues throughout the pandemic. In the rush to maintain those connections, security might have been placed on the back burner. But the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) urges video conferencing users to implement some basic safety strategies so they can protect their personal information when speaking with their friends, families and coworkers via apps like Zoom.

- Make each conferencing session unique. The FTC notes that some conferencing services allow users to use unique passwords and/or identification numbers for each conferencing session. These features are typically set up by session hosts and can reduce the likelihood of strangers entering meetings and accessing users’ personal information. If you are not hosting sessions, urge hosts to utilize features that make passwords unique for each session.

- Install conferencing app updates the moment they become available. Updates are typically designed in response to vulnerabilities discovered since the most recent version of a software was made available. Installing updates when they become available is a good way for video conference users to protect themselves against cyber criminals.

- Don’t open invitations you don’t recognize. The FTC notes that hackers are sending emails that mimic video conferencing invitations. When clicking on such invitations, users may unknowingly be downloading malware that can make their computers and personal information vulnerable to cyber criminals. If you receive an unexpected video conferencing invitation, contact the host separately before opening the invite. In addition, hosts can urge users to contact them directly if they receive an invitation but are hesitant to open it.

- Protect your privacy at all times. Before using a video conferencing app, familiarize yourself with its privacy policies to determine how your information will be handled. Some apps may record conferencing sessions, so it’s imperative that users read privacy policies prior to using an app.

Video conferencing apps helped people stay in touch during the pandemic. When utilizing such apps, users must prioritize security to avoid being victimized by cyber criminals.

Ways to make early retirement a reality

Individuals have traditionally retired at the age of 65.

If early retirement is a goal, these strategies could make it happen.

- Use a retirement formula. The retirement planning resource New Retirement says that the basic formula for retirement is to accumulate 25 times your annual expenses and then plan to draw down no more than 4% of that value every year. Budget to realize that savings goal.

- Trim extra expenses. Reduce your spending to put more cash toward your future. Comb through credit card statements and look at various bills to see where you can save.

- Reduce your biggest expenses. Food, transportation and housing comprise most people’s largest expenditures. Instead of routinely buying new cars, look for certified pre-owned models, which are equally reliable. Downsize your home, or rent out a room (or apartment if it is a two-family) to offset mortgage costs.

With the right savings strategies, early retirement can be a reality.

Georgia’s economic recovery leads to one of the nation’s lowest unemployment rates

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

ATLANTA — Georgia Labor Commissioner Mark Butler partnered with state officials during the pandemic to make decisions for Georgians that led to quicker economic recovery helping businesses to bring employees back to work more successfully.

These economic strategies have contributed to Georgia leading the nation as one of the top 10 states for lowest unemployment rates as well as the lowest unemployment rate among the top 10 most populated states, a Department of Labor news release stated.

Butler announced an all-time low unemployment rate for December 2021 of 2.6%, dropping two-tenths of a point from November’s rate of 2.8%. The national December 2021 unemployment rate was down three-tenths to 3.9%.

“Making critical decisions early in the pandemic has allowed us to get Georgians back to work quicker and allow business owners to provide the goods and services Georgia needed for our economy to rapidly recover,” said Butler.

“We are grateful for leadership that limited restrictions on businesses and avoided the steep job losses seen in other states.”

Georgia’s November rate of 2.8%, and now all-time low rate of 2.6% in December, greatly outperforms other states who imposed much stricter guidelines for businesses during the pandemic. New Jersey’s and New York’s unemployment rate of 6.6% during November 2021 is two and a half times that of the Peach State. Nevada is still under an indoor mask mandate in most counties and ranked 50th nationally with an unemployment rate of 6.8%, right above California’s rate of 6.9%.

“Last month, seven industries saw job growth of more than a thousand,” said Butler.

“Although our unemployment rate is one of the lowest in the nation, we have to focus on getting people back into the workforce to fill the jobs Georgia businesses are creating. Now is one of the best times we have seen for finding employment.”

Georgia’s number of jobs was up 24,200 over the month and up 198,200 over the year to 4,648,000, making up for over 97% of the jobs lost during the pandemic.

Job numbers were at an all-time high in the Trade and Transportation, Retail Trade and Transportation and Warehousing, Professional and Business Services, and in Professional, Scientific, and Technical Services and Administrative and Support Services sectors.

Butler also announced a new all-time number of employed Georgians up 14,026 to 5,041,987 in December. The labor force was up 3,701 to 5,177,893, and the number of unemployed was down 10,325 to 135,906, the lowest figure since January 1980 when the labor force was at 2.46 million.

There are over 200,000 jobs listed online at EmployGeorgia.com, resulting in a minimum of over 305,000 unfilled positions. Employers with over a thousand job postings included United Health Group, 2,200, Home Depot, 1,700, Amazon 1,500, Wellstar Health System, 1,400, Walmart, 1,200, and Marriott International, 1,200.

Industries with over ten thousand job postings included Health Care, 30,000, Retail Trade, 17,000, Accommodation and Food Services, 15,000, Finance and Insurance, 13,000, Manufacturing, 11,000, and Professional, Scientific & Technical Services, 10,000.

Market salaries for the jobs listed on Employ Georgia range from $23,000 to $105,000, showing a median salary of $44,000.

Initial claims were down 272 (2%) from November to 16,922 in December, marking the lowest monthly total since June 1974. Initial claims were down 107,363 (86%) over the year.

Oatmeal does the body good

Metro Creative

Oatmeal is considered a popular cold remedy, but a piping hot bowl of ground oats can benefit the body even when it's not battling sickness.

Oats can impact gut health, cholesterol, weight control

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

Many adults are familiar with various remedies to mitigate symptoms and shorten the duration of the common cold. A bowl of chicken soup, a little extra sleep and tea with honey can help people feel better as they confront cold symptoms like runny nose and sore throat. Oatmeal is another popular cold remedy, but a piping hot bowl of ground oats can benefit the body even when it's not battling a cold.

Oatmeal and gut health

Beta-glucan is a soluble fiber found in oatmeal that prevents constipation and promotes regular bowel movements. According to Amy Goodson, MS, RD, CSSD, LD, author of The Sports Nutrition Playbook, beta-glucan fiber has been linked to healthy gut bacteria. Healthy gut bacteria can reduce the likelihood individuals will experience issues with digestion after eating and can lower the risk for inflammation and chronic disease.

Oatmeal and cholesterol

WebMD notes that the beta-glucan in oatmeal can help individuals lower their cholesterol. The soluble fiber in oatmeal reduces the absorption of cholesterol into the bloodstream, a property the Mayo Clinic reports can help individuals lower their levels of low-density lipoprotein (LDL), or "bad," cholesterol. It's worth nothing that many people add fiber-rich fruits and berries to their oatmeal, which can help lower cholesterol even further.

Oatmeal and blood sugar

A review published in the journal Nutrición Hospitalaria in 2015 found that eating foods that contained beta-glucans could help lower blood glucose levels in people with diabetes. That makes oatmeal an especially valuable dietary choice for individuals with diabetes, many of whom also must make an effort to lower levels of LDL in their bodies.

Oatmeal and controlling weight

A filling, healthy breakfast can help individuals avoid the kind of snacking that can contribute to unwanted weight gain. The fiber content in oatmeal helps people feel fuller longer, reducing the likelihood that they'll reach for potentially unhealthy snacks throughout the day.

That can make it easier to lose weight and keep the pounds off over the long haul.

Oatmeal and nutrients

Oatmeal is among the most nutrient-dense breakfast foods a person can eat. The United States Department of Agriculture's National Nutrient Database indicates that a 1/2 cup serving oatmeal contains 13 grams of protein, 52 grams of carbohydrates and eight grams total fiber. In addition, the USDA notes that oatmeal is a great source of beneficial minerals like magnesium and potassium. Oatmeal is widely recognized as an effective cold remedy. However, the nutritional value of oatmeal makes it a worthy addition to individuals' diets whether they have a cold or not.

Durable foods to stock for emergencies

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

Public health emergencies or inclement weather can spiral out of control rather quickly. Emergency situations have the potential to derail shipping or delivery schedules or impede shoppers' ability to get to the store for necessary supplies. Individuals should keep a stock of emergency provisions just in case weather or another adverse situation compromises their ability to get the items they need to survive. Different types of foods spoil at different rates depending on how they are stored. While there is no such thing as an entirely nonperishable food, packaging foods in air-tight containers can increase their life expectancy. Here's a look at which nonperishable foods to keep on hand for emergencies.

Protein sources

Protein can provide sustained nutrition and energy, but many protein sources in raw forms require refrigeration to prevent spoilage. However, canned and freeze-dried meats, seafood and poultry have extended shelf life. Freeze-drying, also known as lyophilization, is a water-removal process typically used to preserve perishable materials, according to Millrock Technology, a company that produces freeze dryers.

Canned or freeze-dried chicken, tuna, salmon, and beans are durable protein sources. Vegetarians will find that navy beans are high in protein. Freeze-dried items are more common in pre-packaged, bulk emergency food supply kits sold at popular retailers, including Costco. However, they also can be purchased at camping retailers or Army/Navy stores.

Fruits and vegetables

Fruits and vegetables are necessary to ensure your body gets essential vitamins and minerals. Fresh items will spoil in a matter of days, so canned varieties are better for stocking up. Canned vegetables and fruits come in many varieties. The healthiest canned fruit options are those packed in their own juices rather than heavy syrups. Root vegetables like potatoes, turnips and parsnips can endure in cool areas of a home, but canned equivalents may be more practical.

Whole grains and other carbohydrates

A balanced diet consists of a healthy mix of proteins, fruits and vegetables, and carbohydrates. According to Kelly Jones, MS, RD, a board-certified sports dietitian, whole grains are vital sources of carbohydrates and fiber, and most come in dried, non-perishable forms. Oats, rice, quinoa, barley, and whole-grain dried pastas can be used in emergency food kits. Packaged granola or trail mix bars also are good to have on hand.

FEMA and the American Red Cross advise keeping food in a dry, cool, dark spot. Carefully open resealable containers so they can be closed tightly after each use. Nuts, dried fruits and sugar packets can be put into air-tight canisters for protection from pests. Inspect cans for bulging, denting or corrosion before use. During a disaster, it is wise to eat at least one well-balanced meal every day. Remember to also stock bottled water with emergency foods supplies.

High amounts of added sugars pose a significant threat to consumers' overall health.

Answering questions about added sugars

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

Thanks to the internet, the average consumer now has access to more information than ever before. In the days before the internet, trust factored heavily into the consumer-business relationship. Though trust still has a place in that relationship, consumers can now access product reviews on seemingly anything, removing much of the risk associated with buying a product or service. However, many consumers are not making the most of that access, particularly when it comes to buying food.

When buying food, individuals can rely on product labels to determine nutritional value. A quick glance at food labels reveals the amounts of various ingredients, including sodium and fiber, that are present in a given product.

Customers may know to check for sodium content, but added sugars have long slipped under the radar.

High amounts of added sugars can pose a significant threat to consumers' health.

What are added sugars?

The Mayo Clinic notes that added sugars are the syrups and sugars that are added to foods during processing.

What distinguishes sugar from added sugars?

Many foods, including fruits and vegetables, naturally contain sugar, but there's a difference between natural sugars and added sugars. Natural sugars, like those found in fruits and vegetables, contain calories and nutrients, while added sugars contain all the calories without the nutritional value.

So why is sugar added to foods and beverages?

Manufacturers add sugars for many reasons. According to the Mayo Clinic, added sugars can provide additional flavor, serve as a preservative or a bulking agent, and balance the acidity of certain foods, such as those that contain vinegar and tomatoes.

If added sugars are so commonplace, how harmful can they be?

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention notes that overconsumption of added sugars can contribute to an assortment of health problems, including obesity, type 2 diabetes and heart disease. That's especially troubling when considering just how much added sugars the average person consumes. The U.S. Departments of Agriculture and Health and Human Services update their Dietary Guidelines for Americans at least once every five years. In 2020, those guidelines recommended that individuals over the age of two limit their added sugar consumption to less than 10% of their calories per day, and that children two and under consume no added sugars. For individuals two and older, that translates to no more than 12 teaspoons of added sugars each day.

The American Heart Association urges women to consume no more than six teaspoons of added sugars per day while recommending that men limit their intake to nine or fewer teaspoons per day.

Data from the USDA released in 2020 indicates that the average male between the ages of two and 19 consumed 18 teaspoons per day, while the average female in that age group consumed 15 teaspoons per day (adults age 20 and over consumed roughly the same amount of added sugars each day as young people).

What can consumers do to avoid overconsumption of added sugars?

The easiest thing to do to limit added sugar intake is to read product labels and avoid products with especially high amounts of added sugars. Such products may include beverages like fruit juice, soda or sports drinks; certain breakfast cereals; and baked goods and desserts like cookies, pie and ice cream.

Added sugars pose a threat to public health, but informed consumers can do much to eliminate this threat.

Everyone is a suspect at 'The Afterparty' in Apple TV+ whodunit comedy

A murder at a high school reunion sets the stage for multiple suspects, perspectives and genres in a "Rashomon"-like whodunit comedy set to begin streaming on Apple TV+.

In "The Afterparty," premiering Friday, Jan. 28, the murder of class nerd-turned-music star Xavier (Dave Franco) at a party following their 15-year reunion makes suspects of a group of friends, each with a possible motive.

Among them are Zoe (Zoe Chao, "Love Life"), the former fun girl stuck in a dull administrator position at the same school; Brett (Ike Barinholtz, "The Mindy Project"), class bully and Zoe's estranged husband; Aniq (Sam Richardson, "Veep"), a nice guy who carries a torch for Zoe; Jasper (Ben Schwartz, "Space Force"), Aniq's best friend; and popular girl Chelsea (Ilana Glazer, "Broad City").

Interviewing them is Detective Danner (Tiffany Haddish, "Girls Trip"), who takes statements from the suspects. So each episode is an account of the evening from the perspective of a given character. And the episodes have different genres, ranging from musical and Hitchcockian thriller to cop drama and comedy.

It was quite the exercise in storytelling for series creators Chris Miller and Phil Lord ("Spider-Man: Into the Spider-Verse," "The LEGO Movie"). But it was no walk in the park for the actors, either, as they had to juggle genres and keep track of where their character was at any point in each account.

Chao said with all the shifting around, "my brain would hurt by the time (we finished) every day but it felt like we were using everything we've got, which was fulfilling."

"It really makes you have to revisit the tenets of acting," she adds, "like the moment before, the moment after. Like where are you in the story at any given moment? And you just had to hone in on the art. I mean, you do that with any project but we're revisiting the same story from multiple angles and hitting similar beats but in different ways and in different genres. So it made you have to be really present and specific and intentional, which is great."

The series was shot during the pandemic, so after the actors filmed scenes repetitively, they then went back to their quarters and into isolation. So the shooting days took on a surreal quality as one blended into the next.

"It did have this 'Groundhog Day' feeling," Chao notes, "because we were revisiting the same evening every single day in the same costume every single day for like five months while also returning home to COVID life, which was its own exercise in repetition and isolation. So it was kind of a trippy experience."

"The Afterparty" premieres Friday on Apple TV+.

'Fast Foodies' returns for Season 2 with more repartee and reimagined dishes

Anyone who has found their curiosity piqued by the reimagined dishes on truTV's "Fast Foodies" can actually try a few – if they happen to be in the St. Paul, Minn., area, that is.

That's the home of the Handsome Hog, the Southern cuisine eatery owned by Justin Sutherland, one of the chefs on the show. On the Thursday nights the series airs, he has watch parties featuring the dish he's creating onscreen as that night's special. It's a clever bit of entrepreneurship that he reports has paid off.

"Last season every Thursday was standing room only ...," he notes. "This season, we definitely are going to do a lot more now that we know the demand for it and are a little bit more prepared. We've got some dishes planned out. I don't know the episodic breakdown yet fully, so once I figure out the order of episodes, we're definitely going to plan some dishes to coincide with our watch parties."

As the second season kicks off Thursday, Jan. 27, Sutherland and fellow chefs Kristen Kish and Jeremy Ford again put their imaginations and culinary chops to the test creating reimagined fast food dishes for celebrity guests to sample and choose which is best. This season, they include comic Nikki Glazer ("Blind Date"), actor Jesse Tyler Ferguson ("Modern Family"), comic/actress Natasha Leggero ("Another Period"), "Saturday Night Live" player Bobby Moynihan and NBA commentator Baron Davis.

In Thursday's season opener, Glazer is the show's guest diner, someone who Sutherland says he has always admired. And the chemistry is evident as the repartee between Glazer and the three chefs is easy and entertaining.

Keeping up with stand-up comics, people who make their living being fast on their feet and funny off the cuff, can be challenging for some. But Sutherland says that kind of interplay has proven stimulating for him and his castmates.

"It's great. It keeps the energy up," he says. "It gives us something more to do than just cook. And I think honestly, it's a lot of back-and-forth. I think there's moments where we're keeping them on their toes and from the majority of the guests that we've had, I think it's been a really good back-and-forth of all of us making each other laugh and keeping each other on our toes. ...

"But at the end of the day, it's our show," he continues, "and we've got to balance being the host of our show and kind of maintaining control (with) also playing off of their jokes. And yeah, I think we've all gotten better at improv and keeping the things moving."

OF 'MARRIED TO REAL ESTATE' ON HGTV

What kind of renovation projects do you steer clients away from?

I would steer them away from projects where the renovation itself starts to cost more than what the neighborhood can bear. You know, you never want to over renovate to the point where you can't get your money out of it. So whatever we do – and you'll see this in the season – we'd sit down with our clients and we'd see realistically what they can get for the house once it's fully renovated if they had to or ever wanted to sell it to make sure that we're not over renovating for the neighborhood.

What about the old maxim of buying the worst house in a great neighborhood. Do you see a lot of buyers looking for that as a means of gaining fast equity?

(laughs) Yes, that's still tried and true. You know, there's some things that will always make sense ..., which is obviously buy something that has the potential to have equity in it already. That's our rule when we were flipping houses. That's our rule also with clients who are looking for their dream homes.

So what makes it like a disadvantage – and I really want to say this to encourage everybody because I think for home buyers who are out looking right now, many folks are getting very discouraged and they're seeing bidding wars abound for all the good homes. I say let's flip it on its head truly and look at it as an opportunity for you to grow your wealth fast. Because if you have the guts (laughs) and you can deal with a few months of renovation, then there's a big win on the end.

tonight's PICKS

Jana Morrison

NOVA

9 p.m. on WGTV

Centuries ago, ancestors of the modern Mayans enjoyed a thriving culture in large, sophisticated cities that sprawled across Central America. Something happened around 750 AD, however, to prompt those ancient Mayans to abandon several of those cities. In the new episode "Ancient Mayan Metropolis," archaeologists study evidence of catastrophic droughts and instability during that distant era that taxed the resources of those cities beyond their limits. The hour also celebrates the resilience of the Mayan people, whose culture continues today.

Batwoman

9 p.m. on WUPA

Batwoman (Javicia Leslie) finds herself with a full plate as she tries to balance a new romantic entanglement with Jada's (Rob-in Givens) demands and Mary's (Nicole Kang) escalating power in the new episode "Toxic." Given those stakes, loyalties are tested and motives are called into question as Batwoman tries to save Gotham and those closest to her. Rachel Skarsten, Meagan Tandy, Camrus Johnson and Nick Creegan also are featured; Bridget Regan guest stars.

Astrid & Lilly Save the World

10 p.m. on SYFY, USA

High school life can be challenging for any teenager, especially if they're social outcasts like BFFs Astrid and Lilly (Jana Morrison, Samantha Aucoin) in this new sci-fi comedy. Things get even trickier for the pair, though, when they accidentally open a portal to a terrifying alternate reality teeming with monsters. The rest of mankind may not know it, but their fate rests entirely in the hands of these reluctant heroines. Julia Doyle, Olivier Renaud, Geri Hall and Spencer Macpherson also are featured.

Astrid & Lilly Save the World

10 p.m. on SYFY, USA

High school life can be challenging for any teenager, especially if they’re social outcasts like BFFs Astrid and Lilly (Jana Morrison, Samantha Aucoin) in this new sci-fi comedy. Things get even trickier for the pair, though, when they accidentally open a portal to a terrifying alternate reality teeming with monsters. The rest of mankind may not know it, but their fate rests entirely in the hands of these reluctant heroines. Julia Doyle, Olivier Renaud, Geri Hall and Spencer Macpherson also are featured.

Dave Annable

Walker

8 p.m. on WUPA

A panic-stricken Dan (guest star Dave Annable) is forced to ask Liam (Keegan Allen) for help after the former learns that the dangerous Serano (guest star Henderson Wade) has been released on bail in the new episode “Sucker Punch.” Liam understandably isn’t eager to get involved, however, until Dan makes him a tempting offer that could put Serano behind bars for good. There’s just one catch: They can’t let Walker (Jared Padalecki) in on their plans. Odette Annable and Kale Culley also star.

Call Me Kat

9 p.m. on WAGA

As Kat (Mayim Bialik) stares down the barrel of turning 40, boyfriend Oscar (Christopher Rivas) scrambles to arrange multiple surprises to make the milestone birthday special, including — what could possibly go wrong? — meeting his mother, in the new episode “Call Me Forty.” Meanwhile, a frustrated Max (Cheyenne Jackson) tries to figure out why he constantly strikes out with women.

Swamp People

9 p.m. on HIST

Mother Nature throws everything she’s got, from hurricanes to searing heat waves, at the hunters as this hit reality series opens Season 13 with “Gators on the Storm,” a supersized premiere.

Pivoting

9:31 p.m. on WAGA

As she begins to dip her toes back into the dating pool, Sarah (Maggie Q) enlists the help of Amy and Jodie (Eliza Coupe, Ginnifer Goodwin) to vet a woman she ran across on a dating app in the new episode “Hell on Wheels.” Meanwhile, Amy’s maternal instincts are triggered when she discovers Luke (Marcello Reyes) isn’t living with any other kids, and Matt (JT Neal) turns to Jodie for some business advice. Tommy Dewey also stars; Connie Jackson and Colton Dunn guest star.

tonight's PICKS

Kennedy McMann

Iron Man 3
12:20 p.m. on STARZ

Robert Downey Jr.'s exciting third round as the Marvel Comics superhero finds him with his share of enemies — one a supervillain known as the Mandarin (Ben Kingsley) and the other a more earthly foe (Guy Pearce) who's nursing a deep-rooted grudge against the tycoon in the iron suit, Tony Stark. Pepper Potts (Gwyneth Paltrow) gets to show what she's made of when she ends up imperiled. Don Cheadle and Jon Favreau return from previous editions.

Nancy Drew
9 p.m. on WUPA

The fate of Horseshoe Bay and all its residents rests in the hands of Nancy (Kennedy McMann) and her Drew Crew, as they put their heads together to find a way to defeat their most powerful nemesis yet in the Season 3 finale, "The Ransom of the Forsaken Soul." Ultimately, a star-crossed choice will change everything forever as lives and hearts are placed in supernatural jeopardy. Leah Lewis, Maddison Jaizani, Alex Saxon, Tunji Kasim, Scott Wolf and Riley Smith also star.

My Killer Body With K. Michelle
10:03 p.m. on LIFE

R&B musical artist K. Michelle made headlines when she went public with her story of how silicone injections led to medical complications that nearly claimed her life. She's also the host of this new medical docuseries, in which she features both men and women who find themselves in critical need of help to recover from post-surgery traumas and suffering resulting from cosmetic procedures gone wrong.

What's Available NOW On

"Random Rings: Seasons 1 & 2" (Jan. 26)

This series of animated comedy shorts that originally aired on Disney Channel features Disney characters, primarily the cast of "Big City Greens," making random calls to strangers a la "Crank Yankers," except here the calls are all scripted to convey the feeling of catching someone off guard.

"The Ice Age: Adventures of Buck Wild" (Jan. 28)

The sixth film in the animated "Ice Age" franchise follows weasel Buck and his possum pals Crash and Eddie and a few new friends as they go on a prehistoric mission to save the Lost World from dinosaur domination. Simon Pegg, Aaron Harris, Vincent Tong and Utkarsh Ambudkar head the voice cast. (ORIGINAL)

"The Sandlot" (Available now)

Scotty Smalls (Tom Guiry) desperately wants to fit in with the other boys in his new neighborhood, but one thing stands in his way: They all play baseball, and he knows nothing about the sport. When the local star player (Mike Vitar) takes Scotty under his wing, Scotty learns the game and builds valuable friendships. This 1993 heartwarming story also stars Patrick Renna and Marty York.

"Like Mike 2" (Available now)

It's gotta be the shoes. Predictable and stuffed with the standard sports-flick clichés, this 2006 sequel to 2002's "Like Mike" is nonetheless an enjoyable and family-friendly watch. Credit charming young actor Jascha Washington ("Big Momma's House 2"), who finds the magic sneakers this time around and becomes a hoop phenom, and Kel Mitchell, providing ample comic relief as his uncle. Michael Beach also stars.

tonight's PICKS

Steph Curry
The Angry Birds Movie
7:45 p.m. on FREE
Most critics found themselves forced to agree that, for a movie based on an app, this 2016 computer-animated comedy was surprisingly funny. Jason Sudeikis lends his voice to Red, whose short temper has made him a pariah to his avian neighbors on Bird Island. Once Red grows suspicious that a newly arrived group of pigs is hatching a dastardly scheme, however, Red rallies his feathered allies to mount a defense. The voice cast also includes Josh Gad, Danny McBride, Maya Rudolph and Kate McKinnon; a 2019 sequel immediately follows.

NBA Basketball
8:30 p.m. on WSB
NBA Finals preview, anyone? Two of the league's top teams get down to business tonight at Chase Center, where Steph Curry and the Golden State Warriors hope the home court is to their advantage against Kevin Durant and the Brooklyn Nets. The Nets, at this writing the No. 2 seed in the East, recently got a big boost with the return of star point guard Kyrie Irving — for road games, anyway. The Dubs, meanwhile, are the top team in the West with seven-time All-Star Curry leading the way.

tonight's PICKS

Vanna White and Pat Sajak

Celebrity Wheel of Fortune 8 p.m. on WSB
This primetime edition of one of TV's most venerable game shows wraps up Season 2 as hosts Pat Sajak and Vanna White welcome their final trio of celebrities who will spin the show's signature Wheel to win cash for their chosen charities. Guests for tonight's finale include NFL gridiron star Von Miller, playing for Von's Vision, his non-profit organization that provides Denver-area youth with eye exams and eyewear; actress and author Ali Wentworth, competing on behalf of Good Plus Foundation; and actress Laverne Cox, playing for Trans Justice Funding Project.

Around the World in 80 Days on Masterpiece 8 p.m. on WGTV
Although he has access to a small fortune back home in London, Fogg (David Tennant) arrives in Hong Kong to discover that someone has put a hold on his credit, effectively making it impossible for him and his party to make further progress in their time-sensitive travels, in the new "Episode 5." Luckily, the resourceful Passepartout (Ibrahim Koma) has some "special" skills that may provide a solution. Meanwhile, Abigail's (Leonie Benesch) latest article could embarrass Fogg.

Two Sentence Horror Stories 9 p.m. on WUPA
When a couple leaves the stress of their city life for a restful weekend in the woods, they find themselves targeted by a group of inexplicably hostile locals in "Teeth," the first of two new episodes. Naomi King, Samantha Basley, Trevor Lerner, Chelsea Jackson and Shawn Stewart star. Immediately following, "The Killer Inside" revolves around a couple whose quarrel takes a dark and violent turn that reveals how far one of them will go to protect the one they love. Sarah Himadeh, Samer Salem, Michael Benyaer and Coulton Jackson star.

Reminiscence

7 p.m. on HBO

Lisa Joy made her directorial debut with this 2021 neo-noir sci-fi thriller, which she also wrote and co-produced, set in a bleak near future ravaged by climate change. Hugh Jackman stars as Nick Bannister, who uses technology that can access the memories of other people as he searches desperately to find a woman (Rebecca Ferguson) who has vanished without a trace just as their relationship was blossoming. Thandiwe Newton, Cliff Curtis and Marina de Tavora also star.

Kids Baking Championship

8 p.m. on FOOD

An episode that's always a fan favorite — the dessert imposters challenge — arrives with the new "BBQ LOL OMG," wherein hosts and judges Valerie Bertinelli and Duff Goldman ask their young bakers to create grilled dessert imposters with side dishes, like ribs with mac 'n' cheese or hot dogs and baked beans. The least successful contestant goes home at the end of the episode.

4400

9 p.m. on WUPA

While Shanice (Brittany Adebunmola) helps ready the Bois Blanc for a celebration, others are preparing for war in the new episode "You Only Meant Well." Meanwhile, LaDonna (Khailah Johnson) returns to the hotel, having learned vital information about the 4400rum. Elsewhere, Jharrell (Joseph David-Jones) reunites with his brother, but questions remain as to whether Manny (guest star Calvin Seabrooks) can be trusted and the truth behind his connection to Claudette (Jaye Ladymore).

Snowpiercer

9 p.m. on TNT

Layton (Davede Diggs) goes on the hunt, while Wilford (Sean Bean) places his own focus on working to boost morale aboard the train in the new episode "The Last to Go." Meanwhile, the members of the Resistance discover a threat that could undermine everything they've worked for.

tonight's PICKS

Margaret Josephs
Superman & Lois
8 p.m. on WUPA
Sons Jonathan and Jordan (Jordan Elsass, Alex Garfin) become increasingly concerned as Clark's (Tyler Hoechlin) painful visions continue, while Lois and Chrissy (Elizabeth Tulloch, Sofia Sofia Hasmik) embark on a mission to find Lois' sister Lucy (guest star Jenna Dewan) in the new episode "The Inverse Method." Elsewhere, Lana, Kyle and Sarah (Emmanuelle Chriqui, Erik Valdez, Inde Navarrette) discuss Sarah' upcoming quinceanera over a family breakfast, while Natalie and her father (Tayler Buck, Wole Parks) share their own moment of bonding. Dylan Walsh also stars.

The Real Housewives of New Jersey
8 p.m. on BRAVO
New friend Traci Johnson joins familiar Housewives Teresa Giudice, Melissa Gorga, Margaret Josephs, Dolores Catania, Jackie Goldscheider and Jennifer Aydin as this long-running reality series opens Season 12. After years of marital turmoil, a resilient Teresa is pondering moving in with boyfriend Luis and blending their families. Elsewhere, Margaret is dealing with some guilt after revealing an Aydin family secret, causing pain to Jennifer. Meanwhile, Jackie finally is forced to confront her eating disorder.

Kajillionaire
8 p.m. on MAX
Writer-director Miranda July brings her typically offbeat style to this 2020 crime dramedy that benefits from an unusually strong cast, headed by Evan Rachel Wood as an emotionally stunted 26-year-old whose co-artist parents (Richard Jenkins, Debra Winger) treat her less as a daughter than a convenient accomplice to their petty scams. This dysfunctional family dynamic becomes even further frayed when a stranger (Gina Rodriguez) joins their gambits. Mark Ivanir, Patricia Belcher, Da'Vine Joy Randolph and Diana Maria Riva co-star.

The team that helped make John Madden's TV career

Q: I was saddened by the news of the death of John Madden. How long did he and Pat Summerall work together broadcasting football? – Mark Troy, via email

A: One of the most iconic teams in sports announcing first was brought together in 1981 by CBS, where they would call five Super Bowls together. In 1994, they moved to Fox, which made a winning bid for television rights to NFC games – and they called three more Super Bowls there. Though Summerall intended to retire from broadcasting in 2002, Fox brought him back and paired him with others, since Madden (who won Super Bowl XI himself in 1977, as the then-coach of the Oakland Raiders) had moved to ABC after his contract with Fox had ended.

Q: Will Piper Perabo be back in some form in Season 2 of "The Big Leap"? – Denise Gates, Stuart, Fla.

A: Though Fox hasn't canceled the show as of this writing, a second season isn't guaranteed, despite all the hints the show-within-the-show dropped about what it could do "next season." Without spoiling anything for those who haven't seen Season 1, it's possible that Perabo could be present in the way she was toward the end of the first round ... though the creative forces also might elect to leave that alone.

"The first play that I ever did in school was 'Our Town.' And I don't even remember the part that I played, but I started doing theater both as an actor and studying lighting, tech and props. Which has served me well on a show like this, when I have 1,000 props and lots of them are sharp." – Sophia Bush of "Good Sam" on CBS

"Obviously, you take a lot from the books and then also the scripts when building a character, and you kind of merge those all together. But yeah, the books were never far away. I also did them in the audiobooks, so I know them back-to-front, inside-out. I'm ready to move on now to the next few." – Nicholas Ralph of "All Creatures Great and Small on Masterpiece" on PBS
