21-year-old gunman charged with murder, two counts of aggravated assault

COVINGTON, Ga. — A factory worker was charged with murder Sunday, May 29, after another worker was shot "multiple times" inside the General Mills plant in northeast Covington.

Zachary Foster of Covington was pronounced dead at Piedmont Newton hospital after being transported there following the 11:40 a.m. incident at the plant located at 15200 Industrial Park Blvd.

The suspect, identified as Jalen Brown, 21, of Covington was charged with one count of Murder and two counts of Aggravated Assault. More charges may be forthcoming, police said.

City police were investigating the possibility the suspect was armed when he came to work and was confronted by another worker inside the plant about the weapon, a CPD spokesman said.

"There was some type of altercation," he said.

The suspect then shot and killed the person who confronted him, the spokesman said.

After running from the plant to the intersection of Alcovy Road and Avenue of Champions, he saw someone outside the plant on Alcovy Road and fired at the person, the spokesman said. No injuries were reported.

Police soon arrived and ordered the suspect to lay down his weapon, which he did without incident, he said.

"There was never any other danger to any other employee," the spokesman said.

COVINGTON, Ga. — For over 35 years, Covington's American Legion Post 32 has hosted an annual Memorial Day ceremony on the Covington Square.

Organizer Don Floyd, a Covington City Councilman, said this year's ceremony held Monday, May 30, was a success and thought the day went well.

After Floyd opened the ceremony, the names of 83 Newton County residents who lost their lives in World War I, World War II, Korean War, Vietnam War and the Gulf War were recited.

The Rev. David A. Wheeler, pastor of Porterdale Baptist Church, served as the keynote speaker.

Floyd's wife, Marcia, shared comments about the Memorial Poppy — an international symbol to memorialize those who lost their lives while in battle.

The service concluded with a wreath presentation took place while taps played to help observe the memory of all fallen soldiers.

Approximately 150 people were in attendance for this year's ceremony.

Floyd said the sole purpose of the ceremony has remained the same throughout the years.

"It's not to honor veterans, but it is to give our gratitude to those who made the supreme sacrifice for us to enjoy our freedom," Floyd said. "We can't forget that."

Georgia Votes 2022

Incumbents react to decisive primary election victories

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

Winners of contested Primary Election races for Newton County commission and school board last week thanked their supporters before looking to their next moves before the Nov. 8 General Election.

District 2 County Commissioner Demond Mason said he was "very honored" to receive more than 70% of the vote in the Democratic Primary and win outright against three other candidates Tuesday, May 24.

Mason now will face Republican Donnie Bryant in the Nov. 8 General Election.

He said he will "continue to work toward making District 2 and Newton County a great place for community, economic and workforce development."

"I have worked diligently toward leading District 2 and Newton County with integrity, professionalism and visibility," Mason said.

Mason has been the target of criticism from some residents and at least one fellow commissioner for what they have charged was a lack of effort toward gaining public funding for the nonprofit that organizes the annual Juneteenth celebration in Covington.

He also has faced criticism for siding with Republican commissioners in voting on some issues.

Hats off: Commencement ceremonies held for Redskins Class of 2022

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga. — Redskins Stadium was packed on Friday, May 27, as 119 students marched across the stage and graduated from Social Circle High School. Chambers Madison and Sarah Ray kicked the graduation off by leading everyone in the singing of the national anthem. Then, fellow student Neely Land led the crowd in a moment of silence followed by the official welcome from Taylor Favors. The class' salutatorian Nicholas Peppers gave his address before Ashley Mayo, Class of 2022 valedictorian, addressed her fellow graduates. Tim Armstrong,

Cassie Jones | The News

To conclude the commencement ceremony, Social Circle graduates formed a large circle and tossed their caps into air to celebrate.

SCHS Principal, delivered remarks of his own, too, celebrating the class. Armstrong recognized all of the class' accomplishments and started off with its athletic achievements. In the past four years, the class of 2022 have made appearances in the Sweet 16, Elite Eight, Final Four and numerous state championships. During the class' senior year alone, Armstrong acknowledged that two state championships had been won, a top two finish at state for wrestling as well as Final Four appearances across several sports.

A part of its academic achievement, Armstrong highlighted literary region and state championships, semi-finalists in the governor's honors program and being named an AP Honor school.

The class of 2022, completed 114 Advanced Placement courses and 223 dual enrollment courses, too. Armstrong said completing so many college-level courses has allowed the graduates to save around $300,000 in tuition.

Armstrong also recognized how the class experienced a tumultuous four years of high school learning and navigating through the COVID-19 pandemic. But, according to Armstrong, that's what makes Social Circle's class of 2022 special. "Through the highs and lows, you have not only survived and persevered, but you have thrived," Armstrong told the class of graduates on Friday. "My hope is that we have prepared you for the next steps of life."

Diplomas were then presented to each graduate, assistant principal Craig Hargrove officially presented the class of graduates followed by the alma mater sung by Chambers and Ray. Tucker Cleary closed the ceremony out by taking a selfie with his entire class. Then, all graduates formed a circle on the Redskins football field and threw their caps in celebration of their high school graduation.

SPLOST advisory panel recommends funds go to roads, public safety equipment

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — An advisory committee will recommend that county commissioners approve using the millions expected to be collected from renewal of a 1% sales tax primarily for rebuilding roads and buildings and new public safety equipment.

The remainder is recommended to be spent on “Quality of Life” items including countywide park improvements, a “West-side Community Park” facility, and improvements to the county library system.

The Newton County Board of Commissioners will have the final say on what projects will be presented to voters as part of the referendum for renewal of the SPLOST in November.

The 2023 SPLOST is expected to produce a total of $108 million over its six-year life — of which the county is expected to receive $84 million based on past splits of the proceeds with the six cities in Newton based on population.

Volunteers on an advisory committee on the county’s share of the funding recently wrapped up weeks of work.

They completed a final list of where they were recommending commissioners approve where the estimated $84 million should be spent over the six-year life of the 2023 SPLOST if approved by voters on the Nov. 8 ballot.

Two-thirds of the money — about $56 million — is recommended for resurfacing, reconstruction and widening of county roads; renovation of fire department buildings; replacement of equipment for the detention center; and money for new vehicles for the sheriff’s office.

More than $141 million in projects were originally requested, and a number of requested projects did not receive a final nod from the committee.

Some of the requested projects not on the list included:

- A $15.3 million renovation or reconstruction of an aging sheriff’s office special investigative unit’s building, which includes a morgue.
- A total of $11.9 million in renovations and improvements to the R.L. Cousins Community Center building and adjacent recreation facilities.
- $4.5 million in improvements to the county-owned Nelson Heights Community Center.
- $4.5 million for Washington Street Community Center improvements.
- $1.5 million for projects for the Hwy. 278 Community Improvement District.
- $3.7 million for

Newton Trails for improvements to the countywide trail system, including Cricket Frog Trail.

- $4 million for a Senior Services enrichment center.
- $4.3 million for relocation and construction of a fire station.

However, officials noted the funding collected in excess of what was expected to be raised from the 2017 SPLOST already has been designated for the Senior Services and Washington Street projects.

Committee chairman Baxter Bouchillon said the panel came to an informal agreement on the division of the funding after finding it could not satisfy all the requests from county department heads and nonprofit agencies.

He noted the county government is in the midst of negotiations with the six cities in Newton County on the final split. He said he expected the county to receive less than the overall $84 million amount it was using in its recommendation.

During a final meeting Thursday, May 26, committee members agreed with Transportation Director Chester Clegg that more than an original $16 million amount for roads and bridges was needed.

He said the committee needed to keep $30 million in a general fund.

SHOOTING:

The cereal production plant was evacuated as a safety precaution, he said.

General Mills spokesperson Mollie Wulff said in a statement, "Our Covington, Ga., facility reported a shooting incident Sunday morning. "Law enforcement apprehended the individual. We are working with local law enforcement," Wulff said.

Brown was being held at the Newton County Detention Center without bond, according to jail records.

It was the second deadly incident on the grounds of the General Mills plant in two months.

ELECTION:

But he said he did not believe "politically motivated comments made toward me publicly" at the May 17 Board of Commissioners meeting and at prior meetings were factors in the election outcome.

The Primary Election results "were living proof that the District 2 residents are resoundingly satisfied with the leadership that I have incorporated within our community and they want to continue working with me in making District 2 and Newton County a great place to live," Mason said.

"For the past three years and five months, I have been actively involved with and have established amazing partnerships amongst many of the District 2 residents," Mason said.

"They have seen the work and effort that I have tirelessly given during my first term as the Newton County District 2 county commissioner.

"Many ... residents have also seen the professionalism and community visibility that I have maintained since 2019."

Mason said the voters also had seen his work with other county officials statewide in the Association County Commissioners of Georgia, and nationwide in the National Association of Counties.

"They have seen that I not only represent District 2 and Newton County on a local level, but I also represent our county on a state and national level ...," he said.

County Commissioner J.C. Henderson, who is seeking an eighth term on the Board of Commissioners, easily won the Democratic nomination for the District 4 seat over challenger Willie B. Jackson.

Henderson received 67% of the vote to win the Democratic nomination and will face Republican Scotty Scoggins in the Nov. 8 General Election.

He said he looked forward "to continuing the campaign trail by listening to citizens' concerns."

"We have an opportunity to come together and work for the better of Newton County," Henderson said.

"Let us put our differences aside and put the people of Newton County first. We must continue listening to the people, creating opportunities, and ensuring a safer community. That's what I'll continue to do," he said.

"Let's move our community upward, not downward, forward, not backward together; we can make a difference; we will make a difference together."

District 3 school board member Shakila Henderson-Baker also easily won her Democratic Primary race over Victoria Redding with 84% of the vote.

Henderson-Baker said in a post on social media that, "This season God sent so many people to me who revealed some things so it was confirmation that this is a true assignment from him."

"I will continue to do what is right for children and put children first in my decision making," she said. "I will continue to have an open door or open phone where you all can reach out with concerns, questions, or feedback."

She noted the need to address some "new concerns" that were raised "over the course of this campaign season."

Among the issues Redding raised were the need for better testing practices at all Newton schools after some schools' scores rose while others did not in recent years.

"Our mission is educational excellence for all students not some, so I will continue to push for things that make it fair and possible for all children to succeed," Henderson-Baker said.

State’s possible next U.S. senator should think before he speaks

There is no doubt Herschel Walker was an elite athlete and is a football legend in Georgia. After essentially dominating the SEC at tailback from 1980 to 1982 at UGA, he won the 1982 Heisman Trophy. He also was a track star for UGA.

He then left school early and went on to play in the fledgling USFL for the Donald Trump-owned New Jersey Generals and, later, for the Dallas Cowboys, Minnesota Vikings and Philadelphia Eagles. Now, years later, former president Trump convinced Walker to move back to Georgia after years in Texas and enter the world of politics. Walker ran for U.S. Senate and won the Republican nomination for the office easily last week over a bevy of much lesser-known candidates whose resumes did not include national championships or Heisman Trophies. But he will face an opponent with high name recognition in U.S. Sen. Raphael Warnock in November. In those months after he declared his candidacy, Walker had the luxury of dodging his little-known Republican opponents and not participate in debates. But he already has committed to debate Warnock.

So, what will Walker say if he’s asked about the college degree from UGA he’s touted for years, or his status as valedictorian of his senior class at Johnson County High School?

Or his stand on gun violence, or NATO’s relation to the Ukraine War, or claims that former president Donald Trump never said the 2020 presidential election was “stolen”?

Walker has made some seriously inaccurate statements recently on such issues as the Ukraine War and evolution.

Walker reportedly told a Carrollton Rotary Club in Carrollton that NATO has not been supporting Ukraine or working against Russia’s invasion — both false.

Then, at a Gwinnett County church, a man who has a good chance of being a member of the body that confirms Supreme Court justices publicly questioned the validity of evolution by saying if man had evolved from apes then “apes would no longer exist.”

As Business Insider points out, “Walker’s claim echoes one of the biggest misunderstandings of evolution that has plagued scientists and biologists since Charles Darwin first made his theory.

“The theory does not state that humans descended from apes or chimpanzees or any other related animal that is alive today. Rather, humans and apes shared a common ancestor millions of years ago.”

If all of this wasn’t bizarre enough, Walker also has been saying for years — including in a book he wrote — that he returned to UGA to earn a degree after leaving early to join the USFL.

But numerous news outlets have found he never received a college degree despite claims to the Dallas Morning News that he earned one in criminal justice. His promotional materials for his book also featured the false claim he graduated.

He also went so far as to tell SiriusXM Radio and others he was in the top 1% of his college graduating class — an impossible claim if he never received a degree.

Then, his claim he was high school valedictorian could not be proven. News outlets found the school did not designate a valedictorian in the year Walker graduated, despite one Heisman Trophy biographical website stating he was the school’s top student that year.

And when Fox 5 news anchor Russ Spencer recently asked Walker about the college graduation and valedictorian claims, Walker said he had never said he graduated from UGA. But he has made the claim repeatedly — CNN reporting he made both the graduation and valedictorian claims in a 2017 motivational speech, a radio interview and on his website promoting his 2009 book.

Then, in the same interview with Fox 5, Walker denied Trump has ever said the 2020 election was “stolen” — despite Trump making the claim repeat-

Your Letters to the Editor

Oxford councilman writes open letter to defenders of 2A

Dear Mrs. and Mr. Defender of the Second Amendment:

While I disagree with your interpretation, I do applaud your efforts to defend the constitution. I just want to know what would it take for you, as a group, to sit down and discuss reforms that would stop the slaughter of innocent children? What would it take to pass a law requiring a special license and registration for weapons of war that are currently readily available to anyone? Make no mistake these are weapons of war.

I am often told it is a mental issue but when we try to reform mental health we are met with “how are we going to pay for the reforms? And then we put the mentally ill on the streets to fend for themselves.

I see bumper stickers about supporting the “blue” but I really do not want officers in our town afraid to make traffic stops because of what might await them. Many are our friends and loved ones. This is something we should not ask of them.

I am often told a good gal with a gun will stop a bad guy with a gun. Although there may be some isolated case where this actually happened, we all know it really only happens in the movies.

Arm teachers and school officials? Do we really want combat training to be a part of a teaching degree and our schools turned in to something closer to prisons than schools? This is something we should not ask of them.

Please tell me what would it take to have a discussion in our town, our county, our state and our nation to talk about reasonable reform to stop the slaughter of the innocents. What would it take for me not to worry about my loved ones shopping? Is safe shopping a gunfight at Walmart between a bad guy with automatic weapons and good gals with concealed pistols? Are safe schools an individual with automatic weapons of war having a gunfight with a teacher with a pistol. Sure, we have a right to own a gun, but what about the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness?

Yes, I am a progressive, a gun owner and a former hunter. I also served in the military so I do have experience with guns. I enjoy John Wayne, Clint Eastwood and other action movies. Still I do not want to shop with a gun on my person. I want to leave all that at home and interact with my fellow citizens in peace.

I want to know, where is the outrage that is called for and is missing? Outrage is missing from churches, media, sports figures, police officials, elected officials, etc. Sure, there are some but they are the proverbial voices in the wilderness. Where are the authority figures and their outrage? Are we too comfortable in our little nooks that we continue to sacrifice innocent children so as not to jeopardize our comfortable existence? Are we going to just send thoughts and prayers until it is our innocents and then ask; Why doesn’t somebody do something?

So what would it take to stop the name calling and create safe places for all our loved ones?

David Carroll columnist

Columnist wishes he had solution to school shootings

A few days ago, I tried to watch one of the nightly network newscasts. After the first two minutes (the “tease” period, where they try to get your attention), I was worn out.

The top stories, in no particular order were: High gas prices, raging out of control. Runaway inflation. Shrinking 401Ks. COVID numbers spiking again. The threat of monkeypox. Ten people were killed in a supermarket shooting in Buffalo, New York. Russia continued pummeling Ukraine, amid China antagonizing Taiwan. The abortion battle rages on. Moms can’t find formula for their babies. Border crossings continue to raise concerns. Restaurants closing because they cannot find anyone to work.

My dinner hour appetite was suddenly replaced by the desire to take a long nap. I was worn down. It seemed like there were 99 problems, and I had zero solutions.

Then I watched again a few days later. All those stories had faded into the background, not even meriting a mention.

The mass shooting at a Texas elementary school dominated the news. At least 19 angelic, happy children are being mourned by family, friends, and an entire nation. Like most of you, I have no words, and certainly no answers. Even though it truly could have happened anywhere, too many people outside a one mile radius of the school decided to turn someone else’s tragedy into a political football.

The anger-inducing cable opinion channels went into overdrive. Politicians and so-called journalists began spreading false information, a sad byproduct of the social media wasteland. Their slogan seems to be, “Don’t take time to check for accuracy. If it fits our narrative, let’s shout it from the rooftops.”

The blame game began within minutes. “It’s the NRA’s fault.” “The Democrats did this by encouraging divisiveness.” “The gun lobby has blood on their hands.” “Trump and his disciples have fanned the flames.” “All these mass shootings are happening on Biden’s watch.” “It’s not the guns, it’s crazy people.” “Don’t blame gun owners, we’re the good guys.” “The fake news did this by publicizing and glorifying acts of violence.”

“It’s all because of the violent games, music, and movies young people are exposed to.” “Why doesn’t Congress do anything?”

My friend Mike Crowder posted a profound suggestion on Facebook: “Imagine what you’d want to do if it happened at the elementary school your kids or grandkids attend. Whatever it is, do that.”

I know a number of retired principals, and I communicate with them often via phone and text messages. The middle and high school principals all say the same thing: “I worried about something like this happening at my school every single day.” One told me, “Each night I would get on my knees and thank the Lord that my school had not become the latest Columbine, Sandy Hook, or Parkland.”

Now we must add Robb Elementary to that sad and growing list. My elementary principal friends admit that they have rarely worried about a tragedy of this magnitude. At those schools, the days are mostly filled with kids who hug, parents who volunteer, and teachers who can account for everyone’s whereabouts at any given time.

The aforementioned school shootings resulted in tighter security in all schools. Even the peaceful elementary schools in my hometown no longer have unlocked doors and easy access. You have to buzz in, explain why you’re there, and show your ID before you get near any child. Even then, there are tense moments.

Recently, I saw one with my own eyes. I was filming a promotional announcement outside an elementary school, using the entrance as a backdrop from about 50 yards away. During afternoon dismissal, a man got out of his car and confronted the woman parked in front of him. Their argument got loud, almost got physical, and had the potential to get violent. The principal, a petite young woman in her first year, calmly separated the two, and later told me they had just returned from a courtroom custody battle.

In the midst of all this was an innocent child, not unlike the children we lost in Texas. This is the world we are leaving them, and I wish I could fix it.

Advocate shares why pinwheels matter

The Team at A Child’s Voice Child Advocacy Center in Social Circle entered May with a renewed spirit — coming off our favorite month, Child Abuse Prevention Month (April), a successful first Pinwheel Palooza, and the celebration of our expanded center. As we reflect on this year’s events, I find myself grateful and hopeful, and excited to further grow our community presence.

We celebrate Child Abuse Prevention Month each April with community displays of pinwheels, because pinwheels symbolize playfulness, joy and whimsy. They represent safe, healthy, happy childhoods and are the official symbol of child abuse prevention. Hopefully you saw our pinwheel garden at Covington First United Methodist Church this April. We “plant” the pinwheels for the month of April. We hope that people find joy in these pinwheels and learn more about child abuse prevention in the process.

But these pinwheels are only up for a month. They are small, get broken, and sometimes get taken (which is OK!). My dream is for a bigger impact. For a larger community presence. For pinwheels to be a symbol the community connects to all year. Our staff have long dreamed of HUGE pinwheels that could be permanent. Last November, my coworker Jennifer emailed me a YouTube video of a guy, in a garage, showing how to make a six-foot wide, six-ving metal pinwheel. He made four of these pinwheels for a public art installation. We thought, “perfect! We can share this with someone locally who can make us pinwheels!” Turns out, this public art installation was on the Beltline in Atlanta! Jennifer reached out to the artist, Dr. Alex Rodriguez (“Dr. ARod”), made a connection, garnered community support, and we now have three of these giant pinwheels installed in Chimney Park, a public, family-friendly park that mirrors the whimsy of the pinwheel!

I love this story because it aligns with what we teach in our work. We know that for safe and healthy childhoods, it takes a community approach. Caring community members must be willing to support the children and families in their neighborhood. The idea that “it takes a village” stands true. We facilitate a training called “Connections Matter” and it has turned into a catch phrase around the office, but it’s true! Connections Matter! Without connections, and the community, our giant pinwheel display wouldn’t exist. Without Dr. ARod being open to share his pinwheels with us; without Allsouth Constructors, Inc., Leadership Newton County, and United Bank sponsoring the pinwheels; without Chimney Park’s willingness to partner with us; without Jennifer taking a chance to reach out.... We wouldn’t have our pinwheel display. All of these connections were vital for this project to come to fruition.

We know that preventing child abuse and building healthy communities/childhoods works the same way. Maybe you are the Dr. ARod in your community — sharing your resources and talents to keep your neighbor’s yard mowed so the kids have a safe area to play; or painting murals to keep it vibrant and fun; or playing tunes at the local farmers market to brighten everyone’s day. Maybe you are the Leadership Newton or Allsouth Constructors or United Bank in your community, buying from a kid’s lemonade stand or donating school supplies for the Back to School giveaway. Maybe you’re the Jennifer in your community, having the idea to plan a neighborhood cookout or organizing a carpool to lessen the burden on the other parents. Maybe you’re the Chimney Park in your community, supporting and championing those around you, offering up your space for a family game night or volunteering as a little league coach.

Everyone has a role to play in creating safe childhoods. Science shows us that the little things we do to connect make a BIG difference, even when they feel insignificant. I hope you visit our pinwheels in Chimney Park, and while you’re there, I hope you think about the little ways you can engage, right where you are.

eral recommendation for roads and bridges because of the need to have enough money for matching funds when state and federal grants were made available.

He and Bouchillon said state law requires that designating $12 million for a specific project like widening Brown Bridge Road in the referendum sent to voters would mean that amount could only be used for Brown Bridge Road and not for the myriad other road improvements needed in the next six years.

Sheriff Ezell Brown and Fire Chief Mike Conner argued for keeping funding in place for new vehicles. Brown noted some of his vehicles were 15-20 years old and needed replacement.

Committee member Dana Herring, representing District 3, said she did not want a Westside community center facility relegated to a phase two list of projects not in the 2023 SPLOST.

However, county special projects coordinator Jeff Prine suggested the final $10.5 million figure for a Westside facility could include part of what District 3 County Commissioner Alana Sanders wanted in the facility.

He said $10.5 million could be used to buy the land and design and build a 10,000-square-foot building that could be shared with Senior Services. Development of a park surrounding the facility could be done later, he said.

The committee’s recommendation now goes to the full Newton County Board of Commissioners.

The Board can include the recommendation in its final decision on how the money will be spent, or it can scrap the panel’s work and make its own decision on projects to fund.

edly. He later clarified the statement to say he had never heard Trump tell Walker that it was stolen.

And, just in the past few days, Walker gave a jumbled explanation to Fox News about gun violence that showed he had little or no understanding of the subject.

Apparently, the Republican nominee for one of Georgia’s two U.S. Senate seats has thought little about how to prevent the deaths of 19 innocent children, or 10 shoppers at a Buffalo, New York, supermarket — and the potential for it happening again — that it has barely been on his radar.

In fact, one of his possible solutions to gun violence in the Fox interview was creation of a government agency to watch young men’s social media activity. What do his fellow Republicans who believe the government has gone too far in breaching individual liberties think of that?

This from someone who has a very good chance of representing Georgia and becoming one of 100 people guiding this nation’s future in the U.S. Senate.

Shouldn’t a candidate this close to being a U.S. senator — whether Republican or Democrat — be expected to think before he speaks?

Redskins send message in playoff run

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga. — The 2022 campaign wasn't flawless for the Social Circle baseball team. The Redskins endured nine regular season losses, four of which came in the final two weeks of the season.

Those four losses caused the Redskins to be dropped from the top of Region 8A-Public all the way down to third in the region. As a result, Social Circle entered the Class A-Public state playoff bracket as a three seed and causing it to be on the road for the entire postseason.

The Redskins seemed to bounce back once the postseason began, though.

In the playoffs, Social Circle went on the road to defeat Trion, sweep Wilcox County and win over ACE Charter. Its season ultimately came to an end once Charlton County swept the Redskins on May 16, eliminating Social Circle from playoff action.

However, head coach Kevin Dawkins believes his team's advancement to the Final Four and winning three road series sent a statewide message.

"We earned a lot of people's respect," Dawkins said. "I firmly believe that Social Circle, in the future, is not sneaking up on anybody. They know we're here. They're going to prepare for us, which is a good thing. That's what I want. It means we've got a good team and a good program."

Alcovy's Coursey, Hughes headline All-Covington News baseball team

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — All area baseball teams recently wrapped up their 2022 seasons. So, with that in mind, The Covington News has compiled an All-Covington News team highlighting local players' performances.

The team is led by MVP, Pitcher, Slugger, Freshman and Coach of the Year recipients.

Most Valuable Player
Connor Coursey, Alcovy
Coursey seemed to be the do-it-all player for the Tigers in 2022 as a senior.

At the plate, he had a .306 batting average with a .410 on-base percentage and had 19 RBIs and one home run. Then, on the mound, he registered 49.3 innings of work.

In that action, he recorded a 2.83 ERA, 49 strikeouts and had one save.

Coursey's performance earned him First Team All-Region honors for Region 3-A-A-A-A-A, too.

File | The News
Alcovy head baseball coach Jimmy Hughes led the Tigers back to the postseason for the first time since 2013. That earned him All-Covington News' 2022 Coach of the Year.

Pitcher of the Year
Holden Hall, Eastside
Before Hall is recognized as the All-Covington News Pitcher of the Year, the Eagles presented an award to him. As a senior pitcher, Hall received the 2022 team's Cy Young Award.

On the mound, he registered a 2.31 ERA in 51.1 innings of work while striking out 58 batters and only walking 12. He also earned Second Team All-Region honors for Region 8-A-A-A-A-A.

Slugger of the Year
Mason Moore, Social Circle
Moore easily had the biggest bat in the Newton County area. He led the area with a .463 batting average as well as had six home runs in 2022.

He added 39 RBIs to his junior season resume, too. At the end of the season, Region 8A-Public coaches voted Moore as the Region Player of the Year.

Freshman of the Year
Collin Brightwell, Newton
In 2022, the Rams had a young squad who had limited experience on the varsity level. Brightwell falls into that category as a freshman contributor this season.

He finished second on the team in batting average with a .304 batting average. He was also third on the team with 14 RBIs. Brightwell also recorded a .951 fielding percentage.

Coach of the Year
Jimmy Hughes, Alcovy
It has been since 2013 that the Alcovy Tigers baseball team qualified for the state playoffs. But that all changed this season.

In Hughes' fourth year at the helm, he led the Tigers to the Class 6A playoffs. On top of that, Hughes led a team that only had three seniors and primarily made up of underclassmen.

Now, as a result of Hughes and the Tigers' efforts, Alcovy's history books can be updated.

Eastside's Teasley signs basketball scholarship with Emmanuel College

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Family members, coaches and teammates were on hand as Lizzie Teasley signed her letter of intent to attend Emmanuel College to play basketball. The signing ceremony took place on April 27 inside Eastside High School's media center.

Teasley, who played both basketball and soccer as a Lady Eagle, said the decision to pursue a collegiate basketball career was a no-brainer.

"I asked my mom, 'What do I pick up in the morning? A basketball or a soccer ball?'" Teasley said. "She said, 'A basketball.' And I was like, 'Right.' The passion level is just a little bit different. I would not be miserable or mad if I played soccer, but as of right now, basketball is where I'm at."

The recruitment process wasn't an easy one for Teasley, though. She stressed how many offers and opportunities never came to fruition plus the added obstacle of the COVID-19 pandemic didn't help either.

With the intense process, Teasley had many questions come to mind and she wondered what would be next for her. However, after one conversation with her dad, things became clear.

"Before COVID, I had calls come from other schools and everything just kept falling through," Teasley said. "I asked my dad, 'I don't know why it's working out like this?'" One thing my dad told me was 'I've been praying for God to make it super clear on where you're supposed to go.' And I think God shut all the doors that he didn't want to go, and he made Emmanuel wide open."

The opportunity to play college basketball was a big factor in Teasley's decision-making process to sign with Emmanuel College. There was another reason, though, that carried a lot of weight in Teasley's final decision.

Teasley aspires to begin a Christian ministry during and after college, hence her planning to major in Christian ministries while a student. Specifics haven't really come to light for Teasley yet as to what she wants to pursue in that regard, but having the opportunity to explore multiple avenues went a long way in saying "yes" to Emmanuel.

Nevertheless, Teasley acknowledged her Eastside coaches, for both soccer and basketball, as well as her teammates as her support that has helped prepare

A few special occasions occurred in 2022 for the Redskins. First, this year’s team became the first one in program history to win 20 regular season games. And, while they were swept in the Final Four, the Redskins’ appearance that deep in the playoffs was the first in program history, too. Upon reflection of all the Redskins accomplished, Dawkins expressed his pride in the players. “I can’t be prouder of how the players responded,” Dawkins said. “They didn’t complain or hang their heads. They just kept pushing and kept grinding.” Now, with the season over for the Redskins, they’ll look to summer workouts and all preparation for the 2023 season. Heading into the summer, this year’s team will lose only one senior. All other players will be returning with a good portion of the roster being seniors next year. Dawkins said having veteran players will be a boost for the Redskins in 2023. “All these juniors who made this run to the Final Four also went to the Sweet Sixteen as sophomores,” Dawkins said. “You can’t replicate that experience. So I think, moving forward, we have a really good group of seniors that are going to be able to show these underclassmen and say ‘This is what it takes to make a run. Here’s what it takes to make the Final Four.’ I’m excited about next year and beyond.”

Arbor Equity named 2022 Partner of the Year

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

Newton County School System (NCSS) and the Newton County of Chamber of Commerce are pleased to announce Arbor Equity, Inc. as the 2022 NCSS Partner of the Year. Arbor Equity is a partner in education with Newton College & Career Academy. School principal, Chad Walker, nominated the local tree service business for the annual award.

According to Walker, Arbor Equity owner Dan Bauer and staff volunteer their time and talents to support students not only at the Career Academy but other schools across the district. Recently the company helped Cousins Middle School students celebrate Arbor Day by planting trees on the campus.

“Mr. Bauer and his staff often serve on employability panels at our school to help students by having real conversations about career opportunities and what employers are looking for in potential candidates,” said Walker. “They also have assisted in planting multiple trees on our school campus, and they often bring their climbing apparatuses so our students can have the unique opportunity to climb a tree just like one of the employees would do.”

Walker added, “A result

Arbor Equity has also led classes for Newton County Young Farmers on proper pruning techniques for crepe myrtles and other common trees found in home landscapes and they are currently working with NCCA students enrolled in the Natural Resources Management course, to develop a plan to replace invasive species on campus with native species of Georgia. Bauer and the company have pledged up to $6,000 in labor for the project if it comes to fruition.

“I think more than anything else, we value the fact that Dan and company are always available when we need them,” Walker explained. “They are just a quick phone call or text message away when needed to answer questions related to tree care or our school sawmill.”

He noted, “They never balk at sending over employees on company time to volunteer at our school. Dan’s professionalism and network help elevate our school’s programs and the school itself to new heights that would not be possible without his company’s involvement.”

“Arbor Equity has truly made a difference at Newton College & Career Academy,” said Debbie Harper, president of the Newton County Chamber of Commerce. “It makes me so proud to know that we have business partners like this in our community.”

“We’ve built our business on relationships, and we use the word partner, but my entire career, and my entire belief in how we operate in a community is in relationships,” said Bauer. “We don’t have big billboards along the drives, we are literally out in the communities all the time doing arbor days being involved and that’s how we built our business. And so, it’s the relationships we have it’s not just always giving to the school. We receive as well. We receive students and they’ve become some of our greatest employees. We were over here last week recruiting more so as we grow, we hire more.... The more we can do the more we can build off of that the more we can grow, it’s just a benefit to the community. We just want to be out helping people. Our goal is really about community involvement and it’s the relationships we have with the school the chamber and everybody else that drives that.”

“We are so appreciative of our partners in education and the support they provide to our schools,” said Samantha Fuhrey, superintendent of Newton County Schools. “Arbor Equity is a phenomenal example of a partner in education and Dan Bauer and company are so deserving of the NCSS Partner of the Year award. We are grateful for their willingness to volunteer and support our schools and look forward to working with them for many years to come.”

Arbor Equity was named the 2020 Visions Employer of the Year, presented by The Covington News.

As of Friday, May 27, Newton County’s average price per gallon for regular fuel was $4.121, just one penny below the statewide average according to AAA.

Gov. Kemp extends temporary suspension of state gasoline tax

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — Gov. Brian Kemp issued an executive order Thursday extending the suspension of the state gasoline sales tax through July 14.

The General Assembly passed legislation in March suspending the fuel tax until May 31 as inflation began raising pump prices above $4 a gallon. The price of gasoline dropped slightly earlier this month but has gone back up to reach record highs.

Kemp blamed the Biden administration for the rise in fuel prices and inflation in general.

“While we continue to do what we can on the state level to ease the burden at the gas pump, in the grocery store and elsewhere, I will also continue to urge those on the federal level to change these failing policies, work toward greater energy independence for the country, and get our economy back to full operation,” the governor said.

In an effort to reduce pump prices, Biden has ordered releases of oil from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve, the nation’s emergency oil stockpile, and is reportedly considering limiting U.S. oil exports.

Kemp also issued a second executive order Thursday extending an executive order aimed at supply chain disruptions he issued April 14.

The order prohibits price gouging by gas station operators, waives federal rules that limit the number of hours commercial truck drivers may operate and allows commercial trucks to exceed normal weight, height and length restrictions subject to a permit from the Georgia Department of Public Safety.

The second executive order also is due to expire July 14.

As of Friday, May 27, Newton County’s average price per gallon for regular fuel was $4.121, just one penny below the statewide average according to AAA.

One month ago, the statewide average cost per gallon was $3.71. One year ago, the statewide average was $2.92.

A beet stunner that will win over haters

By LYNDA BALSLEV

Beets: People either love them or hate them, and this can create a divide at the dinner table. Now, I can't promise that any of your beet-averse family members or friends will do a complete 180-degree turn on their opinion when it comes to these earthy roots. I can suggest, however, that this gratin might be your best chance to convert them.

Baby beets are mild and sweet, and their flavor is less assertive than their grown-up relatives. In this recipe, they are thinly sliced and blanketed in creamy layers of garlic, orange-infused sour cream and nutty, piquant Gruyere cheese. If you must cloak a vegetable, this is the way to do it.

Happily, all the flavors meld together, and while the beets are undeniably present, they are not overwhelming in flavor. As the beets roast, they release their juices, resulting in a dish streaked with vibrant flourishes of color. At the very least, everyone can agree that it makes for a stunning vegetarian showstopper. So, go ahead and give it a try. Let the skeptics eat with their eyes, and just perhaps, they'll be convinced to pick up a fork.

I prepared this recipe with a variety of red, golden and Chioggia beets. So long as you scrub them well, you don't need to peel them.

2 garlic cloves, minced
1 teaspoon finely grated orange zest
Kosher salt
Freshly ground black pepper
2 pounds baby beets, about 12, trimmed and scrubbed clean
4 ounces finely grated Gruyere cheese
Chopped fresh thyme leaves

Directions:
Preheat the oven to 375 degrees. Butter an 8-by-8-inch gratin dish.
Whisk the sour cream, garlic, orange zest, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon black pepper in a bowl.
Thinly slice the beets, preferably with a mandoline.
Arrange one-third of the beets slightly overlapping in the baking dish. Spoon one-third of the sour cream mixture over the beets, carefully spreading to cover. Sprinkle one-third of the cheese over the top. Lightly season with salt, pepper and a pinch of thyme. Repeat with two more layers.
Transfer the gratin to the oven and bake until the beets are tender and the gratin is bubbly and golden, 50 to 60 minutes. Serve warm.

On those days when home cooks are searching the cupboards and refrigerator for some culinary inspiration, they need look no further than the egg carton. Often relegated to breakfast time, eggs can be the main ingredient or stars of meals any time of the day. In fact, they're a common component of quickies, fritatas and souffles.

People may have mixed feelings about eggs because the nutritional debate surrounding eggs' seems ever-changing. It was once thought that eggs had to be avoided due to concerns about cholesterol. But many experts now say that eggs can be a part of balanced diets.

This recipe for "Spinach Pantry Souffle" from "Taste of Home Healthy Cooking Cookbook" (RDA Enthusiast Brands, LLC) by the editors of Taste of Home features egg whites and only two egg yolks in the recipe. Additional low-fat ingredient help make the final product something anyone can enjoy.

Spinach Pantry Souffle
Serves 6

Ingredients:
6 egg whites
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) reduced-fat, reduced-sodium condensed cream of mushroom soup, undiluted

1 cup (4 ounces) shredded reduced-fat Mexican cheese blend
1 teaspoon ground mustard
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and squeezed dry
2 egg yolks, beaten
Directions:
Let egg whites stand at room temperature for 30 minutes. Coat a 2-quart souffle dish with cooking spray and lightly sprinkle with Parmesan cheese; set aside.
In a small saucepan, combine the soup, cheese blend and mustard; cook and stir over medium heat for 5 minutes or until cheese is melted. Transfer to a large bowl; stir in spinach. Stir a small amount of soup mixture into egg yolks; return all to the bowl, stirring constantly.
In a small bowl with clean beaters, beat egg whites until stiff peaks form. With a spatula, stir one-fourth of the egg whites into spinach mixture until no white streaks remain. Fold in remaining egg whites until combined. Transfer to prepared dish.
Bake at 375 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until the top is puffed and center appears set. Serve immediately.

The Cancer Treatment Centers of America notes that regular consumption of alcohol over time increases a person's risk for cancer.

Environmental factors that increase cancer risk

news@covnews.com

Things might have been different for their parents, but many adults now in middle-age and those younger than them grew up cognizant of the dangers of smoking tobacco. Educational campaigns and efforts on the part of lawmakers to curb smoking have proven effective, and the numbers don't lie. Data from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services indicates that smoking declined considerably between 2005, when roughly 21 percent of adults smoked, and 2020, when the number dipped to 12.5 percent.

Avoiding tobacco is a key component of a healthy lifestyle, as cigarettes, chew, cigars, and other tobacco products have long been linked to a higher risk for cancer. Though many adults were taught the dangers of smoking since they were young children, tobacco use is not the only environmental risk factor associated with a higher cancer risk. In addition to avoiding tobacco, individuals can learn about some additional environmental risk factors that can increase their chances of being diagnosed with cancer.

Alcohol

The Cancer Treatment Centers of America notes that regular consumption of alcohol over time increases a person's risk for cancer. In fact, the DHHS includes alcoholic beverages on its list of known carcinogens. According to the National Cancer Institute, the more alcohol a person drinks regularly over time, the higher his or her risk of developing an alcohol-associated cancer becomes. One study published in the American Journal of Public Health in 2013 estimated that 3.5 percent of cancer deaths in the United States were alcohol-related.

Unhealthy weight

Obesity is another environmental risk factor that increases a person's risk for various cancers, including colorectal cancer, ovarian cancer, esophageal cancer, and kidney cancer, among others. Unfortunately, the link between obesity and cancer is not as widely recognized as the link between tobacco use and cancer. The American Institute for Cancer Research noted in its 2015 Cancer Risk Awareness Survey that just 52 percent of respondents were aware that overweight/obesity was a significant risk factor for cancer. By contrast, 94 percent of respondents were aware of the link between tobacco and cancer.

Ultraviolet radiation

The CTCA reports that skin cancer is the most common form of cancer in the United States, affecting more than 3.5 million Americans every year. And those numbers are on the rise. Scientists believe that ultraviolet rays from the sun, sunlamps and/or tanning beds may cause damage to cell DNA that leads to melanoma and other forms of skin cancer.

Education about the dangers of tobacco use and its link to cancer have done wonders in terms of raising awareness about the importance of avoiding smoking. Further education about additional risk factors could prove equally effective in the years to come.

Gary Sinise (left) and Joe Mantegna host PBS' telecast of the National Memorial Day Concert 2022 on Sunday (check local listings).

A sizable portion of this year's National Memorial Day Concert will honor someone missing from the event for the first time in many years.

Gen. Colin L. Powell typically participated in the program, and his passing last October left returning hosts Joe Mantegna and Gary Sinise without a professional colleague and a personal friend. They'll lead a tribute to him during the concert's annual PBS telecast Sunday, May 29 (check local listings) – with the show scheduled to return to its traditional outdoor setting of the West Lawn of the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C., after two years of being staged virtually because of the coronavirus pandemic.

“He’s been a fixture of the show with me,” Mantegna says of Gen. Powell. “When I got my star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame, I had (playwright) David Mamet speak on my behalf, and the other person I asked to speak for me was Gen. Powell. It turned out he couldn’t do it because he was going to be in Iraq to mark the 10th anniversary of the war, but he wrote me this beautiful letter that I have framed over my desk.”

Sinise also had ties to Gen. Powell through his military-supporting, nonprofit Gary Sinise Foundation. "I'm glad that we're taking the time to feature him and his contributions to the concerts over the years," the "Forrest Gump" actor states, "and certainly his tremendous service to our country."

Also slated to appear on this year's special are: actors Jean Smart, Mary McCormack, Dennis Haysbert and Gil Birmingham; Broadway's Lea Salonga, Norm Lewis and Brian Stokes Mitchell; singer Rhiannon Giddens; country music's Craig Morgan; "American Idol" alum Pia Toscano; the National Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Jack Everly; and the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Armed Forces Color Guard and Service Color Teams.

Though Mantegna is glad the concert will have an in-person audience again, he's satisfied with the changes the pandemic necessitated. "Especially last year, I thought the show came off fairly well," the Tony Award-winning "Criminal Minds" veteran reflects. "The first time, we had to scramble. We patched together performances here and there, and Gary and I shot our stuff in his office. The next year, we had the time to really prep, but there's no equating that with standing on that stage and looking out at so many people."

Other segments of this year's National Memorial Day Concert concern a combat medic who served in Vietnam, and a major general and his wife who lost their two sons under differing circumstances. Primetime Emmy and Tony winner Sinise notes he is "never surprised by how strong the writers and producers make this show. They always find things that are representative of what Memorial Day is all about."

Fieri explores the Pacific Northwest on 'Guy's All-American Road Trip'

For those who like to travel on their stomachs, there is "Guy's All-American Road Trip."

Premiering Friday, June 3, on Food Network, the four-episode series follows chef Guy Fieri ("Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives"), wife Lori and sons Hunter and Ryder as they hit the road in an RV to head up the U.S. West Coast from Northern California to Washington in search of adventures culinary and otherwise.

Joined by five other families, the group make stops in Crescent City, Calif., to milk cows; Gold Beach, Ore., for a 64-mile jet boat excursion; Florence, Ore., to go for a ride in the sand dunes of Honeyman State Park; and Leavenworth, Wash., to check out a Bavarian village and go ziplining. Along the way, they sample the local cuisine, which range from Dungeness crab and fried chicken to homemade pork eggrolls, milkshakes and gingerbread.

The trip culminates with a visit to Jim Belushi's Oregon family farm for a dinner of Albanian dishes and American favorites such as pizza and ribs.

It's a feast for the senses, one that might even make you want to buy an RV of your own and embark on your own foodie road trip. It's also one of a few noteworthy entries on the Food Network/Cooking Channel slate this week.

Andrew Zimmern always has a case of the wanderlust as he demonstrates each week on his Cooking Channel series "Bizarre Foods: Delicious Destinations." And in the episode airing Sunday, May 29, he finds a number of delicacies to his liking when he lands in Milan, Italy, a city whose refined cuisine has earned a place in the international consciousness. Here, he samples minestrone, saffron-tinted risotto and panettone, an Italian sweet bread.

Also new this week is Food's "Chopped: Desperately Seeking Sous Chef." Premiering Tuesday, May 31, each episode of the five-part tournament pits four talented sous chefs in a series of challenges that will test not only their cooking skills but also their leadership, attitude and ability to multitask. The winner, as determined by Maneet Chauhan, Scott Conant and Chris Santos, gets hired as a sous chef by one of the aforementioned judges.

And over on FoodNetwork.com, look for the premiere of "Stoked" on Monday, May 30. Hosted by Minneapolis chef and restaurateur Yia Vang, the digital series is all about open-fire cooking, be it in the open wilderness or right in the backyard. Because who doesn't like food cooked outdoors over an open flame?

Phil Rosenthal OF 'SOMEBODY FEED PHIL' ON NETFLIX

How do you settle on the locations that you visit for "Somebody Feed Phil"?

Well, it usually starts from a place that we're interested in going – or more specifically, that I'm interested in going. And then I run it past my brother (co-executive producer Rich Rosenthal) and the production company ZPZ that's in New York, and they have recommendations for me.

And also I do what anybody can do when they go on vacation, which is to Google, you know, "best restaurants Helsinki." And then we cross reference everything and we figure out if there's enough great places or interesting things to do to warrant a full episode. And that's how we choose. And you know, I feel like it's a very big world and we could run a very long time and not hit everything.

Speaking of Helsinki, it looks like a beautiful, idyllic place. How did you like the food there?

Listen, I mean it when I say I look adventurous. I guess I am adventurous compared to people who never go anywhere but I'm just that side of it. I am not Anthony Bourdain. In fact, I sold the show by saying, "I'm exactly like Anthony Bourdain if he was afraid of everything." I'm not into eating what most Americans would consider strange.

And here comes a reindeer on the plate in Finland. And you know, your eyebrow goes up a little bit: "I'm not sure about this." Until you taste it and you go, "Oh, this is just fantastic steak." In fact, if nobody told you, you'd say, "This is one of the best steaks I've ever had."

Workhorse Queen 8 p.m. on STARZ

Filmmaker Angela Washko explores how mainstream television affects performance art in the LGBTQ community in her 2021 documentary, which finds a fascinating central character in Ed Popil of Rochester, N.Y. For 19 years, Popil spent his daytime hours managing a telemarketing center, but at night he transformed himself into Mrs. Kasha Davis, a drag persona who was a far cry from the conventional pop star glamour queen. Instead, Kasha was a 1960s-era housewife seeking to liberate herself. Things get complicated after Popil is chosen to appear on "RuPaul's Drag Race."

The Real Housewives of Dubai 9 p.m. on BRAVO

A locale widely known as an ultra-luxe billionaire's playground serves as the backdrop for this new entry in the "Real Housewives" franchise, which follows a group of powerful women who run businesses while navigating an unusually complicated social scene. Everything is more extravagant in the City of Gold, where tensions frequently hit the boiling point. Cast members include Nina Ali, a Texas-raised lifestyle content creator who moved to Dubai in 2011; Chanel Ayan, Dubai's first Black supermodel; Caroline Brooks, the Boston-born daughter of Honduran immigrants; and Jamaica-born fashion designer Lesa Milan.

J.R. Villarreal

Secrets of the Whales
8 p.m. on MAX
Neil Burger wrote and directed this 2021 sci-fi film, which some critics compared to a futuristic take on “Lord of the Flies.” Set in the near future, on an Earth devastated by runaway climate change, the movie follows a group of teenage astronauts who are dispatched to colonize a habitable exoplanet. The journey is threatened, though, when the young crew falls into paranoia and social conflict after discovering their personalities and emotions previously were being artificially suppressed. Tye Sheridan, Lily-Rose Depp (Johnny’s daughter), Fionn Whitehead and Colin Farrell star.

Here Kills the Bride
8 p.m. on LMN
Jasmine had been looking forward to meeting Grace, the new fiancée of her brother, Carlos, but she can’t shake the strong feeling that something is just “off” about the other young woman. She is terrifyingly correct in that assessment, because unbeknownst to either Jasmine or Carlos, Grace is the unstable product of a very chaotic upbringing — and now that a good marriage seems to be within her grasp, Grace will kill anyone who threatens her happily-ever-after. Ashlee Fuss and Erin Pineda star in this 2022 thriller.

Ultra Violet & Black Scorpion
9 p.m. on DISN
The world of Lucha Libre, a freeform wrestling style from Mexico, provides the backdrop for this new action-fantasy starring Scarlett Estevez as Violet Rodriguez, a Mexican-American teenager whose normal life is turned upside-down when a magical luchador mask transforms her into Ultra Violet, a crime-fighting superhero. Fortunately for Violet, her Uncle Cruz (J.R. Villarreal) already is a superhero who goes by Black Scorpion and can train his niece in using her new powers. Marianna Burelli, Juan Alfonso, Brandon Rossel and Bryan Blanco also star. Another new episode immediately follows.

In the days leading up to her sister’s dream island wedding, Addie (Hunter King) is horrified when she accidentally loses her grandmother’s cherished wedding ring in Hawaiian waters. Desperate to retrieve the heirloom, she hires Jack (Beau Mirchoff), a handsome diving instructor, to conduct a search beneath the waves, but when she insists on coming along herself, a clash quickly ensues. When cooler heads prevail, Jack persuades Addie to let him take her on a tour of some of Hawaii’s lesser-known spots, in this 2022 romance.

American Ninja Warrior

Season 14 of this competition series marks the return of the lowered age requirement, which opens the door to a new era of competitors as young as 15. Hosts Matt Iseman, Akbar Gbajabiamila and Zuri Hall are back to call the early rounds in San Antonio and Los Angeles, with the national finals in Las Vegas, where a top prize of $1 million goes to the winner who can conquer all four stages.

8 p.m. on WUPA

Season 3 may have shown biomedical researcher Liz Ortecho (Jeanine Mason) and Deputy Max Evans (Nathan Parsons) finally sharing a long-awaited kiss, but don't expect the course of true love to run smooth for the lovebirds as this coming-of-age sci-fi drama returns for Season 4. Liz and Max may have found their soulmates, but like their friends, the characters will face more adult issues this season. Don't be shocked if a romance between Kyle and Isobel (Michael Trevino, Lily Cowles) may be in the cards, too.

9 p.m. on HBO

French filmmaker Olivier Assayas adapted his 1996 film of the same title for this atmospheric new drama series starring Academy Award winner Alicia Vikander ("The Danish Girl") as Mira, an American movie star disillusioned by her current career and aching from a recent break-up. Seeking a distraction, she comes to France to star in a remake of the silent-film classic "Les Vampires," but as work on this lurid crime thriller progresses, Mira has trouble distinguishing where she stops and her character, Irma, begins. Vincent Macaigne and Jeanne Balibar co-star.

All Rise

Alex Brinson) continues shaking things up in the public defender’s office.

The Chase

Cherchez la femme! The contestants will need to keep that familiar French phrase in mind as the top female quizzier in the world, Victoria “The Queen” Groce, makes her return in a pitched trivia battle, in the new episode “When They Go Low, She Goes Highness.” Groce’s civilian rivals in the competition include a professor, a chemical engineer and a debate coach. Sara Haines is the host.

CBS will stay 'Equalizer'-ed for a while

Q: Will "The Equalizer" be back next season? – Peter Young, Reading, Pa.

A: It will ... and the season after that, too, since CBS recently took the step of renewing it for two years at once. It wasn't much of a surprise that the Queen Latifah-starring crime-drama reboot got an order for at least one more year, since not only has it performed strongly in ratings terms, but a change in the series' producers was announced shortly before that. Particularly at that point in the television year, there's not much need to do that if the show in question isn't returning.

Queen Latifah

Q: How did the makers of "This Is Us" keep Miguel's death a secret before that episode got on the air? – Cindy Barker, via email

Jon Huertas

A: Credit it to a cast and crew (and network executives, who would have known what was coming) that respected the NBC drama's process throughout its six-year run, which meant not giving up surprises that were meant to catch the audience off-guard. That certainly was the intention with Miguel's (Jon Huertas) passing in the show's fourth-to-last episode, designed to send the message to viewers that even though the series was in its home stretch then, executive producer Dan Fogelman and his team still had some shockers up their collective sleeves.

"I remember watching Mandy (Moore) and Jon (Huertas) walk out of Stage 31. They're just walking to the van, and something hit me like, 'Oh, my gosh. I'm not going to see them, like, walk to the van (anymore).'" And I started filming them just walking to the van." – Susan Kelechi Watson, seen recently on "This Is Us" on NBC
