One-act play team celebrates county success in arts

By GABRIEL STOVALL
gstovall@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — It was hard for Samia Jones and the other members of Newton High’s one-act play team to hold their excitement. The all-girl team of five actresses, along with coach and Newton’s theatre instructor Amita Lee, sat with baited breath as judges began calling off the names of schools and where they placed during the Region 4-AAAAAAA championships last month. The anxiety reached fever pitch levels after the second place school was named because the group from Newton knew this was their last chance to hear their name called. At this point, it was either all or nothing. “They were handing out awards and calling where everybody placed, and I was just so anxious and nervous, but I was also happy all at once,” Jones said. “It was almost as if time stopped when they called their show and turned to us.” “A Song for Coretta” was the show’s title — a story that focused on five Black women, all representing different ages and generations, who came to pay respect to Coretta Scott King, the late wife of slain civil rights activist Martin Luther King, Jr. Though the one-act play team is considered a Georgia High School Association activity — just as football, basketball or any sport — and though the team is grouped into the same region alignment as the school’s sports teams, competition in one-act play world looks very different. “It’s not like sports where you compete multiple times against those teams in your region throughout the course of a season,” said Lee who’s in her fourth year teaching and coaching at Newton. “We have one formal competition, and that’s the region championship. There’s only one. And it’s pretty much all or nothing. If you win, you go to state. If you don’t finish first at region, you’re pretty much done.” Alainah Jackson didn’t want to be done. “Last year, it was my first time going to the competition, and it was just crushing to go and not win because that’s everybody’s ultimate goal,” Jackson said. “That kind of lit a fire in me to really push myself as an actress to go out and win it the next year.” That explains why, when

Judge allows site grading to continue

Residents had sought restraining order

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

MADISON, Ga. — A Morgan County Superior Court judge has denied some residents' request to stop grading of land for the planned Rivian electric vehicle plant. Judge Stephen Bradley said in his Friday, Nov. 25, order that any alleged damage that site grading was doing to nearby properties did not amount to a "substantial threat of irreparable injury" and did not justify issuance of a restraining order. Bradley's ruling was in response to a case he heard Nov. 10 in which Morgan residents Edward Clay, Candace Beam, Alan D. Jenkins, A. Felton Jenkins III and Deborah Crowe sought a temporary restraining order to stop Plateau Excavation Inc.'s grading of a portion of the 2,000-acre site near Newton County’s northeast border where Rivian is planning to locate its second U.S. production facility. The residents' attorney, John Christy, asked Bradley Nov. 10 to stop the grading because it was damaging the water and air of the five plaintiffs he represented who live near the site. Attorneys representing Morgan County, the state government and the Joint Development Authority (JDA) of Jasper, Morgan, Newton and Walton counties told Bradley at the same hearing that the grading work must continue to meet Rivian’s construction schedule and allow the state to meet its

Christmas parades set for Friday night, Saturday

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

Christmas parade lovers can choose from Friday night and Saturday morning events this weekend in Newton County. The annual City of Porterdale Christmas Parade is set for Friday, Dec. 2, at 7 p.m., while the 2022 Covington Lions Club Christmas Parade will follow on Saturday, Dec. 3, at 10 a.m. in Covington. Covington parade organizers said they have registered their limit of event participants and are inviting those unable to be part of it to watch it pass through the city's downtown area. "We have great entries with quite a few new faces this year," stated a posting on the Covington Lions Club Facebook page. Meanwhile, the Porterdale event will include the parade along Main Street, opportunities for photos with Santa

Warnock is leading Senate candidate fundraiser in nation

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA - Georgia's overtime U.S. Senate campaign has made Democratic incumbent Sen. Raphael Warnock the leading Senate fundraiser in the nation. The Warnock campaign had raised more than $175 million through Nov. 16, according to a report filed with the Federal Election Commission last week, including more than $52 million just since Oct. 20. That's more than twice the $81 million raised by No.-2 Senate fundraiser Sen. Mark Kelly, D-Ariz., in his successful reelection bid.

Former University of Georgia football great Herschel Walker, Warnock's Republican challenger, was fourth in Senate fundraising as of Nov. 16, having hauled in nearly $59 million, including $21 million since Oct. 20. Warnock received 49.4% of the vote on Election Day three weeks ago to 48.5% for Walker. Since neither candidate got over the 50%-plus-one vote threshold needed to achieve victory under Georgia law, the winner will be decided in a Dec. 6 runoff. Warnock also was well ahead of Walker in the all-important cash-on-hand category. The senator had nearly $30 million remaining in his campaign treasury as of Nov. 16, compared to nearly $10 million for Walker.

With Georgia accounting for two of the top four Senate fundraisers during the 2022 election cycle, Georgians continue to be bombarded with increasingly aggressive negative campaign ads. Both candidates also continue crisscrossing the state at a frenetic pace with the race entering its final week.

legal obligation as part of an incentive package for the company. Bradley ruled Friday, Nov. 25, that "the plaintiffs have failed to carry their burden of showing sufficient grounds for a temporary or preliminary restraining order." He said Clay alleged in the Nov. 10 hearing that the land disturbance activities on the Rivian property contaminated the well on his property from which his household gets its drinking water. "He testified that his swimming pool filter was caked with dust and mud and that his icemaker was filled with brown sediment. He stated that his pool appeared clean, but the backwash is brown when the pool is drained. "The state countered this evidence with expert testimony that, due to the slow movement of groundwater, any current sediment apparent in Mr. Clay's filters could not have derived from the JDA site." Alan Jenkins and Deborah Crowe also would have testified that the "dust, noise, light, impacts upon well water and other interference and intrusions upon such property from the activity on the Rivian property" is lowering Jenkins' property value and preventing him from fencing in cattle he intended to raise on his property, Bradley said in the ruling. "Paragraph 48 of the Complaint alleges that plaintiff Crowe's property has been similarly affected by dust and other particulates which have blown onto the property since the commencement of the land disturbance activities on the Rivian property," the ruling stated. However, Bradley wrote that "requesting this temporary injunctive relief requires the plaintiffs to carry their burden of showing a harm that would be substantial and irreparable."

able." "While they have presented some evidence of harm to their property, that evidence does not rise to the level of a substantial threat of irreparable injury," he wrote. "Moreover, while these may be inconvenient nuisances in the short run and troubling if continued in the future ... The present level of harm is neither significant nor permanent," the ruling stated. "Each of the harms shown can be adjusted or corrected, by definition they are not irreparable. "The only real risk of an unchangeable result seems to arise from the allegation that additional land on the Rivian property will be cleared and graded by the state — the potential loss of wilderness on state property," the ruling stated. "Plaintiffs do not have standing to tell the state how to handle its land. Plaintiffs' role is to identify particularized damage to their own properties and to seek involvement from the court where it is legally available. "There is little evidence of actual damage here. If in the future there is greater indication of loss or damage, this court is confident that plaintiffs will return to address it. At present, however, there is little on plaintiffs' side of the scale." Defendants included Morgan County planning director Chuck Jarrell; members of the Morgan County Board of Commissioners; Morgan County, Georgia; the JDA; and Plateau Excavation Inc., A Monday, Nov. 28, joint statement from the state government and JDA said Bradley's "accurate assessment and ruling is further proof that site development is occurring appropriately and as planned." "It is clear the plaintiffs' only interest is delaying or stopping this project, at seemingly any cost. As Judge Bradley stated, the (temporary restraint order) 'motion is clearly a machination not to redress an irreparable harm, but to stop the construction of the Rivian production plant.' "So, while the close-minded opposition group continues to file frivolous lawsuits and make unsubstantiated claims, we will continue the legally responsible and efficient development of the Rivian site for this generational opportunity to bring good-paying, innovative, American jobs of the future to Georgia." Christy said Monday, Nov. 28, that his clients "brought suit because they are directly impacted by the site work at the property. " "They brought their action to protect their rights," Christy said. He said his clients still will have other chances to intervene in development of the site. Since an Oct. 13 dust storm "which fouled state waters with silt, there have been two other blowouts reported and which Georgia (Environmental Protection Division) is investigating," Christy said. In addition, Christy said a court has not yet ruled on his clients' claim that the Rivian property "is subject to local zoning" rather than being exempt because the state government owns the site. "If the court agrees with our clients that it is (subject to local zoning), then construction of the project cannot continue until the rezoning process is initiated and completed," he said. The California-based automaker has said it will employ up to 7,500 at its planned $3 billion facility on the site straddling the line between Morgan and Walton counties on the north side of I-20.

Porterdale parade participants will line up on Osmundy Street near Osprey Mill. They will turn right and run along West Palmetto Street, turn right on to Main Street and run south through the downtown area, and turn right on Hemlock Street where it will end, according to a map posted on the city's social media. Covington's Lions Club Parade will celebrate the city's Bicentennial with the theme, "200 Years of History, Infinite Possibilities for the Future," organizers said in a brochure posted online. The parade will line up on Newton Drive and move west on the same street beginning at 10 a.m. It will then turn left on Anderson Street; right on Floyd Street; and travel through the Covington Square before turning left on Lee Street, left on Washington/College Street, right on Church Street, left on Conyers Street, and left on Mill Street to return to its starting point. Churches, businesses, dance troupes, civic groups, marching bands, scout troops, sports teams and equestrian units were encouraged to participate before organizers reached their 100-entry limit. One float with a total maximum length of 40 feet was allowed per entry and were required to be decorated in the "spirit of the parade," or "more than just a wreath hanging on the front." Parade rules also state that candy cannot be thrown from floats but walkers in the parade route can give out candy or favors. Awards will be given for Best All-Around Entry for floats "based on holiday spirit, creativity, and construction." First and second place ribbons will be given to best schools, scouts, churches, civic group and business entries. Horse awards will be given for Best Rider Costume, Best Horse Costume, Most Holiday Spirit, and Judge's Choice, organizers said. For more information, www.covingtongalions.org.

Social Circle using grant to add sewer service to city's south side

SOCIAL CIRCLE, Ga. — The city of Social Circle has set a tentative date to begin sewer improvements made possible by a $1 million 2022 Community Development Block Grant the city received in October. The Marco Estates community of southern Social Circle is the area targeted for sewer infrastructure upgrades. A tentative date for advertising bids for construction is set for May 1, 2023, with construction projected to begin on Aug. 1, 2023. “We are honored to have received this award,” Social Circle Mayor David Keener said. “This grant will ensure our residents receive the quality of life they deserve by allowing us to provide improved services.” A kickoff meeting for the project was held on Nov. 7 with the project team and a representative from the Georgia Department of Community Affairs, the agency that oversees the federally funded CDBG program for local governments in Georgia. The city held a public hearing on Nov. 9 so that residents could learn more about the project. The CDBG program assists low- to moderate-income residents through development projects and infrastructure improvements. To qualify for a CDBG grant, cities like Social Circle must have timely audits and complete comprehensive plans, as well as demonstrating an urgent necessity for the proposed community rehabilitation project. The scope of the project will include portions of South Cherokee Road, Marco Drive, Paige Court, Colette Lane and Wildwood Drive. The project is still in the design phase. The city’s consultant, Allen Smith Consulting of Monroe, and the city’s engineering firm, Turnipseed Engineering, assisted city officials in preparing the grant award application in September 2021. The CDBG awards were announced on Sept. 23.

Juvenile Justice commissioner Oliver elected Correctional group's VP

news@covnews.com

The American Correctional Association (ACA) recently announced that Georgia Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) Commissioner Tyrone Oliver was elected as ACA’s next Vice President. Oliver will be sworn into the voluntary post during the ACA’s Winter Meeting in January 2023.

Tyrone Oliver

“I am honored and humbled to be elected Vice President of the American Correctional Association,” said Oliver. “I look forward to working with various local, state, and international leaders to help improve the corrections profession in Georgia and worldwide.” Oliver began his law enforcement career in 1999 as a detention officer with the Newton County Sheriff’s Office. He rose up the ranks over 14 years before he was one of the first to be hired for the Brookhaven Police Department in 2013 when the new city was formed. Oliver worked for Brookhaven for three years before he was named chief of police for the city of Social Circle in 2016. Gov. Brian Kemp appointed Oliver in 2019 to lead DJJ. The ACA is the oldest association developed specifically for practitioners in the correctional profession. The association’s standards are considered the national benchmark for the effective operation of correctional systems throughout the United States. In his role as vice president, Oliver will serve on the ACA

Executive Committee and have general administrative duties under the president’s direction. In addition, six other Georgia DJJ employees won positions during the ACA General Election to serve on various boards and committees. Those employees include: • Latera M. Davis, director of Professional Development and Standards, elected to the Board of Governors; • Pamela Hill, deputy commissioner of Secure Facilities, elected to the Commission on Accreditation for Corrections and the Delegate Assembly.

Walker, Warnock clash over character, competence

By REBECCA GRAPEVINE
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — Georgians get one more chance to decide whether they want to return Democratic U.S. Sen. Raphael Warnock to Washington or replace him with Republican Herschel Walker in the upcoming Senate runoff. With each candidate’s policy positions already established as the race enters the final stretch, the candidates are trying to best each other on character and competence. They are crisscrossing the state to encourage voters to return to the polls — “one more time,” as Warnock’s campaign slogan puts it. And they are blitzing state airwaves with campaign ads. Warnock has staked his claim for re-election in the populist steps he has taken in Washington to help Georgians. For example, he frequently touts his votes for caps on Medicare out-of-pocket costs and insulin in the Inflation Reduction Act Congress passed earlier this year. Warnock continues to call for full Medicaid expansion in Georgia which, he argues, would help bolster the state’s hospital infrastructure and improve rural health care. Warnock also points to his ability to work across the aisle as evidence of his bipartisanship. At a recent campaign stop in Macon, he noted his work with Republican Sen. Ted Cruz of Texas on getting an expansion of the Interstate 14 corridor in Middle Georgia priority status in last year’s infrastructure bill. (That has not, however, stopped Cruz from attacking Warnock on Twitter recently.) “I have been very focused on Middle Georgia,” Warnock said. “Smaller rural communities and small businesses are the strength of the Georgia economy.” Walker has sought to tie Warnock to President Joe Biden and blame the Democratic duo for high inflation and crime rates. “Y’all seen the drugs coming into this country because they want to leave the border wide open?” Walker said recently to a crowd in Cobb County. Walker often emphasizes what he considers the problems with “woke” social policies. A recent ad features Walker sitting next to Riley Gaines, a female college swimming champion. GLAAD, a national LGBTQ advocacy organization, called for Walker to remove the ad when it started running just one day after a shooting at an LGBTQ club in Colorado Springs, Colo. that killed five people. Walker also opposes abortion. While he indicated earlier that he opposes all abortions, with no exceptions for the life of the mother or in the case of rape or incest, during the debate this fall, Walker said he supports Georgia’s “heartbeat law,” which bans most abortions after about six weeks but includes exceptions for rape and incest. He has denied media reports that he paid for an ex-girlfriend’s abortion and encouraged her to have a second abortion.

Glad to be back at the dinner table

There is one constant in the life of a journalist: if you want to guarantee they'll cover your event, feed them. We reporters are ALWAYS hungry and we will go out of our way to attend events if they promise even the hint of food, whether it be a carefully catered dinner or just a box of donuts off to the side for grazing attendees.

Such instincts are why I first started going every year to the annual meeting of the Walton County Soil and Water Conservation District.

The meeting location has shifted once or twice, but the spread is generally about the same — a generous dinner plate filled with barbecue and baked beans and chased down with a dessert bowl of banana pudding.

Now that's good eating. (Especially this year, when Stripling's provided the food. There's good, and then there's Stripling's, which I'm pretty sure is what every other barbecue place wants to be when it grows up). I kept going, however, year in and year out, not just for the food (thought it always helped, let's be honest), but because I was always impressed with the district's activities.

They send kids to college, build gardens at local schools, help local farmers improve their land and maintain the area's agricultural footprint, all while making it look far easier than I'm sure it ever could be.

We are lucky to have the Conservation District here working to improve our community, believe me.

So it was with dismay I greeted the last two years' vacancy on the calendar when meeting time came around. Due to COVID-19 restrictions and social distancing fears, the district canceled its annual meeting in both 2019 and 2020. Of course, the district remained busy. They awarded their Conservationist of the Year title in both years, and I happily went out to take pictures and write up the winners both times, even without the promise of food.

Still, there was something missing without the district's annual meeting — seeing the slideshow of the year's accomplishments, seeing a table filled with denim jacket-wearing teens from all the local high school and middle school FFA chapters and, yes, eating all that good food while enjoying good company.

So, it was with great pleasure I received my invitation to this year's meeting as it resumed in 2022 for the first time since COVID first derailed everything. And the meeting delivered. They hadn't missed a beat and the meeting went off without a hitch. Everyone was there. The district celebrated its best.

And, yes, the food was excellent. If anything, after two years of absence, it tasted better than ever.

Are we seeing the end of legal racial discrimination?

For more than 50 years, our country has been engaged in systemic discrimination against the nation's most despised racial group, whites. Recently, the Supreme Court heard cases challenging legal race discrimination in a pair of lawsuits brought against Harvard and the University of North Carolina for their "affirmative action" policies.

Despite the oft-repeated claim that affirmative action "hurts black people the most," for the past half-century, it's whites who've been bringing lawsuit after lawsuit for being rejected — solely because of their race — from universities (not to mention jobs, promotions, government contracts, scholarships, executive suites, homecoming queens, etc.).

In response, the Supreme Court announced this fundamental principal of constitutional law: Could you guys try hiding what you're doing a little better?

That's why the current cases have the legal world abuzz. Could this finally be the end of rank prejudice masquerading as virtue? This time, you see, the plaintiffs are Asian.

The switch from white to Asian has important legal implications. To be sure, with their high SAT scores and low crime rates, Asians are "white adjacent" and therefore also kinda hated. But at least they're not white.

Thus, the attorney challenging Harvard's race discrimination couldn't say enough good things about "diversity"! The petitioners, you see, have another, better plan that will admit a boatload of Asians while preserving "diversity's" life-giving force. Indeed, the lawyer boasted that the Asians' plan would also "lower the number of white students on campus."

This wasn't a passing aside. Oh no, it was the heart and soul of his argument. E.g.:

— "[Under our plan] the number of white students would decrease. The number of Asian students would increase. The number of Hispanic students would increase. I think you'd see lots of benefits in that."

— "Asians should be getting into Harvard more than whites."

— "[California has eliminated racial preferences, and] whites are the third most represented group on campus." See? Everybody's a winner!

Oh yeah, except whites. Seriously — what on Earth? Even our putative allies, Asians, want to sidle up to their enemies by joining the anti-white zeitgeist? Is it now part of the citizenship oath to hate white people? I hereby declare that I renounce all allegiance to any foreign state, and that I will defend the United States of America against all enemies, ESPECIALLY WHITE MEN — THEY'RE THE WORST!

(That the plaintiffs are Asian has also permitted formerly comatose conservatives to come out swinging against affirmative action. Oh, the poor Asians!)

Sorry, Asians, but you're a little late to the game. Universities have been explicitly discriminating against whites since at least 1970. Only recently have there been enough Asians living in the U.S. to merit their own special race hatred.

As we know from the Bakke case, the Medical School of the University of California at Davis began discriminating against white Americans in 1970 and admitting less qualified "minorities," specifically "Blacks," "Chicanos," "American Indians" — and "Asians." (There was also a separate track for "disadvantaged" white applicants, but no one was ever admitted under it.)

Below are Allan Bakke's scores compared to average scores of minority admittees that same year:

|--------------------|------|------|
| Science GPA | 3.44 | 2.62 |
| Overall GPA | 3.46 | 2.88 |
| MCAT Verbal: | 96 | 46 |
| MCAT Quantitative: | 94 | 24 |
| MCAT Science: | 97 | 35 |

Terrific scores, right? But Bakke was white, so he got a big, fat "F" on the most important test. He was rejected.

Twice, in fact. He took his case to the Supreme Court, and the justices ordered U-Cal Davis to admit him, while admonishing universities to stop being so obvious about their anti-white racial animus.

To this day, whites are discriminated against in college admissions more than Asians are. Not at the tiny sliver of upper-tier colleges, like Harvard. Just at all the rest of them.

This was demonstrated in 2019 study that you may not have heard about, inasmuch as it was placed in a lead casket, wrapped in chains and dropped to the bottom of the ocean. Paid for with a grant from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation — presumably hoping to unearth some heretofore unheralded example of racism — Georgetown University researchers examined the races and SAT/ACT scores of students at the nation's 200 most selective colleges.

Study conclusion: If students were admitted solely on the basis of their test scores, the white student population would soar from 197,000 to 225,000. Every other ethnic group's numbers would fall. Asians would decline from

Let's get serious about saving lives

Six years ago my city experienced the most tragic event in the history of its school bus transportation, when six Woodmore Elementary students died in a bus crash, and dozens of others were injured.

The 24-year old bus driver was later convicted on charges of criminally negligent homicide and reckless aggravated assault. In the aftermath, school officials and the bus transportation companies pledged to step up safety measures. We are now seeing the results of those improvements.

Among the most significant is a driver tracking system. Now, every driver is monitored. The programs are called Mobile Manager, and Driver Score.

If a bus is being driven too fast or in a reckless manner, "Headquarters" gets the alert. The transportation manager told me, "I can pull a speed report, and see the exact block and the exact speed. So if there's a bus speeding on a certain road at a certain time, I can zoom in and see the bus, and see how fast they are going."

From sudden braking, to quick acceleration, to speeding, officials don't have to wait for a parent or student complaint. It's visible in real time, and recorded permanently on the app. What once may have been considered an invasion of privacy has improved the skills of every bus driver.

The drivers have peace of mind knowing that if they haven't done anything wrong, the video and data will prove it. In fact, many use the constant monitoring to prove they're obeying the law. It's almost a competition for bragging rights. Their scores are posted internally, and they all want to be five-star drivers.

Now in its second year, the statistics show the program is working. Accidents are down 40 percent, and complaints from other motorists are down as well. When safety rules are broken, there are consequences. Bus drivers who repeatedly fail to comply are identified and replaced. "We may have other positions for them, but some people are just not meant to be bus drivers," the manager told me.

There is no doubt among the bus transportation supervisors that the monitoring program is improving safety, and saving lives. When drivers are observed having difficulty merging into traffic, braking smoothly, or adjusting to a reduced speed zone, they are coached much like an athlete who can't field a ground ball. Eventually, they do their job better.

Knowing that similar technology is affordable and available for almost all of us on the highways, I am amazed that insurance companies and law enforcement agencies haven't put this to good use.

As close as our smartphone, is a surefire way to reduce auto accidents and prevent a considerable amount of fatalities.

when Newton’s name was called as Region champs, it was Jackson, a sophomore, who sprinted toward the stage to claim the trophy. Jackson wasn’t far behind.

“All I can say is, there was a video — I don’t remember who recorded it — but all you could see was my hair running behind Alainah to meet her on stage,” Jones said. “I was up on that stage. I was holding her. The lights were hitting me, and everybody was crying because it was a lot for me to take in at the moment.”

One member of the team wasn’t as surprised at the victory. Senior Mariah Beattie, winner of the Region Actor of the Year award, said she was thrilled but not at all shocked.

“When we won first place, I wasn’t really smiling all like that because I knew we were gonna get first place,” Beattie said. “I knew we had put in the work to make it happen.”

So did Jackson.

“We knew that, as a cast, we had done everything we needed to do to win,” Jackson said. “When we were all sitting there, and this other school got second place, we were like, ‘We got it. We got it. We got it.’ We even knew on the ride there, ‘We have it. We have it. We have it.’”

Even Lee, who had once thought winning a region title was nothing more than a pipe dream, seemed to have a different feeling about this one.

“It’s not often that you get such a dedicated group,” Less said. “Sometimes when we’re practicing and running lines, I’m like, ‘they’re not gonna be ready. We might as well just back out.’ But they were constantly surprising me. The night before we went to region, when they did the show, I’m watching it be this flowing, magical thing with the audience. And it just made me think of all the work we put in to win.

“I knew they had the potential, and I know we were all drained and tired, but that night, they brought it. It made all the time and effort worth while.”

The win punched Newton’s ticket to state championship competition last weekend at Jackson County High School in Jefferson. There, the Rams competed against stalwart programs such as Lambert which won state for the third time in the last five years. But the experience was still a reward for the investment.

One-act play involves the skill of taking a full show and cutting it down to a 55-minute performance. Each team must execute everything from stage setup, the actually show itself and then the take-down process without going over that 55-minute timeframe.

“If you’re over by just one second, you’re disqualified,” Lee said.

Her Rams selected “A Song for Coretta” after failing to find the right cast fit for their originally planned performance.

“I came into this year wanting to do Steel Magnolias,” Lee said. “I just knew that was it. But when we couldn’t cast it because we couldn’t find enough girls that could do it, it kind of sent us scrambling.”

Lee stumbled upon “A Song for Coretta” for the first time, and felt like it was the perfect fit for the makeup of her team.

“I’m so thankful it was the one we did, because of what it is,” she said. “We’re a majority African American school, and one of my goals is to help our team see themselves in the stuff they do. That’s why this was so perfect.”

Both Jones and Jackson found significant personal meaning in the play, both for the reasons Lee mentioned, and other reasons more germane to their individual circumstances.

“I was so happy to win as a team, but in the process, I also felt like I proved something to myself,” Jones said.

“When I was little, I never wanted to tell anybody that acting and the arts was what I wanted to do with my life. When someone asked me what I wanted to do when I grow up, I gave the generic answers of being a doctor or a dentist because it never occurred to me that I could have pride to admit that I want a career in the fine arts. So when we won, it was like healing a part of my inner child.”

For Jackson, her character, Mona Lisa, depicted a woman struggling to find footing as a Hurricane Katrina survivor. That hit home to her specifically.

“I was a survivor of Hurricane Katrina,” Jackson said. “My mother was a survivor of Hurricane Katrina. So to live out that character, and to share my lines with my mom, I understood those lines. We had lived it personally.”

Both Jones and Jackson felt particular satisfaction about being able to tell a story through drama that depicted something near and dear to their heritage, but also showing their peers that success in the arts can happen for them.

“Being a Black woman, it’s hard because you feel like you’re very overshadowed,” Jones said. “It’s hard to break into work like this. It’s complicated and a lot goes into it, but when I got into it and saw other people like me with these similar interests, it gave me energy and made me thing, ‘Wow. We can do this together.’”

Said Jackson: “To do this, especially as a predominantly African American School, for them to see a powerful play about a powerful Black woman and other Black women who shared struggles with each other, I think it just says so much to so many people.”

For Lee, it says specifically that hard work pays off. Preparation for region competition begins right when school starts in August. From then through the end of October, Lee usually gets to Newton before 8 a.m. for eight hours of teaching, and then doesn’t leave until 10 p.m. most nights.

“If I’m walking out of the school at 9 p.m., I’m like, ‘Oh, wow. We’re getting done early,’” she said.

To a person, each member of the team describes the work as a sacrifice. So much so that Beattie almost didn’t agree to participate this year.

“When I came to school in August, I said I didn’t want to do this show by any means,” she said. “I came in last year, we did the show. It was a hustle-and-a-half. I said I was going to be chillin’ my senior year. No stress. I’m not doing it. But you see where we are now.”

It became so serious for Beattie that she even got her 9-year old brother Michael involved.

“He comes in and runs lines with us and just does anything to help,” Lee said. “He’s our biggest fan.”

“I think this is something I might like to do when I get to high school,” Michael said.

And that, perhaps, is a big reason why Beattie nor her team has any regrets. In fact, this year’s performance bolstered a sense of county-wide pride for the arts, as Jackson celebrated the fact that Alcovy High’s one-act play team also won the champion in Region 3-AAAAAA, punching its ticket to the Class AAAAAA finals.

She’s hoping that the recent success will encourage more people to see the success that can be had for high school students in the arts.

“We come from a county that appreciates arts, but we also come from a very sports driven county,” Jackson said.

“So for two schools from this county to be able to achieve on such a high level in the same year, it just shows a lot. For us, I think it shows that this department means something for us.

“We want to make a name for it. We want to see this grow for us, for our school and our county as a whole. We want to put ourselves in the same running and level of importance as sports.”

Lady Rams are playoff bound

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — A strong finish by the Newton girls flag football team to end the regular season stamped the Lady Rams’ ticket to the postseason.

Head coach D’Angelo Smith was extremely proud of what his team accomplished.

“It feels awesome heading into the playoffs,” Smith said. “Making the playoffs every season is the expectation. Hopefully, this is the beginning of something that will grow into a winning tradition.”

This marks the second time of the past three seasons Newton has accomplished this feat.

And, on top of that, the Lady Rams celebrated at home on their senior night.

On Nov. 17, Newton hosted a regular season finale doubleheader. It downed Area 7-Division 2 opponents Salem and Stockbridge 13-0 and 2-0, respectively.

Nov. 17’s victories earned the Lady Rams the fourth spot in the area with a 4-3 overall record coupled with a 3-3 record in area play.

Two of Newton’s losses came on the road this season.

To kick off the season on Oct. 10, the Lady Rams traveled to Heritage High School in Conyers and suffered a 18-0 defeat. Then, a week later, they lost 12-6 at Rockdale County.

But the Lady Rams seemed to play better on their own field with a 4-1 home record.

They swept Union Grove 6-0 and 2-0, respectively, in both of their meetings. Then, Nov. 19’s result ensued.

Seniors Talia Washington and Abriel Delphin anchored the defense down. Most of the offensive production this year came from Savannah Massey and Gerielle Dumervil along with sophomore quarterback Tiara Moody.

Smith is hopeful that the future is bright for the program, too.

Now, coming off a regular season finale sweep, the Lady Rams will look to end the road troubles in the state playoffs. In the first round of the state playoffs on Nov. 29, the Lady Rams will travel to Evans of Augusta (8-1, 7-1 Area 8-Division 2) on Tuesday with game time yet to be determined.

Smith highlighted what the Lady Rams need to do to exit Augusta with a win.

“We will have to execute offensively, minimize turnovers and pull flags,” Smith said. “I believe the girls are prepared to bring home a win.”

And, even though Smith recognized Nov. 29’s game will be a battle, he believes this won’t be the last people see of the Lady Rams in the postseason.

“This is my first year being the head coach,” Smith said. “But you can expect us to make the playoffs for years to come.”

sive rebounds, a full court press and, a byproduct of the press, was transition points off turnovers.

Specifically, at the 3:33 mark of the fourth quarter, Luv Llwellyn had offensive rebounds on back-to-back possessions that she cashed in. Then, Janae Hutcherson either stole the ball from a Lady Eagle to begin a fast break or was open under the net to convert the wide-open layup.

One time, Hutcherson did both. With 3:12 left in the game, she ripped the ball from the arms of an Eastside player at the top of the key and rushed down the court to score a layup that gave the Lady Tigers a 41-28 cushion.

Lady Eagles head coach Gladys King could be heard at times during the game, “it works when we run it.” Afterward, King elaborated that she was referring to her team’s game plan to attack Alcovy’s full court press.

“[Our players] weren’t doing the press break that we worked on yesterday but, when we did it, it worked,” King said. “But when they decide to do their own thing and try to dribble through the press, it’s not going to work. And when you stop doing the things your coach tells you to do, that’s what happens.”

Even though the Lady Eagles came out on the losing end of this one, they came out of the gate with a 12-2 advantage at the end of the first. During that stretch and into the second quarter, the Lady Tigers only converted two field goals with 10 of their 14 first half points coming courtesy of the free-throw line.

On the other hand, Eastside missed 19 free throws from the charity line coupled with 27 turnovers.

Alcovy players’ abilities to make the most of their free throws seemed to help keep the Lady Tigers in the game early on. But, in the second half, the Lady Tigers’ capitalization of extra possessions was enough to secure the win.

Numerous players made their presence known in this latest rivalry matchup.

Aysia Spivey of Eastside was the only player to score double digit points for either team with 11.

Jailyn Williams had two three-pointers to give her six points and Kaeli Kracht had five.

Now, coming off its first loss of 2022, 2-1 Eastside will return home to face Ola on Saturday in another non-region matchup.

King stressed how important it is for the Lady Eagles to play as a team and to learn from Tuesday’s result moving forward.

“We’ve been balanced all year,” King said. “I’m looking for a one-man show that scores all the points. I want us to be where we have multiple players that are scoring, because it makes it harder for our opponents.”

Hutcherson led all Lady Tiger scorers with nine points, while Llwellyn had eight and Kaila Fallen finished with seven. Tajah Jackson and Josalyn Branch contributed six points apiece.

The Lady Tigers remain perfect at 3-0, as a result of the win. And they will prepare for their Region 3-AAAAAA opener next Tuesday against Jonesboro at home.

Hunter believes that, despite the unblemished mark so far, his team can still improve.

“In any sport, there’s going to be highs and lows,” Hunter said. “Whether you’re up or down, you have to maintain a consistency of being mentally locked in and willing to execute. We bent today, but we didn’t break.”

the Eagles’ lead go to six points.

After that, the Eagles put together a strong stretch to rebuild the lead off a suffocating full-court defense as well as capitalizing on opportunities down low to score more points.

Alcovy head coach Mack Hardwick expressed his desire to see his team play with more purpose, especially given the fact that Tuesday was an in-county matchup.

“They are supposed to play with more passion with this being a county rival,” Hardwick said. “There’s more for them to understand that they need to play with intensity in any game, but even more so a rivalry game. For whatever reason, today they only played with intensity in spurts.”

The Tigers had three players score double digit points to assist with the valiant effort.

Nick Durham had a team-high 13 points while Kendarrius Spear and Andre Jernigan each had 10 points. Jernigan’s final tally featured two three-pointers as well.

Following back-to-back close losses to Locust Grove and Clarke Central, the Tigers fell to 0-3 with Tuesday’s final result. Alcovy will look to rebound next Tuesday at home when Region 3-AAAAAA opponent Jonesboro comes to town.

Hardwick pointed to his team’s youth as something to build off of heading into their region opener.

“We have two freshmen out there who are learning the game and they’re doing an amazing job,” Hardwick said. “We have kids who need to work on both sides of the ball. We have kids who are really good defensively, but hurt offensively. And vice versa. We just have to see some consistency on a nightly basis.”

The Rams’ junior varsity football team isn’t the only athletic squad Massey is a part of at Newton.

She’s been a three-year starter for the girls’ varsity soccer team with her senior season upcoming and has played for the girls’ flag football team the past two seasons as well. Massey has played soccer in general for 12 years.

She believes her background in soccer was beneficial to her success on the gridiron.

“Soccer helped a lot with how powerful my kicks are,” Massey said. “The best part of being on the teams at Newton is to show how competitive I can be and also getting close with the other girls means a lot.”

Massey is on track to graduate from Newton High School in May. She’s not planning to graduate from sports, though.

Massey plans to major in sports medicine and play sports throughout college. But, before she leaves Newton in six months, Massey hopes girls who may look up to her take away one lesson.

“Be yourself,” she said. “Do not put on a fake personality to impress people. Go for it and have fun with it.”

Alcovy and Eastside players battle for possession of the ball in the second half of Tuesday's contest won by the Lady Tigers, 45-32.

Lady Tigers' late push downs Eastside Lady Eagles

COVINGTON, Ga. — Alcovy and Eastside girls basketball found itself in a tug of war scratching and clawing for every point, possession and advantage it could grab. A late scoring run by the Alcovy Lady Tigers allowed them to pull away from the Eastside Lady Eagles to earn a 45-32 win on Nov. 22 at The Eagles' Nest.

Alcovy's head coach Justin Hunter credited his team's defensive game plan as the difference maker down the stretch.

"We really executed on the defensive end by giving pressure to our full court man," Hunter said. "That helped give us some easy buckets to help with the push there at the end."

Eastside Eagles withstand Alcovy comeback, beat Tigers 68-53

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Throughout Tuesday's in-county rivalry matchup between Alcovy and Eastside, there were stretches where the Tigers' offense seemed primed to mount a comeback. But each time, the Eagles' defense stifled any chance Alcovy had.

Therefore, Eastside walked away with a 68-53 win.

Eagles head coach Dorrian Randolph credited a halftime adjustment as the proponent of keeping Alcovy's offense at bay in critical moments.

"We realized at halftime that when we had our second group in there, that we had to pull back on defense," Randolph said. "The ego in me wants to press all game, but the realist in me knows that's not possible. So, we settled into our half court set and got some stops."

In the latter part of the game, the Tigers trailed by nearly 20 points, but that didn't cause them to stop battling.

Massey hopes to serve as inspiration as a football kicker

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Savannah Massey was inspired by her cousin who was a member of her school's football team.

With that inspiration, and her 12-year soccer passion, Massey decided to try out for the Newton Rams football team for her senior year.

Once the tryouts were over, Massey made the junior varsity squad as the team's starting kicker. Now, Massey believes she can relay the inspiration to future Newton County girls who see her play in a male dominated sport.

"I hope other little girls go for what they want no matter what stands in their way," Massey said.

"They can do anything they put their mind to. I think I could be an example because I know there are girls out there who would love to be able to do what I do."

Making the cut on Newton's football team had crossed her mind before her senior year, but it wasn't until this year she made her mind up to pursue it.

Since then, Massey has enjoyed the experience.

"I wanted to do this because it was a great way to meet new people, and I knew I had what it took to do it," Massey said.

During her senior season, Massey connected on three field goals in one contest.

According to Massey, that moment was like none other, and it reminded her why she wanted to try out for the team in the first place.

"Seeing everybody cheer for me was amazing," Massey said. "The best part

Jobless rate at 3.4%

Newton above statewide rate, below nation

By TOM SPIGOLON

COVINGTON, Ga. — Newton County unemployment increased to 3.4% in October — up 0.5% from September as more residents entered the job market and more were classified as jobless.

The county’s October unemployment also was higher than the statewide and Metro Atlanta rates of 2.9% but lower than the national rate of 3.7%, according to information from the Georgia Department of Labor.

Thirty-nine fewer Newton County residents had jobs while 243 more residents were listed as unemployed as more Newton County residents made themselves available for work, the labor department reported.

The county’s labor force — the total of all county residents either employed or making themselves available for employment — increased by 204 from 54,587 to 54,791.

Newton County’s October jobless rate was below the same month of 2021 (3.6%).

All counties contiguous to Newton had lower October jobless rates except Rockdale, which also was at 3.4%. The rates ranged from Henry at 3.1% to Jasper at 2.5%.

Initial claims by Newton residents for jobless benefits totaled 205 in October, down 18% from 251 in September.

Georgia Labor Commissioner Mark Butler said that all regions of the state recorded a rise in unemployment rates in October.

“Job seekers have continued to experience a favorable hiring environment across multiple job sectors, despite a slight uptick in unemployment rates,” Butler said in a news release.

“As we prepare for peak holiday hiring, we encourage job seekers to take advantage of the many employment opportunities, both full-time and part-time, available across Georgia.”

Georgia’s October rate was 0.1% higher than the previous month but was half a percent lower than last year’s October rate. Additionally, job numbers reached another all-time high, increasing by 3,700 from September.

“Although Georgia’s unemployment rate went up slightly from September, the rate of job creation still far exceeds those in the workforce looking for employment,” Butler said. “We must continue to encourage jobseekers to join the workforce and take advantage of the incredible job opportunities we are seeing.”

Job numbers increased 3,700 from September to October to an all-time high of 4.8 million. Job gains included opportunities in Arts, Entertainment and Recreation, 1,600, Finance and Insurance, 1,500, Local Government, 1,400, Health Care and Social Assistance, 1,200, and Professional, Scientific, and Technical Services, 800. Job numbers were at an all-time high in Financial Activities, 272,200, and in Education and Health Services, 637,600.

The sectors with the most over-the-year job gains included Accommodation and Food Services, 31,400, Health Care and Social Assistance, 23,900, Administrative and Support Services, 22,900, Professional, Scientific, and Technical Services, 19,800, Wholesale Trade, 16,500, and Transportation and Warehousing, 14,900.

Second supplier named for new Hyundai plant

By DAVE WILLIAMS
Capitol Beat News Service

ATLANTA — The new Hyundai electric vehicle manufacturing plant being built in Bryan County is continuing to pay dividends for Georgia and the coastal region.

Hyundai Mobis, one of the world’s largest automotive suppliers, will invest $926 million in an EV Power Electric system plant in Bryan County that will eventually create at least 1,500 jobs, Gov. Brian Kemp announced last week.

Hyundai Mobis is the second EV supplier to unveil plans to set up shop near the Hyundai EV plant since the Korean automaker broke ground on the $5.5 billion project late last month. Auto parts manufacturer Joon Georgia announced Nov. 7 it will invest $317 million in a new manufacturing plant in Bulloch County that will create 630 jobs, making it the first confirmed supplier for the new Hyundai EV plant.

“When we celebrated the groundbreaking of Hyundai’s new electric vehicle and battery manufacturing facility in Bryan County, we knew it would unleash transformational job creation and investment in that entire region of our state,” Kemp said. “As we announce the second supplier in just two weeks to locate in that area, we’re excited to see their impact on the surrounding communities and the growing list of other job creators that will soon follow.”

The EV Power Electric system plant will expand Hyundai Mobis’ footprint in Georgia. Hyundai Mobis has operated a manufacturing facility with about 1,200 employees in West Point since 2009 as a supplier to the nearby Kia plant.

“Hyundai Mobis’ investment project in Bryan County reflects an acceleration in the development of the EV supply chain in Georgia’s auto industry,” said H.S. Oh, vice president of Hyundai Mobis’ Electric Powertrain Business Unit. “We’re going to be a major production player in the EV market, and that’s going to trigger more growth within the sector.”

Construction on the 1.2 million-square-foot Hyundai Mobis plant in Richmond Hill is expected to start as early as January, with production due to begin in 2024.

The Georgia Department of Economic Development worked on the Hyundai Mobis project in partnership with the Development Authority of Bryan County, the Georgia Ports Authority, Georgia Power and the Technical College System of Georgia’s Quick Start program.

Small Business

Five reasons to shop at local businesses compared to big box

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
news@covnews.com

The importance of small businesses to the economy cannot be overstated. Though national chains often garner publicity, local businesses are equally, if not exceedingly, worthy of attention.

What defines a small business as “small” varies significantly, but these businesses are generally privately owned and generate far less revenue than big corporations.

General consensus also defines small businesses as companies with fewer than 500 paid employees, according to the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Here’s a deep look at why small businesses are so vital, and why consumers should direct more of their purchasing power to smaller companies rather than the big box retailers and other national chains.

1. Autonomy and diversity

The layout and offerings at national chains will be identical whether you live in the mountains or at the beach. Big box stores follow a consistent marketing strategy and look the same regardless of where they are located. That familiarity can come at the cost of variety.

On the other hand, an independent business offers the products and services that are reflective of the customers and the community they serve.

2. Local hiring strategy

Certain big box retailers will hire local residents, but hiring policies may push for promoting from within the organization.

This could mean relocating an employee rather than bringing in someone from the community who may be more in tune with local sensibilities. Small businesses may be more inclined to hire residents they know and keep hiring centralized to the local area — something that keeps more resources and money in the community.

3. Adaptability and change

Local businesses can move more quickly to respond to economic factors that require change. Since they are focused more on the needs of their customers rather than stockholders, changes can be implemented rapidly without having to go through red tape, meetings and updates to corporate policies.

Changes also can be customized to the local community at large.

4. Investing in the town

According to the financial resource Financial Slot, shopping at locally owned businesses rather than big box retailers keeps more money in the community.

Local property taxes and other taxes paid by the businesses go right back into the community. This helps raise overall value for homeowners and can even reduce their taxes. The funding helps keep police, fire and school departments functioning properly.

5. Turnover is greater

While no one wants to see a small business fail, that fate is sometimes unavoidable.

However, that turnover helps teach communities what was done poorly and helps others learn from those mistakes. It also means fresh businesses will come in and replace the old, driving new growth, opportunity and competition that keeps prices competitive.

The benefits of a thriving small business sector are numerous. Consumers can do their part by patronizing these firms more frequently.

BY JAY BOBBIN

Tom Everett Scott is among the stars of "Dolly Parton's Mountain Magic Christmas" Thursday on NBC.

Dolly Parton brings a 'Mountain Magic Christmas' to NBC

Music has played a big part in Tom Everett Scott's acting career, and thanks to Dolly Parton, that's continuing.

Well-known for his first major role, as the drummer for The Wonders, the fictional '60s pop group in "That Thing You Do!" – the 1996 movie written and directed by co-star Tom Hanks – Scott plays Parton's real-life producing partner Sam Haskell in NBC's new film "Dolly Parton's Mountain Magic Christmas" Thursday, Dec. 1. Clearly inspired by Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," the tale finds the country superstar on a journey through her personal past (guided by "Three Wise Mountain Men") while making a holiday television special at her Dollywood resort.

"I've never played someone who was right there on the set watching me before," the friendly Scott says, reporting that it ultimately was "a totally positive thing. (Haskell) is the greatest guy. He and I first got to know each other over Zoom, and he could not have been more supportive."

Jimmy Fallon, Willie Nelson, Billy Ray Cyrus, Jimmie Allen, Zach Williams and Miley Cyrus make guest appearances in the story, which also features "Saturday Night Live" alum Ana Gasteyer. An executive producer of the project as well, Parton keeps it a family affair by also including her young grand-nephew Liam Rauhoff, who portrays himself, in the cast.

"I have always loved and been a huge fan of Dolly Parton," Scott maintains, "and I was honored to be able to work with her. She's everything that everybody wonders and hopes she is, and more. I just had a great experience, and I miss it. I miss my Tennessee 'family.'"

Scott also enjoyed the show-within-a-show concept that "Dolly Parton's Mountain Magic Christmas" follows. "The whole 'putting on a show' thing is such a big part of being in show business," he reasons. "Learning the little things Sam goes through, his mannerisms when he's stressed out, I liked that. Also, with this being about Christmas, you think of things like 'White Christmas' (which also was, in large part, about the making of a TV special)."

While "That Thing You Do!" would seem to be a popular film among those in the music business, Scott still isn't positive she knew him from that: "It never came up, but she probably knows it, if she knows me and knows that was a big movie for me."

Besides that picture's Hanks, Scott has worked with such other icons as Meryl Streep (in "One True Thing") and Diane Keaton ("Because I Said So"), and he also was in the Oscar-winning "La La Land." He reflects, "It's been a wonderful career, and I certainly hope to keep it going, and to work with more of the greats."

90th Annual Christmas in Rockefeller Center

8 p.m. on WXIA

Grab your eggnog and a piece of pie as NBC heralds the arrival of everything seasonal with a dazzling display of musical talents, star-studded surprises and the lighting of the world's most famous Christmas tree. This year's 82-foot tall Norway Spruce — hailing from Queensbury, New York — will glow with 50,000 led lights and a gleaming Swarovski star. "Today" co-anchors Savannah Guthrie, Hoda Kotb, Al Roker and Craig Melvin will host.

DC's Stargirl

8 p.m. on WUPA

As the team devises a plan to deal with yet another threat, Sylvester (Joel McHale) takes matters into his own hands and leaves Courtney (Brec Bassinger), Pat (Luke Wilson) and the JSA fearing for what comes next in the new episode "Frenemies — Chapter Twelve: The Last Will and Testament of Sylvester Pemberton." Amy Smart, Yvette Monreal, Anjelika Washington, Cameron Gellman and Hunter Sansone also star.

Love Without Borders

9 p.m. on BRAVO

This series premiere follows American singles who have struck out at love in the U.S. We watch as they travel to unknown overseas destinations to be paired with their "perfect" life partner, all while saying goodbye to their jobs, homes, and families just to see if global matchmakers can find their person.

Kelly Clarkson Presents: When Christmas Comes Around

10 p.m. on WXIA

Kelly Clarkson freely admits she's a complete Christmas junkie, going so far as to feature a recurring segment called "Ambush Christmas" on her syndicated daytime talk show. The Grammy- and Emmy-winning music superstar celebrates the release of her 2021 holiday album with this festive special featuring new original songs as well as iconic yuletide classics.

Dolly Parton's Magic Christmas

8 p.m. on WXIA

This modern-day movie musical about the making of a network TV holiday special follows the frenetic backstage story and charming on-camera results of Dolly Parton's desire to uplift the world's spirits by sharing the "mountain magic" she has always found in and around Dollywood at Christmas. Through production numbers and rehearsal chaos, Dolly finds herself taking a private journey into her past, guided by the mysterious appearances of her personal Three Wise Men in this new special. Willie Nelson, Miley Cyrus and Jimmy Fallon guest star.

Flip or Flop: The Final Flip

8 p.m. on HGTV

For their final flip together, former spouses Tarek El Moussa and Christina Hall go big when they purchase a costly property near the beach with plans to convert it from a duplex to a single-family home. The pair will contend with layout issues, permit delays, mounting costs and the uncertainties of working with a new contractor to create a gorgeous property with a coastal contemporary design and amazing views of the water in this new hourlong special. They'll also take a fun look back at the important house flipping lessons they've learned.

The Wall

10 p.m. on WXIA

What will it take to guarantee you a very happy holiday? Up to $12 million is not a bad start. From executive producer and NBA superstar LeBron James comes this special holiday-themed episode of NBC's heart-stopping game hosted by Chris Hardwick. With more than $12 million on the line every night — and up to $3 million on a single drop, you may want to check your list twice.

Shannon Chan-Kent
A Big Fat Family Christmas
8 p.m. on HALL
Liv (Shannon Chan-Kent) is a photojournalist eager to make it on her own. To get a dream assignment — shooting the Chang family’s annual holiday party for a cover story — she doesn’t reveal that they are in fact, her family. When she finds herself growing close to Henry (Shannon Kook), the coworker covering the story with her, she wants to confide in him but doesn’t want to jeopardize her big break in this 2022 romance. Tia Carrere and Jack Wagner also star.

Cloudy With a Chance of Christmas
8 p.m. on LIFE
Bridget Torres (Valery Ortiz) is a prominent national news weather forecaster visiting a town where Christmas traditions are legendary. This year, Bridget has been asked by her network to announce a special “snow-cast” at the annual Christmas Eve festival. But Bridget’s plans to shine are foiled when Drake Kincaid (Brandon Quinn), a talk show host from her network, arrives to join her. Drake refused to hire Bridget as his co-host for their morning show a year earlier, making tensions high in this 2022 TV romance.

It’s Beginning to Look a Lot Like Murder
8 p.m. on LMN
In the middle of preparing for her business’ biggest season, Diana Hart (Cristine Prosperi) learns that she has inherited an old house from her beloved aunt. Matt (Travis Burns), the estate attorney and her former flame, insists she stick around and sort out the details over Christmas break as he tries to rekindle their old romance. But the longer Diana stays, the more she finds clues that suggest her aunt was murdered, and that the culprit might be her handsome companion in this 2022 mystery.

"Ghislaine Maxwell: Filthy Rich"

From directors Maiken Baird ("Venus and Serena") and Lisa Bryant ("Jeffrey Epstein: Filthy Rich") comes this feature-length documentary that goes beyond the headlines of the Ghislaine Maxwell case to tell the story of Jeffrey Epstein's mysterious accomplice, illuminating how her class and privilege concealed her predatory nature. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: My Name Is Vendetta"

From Italy and director Cosimo Gomez ("Ugly Nasty People") comes this crime actioner about a former mafia enforcer and his feisty daughter who flee to Milan, where they plot their revenge against the thugs who killed their family. Alessandro Gassmann ("Transporter 2"), Remo Girone ("Heaven"), Marcello Mazzarella ("Biagio") and Ginevra Francesconi ("The Nest") head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Scrooge: A Christmas Carol"

From director Stephen Donnelly ("Monster High: Welcome to Monster High") comes this supernatural, time-traveling, musical adaptation of Charles Dickens's classic holiday tale that boasts a talented cast headed by Jessie Buckley, Luke Evans, Olivia Colman and Jonathan Pryce. (ORIGINAL)

"Firefly Lane"

The issue that ended the 30-year friendship of Tully and Kate (Katherine Heigl, Sarah Chalke) is revealed in this dramedy series' sophomore round, which also finds Kate grappling with the painful aftermath of Johnny's (Ben Lawson) ill-fated trip to Iraq and Tully facing a lawsuit after walking away from her talk show. What's Available NOW On

“Willow” (Nov. 30)

This sequel series picks up years after the events of George Lucas' 1988 fantasy-adventure feature with the Nelwyn sorcerer returning to lead a group of misfit heroes on a perilous rescue mission through a world beyond imagination. Warwick Davis reprises his titular role in a cast with Kathleen Kennedy, Michelle Rejwan, Jonathan Kasdan and Tommy Harper. (ORIGINAL)

“The Guardians of the Galaxy Holiday Special” (Available now)

From Marvel Studios comes this seasonal offering that finds the Guardians, who are on a mission to make Christmas unforgettable for Quill, head to Earth in search of the perfect present. The impressive cast includes Chris Pratt, Dave Bautista, Karen Gillan, Vin Diesel, Bradley Cooper, Michael Rooker and Kevin Bacon. (ORIGINAL)

“Mickey Saves Christmas” (Available now)

This stop-motion holiday special finds Mickey, Minnie and the gang attempting to celebrate the perfect Christmas at their snowy cabin. But when Pluto causes Santa to lose all the presents on his sleigh, the friends venture to the North Pole on a mission to save Christmas and find its true meaning. (ORIGINAL)

“The Hip Hop Nutcracker” (Available now)

Rev Run brings audiences on a hip-hop reimaging of “The Nutcracker” ballet, which is set in New York City and follows Maria-Clara's (Caché Melvin) holiday adventure to bring her parents back together, finding help along the way. Allison Holker Boss, Stephen “Twitch” Boss and Comfort Fedoke also star; dancers Mikhail Baryshnikov, Tiler Peck and KidaTheGreat are also featured.

celebrity q&a

BY GEORGE DICKIE

Lauren Lyle

OF ‘KAREN PIRIE’ ON BRITBOX

How good are you at solving mysteries?

I got quite good. I did have when I was preparing, Emer (Kenny, the series' writer and executive producer) and I would be in constant contact around the case. And there are always so many lines of suspicion that go on. And in my flat I did have a lot of time like a wall of the case I'd pin up. I'd have like huge sheets of paper to try and trace what was going on. So it was actually like following a case the whole time because you've always got to be aware. Always, every day it was – we wouldn't always shoot in sync, so I'd have to be aware of who Karen was in suspicion of here or who she actually trusted here and what the lines were that were going on.

Does putting on that fanny pack and those boots help you to get into that character? How do you feel about fanny packs?

The fanny pack, love that you're calling it a fanny pack; we call it a bum bag. But fanny in Scotland means something quite different there. ... And I didn't want to have something carrying around with files so I suggested the bum bag almost as a joke, and then I think everyone actually quite liked it. ... Wearing Doc Martens, I've been doing “Outlander” for a long time ... and having to wear corsets and huge skirts, and so to get a chance to be in a pair of Doc Martens and march around, it really gives you the character.

tonight's PICKS

Ryan Paevey

A Fabled Holiday
8 p.m. on HALL
Is it a coincidence that the holidays fall at the perfect time each year? Talia (Brooke D'Orsay) and her childhood best friend Anderson (Ryan Paevey) unexpectedly reunite in a curiously familiar looking town full of Christmas spirit that restores its visitors when they need it most in this 2022 romance. Other stars include Rochelle Greenwood, Jake Guy, Daphne Hoskins, John Prowse and Benjamin Jacobson.

A New Orleans Noel
8 p.m. on LIFE
Grace Hill (Keshia Knight Pulliam) and Anthony Brown (Brad James) went to college to study architecture together, but their lives took them on completely separate paths. But when they're both hired to work together on the home of Loretta Brown (Patti LaBelle) — a New Orleans praline icon — the two find themselves stuck working together at Christmas and butting heads over more than just architecture.

The Great Holiday Bake War
9 p.m. on OWN
When former pastry school rivals Julian (Finesse Mitchell) and Brianna (LeToya Luckett) meet years later in a TV baking competition, the sparks — and the flour — fly. Each has their own plans for the winning prize money, but only one can win — unless they work together.

The Waltons' Homecoming

8 p.m. on WUPA

Commemorating the 1971 premiere of "The Homecoming: A Christmas Story," the TV movie that launched the long-running drama series "The Waltons," this 2021 remake of that Depression-era story takes place on Christmas Eve 1933, as a heavy winter storm threatens to keep patriarch John Walton Sr. (Ben Lawson) from getting home to wife Olivia (Bellamy Young) and his large family. Logan Shroyer ("This Is Us") plays eldest son John-Boy; Marcelle LeBlanc, Christian Finlayson, Tatum Matthews and Samuel Goergen co-star; Richard Thomas narrates.

His Dark Materials

9 p.m. on HBO

The long-awaited eight-episode Season 3 premiere is finally here with two back-to-back episodes. Based on "The Amber Spyglass," the final novel in Philip Pullman's award-winning trilogy, the epic fantasy series follows Lyra (Dafne Keen), the prophesied child, and Will (Amir Wilson), the bearer of The Subtle Knife, as they journey to a dark place from which no one has ever returned. As her father's great war against the Authority edges closer, they will learn that saving the world comes at a terrible price.

That's My Jam

10 p.m. on WXIA

Jimmy Fallon hosts a holiday-themed special episode of the hit music and variety series with "Saturday Night Live" fan-favorite cast members Fred Armisen, Rachel Dratch, Ana Gasteyer and Melissa Villase-nor. They compete for charity in a night of festive music-based games, performances and musical impressions. It's the perfect way to celebrate the season with joyful performances and holiday versions of new and beloved games inspired by "The Tonight Show."

Celebrity Wheel of Fortune

8 p.m. on WSB
This one-hour special holiday episode titled “Sasheer Zamata, Jack Black and Kal Penn,” finds hosts Pat Sajak and Vanna White taking a star-studded spin on America’s Game by welcoming the aforementioned celebrities to spin the world’s most famous Wheel and solve puzzles for a chance to win more than $1 million for the celebrities’ charity of choice. It looks like it will be a very happy holiday for some lucky charities.

The Winchesters
8 p.m. on WUPA
Things heat up as Mary (Meg Donnelly) and John (Drake Rodger) find trails that lead back to their fathers. Then Carlos (JoJo Fleites) helps Mary investigate where the Akrida might be hiding but they discover more than they bargained for. Meanwhile, Millie (Bianca Kajlich) steps in to help Latika (Nida Khurshid), Ada (Demetria McKinney), and John decipher notes left behind, and they stumble upon a way to get some answers in the new episode “Reflections.”

Bering Sea Gold
8 p.m. on DISC
The rivalry between the Shawn Pomrenke, Nome’s “Mr. Gold,” and Reaper Nation captain Kris Kelly comes to a head in the season premiere episode “The Empire Strikes Back.” With his massive new excavator dredge, Kris attempts to go toe-to-toe with Shawn by encroaching on his mining grounds at Tomcod. The two Captains become locked in an epic dredge vs. dredge turf war that escalates to an unforgettable knock-down-drag-out showdown at the dock.

People’s Choice Awards
9 p.m. on WXIA
Sure, the other awards shows get all the attention, but none of them speak for the people like this year’s new special which features the nominees and winners in the categories of movies, television, music and pop culture. From “Bullet Train” to “House of Dragon” to Bad Bunny, this is where the People’s voices are heard. Will your favorites win? Kenan Thompson hosts.

Where will 'Charlie Brown' be for the holidays?

Q: Will "A Charlie Brown Christmas" be on again this year? – Pam Trainer, Antioch, Calif.

A: Yes, but possibly not where you're used to seeing it. Since Apple TV+ acquired rights to "Peanuts" specials, it had an agreement with PBS for the latter to broadcast the big holiday shows in addition to the streaming run. That deal has expired, though, so the specials are exclusive to the streaming outlet now ... but the good news is that Apple TV+ is enabling anyone to watch "A Charlie Brown Christmas" for free between Dec. 23 and Dec. 25.

Q: With the cancellation of "DC's Stargirl," is there a chance that it will be picked up by another network? – Jamie Carr, via email

A: As mentioned in an earlier column in regard to "Nancy Drew," another CW series that apparently is coming to its end, no other network or streaming service had stepped in to become a new home for the show at the time this article was written. That's not to say it couldn't still happen, but that likely would have to occur before the contracts for "Stargirl" title star Brec Bassinger and the other regular cast members expire. It could be costly to renegotiate those, which certainly is widely acknowledged and understood in the current climate for scripted series. Initially, "Stargirl" had the extra benefit of also running on the DC Universe streaming platform, which now exists only as an entity for digital comic books. Its programming was folded into HBO Max at the start of 2021, and while that might seem a logical place for "Stargirl" to continue, there's been considerable belt-tightening there in budget terms lately.
