Driver in 2021 double fatal wreck charged

By TOM SPIGOLON tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — An Atlanta man has been charged with vehicular homicide almost two years after a March 2021 incident in which two people were killed on

I-20 in east Newton County.

Kuan Jian Zheng, 64, was booked into the Newton County Detention Center last week after being charged with Failure to Maintain Lane, Second Degree Homicide by Vehicle and Improper

Lane Usage, all misdemeanors, in relation to the March 14, 2021, fatal wreck between the exits for Georgia highways 11 and 142.

It resulted in the deaths of Milledgeville residents Darren "Buddy" Horton, 51, and his wife, Stephanie Michelle Horton, 48, and seriously injured Zheng — who reportedly spent the past two years recovering.

A warrant stated he was driving a 2015 Toyota RAV4 westbound at mile marker 96, about two miles past Georgia Hwy. 11, when the vehicle did an improper lane change and struck a Chrysler 200 in the lane beside it, a warrant stated.

The driver overcorrected and the

Repeat violations close Krystal

COVINGTON, Ga. — The state health department has revoked the operating permit for a Covington restaurant after it failed two consecutive health inspections in February and received its fourth permit suspension within a year. Krystal restaurant at the corner of U.S. Hwy. 278 and Elm Street received a score of 50 U on Feb. 23 after receiving a score of 56 U during an inspection on Feb. 14.

"If the facility continues to operate while the permit is revoked, a citation may be given resulting in court action," an inspector wrote.

10th Congressional District

Congressman officially opens district office

By CHRIS BRIDGES

The Walton Tribune

MONROE, Ga. — A businessman for all of his adult life, Mike Collins has been wearing a different hat in recent weeks.

The new 10th District congressman has been spending time in Washington, D.C. Despite having an office in the nation's capital, Collins plans to remain closely in touch with those he was elected to represent. Part of that came Friday morning when he officially opened his downtown Monroe district office, located at 100 Court Street.

"What a great crowd," Collins told those in attendance. "I didn't know if there would be only two people here or what. It is an honor to represent you in Congress."

Collins was elected last fall to replace former 10th District Congressman Jody Hice. Collins is using the same office location previously used by Hice.

The new congressman said the 100 Court Street location would be his only office in the district. The office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Phones are still being installed in the Monroe office but calls can be made to Collins' Washington office at 202-225-4101.

The Collins Monroe office will be able to assist citizens in visiting his office in Washington or tour the Capitol or White House.

In addition, Collins said he and his office can citizens help cut through the red tape involv-

"There is nothing more important in this position that serving the people," Collins said.

"It has already been quite an experience in Congress. At times things are really fastpaced and at other times it is really slow-paced in terms of getting things accomplished."

A report issued after the Feb. 14 inspection stated Krystal district manager Constantina Santana had presented a corrective action plan and the restaurant's permit had been reinstated.

"After review by Newton Environmental Health modifications were agreed to and documented on a revised corrective action plan." However, it also noted a follow-up was to be conducted by Feb. 24.

"Please be advised that if another score of less than 70, then the facility will be subject to permanent permit revocation," the report

An inspector on Feb. 23 then gave the restaurant a score of 50 U after a follow-up inspection noted numerous violations.

"Based on today's score, the person in charge (PIC) does not demonstrate active managerial control with the facility," an inspector wrote following the inspection.

"It is the responsibility of the person in charge to ensure compliance with the food code by demonstrating active managerial control within their facility."

It stated the PIC was unable to answer basic food safety questions, including how to prevent of foodborne diseases by employees. The inspector also observed the PIC dump chemical down a handwashing sink.

"A handwashing facility may not be used for purposes other than handwashing.

Also seen was "black mold-like substances on the baffle of the ice machine" and "heavy residue under the ice lid by the drink fountain

"The PIC properly washed, rinsed, and sanitized the baffle and replaced the unit."

The inspector "observed multiple beef patties cooked under the required temperature of 155 degrees. "The food employee stated that these items were not intended to be cooked to order or under-cooked. Raw animal foods that are cooked using a non-continuous cooking process shall be cooked using a process that heats all parts of the food to the minimum cook temperature.

"All sandwiches were discarded."

Aftermath of Jan. 12 Tornadoes

FEMA only operating one office, SBA in four counties

STAFF REPORT

news@covnews.com

MANSFIELD, Ga. — Six weeks after a line of thunderstorms and tornadoes crossed Georgia, more than $7.48 million in federal disaster assistance has been approved for affected homeowners, renters and businesses.

The assistance includes FEMA grants and low-interest disaster loans from the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA).

Of the 102 SBA disaster loans approved in the eight-county area, 16 are for Newton County residents and business owners for more than $825,000, said spokesman James Accurso.

Those with damage or losses from the Jan. 12 storms and tornadoes and live in Butts, Henry, Jasper, Meriwether, Newton, Pike, Spalding and Troup counties have until Monday, March 20, to apply for FEMA disaster assistance.

Only one remaining FEMA Disaster Recovery Center is operating in the multi-county area — at the Spalding County Senior Center at 885 Memorial Drive in Griffin. Hours are Monday to Saturday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The center is also staffed with trained SBA customer service representatives (CSR) who can answer program questions and assist in completing the SBA application, said spokesman James Accurso.

The SBA has approved 102 home and business loans for more than $4 million in the eight-county disaster area, he said.

Through close of business on Feb. 22, 62 Newton County residents and business owners had applied for SBA loans out of a total of 579 Georgia applicants, Accurso said.

SBA Business Recovery Centers are still operating in four counties.

"The deadline to apply is March 17, so we're asking those in need to come to a center soon to register and speak with a CSR in person," Accurso said.

The SBA centers are located in:

 Jasper County at the New Rocky Creek Baptist Church in Mansfield. Monday to Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6

Federal consumer agency orders TitleMax to pay $15M fine

news@covnews.com

WASHINGTON. D.C. — The federal Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) took action against a web of corporate entities operating under TMX Finance, broadly known as TitleMax, for violating the financial rights of military families and other consumers in providing auto title

The CFPB found that TitleMax violated the Military Lending Act by extending prohibited title loans to military families and, oftentimes, by charging nearly three times over the 36% annual interest rate cap.

TitleMax tried to hide their unlawful activities by, among other things, altering the personal information of military borrowers to circumvent their protected status, a news release stated. In a statement to Reuters, TitleMax said the CFPB's factual and legal allegations were unproven and untrue. It also denied being a repeat offender, saying it had complied with all prior Bureau directions.

"Although the company agreed to pay a fine to the CFPB, it did so to avoid lengthy and costly litigation," the statement said.

The CFPB also found that TitleMax increased loan payments for borrowers by charging unlawful fees. The CFPB's order ends TitleMax's illegal activities, and requires the company to pay more than $5 million in consumer relief and a $10 million civil money penalty.

"The CFPB's order stops TitleMax's illegal predatory lending to military families – sometimes even taking steps to hide evidence of its wrongdoing," said CFPB Director Rohit Chopra. "Our legal action is the CFPB's first against a nonbank lender for providing title loans to military families."

TitleMax is made up of TMX Finance LLC and numerous subsidiaries across the United States with both in-person and online locations. TitleMax's headquarters is in Savannah, Georgia, and it is engaged in the business of extending short-term, high-cost consumer loans that are secured by borrowers' vehicle titles. According to TitleMax, consumers can receive a title loan of up to $10,000. TitleMax is privately owned, and currently has more than 1,000 locations in 18 states: Alabama, Arizona, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Kansas, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, and Wisconsin. TitleMax claims to have almost people every day. TitleMax has been under a CFPB Order since Sept. 26, 2016, for its lending and debt-collection practices. In the 2016 Order, the CFPB found that store employees, as part of their sales pitch for the company's 30-day loans, offered consumers a "monthly option" for making loan payments and misrepresented the true cost of its loans if the consumers renewed them multiple times.

The CFPB also found that the company engaged in illegal high pressure debt collection practices. The CFPB ordered the company to stop its unlawful practices and pay a $9 million penalty.

Auto title loans are small dollar loans with expensive charges and short terms of usually 30 days or less. For these loans, borrowers are required to put up their car or truck title for collateral. The nature of these loans causes many borrowers to face unaffordable payments, and find they must choose among defaulting, reborrowing, or skipping other financial obligations like rent, food, or medical care.

The dangers of title and other predatory loans to military families were laid out in a 2006 Department of Defense report that noted that predatory lending "undermines military readiness, harms the morale of troops and their families, and adds to the cost of fielding an all-volunteer fighting force." The response of Congress was to pass the Military Lending Act, which took effect in 2007. The Act protects service members, their spouses, and their children by, among other protections, prohibiting non-banks from extending auto title loans, capping interest rates at 36%, banning waivers of rights under consumer financial protection laws, banning automatic payments from paychecks to pay back loans, and banning prepayment penalties. Between Oct. 3, 2016, and Sept. 17, 2021, TitleMax made at least 2,670 prohibited auto title loans to borrowers covered under the Military Lending Act. It also charged borrowers unlawful fees on about 15,000 loans. Specifically, TitleMax and its subsidiaries harmed military families and other consumers by, among other things: Making illegal loans at unlawful rates and covering up their behavior: TitleMax made illegal auto title loans to military families at annual interest rates over 36% and many times over 100%. TitleMax offered the loans while withholding information about military families' rights under the Military Lending Act — under which both title loans and annual interest rates above 36% are illegal. Its loans also included mandatory arbitration clauses and unreasonable notice provisions that the Military Lending Act prohibits. TitleMax covered its tracks by, among other actions, doctoring personally iden-

so borrowers would not be identified as servicemembers or

covered dependents. Charging unlawful fees for a useless product: TitleMax charged fees for a useless product on thousands of loans. The company claimed the fees were for an insurance product to protect the company against potential losses, but the product did not provide any coverage for these loans. The company also charged fees for this product on loans that did not qualify for coverage.

Enforcement Action Under the Consumer Financial Protection Act, the CFPB has the authority to take action against companies that violate federal consumer financial protection laws, including engaging in unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices. The CFPB also has authority to enforce the Military Lending Act's protections for military families. In addition to ending its illegal lending practices, today's order requires TitleMax to:

- Pay $5.05 million to consumers: TitleMax is required to provide redress to consumers for payments made on illegally charged fees and the interest paid on those fees, payments made on illegal loans, the loss-of-use of funds, the lossof-use of vehicles that were wrongfully repossessed, and the replacement value of vehicles that were sold after being wrongfully repossessed. Consumers are not required to take any action to get the money to which they are entitled. • Stop illegal lend-
- ing practices: Title-Max must implement and maintain robust internal controls and testing to prevent and detect potential law violations. To hold TitleMax accountable for future compliance, all findings identified through these internal controls and testing measures are reported

The sad state of adolescence

To hear people tell it, the kids are definitely not all right. According to The Washington Post, there's "a crisis in American girlhood." To Derek Thompson in The Atlantic, "the inexorable rise of teen anxiety ought to be a national crisis."

New York Times columnist Ross Douthat, quoting a report from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, puts it this way: "American teenagers, and especially American teenage girls, are increasingly miserable: more likely to entertain suicidal thoughts and act on them, more likely to experience depression, more likely to feel beset by 'persistent feelings of sadness or hopelessness.""

Or as The Who put it all the way back in

"Don't cry

Don't raise your eye

It's only teenage wasteland!"

Pete Townshend, who wrote the song, claimed it referenced "the absolute desolation of teenagers at Woodstock, where audience members were strung out on acid and 20 people had brain damage."

People were always misunderstanding Townshend that way, possibly because The Who's performances so often concluded with guitar smashing and the occasional explosion. Also, drugs; lots and lots of drugs. But then Townshend, a certifiable genius, has always been a complicated figure.

Nevertheless, a teenage wasteland it is, according to the CDC. America's teen girls are engulfed in a growing wave of sadness, violence and trauma, one official said. According to a survey taken in 2021, just as schools were reopening after being shut down during the COVID pandemic, close to 1 in 3 high school girls said they had considered suicide -- a 60% increase over the previous decade.

"Nearly 15% had been forced to have sex" that is, raped. And approximately 6 out of 10 girls described themselves as "so persistently sad or hopeless they stopped regular activities."

Two semi-heretical thoughts: First, adolescents in general, and adolescent girls in particular, are prone to self-dramatization; also, moralists of every description have been lamenting the incipient decay of youth since

On the topic of English rock stars, I recall lazing away a Sunday afternoon with my college roommate in 1964 watching PBS pundit David Susskind warn that an even more alarming scourge than the Beatles was about to invade America. Susskind played a track from the Rolling Stones' forthcoming album, a blues cover called "King Bee," filled with sly sexual innuendo.

We ran out to order it and played the album until it was translucent. Some months later, we took dates to the Stones' first American show at the Academy of Music on 14th Street in Manhattan. The stage was mobbed by

Haley offers moral instruction to U.S.

Tikki Haley's announcement that she was running for president reminded me of my lifelong dream to move to India, so I can boss around Indians and tell them to stop worshipping cows and rats. That was the main point of what I said on the Mark Simone radio show (Feb. 15), which was promptly chopped up, fed into a computer, translated into German, then into Urdu, back to English and finally came out in endless headlines, to sound like a MAGA moron: Go back to your own country, lady! No, actually, I was making an obvious point I've been making for some time now. To wit: It's bad enough when 11th-generation Americans disrespect our country, but enraging when recent arrivals do.

By "recent arrivals," I mean anyone whose ancestors came to America after 1800. At that point, America had already been around for two centuries. We had conquered a dangerous wilderness, battled savages, brought Christianity to the natives, divided ourselves into states, fought a revolution, drafted a constitution, built a capitol, established colleges and universities (including six of the seven Ivy Leagues), were about to fight a bloody Civil War to end slavery, and were well on our way to becoming the greatest nation on Earth. Post-1800 immigrants just kind of showed up. True, many of them were better than the people who already lived here. (Especially the ones who arrived when our greeting was still, "Sink or swim!" instead of, "Here's your welfare application.")

Thus, a few years ago, I wrote:

"MSNBC's smirking Chris Hayes can get weepy about some ancient Roman ruin, and Rachel Maddow about a building in Warsaw, but I care about my history. These savages are smashing and graffitiing my antiquities.'

No one minded that. That's because only the most recent of recent arrivals, from the most dissonant cultures, are sacred beings to the left. (Sacred cows?) As Bill Clinton's director of the census once said, maybe it's about time the "Western majority" do "some assimilation

Sadness every time another store goes down

o these names mean anything to you? Zayre. Western Auto. Wool-

For many of us, those names bring back fond memories of the stores of our youth. Some were downtown, others were on busy highways, and the rest were in malls.

K-Mart, Radio

Shack, and Sears have faded as well. Many of these stores have already closed several locations, and they're never coming back. JC Penney, Pier 1, The Gap, Macy's, Kohl's and others have also shut down numerous stores.

It's not uncommon to see abandoned or half-empty malls that were buzzing with people a few years ago. Are these malls going the way of the typewriter, the telegraph, and the rotary phone?

Those of us who grew up in rural areas eagerly anticipated our occasional visits to a big department store like Zayre. The one nearest me (30 miles away) was in downtown Chattanooga. Zayre had everything, or so it seemed. One trip, and your Christmas shopping was done. Then one day, Zayre went away.

We also looked forward to the Sears catalog, every season of the year. Now every website is a virtual catalog.

Considering how quickly the Internet changed our lives, I'm surprised we have as many "brick and mortar" stores as we do. The fear of violence keeps many Americans out of public shopping areas. People who traditionally jammed the mall the day after Thanksgiving now begin their Christmas shopping online whenever they wish.

Certainly, there are still plenty of folks who enjoy the mall. We love the Easter Bunny, a chance to put our screaming baby on Santa's lap, and free samples at the Food Court. It's a great place to walk, and as any bored husband will tell you, the people-watching isn't bad while waiting for the wife to finish shopping.

But Amazon and other online retailers have wreaked havoc on the malls. You want to buy something in the middle of the night? You can do it in your pajamas with the click of a mouse. The stores don't keep your size in stock? Those odd sized pants are all over the web. Worried about shipping charges? "Buy just one more item, and we'll ship for free!"

Everywhere you look on the web, there's an offer you can't refuse. There are no traffic jams, no long lines, and every counter is open.

It's hard to find that kind of selection and service at department stores. In recent years, they've been forced to lay off workers. We want to do business with them, and we want them to succeed. But it seems like only one counter is open, and many of the clothing shelves look like they've been hit by a dust storm.

Just recently, two of my favorite neighborhood stores announced their "Going out of Business" sales. Best Buy, my go-to for everything electronic is closing a local store. Bed, Bath and Beyond is doing the same. The entire company is pretty much Bed, Bath, and Bankrupt.

Neither is in a mall, so that's not the problem. In the case of Best Buy, some shoppers complained that the store's selection had narrowed, and that the actual "best buys" were found elsewhere. "I only use Best Buy as a place to see something in person before I buy it online," one friend told me.

Shoppers also referred to the other store as "Bed, Bath, and Beyond my Budget." Again, it's hard to ignore the low prices of online retailers with little or no overhead, although it's creepy when an ad pops up based on something you searched for yesterday.

You may have noticed I haven't mentioned Walmart. They provide a lot of jobs, a huge selection, and some genuine bargains, but at what cost? How many retailers have struggled, and then failed, to compete with Walmart? And what happens if Walmart is the last store standing? Can the stores currently "on the ropes" survive another 10 years? When competition is diminished, prices go up, and the quality of service goes down.

Times change, and we have to adjust. But I'll bet I'm not the only one who gets a little sad when yet another store closes its doors for the last time.

House approves bill to bolster school safety

By REBECCA GRAPEVINE

Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — The state House of Representatives handily passed a bill Monday aimed at bolstering school safety in Geor-

The "Safe Schools Act," which has the strong support of Gov. Brian Kemp, passed on a 148-20

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Will Wade, R-Dawsonville, one of Kemp's floor leaders in the House, would require schools to conduct an intruder or active-shooter drill by Oct. 1 each year.

It would also require public schools to submit school safety plans to the Georgia Emergency Management Association as well as local emergency management and law enforcement agencies.

The legislation would create a mechanism for school employees to earn a "school safety and anti-gang endorsement" after completing a special training program. And it encourages colleges and universities to include training for future teachers in best practices for safe schools and deterring gangs.

Though the bill breezed through the House, it drew criticism from some Democratic lawmakers.

"Unfortunately, there is no evidence to indicate this bill is going to make our schools safer," said freshman Rep. Anne Allen Westbrook, D-Savannah. "It's just one more burden this body is putting on teachers and students in Georgia's public schools."

Westbrook cited a study conducted by researchers at Georgia Tech showing increases in anxiety and depression among students for 90 days after active-shooter drills.

"If we want to truly increase school safety, there are some proactive measures we could consider," she said.

Westbrook urged her House colleagues to pass bills that would increase punishments for allowing children access to guns or not adequately securing guns.

Rep. Stacey Evans, D-Atlanta, voted for the bill but also urged lawmakers to consider passing gun-control measures.

"We have so many options at our disposal to not make this a reality for our babies and their teachers," Evans said.

Evans criticized Republican leaders for not giving gun-control bills hearings in committee this session.

Freshman Rep. Leesa Hagan, R-Lyons, a former teacher, spoke out in favor of the bill.

"It gives our children a tool so that if an unfortunately horrible act were to happen at their school, they know what they do," Hagan said.

was Louis Brandeis, born to Jewish immigrants from Central Europe. He went on to become a Supreme Court justice and have a university named after him.

This is what Brandeis said, in 1915, on "Americanization Day" [REPORTED TO THE AUTHORITIES] about the process of becoming an American:

"However great his outward conformity, the immigrant is not Americanized unless his interests and affections have become deeply rooted here. And we properly demand of the immigrant even more than this. He must be brought into complete harmony with our ideals and aspirations and cooperate with us for their attainment. Only when this has been done, will he possess the national consciousness of an

A big part of that "harmony" is understanding the amazing way this country dealt with the losers of our two major national conflicts: the war(s) with the Indians and the Civil War. We should be on our knees thanking God both those wars came out the way they did or, today, America would be a backward, third world hellhole.

Both the Indians and Confederates were part of a bygone culture, mostly illiterate, and unable to manufacture anything, much less feed and clothe a transcontinental nation of more than 300 million people. Thanks to the superior culture and technology of Protestant New England and the Midwest, the Confederates and Indians never really stood a chance.

But they fought like banshees [REPORT-ED!], and we honor them for their breathtaking courage and nobility.

Every macho thing in America is — or was, until about five minutes ago — named after either American Indians or Confederates — e.g., the Apache and Comanche attack helicopters, the Braves, the Redskins, the Indians, Fort Benning, Fort Bragg, Fort Gordon, Fort A.P. Hill, Fort Hood, Fort Lee, Fort Pickett, Fort Polk, Fort Rucker and on and on and on.

Union Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman got his middle name from a Shawnee warrior chief admired by his father. Paratroopers who jumped into Normandy cut their hair to look like Mohawks and shouted "Geronimo!" as they leapt.

Sometimes, it seems like everybody in America is boasting about Indian heritage — like Elizabeth Warren — or displaying the rebel flag. See, e.g., OutKast, "The Dukes of Hazzard," Lynyrd Skynyrd, and tiles in the Times Square subway station honoring former New York Times publisher Adolph S. Ochs — "a Southerner with strong ties to the Confederacy," according to Civil War historian Dr. David Jackowe.

Sitting Bull became a celebrity, signing autographs and performing with Annie Oakley. (My direct ancestor was a stand-in for Oakley and may have performed with Sitting Bull.)

No other country's internal wars have ever concluded this way. The usual method of ending a domestic conflict is with ceaseless guerrilla warfare and defeated.

Yale professor David Blight sneers at the "Lost Cause" expression, calling it "an interpretation of the American Civil War
viewed by most historians as a myth that attempts to preserve the honour of the South."

Oh, how awful. We'd just ended a bloody Civil War with 600,000 dead ... Job No. 1: Keep picking at the scab!

David Blight, marriage counselor: Every day, discuss what you hate about each other.

My ancestors were Union soldiers who fought the Confederates. My ancestors were killed by American Indians — and rescued by others! But I don't go around whining that maybe I'd have more "generational wealth" or higher SAT scores if only we took down statues of Sitting Bull and Robert E. Lee.

Their history is my country's history. And it's a history to be proud of — precisely for how the losers were treated. If you don't understand that, I don't think you're really trying to bring yourself into "complete harmony with our ideals and aspirations."

Again, such ignorance is disgusting coming from May-flower descendants. But it is beyond galling to have a second-generation immigrant like Haley sanctimoniously take down the Confederate flag, which she did as governor of South Carolina. How about going back and critiquing the Indian culture she's constantly boasting of? You know, the country where a majority still revere cows, others worship rats, and which has more slaves today than any other nation on Earth.

Whatever else possessing "the national consciousness of an American" entails, it surely includes not being sublimely ignorant of the total awesomeness of the country you're currently living in.

sang along in English.

So pardon me if I'm a mite skeptical about the CDC study and all it portends. Rather less than meets the eye, I suspect. For one thing, as Lisa Damour, clinical psychologist and author of "The Emotional Lives of Teenagers," told the Post, "it's important to note that the CDC data was collected in the fall of 2021, a time when many teens were anxious about returning to in-person school and wearing masks." The COVID pandemic was rough on everybody. Fear and sorrow were ubiquitous, and not just among high school girls. Damour also pointed out that surveys say "we're raising the best-behaved generation of teenagers on record ... They drive with seat belts, they smoke less, they have less sex, they wear helmets. They do all these things that we did not do."

But I do think stayat-home isolation was harder on girls, because girls need other girls; boys can make do with things. And I'm inclined to heed public scolds like NYU psychologist Jonathan Haidt, who blames the baleful influence of social media — Facebook, Instagram,

TikTok, etc. — and cellphone addiction.

Quit scrolling and shut the fool thing off.

You'll be glad you did. That said, studies documenting psychological harm from online activity are hard to find. I'm surprised that pornography gets so little mention, if only for its tendency to make boys treat young girls like online trollops. But of the complaints girls told Post reporters about most often — "impossible beauty standards, online hate, academic pressure, economic difficulties, self-doubt and sexual violence" -- most strike me as permanent aspects of the human condition.

Bear up, girls. You'll be women soon enough.

Lady Redskins display championship mindset

Sports

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga. — Following Social Circle's game Thursday night, the Lady Redskins' demeanor would suggest that they lost. But, they in fact won their Region 5A-Division I opener over Prince Avenue 4-2.

After addressing the team in the post game huddle, head coach Heather Richardson highlighted the calmness of her team despite the win.

"The girls didn't seem to feel good about [the win]," Richardson said. "A lot of them walked off feeling like we definitely could have done better. But we're pulling together and I thought we did some great things tonight."

Prince Avenue jumped out to an early 1-0 lead less than four minutes into the game off a goal. The Lady Wolverine edged around sophomore defenders Faith Young and Claire Ray and snuck it past goalkeeper Addie Stracner. It didn't take long for the Lady Redskins to

Only a minute had passed when junior Peyton Brooks got the ball, maneuvered her way through the Lady Wolverines defense and scored to knot things up 1-1.

Sophomore Alana Ferguson made an impact in just her second game with the team after finishing the girls basketball season. At the 21:32 mark, Ferguson advanced the ball down the right side of the formation all the way to the baseline behind the goal.

Somehow, Ferguson crossed the ball to Brooks in the midfield past a Lady Wolverine defender. Brooks took it from there.

The junior striker found the back of the net, giving the Lady Redskins a 2-1 advantage.

Social Circle kept firing with numerous shots on goals and corner kicks in the second half,

Brooks scored another goal in the second half to complete the hat trick. That gives her 17 goals so far this season, which leads Social Circle. Another goal found the net after giving up an additional Prince Avenue score.

The Lady Redskins' two-goal advantage provided enough room for them to walk off the field with a win.

Next week, the Lady Redskins face Jasper County Tuesday at home followed by another home matchup against Oglethorpe County Friday.

Wednesday's victory against the Lady Wolverines made it three wins for Social Circle in its last four matches. It also strengthens the Lady Redskins' chances for a region title opening up region play 1-0.

The wins came after Social Circle (3-4, 1-0) endured losses to programs such as Northgate, Walnut Grove, Athens Academy and George Walton Academy.

Being the defending state champions and playing in such grueling games, Richardson believes this year's team has adopted a championship mindset — which she thinks was on display in the post game huddle.

"I'm glad the girls didn't feel 100% about it, because they know we need to keep getting after it," Richardson said. "We're taking it a region game at a time. So, we're 1-0 and another one Tuesday night. We'll fight for that [win], too."

Redskins' offense breaks through for overtime win

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

Sports Editor

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga. — It was a goalkeeper's match for the majority of the game between Social Circle and Prince Avenue Wednesday. Ultimately, it took the two teams playing overtime to decide the winner.

Social Circle's offense broke through for three goals across the two, 10-minute overtime halves to come away with a 3-0 win.

Head coach Jim Corasaniti's explanation for what changed in overtime after a scoreless reg ulation had nothing to do with X's and O's.

"We put in some fresh legs and gave some kids rest," Corasaniti said. "And we just got a little faster than [Prince Avenue] and caught

Senior Cambyl Johson took the lid off the goal, first navigating his way through Prince Avenue's defense with some nifty footwork. He then looked up and fired a shot past the goalkeeper to give his team a 1-0 advantage.

Johnson's goal came after each team went scoreless for nearly 86 minutes of game time. In the second half of overtime, the Redskins left no doubt.

Junior Jordan Leigh netted a goal with 8:09 left in the match with Jude Nelson putting the finishing touches with a header goal a minute

But the story of regulation was the play of goalkeeper Jase Peters.

There were many instances where his contribution made the difference.

Whenever it seemed like Social Circle's defense was in trouble, Peters would step up, jump up or slide to block the ensuing ball.

Phillip B. Hubbard | The News

Cambyl Johnson (21) attempts a shot in the second half of Social Circle's Region 5A-Division I match with Prince Avenue on Thursday.

Even though Peters stands at only 5-foot-6, his play made it seem like a wall was built inside the goal, never giving up a Prince Avenue score.

There were even a few times where the Wolverines' goalie — who Corasaniti labeled "the best goalie in the state" — would take the free kick.

At the 20:46 mark of the second half, particularly, he attempted the shot and Peters rose up to block it after it seemed like the goal was going in.

Corasaniti couldn't say enough nice things about his goalkeeper.

"Jase Peters is amazing," Corasaniti said. "For as short as he is, he can reach anywhere in the goal. Jase does a great job and is doing an amazing job. He didn't drop a ball tonight with it raining. He is the game winner today.'

Social Circle put up multiple shots on goal, too. Jude Nelson had a near miss off a corner kick with 27:52 left in the second half. Leight had a 20-yard shot hit the top crossbar and out a few seconds later.

Though none of the attempts were successful, the Redskins still pushed through for their second consecutive win. Social Circle beat George Walton Academy Tuesday 4-1.

Next up for the Redskins (2-5, 1-0) are backto-back region home games against Jasper and Oglethorpe counties on Tuesday and Friday, respectively. Social Circle's two-game winning streak ended its five-game losing streak to begin the 2023 season. The Redskins suffered defeats against Northgate, Walnut Grove, Newton, Georgia Military College and Athens Academy. Corasaniti said after Thursday's result, it was great to get back to winning.

"I knew those first few games would be tough playing those big schools," Corasaniti said. "But it made us get hungrier for winning. Now [the players] know what it feels like to win and we're on a mission to keep winning. This was a good two wins."

Mitchell's long term goal is to be an All-American wrestler in college. His past

Even when things don't go his way, Mitchell has taken steps toward improving his overall attack.

Marcus Whitlock (22) drills one of his six three-pointers against Pebblebrook on Saturday in the Sweet Sixteen of the Class AAAAAA playoffs. Whitlock and the Rams will travel to Norcross on Wednesday in the Elite Eight.

COVINGTON, Ga. — Newton's boys basketball team was firing on all cylinders Saturday afternoon at home en route to a 73-51 victory over Pebblebrook in the second round of the Class AAAAAAA playoffs..

With the win, Newton will now advance to the Elite Eight once again, keeping alive its hopes for a state championship.

After the game, head coach Charlemagne Gibbons was certain of one thing for his team's performance.

"This is the first time y'all actually saw our basketball team this year," Gibbons said. "You saw a group of guys who complete each other."

Most of the Rams' damage was done from behind the arc. At game's end, Newton connected on 14 three-pointers.

There seemed to be an extra surge by the Rams, though, coming out of the halftime break.

In the first five minutes of the third quarter, Newton went on a 14-0 scoring run. Sparking the run was Jakai Newton who drilled the first three-pointer of the half with Marcus Whitlock not too far behind. At the 6:04 mark, Stephon Castle scored three points the hard way with an and-1 opportunity he converted at the free throw line.

Castle buried a three-pointer himself 30 seconds later to increase Newton's 38-25 halftime advantage to 52-25.

matchup on the road.

The Rams' urgency came from something Gibbons said to them in the locker room at the intermission.

"I challenged them to not let [Pebblebrook] get back in the game," Gibbons said. "They met the challenge physically and we are a really good team when the shot-making ability is there."

Whitlock led all scorers with 26 points, which featured six three-pointers. Castle had 22 points, too, along with Newton's 11.

Jabez Jenkins, Ashton Pennamon and Tim Prather each contributed a three-pointer to the team's total as well.

The Rams never let up down the stretch and now have their sights set on the Elite Eight.

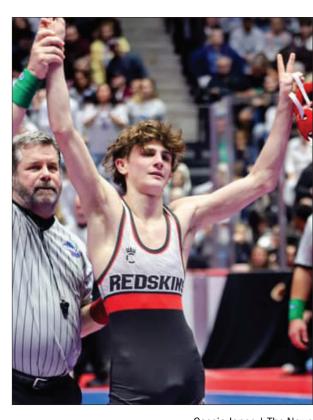

Newton will play at No. 1 seed Norcross (25-4) in a rematch of last year's Class AAAAAA Final Four tussle — a game which the Rams lost 75-72. The game will be played on Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Gibbons mentioned how, no matter the opponent, he foresees a tough opponent in the Rams' battle between them and the Final Four.

"It's AAAAAA basketball," Gibbons said. "I just look at who's next, because you never know who comes out of that game. The only thing I know is we'll be there."

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga. — In back-to-back seasons, Braydon Mitchell left Macon from the state wrestling meet as state champion. This year, Mitchell claimed the individual state championship for the 113-pound weight class.

Winning this year's title was a byproduct of Mitchell's preparation all season.

"It feels great knowing that all of the work I have put in is finally paying off," Mitchell said. "I came into the tournament with full confidence that I was going to win."

Mitchell, a junior, continued saying that, though this year's achievement was great, it didn't compare to last year's feeling.

The feeling after a win is unparalleled. "My biggest motivation to do well is the feeling of getting my hand raised after every match," Mitchell said.

In addition to being part of Social Circle's wrestling team, Mitchell has also done Army JROTC Raiders which, according to Mitchell, played a pivotal role in his wrestling development.

MARIETTA, Ga. — Eastside boys basketball's historic season came to a close Friday night at the hands of No. 1 Kell Longhorns. The Eagles lost 79-48 in the Sweet 16 round of the Class AAAAA playoffs.

Friday's result came just two days removed from the Eagles' upset of No. 2 Calhoun Wednesday night. Eastside had its eyes set on the same thing Friday, but Kell's multidimensional attack was too much to handle.

much to handle.

Shortly after the tip-off, the Eagles had their work cut out for them as Kell relied on Payton Marshall, who controlled the paint on both sides of the floor with his 7-foot frame. And, though the Eagles continued to double and triple team Marshall, that allowed the Longhorns' shooters to start gaining the advantage on the perimeter.

Head coach Dorrian Randolph highlighted that after the game.

"It changed everything," coach Randolph said. "We knew that it would be a problem, and we tried to employ the same strategy we different kinds of players. Once [Marshall] catches it in the spot, it is tough to get him out of there.

We did a decent job, but when you have to help out, they have shooters all around."

On the other side of the floor, Eastside struggled to find a rhythm offensively, going into halftime down 41-23, and Kell continued to pull away as the third and fourth quarters went on.

As the final seconds the season ticked away on the game clock, Eastside players heard a standing ovation from parents, fans and school officials who made the trip to support the Eagles.

Create ravioli with ease

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

Ravioli can tempt the taste buds. Ravioli are perfect pillows of pasta filled with cheese or other ingredients. Ravioli can be dressed with many different sauces, or even be battered and fried for a savory appetizer.

This recipe for "Brown Butter-Balsamic Ravioli" from "Rachael Ray 50: Memories and Meals from a Sweet and Savory Life" (Ballantine Books) enables home cooks to be as invested in their ravioli meals as they care to be. The abbreviated version of this recipe below offers the Brown Butter-Balsamic Sauce, which can be served on top of store-bought ravioli. Otherwise, you can make ravioli from scratch. The ingredients for a Basic Egg Pasta follow.

Brown Butter-Balsamic Ravioli

Serves four 6 tablespoons butter Finely chopped fresh flat-leaf parsley or 16 sage

2 tablespoons balsamic drizzle (or reduce 1/3 cup balsamic vinegar and 1 tablespoon [packed] light brown sugar down to 2 tablespoons thickened vinegar)

1 pound ravioli, homemade or store-bought

Toasted pine nuts, chopped hazelnuts, or walnuts (optional)

Grated Pecorino or Parmigiano-Reggiano

Bring a large pot of salted water to a boil. Cook ravioli until desired tenderness.

While ravioli are boiling, heat a large skillet over medium heat. Add the butter in 1-tablespoon tabs and melt. Add the sage, if using, and cook the butter for 2 to 3 minutes, until nutty and deeply golden. Remove the sage to a paper towel-lined plate. Remove the butter from the heat and add the balsamic drizzle or reduced balsamic. Add the sauce and about 1/2 cup salty cooking water from the pasta to the ravioli to coat evenly. Top with nuts, if using, sage or parsley, and pass more cheese.

Basic Egg Pasta

Makes four servings 4 cups super-fine Italian flour or 3 cups AP flour, plus more for rolling.

1 teaspoon kosher salt or fine sea salt

2 large eggs plus 3 large yolks, at room temperature About 1 teaspoon extra-virgin olive oil (EVOO) 1 to 3 tablespoons warm water

On a large work surface, mound the flour and season with salt, then use your hands to push the flour away from the center of the mound to form a well at the center. In a bowl, whip up the whole eggs, egg yolks, and EVOO and add to the well. Using a fork and working around the perimeter of the well, slowly combine the flour with the eggs and oil until they are incorporated and absorbed. Start to knead the shaggy dough once you get to the outside of the well. If the pasta dough will not come together, add 1 to 2 tablespoons of warm water. When the dough forms, place it in a bowl and then clean the work surface. Knead the dough on a lightly floured surface in one direction, away from your body, forming a wave or shell out of the dough. Ball it up, knuckle-knead firmly, then repeat, turning the dough at a 45-degree angle, then starting the knead all over again. Knead the dough for at least 15 minutes, until it is smooth and elastic. (It will look shaggy for a while; don't worry it will get smooth! Just keep at it!)

Cover the dough with a kitchen towel and let stand an hour or so, or wrap and chill it overnight, bringing it back to room temperature to prepare. Use this dough to make your favorite pasta.

Potatoes star of this Irish dish

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS news@covnews.com

St. Patrick's Day is a time to pay homage to Ireland's patron saint and celebrate Irish culture and cuisine. Even though corned beef and cabbage is ubiquitous on this holiday, that meal really isn't the most authentic Irish cuisine. There are plenty of other foods to dress the St. Patrick's table if a person wants to dabble in Irish cooking.

Many cultures have a variation on the potato pancake, and the Irish are no different. Boxty is a traditional Irish potato pancake.

Individuals who want to include boxty in their celebrations can try this recipe, courtesy of Chef Pádraic Og Gallagher of Gallagher's Boxty House in Dublin.

Popularity of organic foods undeniable

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

The popularity of organic foods is undeniable.

According to a 2021 survey from the Organic Trade Association, total sales of organic foods topped more than $60 billion in 2020.

Data from Mercaris, which provides market insight and analysis on organics and non-GMO foods, supports that finding and indicates that organic food sales grew by 9% between 2009 and 2019.

During that same time period, conventional food sales grew only 3%, which illustrates just how popular organics have become over the last decade and a half.

And despite being a year marked by a pandemic and the considerable economic uncertainty it unleashed, 2020 proved to be an especially good year for organ-

Mercaris reports that organic food sales increased by 13% in 2020, which serves as another indicator that consumers are increasingly demanding organics over conventional foods.

'True Lies' takes series form on CBS and Paramount+

Almost 30 years later, one of Arnold Schwarzenegger and James Cameron's top movie hits is becoming a television series ... and that's the truth.

The seriocomic adventure "True Lies" premieres in its weekly form Wednesday, March 1, on CBS and Paramount+, basically remaking the 1994 film as the opening episode. Steve Howey ("Shameless," "Reba") assumes Schwarzenegger's role as Harry Tasker, a super-spy whose wife Helen (Ginger Gonzaga of "She-Hulk: Attorney at Law," inheriting Jamie Lee Curtis' earlier part) believes he's a mild-mannered computer salesman. Once she learns what his real job is, she's enlisted by his intelligence agency, and they frequently travel the world on missions - while trying to prevent their children (Annabella Didion, Lucas Jaye) from finding out.

"It's the hardest job I've had yet," states the good-humored Howey, who has no illusions about possibly being mistaken for Schwarzenegger as he generates his own "True Lies" under the leadership of executive prodicer Matt Nix ("Burn Notice"). "This experience has taught me a lot about having an idea and then executing it," Howey reflects, "because that doesn't always pan out. Every episode of this gets better. And we get more tired."

An alum of CBS' "Showcase" talent search, the lively Gonzaga knows "True Lies" also is a big showcase for her. She notes she feels "guilty" that she didn't see the movie before landing the TV job: "I didn't want to be influenced by Jamie Lee's iconic performance. And then, I had to buy the DVD off eBay ... and a DVD player. It was a whole 'thing.'

With Omar Miller ("CSI: Miami"), Erica Hernandez and Mike O'Gorman also featured, "True Lies" has been in development for TV since 2010, and Gonzaga reasons that it's "good that it's been a while." Since Cameron also had other commitments (including the now-Oscar-nominated "Avatar: The Way of Water"), his longtime associate Rae Sanchini had more firsthand involvement in the casting; Tom Arnold, of the original movie, is a guest star on the show.

Being built for action, "True Lies" can put its stars at risk, as Howey learned close to the end of filming the first season.

"I was fighting a stunt man," he reports, "and we did it once and it went great. Then we did it again, and he pretended to bounce his face off a wall ... and as he went back, my left hand went forward into his neck, and it snapped my left ring finger back to the point where my nail hit my knuckle. And I finished the stunt, and when they yelled 'Cut!,' I snapped it back. Then I got an X-ray and sure enough, I broke the bone. And I thought, 'There's a reason you have a stunt guy. Use him.'"

tonight's PICKS

Walker Independence 9 p.m. on WUPA

The road to revenge is often paved in the blood of innocence. And with Gus (Philemon Chambers) clinging to life, Abby (Kat McNamara), Hoyt (Matt Barr), Kate (Katie Findlay), and Calian (Justin Johnson Cortez) will stop at nothing to expose Tom's (Greg Hovanessian) corruption and bring an end to the Davidson reign in Independence once and for all in the Season 1 finale episode "Let Him Hang." Lawrence Kao and Gabriela

Growing Up Hip Hop 9 p.m. on WE Romeo wants to apologize to Quezada also star.

Jojo and Angela, but they're hesitant to meet with him. Then Egypt continues to plan her wedding amid Sam's court case and unanswered RSVPs. And finally, Angela performs for the first time, but her nerves might get the best of her in the new episode "Bones to Pick." Impractical Jokers

10 p.m. on TBS TRUTV Joined by Grammy winning

singer/songwriter John Mayer, the Jokers (Sal Vulcano, Brian "Q" Quinn and James "Murr" Murray) must convince unsuspecting temp workers to accompany them to a business dinner while looking like idiots from start to finish. The losing Joker has to face the wrath of very angry Mayer fans in a humiliating punishment in the new episode "John Mayer."

10:01 p.m. on WSB

Alaska Daily

Things quickly get out of hand when Concerned Citizen (Bill Dawes) targets Eileen (Hilary Swank) at gunpoint and proceeds to take her hostage in the newsroom. As the clock ticks and tension builds, Stanley (Jeff Perry), Roz (Grave Dove) and the team race to help before it's too late in the new episode "Enemy of the People." Meredith Holzman, Pablo Castelblanco, Matt Malloy and Ami Park also star.

"Movie: We Have a Ghost"

Christopher Landon ("Paranormal Activity: The Marked Ones") directed this horror comedy about a family who become social media sensations when they discover a ghost named Ernest (David Harbour, "Stranger Things"). But when young Kevin (Jahi Di'Allo Winston) helps the spirit investigate the mystery of his past, they attract the attention of the CIA. Anthony Mackie, Jennifer Coolidge and Tig Notaro also star. (ORIGINAL)

"Community Squad"

This Argentine comedy series follows an urban civilian patrol squad created as a marketing ploy to improve the image of the police, who inadvertently put their lives at risk when they stumble upon an unusual gang of criminals. Santiago Korovsky, Daniel Hendler and Pilar Gamboa head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

"In Love All Over Again"

From Spain comes this romantic comedy series about Irene (Georgina Amorós, "Elite"), a young film student who comes to Madrid hoping to make her name as a director. There she meets Julio (Franco Masini, "Riviera"), who would be the perfect lead role for her films and her life — if only life didn't have other ideas. (ORIGINAL)

"Cheat"

From the United Kingdom comes this high-stakes quiz show in which contestants can win up to a 50,000 pound grand prize by bluffing their way through three rounds of questions. The trick is to not get caught in their lies. Danny Dyer and Ellie Taylor are the hosts. (ORIGINAL)

What's Available NOW On DISNEY+

"The Mandalorian: Season 3" (March 1)

The third season of this action adventure series continues the travails of the lone bounty hunter (Pedro Pascal), operating in the Outer Rim, away from the dominion of the New Republic, who goes on many surprising and risky adventures. Giancarlo Esposito, Katee Sackhoff and Carl Weathers are other cast returnees. (ORIGINAL)

"Black Travel Across America" (Available now)

In the mid-20th century, when safe travel was all but inaccessible to many Americans, Victor Hugo Green wrote a guidebook that provided a list of hotels, restaurants and service stations across the country that served African American patrons. This documentary from National Geographic visits these "Green Book" historic landmarks that still stand today.

"The Low Tone Club" (Available now)

From Colombia comes this comedy drama series that stars Colombian singer Carlos Vives as a music instructor who teaches a class of talented students called the Low Tones, who don't meet their school's standards of commercial success. Kevin Bury ("The Queen of Flow"), Elena Vives and Brainer Gamboa also star.

"Voices Rising: The Music of Wakanda Forever" (Available now)

This documentary series follows Oscarwinning composer Ludwig Goransson ("Black Panther") and director Ryan Coogler ("Creed") as they collaborate with musicians and artists from around the world to create the music for the 2022 Marvel Studios action adventure movie "Black Panther: Wakanda Forever." (ORIGINAL)

Eugene Levy OF 'THE RELUCTANT TRAVELER' ON APPLE TV+

Why don't you like to travel?

Let's start with airports. I hate the airport experience. Unfortunately with security now, I don't love taking off the shoes. I don't love taking off the belt. I don't love (taking off) the watch. ... I don't love having your stuff spread in eight bins and then disappearing from your view. And then at the end of it all, being pulled over by somebody saying they want to check your bag. ...

You seemed to really enjoy yourself in the premiere episode in Finland. What were your takeaways?

Of the eight locations we went to, Finland was I think the most fun that I had. In all these locations, I'm actually getting the opportunity to do things that I would never have been able to do if I'm just traveling on my own or with family. I got to drive a dogsled at 35 miles an hour across a frozen lake in the show. That was exhilarating. ...

I got a chance to ice fish. I have to say I'm not a fisherman; I never really enjoyed the sport of fishing. I never really got into it. So the idea of actually doing it wasn't that exciting for me. But the fact that I was out there on a lake kind of doing this thing, I thought, "Well, good for you. You're out there actually doing it." ... And the people were kind of the most fun. The couple that ran the hotel, Katya and Ilka I believe were their names, they were a lot of fun. You know, a vodka tasting contest with Ilka, it could have been the most laughs that I had in the eight trips. So yeah, I would say that was a great deal of fun.

Nickelodeon Kids' Choice

Awards 2023 7 p.m. on NICK TVLAND

Get ready to celebrate the sli

in spectacular fashion. From favorite movie to favorite fam TV show, favorite breakout artist to favorite social media family, this year's nominees span from "Hocus Pocus 2" to Tom Cruise to Ninja Kidz TV. It'll be a night of laughs, slime and good times. And did we mention favorite celebrity pet We're feeling a three-way tie between Piggy Lou Bieber, Toulouse Grande and Olivia Benson Swift. Nate Burleson and Charli D'Amelio host live from Microsoft Theater in Los Angeles.

8 p.m. on LIFE As part of the network's Stop Violence Against Women

volence Against Worlien campaign, Cheryl's (Garcelle Beauvais) daughter Lauren (Iyana Halley) is nowhere to be found. Authorities and the media dismiss Lauren as a runaway while focusing heavily on another missing giwho is white. Cheryl and her 15-year-old daughter Marley (Taylor Mosby) enlist the help of a dedicated community of amateur internet sleuths to tr to find Lauren in this 2023 cridrama.

tonight's PICKS

The Equalizer 8 p.m. on WGCL

When the mother of a patient dying of a rare brain disease holds a hospital hostage in an attempt to get her daughter a life saving surgery, McCall (Queen Latifah) races to resolve the situation peacefully while dealing with pushback from government forces in the new episode "Do No Harm." Tory Kittles, Adam Goldberg, Liza Lapira and Lorraine Toussaint also star.

Biography: WWE Legends 8 p.m. on A&E Joanie Lee Laurer was known as the Ninth Wonder of the World and would transcend previously known boundaries of Sports Entertainment. Best known as "Chyna," also the title of this new episode, she took the WWE by storm. Here, we learn she debuted as a bodyguard for the men who made up the legendary faction D-Generation X. The late star made an immediate and lasting impact on the industry and remains the only woman in history to ever win the highly coveted WWE Intercontinental Championship.

8 p.m. on LIFE

Stranger Next Door

Retired police officer Rochelle Sellers (Vicky Jeudy) lost everything when she testified against a fellow officer. She now lives with her father as his primary caretaker. It's a lonely life until a new neighbor moves in next door. Handsome Mysterious. He is right out of her dreams. But when the sexy stranger becomes interested in her, he becomes obsessive. What started as a fantasy crush elevates into a dangerous game that risks far more than heartbreak in this 2023 thriller that also stars Skyh Alvester Black, Tim Reid and Tyra Tucker.

tonight's PICKS

The Voice

8 p.m. on WXIA

We might be saying hello to the Season 23 premiere, but we'll all be getting ready to say goodbye to coach Blake Shelton in his final season as coach. Alongside Kelly Clarkson, this season features Chance the Rapper and Niall Horan as coaches as America looks to discover the next great singer while not blatantly handing Shelton one more win for Team

8 p.m. on FOOD It's a two-hour, super-sized

Season 9 premiere as 12 bakers enter the kitchen and are asked by host Jesse Palmer to give a fresh spring makeover to the desserts that made them fall in love with baking. Judges Kardea Brown, Nancy Fuller and Duff Goldman decide which baker's skills have blossomed enough to move on in the competition. But first, one of the greatest culminations of love is a wedding and the finale features the three remaining bakers who must design and create a dream wedding cake for a real couple.

a Monster 9 p.m. on ID

Charting Jared Fogle's rise from morbidly obese teenage outcast to beloved Subway spokesman, this new three-part series reveals the shocking, previously untold story of the investigation that exposed the monster lurking behind Fogle's charming persona and how his true nature as a child sex predator was finally revealed in 2015. It also explores the charges brought against Russell Taylor, the former director of Fogle's charity, The Jared Foundation, and how that investigation ultimately led to the raid of Fogle's home that uncovered child pornography.

tonight's PICKS

Night Court

8 p.m. on WXIA Abby (Melissa Rauch) tries her best to get the court featured on a popular podcast, but the host (guest star Stephanie Weir) only has eyes for Dan (John Larroquette), who soon learns that being the center of attention can have its downside in the new episode "Two Peas in a Pod." India de Beaufort, Lacretta and Kapil Talwalkar

Blue Bayou 8 p.m. on MAX

also star.

As Antonio LeBlanc (Justin

Chon), a Korean-American man raised in the Louisiana bayou, works hard to make a good life for his family, he is forced to confront the actions of his past as he discovers that he could be deported from the only country he has ever called home in this 2021 drama. Alicia Vikander, Mark O'Brien and Linh Dan Pham also star.

A Man for All Seasons 8 p.m. on TCM Paul Scofield won the best actor Oscar for his portrayal of Sir Thomas More, who paid the ultimate price for defending his integrity and defying the stubborn King Henry VIII. The 1966 drama, which also won the best picture and best director Oscars, also stars Robert Shaw Nigel Davenport, Leo McKern and Susannah York.

That's My Jam 10 p.m. on WXIA

Music takes you places especially if you're traveling with Jimmy Fallon. "The Tonight Show" host returns with Season 2 of one of the most eclectic musical variety shows imaginable. A spin off of the various music segments from the aforementioned late night show such as "Turn the Beat Around," "Doombox" and "Undercover Covers," it features Fallon with a slew of celebrity guests being silly but sounding great.

Will 'Night Court' be in session again for one guest star?

Q: It was fun to see Wendie Malick on "Night Court" recently. Will she be back on the show? - Marie Clark, Norman,

A: Nothing about that had been announced at the time this column was written, but it would seem entirely possible that the "Hot in Cleveland" and "Just Shoot Me!" alum could return to the NBC sitcom revival to cause more grief for John Larroquette's Dan Fielding. The characters have a past connection that Fielding didn't remember initially, and that easily could be mined for more humor ... if not in the show's current season, then perhaps in Season 2 (which it already has been renewed for).

Q: Is it true that "Let the Right One In" has been canceled? -Madison Parker, via email

A: It is. Though generally well-received critically, the Demian Bichir-starring Showtime series based on the 2008 movie (and the novel that inspired both versions) was among the casualties announced when it became public that Showtime and Paramount+ will merge. In fact, anyone who still hoped to watch what now is the sole season of the show had to move fast, since it was slated to be removed from the services.

The deletion is symbolic of something that's been happening lately at a number of cable networks and streamers, which are trying to cut costs (and rights payments) by eliminating programs that don't meet a certain threshold of viewership. It's interesting that "Let the Right One In" had been earmarked for a couple of other outlets - namely, A&E Network, then TNT - before landing at Showtime.
