Unknown vehicle hits Emory Street bridge

Two highways cleared for traffic; GDOT monitoring bridge damage

By TOM SPIGOLON
tspigolon@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — GDOT officials will monitor damage an apparent oversized truck did to the Georgia Hwy. 81 bridge over I-20 in Covington after they deemed it safe for motorists on both highways Saturday night.

Inspectors for the state transportation agency looked at all arreas of the bridge above the interstate highway and below Hwy. 81, also known as Emory Street, after the bridge's beam and concrete diaphragm were damaged over the far right lane of westbound I-20 Saturday around 10 a.m., said GDOT spokesman Kyle Collins.

"GDOT closed off the lane Saturday afternoon preparing COVINGTON, Ga. — With a palette of paint on her hands and creativity flowing in her veins, Tamara Haase loves bringing new life to Georgia towns with only the swift stroke of a brush.

The Jasper County artist recently completed a mural honoring the area's film history in Covington and has since been traveling across the region painting windows of various storefronts with Christmas cheer.

of a surprise as not many artists are financially able to remain full-time. When asked how it all started, she called her story a "long and winding trail" — a life she never quite pictured.

Originally from Gwinnett County, Haase was introduced to art as a young girl. She remembered being taught lessons after school by a woman who lived in her family's neighborhood.

"She really planted that seed," Haase said. "It wasn't just silly stuff. It was real serious ... that improved my skills a lot."

Small Business Saturday

Shopping small, local creates major economic impact

Small Business Saturday slated for Nov. 27

By TAYLOR BECK
tbeck@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Locally owned businesses might be considered "small," but their impact on the economy is enormous.

Small Business Saturday, slated for Nov. 27, will be one of the most important days of the year for local businesses, but it could be a much more profitable one compared to 2020.

In a late October report, the National Retail Federation predicted holiday sales in November and December could grow by more than 10% from one year ago, which could amount shoppers spending more than $850 billion, and that includes spending at automobile dealers, gasoline stations and restaurants.

"The outlook for the holiday season looks very bright," NRF Chief Economist Jack Kleinhenz said. "The unusual and beneficial position we find ourselves in is that households have increased spending vigorously throughout most of 2021 and remain with plenty of holiday purchasing power."

"Pandemic-related supply chain disruptions have caused shortages of merchandise and most of this year's inflationary pressure," Kleinhenz continued. "With the prospect of consumers seeking to shop early, inventories may be pulled down sooner and shortages may develop in the later weeks of the shopping season. However, if retailers can keep merchandise on the shelves and merchandise arrives before Christmas, it could be a stellar holiday sales season."

In 2020, the NRF reported more than $777.3 billion in holiday sales — an 8.2% increase from the year before, despite the pandemic.

ATLANTA — To allow for anticipated increase in holiday traffic, Georgia Department of Transportation announced the suspension of lane closures on Georgia interstates and state routes. The suspension will begin Wednesday, Nov. 24, at 5 a.m. and run until 10 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 28.

The statewide lane closure restrictions will help to reduce traffic congestion during the Thanksgiving holiday. Similar restrictions will be in place for Christmas and New Year's, a news release stated.

In addition, incident management or emergency, maintenance-related lane closures could become necessary at any time on any route.

"By limiting lane closures during the holiday season, we hope to promote a safer, less congested traveling experience," said GDOT State Construction Engineer John D. Hancock.

"Unfortunately, we have seen a noticeable increase in motor vehicle fatalities nationwide due to distracted driving, speeding and driving under the influence," he said.

remove another small concrete section in the same area deemed no immediate risk to safety," Collins said.

He said GDOT will develop a contract for a job to "heat straighten" the beam and fix the concrete diaphragm, Collins said.

"This beam straightening is a specialized process. It may take some time to get that contract out for bids and awarded," he said.

"We will continue to monitor the site until that time."

Collins said the same individual also hit the Old Oxford Road bridge westbound and a bridge-mounted guide sign fell.

"We looked at that one, too. No structural damage," he reported Saturday.

Speculation on social media was a truck with an oversized load may have caused the damage but there were no immediate reports of the vehicle being identified or arrests by local police or Georgia State Patrol.

Covington Police Capt. Ken Malcom said his agency was called to the scene and asked GDOT to inspect the structure after finding no accident.

The incident was the latest in a series of bridge hazards reported both locally and in Georgia in recent months.

The Access Road bridge in western Newton County collapsed Oct. 19 as contractors worked to dismantle it for future replacement. One worker was killed and two others seriously injured.

Work on the bridge replacement has been halted since Oct. 19 as federal investigators look into safety measures taken before the incident. In addition, an Alabama truck driver said an equipment malfunction caused the back of his dump truck to remain raised before it struck the Georgia Hwy. 86 overpass over I-16 in Treutlen County in July.

The collision east of Macon shoved parts of the bridge back several feet. It did not cause any injuries but forced authorities to close heavily traveled I-16 in both directions for two days to demolish the structure.

For interstate highways, a minimum clearance — distance from the bottom of the bridge to the roadway — must be met, Collins said.

The American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials sets standards for interstate highways in the U.S. It sets the minimum vertical clearance under overhead structures like bridges at 16 feet, he said.

Collins also said there was no federal vehicle height requirement for commercial motor vehicles in the U.S. States may set their own height restrictions. In Georgia the height limit is 13 feet, 6 inches, he said.

NRF, it's important shoppers are spending their dollars locally at area small businesses.

Last year, the total reported projected spending among U.S. consumers who shopped at independent retailers and restaurants on Small Business Saturday alone reached an estimated $19.8 billion, according to the U.S. Small Business Administration.

"Small businesses are the backbone of our community," Newton County Chamber President Debbie Harper said in September during a launch event for a "shop local" campaign. "They need our support."

Today, there are over 32.5 million small businesses in the United States, according to the SBA. About half of all-American workers are either employed by a small business or own a small business, and two out of three net new jobs are created by small businesses.

Studies show the majority of employees working for small businesses are locals. The NRF expects retailers nationwide will hire between 500,000 and 665,000 seasonal workers. That compares with 486,000 seasonal hires in 2020.

When people shop at local small businesses, they're not only helping keep these establishments afloat. The community, as a whole, reaps the benefits.

According to researchers, for every dollar spent locally, 68 cents stays local, which helps fund a variety of things such as road maintenance projects and education, health and/or public safety services.

"On Saturday and throughout the holiday season, let's patronize our small shops, restaurants, theaters, entertainment centers, and more to help support their recovery," SBA Administrator Isabella Casillas Guzman said in a news release. "It takes hard work, grit, and determination to bounce back from a once-in-a-generation pandemic, and the SBA is proud to do its part to provide entrepreneurs with vital resources. Now more than ever, let's buy local to support small business owners who are creating opportunity and driving job growth across the nation."

Newton Trails partners with GAgives to raise funds for Cricket Frog Trail

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS

news@covnews.com

Newton Trails Inc. is partnering with GAgives to launch its annual fund-raising campaign to raise $25,000 for the Cricket Frog Trail.

Interested individuals can support completion and maintenance of the trail by donating to Newton Trails through the GAgives website (gagives.org) or directly at newtontrails.org/donations.

The Cricket Frog Trail is a multi-use trail that, when finished, will run from Porterdale and Covington through rural Newton County and Mansfield to Newborn along the old Central of Georgia Railway right of way path. By the end of 2021, about 14 miles will have been paved. A key need for completion of the trail is the renovation of the Alcovy River bridge.

Led by the Georgia Center for Nonprofits, GAgives annually seeks to leverage the enthusiasm associated with GivingTuesday to raise funds for worthy nonprofit organizations in Georgia.

Since its founding in 2012, GAgives has rallied 284,000 individual contributions and raised more than $41.5 million for nonprofits doing good work in communities across the state.

Newton Trails' partnership with GAgives marks the launch of Newton Trails' annual fund-raising campaign. Over the several months following GivingTuesday, Newton Trails hopes to raise $25,000. That money will be used to cover expenses related to the renovation of the Alcovy River bridge and for trail maintenance equipment, tools, and similar items.

Newton Trails Inc. is a nonprofit, all-volunteer corporation dedicated to promoting, developing, and sustaining a connected system of greenway trails which support vibrant, healthy, and prosperous communities and the conservation of natural habitats, plants, and wildlife. It has a record of success dating to the 1990s. Working with various contributing partners and using grant money and donations, its efforts have resulted in the development of about 20 miles of multi-use trails in and near Newton County. Based on travel volume data following Labor Day Weekend 2021, it is predicted that Thanksgiving travel volumes will return to pre-pandemic levels this year.

Those needing to travel this holiday should keep in mind the following Thanksgiving travel forecast for metro Atlanta interstates:

- Heavy congestion on Friday, Nov. 19, prior to typical Thanksgiving travel days

- Heaviest traffic and congestion on Wednesday, Nov. 24, between the hours of noon and 6 p.m.

- Light traffic beginning Thursday, Nov. 25, until Saturday, Nov. 27.

Additionally, historical Thanksgiving travel data from 2019 and 2020 for major interstates outside of metro Atlanta have shown the following trends starting from the afternoon of Wednesday, Nov. 24 to early evening of Sunday, November 28:

- I-20 eastbound congestion on Wednesday, Nov. 24 heading into metro Atlanta; westbound congestion Sunday, Nov. 28, heading out of the city towards Alabama.

- I-24 is expected to have eastbound congestion

- I-75 is predicted to have heavy congestion southbound and northbound coming out of Atlanta in Stockbridge.

- I-85 congestion near the South Carolina and Alabama borders

- I-95 northbound congestion in Savannah.

The GDOT release says those needing to travel during the week of Thanksgiving should keep the below tips in mind before hitting the road.

- The best time for travel is in the morning, before 10 a.m.

- Traffic volumes begin to increase in the afternoon after noon, when drivers are departing work early or finishing last-minute shopping lists.

- If traveling in or around metro Atlanta on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 24, plan to add 30 to 45 minutes to travel time due to increased congestion.

For up-to-date information about travel conditions on Georgia's interstates and state routes, call 511 or visit www.511ga.org before heading out.

511 is a free service that provides real-time statewide information on Georgia's interstates and state routes, including traffic conditions, incidents, lane closures and delays due to inclement weather 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

In high school, she wasn't the brightest student, Haase said, but she always made her A's in art class. But what about life after high school? Haase thought college wasn't right for her, until she was introduced to the Atlanta College of Art, now known as Savannah College of Art and Design. Haase said she enjoyed her time there, but she couldn't quite fit in. So after one year, she transferred to the University of Georgia. Still struggling to find the right fit, Haase transferred again to West Georgia College the next year, where she would go on to graduate in 1992 with a bachelor's degree in fine arts.

Upon graduation, she packed up and moved to the state of Washington. But it wasn't for her art career. In fact, Haase said she did nothing related to art whilst in Washington. Instead, she spent time working in a frame shop, which would lead to her next venture.

Around 1997, Haase returned to Georgia and opened a frame shop just off the Covington Square. She said business was great, but it became too much for her.

"We operated for one year and it just exceeded my preparedness," she recalled. "We got a lot of business, but I realized I wasn't prepared to be a business person ... I'm just not a boss."

She then decided to sell the business and start a family, raising a daughter and son. And it was during that time, she began to pick up her paint brush again to paint portraits or clients here and there.

Then about six years ago, while teaching private lessons to a woman from Mansfield, Haase said the ball started rolling.

"She would talk about how the city needed a mural, and so I was like, 'OK, let's do it,'" Haase said.

And so, they did. After meeting with local historians and establishing a clear understanding of what was wanted, Haase painted the mural. It can still be seen today, just off Ga. Hwy. 11 beside Roosters restaurant.

"That just kind of started the ball rolling," Haase said. "But it wasn't a fast roll."

After the mural was completed, Haase said she was approached about painting windows to decorate for Christmas. The first time she didn't think much of the request, but as the requests became more frequent, Haase thought it might be something she should take on.

After watching a series of tutorials on YouTube and researching what types of paint worked best, she created flyers and went "all over the place" to pass them out.

But no one called.

"One day, I went to over to Bradley's Bar-B-Que to give them a flyer, and [owner Brad Stewart] just happened to be there. He took my flyer, looked at it and said, 'When can you do this? Tomorrow?' And I said, 'OK.' So he said, 'Sign me up.'"

After Haase painted "Christmas pigs" for the barbecue joint, she said the window art became a hit.

That was also when Haase realized she could become a full-time artist.

"It was like all of a sudden I was making more than I have ever made in a day, and it was regular," she said.

"Because as soon as I finished with Christmas, people wanted Valentine's Day; then in the spring, 'hey, let's do Easter,' and all these things. Then in between, people were wanting me to do sign work. I just was never too picky about what I did, exactly, just as long as I was painting. My professor in college told me that if it's painting and you're making money at it, you're using your skills and that's a good thing."

"Every year gets better and better," she added.

Since becoming a full-time artist, Haase has developed a clientele that mainly spans from Covington to Monroe, over to Social Circle and down to Monticello, where she painted a "welcome" mural for the Jasper County city, but she has also completed work in Austell, Roswell, Dawsonville and Eatonton. Haase has also received inquiries from towns in Alabama, though she's been hesitant to do anything out of state, yet.

Currently, Haase said she's practically booked through next year, so she'll be unable to do any more window paintings until next Christmas season. This year, her slate is full of mural work.

Haase said her journey to becoming a full-time artist was simply a "God thing," but she wouldn't have it any other way.

"Before becoming a full-time artist, I hated being confined to a chair," she said. "I'm social; I like talking to people and meeting people, moving around and being outdoors. So, the mural thing didn't come til later, but after a lot of prayer, that was kind of the answer."

Haase said one of her favorite things about painting in the city of Covington was seeing and hearing about the joy her work brings to not only locals, but tourists as well.

"I've heard from some people that there will be a group of girls walk around the corner [at Pace Street] and then just scream with excitement [after seeing the mural featuring the Vampire Diaries and Sweet Magnolias, among others]," Haase said. "Hearing about that and seeing that is just exhilarating."

We wish you all a Happy Thanksgiving!

Our View on the Issue

Let us be thankful and enjoy our many blessings

[Editor's Note: This editorial originally appeared in The Covington News on Nov. 20, 2012.]

“For, after all, put it as we may to ourselves, we are all of us from birth to death guests at a table, which we did not spread. The sun, the earth, love, friends, our very breath are parts of the banquet... Shall we think of the day as a chance to come nearer to our host, and to find out something of him who has fed us so long?” — Rebecca Harding Davis

Thanksgiving is a day that most of us sit down with family and, in spite of all of our good plans, stuff ourselves, then swear we will never eat that much again and then go back in the evening for seconds.

Thanksgiving is a day that many of us watch football and spend time with family, in some cases lots and lots of family who pack into the house.

By the time Thanksgiving is over, we may think we're never doing that again, but we know in our heart that as surely as the sun rises in the morning, we'll be back again next year to celebrate the same traditions with the same people.

Similarly, despite any depressing news that comes our way in Newton County, hope springs ever eternal.

We have a new industry that promises to provide jobs and lure even more industries in the future.

Metro Creative Services

We have been spared the effects of major storms that wrecked other communities and torn apart many lives.

Surely, some are doing much better financially than others and if you have lost your job, home or fortune this past year, you might find it harder to understand why you should be thankful. We understand and sympathize.

However, all of us can be truly thankful this year when we take the time to reflect on the fact that we still have our freedoms.

Above this editorial, Rebecca Harding Davis gives many of us the greatest reason that we should be thankful. And, therefore, we thank God today for all his bounties and all his blessings and, for those with faith, we know that even in the midst of tribulations, the Lord is with us.

Here at The Covington News, we are also incredibly grateful to and thankful for our advertisers and our readers. We recognize that without your support, we wouldn't be where we are today and would have many less things to be thankful for.

Enjoy your families, enjoy your many blessings, don't eat too much and, above all, remember the host who has truly made all of it possible.

So, from the entire staff here at The News, we wish you and your family a bountiful Thanksgiving.

A full month of giving thanks

November, probably more so than any other month, conjures thoughts of fall, family and being thankful. With it being on many people's minds as Thanksgiving arrives for another year, I thought it would be a good time to offer thanks for things both serious and not-so-serious.

Some people enjoy posting each day during November for what they are thankful for. I prefer a one-time bundle. With that in mind for November 2021 I am thankful for:

- The bright color of the leaves this time of the year. From red to orange to brown, the vivid colors are always nice to see when traveling here and there.

- The days in November when the temperature still reaches the 70s making it enjoyable to be outside doing a little yard work or just relaxing at a nearby state park.

- High school football playoffs when the games on Friday nights are even more anticipated than the regular season.

- A good scary movie which seems to still be appropriate for this time of the year even though Halloween has now passed.

- A comfortable pair of shoes.

- A song or perhaps an old magazine or television show which has the power to magically transport you back in time to the year in which they were released.

- The candidate, however rare, that actually follows through on a campaign promise or two.

- Family. I can't image where I would be without the support of mine.

- Good friends. I have a small, but true, circle of friends who have mean a great deal to me. I can only hope that feeling is mutual.

- High school memories. I am thankful that my time in high school is marked by mostly good memories. I realize now everyone isn't as fortunate.

- The show "College Football Game Day" on Saturday mornings this time of the year.

- A good night's sleep, which fortunately I never have any trouble getting.

- Old family photos.

- Growing up in small town America.

- Arguments about who is the better team in college football, be they friendly or otherwise.

- The person who stopped while driving by my house to tell me how nice my yard looked.

- The blue sky after a lengthy stretch of rain.

- Classic game show re-runs.

- Twilight Zone re-runs.

- Colleges which still put out a print edition of their football media guide.

- Student-athletes who compete at the Division III level.

- All athletes and students

Columnist's spouse shares adventures in customer service

One of my frequent topics is customer service. I am old enough to remember when that term was mandatory, not optional.

If you have taken a few dozen trips around the sun, you remember when customer service was a priority. When you called a business, a human answered the phone. Actual people filled your gas tank and cleaned your windshield. A nice lady at the bank cashed your check, carefully counting the bills to make sure you got the right amount. Now we push buttons at an ATM in the rain, with a suspicious person standing right behind us. Progress?

So I'm turning over the remainder of this week's column to my wife Cindy, who joins me in celebrating the joys of a store that excelled in actual, human-contact customer service. Cindy, tell your story:

"Finding the perfect gift in this holiday season is never easy, so when I saw one I loved on Belk's website, I checked to see if it was available at Belk's nearest store. It was not, so I ordered the gift online. A few days later, I received an email that the item had been delivered at my home address, and I was thrilled. Gee, that was quick, I thought. But there was no sign of any package delivery. I had been home all evening. No delivery truck had come. We reviewed our Ring camera footage and there was no activity detected. These cameras usually pick up a stray cat running through the yard, so I felt confident no delivery person had been at our home. I called the Belk customer service number, put the phone on speaker, and waited. Forever. We listened to possibly the worst piano solo ever.

After 59 minutes David asked, "Doesn't this pianist get tired of playing?" and we both had a good laugh. A few minutes later, there was dead silence. The call had disconnected. I had waited more than an hour to talk with a representative, and got nothing. I was not in a good mood.

So I called the number again, this time opting for a "text chat" with a representative. When Belk sent the link, my phone notified me the link was fraudulent: DO NOT OPEN. So I did not.

I posted about the missing package on our community Facebook page, and asked if our neighbors had seen it, knowing that deliveries occasionally end up on the wrong porch. They had not. So our package had been delivered all right, but to who knows where.

By the next afternoon, there was still no sign of any delivery. I decided to visit the nearest Belk store at the mall, just to see if anyone there could help. It was a long shot, since online and in-store are not always compatible, but I felt I had nothing to lose.

After telling my sob story to two women at the jewelry counter, they paged the store manager. I showed her my online receipt, and she dialed the same number I had dialed the night before. As we waited, and waited for a human being to respond, I gave the manager the tracking number, order number and my contact information. Then, much to my surprise, I saw the very item I was trying to track down. Despite what it said on the Belk website, the item WAS available in-store. I told the manager if I had known that, I would have bought it at her store.

Eventually, a living, breathing customer service representative interrupted the bad piano music, but the store manager and I had a hard time understanding her. The rep had a heavy accent, but we did learn a critical piece of information—my item had indeed been delivered somewhere. Despite our clearly stated Tennessee address, my package had been dropped off more than a hundred miles away in Georgia.

We'll never know how that happened. We asked to discuss the matter with the service rep's supervisor. We were put on hold, again. When we were 33 minutes in, the Belk store manager had had enough. Let's just say she took care of me in a most unexpected, satisfactory way, and I will never forget her willingness to help, her sense of humor, and the way she managed to make me feel better.

I know many of you have a similar story. Workers in department stores are difficult to come by, and when we do find one, it's hard to get their attention to get what you need. But the people I encountered at Belk were kind and patient, and determined to solve my problem. So if you're tempted to buy online, please try your local store first. You may be pleasantly surprised."

Thank you Cindy. Technology is great. But good people are still a business's best asset.

Community mourns longtime county special projects coordinator

news@covnews.com

Wide, sun-dappled, leafy trails are wending their way from one side of the county to another and through the heart of Covington. Walkers, runners and bicyclists make their way at their own pace, most of whom know nothing of the battles and struggles it took to make trails in this community a reality.

That burden landed on the small but strong shoulders of a determined woman named Cheryl Delk who, as Special Projects Coordinator for Newton County, envisioned the beauty and benefits of a countywide trail system long before it became cool to support trails. The opposition was ferocious, but these days, communities without trails are at a disadvantage. Trails are an amenity that tourists, citizens and those looking to relocate to a community insist on.

That woman, Cheryl Delk, died recently and unexpectedly from a long battle with genetic heart disease, leaving behind the love of her life, Fred Franklin to whom she was married for 12 years. She was employed by Newton County for 19 years and, in her position, she took a leading role in most of the projects that define us and to which we look with pride, many of which escape recent memory.

When hired by the county, Cheryl was immediately thrust into the ongoing restoration of the Historic Courthouse that later would receive national plaudits; the renovation of the county's recently purchased Gaither's Plantation, now known as Gaither's at Myrtle Creek, home to numerous special events and film and television productions; and the construction of Trail Blazer's Park on Clark Street, providing basketball courts and open-air meeting space for the surrounding community. The transition was seamless, and Cheryl saw each project to completion.

She sought and won numerous grants to support the renovation of the Historic Jail; oversaw the creation of a prized inventory of county cemeteries, many of which are hidden in out-of-the-way fields and woodlands, and directed efforts to rehabilitate the historic Brick Store, once the county seat.

Let us not forget that, thanks to Cheryl Delk, the unique park dedicated to children, the aged and those with special needs exists today behind the Newton County Library and the Physical and Mental Health Facility. Her discovery of the little known acreage with a historic lineage inspired a band of citizens to create a new park that now hosts seasonal events and daily discovery of the peace and beauty found in connection with nature. The Friends of Newton Parks, a 501C-3 that supports Chimney Park, exists because of Cheryl Delk, and the trailhead for the Eastside Trail begins in Chimney Park.

Trails became Cheryl's passion. She requested and administered the federal grants that funded design and construction of the Eastside Trail and engineering of the Yellow River/Turkey Creek Trail. She oversaw contracting and construction of the Eastside Trail that opened in 2012. Cheryl also submitted the funding requests that led to then-Congressman Jim Marshall directing $1.1 million of federal funding in 2008-2009 for the purchase/acquisition of the Central of Georgia Railroad Corridor that is today the Cricket Frog Trail. When completed, the Cricket Frog Trail will reach from Porterdale to Covington, then out into the county ending in Newborn after passing through Mansfield. As this year ends, some 12 miles will be paved.

While local officials never voted to approve the acquisition, Cheryl's efforts initiated the conversations with Norfolk Southern Corp. that eventually led to rail banking and leasing the corridor to Newton Trails.

Off duty and after hours, another kind of trail captured Cheryl's imagination and intensity: the creation of the Yellow River Water Trail leading to the community-supported cleanup of the river that flows through Porterdale and statewide recognition of its unique recreational opportunity. She was responsible for obtaining a $70,000 grant to build a community boat launch and guided its construction. She and her beloved husband Fred who loves to paddle the river were partners in this endeavor.

Cheryl is remembered not only for her professional achievements that still enrich Newton County and foster healthy tourism, but also for her spirit and personality. A close friend says this: "She was unquestionably one of the kindest, sweetest people I have ever known." He remarked on her innate ability to create beauty in the world and to see and nurture beauty in others. "I know for certain I am a better person for all the ways she affirmed in me ... the importance of caring, connecting, laughing, loving and just plain persevering. ... I worked with Cheryl on projects that tested all of us in times when kindness was in short supply in certain quarters. But she never stopped being the gentle soul that was who she was."

Rest in peace, our beloved Cheryl.

Natalie Ray, surrounded by her parents, officially signs her scholarship to play softball at the University of Mississippi.

Eastside’s Ray signs with Ole Miss

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Signing scholarships to play in college is a big deal. Some student-athletes wait for all of the schools interested in them to offer before contemplating a decision. Natalie Ray, however, jumped at the opportunity to play softball for the University of Mississippi (Ole Miss). “Ole Miss was the first offer I got,” Ray said. “So, I took it. I loved the coaching staff. They’re the best and sweetest. And they really pour into the players and the campus.” Be that as it may, Ray didn’t rush into this decision. On Wednesday, Nov. 10 inside the Eastside High School auditorium, Ray officially signed to be a Lady Rebel next year. She committed to Ole Miss over a year ago on Oct. 23, 2020. There were a lot of factors in her final decision. First, the Ole Miss coaches would have weekly Zoom calls with Ray and her parents the month leading up to her final decision. Additionally, Ray took a few visits to the Ole Miss campus that convinced her even more to become a Lady Rebel. The feeling she got when first stepping on the campus was indescribable. Ray felt welcomed on every visit. “It was so much fun,” Ray said. “It was like being home away from home, really.” Now, a year removed from her original commitment, Ray said she has no doubts about her decision. She’s excited about what the next chapter holds. But, Ray realizes she wouldn’t be where she is today without the support of her Eastside team. From the coaches to her teammates, Ray remains appreciative of her time as a Lady Eagle. “My coaches have always pushed me to be a better player and a better person,” Ray said. “I love my teammates. No matter what grade everyone is in, See RAY, A7

Lauren Burnett, while surrounded by her parents and brother, signs her scholarship to play softball at the University of Georgia.

Burnett headed to the Classic City

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — Family, teammates and coaches gathered inside the Eastside High School auditorium on Nov. 10 to celebrate Lauren Burnett signing to play softball at the University of Georgia. Going to UGA has always been the goal for Burnett. Now, her dream is coming true. “I’ve been waiting for this moment for a very long time,” Burnett said. “I just knew I wanted to go to Georgia and that’s where I’m going.”

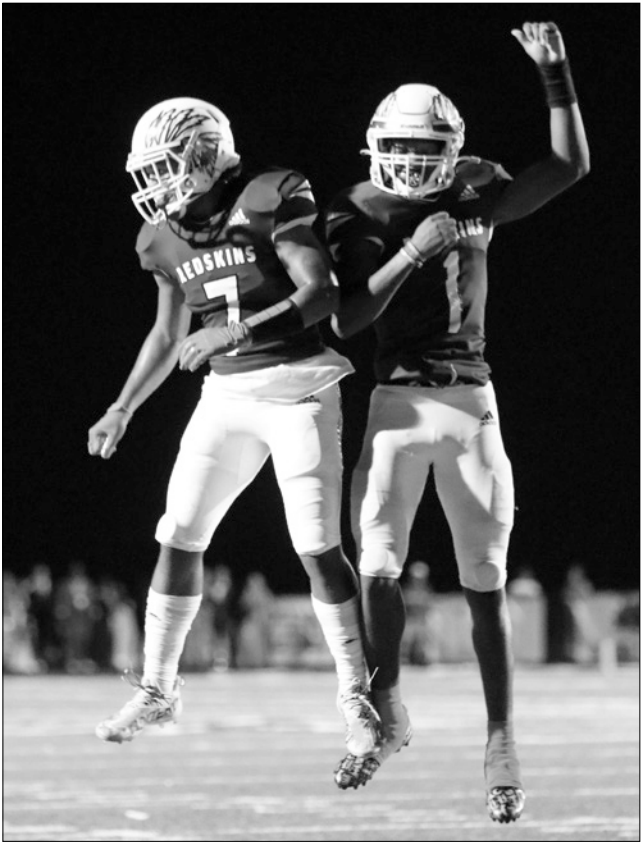

Burnett signed to further her softball career as a Lady Bulldog on the heels of an impressive career at Eastside. During her senior year, Burnett had a .442 batting average while hitting four home runs and 26 RBIs. She also stole five bases. As the team’s shortstop, Burnett recorded an 89% field percentage, too. All of these statistics earned her a Region 8-A-A-A-A-A’s First Team All-Region honor this season. Burnett’s career as a Lady Eagle was much more than numbers in a statistics book, though. She said that Eastside has prepared her for the amount of work playing college softball entails. “My work ethic has been developed here,” Burnett said. “Especially playing school ball and going to school at the same time. I feel like college ball will be the same way. Sometimes I go work out in the morning just to prepare myself for that, then go to school and go to team practice right after that.” Realizing this doesn’t mean Burnett is quite ready to leave her high school behind. After the Nov. 10 ceremony, she listed multiple memories that she’ll take with her to Athens. But there is a central theme around each memory. And that is the individuals she’s met along her high school journey. “I’ll miss all of the people,” Burnett said. “I’ll love college, that’s for sure. But in high school, it seems different.” Along with her memories, Burnett has learned some very See BURNETT, A7

GHSA reclassification affects area schools

Anthony Banks | The Covington News

Social Circle joins Region 8-AA beginning in 2022 — a move up from Class A-Public.

By PHILLIP B. HUBBARD
phubbard@covnews.com

COVINGTON, Ga. — On Nov. 11, the Georgia High School Association (GHSA) announced new region alignments for 2022-2024 seasons. The announcement came after the GHSA released the final reclassification a couple of weeks earlier. When the final alignments came out, each of the four area schools were affected in different ways. Newton stays put in Region 4-A-A-A-A-A-A while Alcovy is one of two schools remaining in Region 3-A-A-A-A-A. Eastside welcomes three new teams to Region 8-A-A-A-A-A and Social Circle prepares for competition in Region 8-AA. Here’s how each team is directly affected.

ALCOVY
The Tigers will get a chance to defend their Region 3-A-A-A-A-A championship next year. However, they’ll have six new teams battling for the region crown. Making up the eight-team region is: Lovejoy, Forest Park, Jonesboro, Morrow, Mundy’s Mill and Woodward Academy. Along with Alcovy, Rockdale County returns to the region. The biggest difference for Alcovy is the distance it’ll travel next year. And, while it is “bittersweet” to not face the same region opponents next year, athletic director Thomas Lowe highlighted how glad he was to have closer road games. “It will be a relief to have our region games a little closer to home,” Lowe said. “If I’m not mistaken, the furthest school in the proposed region is an hour away, versus the over two hour ride to two of our current region opponents. I think that is important when we have games on school nights to get our student-athletes back at a decent time.”

NEWTON
For the next two years, Region 4-A-A-A-A-A-A pretty much stays intact. Rejoining Newton are Brookwood, South Gwinnett, Grayson and Parkview. Archer is the only newcomer for 2022. Adding a sixth school to the fold adds even more pressure to make the playoffs coming out of this region. Other than that, the Rams don’t foresee many changes to their approach in the upcoming couple of years. Athletic Director Vincent Byams relishes Newton’s place in the Class 7A classification as well as seeing the Rams go up against

EASTSIDE
As members of Region 8-A-A-A-A-A, the Eagles will have nearly a brand new region to contend with the next two years. Eastside, Clarke Central and Loganville are the only returning schools. Flowery Branch, Heritage, Jefferson and Winder-Barrow are the newcomers. Though Heritage and Winder-Barrow will be new to this region alignment, Eastside is no stranger to those two teams. Across all of their sports, the Eagles have competed against Heritage and Winder-Barrow the past few years. For athletic director Phil Davidson, he’s excited to compete against a new set of teams. But the No. 1 goal for all the athletic teams remains the same regardless of the opponent. “Our goal continues to be providing the highest level of athletic and academic excellence for our student athletes and community,” Davidson said. “We welcome the challenge of playing in a region with so many programs who have similarly high standards for their own student-athletes across all sports.”

Cougars advance to GISA Class A State Championship game

By CHRIS BRIDGES
Correspondent

On paper, Georgia Christian was the higher seeded team last Friday.

On the field, Piedmont Academy was clearly the better team.

The Cougars (9-3) controlled their GISA Class A semifinal state playoff game from the start and cruised to a 55-0 victory against the host Generals (5-4) in Valdosta. Piedmont advances to the title game for the third consecutive season. “We had it rolling offensively,” head coach Clint Satterfield said. “We set up our first touchdown with three runs and then we connected on the scoring pass.”

Justin Reynolds was 12-of-19 passing for 219 yards and four touchdowns. Landon Conner had five catches for 97 yards and two scores while Ryan Holder had three receptions for 58 yards.

Contributed Photo

Luke Welch hauled in three passes for 33 yards and a score and Ryan Kennemore added a touchdown on two catches and 31 yards.

Michael Joseph had 190 yards on the ground on 22 carries with two scores. Gavin Mask rushed for 34 yards and a touchdown and Hunter Cleveland had a 3-yard touchdown.

Defensively, Mask

had five tackles, two sacks and a forced fumble while Ridge Stroud recorded four tackles and forced a fumble.

Conner and Mason Tanner both had three tackles while Cole Wade had two tackles, two sacks and a forced fumble. Mark Hicks, Brody Anderson and Mason Owen each had two tackles.

Dalton Wallace (one tackle, one sack), Welch (interception), Beau Cook (interception) and Daniel Joseph (one fumble recovery) also helped keep the Georgia Christian Generals off the scoreboard.

Georgia Christian took the first possession of the game but had the drive stopped on the second play after an interception by Welch at the Piedmont 40-yard line.

“Once we made that interception, things really went in our favor the rest of the game,” Satterfield said.

Satterfield’s Cougars needed just three plays to reach the end zone on the first of four touchdown passes by Reynolds to for an early 7-0 lead.

The host Generals began their second series in good field position following a return to their own 45. Georgia Christian moved into Piedmont territory but could not even the score.

The Cougars then found the end zone again on another touchdown pass by Reynolds. The PAT was blocked to leave the score at 13-0.

Once again, the Generals moved into Piedmont territory but fumbled the football to give possession back to the Cougars at their own 40-yard line.

After the teams traded punts, Piedmont added to its lead on a rushing touchdown by Joseph. The Cougars then added a two-point conversion for a 21-0 advantage.

Piedmont took a 41-0 lead into halftime and added two more scores in the second half to close out the contest.

“The level of loyalty this group of players has for each other is something I have not seen in my 31 years of coaching,” Satterfield said.

The Cougars play Thomas Jefferson Academy on Friday, Dec. 3, at Mercer University in Macon.

Piedmont and TJA are meeting for the third consecutive season with a title on the line. The Jaguars won the previous two and also defeated the Cougars 28-0 in the regular season this year.

we were always learning something from each other.”

During her Lady Eagles career, Ray racked up quite a few accolades. The top one came during her senior year when she claimed Eastside’s all-time stolen base record. Ray was also voted as Region 8-AAAAA’s Player of the Year this season where she recorded a .512 batting average, nine home runs and 23 RBIs along with 27 stolen bases.

Ray will graduate from Eastside in May 2022. A few months later, she’ll be moving to Oxford to begin her freshman year of college.

Playing in the SEC brings about a lot of anticipation for Ray, too. She labeled it as “the best conference you can play in.”

Even so, once the

Nov. 10 ceremony concluded, Ray highlighted how unreal everything was in that moment.

“It’s hard to believe,” Ray said. “It feels like yesterday that I decided to go to Ole Miss. And now it’s actually happening.”

BURNETT:

important lessons while playing softball at Eastside.

There was no lesson more important than one Burnett learned from her freshman season.

Burnett injured her shoulder that caused her to miss games. But that didn’t deter her from fighting back to the playing field.

After returning to action, Burnett realized something unique about herself.

“I learned that I can work through anything,” Burnett said. “I feel like nothing can stop me at this point.”

So, when Burnett packs her bags next fall to move to the Classic City, she’ll also take all of the memories and moments from her career at Eastside.

Transitioning to a Power-5 conference won’t be easy, but Burnett feels prepared as ever for the big stage.

“It’s an SEC school,” Burnett said. “So there’ll be big crowds at the games that I’m ready for. But, mostly, I’m excited about joining the UGA program to work with the coaches and teammates.”

GHSA:

the schools in the new region.

“As a school we’ll continue to work hard and strive to compete against some of the largest schools in the state,” Byams said. “Our region is one of the most competitive regions in the state for all sports. At the end of the day our student-athletes will have the opportunity to compete against some of the best schools in the state in the highest classification.”

SOCIAL CIRCLE

Of the four local teams, the Redskins are the most affected by the new classification and region alignments.

Moving up from Class A-Public, Social Circle will now join Region 8-AA beginning in 2022.

The Redskins did appeal the GHSA’s decision to stay in Class A-Public, but to no avail. Now, Social Circle will prepare to compete across all sports with many different opponents, including Banks County, East Jackson, Barrow, Elbert County, Rabun County and Union County.

Plans have already been made to transition into the new region by athletic director Craig Hargrove.

“As with any change, we will adapt and prepare our student-athletes for the challenges of Region 8-AA,” Hargrove said. “We have spoken briefly with fellow Region 8-AA athletic directors to begin the process of organizing the newly aligned region with the goal of having 2022 fall schedules ready by early January.”

BY JAY BOBBIN

Al Roker, Savannah Guthrie (center) and Hoda Kotb host NBC's coverage of The 95th Annual Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade on Thursday.

The Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade returns to normal – somewhat

For this year's Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, the bands are back together.

Last time, the event altered some traditions to meet coronavirus-pandemic protocols, one being the postponement of appearances by marching bands from schools across the country. Since the parade won't be for television only for 2021, spectators will be back as will the bands as NBC broadcasts the 95th annual edition of the New York holiday procession Thursday, Nov. 25. "Today's" Savannah Guthrie, Hoda Kotb and Al Roker will have their usual roles as the three-hour special's hosts.

"We were so happy to get to do a parade, in whatever form it came," Guthrie recalls of last year's procession ... with Kotb adding. "Every time the Macy's Parade comes around, it reminds you that life is getting a little bit back to normal. The fact that we're going to have some of the crowd back just gives me that feeling of, 'We're on a roll. Let's keep it going.' And I think this is emblematic of the route on which we're hopefully heading."

The number of people permitted to line the parade route will be reduced from the norm by 10 to 20 percent. New character balloons include Groggu (or "Baby Yoda") from "The Mandalorian" and the title figure from "Ada Twist, Scientist." Among the scheduled performers are Carrie Underwood, Kristin Chenoweth (whose former show "WICKED" will be among Broadway hits represented by musical numbers), Darren Criss, Kelly Rowland, Jimmie Allen, the Muppets and the Rockettes.

For typical parade-route-walker Roker, doing the 2020 version was memorable for a number of reasons, including the fact that he'd had prostate-cancer surgery just a couple of weeks earlier.

"Once you're in the teeth of (the parade), you're not really thinking about anything else," the genial meteorologist maintains. "In planning my surgery, my goal was to have recuperated to be ready for the parade. It's a touchstone for me, so it provided a certain sense of normalcy, even though it wasn't a normal parade. It was one I really needed, and I think a lot of people needed it."

The ongoing existence of the Macy's Parade comforts Guthrie, who says it would be that way whether she was a part of it or not: "To have that continuity is really important and really meaningful. It'll mean a lot for people to be back out there participating."

Kotb believes that might pertain especially to the band members, since she reasons, "It's their moment in the spotlight. I always picture their parents with their noses glued to the TV, being like, 'That's my kid!' The fact that that's back brings an element that's beyond balloons. It's maybe the most real part of the parade."

'The Katie Button Project' explores food and how it gets to market

Katie Button has a deep and abiding appreciation for where food comes from and how it is produced, which is what drove her to make a food/adventure series upcoming on discovery+.

In the currently streaming "The Katie Button Project," the award-winning chef and restaurateur traces how popular ingredients such as fish, beef, cheese and apples make it to market, from the moment they're harvested through the production process. She also shares her knowledge of cooking techniques like searing or seasoning in the hopes of inspiring others to be more adventurous, curious and creative in the kitchen.

"My favorite thing about cooking," the Asheville, N.C.-based Button explains, "is cooking something that I don't usually cook, cooking something new because it's an experience. ... You know, if it's cooking rice a different way or trying a different variety or cooking with apples instead of just thinking of them for dessert or as a snack, or playing around with honey and different varieties, I just want to inspire people not only to learn about the passion behind the people producing food in this country – because that is an extremely interesting and important part – but the takeaway is jump in your kitchen and try it out."

And try it out she does. In the show's trailer, she's seen on a commercial fishing vessel off the coast of South Carolina fishing for snowy grouper and golden tilefish. This was no charter boat with many of the comforts of home but a trip in Spartan conditions to the continental shelf 10 hours out in the Atlantic.

After hauling in her catch by rod and reel – "they do a catch-and-reel system because it's super sustainable," Button notes – she then prepared a traditional Spanish fisherman's stew on board.

"My husband's from Spain and I lived and worked in restaurants in Spain and also worked for (chef) José Andrés here in the U.S. – that's where I met my husband," she says. "And so I made this ... stew made with fresh fish that you catch and some fish stock. And then I added to it – like traditionally you add to it fish liver, which is not something which you can usually get your hands on but since we were on this boat gutting the fish ... I was actually able to do that. It was so neat. (It was) something I never had the opportunity to do to make it in that authentic method using those ingredients. It only happens on a fishing boat."

OF 'THE LONG CALL' ON BRITBOX

What attracted you to the British crime drama "The Long Call"?

I had quite coincidentally been asked to read the audiobook ... and in reading it, I realized that there were kind of crossovers for me and (his character) Matthew. ... And I was really drawn to it I think because of the things we share and some of the experiences that he's struggled with. I'm gay and he is gay and I grew up in an evangelical Christian home.

He obviously grew up in a hardline Brethren community ...

So there were just many crossovers, things that he struggled with, things that he dealt with, and the way in which he navigates the world as a gay man who I think a lot of his energy is spent on kind of trying to fly under the radar because I think he believes that'll make his life easier. He's carrying around a lot of shame with him. And me in my personal life have worked to deal with those things but it's kind of a recent living history for me, so I could really connect with that. And also, I've been looking to – I've played lots of different men over the years but mostly men who were straight, looked at as their defining feature. But I'd been looking for a project in which I could kind of connect and explore my own sexuality and this felt like a really good fit to do that.

Moonshiners

8 p.m. on DISC

When Mark and Digger ask permission to run on commercial property, the answer they get is as shocking as the results that ensue in the new episode "Like Water for Moonshine." Meanwhile, Mike and Jerry turn blueberries into top-shelf brandy, but the mash is worth celebrating as well. Elsewhere, Richard chases the green fairy to make backwoods absinthe.

The Humans

8 p.m. on SHOW

Stephen Karam makes his directorial debut with his self-penned adaptation of his 2016 Broadway play, which won both the Tony Award and Pulitzer Prize. The action takes place at Thanksgiving, as the Blake family gathers at the rundown apartment of Brigid Blake (Beanie Feldstein, "American Crime Story: Impeachment") and her boyfriend, Richard (Steven Yuen, "The Walking Dead") in New York's Chinatown. Jayne Houdyshell reprises her Tony-winning performance as the Blake family matriarch, in an ensemble that also includes Richard Jenkins, Amy Schumer and June Squibb.

NOVA

9 p.m. on WGTV

This five-part limited series concludes with "NOVA Universe Revealed: Big Bang," a finale that looks back at the moment many people think of as the moment the universe — and even time itself — started. That notion raises a related question that's a real head-scratcher, though: namely, what existed before the universe was born? This episode winds back the ages using animation based on stunning images from the Hubble Space Telescope.

Secrets of the Dead

10 p.m. on WGTV

Season 19 of this docuseries concludes with "The Caravaggio Heist," a new episode that revisits the 1984 theft of a Maltese national treasure from the Cathedral of St. John in Valletta.

tonight's PICKS

John O'Hurley

The 95th Annual Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade
9 a.m. on WXIA

“Today” co-hosts Savannah Guthrie, Hoda Kotb and Al Roker anchor this three-hour special covering the 95th edition of a beloved Thanksgiving tradition, a parade featuring 15 giant character balloons, 28 floats, 36 inflatables, hundreds of clowns, 10 marching bands, and an assortment of musical acts, among other diversions. Demonstrating that the Great White Way is back and thriving, the Broadway casts of “Wicked,” “Moulin Rouge!” and “SIX” will perform numbers from those productions. Other featured guests include Kristin Chenoweth, Darren Criss, Jordan Fisher and Jon Batiste, among many others.

The National Dog Show

12:02 p.m. on WXIA
Actor John O'Hurley and expert analyst David Frei return to co-host this holiday special, which has proven to be catnip (pardon the expression) for family viewers over the 20 years NBC has carried it. NBC correspondent Mary Carillo will report from backstage and inside the show ring. In the toy group, a new breed called the Biewer Terrier will be introduced to the national audience in this year's competition, bringing the total recognized breeds to 209. Last year, a graceful Scottish Deerhound named Claire took home the Best in Show title.

World Pet Games

8 p.m. on WAGA
Erin Andrews and Finesse Mitchell serve as co-hosts for this unusual two-hour special for animals — and animal lovers — of all kinds. Representing nearly 20 countries from around the world, this international competition features human contestants with their incredibly diverse pets ranging from cute but familiar house cats to an armadillo, a bearded dragon and a miniature horse with a poignant back story. Competition events run the gamut from Interspecies Race and Dunk Off to Dog High Jump and Cat Obstacle Course.

“Frosty the Snowman”

Christmas CEO

6 p.m. on HALL

Ever since she was a child, Christmas “Chris” Whitaker (Marisol Nichols, “Riverdale”) sensed her life’s purpose was to spread Christmas cheer through her passion for toy making. At 10, instead of a lemonade stand, Chris sold homemade toys at her neighborhood Christmas tree lot, always with her best friend Joe Sullivan (Paul Greene, “When Calls the Heart”). After they launched a toy company in college, however, Chris gradually lost sight of why she loved toy making. A business deal gives Joe a chance to remind her in this 2021 holiday romance.

Frosty the Snowman

8 p.m. on WGCL

In this animated classic, Jackie Vernon provides the voice of Frosty, the legendary snowman with a corncob pipe and a button nose. Frosty comes to life when a magician’s hat lands on his head. With the help of children, he heads for the North Pole before he melts — but he’s pursued by the magician, who wants his hat back. Billy De Wolfe supplies the voice of the magician, and Jimmy Durante narrates the tale. The sequel “Frosty Returns” immediately follows.

Masters of Illusion: Christmas Magic 2021

8 p.m. on WUPA

Dean Cain says he doesn’t want to know how the illusionists pull off their tricks, he just wants to be dazzled by them, which makes him the perfect host for this annual special holiday episode with a distinctive yuletide feel. Whether it’s a magician pulling gifts out of an apparently empty bag or people entering a box dressed as an elf, but reappearing as a snowman, the hour-long special never skimps on Christmas magic.

What's Available NOW On

“Becoming Cousteau” (Nov. 24)

From Oscar-nominated and Emmy-winning filmmaker Liz Garbus (“The Farm: Angola, USA,” “What Happened, Miss Simone?”) comes this 2021 documentary that uses newly restored archival footage to look at the life, passions, achievements and tragedies surrounding celebrated explorer and environmentalist Jacques Cousteau, who died in 1997 in Paris at age 87.

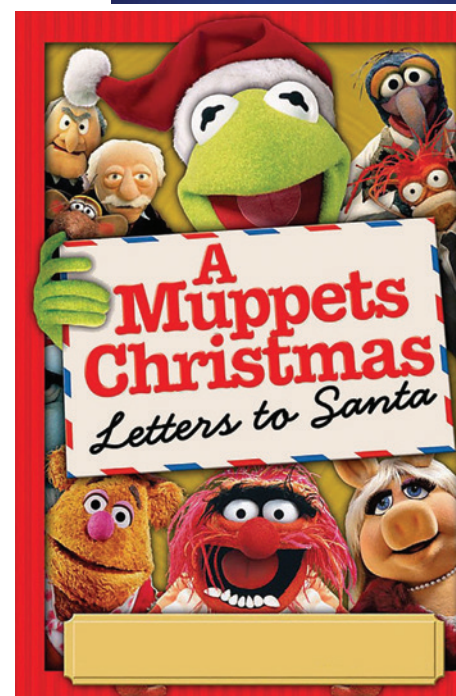

“The Beatles: Get Back” (Nov. 25)

Music fans will most definitely take interest in this three-part, six-hour documentary from “The Lord of the Rings” director Peter Jackson, which uses in-studio footage shot in early 1969 to show how Paul McCartney, John Lennon, George Harrison and Ringo Starr made their 12th and final album “Let It Be.” (ORIGINAL)

“Jungle Cruise” (Available now)

From director Jaume Collet-Serra (“The Shallows”) comes this 2021 action adventure set in 1916 that stars Dwayne Johnson as a riverboard captain who takes a botanist (Emily Blunt) and her brother (Jack Whitehall) on a perilous journey deep into the Amazon in search of a mythical tree whose petals are thought to have healing properties. Jesse Plemons and Paul Giamatti also star.

“A Muppets Christmas: Letters to Santa” (Available now)

When Kermit and company accidentally intercept three children's letters to St. Nick, they vow to hand-deliver them to the North Pole themselves with a little help from their friends. Whoopi Goldberg, Tony Sirico and Madison Pettis (“Cory in the House”) are among their human co-stars in this special.

tonight's PICKS

Kelly Rowland

Soul Santa

8 p.m. on BET

This 2021 Christmas-themed comedy borrows bits of its premise from Whoopi Goldberg's "Sister Act," about a singer forced to hide from gangsters by masquerading as a nun. This new TV movie centers on a deeply unlucky businessman who gambles away money belonging to the mob. Painfully aware that he could spend Christmas Eve sleeping with the fishes if the gangsters find him, he goes on the lam and finds a holiday job as a shopping mall Santa Claus. David Mann, Tamela Mann and Brooke Monroe Conaway star.

Merry Liddle Christmas Baby

8 p.m. on LIFE

Kelly Rowland and Thomas Cadrot reprise their roles as Jacquie Liddle and her husband, Tyler, in this latest installment in the hit holiday movie franchise. This year the Liddle household has a lot to be merry about, as Jacquie and Tyler prepare to welcome their first baby. Elsewhere, Treena (Lato-nya Williams), Jacquie's cousin, and her hubby, Julian (Jaime M. Callica), are mulling becoming adoptive parents themselves, while fashionista sister Kiara (Bresha Webb) is getting serious about boyfriend Chris (Nathan Witte).

One Last Time: An Evening With Tony Bennett and Lady Gaga

8 p.m. on WGCL

Filmed during two concerts in Radio City Music Hall last August, this one-hour special captures Lady Gaga and veteran crooner Tony Bennett in what was billed as his final public performances, as well as marking his 95th birthday. These frequent collaborators and musical soulmates brought their packed houses to their feet during what one reviewer called “a sparkly, campy and emotional night” filled with memorable renditions of several timeless pop and jazz standards.

The Waltons' Homecoming

8 p.m. on WUPA

Commemorating the 1971 premiere of “The Homecoming: A Christmas Story,” the TV movie that launched the long-running drama series “The Waltons,” this remake of that Depression-era story takes place on Christmas Eve 1933, as a heavy winter storm threatens to keep patriarch John Walton Sr. (Ben Lawson) from getting home to wife Olivia (Bellamy Young) and his large family. Logan Shroyer (“This Is Us”) plays eldest son John-Boy; Marcelle LeBlanc, Christian Finlayson, Tatum Matthews and Samuel Goergen costar; Richard Thomas narrates.

The Great Christmas Light Fight

9 p.m. on WSB

With a 10th round already on order, this hit seasonal competition series showcases some of America's houses with literally dazzling Christmas displays, with each episode featuring four households competing to win the $50,000 prize. Some of the displays are high-tech marvels, while others have more of a nostalgic, homemade charm behind their yuletide magic. As always lifestyle expert Carter Oosterhouse and interior designer Taniya Nayak have their work cut out for them in deciding which home is that episode's best.

The Black Pack: We Three Kings

8 p.m. on WUPA

Taye Diggs ("All American") joins singer-songwriters Ne-Yo and Eric Bellinger for this new one-hour special that's a tip of the hat to the enduring appeal of Frank Sinatra and his Rat Pack ensemble of artists. This holiday extravaganza of music, comedy and dance salutes the joy of this holiday season, which the program explores through a timeless lens. Scheduled guests include Diggs' "All American" co-star Bre-Z and singer-songwriters Jordin Sparks, Sevyn Streeter and Tank.

Welcome to the Christmas Family Reunion

8 p.m. on LIFE

Amy (Michelle Argyris), an event planner, agrees to help rising vocalist Tiffanie Christmas (Asia'h Epperson) coordinate a holiday family reunion, but she quickly discovers the job entails navigating some challenging family dynamics, particularly where Tiffanie's aunts are concerned. She's also more than a little distracted by Calvin (Alonzo B. Slater), Tiffanie's handsome cousin. Nevertheless, Amy is determined that the big event will go off without a hitch in this 2021 romance. Vanessa Williams, Wendy Raquel Robinson and Catherine Haena Kim also star.

That's My Jam

10:01 p.m. on WXIA

While this new series won't officially premiere until early 2022, this one-hour music and comedy variety show gets a sneak preview tonight. Inspired by some of the most popular games featured on "The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon," each episode features two teams — each with two celebrities — competing to win money for a favorite charity in a series of music, dance and trivia-based games. In tonight's preview, host Fallon welcomes the teams of Ariana Grande with Blake Shelton, and Kelly Clarkson with John Legend.

Saying Yes to Christmas

8 p.m. on LIFE

While workaholic June is back home visiting her family for the holidays, a magic Christmas wish casts a spell that compels her to say “yes” to every invitation she receives. Among them, the sudden reappearance of Blake, an old flame, soon finds its way onto her overcommitted schedule, striking some long-dormant sparks as they spend time together. Erika Prevost and Romaine Waite star in this 2021 yuletide romance.

7 Little Johnstons

8 p.m. on TLC

Trent is forced to re-evaluate his priorities after his father's declining health causes him to miss their annual Father's Day gathering in a new episode called “From Croquet to Crochet.” Meanwhile, Anna is hit with the realities of living on her own, and Emma settles into her new solo room.

Riverdale

9 p.m. on WUPA

After each of them receives an unsettling visit from a mysterious figure who arrives in town from parts unknown, the gang find themselves confronted with some unwelcome ultimatums, some of which look like no-win scenarios, in the new episode “Chapter Ninety-Eighty: Mr. Cypher.” Lili Reinhart, Camila Mendes, Cole Sprouse, Madchen Amick, Casey Cott, Charles Melton, Erinn Westbrook and Drew Ray Tanner star.

Life of Crime 1984-2020

9 p.m. on HBO

Filmmaker Jon Alpert's harrowing 2021 documentary takes an unsparing look at the vicious cycle of drug addiction and related street crime in New Jersey following three principal characters — Robert Steffey, Freddie Rodriguez and Deliris Vasquez — on a relentless ride through the streets and prisons of Newark, the largest city in that state. The story that emerges is one filled with violence, pain and desperation, but also love, courage, redemption and heroism.

'The Sound of Music' will be heard again soon

Q: Will "The Sound of Music" be on again this holiday season? – Sherry Evans, Bexley, Ohio

A: It will, indeed. One of the very few movies that still get an annual broadcast-network telecast ("It's a Wonderful Life" and "The Ten Commandments" being other examples), the Julie Andrews-starring 1965 Rodgers & Hammerstein musical will have its yearly ABC airing all night Sunday, Dec. 19. It's likely to be a bittersweet occasion for true devotees, since it will be the film's first television presentation since the death of co-star Christopher Plummer (alias the picture's Captain von Trapp) last February.

Q: Before all of the recent news involving Alec Baldwin, what was the last movie or TV show that he finished? – Adam Cobbs, via email

A: Sources give that as being "Supercell," an adventure movie about storm chasers that was in post-production (with filming having been completed) at the time of the incident that occurred on the set of Baldwin's subsequent film, the Western "Rust." Skeet Ulrich and Anne Heche are among others in the "Supercell" cast.

Baldwin also was slated to star with Kelsey Grammer in a sitcom that ABC initially had ordered, then decided to pass on – months before the "Rust" situation – with studio 20th Television then trying to shop it elsewhere (an interesting development, since the network and the studio now are both under the Disney corporate banner, with former ABC chief Karey Burke running 20th). As of this writing, the ultimate fate of that project remained undetermined.

To complete this puzzle, place the numbers 1-9 in the empty cells, so that every row, column and 3-by-3 box (in bold outline) contains all nine digits.

Each number 1-9 may appear only once in each row, column and 3-by-3 box.

"I certainly do hope that watching the show is a satisfying experience for people who watched it originally and are curious about what happened to (Dexter). Certainly, I hope it does provide some definitive answers that aren't primarily just mystifying to people."
– Michael C. Hall of "Dexter: New Blood" on Showtime

"'7th Heaven' was something that at the time, probably because of how old I was, I never thought was going to make the impact it did. At all. I actually didn't. I thought I was just doing a pilot that was never going to go to series."

coverstory

BY JAY BOBBIN

Al Roker, Savannah Guthrie (center) and Hoda Kotb host NBC's coverage of The 95th Annual Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade on Thursday.

The Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade returns to normal – somewhat

For this year's Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade, the bands are back together.

Last time, the event altered some traditions to meet coronavirus-pandemic protocols, one being the postponement of appearances by marching bands from schools across the country. Since the parade won't be for television only for 2021, spectators will be back as will the bands as NBC broadcasts the 95th annual edition of the New York holiday procession Thursday, Nov. 25. "Today's" Savannah Guthrie, Hoda Kotb and Al Roker will have their usual roles as the three-hour special's hosts.

"We were so happy to get to do a parade, in whatever form it came," Guthrie recalls of last year's procession ... with Kotb adding. "Every time the Macy's Parade comes around, it reminds you that life is getting a little bit back to normal. The fact that we're going to have some of the crowd back just gives me that feeling of, 'We're on a roll. Let's keep it going.' And I think this is emblematic of the route on which we're hopefully heading."

The number of people permitted to line the parade route will be reduced from the norm by 10 to 20 percent. New character balloons include Groggu (or "Baby Yoda") from "The Mandalorian" and the title figure from "Ada Twist, Scientist." Among the scheduled performers are Carrie Underwood, Kristin Chenoweth (whose former show "WICKED" will be among Broadway hits represented by musical numbers), Darren Criss, Kelly Rowland, Jimmie Allen, the Muppets and the Rockettes.

For typical parade-route-walker Roker, doing the 2020 version was memorable for a number of reasons, including the fact that he'd had prostate-cancer surgery just a couple of weeks earlier.

"Once you're in the teeth of (the parade), you're not really thinking about anything else," the genial meteorologist maintains. "In planning my surgery, my goal was to have recuperated to be ready for the parade. It's a touchstone for me, so it provided a certain sense of normalcy, even though it wasn't a normal parade. It was one I really needed, and I think a lot of people needed it."

The ongoing existence of the Macy's Parade comforts Guthrie, who says it would be that way whether she was a part of it or not: "To have that continuity is really important and really meaningful. It'll mean a lot for people to be back out there participating."

Kotb believes that might pertain especially to the band members, since she reasons, "It's their moment in the spotlight. I always picture their parents with their noses glued to the TV, being like, 'That's my kid!' The fact that that's back brings an element that's beyond balloons. It's maybe the most real part of the parade."

'The Katie Button Project' explores food and how it gets to market

Katie Button has a deep and abiding appreciation for where food comes from and how it is produced, which is what drove her to make a food/adventure series upcoming on discovery+.

In the currently streaming "The Katie Button Project," the award-winning chef and restaurateur traces how popular ingredients such as fish, beef, cheese and apples make it to market, from the moment they're harvested through the production process. She also shares her knowledge of cooking techniques like searing or seasoning in the hopes of inspiring others to be more adventurous, curious and creative in the kitchen.

"My favorite thing about cooking," the Asheville, N.C.-based Button explains, "is cooking something that I don't usually cook, cooking something new because it's an experience. ... You know, if it's cooking rice a different way or trying a different variety or cooking with apples instead of just thinking of them for dessert or as a snack, or playing around with honey and different varieties, I just want to inspire people not only to learn about the passion behind the people producing food in this country – because that is an extremely interesting and important part – but the takeaway is jump in your kitchen and try it out."

And try it out she does. In the show's trailer, she's seen on a commercial fishing vessel off the coast of South Carolina fishing for snowy grouper and golden tilefish. This was no charter boat with many of the comforts of home but a trip in Spartan conditions to the continental shelf 10 hours out in the Atlantic.

After hauling in her catch by rod and reel – "they do a catch-and-reel system because it's super sustainable," Button notes – she then prepared a traditional Spanish fisherman's stew on board.

"My husband's from Spain and I lived and worked in restaurants in Spain and also worked for (chef) José Andrés here in the U.S. – that's where I met my husband," she says. "And so I made this ... stew made with fresh fish that you catch and some fish stock. And then I added to it – like traditionally you add to it fish liver, which is not something which you can usually get your hands on but since we were on this boat gutting the fish ... I was actually able to do that. It was so neat. (It was) something I never had the opportunity to do to make it in that authentic method using those ingredients. It only happens on a fishing boat."

OF 'THE LONG CALL' ON BRITBOX

What attracted you to the British crime drama "The Long Call"?

I had quite coincidentally been asked to read the audiobook ... and in reading it, I realized that there were kind of crossovers for me and (his character) Matthew. ... And I was really drawn to it I think because of the things we share and some of the experiences that he's struggled with. I'm gay and he is gay and I grew up in an evangelical Christian home.

He obviously grew up in a hardline Brethren community ...

So there were just many crossovers, things that he struggled with, things that he dealt with, and the way in which he navigates the world as a gay man who I think a lot of his energy is spent on kind of trying to fly under the radar because I think he believes that'll make his life easier. He's carrying around a lot of shame with him. And me in my personal life have worked to deal with those things but it's kind of a recent living history for me, so I could really connect with that. And also, I've been looking to – I've played lots of different men over the years but mostly men who were straight, looked at as their defining feature. But I'd been looking for a project in which I could kind of connect and explore my own sexuality and this felt like a really good fit to do that.

tonight's PICKS

Steven Yuen

Moonshiners

8 p.m. on DISC

When Mark and Digger ask permission to run on commercial property, the answer they get is as shocking as the results that ensue in the new episode "Like Water for Moonshine." Meanwhile, Mike and Jerry turn blueberries into top-shelf brandy, but the mash is worth celebrating as well. Elsewhere, Richard chases the green fairy to make backwoods absinthe.

The Humans

8 p.m. on SHOW

Stephen Karam makes his directorial debut with his self-penned adaptation of his 2016 Broadway play, which won both the Tony Award and Pulitzer Prize. The action takes place at Thanksgiving, as the Blake family gathers at the rundown apartment of Brigid Blake (Beanie Feldstein, "American Crime Story: Impeachment") and her boyfriend, Richard (Steven Yuen, "The Walking Dead") in New York's Chinatown. Jayne Houdyshell reprises her Tony-winning performance as the Blake family matriarch, in an ensemble that also includes Richard Jenkins, Amy Schumer and June Squibb.

NOVA

9 p.m. on WGTV

This five-part limited series concludes with "NOVA Universe Revealed: Big Bang," a finale that looks back at the moment many people think of as the moment the universe — and even time itself — started. That notion raises a related question that's a real head-scratcher, though: namely, what existed before the universe was born? This episode winds back the ages using animation based on stunning images from the Hubble Space Telescope.

Secrets of the Dead

10 p.m. on WGTV

Season 19 of this docuseries concludes with "The Caravaggio Heist," a new episode that revisits the 1984 theft of a Maltese national treasure from the Cathedral of St. John in Valletta.

tonight's PICKS

John O'Hurley

The 95th Annual Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade
9 a.m. on WXIA

“Today” co-hosts Savannah Guthrie, Hoda Kotb and Al Roker anchor this three-hour special covering the 95th edition of a beloved Thanksgiving tradition, a parade featuring 15 giant character balloons, 28 floats, 36 inflatables, hundreds of clowns, 10 marching bands, and an assortment of musical acts, among other diversions. Demonstrating that the Great White Way is back and thriving, the Broadway casts of “Wicked,” “Moulin Rouge!” and “SIX” will perform numbers from those productions. Other featured guests include Kristin Chenoweth, Darren Criss, Jordan Fisher and Jon Batiste, among many others.

The National Dog Show

12:02 p.m. on WXIA

Actor John O'Hurley and expert analyst David Frei return to co-host this holiday special, which has proven to be catnip (pardon the expression) for family viewers over the 20 years NBC has carried it. NBC correspondent Mary Carillo will report from backstage and inside the show ring. In the toy group, a new breed called the Biewer Terrier will be introduced to the national audience in this year's competition, bringing the total recognized breeds to 209. Last year, a graceful Scottish Deerhound named Claire took home the Best in Show title.

World Pet Games

8 p.m. on WAGA

Erin Andrews and Finesse Mitchell serve as co-hosts for this unusual two-hour special for animals — and animal lovers — of all kinds. Representing nearly 20 countries from around the world, this international competition features human contestants with their incredibly diverse pets ranging from cute but familiar house cats to an armadillo, a bearded dragon and a miniature horse with a poignant back story. Competition events run the gamut from Interspecies Race and Dunk Off to Dog High Jump and Cat Obstacle Course.

“Frosty the Snowman”

Christmas CEO

6 p.m. on HALL

Ever since she was a child, Christmas “Chris” Whitaker (Marisol Nichols, “Riverdale”) sensed her life’s purpose was to spread Christmas cheer through her passion for toy making. At 10, instead of a lemonade stand, Chris sold homemade toys at her neighborhood Christmas tree lot, always with her best friend Joe Sullivan (Paul Greene, “When Calls the Heart”). After they launched a toy company in college, however, Chris gradually lost sight of why she loved toy making. A business deal gives Joe a chance to remind her in this 2021 holiday romance.

Frosty the Snowman

8 p.m. on WGCL

In this animated classic, Jackie Vernon provides the voice of Frosty, the legendary snowman with a corncob pipe and a button nose. Frosty comes to life when a magician’s hat lands on his head. With the help of children, he heads for the North Pole before he melts — but he’s pursued by the magician, who wants his hat back. Billy De Wolfe supplies the voice of the magician, and Jimmy Durante narrates the tale. The sequel “Frosty Returns” immediately follows.

Masters of Illusion: Christmas Magic 2021

8 p.m. on WUPA

Dean Cain says he doesn’t want to know how the illusionists pull off their tricks, he just wants to be dazzled by them, which makes him the perfect host for this annual special holiday episode with a distinctive yuletide feel. Whether it’s a magician pulling gifts out of an apparently empty bag or people entering a box dressed as an elf, but reappearing as a snowman, the hour-long special never skimps on Christmas magic.

What's Available NOW On

“Becoming Cousteau” (Nov. 24)

From Oscar-nominated and Emmy-winning filmmaker Liz Garbus (“The Farm: Angola, USA,” “What Happened, Miss Simone?”) comes this 2021 documentary that uses newly restored archival footage to look at the life, passions, achievements and tragedies surrounding celebrated explorer and environmentalist Jacques Cousteau, who died in 1997 in Paris at age 87.

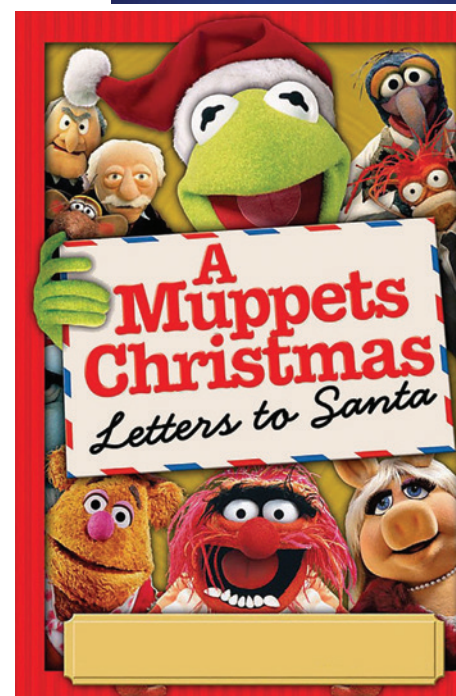

“The Beatles: Get Back” (Nov. 25)

Music fans will most definitely take interest in this three-part, six-hour documentary from “The Lord of the Rings” director Peter Jackson, which uses in-studio footage shot in early 1969 to show how Paul McCartney, John Lennon, George Harrison and Ringo Starr made their 12th and final album “Let It Be.” (ORIGINAL)

“Jungle Cruise” (Available now)

From director Jaume Collet-Serra (“The Shallows”) comes this 2021 action adventure set in 1916 that stars Dwayne Johnson as a riverboard captain who takes a botanist (Emily Blunt) and her brother (Jack Whitehall) on a perilous journey deep into the Amazon in search of a mythical tree whose petals are thought to have healing properties. Jesse Plemons and Paul Giamatti also star.

“A Muppets Christmas: Letters to Santa” (Available now)

When Kermit and company accidentally intercept three children's letters to St. Nick, they vow to hand-deliver them to the North Pole themselves with a little help from their friends. Whoopi Goldberg, Tony Sirico and Madison Pettis (“Cory in the House”) are among their human co-stars in this special.

tonight's PICKS

Kelly Rowland

Soul Santa

8 p.m. on BET

This 2021 Christmas-themed comedy borrows bits of its premise from Whoopi Goldberg's "Sister Act," about a singer forced to hide from gangsters by masquerading as a nun. This new TV movie centers on a deeply unlucky businessman who gambles away money belonging to the mob. Painfully aware that he could spend Christmas Eve sleeping with the fishes if the gangsters find him, he goes on the lam and finds a holiday job as a shopping mall Santa Claus. David Mann, Tamela Mann and Brooke Monroe Conaway star.

Merry Liddle Christmas Baby

8 p.m. on LIFE

Kelly Rowland and Thomas Cadrot reprise their roles as Jacquie Liddle and her husband, Tyler, in this latest installment in the hit holiday movie franchise. This year the Liddle household has a lot to be merry about, as Jacquie and Tyler prepare to welcome their first baby. Elsewhere, Treena (Lato-nya Williams), Jacquie's cousin, and her hubby, Julian (Jaime M. Callica), are mulling becoming adoptive parents themselves, while fashionista sister Kiara (Bresha Webb) is getting serious about boyfriend Chris (Nathan Witte).

One Last Time: An Evening With Tony Bennett and Lady Gaga

8 p.m. on WGCL

Filmed during two concerts in Radio City Music Hall last August, this one-hour special captures Lady Gaga and veteran crooner Tony Bennett in what was billed as his final public performances, as well as marking his 95th birthday. These frequent collaborators and musical soulmates brought their packed houses to their feet during what one reviewer called “a sparkly, campy and emotional night” filled with memorable renditions of several timeless pop and jazz standards.

The Waltons' Homecoming

8 p.m. on WUPA

Commemorating the 1971 premiere of “The Homecoming: A Christmas Story,” the TV movie that launched the long-running drama series “The Waltons,” this remake of that Depression-era story takes place on Christmas Eve 1933, as a heavy winter storm threatens to keep patriarch John Walton Sr. (Ben Lawson) from getting home to wife Olivia (Bellamy Young) and his large family. Logan Shroyer (“This Is Us”) plays eldest son John-Boy; Marcelle LeBlanc, Christian Finlayson, Tatum Matthews and Samuel Goergen costar; Richard Thomas narrates.

The Great Christmas Light Fight

9 p.m. on WSB

With a 10th round already on order, this hit seasonal competition series showcases some of America's houses with literally dazzling Christmas displays, with each episode featuring four households competing to win the $50,000 prize. Some of the displays are high-tech marvels, while others have more of a nostalgic, homemade charm behind their yuletide magic. As always lifestyle expert Carter Oosterhouse and interior designer Taniya Nayak have their work cut out for them in deciding which home is that episode's best.

The Black Pack: We Three Kings

8 p.m. on WUPA

Taye Diggs ("All American") joins singer-songwriters Ne-Yo and Eric Bellinger for this new one-hour special that's a tip of the hat to the enduring appeal of Frank Sinatra and his Rat Pack ensemble of artists. This holiday extravaganza of music, comedy and dance salutes the joy of this holiday season, which the program explores through a timeless lens. Scheduled guests include Diggs' "All American" co-star Bre-Z and singer-songwriters Jordin Sparks, Sevyn Streeter and Tank.

Welcome to the Christmas Family Reunion

8 p.m. on LIFE

Amy (Michelle Argyris), an event planner, agrees to help rising vocalist Tiffanie Christmas (Asia'h Epperson) coordinate a holiday family reunion, but she quickly discovers the job entails navigating some challenging family dynamics, particularly where Tiffanie's aunts are concerned. She's also more than a little distracted by Calvin (Alonzo B. Slater), Tiffanie's handsome cousin. Nevertheless, Amy is determined that the big event will go off without a hitch in this 2021 romance. Vanessa Williams, Wendy Raquel Robinson and Catherine Haena Kim also star.

Saying Yes to Christmas

8 p.m. on LIFE

While workaholic June is back home visiting her family for the holidays, a magic Christmas wish casts a spell that compels her to say “yes” to every invitation she receives. Among them, the sudden reappearance of Blake, an old flame, soon finds its way onto her overcommitted schedule, striking some long-dormant sparks as they spend time together. Erika Prevost and Romaine Waite star in this 2021 yuletide romance.

7 Little Johnstons

8 p.m. on TLC

Trent is forced to re-evaluate his priorities after his father's declining health causes him to miss their annual Father's Day gathering in a new episode called “From Croquet to Crochet.” Meanwhile, Anna is hit with the realities of living on her own, and Emma settles into her new solo room.

Riverdale

9 p.m. on WUPA

After each of them receives an unsettling visit from a mysterious figure who arrives in town from parts unknown, the gang find themselves confronted with some unwelcome ultimatums, some of which look like no-win scenarios, in the new episode “Chapter Ninety-Eighty: Mr. Cypher.” Lili Reinhart, Camila Mendes, Cole Sprouse, Madchen Amick, Casey Cott, Charles Melton, Erinn Westbrook and Drew Ray Tanner star.

Life of Crime 1984-2020

9 p.m. on HBO

Filmmaker Jon Alpert's harrowing 2021 documentary takes an unsparing look at the vicious cycle of drug addiction and related street crime in New Jersey following three principal characters — Robert Steffey, Freddie Rodriguez and Deliris Vasquez — on a relentless ride through the streets and prisons of Newark, the largest city in that state. The story that emerges is one filled with violence, pain and desperation, but also love, courage, redemption and heroism.

'The Sound of Music' will be heard again soon

Q: Will "The Sound of Music" be on again this holiday season? – Sherry Evans, Bexley, Ohio

A: It will, indeed. One of the very few movies that still get an annual broadcast-network telecast ("It's a Wonderful Life" and "The Ten Commandments" being other examples), the Julie Andrews-starring 1965 Rodgers & Hammerstein musical will have its yearly ABC airing all night Sunday, Dec. 19. It's likely to be a bittersweet occasion for true devotees, since it will be the film's first television presentation since the death of co-star Christopher Plummer (alias the picture's Captain von Trapp) last February.

Q: Before all of the recent news involving Alec Baldwin, what was the last movie or TV show that he finished? – Adam Cobbs, via email

A: Sources give that as being "Supercell," an adventure movie about storm chasers that was in post-production (with filming having been completed) at the time of the incident that occurred on the set of Baldwin's subsequent film, the Western "Rust." Skeet Ulrich and Anne Heche are among others in the "Supercell" cast.

Baldwin also was slated to star with Kelsey Grammer in a sitcom that ABC initially had ordered, then decided to pass on – months before the "Rust" situation – with studio 20th Television then trying to shop it elsewhere (an interesting development, since the network and the studio now are both under the Disney corporate banner, with former ABC chief Karey Burke running 20th). As of this writing, the ultimate fate of that project remained undetermined.

celebrityquotes

"I certainly do hope that watching the show is a satisfying experience for people who watched it originally and are curious about what happened to (Dexter). Certainly, I hope it does provide some definitive answers that aren't primarily just mystifying to people."
– Michael C. Hall of "Dexter: New Blood" on Showtime

"'7th Heaven' was something that at the time, probably because of how old I was, I never thought was going to make the impact it did. At all. I actually didn't. I thought I was just doing a pilot that was never going to go to series."
– Barry Watson, seen recently in "Highway to Heaven" on Lifetime
