Plans for outdoor, action movie studio surprises officials

Blackhall Studios founder's purchase of 1,500 acres east of Covington to create content for new streaming service

Ryan Millsap

COVINGTON, Ga.

— Residents voiced concerns this week about a production company owner's reported plans for filming action movies on 1,500 acres east of the Covington city limits. At least one county commissioner said he was "taken aback" by the news, while state and county economic development officials said private investors often will work apart from government to build major projects.

The news website Bisnow and the Atlanta

Journal-Constitution (AJC) reported Blackhall Studios founder Ryan Millsap "is looking to bring action and adventure to a sprawling site in Newton County" on Elks Club Road near the new Eastside High School campus by late summer of this year.

The "action and adventure" to which Millsap referred is planned to include "Blackhawk helicopters and ... Humvees at speed" for use in films for his new Blackhall Americana streaming service, he told Bisnow and the AJC. Millsap said he and a group of investors bought the land for development of a campus to film and produce content for Mill-sap's new action movie streaming service, Black-hall Americana, Bisnow reported.

Perdue against plans for EV plant

By DAVID CLEMONS

The Walton Tribune

ATLANTA — David Perdue came to Morgan County this week to rally opponents of the Rivian plant as part of his campaign for governor.

The Perdue campaign called it a "Save Georgia, Stop Soros" event. Perdue had planned to speak at Play Fair Park in Rutledge at 5 p.m. Tuesday, after this publication's deadline.

An announcement said Perdue's goal was "to stop Soros-funded Rivian and protect rural Georgia." In a statement Monday morning, the campaign ripped the $5 billion project that is bringing 7,500 jobs to Morgan and Walton counties. "Brian Kemp is selling us out to George Soros. He's pledged our tax dollars to lure a California company funded by George Soros to Georgia and is calling it 'economic development,'" Perdue said in a statement.

"This bad deal is nothing more than a scheme by Kemp to promote himself in an election year at Geor-

Georgia General Assembly: Senate Judiciary Committee

Committee's GOP members cool to splitting Alcovy Judicial Circuit

By TOM SPIGOLON

tspigolon@covnews.com

ATLANTA — Some key Republican state senators appeared cool to legislation separating Newton's judicial system from Walton County despite the pleas of two prominent Covington residents.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, chaired by another Newton senator, District 17 Sen. Brian Strickland, R-McDonough, heard from Covington attorney Stephanie Lindsey, Newton County Democratic Party Chairman Gene Wills and District Attorney Randy McGinley during a Feb. 23 hearing on Senate Bill 249.

District 43 State Sen. Tonya Anderson, D-Lithonia, sponsored the bill to move Newton County into a new single-county Newton Judicial Circuit and separate it from Walton with which it has been paired for decades in the Alcovy Judicial Circuit.

Tonya Anderson

Brian Strickland

Anderson's bill would place the three Superior Court judges who are Newton residents — Cheveda McCamy, Ken Wynne and Layla Zon — in the new circuit. It also would require the appointment of a new district attorney because McGinley is a Walton County resident.

Lindsey, who has advocated for the legislation since its introduction in 2021, noted the the Senate or House must approve the bill by "Cross-over Day" on March 15 or likely run out of time to approve it this year.

She said Newton County's caseload is heavier than Columbia County despite it being split off from the Augusta Judicial Circuit into its own circuit in 2021.

Lindsey said studies showed the cost of establishing the new Columbia County circuit in Senate Bill 9 was "excessive" because of the cost of salaries for a new district attorney and staff members and a building to house them.

"Some say Senate Bill 9 passed because of partisanship," Lindsey said. "Some

Conyers man, 18, charged in Newton shooting

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — The Newton County Sheriff’s Office was still investigating Monday following the arrest of a Rockdale County man on charges he shot another man last week at a Covington apartment complex. Sheriff’s deputies charged Calvin Quincey Jones, 18, of Conyers with Aggravated Assault and Possession of a Firearm or Knife During the Commission of a Crime, both felonies, following the Thursday night, Feb. 24, incident. Deputies responded to a 10:43 p.m. call about a penetrating trauma at The Park at Arlington apartments off Fairview Road in Covington, said spokesperson

Calvin Jones

Caitlin Jett. “Upon arrival, deputies met with the 20-year-old victim, who sustained a gunshot wound. He was transported to a local hospital,” Jett said. The victim’s name was not immediately available. Jones was being held without bond at the Newton County Detention Center, according to jail records.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

In celebration of Arbor Day on Friday, Feb. 18, Oxford students planted 20 flowering dogwood trees along the Hearn Nature Trail to revitalize some of Oxford’s forests. The trees were generously donated by Charlotte Johnson of Covington, with the help of Beryl Budd, the city of Oxford arborist. Thanks to the Tree Advisory Committee under the stewardship of Michael Martin, lecturer in biology, Oxford College has once again been awarded Tree Campus recognition by the Arbor Day Foundation.

To be recognized, a school must meet the following five criteria: establishment of a tree advisory committee, evidence of a campus tree care plan, dedicated annual expenditures for a campus tree program, an Arbor Day observance, and the sponsorship of student service learning projects.

U.S. Supreme Court

Court denies area murderer’s request to hear his 2008 case

STAFF REPORTS
news@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — The U.S. Supreme Court on Monday denied Rodney Young’s petition for the Court to hear his case stemming from a 2008 murder conviction in Newton County.

Rodney Young

District Attorney Randy McGinley said the denial followed the Georgia Supreme Court’s 2021 opinion affirming the conviction and death sentence for Young in the March 30, 2008, murder of Gary Jones in Covington. The American Civil Liberties Union had filed a petition for the Court to review the case in part because Young has an intellectual disability. Young, 55, currently resides in the state prison in Jackson. He was convicted of bludgeoning to death his ex-fiancée’s son, 28-year-old Gary Lamar Jones, in 2008. According to Special Agent Wesley Horn with the Georgia Bureau of Investigation, Young was involved with the victim’s mother for seven years. When she ended the relationship and moved from New Jersey to her son’s home on Benedict Drive in Covington, Young became enraged. At one point the victim’s mother’s home was destroyed in a fire that was ruled arson. Once she moved to Covington, Young reportedly sent her several letters, the content of which had not been released publicly in 2011. On March 30, 2008, the victim returned home from church at Springfield Baptist. His mother found him when she came home from work around 11:30 p.m., bound to a chair, stabbed in the neck and bludgeoned with a hammer. Threats including “Get out of the state Atlanta mom” and “we’ll get you Atlanta mom” were scrawled in blood on the walls. The Georgia Supreme Court’s description of the case stated, “after weeks of careful planning, Young ruthlessly executed the prolonged attack on and brutal murder of his former fiancée’s son for the purpose of manipulating his former fiancée into resuming a relationship with him and returning to live with him.” Young’s attorneys raised 50 claims of error from the trial court in over 540 pages of legal briefs. The state Supreme Court rejected each claim in upholding both the conviction and sentence, McGinley said. He led the state’s case at the Supreme Court along with assistance from assistant District Attorneys in both the Newton and Walton offices as well as the Attorney General’s Office. The case was prosecuted by now Superior Court Judge Layla Zon and now Probate Judge Melanie Bell. Zon, as district attorney, also handled all of the post conviction motions at the trial court level. The case was investigated by the Newton County Sheriff’s Office and the Georgia Bureau of Investigation along with assistance from the DA’s Office, the GBI Crime Lab, the New Jersey State Police, and the Bridgeton Police Department in New Jersey.

A Rivian truck sits on display in Atlanta on Dec. 16 before the electric vehicle manufacturing company announced it would soon build a facility at Stanton Springs North.

Georgia Chamber poll shows ‘strong’ support of Rivian

news@covnews.com

ATLANTA — An independent poll commissioned by Georgia Chamber showed supporters of the Rivian development in Stanton Springs outnumbered its opponents 2-1.

Cygnal, which has been named the most accurate polling firm in America by the New York Times, surveyed 450 random registered voters in Jasper, Morgan, Newton, and Walton counties about Rivian’s incoming $5 billion electric vehicle manufacturing facility. Results showed that 49% of people aware of the project were supportive of the idea. Only 24% were against it. But, of the 450 surveyed, only 54% were aware of the project.

According to the poll, respondents cited the positive impact the facility will have on local community jobs, businesses, schools, and healthcare as primary reasons for their support.

“This poll confirms the widespread positive sentiment that we’ve felt within the community and the state since the Rivian project was announced in late December. While there is certainly more work to be done by the state, local community and Rivian, citizens recognize the immense opportunity that this project represents for families, local businesses, schools and area infrastructure,” Georgia Chamber President and CEO Chris Clark stated in a news release.

“For years, the Stanton Springs community and the state have worked together to bring high-quality, cutting-edge businesses to the area in conscientious ways. This poll reflects the community’s optimism that they can grow responsibly while maintaining the values that have made this region special.”

The poll reportedly has a margin of error of +/- 4.6% and was conducted on Feb. 11-13.

Announcement of the poll results came on the heels of Georgia gubernatorial candidate David Perdue’s opposition to the project. The Republican announced his intentions Monday to speak at Play Fair Park in Rutledge at 5 p.m. Tuesday. His goal is “to stop Soros-funded Rivian and protect rural Georgia.”

In a statement Monday morning, the campaign ripped the $5 billion project that is bringing 7,500 jobs to Morgan and Walton counties.

Clark said Georgia Chamber called the efforts of Perdue and candidates opposed to the development “counterproductive and harmful to the long-term economic prosperity” of the community and state.

“We are committed to helping the Department of Economic Development and local partners facilitate a transparent and environmentally friendly plan of action that leads to the same kind of economic success and corporate stewardship we see across Georgia and call on political candidates to do the same,” Clark said.

“Unfortunately, recent efforts by candidates from both parties to criticize economic growth projects, local efforts or major sporting events for political gain are counterproductive and harmful to the long-term economic prosperity for our communities and the economic mobility of the next generation. The Georgia Chamber is committed to the lives and livelihoods of the residents of the Peach State and hope that it will be the priority for anyone seeking elected office as well.”

gians’ expense. Kemp thought he could get away with this under the guise of ‘economic development,’ but all he is doing here is selling us out and lining George Soros’ pockets.”

Soros bought nearly 20 million shares in Rivian Inc., worth about $2 billion, in late 2021. That made Soros Fund Management among the top investors in the electric vehicle manufacturer, Reuters reported. Other major investors include Amazon.com Inc., Cox Communications and Ford.

Soros, 91, is a Hungarian-born billionaire investor. He’s often criticized on the right for his donations to democracy-building efforts around the world, and to Democratic candidates in the U.S.

Soros and Michael Bloomberg formed the Black PAC to support Raphael Warnock and Jon Ossoff in the runoffs for the 2020 Georgia Senate races. Ossoff defeated Perdue to unseat the Republican after one term.

After serving as a senator from 2015-21, Perdue is making a comeback by challenging Gov. Brian Kemp in the May 24 Republican primary.

Kemp in December announced California-based Rivian had chosen Georgia — specifically the Stanton Springs North site straddling Morgan and Walton counties including a part of Social Circle — for its $5 billion investment of an EV manufacturing site.

The Joint Development Authority of Jasper, Morgan, Newton and Walton Counties owns the site and the Stanton Springs Business Park that includes Takeda Pharmaceuticals and the Meta Newton Data Center.

“This development brings quality economic development to the hard-working people of our community and state. Rivian will provide thousands of high-paying jobs for the area and it is committed to being a great partner to support our community,” JDA spokesman Ben Sheidler said.

He said Rivian has begun exploring partnerships with local schools to train students and said the company would ease taxpayers’ burdens by contributing the community.

“Many politicians talk about wanting manufacturing jobs back in America,” Sheidler said. “It is curious why a former statewide elected official would be against that happening in his home state.

“Thanks to the work of this community over the years, Rivian recognized Georgia and Stanton Springs as the ideal place to create American manufacturing jobs. We’re focused on bringing the community together and uniting around the benefits of having American-made cars built by Georgians.”

But Perdue said knocked the process by which Rivian is coming to the community.

“Growth should be organic,” he said, “and the local community and its leaders should be involved in the process. Obviously that is not the case here.

“Many members of the local community have expressed major concerns with having California-based, Soros-funded Rivian in their backyards. Like a typical 20-year career politician, Kemp is ignoring locals’ concerns and trying to cut them out of the process.”

series is slated to begin on the new campus by the end of this summer, Millsap told Bisnow.

One area resident told The Covington News, “This certainly looks like those of us living on the east end of Covington are about to put up with the sounds (of) war in our backyard.

“I am personally concerned to have the film industry in immediate proximity to residential areas filming things akin to ‘Blackhawk Down’ in the outdoors,” he wrote.

District 1 County Commissioner Stan Edwards said he learned about the project at the same time as the public Sunday.

“I was taken aback,” he said. “I should have been notified by somebody.”

However, a filming area is better than a project like a 750-lot subdivision that would have a major impact on the area’s infrastructure and services, Edwards said.

He said he believed other “quasi-government entities” could do a better job communicating to elected officials about major projects that will affect areas the officials represent.

But Lanier Sims, chairman of the Newton County Industrial Development Authority, said Elks Club Road project “was a private transaction with no involvement of the IDA or (Georgia) Office of Economic Development.”

He said it was “not common to have a nationally-known, well-respected film entrepreneur live within Newton County and invest in Newton County.”

“The recent news story is a common occurrence with prospective developers and land owners within our region,” Sims said.

“The Newton County Industrial Development Authority is an advocate for the creation of opportunities for economic development throughout the county for existing and future businesses as stated in the Newton County Strategic Plan.

“Locally, film has always been a tremendous asset for our economy dating back since the ’60s,” he said. “We stand by the County to ensure that proper processes are followed as with any new development.”

Marie Gordon, spokeswoman for the Georgia Department of Economic Development, confirmed the state government’s lack of involvement with Millsap’s project.

“The Georgia Film Office has worked with Blackhall over the years, but the state was not involved in this project decision,” she said.

Though unconfirmed, the site appears to be three adjacent tracts centered around the intersection of Elks Club and Otis Nixon Farm roads that were sold in September and November of 2021 for a total of almost $14 million, according to Newton County tax records.

A small part of the Blackhall site borders the south side of the new 107-acre Eastside High campus near U.S. Hwy. 278 and Georgia Hwy. 142.

He said the property "is ideal for films involving military vehicles, exotic equipment, explosions and gun battles ... it is currently being used as a hunting ground, and its neighbors are used to gunshots," Bisnow reported.

The site contains "lakes and swamps and rivers and forests and fields and hills and dales. That's the nice thing about 1,500 acres," Millsap told Bisnow.

Millsap said it was "ultimately going to be a massive production campus not dissimilar" to film mogul Tyler Perry's 330-acre studio that encompasses a dozen soundstages, green space and 40 historic buildings in south Atlanta.

The company is "dedicated to producing action, espionage, military and crime drama series and movies" and "is expected to launch on a proprietary platform next year," Bisnow reported.

Millsap sold Blackhall Studios campus in Atlanta to Los Angeles private equity firm Commonwealth Asset Management last year for $120 million and the right to continue using the name Blackhall.

Blackhall opened in 2017 and was the site for the filming of such blockbuster films as "Godzilla: King of the Monsters" and "Doctor Sleep."

Newton County already is home to two film studios, including Cinelease-Three Ring Studios on Georgia Hwy. 142 on the north side of Covington; and Triple Horse Studios on Technology Drive.

Cinelease-Three Ring recently announced it planned to add eight new stages to give the studio complex a total of 14 purpose-built sound stages and a total of 276,000 square feet of stage space, 100,000 square feet of office space, and an additional 72,800 square feet of flexible space, upon its completion in 2023.

The Newton resident who complained about the plans told The News he saw Blackhall Americana as “the worst kind of neighbor.”

“They have no ties to the community and their business looks to directly be at odds with the reason I moved to the area in the first place,” he said.

Millsap also apparently has other development plans for northern Newton County apart from Blackhall Americana.

He has a memorandum of contract filed with Newton County Superior Court to purchase 1,000 acres from BPV Real Estate Holdings LLC and Susan Wahl between Strouds Creek Road and Georgia Hwy. 11 for a "large industrial development," Bisnow reported.

He plans to partner with a major developer on the project that is partly in the Social Circle city limits and not adjacent to his planned Blackhall Americana site.

It also is northwest and a few miles from the planned 2,000-acre Rivian electric vehicle production facility.

All-too-common, sad occurrence ends yet another young life

It's happened again and has become an all-too-common sad occurrence in metro Atlanta. Miyell Hernandez, 4, waited in a car with two young relatives while his mother shopped at a DeKalb County grocery store Sunday afternoon.

Somehow, Miyell got his hands on a gun inside the car and investigators believe he accidentally shot himself around 5 p.m., police told the AJC.

Far too many people routinely leave a loaded pistol in their vehicle and forget they have them — until it's too late.

This is something that parents of young children especially need to be wary of.

Everyone, especially parents, must do a better job securing their firearms so that curious, young children don't get their hands on them.

Most people carry a pistol for self-defense. How often have you heard about people saying they forgot about the loaded pistol in their luggage when caught trying to board a plane? Maybe they're not all lying.

The DeKalb police department is planning to host a safety fair March 19 and will offer free gun locks and other safety tips, the AJC reported.

In the Sunday incident, a relative insisted Miyell's mother did not own a gun and police have not released how they think the boy got his hands on the lethal device.

The shooting occurred outside a Publix on Panola Road in south DeKalb and was the second in five days that left a metro Atlanta child dead.

A 9-year-old was shot to death at an apartment complex Feb. 23 in southeast Atlanta, and Atlanta police announced that a 16-year-old was charged in the boy's death.

In early January, a 7-year-old boy was able to survive while he waited for his mother in a vehicle. He was shot with a gun he found in the vehicle outside a Chipotle restaurant in Snellville.

A 1-year-old girl was killed after being shot by another child in her home, police told the AJC. The baby's mother was later charged in the case.

And two 22-year-olds were charged after six-month-old Grayson Fleming-Gray died Jan. 24 was shot while riding in a vehicle near a store on Anderson Avenue in Atlanta.

This danger will only increase in coming years in Georgia.

Georgia law allows the carry of a firearm without a license in limited situations and only to certain individuals.

A new law which appears to be speeding to passage would allow Georgians to carry a concealed handgun without first getting a license from the state.

Many elected officials have no shame

When I talk about my latest book to civic groups, I use a surefire laugh line. The book includes a listing of thousands of famous people who have visited my hometown of Chattanooga.

While compiling the book, I requested and received a list of the acts that played our largest arena. I copied and pasted it to my website, and people began showering me with praise. I was quite flattered. I tell my audience, "After all, there's nothing I love more than getting credit for work I didn't really do!"

There's a nugget of truth in that self-deprecating line. We all appreciate a compliment, even if we used an online recipe, or a professional decorator.

Such honesty is rare in politics. The standard rules of ethics do not apply.

I grew up in Alabama. George Wallace ran the state for almost three decades, and he did not gain this power by being Mr. Nice Guy. After an initial defeat in 1958, he learned what the voters wanted to hear, and he never lost another election.

Much of that formula included appealing to people's worst instincts, and not backing down. It has proven to be a successful route to political success, regionally and nationally.

I can recall one exception. In the 1970s, a longtime Alabama sheriff named Bob Collins was running for reelection. At a political rally, his challenger stood at the podium, promising to rid the county of drugs and liquor. He ranted and raved, condemning what he called "lax law enforcement." When it came time for Sheriff Collins to reply, he ambled over to the microphone. In a low, gravelly voice, he said, "Folks, y'all know me by now, and I ask for your vote on election day." End of speech. He easily won another term. He didn't have to embellish, lie or take credit for anything. His work spoke for itself.

Many of today's elected officials have no shame. It always makes me grimace to see a county commissioner, who has never supported a tax increase, smile for the camera at a ribbon cutting for a new school. The voters are thrilled that their children must no longer dodge leaks and contend with mice. They are apparently oblivious to the fact that the new building would not exist if Commissioner No-Tax had his way. Of course, he is constantly reelected.

We are seeing this play out on the state and national level now. Certain elected officials are unabashedly taking credit for "grant money" for improvements to provide broadband service to rural communities, and repairs to crumbling bridges. They show up for the photo opportunities, and hold press conferences to toot their own horns.

They fail to mention that they opposed the legislation for the federal funding that was passed last year to create jobs and put these wheels into motion.

When pressed on the issue, they will counter that infrastructure legislation "adds trillions to our national debt," and they cannot support "forcing our children and grandchildren to pay for an unneeded socialist wish list." They drone on about "wasteful spending on pet projects."

From the other side of their mouth, they admit that they support "broadband funding and infrastructure projects, especially roads and bridges that will benefit our citizens." So to review: they support it, although they are against it.

While it is true that many Congressional bills are too large, these politicians rarely offer any solutions of their own. They also ignore the fact that presidents from both parties promised, but failed, to deliver on infrastructure improvements for the past several decades.

I am glad that future generations will reap the benefits of improved water systems, sewer pipes, highways, bridges and more. I'm thankful for the current elected leaders who finally found a way to get this done.

In the 1950s, both parties worked together to pass President Eisenhower's Interstate Highway construction bill. There were spirited debates over funding, but eventually they found common ground. Those forward-thinking public servants ended the era of two-lane roads. Thanks to them, everything from freight hauling, to daily commuting, to summer vacations are easier for us today.

I'm not sure our present-day naysayers could have made that happen. If they insist on taking credit for the good deeds done by others, let's hold them accountable. Make them use dial-up internet, and drive on the two-lane roads.

'Newby' to Georgia politics offers 'fresh' perspective ahead of primaries

Dear Editor:
I hope you don't mind a fresh set of eyes, a different perspective than what I am hearing in Georgia. Remember I'm a newby to Georgia politics, but a veteran in the conservative Republican movement.

I grew up in Iowa where we have elected Chuck Grassley over and over because we like him. He is the real reason I am against term limits. He was a successful land owner/businessman/farmer, so nervous at first the old-timers still laugh about how he shook and rattled when he would get up and talk. But he visited all 99 counties every year, made friends all over the state at his town hall meetings, went around so much sometimes he visited them twice or three times a year. He still gets on his mower and mows his own lawn too. His wife, Barbara, gives beautiful generous gift baskets with interesting things from

Washington, D.C., each year for the IowaFRW fund raisers, too.

Not everyone who goes to D.C. has affairs or becomes a millionaire immediately. Grassley was already independently wealthy before he went. If it hadn't been for Sen. Chuck Grassley's experience he couldn't have guided us through the nominations of three conservative supreme court justices. He wasn't even as lawyer but he got put on the judiciary committee in time to save our nation's highest court. He was like a wiley old fox getting Gorsuch, Kavanaugh, and Comey Barrett onto the Supreme Court. He even got Lindsay Graham to call the false allegations against them crap.

I used to like Lindsay Graham at the time of the Graham Rudman Act, because he held the keys to fiscal responsibility, but I think even he is loosing his moorings. When he poked so much fun of Donald Trump at Faith and Freedom Coalition, I quit sending him money.

And Ted Cruz, another person with presidential ambition, has been tied to the term limits movement too by the leftists. I cannot believe he doesn't understand how term limits takes away the voter's ability to keep in office the good ones and get rid of the bad ones. Let us not forget that term limits were started by left wing socialists wanting to get rid of some solid Republicans they didn't like in Congress.

And don't let anyone tell you they're going to get rid of Nancy Pelosi, not until California constitution changes. They can get her off of committees and off of being speaker but she is elected and reelected in the kind of jungle election that got us running Loeffler and Collins against Warnock. She runs against another Democrat with a criminal record and a weak Republican every time, and the person with the most votes gets elected. So, until Californians start having a fair partisan primary, and quit sending her to Washington, she will be there dividing, chewing and spitting out people who don't agree with her.

But Chuck Grassley even sent my money back one time when his PAC wasn't needing it. Like Donald Trump, Grassley has a wonderful relationship with his wife and family too. He is hailed around the nation as a hero for supporting President Trump in getting three conservative SC justices nominated. The never Trumper movement has done tremendous damage to the GOP. Up in Iowa, they have gone underground because people see how their divisiveness and deceitfulness has hurt us. U.S. Senators and U.S. Reps like Grassley of Iowa, Cotton of Arkansas, Louie Gohmert of Texas, and Billy Long of Missouri who vote their own consciences, listen to the voters, and who cannot be bought are what we need in D.C. Ryan Zinke of Montana is another one.

I believe the RNC needs someone other than the hard working Ronna up there. I'm sorry Liz Cheney, Mitt Romney, Lisa Murkowski and Adam Kinsinger are so far to the center. But voters are well informed these days. Information is readily available. You have to comb through many publications and listen to many candidates to decide who is right to represent us. Even after the 10th District forum Saturday, which held some real surprises, I left undecided. Only one held out against term limits. Colonel Mitchell Swan. But I REALLY like some of the other candidates too. We shall see.

say Senate Bill 9 passed because it was a further attempt to disenfranchise Black voters, which is a tough topic for us all."

She said she viewed it as "the will of the people" in Columbia County and believed the same "will" existed for a new judicial circuit containing only Newton County.

Wills said he believed McGinley, a Republican from Walton County, was "not representing our county."

Newton County gave a majority of its votes in the 2020 district attorney election to Democrat candidate Destiny Bryant. McGinley lost the Newton vote but won the two-county race with a big majority vote in Walton County.

"His values are different," Wills said of McGinley. "The way we feel certain people are treated in our county, we're not OK with it but it appears that the Republicans are."

He said Walton County's interest "is very different from Newton County's interests" and the Alcovy Circuit represents a majority Democratic county being "controlled by a minority."

Strickland countered that the Columbia County governing body voted unanimously for its own circuit. The Newton County Board of Commissioners split its vote 3-2 in favor of a Newton-only circuit which showed "you don't have the same kind of buy-in that you had" with Senate Bill 9, Strickland said.

District 46 State Sen. Bill Cowsert, R-Athens, is an attorney whose district includes much of Walton County.

He said he often works in the Walton County courthouse in Monroe and received information directly from a Superior Court judge that the three Newton judges did not want to split the circuit.

"What the public is perceiving (is) this is discontent with a white, Republican DA in Walton County winning the race last year," Cowsert said.

"I'm getting extremely uncomfortable with the resegregation of our judicial districts," he said.

"The African-American population spent half a century trying to get rid of segregation and have integration," Cowsert said. "This feels like a Black separatist movement where Newton County is wanting to be separated and I don't feel real good being a part of this process."

McGinley told the senators a split "financially, logistically, procedurally" does not "make any sense."

He said the caseload per judge in the Alcovy circuit was 15% lower than the state average.

In addition, the Alcovy circuit operates a series of accountability courts in which residents of both counties participate. However, most operate in one county or the other but not both.

A split would require establishment of new accountability courts which would require extra expenditures, he said.

City Manager Scott Andrew's creation of a "Community Engagement" initiative that helped unify residents.

"Recognizing the immense growth in Covington, City Manager Scott Andrews prioritized creating a 'Community Engagement' initiative to help bring residents together, increase participation in local government and enhance the community," Bailey said. "This ongoing initiative has seen success through groups and programs such as police review boards; a sustainability committee; a spiritual leaders' task force called 'Spirit of Covington;' a diversity task force called 'Stronger Together;' a public art initiative called 'PAINT;' and a youth council.

"While some of these groups are still planning their work, measurable achievements from this initiative have been seen by others, such as the PAINT program where residents added to the aesthetic vibrancy of the community by painting five fire hydrants and electrical boxes," she continued. "Other groups, such as the 'Spirit of Covington' consists of faith leaders working together to plan an upcoming community event and concert called 'A Night of Hope.' The goal is to bring the town together for an evening of celebration and unity, with the hope that this event can serve as a platform for addressing homelessness and poverty."

A few other initiatives Covington was recognized for was the opening of a seasonal warming shelter, success of the ice rink at Legion Field, work on the Cricket Frog Trail and its "award-winning" newsletters.

"This recognition is a testament to the efforts of our amazing volunteers, visionary board members and our outstanding staff," Andrews told The Covington News. "We are truly a unique community to be considered historic and visionary at the same time."

Other cities to be recognized were Acworth, Moultrie, Cornelia, Ringgold, Tybee Island, Canton, Lawrenceville and Macon-Bibb County.

Cities are measured and judged for the award based on how a city's initiatives or projects demonstrate the following:

- Civic Engagement – Comprehensive community engagement in the planning and execution of the initiative/project that inspires and fosters unique ways for citizens to participate in the development and improvement of their community.
- Inclusiveness and Equity – Involvement of diverse segments and perspectives (ethnic, racial, socio-economic, age, people with disabilities and others) in initiative/project decision-making.
- Collaboration –

Cross-sector collaboration (business, local government, nonprofits, military, etc.) and regional collaboration

• Innovation – Resourceful methods of delivering services that address a community need, significantly improve an existing service or leverage community resources.

• Long-term Value to the Community – Plans that ensure the continual fulfillment of this initiative/project through the transition of elected officials, city staff and/or initiative/project leaders.

Teasley ends Lady Eagles hoops career

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

COVINGTON, Ga. — In her final home basketball game at Eastside, Lizzie Teasley dropped a career-high 37 points to help lead the Lady Eagles to a 70-43 win over Apalachee. Accomplishing this was just icing on the cake for Teasley’s notable career.

Lizzie

“When I was told that I had 37 points, a feeling of gratitude came over me for the opportunity that I have to play the game I love and for all the hard work I have put in to finally pay off,” Teasley said. “It was definitely a very special night that I’ll never forget.”

At the conclusion of her Lady Eagle career, Teasley racked up quite a few accolades.

Teasley earned the Eagle Award and was selected as part of The Covington News’ Newcomer Team her freshman season. Her 10th grade season was shortened due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

At the beginning of her junior season, Teasley was voted as team captain and at the end earned a spot on the Region 8-AAAAA All-Region team as well as a spot on the All-Covington News team.

COVINGTON, Ga. — Back in the fall of 2021, the Alcovy football and softball programs rewrote the history books. Now, the Alcovy baseball team has set its sights on making some history of their own.

It has been since 2013 that the Tigers have qualified for the state playoffs.

Cameron Bonnett, one of three seniors on this year’s squad, has high hopes for his team to accomplish this goal they have set forth for 2022.

“I feel like that is something that is definitely in our sights,” Bonnett said. “But we’re not going to let that get too ahead of us where we sacrifice the moments early on in the season just to focus on, ‘Hey, we need to make the playoffs.’ But I do feel like that is something we want.”

TWO WINS AWAY

Rams pull away from West Forsyth, advance to Elite Eight

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

CUMMING, Ga. — Holding on to a seven-point advantage at halftime, the Newton Rams used a strong third quarter to pull away from the West Forsyth Wolverines 80-59.

The Feb. 25 win advances the Rams to the Elite Eight of the GHSA Class 7A state playoffs.

The first half of the match-up saw both teams go back-and-forth trading buckets.

At the end of the opening quarter, Newton had a 16-14 advantage and, by halftime, that lead grew 41-34. Then, in the third quarter, the Rams seemed to turn it up a notch.

It all started on the defensive end, too.

Coming out of the intermission, the Rams seemed to trap and suffocate the Wolverines’ offense before even letting them get to the half-court line. Doing so opened additional fast break opportunities that allowed Newton to get wide open dunks and easier buckets.

By the quarter’s end, the Rams outscored West Forsyth 20-3 to give themselves a 61-44 cushion for the final eight minutes of action.

In the third quarter alone, Stephon Castle scored nine points while Marquavious Brown scored seven. The majority of Brown’s points came courtesy of a few alley-oop dunks, too.

When asked about what the difference was in the third quarter, Head Coach Charlemagne Gibbons pointed to his team’s ability to make plays when they needed to.

“We had to make some connecting plays,” Gibbons said. “We were right there in the first half to have some pretty big runs and then we’d give up a drive. But we had to make connecting plays. Like, ‘Hey, if we get a steal, we don’t have to make a highlight play, just make a simple basketball play.’”

From there, the Rams seemed to be on cruise control, never leading by fewer than 15 points the rest of the game. They outscored West Forsyth in the fourth quarter, too, 19-13 to solidify a 21-point victory.

Jakai Newton led the Rams in scoring with 19 points while Brown and Castle finished with 15 points apiece and Marcus Whitlock had 12 off the bench. Daniel Pounds contributed eight points in the win, too.

Now, the Rams are on to the Elite Eight of the state playoffs. Their next matchup was scheduled for Wednesday, March 2 against Archer High School at home.

The two teams previously met on Nov. 30, 2021 when Newton defeated Archer 61-60 on the road.

But, for Gibbons, his team plans to focus on improving themselves for the challenge ahead.

“If we can give what we gave in the final 16 minutes for 32 minutes, I think we’ll be in pretty good shape,” Gibbons said. “That’s constantly been our goal all year long is can we get 32 minutes of everyone’s peak and, I think if we do that, we can continue to advance in the tournament.”

Redskins dominate Clinch County

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga. — For the second game in a row, the Social Circle Redskins eclipsed 100 points in their 107-25 domination of Clinch County on Saturday, Feb. 26 at home. As a result of the win, the Redskins will advance to the Elite Eight – the first Elite Eight appearance in school history.

And, reminiscent of the 114-36 win in round one of the GHSA Class A-Public state playoffs, Social Circle received contributions from everyone in Saturday’s win.

Six players scored double digit points, too.

KJ Reid led the way with 20 points whereas Tyrhell Branch tallied 19, Amarion Russell had 18, Cam Gaither and Quin Jackson contributed 13 points apiece and Lamarius Jacksons recorded 11 points.

Social Circle’s 107 points marks the sixth time the Redskins have scored at least 90 points and the third time this season that they scored 100-plus.

Now, the Redskins will hit the road for the first time in this year’s state playoffs.

They’ll face the No. 1 seed Calhoun County out of Region 1A-Public on Wednesday, March 2 at 6 p.m. Social Circle will be the road team courtesy of a universal coin flip by the GHSA that determined the bottom half of the bracket would host in the event the same seeded teams met.

In its first two rounds Calhoun County has defeated its opponents 101-58 in round one and, most recently, defeated Macon County 97-65.

Both teams enter the matchup undefeated, too.

Phillip B. Hubbard sports editor

What makes Rams, Redskins so special?

It is no secret that both the Newton and Social Circle boys basketball teams have each had impressive seasons this year. The Rams and the Redskins are still in playoff contention with both teams competing on Wednesday night.

But, as the season has progressed, I have often wondered: What makes the Rams and Redskins special?

Now, at this point in the year, I feel like I can form an opinion on what makes each team special in their own right.

First, the Newton Rams. They’re set to play Archer High School on Wednesday, March 2 in the Elite Eight of the Class 7A state playoffs.

Ironically, I first covered Newton when they traveled to Archer on Nov. 30, 2021 and won 61-60. At the time, I hadn’t met any of this year’s players yet alone to see them play in a game.

I did not know what to expect when I went to that game, but I left the matchup intrigued by how unselfish this team is.

You would think a team that has three players committed to play Division I college basketball and a fourth receiving numerous offers from Division I programs would have a few ball hogs. But that’s not the case at all.

Some nights, Stephon Castle could carry the team to victory, other nights it might be Marcus Whitlock leading the way off the bench. Let’s not forget the three big men down low: Daniel Pounds, Malachi Hardy and Miokaye Grant. Those three players have been known to have a huge impact on the outcome of a game.

That’s what I think makes this year’s Rams squad the most dangerous.

Head coach Charlemagne Gibbons has described the team to me all year long as each player bringing their piece to the puzzle. And, for the most part, the Rams have done just that.

It doesn’t matter when or how long each player has entered the contest, I have noticed each game I covered during the 2021-22 season that each player is committed to winning together.

On the other side of our coverage area lies the Social Circle Redskins.

For the sake of full transparency, I was aware of Social Circle and its athletic programs prior to taking this position. Growing up in Greene County and attending Greene County High School, my alma mater would often face the Redskins whether in region or non-region matchups.

It is safe to say that the boys basketball team is peaking this season with all the elements coming together to have a spectacular season.

They’re currently about to face Calhoun County in the Elite Eight on the road on Wednesday, March 2. This year’s team is led by KJ Reid, Tyhrell Branch as well as Cam Gaither and AJ Vinson. Throughout the year, I have gone to a few practices and interviewed aforementioned players as well as head coach Taylor Jackson. During these interviews, I have taken mental notes as to the passion each one of the players have for winning. Each player, in addition to others on this year’s squad, has voiced that they hate losing basketball games. And, this season, they haven’t had to experience that feeling being 29-0. But in all the wins, the players have been seen laughing, joking and having a good time together on the court. Even when a player makes a mistake, I have seen his teammates rally around them laughing and brushing it off. You can tell, this collection of players genuinely love playing with one another on the court. And that, to me, speaks volumes to the Redskins’ ability to dominate almost every time they touch the floor.

Teasley’s final season concluded with a First Team All-Region honor for Region 8-AAAAA as well as voted as the Lady Eagles’ team captain all season. From the very beginning of the 2021-22 season, head coach Gladys King was high on Teasley’s impact on the Lady Eagle program. And it was that impact King highlighted as a huge difference maker for her team this season. “The presence of Liz-zie Teasley has brought on leadership, good decision-making and less stress on the court for some of the other girls,” King said. “We depend on her a lot. No pressure on Teasley, but she’s a big part of the difference.” During her senior campaign, Teasley averaged a team-high nearly 10 points per game and averaged close to five rebounds per game, which was second on the Lady Eagles. Above all else, though, the confidence from her head coach has meant the most to Teasley. “She trusts me with just being out there and leading the team,” Teasley said. “It makes me feel at ease to go out and, if I make a mistake, I can fix it and go back again and get better.” Even though her basketball career is over, Teasley is remaining active as a member of the Lady Eagle soccer program. She has also been a member of FFA since her eighth grade year and is currently serving as the chapter’s vice president.

He feels a special connection with Swanson and Albies all because of the positions they play. Like Swanson and Albies, Bonnett is an infielder for the Tigers where his preferred position is at second base. He’s dabbled in pitching on the mound occasionally, but Bonnett stressed how he’s more comfortable at second base. But now that his senior baseball season has already begun, Bonnett said he just wants to “make the most of it.” “Not a lot of people get a chance to come out here and play on a high school team and play with people you like playing with,” Bonnett said. “That’s very fortunate for me to land in that situation and I think that’s really going to carry me through the season.” Bonnett is set to graduate from Alcovy in May 2022. After his high school graduation, he plans to play at Combine Academy, which is a baseball academy based in North Carolina. Even so, when all is said and done, Bonnett highlighted one thing he’ll miss the most about being an Alcovy Tiger. “[I’ll miss] just being fortunate enough to be on this team and being with these guys,” Bonnett said. “Just being able to come be with the same guys day in and day out for three to four months [is something I’ll miss.]”

Covington-based company offers quality lawn care, landscaping services

By TAYLOR BECK
tbeck@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — With spring around the corner, the time to make lawn care service plans is now — but where does one begin?

Look no further than Yellow River Landscaping LLC, a Covington-based company owned and operated by homegrown professionals that take pride in providing top quality lawn care services.

Yellow River Landscaping was founded in 2021 by a duo of Eastside High School graduates, Jacob Jensen and Trace Nicholson.

Jensen and Nicholson built their company on the foundation of professionalism, hard work and accountability, which they believe is evident in their work.

The two childhood friends grew up in Newton County with a passion for the outdoors, which helped them discover a love for lawn care. After working various odd jobs and small scale landscaping projects, they both took positions with Master Landscape Supply, a local supply and nursery company owned by Mark Smith and Tim Reid. Jensen said time spent there played a vital role in the creation of their own lawn care company.

“While employed by Master Landscape Supply, we gained extensive knowledge of horticulture and the local landscape processes,” he said. “Through watching and learning the internal workings of business ownership, functional partnership, and their extensive understanding of the landscape industry, we were able to develop all the skills we needed to create a successful business of our own.”

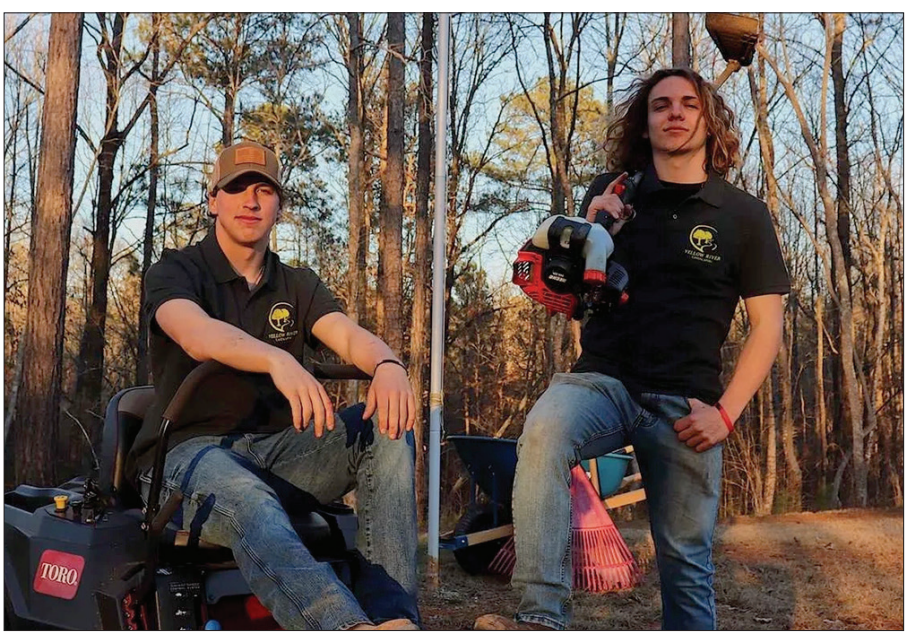

In February 2021, while still seniors in high school, Jensen and Nicholson took their friendship to the business world and formed Yellow River Landscaping.

“After our first full year in business, we have continued to learn, grow and pursue our goal to be a professional and reliable business for the benefit of our community,” Jensen said. “We maintain close relationships with all our clients, and currently are a five star rated company with multiple very positive reviews. We also continue to put Covington first and are currently the youngest members of the Newton County Chamber of Commerce.”

Yellow River Landscaping is licensed and equipped to handle any of your landscaping needs, including lawn mowing, edging, blowing and weed control; trimming and pruning trees or shrubs; mulch and pine straw spreading; and installation of plants, trees, mulch or pine straw.

A Lenten meal the kids will love

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

Religious Christians make the commitment to avoid meat in their Friday meals for the duration of Lent, signifying a sacrifice for their faith that recalls the ultimate sacrifice Jesus Christ made during the crucifixion. Vegetables and pasta dishes are a staple of the Lenten season, and seafood also serves as a popular substitute for meats and poultry. As parents of picky eaters can attest, encouraging children, particularly toddlers or early grade-schoolers, to dig into a seafood meal can be a struggle. However, fish sticks can make a fish dinner more attractive to youngsters. You don't need to buy the frozen variety at the store. This recipe for "Fish Sticks with Fries and Tartar Sauce" from "Danielle Walker's Eat What You Love" (Ten Speed Press) is a crunchy, home-made alternative.

Metro Creative

Crunchy fish sticks are a meal the entire family can enjoy, especially during Lent.

Fish Sticks with Fries and Tartar Sauce

Makes 12

Ingredients:

- Tartar Sauce

1/2 cup mayonnaise

1 tablespoon minced cornichons (gherkin pickles)

1 tablespoon chopped capers

1 teaspoon champagne vinegar

1 teaspoon freshly squeezed lemon juice

1 teaspoon coarse-grain mustard

1 teaspoon chopped fresh flat-leaf parsley

1/8 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

- Fries

1 large parsnip, peeled
1 white-fleshed sweet potato (such as Hannah), scrubbed but unpeeled
3 tablespoons avocado oil
Kosher salt
- Fish sticks
1 pound haddock or cod fillets
4 ounces plantain chips
Fine sea salt and freshly ground black pepper
2 egg whites, beaten until frothy
2 teaspoons Dijon mustard

Directions:
Preheat the oven to 450 degrees.
To make the tartar sauce, in a small bowl, mix together the mayonnaise, cornichons, capers, vinegar, lemon juice, mustard, parsley, and pepper. Place in the refrigerator to chill while you make the fries and fish sticks, or up to three days.

To make the fries, cut the parsnip and sweet potato into matchstick fries. In a bowl, toss the vegetables with the oil. Spread in a single layer — not touching — on a large rimmed baking sheet. Bake for 20 minutes, turning once during baking, until browned.

To make the fish sticks, meanwhile, cut the haddock into 3-by-1/2-inch strips. Place a wire rack on top of a clean kitchen towel and brush the rack lightly with avocado oil.

In a food processor, or using a mortar and pestle, pulse the plantain chips a few times until they resemble coarse sand. Pour the ground chips into a shallow bowl and combine with 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. In a separate bowl, whisk together the egg whites and mustard.

Pat the fish dry with paper towels and season generously with 3/4 teaspoon sea salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. One at a time, dip the fish strips into the egg mixture and shake gently, allowing any excess to drip back into the bowl, then dip the fish into the plantain chip mixture, turning to coat each strip and shaking off any excess. Place the fish strips on the prepared wire rack.

Remove the baking sheet from the oven and scoot the fries over to one side. Position the rack with the fish sticks on the baking sheet and return to the oven. Bake the fish and fries together for 10 to 12 minutes, until the fish is crisp and cooked through. Season the fries generously with the kosher salt. Serve the fish sticks and fries immediately with the tartar sauce on the side.

Foods to push you past the post-lunch slump

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

Lunch is a welcome respite in the middle of the day. Lunch is coveted because it provides a break from work and a chance to sit down and refuel the body until dinnertime.

Feelings of fatigue after eating a "hearty" lunch are not uncommon. Kim Yawitz, LD, a registered dietitian/nutritionist in Missouri, says it's natural to get a little tired in the afternoon due to circadian rhythms and the release of melatonin between the hours of 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. But choosing the wrong foods at lunchtime may exacerbate afternoon fatigue, compromise an individual's ability to concentrate and even result in hunger pangs. According to nutrition experts, certain food combinations at lunch can satisfy cravings and keep anyone energized through the commute home.

- Grain bowls: Complex carbohydrates tend to be high in energizing B vitamins and whole grains will keep you feeling fuller longer due to their high fiber content. Look for complex, protein-rich grains, such as quinoa, farro or brown rice. Balance the grain with plenty of vegetables.

- Salads with nuts: Salads are a go-to healthy lunch provided they're not covered with fatty dressings or cheeses. Add chopped nuts to salads for added texture, protein and nutrition to fill you up and provide energy.

- Smoothies: Smoothies aren't just breakfast fare. They're delicious and nutritious any time of the day. You can add high-protein items, including plant-based protein powders or ground chickpeas and kale, to smoothies for an additional energy boost.

Certain food combinations at lunch can satisfy cravings and keep anyone energized through the commute home.

- Crackers and hummus: Purchase whole-grain crackers or ones made from almond flour for added nutrition and pair them with a healthy hummus dip. Hummus usually is made with chickpeas, garlic, tahini (ground sesame seed paste), and olive oil. It provides healthy protein and fat sources to keep you satiated.

- Overnight oats: Create a lunchtime or snack parfait using an overnight oats recipe. According to the Food Network, overnight oats are made by mixing old fashioned oats, milk (dairy or nut milk), yogurt, and other add-ins and letting the ingredients sit and thicken for at least five hours or even overnight. Change the flavor profile by experimenting with nuts (or nut butters), fruits and spices. This nutrient-dense meal will provide plenty of energy without bogging you down.

When dining out for lunch, fill up on vegetables, whole grains and lean protein, such as a quality white fish like wild cod. Starchy, cheesy and fast foods can contribute to fatigue that compromises afternoon productivity.

Spice-up grilled pork for dinner tonight

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

Those looking to eat healthier should not just consider the ingredients they choose but the cooking methods. Grilling food is a smart choice for keeping calories down and limiting saturated fats. Grilling can take place outdoors or on a cast-iron grilling pan right on the stovetop.

Even though people may think of chicken or burgers as foods for grilling, don't overlook lean pork as well. This recipe for "Fiery Grilled Pork Tenderloin" from "Cooking Light Fresh Food Superfast" by the Cooking Light Editors, gives a double shot of peppery punch. Serve it with any grilled vegetable of choice, such as squash, zucchini or eggplant.

Fiery Grilled Pork Tenderloin

Makes 4 servings

Ingredients:

1 pound pork tenderloin

2 teaspoons olive oil

1 1/2 tablespoons ground black and red pepper blend (such as McCormick Hot Shot!)

1 tablespoon dark brown sugar

1/2 teaspoon garlic powder

1/4 teaspoon salt

Cooking spray

Directions:

Preheat grill.

Pat pork dry with paper towels. Rub oil over pork.

Combine pepper blend and next three ingredients; rub over pork. Place pork on grill rack coated with cooking spray. Grill 20 minutes or until a thermometer registers 160 degrees (slightly pink), turning once. Remove from grill; let stand 5 minutes. Cut pork diagonally into 1/2-inch slices. Serving size is 3 ounces.

BY JAY BOBBIN

"American Idol" begins its fifth season on ABC – and its 20th season overall – Sunday.

'American Idol' launches Season 20 on ABC

For the 20th time, it's time to find an "American Idol."

The competition that launched a genre of musical talent contests begins a milestone season – its fifth on ABC, following the hugely successful run it originally had on Fox – Sunday, Feb. 27. Ryan Seacrest continues to preside over the show, with Luke Bryan, Katy Perry and Lionel Richie continuing as the judges who assess the hopefuls at auditions around the country, then when the finalists are brought to Hollywood.

Though the coronavirus pandemic has necessitated adjustments to the “American Idol” process, Seacrest reflects, “It’s been navigated to become a very heartfelt, human and artist-driven show because of what the judges have done. I think they've done that deliberately, and I think that that's what you are seeing with these artists that may never have normally auditioned for 'American Idol' in the past. The fact that we can audition on a computer allows us to tap into talent that has never sung in front of human beings before, yet can make it to the next level with these three superstar judges.”

"What I love about what 'American Idol,' " adds Richie, "is that we're the microcosm of the way the world should be. If you look at the four of us – the judges and Ryan – we represent America and the music business. We come from very different walks of life, but at the same time, we can come together and celebrate each other."

Indeed, Perry maintains, “It’s not really about anything besides us holding that lottery ticket that we want to give to (the winner) at the end of the season and create a real superstar, and our track record shows. I think it’s not really comparable to other talent competitions because there’s not really anyone (who won those), let alone the ten people we can name on two hands, that have had successful careers. We are really, really proud of that.”

As part of the 20th anniversary, executive producer Megan Wolflick hopes to bring back contestants who made their names on “American Idol.” She also acknowledges that in current circumstances, “It is, of course, our goal to have the fans back in the studio because that’s what makes the atmosphere. But having had this be our third year in the pandemic, we are ready to pivot on a dime at a moment’s notice.”

Still, Bryan insists “American Idol” will continue to operate the same way it has since he, Perry and Richie first arrived. He says, “We look at (each contestant) with an open heart and an open mind. And for the most part, we feel like our viewers at home are doing the exact same thing.”

Chrissy Metz

'This Is Us' actress Chrissy Metz is a dyed-in-the-wool baker

In the category of actors with kitchen chops, we present for your consideration Chrissy Metz.

Indeed, the Florida-born and -raised actress who plays Kate Pearson in the multigenerational family drama "This Is Us" – which airs Tuesdays on NBC and streams on Peacock – is a lifelong cook and baker who learned at the side of her mother and isn't afraid to take on big holiday meals when the occasion presents itself.

In fact for this past Thanksgiving's dinner, she decided to bake a number of pies and and make some side dishes, which she soon realized was too ambitious.

"I felt overwhelmed," Metz admits. "I had this delusion of grandeur that I was going to do seven pies and when it turned one in the morning the night before, I was like 'Chrissy, you've got to go to bed because you've got to wake up and make other things and decorate the table and blah, blah, blah.' So you know, everybody was pleasantly surprised at the pies. So I do love to bake. I don't do it a lot but when I do I really do enjoy it."

She enjoys being in the kitchen in general, and her creativity is evident in her web series "Quarantine Cooking," which she and best friend Donnie Berry shot for social media two years ago when the pandemic first hit. Here, the duo share their favorite kitchen tips and tricks while emphasizing cooking as a form of therapy to help viewers keep their spirits up while in self-isolation.

And Metz is also into wine in a big way, having launched Joyful Heart Wine Company in September 2021. Created to, as its website says, celebrate "the union of sharing wine and the spirit of generosity," its wines are currently available in three varietals – red and white blends and a limited edition reserve – with prices ranging from $16 to $40. Part of the proceeds go to World Central Kitchen, a not-for-profit that provides meals to communities in the wake of natural disasters.

But it is baking that is Metz's first love. She says her pumpkin roll is the closest thing she has to a specialty and she always makes her own crust, never using store-bought. She's clearly old school, something that came from her family.

"My mom is a really great baker, so is my sister," Metz says, "and growing up she used to make all of our birthday cakes and birthday cakes for co-workers and neighbors and had a little side business, so to speak. So maybe I come from the blood of bakers or something. But I have not perfected anything yet."

Lauren Cohan

OF 'THE WALKING DEAD' ON AMC

Do you find you need to repair yourself with a warm bath after a rigorous day of shooting?

Yes, sometimes. Today was actually not an intense one but that wind down I feel like we should come together as a cast and write some sort of book on winding down after this is all done because it's such a weird thing when you really click into the adrenaline. It's kind of like working in a restaurant. It's at that level and then yeah, you're not tired, it's a cumulative strain, sort of thing. I'm not making any sense, I know, probably because I'm experiencing it (laughs).

Actors talk about a breathing out period when they leave a character for good after a long run. Is that the case for you?

Yes, for sure. And it's interesting because some seasons I lived close to work and some seasons I commuted from the city of Atlanta. And I have to say even though an hour's drive at the end of the day is tiring and people can attest to an hour commute, it's also just the time to sort of regain some sense of influences outside, you know, listening to nice things. Driving I find very healing, a good time for inspirational music or a podcast or something that is rejuvenating.

But in general, it's almost like any sort of spiritual practice where you sort of go and you sit and then you wait for the peace of mind and the thing you need to sort of present itself and rejuvenate you. Like making a point of sitting down and having a decent dinner even if you're too tired and you just invariably will have a peanut-butter-and-jelly, that you should try and like do those things. So I think for me, that's what it is, like cooking something or walking the dog. Keep it simple (laughs).

tonight's PICKS

Phil Keoghan

The Goldbergs

8 p.m. on WSB

Horrorified to discover that no one thought to put down a deposit on their wedding venue, Geoff (Sam Lerner) frantically scrambles to correct that oversight before Beverly (Wendi McClen-don-Covey) finds out in this sitcom's 200th episode, "The Wedding." To make matters even worse, a weather advisory reports that a major storm is bearing down, threatening to jeopardize the entire event.

The Amazing Race

8 p.m. on WGCL

More than two years after filming on the current season began, in February of 2020, Phil Keoghan finally will crown the winners of Season 33 as they cross a finish line in Los Angeles. By any measure, this round has been one for the record books, with the competition put on hold for a year and a half due to the global pandemic. When it resumed last fall, two teams weren't available to continue the race, so two other teams who had been eliminated were allowed to rejoin the race.

Chicago Med

8 p.m. on WXIA

Goodwin (S. Epatha Merker-son) assigns the hospital's new compliance officer to a patient with a long-haul COVID condition in the new episode "All the Things That Could Have Been." Meanwhile, Maggie (Marlyne Barrett) helps Will (Nick Gehl-fuss) treat a patient who has been confined to an iron lung for 60 years. Elsewhere, Stevie (Kristen Hager) learns some hard truths about her mother, and Terrell (guest star Jerod Haynes) returns to Med under dire circumstances.

DC's Legends of Tomorrow

8 p.m. on WUPA

In the Season 7 finale, "Knocked Down, Knocked Up," the Legends understandably are disappointed and hurt by the actions of Gideon (Amy Pemberton), but Gideon is horrified when Al Gideon tells her about Gary (Adam Tsekhman).

Marine veteran Laurent "L.T." Therivel became president and CEO of USCellular less than a year before he undertook his undercover mission in this new episode, which he hopes will tell him how his new strategies to grow the brand are going. To get the intel he needs, Therivel will be making customer outreach calls offering some of USCellular's latest deals, as well as discovering what obstacles may stand in the way of delivering "high speed" customer service.

An investigation into a group of former government-sponsored assassins known collectively as "The Conglomerate" (also the title of this new episode) becomes far more complicated when the Task Force team discovers one of their own may have covert ties to the group. Meanwhile, Red (James Spader) digs deeper into the events leading up to Liz's death.

In the season finale, "Ghostbusters," a new slate of aspiring magicians performs their best trick in a bid to fool veterans Penn Jillette and Teller, who then must work out how the illusion is done and recreate it. Those who manage to stump the pros win the right to perform with the celebrated duo in their show at the Rio Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas. Tonight's guests include Sean-Paul & Juliana Fay, Disguido, Dr. Scott Kahn and Star Newman. Alyson Hannigan serves as host.

A bingo player who recently won a $60,000 jackpot has decided to use the windfall as the down payment on a home closer to her best friend in Phoenix in the new episode "A Fistful of Friendship." Host David Bromstad joins these lifelong pals as they search for a home that includes a spare room for sleepovers and extra space for entertaining.

Vin Diesel

F9 The Fast Saga

8 p.m. on HBO

“Fast & Furious” action franchise veteran Justin Lin returned to the helm of this 2021 installment, which he also co-wrote with Daniel Casey. The story finds Vin Diesel reprising his familiar role as former criminal turned street racer Dominic Toretto, who comes out of retirement to stop a nefarious plot with grave global implications that is headed by Dom’s younger brother Jakob (John Cena). Jordana Brewster, Michelle Rodriguez, Lucas Black, Helen Mirren and Charlize Theron also return in their roles from earlier “Fast” films.

Tootsie

8 p.m. on TCM

An out-of-work actor (Dustin Hoffman), desperate for a job, poses as a woman and gets a role on a daytime soap opera. But he finds it difficult to keep up the charade, especially when he falls in love with a co-star (Jessica Lange). Teri Garr, Bill Murray, Dabney Coleman and Charles Durning also star.

World’s Funniest Animals

9 p.m. on WUPA

Host Elizabeth Stanton welcomes actor Jayson Blair (“Good Trouble”) as her special guest for a new episode that features clips of such animals as perplexed penguins, outlandish owls, leering lizards and a Husky who enjoys playing hide-and-seek.

tonight's PICKS

Kandi Burruss-Tucker

The Courtship
8 p.m. on WXIA
If someone produced a period adaptation of “The Bachelor-ette,” it might look something like this reality dating series, which was developed under the working title “Pride & Prejudice: An Experiment in Romance.” This unconventional social experiment revolves around a heroine looking to find her dream duke, so she is transported to a Regency-style English setting, where a series of hopeful male suitors pay court to her in a castle. That courtship involves carriage rides, archery lessons and communicating via hand-written letters.

The Circus: Inside the Greatest Political Show on Earth

8 p.m. on SHOW
Co-hosts John Heilemann, Mark McKinnon, Alex Wagner and Jennifer Palmieri hit the ground running as this Emmy-nominated docuseries opens Season 7, which will run for eight episodes, take a hiatus, then return in the fall for the back eight shows. Among the main stories to be covered is the 2022 midterm elections. Voting in November not only will decide whether the Democrats will retain control of Congress, but also the fate of President Joe Biden’s agenda, which seems to have stalled after a robust beginning in 2021.

Kandi & The Gang
9 p.m. on BRAVO

At Kandi Burruss-Tucker’s OLG restaurant in Atlanta, the dishes never disappoint and neither does the drama. This new reality series follows Kandi (“The Real Housewives of Atlanta”), her husband Todd and the “Old Lady Gang” behind the scenes at their famed hot spot, where they dish up delicious soul food that has customers lining up, served by the colorful cast of characters who work there.

tonight's PICKS

Brian Kleinschmidt

100 Day Dream Home

8 p.m. on HGTV

After weathering more than a decade of hurricane seasons, a family is tired of having to evacuate from their small rental every year when a storm threatens. Happily, hosts Brian and Mika Kleinschmidt are raring to get them to safer ground, but dealing with the couple's opposing style requests is definitely going to keep Mika on her toes in the new episode "Hurricane Safe Haven."

NCIS

9 p.m. on WGCL

During an investigation into what caused the death of a reservist Navy SEAL surgeon, the team is forced to bring in Kayla Vance (guest star Naomi Grace) — daughter of NCIS Director Leon Vance (Rocky Carroll) — to assist with a highly dangerous mission in the new episode "First Steps." Antonio Jaramillo, Ronald Auguste and Galadriel Stineman also guest star; David McCallum appears in his recurring role as Dr. "Ducky" Mallard.

History's Greatest Mysteries

9 p.m. on HIST

Host Lawrence Fishburne introduces viewers to "The Dyatlov Pass Incident," an infamous unsolved case from the Cold War Era in which nine hikers were found grotesquely mutilated on a remote mountain slope. The site has been dubbed "Russia's Area 51" and for more than 60 years authorities and amateurs alike have been trying to figure out what happened.

The Gilded Age

9 p.m. on HBO

As New York buzzes about Thomas Edison's electricity demonstrations, Bertha (Carrie Coon) plans a picnic that involves Mr. Raikes (Thomas Cocquerel) ... but not Marian (Louisa Jacobson). An increasingly worried Agnes (Christine Baranski) entreats her headstrong niece to protect the family's reputation. Elsewhere, George (Morgan Spector), bristling over son Larry's (Harry Richardson) career ambitions, prepares for a legal battle. Elsewhere, the scheming Turner (Kelley Curran) gets an unwelcome surprise. Cynthia Nixon also stars in the new episode "Irresistible Change."

tonight's PICKS

Renée Zellweger

American Auto
8 p.m. on WXIA
This new sitcom from “Superstore” creator Justin Spitzer drew strong praise from critics, but is still trying to find the audience it deserves. With hopes for a second season still up in the air, this wickedly funny workplace comedy wraps its freshman season with “Profile,” which finds the Payne Motors team scrambling to do pre-emptive damage control as their gaffe-prone boss, Katherine (Ana Gasteyer), films a segment for a TV newsmagazine. Harriet Dyer, Michael Benjamin Washington, Tye White, Humphrey Ker and Jon Barinholtz also star.

Grand Crew
8:30 p.m. on WXIA
This new vino-centric NBC sitcom closes out its freshman season with a finale called “Wine & Art,” which finds Wyatt (Justin Cunningham) asking Sherm (Carl Tart) to sit as his subject after the former unexpectedly gets into an art show. Meanwhile, Nicky (Nicole Byer) has some advice for Noah (Echo Kellum), who can’t sense whether Simone (Ashleigh Morghan) is ready to take another step in their relationship. Elsewhere, Fay (Grasie Mercedes) shows Anthony (Aaron Jennings) some dance moves.

The Thing About Pam
10:01 p.m. on WXIA
Renée Zellweger makes her network television debut in the title role of this new limited series, on which she also serves as an executive producer. The story chronicles the true-crime saga of Betsy Faria’s (Katy Mixon, “American Housewife”) brutal 2011 murder, a crime for which her husband, Russ (Glenn Fleshler), initially was convicted. That conviction eventually was overturned, however, as a chain of events exposed a diabolical scheme involving a criminal, Pam Hupp (Zellweger). Josh Duhamel, Judy Greer and Sean Bridgers also star.

Why some Olympic reporters were in Beijing and others not

Q: How was it decided who would go to Beijing to cover the Winter Olympics for the networks? – Josh Daly, via email

A: The American network handling the overall televising of the Winter Games, NBC, ultimately made a decision to keep most of its broadcasters at its Connecticut base of operations given the status of the coronavirus pandemic – and particularly the Omicron variant. However, main host Mike Tirico was on location in Beijing, as were “Today’s” Craig Melvin and reporters including Stephanie Gosk, Steve Patterson and Janis Mackey Frayer. (Though Savannah Guthrie was Tirico’s co-host for the opening ceremony, she accomplished that from the U.S.) ABC News sent the London-based Maggie Rulli to China to lead its reports on the Olympics. Jamie Yuccas had the same duty for CBS News’ various platforms ... and most of the on-site correspondents worked inside a “bubble” designed to protect their health while they were at the Games. One story by Rulli memorably detailed all of the rigorous checkpoints she had to go through to enter the country.

Savannah Guthrie

Q: Is the Judy Geeson who was in “To Sir, With Love” with Sidney Poitier the same Judy Geeson who played Paul and Jamie’s neighbor on “Mad About You”? – Cindy Sharp, Norman, Okla.

A: It is indeed the same actress. Geeson had gotten her first major role on the television serial “The Newcomers” in her native England before her 1967 part opposite Poitier as rebellious student Pamela Dare launched her to international fame. As the years went on, she mixed movie and TV work regularly, also working in stage stints with the Royal Shakespeare Company. She moved from London to Los Angeles in the mid-1980s, and she picked up the “Mad About You” gig – in which she and Jim Piddock played spouses – a few years after that.

To complete this puzzle, place the numbers 1-9 in the empty cells, so that every row, column and 3-by-3 box (in bold outline) contains all nine digits.

Each number 1-9 may appear only once in each row, column and 3-by-3 box.

celebrityquotes

“One of the things I’m looking forward to is being in the ‘squad room’ and suddenly, some wonderful actor I’ve admired my entire life will walk in. The pool of actors New York has to pull from is so exciting to me.” – Camryn Manheim of “Law & Order” on NBC

“It’s the human spirit and what we are capable of doing ... or what we are capable of doing to each other, how we are capable of finding our way around it in some way. But I’m the actor playing it. It wasn’t my story in that sense.” – Erica Durance, seen recently in “Girl in the Shed: The Kidnapping of Abby Hernandez” on Lifetime
