Industrial growth continues

City celebrates start of construction for Ashley Capital development

By TAYLOR BECK

tbeck@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — City officials and developers gathered Thursday, Sept. 9, in Covington to break ground on a potentially 167-acre development project by Ashley Capital.

Located off Hazelbrand Road, Ashley Capital intends to construct up to four industrial buildings to anchor Covington Logistics Park.

Mayor Steve Horton said he believed the development would greatly benefit the city and county on many different levels.

"I think this is a great opportunity for the city," he said. "Something we've talked about is having a low percentage of Class A industrial space. There's really not been a lot of opportunity for businesses to locate or expand here. By the time it's all said and done, I believe this will be in the ballpark of around 1.7 million square feet of industrial space."

Horton also believed the development would attract industries that would cultivate many jobs that are considered essential and high-paying.

"You know, something worth noting, too, is Ashley Capital chose this community and chose to be partners with us," he said. "I really appreciate them for doing that, because they certainly didn't have to. And I think that speaks well for this

Richard Cameron “Rick” Arrington

Caldwell & Cowan
Funeral Home

Richard Cameron “Rick” Arrington, of Charlotte, NC, passed away Tuesday, September 7, 2021, at the age of 74. Rick attended Myers Park High School in Charlotte, NC, where he played baseball, basketball, and football. Rick was named All State in both baseball and football his Junior and Senior years, and as a Senior was named to the All-American Football Team as a Quarterback. While at Myers Park High School he also served as President of Young Life.

Rick attended the University of Georgia on a football scholarship where he played under Head Coach Vince Dooley his freshman and sophomore seasons. He then transferred to the University of Tulsa in Oklahoma on a football scholarship and graduated from Tulsa with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Physical Education.

Upon graduation, Rick received a contract from the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, where he played most of his professional football career before being sidelined with multiple knee injuries.

Rick returned to Georgia to raise his family after his football career. He and his wife Mary Jane attended Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church in Conyers, GA, where they led a youth group on Sunday evenings. While living in Conyers, Rick entered the business world and built and ran several businesses. He fed his love for sports on the golf course most days, playing in many golf tournaments all his life. His competitive nature had found a home in golf, replacing football. He would play or practice many days until the sun set where he became a scratch golfer.

Rick coached his two daughters on softball teams for many years with much success, and both went on to play on their college tennis teams. His daughter Joy earned a full athletic scholarship like her dad. His daughter Tiffany (aka Jill) went on to have a successful television sportscasting career. He loved working with young kids, knowing they are the future. Rick wanted to build character and confidence, as well as athletic ability, not only in his own daughters but also in all the young people he coached. He had a unique way with inspiring kids, little did they know they were learning life lessons while having fun. Rick loved his two daughters and three granddaughters and always said he would not trade them for a Super Bowl team of boys. But the greatest love of his life will always be his wife, Mary Jane.

Surviving Rick are his loving wife, Mary Jane (Odum) Arrington, of Covington, GA; daughters, Joy Arrington Fanning, Tiffany Arrington; granddaughters, Dakota Fanning, Elle Fanning, Presley Panaro; sisters, Susan Arrington Seacord and husband of Charlotte, NC, Lisa Arrington Simmerman and husband of Knoxville, TN; nieces, Brandon Seacord Bray, Erica Seacord, Kristy Simmerman Roper; nephew, Richard Simmerman.

The family of Rick wishes to extend their sincere appreciation to all the special people in Rick’s life who made him happy, fulfilled, cared for, and complete. Thank you all for loving Rick’s colorful personality as much as they did.

A graveside ceremony honoring Rick was held Sunday, September 12, 2021, 2:00 P.M., at Southview Cemetery in Covington, GA, with the Reverend Dr. Douglas Gilreath officiating.

community.” Horton said he felt the biggest reason Covington was chosen by Ashley Capital for such a project was not only for the sizable land and optimal location, but the “demand is ripe for it.”

Serra P. Hall, who is executive director of the Newton County Industrial Development Authority, concurred with Horton’s comments.

“The Ashley Capital development is an outstanding addition to Covington/Newton County,” Hall said. “We are in need of new buildings for our current inventory mix and Ashley Capital has brought their expertise to the table. Newton County has seen tremendous business interest during the 2020-2021 year. The commitment by the Ashley Capital team is one for recognition. This is a big project that will have a major impact on jobs and support for our current companies. The Newton County Industrial Development Authority is thrilled about the city's groundbreaking event and we look forward to the future with Ashley Capital.”

Construction of the first building, expected to be 322,560 square feet, is now underway and is anticipated to be completed by spring 2022, per site plans from Ashley Capital. It will include 68 dock spaces, 65 trailer spaces and 192 car spaces.

Specifications for a proposed second building would be 698,880 square-feet with 160 dock spaces, 182 trailer spaces and 321 car spaces.

Both buildings would set on a 100 acre site. There are two options for how the remaining 67 acres would be utilized, per Ashley Capital’s site plans.

Option A involves the construction of two separate buildings, one measuring 302,400 square feet and the other 411,264 square feet. There would be a combined total of 178 dock spaces, 207 trailer spaces and 364 car spaces.

If Option B were chosen, only one 659,680 square-foot building would be constructed. It would have 67 dock spaces with rail, 134 dock spaces without rail, 156 trailer spaces and 400 car spaces.

The 67-acre site is bordered by the CSX main line, which would provide availability for rail services for incoming manufacturers or distributors.

Ashley Capital is one of the largest privately owned industrial real estate investment/development firms in the U.S. Founded in 1984, it currently has offices in several major cities including Atlanta, Chicago, Detroit and more. Ashley Capital’s current portfolio stands at approximately 25 million square-feet with properties concentrated throughout the eastern half of the U.S.

Tom Spigolon news editor

Let's hope this country can unite again

I, like so many others this year, felt compelled to remember where I was and what it felt like on that terrible Tuesday on Sept. 11, 2001.

And with the political and cultural divisions so many feel to be widened in recent years, can we ever get back to the unity that tragedy brought about in this country — even for a brief moment?

Much has been written in recent days about the many calls for returning to those days after 9-11. They were days in which we put politics aside and unified in response to the terrorist attacks on New York and Washington — as well as what would have been a fourth attack with a jetliner thwarted by a few brave passengers who forced a plane down in rural Pennsylvania.

It was a time before President George W. Bush felt the need to finish the job his father started in Iraq a decade earlier and invade two countries.

In fact, we just recently ended that conflict by leaving Afghanistan after 20 years and much loss and damage to our soldiers and the people of that beleaguered country. But that's another story altogether.

Since Bush left office in 2008, we've had two presidents whose actions helped divide us even further Bush departed as an unpopular president whose legacy was cemented by the images of war injuries and destruction in Iraq and Afghanistan.

His successor, Barack Obama, led the country out of the Great Recession but continued the wars in both countries and further divided us with his Affordable Care Act, better known as Obamacare.

This helped lead to Obama's secretary of state, Hillary Clinton, receiving the Democratic nomination for president in 2016 and voters rejecting her in favor of Donald Trump.

Trump, whose leadership style oozed confrontation, social networked his way through four years of the kind of leadership that garnered either high praise or outrage from numerous corners of the country.

That style helped further divide us amid the start and height of a pandemic he blamed on China, and an election loss he blamed unconvincingly on what he said was election fraud.

So it was refreshing, if somewhat surprising, that the president in office on the day of the Sept. 11, 2001, attacks would urge in a veiled way that all citizens of this country, including those from his own Republican Party, reject the message that came out of the Trump White House in his final days in office early this year.

According to CNN, Bush spoke in Shanksville, Pennsylvania, and "used a speech commemorating the 20th anniversary of that terrible day to call out the 'malign force' coursing through the country thanks to the presidency (and post-presidency) of Donald Trump and offered an alternative vision for his party and the country."

Bush spoke at the site where passengers brought down Flight 93 before it could hit a target in Washington.

"In the weeks and months following the 9/11 attacks, I was proud to lead an amazing, resilient, united people. When it comes to the unity of America, those days seem distant from our own. A malign force seems at work in our common life that turns every disagreement into an argument, and every argument into a clash of cultures.

"So much of our politics has become a naked appeal to anger, fear and resentment. That leaves us worried about our nation and our future together."

Bush obviously was referring to Trump, who worked overtime "desperately trying to weaponize that which divides us" and knew that there was power in stoking resentment and anger in white Americans trying to overcome economic barriers inherent in our system.

That resentment led to the riot that was present at the U.S. Capitol Jan. 6 after being fed lies about the election.

Bush was appealing to common good in all of us at a time when Trump is working to make political hay out of a problem his administration began in Afghanistan.

The unity of 9-11 happened less than a year after a bitterly divisive election in 2000 in which Bush was elected by the narrowest of margins.

Bush now says there's another path forward from a similar division in our country. Let's hope he's right.

David Carroll columnist

Readers speak out on 2024 presidential election

Two weeks ago in this space, I asked readers to help find some new faces to lead the presidential tickets in the 2024 election.

"We need a fresh start," I wrote. I expressed concern that a couple of elderly guys, Joe Biden and Donald Trump, are the current front-runners for 2024. I suggested that the leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties find candidates who are focused on the future, rather than deciding whether they should buy green bananas. As expected, your responses covered the entire political spectrum. And, not everyone believes that Biden and Trump are past their prime.

For example, Midge Kennedy wrote, "I think Trump will run again. Biden will not because of his age and mental capacity, and for all the issues that have arisen in the first seven months of his presidency." She continued, "Someone, relatively unheard of, will come out of the shadows for the Democrats, much like Obama did, and will be the phoenix rising out of the ashes created by Biden."

Thomas Jones provides a different view. He writes, "We who will vote for Biden in 2024 are not one bit concerned about his shortcomings, we just don't like Trump one bit!"

An anonymous reader is squarely behind Georgia Rep. Marjorie Taylor Greene. "She's the only one who tells the truth. She will allow real patriots to take our country back!"

Another Georgia politician is the choice of Lara Burton. She writes, "We need a strong leader who has the wisdom to look to the future and make decisions which are good for all people. A uniting force, not a dividing one. Lt. Gov. Geoff Duncan (age 46) is leaving office to try to restore bipartisanship to the search for solutions to the problems facing America. Check this guy out!"

DeLane Haren is hoping Tennessee Republican Senator Marsha Blackburn decides to run. She writes, "She is intelligent, compassionate, determined, unafraid and patriotic. She would try her best to unify the nation. However, she would not sacrifice her personal integrity or beliefs to get that done."

An anonymous reader has a dream ballot with both a Democrat and a Republican in mind: "My wife would like to see a 2024 contest between Democrat Amy Klobuchar and Republican Liz Cheney. She thinks the men have messed things up long enough!"

Also anonymously, a reader has two prominent Democrats in mind: former Virginia governor Terry McAuliffe, and Transportation Secretary Pete Buttigieg. The person writes, "McAuliffe is somewhat of an unknown, but he has qualities that appeal to me in a leader: experience, empathy and a sense of what matters to most people. Buttigieg is a caring, educated man who thinks quickly on his feet."

Most of the respondents favored Republicans, some of whom would be counted on to be a "stand-in" for Trump, should he decide not to run. Florida Governor Ron DeSantis was the most popular choice, with Barbara Snow commenting, "I would vote for him in a New York minute. He has done an excellent job as governor of Florida." Lynn Wilks added, "I really like Gov. DeSantis with Nikki Haley as his running mate!"

Ginny Nickoloff supports former Vice President Mike Pence. "He had good experience under Trump and saw how Trump dealt with our allies as well as enemy countries." Jack Green likes Pence for a different reason: "He's a Christian man who acted honorably during the Capitol riots by doing his duty."

Green also likes Texas Governor Greg Abbott and South Carolina Senator Tim Scott.

Honorable mention choices included former Ohio Governor John Kasich, Trump cabinet member Dr. Ben Carson, Florida Senator Marco Rubio, Nebraska Senator Ben Sasse, former Arizona Senator Jeff Flake, former Secretary of State Mike Pompeo, and House Minority Leader Kevin McCarthy of California.

As for dark horse candidates, one anonymous writer threw my Braves cap into the ring: "David, I would vote for you. You already have years of experience reading from a Teleprompter. The presidential retreat in Maryland is named for you. Plus, the job comes with free government housing! But before I endorse you, I must ask. Have you ever said anything controversial about some hot topic? Have you kissed someone or something inappropriately? Have you ever told an insensitive joke?"

Gee, Mr. Anonymous, lighten up on me! After all, we're only talking about the job of President of the United States. It's not like I'm in the running for something big, like the host of "Jeopardy."

Judging from the division that promises to engulf the 2022 midterm elections, and the turmoil that will surely result, there is only one promise I can make about the likelihood of more negativity in the 2024 presidential campaign: Buckle up. As the great rock star Randy Bachman so famously sang, "You Ain't Seen Nothing Yet."

Fun by the Numbers

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

infield, multiple contributions were made for Eastside to take home the win. Moving forward, their head coach wants them to maintain that attention to detail to keep generating wins.

he’ll never forget. According to McMullen, there were even some things he learned as part of the Newton High School bass fishing team that helped him in New York. But he remained focused on the impact bass fishing has had on his life.

Now, McMullen hopes his success will bring about more bass fishers coming from the Covington area. “Fishing competitively is a new thing for most people,” McMullen said. “I’ve been fishing since I was 5 years old, so it’s in my blood. That’s just what I do. And it’s cool seeing more people get interested in pursuing fishing. The Newton County community has been great in their support for me and I really appreciate that.”

Collegiate Fishing

McMullen places 17th at national championship

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

WADDINGTON, N.Y. — The Emmanuel College Bass Fishing team traveled to New York and competed in the Carhartt Bassmaster College Series National Championship from Aug. 12-14.

It sent four pairs of anglers to compete in the fishing tournament. One angler, in particular, was a Covington native, Taylor McMullen.

Cole Holloway (left) and Taylor McMullen (right) placed 17th overall in the 2021 Carhartt Bassmaster College Series National Championship held Aug. 12-14 way accomplished this while just being freshmen in college.

It was an experience like no other for McMullen.

“There are a lot of people who fish for four years and they never get to compete in that tournament,” McMullen said. “For us to do it our freshmen year was honestly was one of the most amazing experiences I’ve ever had.”

After making a nearly 20-hour drive up to the St. Lawrence River, everyone got the opportunity to practice for three days.

Once the practice period was complete, then the competition began.

Day one of the tournament was more significant to McMullen, too. It would’ve been his grandmother, Wanda McMullen’s birthday. By realizing that, McMullen was more motivated to perform well in the national championship.

Lady Eagles edge past Jackson County

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD

COVINGTON, Ga. — With the score remaining tied since the third inning, Eastside ended up edging out Jackson County 3-1 on Monday in a close region matchup.

It wasn’t until the bottom of the sixth inning when the Lady Eagles were able to get anything consistent going offensively.

Bases were loaded with no outs and the score tied 1-1 when Jada Brown came to the plate. Facing an 0-2 count, Brown connected and sent the ball to right field. The ball barely slipped through the outfielder’s glove and hit the grass.

A. Sauncheagraw and L. Burnett scored from third and second base, respectively.

Even though the Lady Eagles didn’t score any more runs in the inning, Brown’s RBI double was enough to send her team home with a win.

Eagles head coach Heather Wood highlighted how her team adapted to Jackson County’s game plan and strung together hits to set up the scoring opportunity.

“We had a lot of pop ups because of some high pitches, but we made the adjustment and that’s what we need,” Wood said.

Admittedly, Wood stressed how her team needs to alter their approach quicker in a game like that in the future.

Be that as it may, the Lady Eagles still came out on top and improved to 7-1 overall with a 6-1 record in region play.

Monday’s win wouldn’t have been possible without the impressive performance by the Lady Eagles’ defense.

It all started with pitcher D. Johnson. She went seven innings, surrendered five hits, touchdown.

Connor, Anderson, Holder and Spencer Carter each added to the ground game. Anderson and Spencer both reached the end zone.

It was also a strong defensive effort for Piedmont. Connor made five tackles with one for a loss and Welch and Mask both had four defensive stops.

Dalton Wallace, Mark Hicks and Patrick Meadows each had three tackles. Carter (two tackles, one interception), Cole Wade (two tackles) and Tanner (two tackles, one fumble recovery) also contributed defensively.

Mason Owen registered a tackle and a recovered a fumble while Beau Cook, Daniel Joseph and Scott Swann each made a defensive stop.

The Cougars will be on the road this Friday against Robert Toombs Academy in Lyons for a 7:30 p.m. non-region contest. The Crusaders enter the contest 0-3.

Fall flavors shine in a chewy cookie

Root vegetables, roasts and heartier fare are prime cooking ingredients this time of year. In terms of baking, treats spiced with ginger and cinnamon are in demand each fall.

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

Fall is a season of cooler temperatures and changing leaves, and it also marks the return of autumn flavor profiles. Root vegetables, roasts and heartier fare are prime cooking ingredients this time of year. In terms of baking, treats spiced with ginger and cinnamon are in demand each fall.

Carrot cake and oatmeal cookies are familiar favorites this time of year. In this recipe for “Carrot Cake Oatmeal Cookies” from “Live Well Bake Cookies” (Quarto Group) by Danielle Rye, delicious spiced carrot cake is transformed into a soft and chewy cookie.

Carrot Cake Oatmeal Cookies

Makes 22 cookies

Ingredients:
1 cup all-purpose flour, spooned and leveled
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1 1/2 cups old-fashioned rolled oats

1/2 cup (1 stick) unsalted butter, softened
1/2 cup packed light brown sugar
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1 large egg, at room temperature
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
3/4 cup lightly packed freshly grated carrots
1/3 cup raisins
1/3 cup chopped walnuts
Directions:
1. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Line two large baking sheets with parchment paper or silicone baking mats and set aside.
2. In a large mixing bowl, whisk together the flour, baking soda, salt, ground cinnamon, ground nutmeg, and ground ginger until well combined. Stir in the old-fashioned rolled oats and set aside.
3. In the bowl of a stand mixer fitted with the paddle attachment or in a large mixing bowl using a handheld mixer, beat the butter, brown sugar and granulated sugar together for 1 to 2 minutes, or until well combined.

4. Mix in the egg and vanilla extract until fully combined, making sure to stop and scrape down the sides of the bowl as needed.
5. Mix in the dry ingredients until just combined, then fold in the grated carrots, raisins and chopped walnuts until fully incorporated.
6. Using a 1 1/2-tablespoon cookie scoop, scoop the cookie dough onto the prepared baking sheets, making sure to leave a little room between each one. Gently press each ball of cookie dough down to slightly flatten it.
7. Bake for 12 to 15 minutes, or until the tops of the cookies are set and the edges are lightly browned. Remove from the oven, and allow the cookies to cool on the baking sheets for 5 to 10 minutes, then carefully transfer the cookies to a wire rack to cool completely.
8. Store the cookies in an airtight container at room temperature for up to 3 days.

Savory sandwiches for tailgate fun

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

Fall marks the start of football season. Game day experiences are made even more enjoyable by hosting or attending a tailgate in the parking lot of the stadium.

Tailgate supplies must be brought to the tailgate the day of the game. That includes food, which is often prepared at home and then cooked on-site. This recipe can be prepared at home and then put together at the stadium lot. These delicious sandwiches can be easily cut into small pieces and served as slider-type appetizers.

Ultimate Steak & Mushroom Sandwiches

Makes 4 6-inch sandwiches

Ingredients:
1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pounds rib-eye steak
1 cup Balsamic Herb Dressinade (see below)
1 tablespoon unsalted butter
1 tablespoon olive oil
1 large sweet onion, halved and thinly sliced
1 pint cremini mushrooms, cleaned and sliced
Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepper (optional)
1/2 cup crumbled blue cheese
1 1/2 cups grated provolone cheese
4 6-inch hoagie buns, split
Mayonnaise
Directions:
Place the steak on a small rimmed baking sheet and freeze for 20 minutes so it's firm and partially frozen. Holding a sharp knife on a slight angle, going against the grain of the meat, slice into very thin strips.

In a large resealable bag or a medium bowl, marinate the steak in the Balsamic Herb Dressinade (recipe for dressinade may be found in the online version of this article), or a marinade of your choosing, for 30 minutes.

On a griddle or in a 12-inch cast-iron skillet, melt the butter with the olive oil over medium-high heat. Add the onion, toss and spread out in an even layer. Once the onion starts to soften, add the mushrooms. Cook until soft and slightly caramelized.

Using tongs, remove the steak from the marinade (allow excess to drip back into the bag or bowl) and place on the griddle, toss with the onions and mushrooms, then spread in an even layer. Allow the steak to sear, forming a crust, for 4 to 6 minutes, then flip and cook for 4 to 6 minutes more.

Season with a pinch of salt and pepper, if desired, and sprinkle with the blue cheese and provolone. Turn off the heat on the griddle or remove the skillet from the heat and cover with a domed lid or tented foil to allow the cheese to melt quickly.

Toss one last time so the cheese is mixed throughout. Divide the steak mixture among the crusty hoagie buns. Serve immediately.

BY GEORGE DICKIE

The match between the titled boxer (top) and Sonny Liston is featured in "Muhammad Ali," premiering Sunday on PBS.

Ken Burns profiles 'Muhammad Ali,' boxing champ and cultural icon, on PBS

It's not a stretch to say that Muhammad Ali was one of the most consequential men of the 20th century – in and out of the boxing ring. Consequently, he's getting the Ken Burns treatment in a multi-part documentary upcoming on PBS.

"Muhammad Ali," a four-part, eight-hour documentary produced by Burns ("Baseball," "The Civil War") and airing Sunday through Wednesday, Sept. 19-22 (check local listings), looks at the life of the three-time heavyweight champion, whose lightning speed, agility and smarts thrilled the sport's fans and whose outspokenness and principled stands on human rights, racial and religious biases and the war in Vietnam inspired people around the world and challenged notions of the roles athletes and celebrities play in society.

The film covers all the bases in the life of the man born Cassius Marcellus Clay Jr., from his childhood in Louisville and personal life that included four marriages to his conversion to Islam, his complex relationships with Malcolm X, Elijah Muhammad and the Nation of Islam, his refusal to enter the military during the war, the consequent prison sentence and loss of his first heavyweight title.

And then, of course, there were the rivalries (Sonny Liston, Joe Frazier, George Foreman) and the fights (Rumble in the Jungle, Thrilla in Manila) before his retirement, post-boxing life and death from Parkinson's in 2016.

Along the way, we learn that Ali was a man of many contradictions, one of incredible wit, kindness and generosity who could be exceedingly cruel to opponents he didn't like. And his famous boasts of "I am the greatest" were at times counterbalanced by humility, which he notably exhibited after losing to Frazier in 1971.

"He basically has been bragging about it," Burns explains. "He's been ragging, I think, irresponsibly and inexcusably about Joe Frazier and using the terms that White racists use to describe Black men. And he loses And the next morning, he is completely quiet and silent and self-contained and talking about how everyone has losses. 'I'm here as an example to remind people that the death of a loved one or the loss of a job or a loss of a title is just what life does.'"

"And it might appear to be an opposite of all the braggadocio but the braggadocio ... plus that humility is exactly the same thing. It is communicating to all of the people of the world who feel like everything is stacked against them, particularly people of color."

Burns, who produced the documentary with Stephanie Jenkins and writers/directors Sarah Burns and David McMahon, often talks about his documentary subjects being examples of "history firing on all cylinders." In the case of Ali, he says, this one was "a souped-up engine."

"He's one of the few people from the past that I'd want to hang out with," Burns says. "I think certainly Lincoln, Louis Armstrong and Muhammad Ali. ... He is a kind of uber-American in every sense of the word."

Celebs become videographers in Season 3 of Fuse's 'Made From Scratch'

If Fuse's "Made From Scratch" seems to have taken on a more intimate tone in Season 3, it might be because of the way the eight episodes were shot.

Premiering Wednesday, Sept. 15, the new installments of the half-hour series that follows musical artists in their kitchens as they and kin prepare family recipes were actually shot by the subjects themselves. There were no production crews this time around, a concession to the pandemic, only camera packs and lighting shipped to the celebs' homes with instructions on set-up and use.

According to Jon Scarlett, Fuse Media's vice president of content and a producer on the show, all the artists acquitted themselves quite nicely as their own videographers.

"It worked well with kind of the overall narrative of the show," he explains. "It's not just playing on titles, it's not just about the artist's background and how they're made from scratch or even how the dishes they're creating are made from scratch. But really the show itself is made from scratch in the way that the artists themselves are taking it upon themselves to really produce it and shoot it."

This season, the focus shifts to younger artists as viewers get to go inside the kitchens of pop singer/actress Becky G, singer/songwriter Maria Isabel, rapper Smino, R&B singer Joyce Wrice and singer/songwriter/actress Tinashe, and watch them prepare a dish with a close family member as they let down their guard and reveal how family and food has shaped their identity as people and artists.

"One of the best environments for that is in the kitchen," Scarlett says, "or hanging around the dinner table and having a home-cooked meal with somebody you grew up with. So we were able to lean into that."

"And obviously this show is not a cooking show," he continues. "We're not lifting out recipes and having the audience kind of follow along what they're making. It's more about the interaction and the sharing of anecdotes and stories and really heartfelt conversations around food and dining with a loved one. And that's really what the show is about. More so than just kind of two people in the kitchen cooking, it's really about sharing those intimate moments."

But still, while the emphasis is on family and intimate moments, the recipes prepared in Season 3 will be made available via the "Made From Scratch" web page (www.fuse.tv/shows/made-from-scratch/Pj1MPw0nxc13) and social media for anyone who wants to follow along.

Ayo Edebiri OF 'THE PREMISE' ON FX ON HULU

As a star of the premiere of filmmaker B.J. Novak's anthology series "The Premise" – which casts you and Tracee Ellis Ross as lawyers who deal with a tape that turns out to be something other than it first seems – what was the appeal for you in doing just one episode?

The writing and the script. I come from a comedy background and a writing background, so I was like, "What? Are you sure? Huh? Why? OK. Cool."

It just was so exciting to get the opportunity to work with people who I think are so incredible and talented and geniuses, basically every single one of them, and to work with a script that deals with comedy and drama and these real topics in such a nuanced, kind of tricky way. That challenge was also really exciting to get the opportunity to face. That sounds very dramatic now that I've reached the end of the sentence, but ... yeah.

Between filming scenes, was there a lot of discussion about what your episode of "The Premise" deals with?

There was a lot, and it was very cathartic, I think. I remember after we had our first Zoom table read, we took a beat, and we all just sort of talked about our feelings about the episode from (the standpoints of) us as people and then our characters.

That spirit of just, "Hey, wait a minute, would I say this or could I say this in a different way?" – those conversations kept happening throughout the filming process as well. It felt good and cool and exciting, especially because the topics around that episode specifically are so close and so emotional in a lot of ways, so it was nice to have that open line of communication constantly there.

2021 Creative Arts Emmy Awards

8 p.m. on FXX

Taped during two nights of ceremonies on Sept. 11 and 12 at the Event Deck at L.A. Live in Los Angeles, this combined telecast of highlights features the awarding of Emmys for technical and other similar achievements, as well as guest acting roles on TV productions. Leading the field of nominees this year is the Disney Plus streaming series “The Mandalorian,” which received 19 nominations. This year’s Governors Award, presented each year for outstanding achievement in the arts and sciences or management of television, goes to actress-dancer-director Debbie Allen.

Outgrown

8 p.m. on HGTV

On “Boise Boys,” real-life buddies Luke Caldwell and Clint Robertson showed their viewers the ins and outs of flipping houses. In this spinoff, however, the duo teams up again to help families renovate their existing homes to meet their changing needs over the passage of time. In the series premiere, “Crowded Cottage,” Caldwell and Robertson try to help a couple and their two sons who are fairly bursting out of their 700-square-foot home. The grandparents live next door, though, and they don’t want to lose their years of family history by moving.

A black and white photograph of Ice Cube. He is wearing a dark tuxedo with a bow tie and a white shirt. He is holding a large, ornate Emmy award statue in his right hand, which is raised towards his face. He has a surprised or excited expression on his face, with wide eyes and an open mouth. His left hand is extended forward, palm up, in a gesture. The background is a plain, light-colored wall.

Cedric the Entertainer

73rd Emmy Awards
8 p.m. on WGCL

From the Microsoft Theatre in Los Angeles, Cedric the Entertainer serves as host for in-person ceremonies before a limited audience of Emmy nominees and their guests honoring the best TV programs and performances airing between June 1, 2020, and May 31, 2021. Among this year's field of nominees, Netflix scored the highest level of nods (27) than any other programmer. Another streaming service — Apple TV Plus — also made a splash as home to the comedy series “Joe Lasso,” which earned 13 nominations, more than any other program.

Fantasy Island
8 p.m. on WAGA

In the Season 1 finale, “Día de los Vivos,” Elena Roarke (Roselyn Sanchez) welcomes a young artist named Ramon (guest star Matt Pasqua), who has traveled to this magic destination seeking to resolve some unfinished business with his former mentor, Jasper (guest star Leslie Jordan). For his part, Jasper has lingering misgivings about whether he was a good influence on Ramon during their time together. Kiara Barnes and John Gabriel Rodriguez also star.

The Walking Dead
9 p.m. on AMC

Aaron, Carol, Lydia, and Jerry (Ross Marquand, Melissa McBride, Cassidy McClincy, Cooper Andrews) venture out to the Hilltop ruins, where they hope to acquire some abandoned blacksmith tools and harvest any nearby game in the new episode "Out of the Ashes." Meanwhile, Eugene's (Josh McDermitt) group goes through orientation at the Commonwealth. Elsewhere, Maggie and Negan (Lauren Cohan, Jeffrey Dean Morgan) trudge through the woods together, while Judith (Cailey Fleming) and the kids clash with some teenagers.

BY JAY BOBBIN

The TV path of Andy Samberg

Q: I'm sorry "Brooklyn Nine-Nine" has reached the end of its run. Did Andy Samberg star in any other series after he left "Saturday Night Live"? – Pete Davies, Columbus, Ohio

A: Though he made guest appearances on such shows as "30 Rock," "Portlandia" and "SpongeBob SquarePants" (in voice only, of course) during that one-year interim, Samberg pretty much went right from "SNL" into the police comedy that lasted eight seasons, the first five of those on Fox and the last three on NBC. For that "rescue" after the Fox cancellation, it certainly didn't hurt that the show was made by NBC corporate cousin Universal Television. While he also has made such movies as "Popstar: Never Stop Never Stopping" and the acclaimed "Palm Springs" – both of which he also produced – we'd expect that Samberg will find other home-screen avenues for himself. One that's coming up fairly soon is "Baking It," a Peacock competition series for the holidays that he'll co-host with fellow "SNL" veteran Maya Rudolph.

Q: I find Serinda Swan of "Coroner" very interesting. What other work has she done? – Michael Carr, via e-mail

A: The West Vancouver-born Canadian actress began performing at age five, when she was in the Ted Danson movie comedy "Cousins." Once her career began in earnest about 15 years later, she began booking guest roles on such series as "Supernatural," "Psych," "Smallville" and "Hawaii Five-0." Her first part as a series regular was on "Breakout Kings," then she also was a star of "Graceland" and "Inhumans." Additionally, Swan had recurring roles on "Chicago Fire" and Dwayne Johnson's "Ballers," and she played actress Anne Bancroft in the limited series "Feud: Bette vs. Joan." She has had the lead part on "Coroner," which originated on Canada's CBC Television and has aired on The CW in America, for all of its three seasons to date.

MONROE CITY COUNCIL

City Council wrestles with Moore's Ford

Mayor wants letter and monument after killings of 4 Black people here

FROM STAFF REPORTS

MONROE — One of the nation's great racial tragedies of the 20th century began in the city of Monroe, and the current mayor said he plans to sign a letter acknowledging the pain caused by the Moore's Ford lynching.

Four Black residents of Walton County were killed by a mob on July 26, 1946. Although the deaths occurred several miles outside of town at the Apalachee River, the incident started when they were bailed out of the county jail in downtown Monroe.

Mayor John Howard read a draft of a letter from the city's Diversity Advisory Board at the City Council work session on Sept. 7 and was expected to present a final version Tuesday night at the council's regular monthly meeting.

The letter Howard presented last week didn't offer an apology. Instead, it acknowledged the role of the city and the pain caused to its residents by the racial atrocity.

Howard noted that the murder of George Floyd by a Minneapolis police officer last year led to protests locally and across the nation.

"We have done extremely well with our town, with our growth, with our downtown shops and businesses, but to have people gather en masse to protest — something just didn't set right with me," Howard said.

"One of the things that obviously comes up is the history of a population of our community that has not felt included. After going around for several months, having this dis-

State troopers use PIT maneuver to end chases twice in 2 days

David Clemons
THE WALTON TRIBUNE

State troopers arrested two men after weekend chases that ended with PIT maneuvers.

In both cases, the troopers said they stopped the fleeing vehicles as they approached high-traffic areas.

A 20-year-old Monroe man was arrested and charged with driving under the influence and held on other counts related to a pursuit Saturday morning.

Cpl. Cal Barton of the Georgia State Patrol said Markaves Butts was driving a 2020 Volkswagen Passat eastbound on U.S. 78 when a trooper tried to stop him for allegedly driving 77 mph in a 55 mph zone.

Butts pulled onto Mount Vernon Road and stopped in the parking lot of the Chevron, but when asked for his license, he allegedly

DOWNTOWN MONROE

City to honor its Olympian

Parade, ceremony pay tribute to Javianne Oliver on Saturday

David Clemons
THE WALTON TRIBUNE

MONROE — Walton County will honor its latest Olympian this weekend.

A parade and community celebration are set for Saturday morning to honor Javianne Oliver, a 2013 Monroe Area High School graduate who won a silver medal as part of a U.S. track and field relay team at the Olympics last month in Tokyo.

Starting at 10 a.m. Saturday, a parade in downtown Monroe will honor Oliver, who became the second local woman to medal in the Olympics after Patricia Roberts won silver in basketball with Team USA in 1976.

Supporters of Oliver are invited to line Broad Street between Church Street and Highland Avenue for the parade, then gather on the lawn of the Historic Walton County Courthouse for a presentation and photo opportunities.

Oliver's parents, Jonnifer and Marvin Oliver, still live in the community. They were on hand at watch parties in downtown Monroe to watch Oliver compete in the 100-meter and 4x100-meter relay from Tokyo, since pandemic rules meant family wasn't able to attend the races in Olympic Stadium.

Monroe man charged after Athens crash

ATHENS — An Athens man died Friday, weeks after being involved in a car crash at Timothy and Epps Bridge roads.

Robert Thomas Stephens, 67, was turning his 2005 Buick LeSabre left onto Timothy Road on Aug. 28 when he was struck by a 2021 Chevrolet Silverado driven by 21-year-old Sean Steven Brown of Monroe.

Both drivers were hurt and taken to hospitals, and Stephens died from his injuries Friday.

Investigation by Athens-Clarke County police led to Brown being cited on charges of driving under the influence of alcohol and serious injury by vehicle.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Officer Joey Lewis at joey.lewis@accgov.com or 762-400-7169.

Police in Athens responded to another crash over the weekend that resulted in a death, at about 3:10 a.m. Saturday when a 2010 Mazda struck a bicycle on Pittard Road.

Michael Donnell Dowdy Jr., 41, of Athens, died.

LOGANVILLE CITY COUNCIL

Police continue to investigate hoaxes

Council votes to roll back the millage rate

Denise Etheridge
THE WALTON TRIBUNE

Loganville police Assistant Chief Dick Lowry told the City Council on Thursday that two bomb threats made by telephone within a 30-minute time frame on the afternoon of Sept. 8 were deemed not credible.

Lowry suggested the hoax calls could have been related to the 20th anniversary of Sept. 11.

City spokesman Robbie Schwartz verified the LPD was assisted by other agencies, including the Walton and Gwinnett County Sheriff's offices and local Fire Department, in responding to the bomb threats made by phone. One threat was called in to Victory Baptist Church, the other to Loganville Ford, Schwartz said.

"Nothing was found at either location but detectives are investigating all leads related to the incident," he said.

Lowry also informed the council Thursday that the department hired two new cadets. The cadets will attend the police academy later this month. One cadet is a woman and bilingual in Spanish, the chief said. They are expected to graduate before the Christmas holiday and would then undergo three months of field training.

The Loganville City Council voted to roll back the current millage rate of 11.85 for 2021 to 11.561 mills during last Thursday's regular meeting.

The vote was unanimous, 6-0, to approve the rollback rate. Councilwoman Lisa Newberry did not attend the meeting due to a death in the family.

"Typically we start our budget process in February utilizing the millage rate in place at that time and then adjust it as needed once the tax digests are received," Schwartz said. The 11.85-mill rate was used for planning purposes for 2022, according to Schwartz.

Loganville received the tax digest from Gwinnett County in June, and from Walton County in August. The city is spread across both counties.

"Since these tax digests both reflected an increase in property values, the council was able to adopt the rollback rate and still meet the needs of the fiscal year 2022 budget," Schwartz said.

In other city business, the council approved an

Mayor Rey Martinez of Loganville introduces the city's honorary mayors for the day, Bennett Lowther, left, and William Lowther, center, on Thursday. Denise Etheridge | The Tribune

annexation request to annex 2.379 acres at 4430 Tuck Road from the county into the city. The Walton County Board of Commissioners approved the annexation request at their regular Sept. 7 meeting.

CAR Industries of Georgia II LLC operates on the property, which is owned by Reeser Holdings of Georgia LLC. Planning and Development Director Tim Prater told council members the business owner wants to purchase additional acreage behind their existing business that is already inside city limits.

The council also approved CAR Industries' request to rezone the property from the county's B-3 commercial zoning designation to Loganville's light industrial zoning designation to more accurately conform to the city's zoning ordinance.

Council members also agreed to cancel an agreement with Gwinnett County for a speed hump program. Since the city has a speed hump ordinance in place, there was no need to continue with the county's program, city officials said.

Loganville Mayor Rey Martinez reminded residents an open house on the city's traffic study's findings will be held from 6-8 p.m. Sept. 23 at the Rock Gym.

The city will hold a fall "dump day" Sept. 25 from 8 a.m. to noon. City residents can dispose of old furniture, appliances or building materials at the city's utilities department at 4891 Highway 81. Tires, paint or any types of chemicals or hazardous materials will not be accepted and ID will be required to show proof of being a Loganville resident. Those dropping items off are encouraged to enter the facility at H.O. Byrd Road.

Martinez also introduced brothers William and Bennett Lowther as the city's young Mayors for a Day.

Steele looks for more action, less talk in city

Denise Etheridge
THE WALTON TRIBUNE

Loganville City Council candidate Rosa Steele was introduced to the city in 2008, when her daughter and grandchildren moved to the area.

"I fell in love with the small town charm Loganville had," Steele said. She became a permanent resident in 2016.

The Walton Tribune caught up with Steele, a political newcomer, last Thursday.

Steele said she decided to run for city council because she was tired of waiting for elected officials to do what they were elected to do.

She maintains residents she has spoken to don't think current city leaders genuinely listen to their concerns and have not done enough to improve their quality of life.

Steele recalled that she came up against city hall when she was living in The Village. She and other residents in the active senior community requested that a traffic light or sign that restricts left hand turns certain hours of the day be installed at Tommy Lee Fuller and Highway 20.

The group's request was denied without explanation, according to Steele.

Steele said one of her goals is to give citizens back their voice. She said residents don't realize the power they have.

"I try to tell them, 'You own that seat,'" Steele said.

As for development, Steele said she would work on traffic issues and attracting the right types of businesses to the city.

"Loganville doesn't have any trouble attracting businesses," she said. "Look around." Steele said if elected she would collaborate with city leaders, the Chamber of Commerce and the county on downtown development.

"Main Street is supposed to reflect the town as a whole," she said. "That downtown is a let-down. It's serving no purpose for the residents of Loganville."

Another of Steele's goals would be to bring in more qualified police officers. She would like the city to offer public safety personnel competitive salaries commensurate with what surrounding communities pay their officers. Steele doesn't want to see local officers having to take on additional jobs just to support their families.

In addition to incentives being offered now, Steele said Loganville police also should receive the most up-to-date and comprehensive training possible to ensure the protection of officers and the citizens they serve.

Steele, who is retired, spent 14 years as a Georgia state government employee. She worked in the Department of Driver Services and in the Medical Assistance Plans division that oversees Medicaid and PeachCare for Kids. Steele was also a small business owner until the recession prompted her to accept employment with various architectural and engineering firms.

"I was a construction coordinator," she said. "I was the face for the firms if someone (a vendor) wanted to get in the door."

When you thought the president couldn't get worse, there he goes

Just when you thought it couldn't get any worse than leaving hundreds if not thousands of Americans behind enemy lines in Afghanistan, the president of the United States has deecided to double down and declare war on 80 million hard-working Americans.

You may see it differently, and if so, that's fine, but that's my take on the vaccine mandate for employers President Joe Biden announced last week.

Because unvaccinated American citizens are clearly the biggest threat currently facing this country.

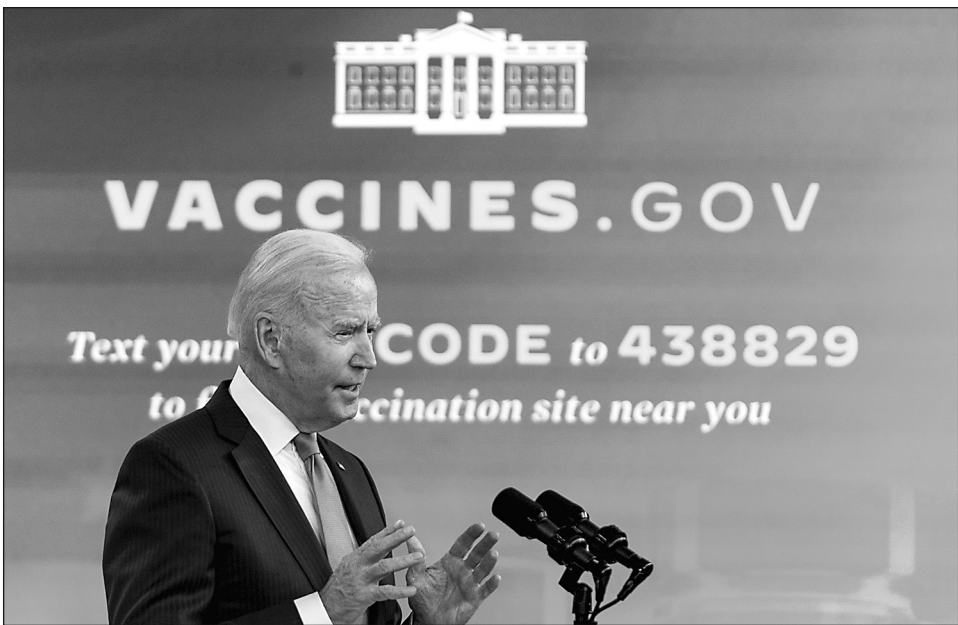

Not the Taliban, the terrorist organization in Afghanistan the president just helped make one of the finest-equipped fighting forces in the world as a result of his epically botched removal of troops from that war-torn country.

Not the million plus illegal immigrants the president is letting into the country without any regard for vaccination status and/or positive COVID-19 tests. It's the more the merrier when it comes to the southern border, y'all.

Not the hundreds of thousands of unvetted Afghans whom the president was somehow miraculously able to evacuate, but for some reason couldn't figure out a way to

What's your take?

President Joe Biden, through an OSHA rule, is requiring COVID-19 vaccines for companies that employ 100 or more people.
Demetrius Freeman | Washington Post

make sure our own people had a seat on any of those planes.

But I digress.

The fact of the matter is the president knows this mandate is beyond the constitutional powers of his office and the federal government. If it wasn't, he'd just go ahead and order up vaccines for every man, woman and child rather than try and backdoor this through an Occupational Safety and Health Administration rule and employer mandate.

At a time when employees need their jobs more than ever and employers need their employees more than ever, President Biden instead creates a mandate that puts the livelihood of millions of American workers and their companies at risk unless they comply.

Pitting employees against their employers during these desperate times? Real unifier there, folks.

Because President Biden is tired of asking. His patience has worn thin with those petulant subjects who won't get in line and get their jabs. And their boosters. And their booster pills. And whatever else they claim is necessary in order to effectively fight COVID-19.

And whether you've had the shot(s) or not, do you really think it is a good idea to force American citizens to inject chemicals into their bodies without their consent?

That's sick stuff right there, folks, and I'd like to think no matter which side of the political aisle you're on, we could agree on that.

I leave room for the possibility this vaccine mandate is a false flag from the president designed to give us something else to talk about besides Afghanistan.

We aren't going to, by the way. Sorry.

But if it's not, and somehow President Biden is able to get these mandates pushed through despite the multiple legal challenges that have already been promised, it won't stop at businesses with more than 100 employees. Emboldened by the win, he'll come for everyone, and he won't think twice about it.

And the Democrats like to compare Donald Trump to Hitler? Interesting.

I can tell you this, I don't care what the president or the federal government has to say about it. We'll never have a vaccine mandate here or at any of my newspapers. Period. If you want to get the jab, fine by me. It's your choice (at least for now). But I'm not going to tell you that you should or that you should allow anyone to make you.

In fact, if you are currently working for an employer who is going to require vaccination, and you won't be staying there much longer as a result, come see me. We just might have a great opportunity for you here at The Walton Tribune or one of my other newspapers.

Let's talk about it.

2 chances to weigh in on our future

If you've called Walton County home since 1980, you're definitely in the minority here. The county has nearly tripled in size in the past 40 years, to more than 96,600 as of the 2020 census.

All that growth makes it tougher to get around. I know that from the time I moved here in 2009, I've definitely seen traffic become more of an issue in Monroe and Loganville especially.

The good news is, we have a couple of chances to weigh in on where we're going and how to get there. The first comes from 5-7 p.m. Thursday with an open house on the Walton County comprehensive transportation plan, at the Historic Courthouse.

It's a come-and-go event, where you can pop in to speak with project staff and make comments on the plan that should carry us to 2050.

And from 6-8 p.m. Sept. 23 at the Rock Gym in Loganville, you'll get a chance to take part as the city conducts a traffic study and needs assessment.

Loganville's traffic may well be the biggest, most consistent complaint I get in Walton County. Here's your chance to stop in and comment on your specific concerns and help make the plan to fix them — and to meet future challenges.

For sure, there are big things we're going to have to decide. How do we plan our highways, and how much should we continue to rely on ribbons of asphalt?

What's the role of mass transit? Whatever the future, this is your chance to get your say — and if you don't take it, don't complain if you're left behind.

Teachers are overwhelmed by the endless pandemic life

Selfish and stubborn people who protest life-saving vaccines and sensible mask mandates are causing the coronavirus pandemic to linger.

Their behavior hurts the most vulnerable among us, including children who are too young to be vaccinated.

These folks who claim their civil rights are more important than their neighbors' lives, or perhaps even their own health and that of their children, burden weary health care providers. And, they make it hard on our educators who only want school life to get back to some kind of normal.

When students are safe and enjoy a regular routine that carries over to many other aspects of American life.

Now, I know Walton County schools remain open and implement COVID safety measures just short of a mask mandate. And I'm happy for local schools to continue to provide students a safe environment and meaningful learning experience. Kids need to be in school. They missed out on too much these past two school years.

Therefore, prevention is key. I have no problem with either a mask mandate or a vaccine requirement for all eligible adults and children old enough to get a vaccine.

My children had to show proof of inoculations for illnesses like measles, mumps and rubella to attend school. When they attended college they were required to be vaccinated for meningitis.

Why is COVID-19 any different?

I also want to point out the pandemic has affected teachers' mental health, not to mention risking their physical health. Educators from across the nation and our region have died from COVID.

And, yes, there are breakthrough cases of COVID in fully vaccinated individuals. My friend Orli works in education in north Georgia and believes she contracted COVID the first week school was in session. That district does not have a mask mandate. Fortunately, Orli counts herself lucky she didn't get sick enough to require hospitalization. She believes she recovered because she took the vaccine.

These educators are dedicated to their students. Think about how they have had to adapt. Some schools have gone back to virtual learning, like the south Georgia school district where my sister-in-law and niece teach. Some school systems are back to hybrid models, so teachers have to teach both online and in person. It's tough. I wouldn't want that kind of job stress.

A lot of teachers, like my daughter who teaches in coastal Alabama, constantly sanitize their classrooms and materials. Rachel tells me this takes up much of the precious little prep time she has before every class.

Some schools, like the one my son-in-law teaches in, still have the cafeteria closed at lunch. Students eat in their homerooms with their teachers. Again, more stress on teachers who get few breaks as it is.

The CDC Foundation conducted a study this past May on the mental health impact of COVID on teachers who teach students in kindergarten through 12th grade.

The study found that 27% of teachers self reported symptoms consistent with clinical depression and 37% self-reported symptoms consistent with generalized anxiety. The study also showed 53% of American teachers were considering leaving the profession more now than they were before the pandemic started in February 2020.

If the anti-maskers and anti-vaxxers consider themselves patriots, why then do they not support hardworking and underpaid American educators? Do they not care about the health risks to their own children?

I was taught that being a patriot means doing what must be done for the good of the whole community. It's one thing to criticize your government. It's another to blatantly disregard your role as a responsible member of society.

Readers tell us who they'd like to see at the top of the ballot in 2024

Two weeks ago in this space, I asked readers to help find some new faces to lead the presidential tickets in the 2024 election.

"We need a fresh start," I wrote. I expressed concern that a couple of elderly guys, Joe Biden and Donald Trump, are the current front-runners for 2024. I suggested that the leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties find candidates who are focused on the future, rather than deciding whether they should buy green bananas.

As expected, your responses covered the entire political spectrum. And, not everyone believes Biden and Trump are past their prime.

For example, Midge Kennedy wrote, "I think Trump will run again. Biden will not because of his age and mental capacity, and for all the issues that have arisen in the first seven months of his presidency."

She continued, "Someone, relatively unheard of, will come out of the shadows for the Democrats, much like (Barack) Obama did, and will be the phoenix rising out of the ashes created by Biden."

Thomas Jones provides a different view. He writes, "We who will vote for Biden in 2024 are not one bit concerned about his shortcomings, we just don't like Trump one bit!"

An anonymous reader is squarely behind Rep. Marjorie Taylor Greene, R-Ga.: "She's the only one who tells the truth. She will allow real patriots to take our country back!"

Another Georgia politician is the choice of Lara Burton. She writes, "We need a strong leader who has the wisdom to look to the future and make decisions which are good for all people. A uniting force, not a dividing one. Lt. Gov. Geoff Duncan (age 46) is leaving office to try to restore bipartisanship to the search for solutions to the problems facing America. Check this guy out!"

DeLane Haren is hoping Tennessee Republican Sen. Marsha Blackburn decides to run. She writes, "She is intelligent, compassionate, determined, unafraid and patriotic. She would try her best to unify the nation. However, she would not sacrifice her personal integrity or beliefs to get that done."

An anonymous reader has a dream ballot with both a Democrat and a Republican in mind: "My wife would like to see a 2024 contest between Democrat Amy

Klobuchar and Republican Liz Cheney. She thinks the men have messed things up long enough!"

Also anonymously, a reader has two prominent Democrats in mind: former Virginia Gov. Terry McAuliffe and Transportation Secretary Pete Buttigieg. The person writes, "McAuliffe is somewhat of an unknown, but he has qualities that appeal to me in a leader: experience, empathy and a sense of what matters to most people. Buttigieg is a caring, educated man who thinks quickly on his feet."

Most of the respondents favored Republicans, some of whom would be counted on to be a "stand-in" for Trump, should he decide not to run. Florida Gov. Ron DeSantis was the most popular choice, with Barbara Snow commenting, "I would vote for him in a New York minute. He has done an excellent job as governor of Florida."

Lynn Wilks added, "I really like Gov. DeSantis with (former Ambassador) Nikki Haley as his running mate!"

Ginny Nickoloff supports former Vice President Mike Pence. "He had good experience under Trump and saw how Trump dealt with our allies as well as enemy countries." Jack Green likes Pence for a different reason: "He's a Christian man who acted honorably during the Capitol riots by doing his duty." Green also likes Texas Gov. Greg Abbott and South Carolina Sen. Tim Scott.

As for dark horse candidates, one anonymous writer threw my Braves cap into the ring: "David, I would vote for you. You already have years of experience reading from a Teleprompter. The presidential retreat in Maryland is named for you. Plus, the job comes with free government housing! But before I endorse you, I must ask. Have you ever said anything controversial about some hot topic? Have you kissed someone or something inappropriately? Have you ever told an insensitive joke?"

Gee, Mr. Anonymous, lighten up on me! After all, we're only talking about the job of president of the United States. It's not like I'm in the running for something big, like the host of "Jeopardy!"

Judging from the division that promises to engulf the 2022 midterm elections, and the turmoil that will surely result, there is only one promise I can make about the likelihood of more negativity in the 2024 presidential campaign: Buckle up. As the great rock star Randy Bachman so famously sang, "You Ain't Seen Nothing Yet."

Date: September 15, 2021

Statements of qualifications and proposals are being requested from Engineering Firms with a strong record in successfully assisting local governments with the preliminary report, final design, and construction administration of Federally Assisted Projects. Responding firms should be qualified to provide a Preliminary Engineering Report (PER), design and construction administration services for projects utilizing federal funds.

Plans are to contract, within a year from the date of this notice, a reputable Engineering Firm for Preliminary Report, Design and Construction Administration services for Federally Funded Projects related to community and economic development. This procurement could include Community Development Block Grants (CDBG), Employment Incentive Program (EIP) Projects, Georgia Environmental Facilities Authority (GEFA) Projects, Economic Development Administration (EDA) Projects, Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) Projects and any other federally funded project in compliance with 24 CFR 570.489(g). This procurement action may also lead to additional project contracts and/or contract addendums for Preliminary Engineering Report (PER), design and construction administration services, for State and Federally funded projects. This is not a request for retainer services. Immediate plans call for services to assist the City with the Preliminary Engineering Report, Design Services and Construction Administration Services for a Community Development Block Grant Project related to sewer improvements. Submitting firms will be re-considered, on a project-by-project basis, should future federally funded opportunities arise in the next 24-month period from date of this notice.

Information which should be submitted for our evaluation is as follows:

- 1) History of firm and resources
- 2) Federal Funds Engineering Experience, including HUD, EDA, etc.
- 3) Key personnel/qualifications
- 4) Current workload
- 5) Scope and level of service proposed
- 6) Experience with similar projects and list of references
- 7) Fee Percentages (if any) associated with the Engineering Report (PER), for the application, and Design and Construction Administration Services. If the City pursues a 2022 CDBG, the draft PER would be needed no later than December 31, 2021.
- 8) Errors and Omissions Insurance, please provide a copy.
- 9) Statement of Qualifications Form
- 10) Section 3 Certification Form (Only Submit with your Proposal if you are claiming Section 3 Status.)

The immediate project is subject to Federal and State contract provisions prescribed by the Georgia Department of Community Affairs/and or other federal agencies listed above. The immediate project is covered under the requirements of Section 3 of the HUD Act of 1968, as amended and Section 3 Business Concerns are encouraged to apply. Future federal projects may not require Section 3 compliance.

The City of Social Circle also abides by the following laws as they pertain to HUD Assisted Projects: Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; Section 109 of the HCD Act of 1974, Title 1; Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968 (Fair Housing Act); Section 104(b)(2) of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974; Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 as amended; Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA); and the Architectural Barriers Act of 1968.

Interested parties should request copies of the Statement of Qualifications Form and Section 3 Certification Form prior to preparing and submitting their proposal. Proposals should be received no later than 5:00 PM on October 18, 2021. Proposals received after the above date and time may not be considered. SOCIAL CIRCLE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Board moves closer to building school

Parent complains about district's mask rules during pandemic

Stephen Milligan
THE WALTON TRIBUNE

No votes have been taken yet, but the Social Circle Board of Education is one step closer to building its first new school building in decades.

Board of Education Chairman John Callahan updated parents and students at the Thursday meeting of the Social Circle board on plans for the long-awaited school campus, which is designed to combine the current primary and elementary schools into one larger school.

"Everyone knows we need one," Callahan said. "It's just how to get it. It's taking a full effort, but we have a balanced budget and it's the right time to move ahead." Callahan said the plan is to pass an $18 million bond package to help pay for the school. Combined with $7 million in state funding, the total amount will cover the estimated $25 million project.

The new campus would be built near Stephens Park, the former football complex for Social Circle High School, across from the existing primary school.

Children from kindergarten through fifth grade would attend, as is customary at the elementary schools in the neighboring Walton County School District. Currently Social Circle Primary School contains kindergarten through second grade and Social Circle Elementary School contains third through fifth grade.

Once the new campus is up, estimated around 2024, grades six and seven from Social Circle Middle School would move to the elementary campus on West High-tower Trail, while eighth grade would remain at SCHS with grades nine through 12.

Callahan said the bond would be paid back through Social Circle's share of revenue from the Education Local Option Sales Tax.

In other board news, local parent Paul Vanstone spoke during the public participation portion of the board meeting Thursday to object to the mask policy at SCHS.

"Some students are being forced to wear masks or not come to school," Vanstone said. "Yet I'm not sure this is at all a medical issue. The CDC (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention) has been inconsistent on guidelines."

The Social Circle City Schools district is not requiring masks for students, but did issue a guideline for students who have been exposed to someone who tested positive for COVID-19 but are otherwise vaccinated. If those students test negative for the virus, they can come to school rather than quarantine at home, but must wear a mask for the period.

"My daughter has to wear a mask and I disagree with that," Vanstone said. "I wouldn't force others to adjust to her needs. That's not fair."

Poll shows Biden's numbers flagging in Ga.

Democratic president not faring well in swing state, survey shows

Tim Darnell
CAPITOL BEAT

ATLANTA — President Joe Biden's approval rating in Georgia — nationally regarded as one of several key swing states in the 2022 midterm election and the presidential race in 2024 — is declining, according to a new survey.

A Civiqs survey released last week show 53% of Georgia voters disapprove of the job Biden is doing as president, compared to 40% who do approve and 7% neither approving nor disapproving.

Nationally, 50% of voters disapprove of the job Biden is doing as president, while just 42% approve, and 8% neither approving nor disapproving.

Civiqs surveyed 1,271 registered voters from Aug. 28-31. The survey was conducted online, among selected members of the Civiqs research panel. Sampled individuals were emailed by Civiqs and responded using a personalized link to the survey at civiqs.com.

The survey results were weighted by age, race, gender, education, party identification, and region to be representative of the population of registered voters in the United States. The survey has a margin of error of plus/minus 2.8%.

President Joe Biden narrowly won Georgia in 2020, but a poll shows that support could be in doubt next time. Special to The Tribune

Biden also has a disapproval rating of 10 points or more in four other key swing states — Florida, Arizona, North Carolina and Pennsylvania. In 2020, Biden won Georgia, Arizona and Pennsylvania on his way to a White House victory, and narrowly lost Florida and North Carolina.

"President Biden has not been successful at improving his standing among non-Democrats," a Civiqs analysis of the survey said.

"Just 13% of Independents and 2% of Republicans have a better opinion of Biden now than when he took office.

"Nearly half (47%) of Americans say that their opinion of President Biden has gotten worse since he took office in January," the analysis said. "Among those are many core or potential Biden supporters, including 12% of Democrats and 51% of Independents. Most Democrats (52%) say that their opinion of Biden is unchanged since January, although 35% have an improved opinion of Biden.

"Biden has also struggled to win over young voters. Only 9% of voters aged 18-34 say that their opinion of Biden has gotten better since he took office. In contrast, 27% of voters aged 65 or older have an improved opinion of President Biden this year."

Some observers believe Biden's declining approval rating is attributable to his withdrawal of American troops from Afghanistan and the Taliban's subsequent rapid takeover, the analysis said.

"However, the change in Biden's approval rating has been gradual, not sudden.

"Even now, 52% of Americans approve of withdrawing troops from Afghanistan, versus only 35% who disapprove, a finding that is consistent across many other public opinion polls," the analysis said.

"None of Biden's flagship policies appear to have overwhelming disapproval, but most Americans do not feel that the efforts of the Biden administration have benefited them personally," it said. "It is possible that Biden is not doing enough or is not addressing Americans' most important problems. It is also possible that in a time of ongoing crises, President Biden's job approval rating would be even lower if not for the relative popularity of his policy initiatives.

"As it stands, President Biden is losing popular support, and to the extent that voters approve of his policy positions, it has not been enough to stop or reverse that trend."

Attorney continues quest to unseal grand jury records

SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE

July 25 marked the 75th anniversary of the Moore’s Ford lynching in Walton County.

In 1946, four African Americans were brutally executed by a mob of unmasked white men. One of the victims was a decorated World War II veteran.

None of the perpetrators were ever brought to justice.

While many citizens of Walton County are familiar with this dark episode in its past, many more may be unaware that a New Jersey attorney, Joseph J. Bell, has been fighting an eight-year legal battle in the Georgia courts to win a measure of justice for descendants of the victims.

Bell’s challenge has been to win release of the 1946 grand jury records in order to discover the identity of the perpetrators. For the families of the victims, having even this small fragment of information would provide, after all these years, at least a “sliver of justice.”

Although the confidentiality of grand jury records is protected by federal law (Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, Rule 6(e)), there have been cases in which the courts have permitted disclosure, e.g., Alger Hiss, President Richard Nixon, Jimmy Hoffa, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg — based on the premise historical significance can, under certain strict conditions, outweigh any ongoing need for privacy.

For Bell, there was no reason to believe the Moore’s Ford lynching was any less noteworthy especially given the degree of nationwide outrage, numerous FBI investigations, intense media coverage, a letter of outrage published by Martin Luther King Jr., and President Harry Truman’s establishment of the President’s Committee on Civil Rights in late 1946.

Using historical significance as his linchpin argument, Bell won victories at the District Court level and the 11th Circuit Court in Atlanta to gain release of the 1946 grand jury records. But the 11th Circuit, in an en banc decision, overturned its earlier ruling granting release of the records and denied Bell’s petition.

In the summer of 2020, Bell filed a petition for a writ of certiorari with the U.S. Supreme Court, which declined to hear the case.

Undeterred, Bell, together with other public interest groups, has petitioned the federal Rules Committee on Criminal Practice, which is meeting in November, to relax the prohibitions on Rule 6(e) and permit the release of historically significant grand jury records.

All of Bell’s legal work on this case has been done on a pro bono basis. For more information, contact Bell at 973-442-7900 or visit his firm’s website at bsblawgroup.com and click on the Moore’s Ford InfoCenter.

City: Council discusses letter, proposed monument to commemorate Moore’s Ford deaths

cussion with each of them, privately and publicly, we formed an actual organization that’s kind of the accepted voice of a population, historically disenfranchised.”

Another impetus for acknowledging the lynching was the 2019 Young Gamechangers program, a group of professionals from around the state that studied the city and offered solutions for ongoing issues and suggestions for the future.

Howard said the Gamechangers’ finding was that Monroe citizens “have not accepted each other racially with our gifts and our differences, and that the Black population in Monroe has not felt trusted or been trusted by the white population.”

That led to the idea of a letter, and of constructing a monument.

The National Memorial for Peace and Justice in Montgomery, Alabama, pays tribute to all U.S. lynching victims, by county, and offers a companion marker to be taken back to the county as a local tribute.

In addition to the Moore’s Ford deaths of Dorothy and Roger Malcom and George W. and Mae Murray Dorsey, there are five more lynchings documented by the Equal Justice Initiative in Walton County, out of 593 in Georgia.

Among them were James Harmon in Social Circle on July 11, 1890; Samuel Chandler in Monroe on July 2, 1895; Tom Allen and Foser Watts, in Monroe on June 30, 1911; and General Boyd, in the Buncomb community in 1913.

Howard said he wanted to put the marker by the city flagpole but met resistance by some on the City Council, who said he didn’t have the authority.

Vice Mayor Larry Bradley said the city needs guidelines on installing monuments.

“My suggestion is that we should not place monuments on city property unless we have a policy that spells out what those monuments should be for,” he said.

“I look specifically at things that happened with citizens or events in the city of Monroe with its history and there are multiple tragic events that affect the people of Monroe,” he said.

Bradley cited the line-of-duty shooting deaths of Walton County Sheriff C.J. “Doc” Sorrells in 1962 and Monroe police Lt. Michael Etchison Sr. in 1977.

“You look at other racial or civil rights issues that occurred,” Bradley said, going on to mention the late Boyd “Buddy” Conyers, one of 167 soldiers dishonorably discharged from the U.S. Army after a shooting in Brownsville, Texas, in 1906.

“When he came back to Monroe, the people came down from Washington to interview him about this, the leaders of Monroe came together, Black and white, to argue his case and argued the case that this was racial injustice, and won this case,” Bradley said.

“He later became a business owner in Monroe. His wife (Louelle Conyers) was the most well-known caterer in Monroe. She had her own business.

“These are things that people had severe injustices done, that are residents of Monroe, and I’m not even talking about your letter, but I think there needs to be a policy, and that policy needs to be that we only do monuments or memorials of people that are residents of Monroe or events that happened in Monroe.

“I don’t think this one fits that case.”

Bradley said that although Loy Harrison got Roger Malcom out of the county jail and had the three other victims in the car, the violence happened out in the county.

“I don’t think it justifies a monument on city of Monroe property,” he said.

Like Bradley, Councilwoman Lee Malcom said she wasn’t motivated by race but said she agreed there shouldn’t be a monument to commemorate Moore’s Ford on city grounds.

“I feel strongly about the fact that it doesn’t belong on city property,” she said. “I too have taught probably more minority children in my 25 years of teaching than I did other races, and those children will tell you that I loved them through and through, and I love them to this day.

“This has nothing to do with anything but the right place for it to go. I just feel that it is something that, if we’re going to do this, the ordinance should revolve around those people in the city that have been through a terrible situation. This is just — I don’t think this is the place.”

Councilman David Dickinson said he was in Monroe for several years before he even knew about the Moore’s Ford atrocity.

“It’s been a stain on this community for 75 years,” he said. “And in 75 years, nobody has ever stood up and said to families of the victims and to the Black folks that live in this city and in this county, ‘We’re sorry.’

“I’ve said for a long time that there will never be complete healing until this collectively do that.

“I didn’t grow up here. I didn’t have any ancestors that were involved in it. But issuing an apology, issuing this letter, accepting that marker as a community,

I believe is absolutely essential to our well-being as a city and as a county.

Councilman Norman Garrett, one of two Black members of the City Council, said he found the timing “kind of odd,” coming two months after the 75th anniversary of the lynching and two months before Howard faces a reelection challenge from a Black opponent, Emilio Kelly.

“The timing’s questionable — just gives me pause, that all of a sudden now we want to apologize,” Garrett said.

“The truth be told, ain’t nobody in here on this board had nothing to do with the Moore’s Ford lynching. Now, there’s some people in here who might know more about the Moore’s Ford lynching than they’re actually saying, though.”

Howard said the original plan was to present the letter in time to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the lynchings in June. However, he said, the Diversity Advisory Board hung up on the wording and in fact was rewriting the letter up to the morning of last week’s work session.

Howard was expected to present a final version of the letter at Tuesday night’s council meeting, but has withdrawn anything dealing with the proposed monument until a later date.

LOGANVILLE

City to study long-term traffic needs

Citizens can weigh in next week in open house at the Rock Gym

SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE

LOGANVILLE — The city of Loganville is conducting a traffic study and needs assessment.

The purpose of the study is to identify current transportation needs and develop short-term and long-term projects to strengthen the transportation network. The study will identify opportunities to improve travel conditions for vehicles, pedestrians, and bicyclists.

A public information open house is planned for 6-8 p.m. Sept. 23 at the Rock Gym located at 135 Main St. in downtown Loganville.

The purpose of this open house is to present initial findings and provide the public with an opportunity to comment on existing areas of concern.

“As Loganville continues to grow, planning for our short and long-term transportation improvements is essential.” Councilman Bill DuVall, who also works for the Georgia Department of Transportation, said.

“This traffic study gives us the tools to plan for growth and the needed infrastructure upgrades. This open house is a great opportunity for community members to comment on existing conditions and areas of concern.”

The format of the meeting is an open house. There will be no formal presentation. Members of the public are invited to drop by at any time between 6-8 that night to review study information, speak one on one with project staff, and to submit comments.

For more information, contact the city’s project manager, Robbie Schwartz, at info@loganville-ga.gov, or by phone at 770-466-1165.

sped up, rapidly fleeing the trooper back onto the highway driving west toward Monroe.

“Due to the reckless driving, high rate of speed and the danger to other motorists, the trooper performed a PIT (pursuit intervention technique) maneuver on the vehicle near the Georgia 11 exit,” Barton said.

Butts allegedly escaped the vehicle and ran, but Monroe police officers captured him and released him to the trooper’s custody.

Butts was taken to the Walton County Jail and charged with speeding, fleeing and attempting to elude a law enforcement officer, reckless driving, a seatbelt violation, DUI, driving with an expired license, driving in violation of license restrictions and misdemeanor possession of marijuana.

In a case in Covington, troopers tried to stop a man after an alleged traffic violation Sunday night.

Shortly after 6:20 p.m. at U.S. 278 and West Street Northwest, 28-year-old James Senter allegedly failed to stop at a red light. A trooper tried to stop the 2000 Ford Explorer, which fled on Highway 278, then onto Interstate 20 at a high rate of speed, Barton said.

The pursuit continued into Rockdale County and the trooper used a PIT maneuver to stop the SUV near Sigman Road.

Senter, of Covington, was arrested and returned to Newton County on copies of citations for numerous traffic-related charges. He also was found to have warrants from Cobb and Wilkinson counties.

Walton County’s growth — the 2020 census shows the county at just under 100,000 people — has it as part of the ARC’s 20-county Metropolitan Planning Organization.

Each county in the MPO is asked to develop a plan to be incorporated into the larger ARC regional transportation plan.

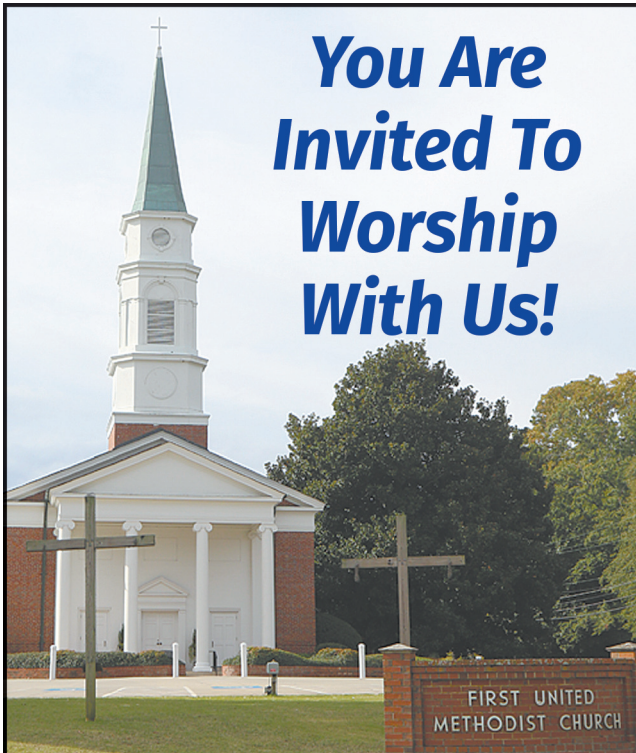

The ARC counts on each county to set its own local priorities to ensure the counties consider their own unique transportation issues, engage the public and develop a prioritized plan to set a direction for investments looking toward 2050.

Walton County’s

plan was revised in 2017. It included pedestrian and bicycle projects in Monroe, a new alignment for the Monroe East Connector road east and south of the city, and a widening of state Route 20 from south of Loganville beyond the Rockdale County line.

The county also identified a goal of securing rights of way along growth corridors, improving signalization and signage in areas that are congested and prone to crashes.

The plan also noted other areas for improvement in the county, including a county sewage system along the U.S. 78 corridor between Loganville and Monroe and increasing staffing in the Sheriff’s Office and Walton EMS.

A unique solution to Smith's problem

Brad Smith considers himself an unconventional coach, unencumbered by the traditional way of doing things. As proof, consider the past two Loganville Red Devils football games.

In a win over Forsyth Central and a loss to Parkview, the second-year head coach used four and five different quarterbacks in each game, respectively.

I've seen a lot of football over the years. I can't honestly say I've ever seen a coach, barring injury, put four or five different players under center in a single game — or nowadays, a few yards behind center.

Former Florida head coach Steve Spurrier, well-known tormentor of quarterbacks and Bulldogs, rotated quarterbacks on consecutive plays one season. But even the Evil Genius never went with a quartet.

In Smith's case, you could argue it wasn't necessarily by choice. You might even say his hand was forced.

Heading into the season, he'd planned on doing things the old-fashioned way. Pick a starter, line him up alone behind the center, and attack the offense with the run or pass.

Given that his quarterback was a highly successful star in the making, there was no need to shake things up or get creative. But everything changed when that quarterback decided to transfer a few days after the season opener. In response, Smith changed everything.

I'd only heard about

Following a thrilling victory over cross-county rival Social Circle two weeks ago, the Warriors took the week off to prep for the Region 8-AAAAA portion of its schedule.

They'll be looking to improve on last year's 2-5 league mark and make the playoffs for the first time since 2016, which was the only time they've advanced to the postseason.

It was only the first game of a long region schedule, but Greenbrier's 28-20 victory over Loganville last fall turned out to be a pivotal point.

The two finished with identical 4-3 league marks, but the Wolfpack had the tiebreaker, leaving the Red Devils in fourth place and forcing them to go on the road to face a region champion in the first round of the playoffs.

The same scenario could play out this season. The two, once again, appear evenly matched. The difference could be at quarterback.

The Wolfpack return senior Brooks Pangle, who passed for 2,858 yards and 31 touchdowns last fall, including 286 yards and four scores against Loganville.

On the other side, Loganville head coach Brad Smith appears to be set to stick with his five-man rotation at quarterback.

Langley leads Lady Redskins with hot bat

Softball » Social Circle junior hitting .474 over the past five games

Phillip Hubbard
COVINGTON NEWS

SOCIAL CIRCLE – Warning: Macy Langley’s bat is blazing! Opposing pitchers have had to approach Langley’s at-bats with caution because of her dominant performances at the plate as of late.

Hitting .474 in the past five games, Langley just wants to maintain her production at a high level each game.

“I’ve been hitting pretty good and I want to keep that streak going,” Langley said. “If I think I can [hit a home run], then I set my body to do it and usually succeed.”

Hitting home runs hasn’t been an issue for the junior, having hit four in the past five games. Langley’s home run tour started on Sept. 1 against Monroe Area High School, where she recorded seven RBIs. The first four RBIs came courtesy of a grand slam she drilled over the center field fence in the top of the third inning. One at-bat later, Langley homered again. This time, it was a three-run shot to center field. Langley’s productivity carried over to Social Circle’s next game six days later against Newton High School. All it took was one pitch in her first at-bat of the game for Langley to homer again. Langley delivered a three-run bomb to left field.

Though Langley didn’t bring any runs across the plate against Jefferson on Sept. 8. The home runs didn’t stop there. Social Circle hosted Lake Oconee Academy for a doubleheader on Thursday. In the first game, Langley drilled yet another three-run homer in the top of the seventh. She didn’t hit a home run to close out the week, but Langley did go 2-for-3 while bringing another runner in to score.

As a result of her recent hot spurt, Langley has recorded 15 RBIs for the Lady Redskins. Head coach, Bryan Eades said it seems as if the ball “jumps off” Langley’s bat.

“She’s hitting the ball hard,” Eades said. “As long as she can do that and hit line drives, she’ll be a good person to have in that four spot.”

Even so, Langley wants to build upon the past few outings.

Right now, her season batting average is .380 with 22 RBIs and she has only struck out three times thus far. In addition to her contributions at the plate, Langley has also pitched 18 innings this season where she’s recorded 17 strikeouts and only surrendered two walks.

Moving forward, Langley wants to expand the current home run tour she is on. She plans to turn this hot spurt into a hot stretch over the next few weeks.

And, if she continues to hit home runs at a high rate, Lady Red-skin fans just might have to call her “Long Ball” Langley.

“I’ve been focusing a lot more on base mechanics,” Langley said. “I’m trying to get my hands faster so I can adjust to each pitcher I face. It’s recruiting season so I hope this goes all the way until I get signed.”

Johnson: Brad Smith’s approach to losing his starting quarterback is unconventional

Continued from B1 it the first week, but last Friday I saw it for myself at the Big Orange Jungle in Lilburn, where the Red Devils faced perennial state powerhouse Parkview. First play on offense, two guys line up a few yards behind the center. One was No. 11, a common QB number, so you assume that’s where the snap is going. Instead, it went to No. 3, who took the ball, looked for a hole, and took off running. And so it was for most of the game. Though the jersey numbers were interchangeable, the play was mostly the same, with the exception of the 10 passes designed to keep the defense honest. Crazy thing was, it worked. The score, a 26-3 loss, might have indicated otherwise. But considering the competition (the Red Devils lost to the Panthers 42-0 a year earlier) and the penalties (95 yards’ worth), the outcome really wasn’t a rout.

So the obvious question: Is this sustainable, or is it just an in-game quarterback tryout? For now, it looks like Smith is committed for the long haul, meaning at least the rest of the season. In football, the goal is to get the ball into the hands of your best playmakers as much as possible. How you do that is up for grabs. Smith likes a quote he heard from an unknown source: “Plays are expensive, formations are cheap.” The Red Devils have an impressive number of good running backs. On any given play, most of them are on the field at the same time.

It matters not where they stand before the snap, only what they do when the ball is in their hands. For opposing defenses, figuring out who’s getting the ball and where they’re going makes for a unique challenge. But in his approach to the game, Smith is nothing if not unique.

Friday: All six local high school teams return to their home stadiums this Friday night

Redskins will try and snap a two-game skid in a final tune-up game before Region 8-A public play begins.

Social Circle has dominated the series of late, winning five of the past six meetings. Because the Redskins dropped into Class A last fall while the Patriots remained in 8-AA, the games no longer have postseason implications.

The Patriots are under the direction of new head coach Mike Holland, their third head man in five seasons. He brought with him to Lexington a wide-open attack.

He's given the reigns to junior Will Sampson, who had an outstanding first game in a loss to Athens Christian two weeks ago. Sampson completed 23-of-42 passes for 322 yards and four touchdowns.

The Redskins will counter with Logan Cross, last year's county passing champ. After opening the season with 333 yards against George Walton, the Social Circle junior has cooled off the past three games, having been held under 200 yards twice.

Clarkston
0-1 overall
at Monroe Area
3-0 overall

The Hurricanes spent their bye last week healing and fine-tuning. Though they'll be back in action Friday night at the Purple Pit, they are likely to enjoy another leisurely evening.

The once proud Clarkston football program that Hurricanes head coach Kevin Reach played for has fallen on hard times since the turn of the century. Over the past six seasons (they didn't play in 2020), the Angoras have won just three games. They snapped a 22-game losing skid with a 22-21 win over woebegone Berkmar in the season opener.

Meanwhile, Monroe went from unranked to No. 9 in the Class AAA polls on the strength of three impressive victories to open the season. As expected, the offense has been explosive behind the leadership of senior quarterback Selatian Straughter and junior running back Alan Jones, who are both among the top-10 leading rushers in the state.

On the other side of the line, the defense has recorded back-to-back shutouts and has allowed just a single touchdown.

Editor's note: Clarkston may not be able to play Friday due to COVID-19 protocols. Should that happen, Monroe Area has a replacement game lined up. Look for updates online at waltontribune.com

Hebron Christian
2-1 overall
at George Walton
1-2 overall

Carter Payne and George Walton return home Friday night looking for a second straight win after defeating Crawford County on the road this past week. The Bulldogs host Hebron Christian. Brett Fowler | The Tribune

The Bulldogs thought they'd seen the last of Gavin Hall after he transferred to Loganville in the aftermath of the off-season turmoil that went on at the Monroe private school.

But Hall lasted just one game with the Red Devils before moving to his third school in less than two seasons. As fate would have it, his new team is GWA's opponent this week.

The former Bulldogs/Red Devils signal caller is now with Hebron Christian, where he's led the Lions two back-to-back wins after they opened the season with a loss.

In his debut two weeks ago, he passed for 152 yards and a touchdown and ran for 188 yards and three scores in a 34-24 win over Woodland. After scoring just 14 in its first game, Hebron has averaged 39 the past two weeks.

Hall could put up even more impressive numbers against his former team. GWA's defense is allowing an average of 35 points a game.

Holy Innocents'
2-1 overall
at Loganville Christian
0-2 overall

The Lions return to action Friday after a COVID-19-induced cancellation last week to face the ninth-ranked team among Class A private schools. It's the beginning of a brutal stretch in which LCA will play four ranked teams over a five-week stretch.

The Golden Bears' only loss was to defending state champ Prince Avenue, who LCA will play in a month. In the only previous meeting, Holy Innocents' beat the Lions 42-6 last fall. LCA has struggled early, losing back-to-back games against competitors with whom they were evenly matched.

Social Circle looks to get back in the win column this week with a matchup with former Region 8-AA foe Oglethorpe County. Cassie Jones | MAK Photography

Region: Grove opens 8-AAAAA play at home

season under legendary head coach Rich McWhorter, who spent 28 years and won four state championships at Charlton County before taking over the Panthers program in 2019.

Jackson has never been a consistent winner, having had just one season over .500 since the turn of the century. Under McWhorter, they are making slow but steady progress. They won three games in each of his first two seasons and four last fall, despite making a huge jump from Class AAA to AAAAA.

The Panthers are playing their inaugural season in a new stadium, and so far they are a perfect 2-0 at home, including wins over county rival East Jackson and Franklin County.

Monroe Area returns home this week to take on head coach Kevin Reach's alma mater, Clarkston, in a non-region contest. Brett Fowler | The Tribune

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN, and the mother KARISSA LORRAINE ZELLER, L. R. M. Z. and B. D. Z.: Georgia law provides that you can permanently lose your rights as a parent. A petition to terminate parental rights has been filed requesting the court to terminate your parental rights to your child. A court hearing for your case has been scheduled for the 15th day of December 2021, at 9:00 a.m. at the Juvenile Court of Walton County. A copy of the Petition may be obtained by the parents from the Clerk of the Juvenile Court at Walton County Courthouse, Monroe, Georgia, during regular business hours, Monday through Friday, 9:00 o'clock am until 5:00 o'clock p.m. exclusive of holidays. A free copy shall be available to the parents. Upon request, the copy will be mailed to the requester - parents or alleged parents only. The general nature of the allegations are abandonment and failure to comply with your reunification case plan.

If you fail to appear, the court can terminate your rights in your absence. If the court at the trial finds that the facts set out in the petition to terminate parental rights are true and that termination of your rights will serve the best interest of your child, the court can enter a judgment ending the rights to your child. If the judgment terminates your parental rights, you will no longer have any rights to your child. This means that you will not have the right to visit, contact, or have custody of your child or make any decisions affecting your child or your child's earnings of property. Your child will be legally freed to be adopted by someone else. Even if your parental rights are terminated, (1) You will still be responsible for providing financial support (child support payments) for your child's care unless and until your child is adopted; and (2) Your child can still inherit from you unless and until your child is adopted.

This is a very serious matter. You should contact an attorney immediately so that you can be prepared for the court hearing. You have the right to hire an attorney and have him or her represent you.
